Maria: That's why they assume. Therefore, we say that this is only a theory, these are not facts proven by any other methods. I am now explaining to you how our scientists reason and how they arrived at such results. They received this fossil data, they dated it, distributed it along the chain - that is, they saw changes in the skeleton, changes in the size of the skull, in the size of the brain, respectively. Over time, some tools, some crafts, and primitive dwellings began to be found around these finds, which were improved. And on this basis, scientists have built their theory, which approximately coincides with the data that you gave at one time - that man was created three million years ago.

Irina (Tuliari): So, now I understand you in such a way that they explain the very emergence of consciousness in these animals that became people by mutation, and they call consciousness a function of matter. It’s like, for example, water with a salt solution: both are matter, but their combination causes the taste of salt - salty. And this taste is similar to consciousness - do I understand correctly now?

Maria: You know, now it’s very difficult for me to bear this imagery, because salt is salty by itself and without water. That is, salt only adds taste to water by mixing with it.

Irina (Tuliari): Well, just like salt gives taste to water, a special combination of, so to speak, neural networks gives the brain intelligence. So, what?

Maria: Well, I think so, from the point of view of our scientists - exactly so. That this is a gradual evolutionary process that lasted millions of years.

Irina (Tuliari): Let's imagine that salt, as the keeper of salty taste, is the keeper of genetic information, DNA. And water is the brain. We added one to the other - and we got a salty taste, that is, intelligence. Do I understand correctly now?

Maria: This is not immediate, from the point of view of our scientists, it is a very long process.

Irina (Tuliari): That is, taste seems to exist, it is a product of matter, but at the same time it is not material - in the sense that you can measure it, touch it, or somehow describe it with material words: “weight”, “mass” ", "volume". Am I speaking correctly now?

Maria: These are all scientific theories that they build on the basis of observation: for example, they see that our modern primates, when trained, achieve some results, they can learn something. And, naturally, these experiments take place in a very short period of time. And when they build their theory, they understand that these processes lasted a very long period of time, millions of years, and therefore, under certain external conditions (that is, some external conditions are the impetus for development) ...

Irina (Tuliari): For example, you have a cat. So you gave her a piece of meat. How will she feel?

Maria: How will she feel? Well, the desire to eat it.

Irina (Tuliari): When will she eat it - in this process?

Maria: Saturation.

Irina (Tuliari): And what will she feel on her tongue?

Maria: Taste.

Irina (Tuliari): Taste. And if I give you a delicious candy and you eat it, how will you feel?

Maria: I will taste it too.

Irina (Tuliary): So how are your feelings, yours and the cats', different? There is one difference.

Maria: For example?

Irina (Tuliari): You can describe him, but she can't.

Maria: Yes.

Irina (Tuliari): And who describes in this case? Who separates himself from taste and can describe it?

Maria: My awareness. Conscious Spirit. Thanks to this, there are tools for description.

Irina (Tuliari): Of course, these instruments are, first of all, your words, which are stored in your memory.

Maria: I understand you perfectly. But...

48:20 Tuliari about the process of human evolution from animals. Source of the Spirit.

Irina (Tuliari): In order for an animal to begin to evolve and turn into a rational being, a special energy had to settle in its brain - consciousness, the very awareness that you are talking about now - which just began to accumulate words in its memory. For example, the creature did not just look at the tree, but called it with the sound “ua” - and put this sound “ua” into its memory. And every time he looked at a similar tree, at a similar object, this word surfaced in his memory, and the creature could figure out that it was “ua” and not “au”, which it, for example, called water. This is called "language shaping." It can be in a special energy matrix, which has its manifestation simultaneously in the physical brain, and in the reality of thoughts, in the reality of consciousness itself.

And this reality of thought in the Russian language, in which Russian people communicate, can most simply be called the reality of the Spirit. Why the Spirit and not consciousness? Because consciousness, or thoughts, or emotions are only a manifestation of the Spirit that lives in the body and uses the body. How does he use it? He perceives reality through it and acts. That is, the difference between the Spirit of a living being and an object is that it acts, it somehow changes this reality in accordance with its desires, with its needs. When consciousness begins to perceive reality, Spirit begins to perceive the reality of the physical world. He understands to himself that he has certain needs in order to change his state of consciousness in which he is, to those that bring him into a special state - this is happiness, love, harmony, so that he can become closer to that The source from which he came. And this Source is in the Spiritual world - this is Absolute good, this is Absolute love, Beauty, Happiness, Truth. And it is precisely this that we all strive for in the material world in different ways, ordering this world. Every child here knows this.

Maria: We know about this in our Project: both what you are telling us now and what you are now trying to lead us to. In fact, this is a level of awareness and consciousness that the broad masses of our civilization have yet to achieve. Our Project, for example, is precisely aimed at helping individual people with this.

Irina (Tuliari): What level should you reach? Exactly like what I just said?

Maria: Yes, the understanding that our world consists not only of material components that explain our entire universe, but that our world is much more complex and complex. And the most important component of this world is the Spiritual world, from which everything begins. Then a world of subtle-material entities appears, plasmoid worlds. These two components are missing in the understanding of our scientific community.

Irina (Tuliari): I just don't quite understand what the mind that lives in the body of a scientist who doesn't understand these things calls itself. What does he call himself? He who?

Maria: He calls himself a "reasonable man", first of all he feels like a body.

Irina (Tuliari): What does he call his images and thoughts? Feelings finally? Not your child - your own?

Maria: For him they are not an evidence base for his scientific work.

Irina (Tuliari): But they exist?

Maria: They exist, but they are not yet accepted by the scientific community.

Irina (Tuliari): Does he observe them from the outside - or is he involved in them and considers himself to be them?

Maria: This needs to be discussed with individual scientists who are working on this.

Irina (Tuliari): For example, by anger. Imagine, remember the emotion of anger. For example, were you angry? Every person was angry about something - this is a natural emotion, this is the emotion of remaking reality in accordance with their needs, desires, and so on. And this emotion that a scientist experiences when he is angry at something - is it felt as something separate that he feels, or does he himself turn into a stream of anger?

Maria: Naturally, he turns into a stream of anger, but when he is engaged in scientific activity, he has certain rules and certain criteria by which he must conduct his scientific activity. Therefore it is not included...

Irina: Oh, now Mid is telling him.

(MidgasKaus): We are now talking about history, and those emotions that you talk about to Masha through Irina are studied more in psychology. And they call all these specific movements of the mind, consciousness the psyche - again, from the word “psychí” (Greek “soul”).

Maria: Yes, psychology deals with this, not anthropology.

Irina (MidgasKaus): And they don’t have such contact with scientists of different specialties. For example, those who study history or anthropology are not in such contact with those who study psychology as to create some kind of joint teaching in which all the knowledge that the psychologist, anthropologist, and so on would have received would be harmoniously laid out. For them it is more scattered.

Maria: The fact is that even our psychologists can only work with contemporaries, that is, with living people. They cannot analyze the mental processes of our ancestors who lived millions of years ago to evaluate how they developed, how they thought. In other words, they can only evaluate some written historical sources left by our more recent ancestors.

Irina (Tuliari): If you have remains, it means you have certain DNA. And using DNA, you can already create a model of the brain, a model of the psyche, as you call it, of a prehistoric person and work with it. Do you, for example, have such a concept as “age psychology”?

Maria: Yes, but it is based on studies of living people.

Irina (Tuliari): Yes, but developmental psychology also studies the psyche of people of this age (for example, up to a year), with whom you cannot talk, and create some kind of psychological portrait, but this psychology is based on a model of the infant psyche - you have there is such a psychology: how he feels, how he behaves, how he thinks, how he sees reality, and so on. There are such models, but how close they are to reality is, of course, a matter of perception of this subject by each individual scientist who has worked in this field. Well, why, according to this analogy, cannot there be such a science as the psychology of prehistoric people?

Maria: I'll tell you why. Because the child can be observed and various experiments can be carried out with him. With prehistoric people we don't have this opportunity. That is, our scientists study only the remains, only what they left behind, the so-called cultural layer.

Irina (Tuliari): What did they leave besides the bones?

Maria: For example, tools, their homes, decorations.

Irina (Tuliari): You can understand the inner world by tools, dwellings and decorations.

58:55 The beginning of our civilization, the first people.

Maria: Naturally. That’s why he built a more or less logical chain of development for himself, finding the remains of less developed and more developed human individuals. And our question that interests us: what kind of remains do our scientists find? Were these really intelligent beings? Because we already know, from you we received information that the first nine pairs of intelligent people who were created by your civilizations in commonwealth three million years ago were about four meters tall, had fair skin, were upright and were mostly similar to us in their physiology. Question: What are these different types of primates or humanoid creatures that our scientists find?

Irina (Tuliary): These creatures were created in the amount of 18 individuals. Later, when they began to give birth to children, due to the fact that the gravity on Earth was greater than on Tumesout, a mutation almost immediately occurred that began to reduce their growth by stopping the production of the hormone somatotropin. Accordingly, somatotropin itself was previously produced in smaller quantities. And the cells sensitive to somatotropin on the terminal phalanges of the bones became less sensitive, that is, due to this, growth decreased.

When it comes to skin color, there is nothing more variable than skin color, especially under the tropical sun. That is, there was only one climate then, it was quite warm, there was no winter. There was no such heat, there was no such sharp change of periods - autumn, spring, summer. It was just a certain, one might say, eternal summer, but in which there was some precipitation - rain. And it could rain, for example, for a week there, then, for example, there could be two weeks of sun, and between them it could still rain. This was all regulated by plasmoid civilizations, depending on the needs of the plants, animals, and so on that lived there. And people who were under the sun, even if they were born with light skin, naturally, they acquired what you call a tan, a dark color as protection. That is, it is a protective reaction against the penetration of certain rays of special frequencies into the human body.

Maria: And in what period of time did the height of these people decrease, let’s say, to about our height or even lower (since we know that there are shorter remains)?

Irina (Tuliari): As you know, representatives of the planet Disaru are almost your height, and there are even cases where they are seventy meters, eighty meters. It is rare to be taller than two meters, but this, by the way, happens on Earth: there are tall people, taller than two meters.

Maria: Especially lately here.

Irina (Tuliari): And there are adults less than three meters tall, with certain genetic characteristics. And the people themselves on Disara are mostly migrants from Venus, and the migration to Venus took place, as you remember, two hundred thousand years ago, and we earthlings were already of such stature then. And when the first ones began to be born - literally, maybe five hundred to seven hundred years after the appearance of the first hybrids, their growth already began to decrease. Well, it didn't decrease sharply, but gradually, and after a couple of thousand years they were already like that for the most part. Therefore, skeletons of such large people are found very rarely.

Maria: We know that they are found, but they are hidden from the public.

Irina (Tuliari): But there are simply fewer of them, they are not even buried deeper - there are simply fewer of them than those that have accumulated over the remaining millions of years.

Maria: I see. Did I understand you correctly that those humanoid remains that are found are those creatures that lived in parallel with the first hybrids, that is, Homo erectus, Heidelberg, Neanderthal?

Irina (Tuliari): And people. You need to look at the DNA. You can find people whose DNA is different from that of a monkey.

Maria: That's why they claim that these were prehistoric people, because their DNA is different from the DNA of primates.

Irina (Tuliari): Well, yes, you can find them, because they already began to live three million years ago - this means they already lived there all over the Earth, and your scientists find them, they just call them differently, because different, as I said...

Maria: Skull structure?

Irina (Tuliari): The fact is that this structure of the skull was different, not just in different periods - it could be different in different parts of the Earth, because there were also mutations that determined the structure of the face, facial bones, to which then muscles were attached, and, accordingly, different faces. That is, these are such genetic characteristics.

Maria: So, the remains that were found are 400 thousand years old?

Irina (Tuliari): 400 thousand years ago - this was even before the migration to Venus and Mars.

Maria: I see. It turns out that these were already people who looked approximately like us. Because according to reconstructions, these people look more ape-like to us. That is, “homo erectus”, or Neanderthal, or Heidelberg man. Well, when they restore it, they reconstruct the face from the skull.

Irina (Tuliari): I understand, but the point is that the changes in the bones themselves... The point is that it was the same genetics as yours. And as for, for example, more massive jaws - well, there are still people with a large and thick lower jaw, with large teeth that protrude forward. That is, it was what we call a type of mutation. This, too, naturally, was an adaptive mutation, because strong enough muscles had to be attached in order to chew rough food, for example. There was fire for quite a long time, but it was, so to speak, saved. Most ate herbs and fruits. As I said, until 12 thousand years ago they were vegetarians, although they could live next to animals. And some even sacrificed the same animals to plasmoid civilizations. They could hunt them, but they could not eat them. And even if they tried, they could get sick or, if they ate a lot, even die, they quickly found out from their own experience. This was, naturally, after people dispersed across the Earth. They began to live among nature, and aliens contacted them, but only if they agreed, there was a request.

Maria: Request from people?

Irina (Tuliari): Yes, when people had a request, they could be contacted. And if, for example, the plate sat down and people did not approach it or even left, then the rules prohibited any kind of violent contact.

1:09:38 The primate from which man was created.

Maria: Tell me, please, when did the primate from which the first hybrid was created disappear from the face of the Earth, and for what reason?

Irina (Tuliari): When did that primate disappear? Its population also disappeared due to natural mutations, it simply passed on to others. Well, maybe about five hundred thousand years ago.

Maria: Five hundred thousand years ago... And in which of our primates is it most expressed?

Irina (Tuliary): Chimpanzee.

Maria: Indeed, the chimpanzee is considered our closest relative, almost 99%.

Irina (Tuliari): Yes, it’s there, it’s just that he was taller and had a slightly different facial structure. That is, not the kind of jaws that stick out forward, but a little flatter.

Maria: A flatter, rounder face, close to ours, right?

Irina (Tuliari): Yes.

1:11:00 The origin of life on Earth.

Maria: Please tell me, is there in the Interstellar Union materials and samples collected from the Earth from the very beginning of its discovery? That is, five million years ago. Including living organisms. Has such material been collected from our planet?

Irina (Tuliari): Well, initially it was planned and studied, now there is just information about it.

Maria: I see. That is, no material samples have been preserved from our planet?

Irina (Tuliari): There was no such need.

Maria: Is there any information or research on the origin of life on our planet in principle?

Irina (Tuliari): Naturally. Our ancestors immediately when they arrived, when they discovered your planet, even before people appeared there (five million years ago), they saw a very rich nature: there were a lot of plants, insects - a very rich world. And when the ship (cone-shaped) landed, without even leaving the ship, our ancestors entered a state of altered consciousness, went into the Astral and began to scan the subtle-material space, look for plasmoids that are responsible for this area where the ship landed. They made contact, greeted us, and mentally (you don't need to know the language there) began to establish contact with them.

And then, when scientific groups arrived, specialists in contacts with subtle-material civilizations began to arrive. We have specialists in contacts with earthly civilization, as well as specialists in contacts with subtle-material civilizations of planets, stars, and so on: they study the types of portals and various types of plasmoids. They also flew to Earth, entered into contacts and compiled a database: what plasmoid civilizations there are, what they are responsible for, and recorded the results of negotiations. How did the plasmoids react to the appearance of the spaceship? Naturally, they were happy because their intelligent brothers had arrived in dense bodies.

Maria: What information did they share about the origin of life on our planet?

Irina (Tuliari): Scientists began to ask about how the Earth and the entire solar system were formed, plus they also came into contact with the plasmoids of the Sun and found out that the Earth was formed gradually. Plasmoids created it from certain cosmic dust particles - we say, "elements". At first she was in the subtle world, as a thought form. Then they influenced space in such a way that the dust particles began to collect in a certain ball, which was filled with elements, only they were not in the same form as they are now: the temperature was high, because the Earth's core was very close to the surface, the formation process was going on inside , and it was dark on Earth. This is data from the time when there were no representatives of the Interstellar Union there - this is data obtained from plasmoids. They were written down by the scientists who received them.

On Earth there were some uneven mountains, stones, and above them a dark sky and clouds - those elements that made up hydrogen, oxygen, were collected in water, but this water was still high. Then, under the influence of plasmoid civilizations, the clouds began to gradually thicken, and the temperature in the atmosphere began to drop - which means that water, which was in the form of steam, began to fall to the ground, and there was less of it in the atmosphere. Therefore the light of the sun appeared. And when the light of the sun appeared there and water fell, water, as a very good solvent and conductor of energy, began to react with those substances that were on Earth, with those mountains and stones. And there were a lot of different substances that were collected from all over space - more precisely, from that place in the solar system.

And, accordingly, dissolved substances began to appear in the water. The climate then was such that strong lightning constantly occurred: plasmoid civilizations (Spirits of the Air, plasmoid sylphs) produced such energies in the atmosphere. With the help of these lightning and sunlight, the plasmoids directed atoms and molecules in such a way as to produce more complex substances, more complexly structured, which could already become the framework for the embodiment of group animal Souls, which you call the Souls of microorganisms.

Maria: So we are now talking about the origin of biological life?

Irina (Tuliari): Yes. From these substances, which became more complex, a framework was gradually formed. And when the frame was ready, plasmoid civilizations directed certain energies of the material world at them through sunlight - and they formed something like sticky clay with pores inside. Certain substances began to accumulate in these pores, which could not come out and spread throughout space, as happens in a solution. These substances began to react with each other - and when they formed, one might say, the first such basis for the creation of the Soul, plasmoid civilizations created a group Soul, which was placed in these substances. And it has already begun to react appropriately to the world around it, further divide, multiply, that is, simply separate from itself a part of the substances surrounded by a certain film of other substances - and another part of the group Soul (it was a group Soul) moved into this separated part those substances.

Gradually, complication occurred, and this first cell (let's call it a “bacterium”), like any biological organism, had to eat. It has a very simple structure, without mitochondria, there is a very simple energy exchange, maybe two dozen ATP molecules. Very short-lived, they could live only a few hours, but nevertheless they were already Souls that gradually began their evolution in bodies through mutations in these simplest carriers of genetic information. Then it was only ribonucleic acids - RNA. They were very short, primitive, but nevertheless transmitted genetic information. Gradually, with the appearance of new properties, like some kind of environmental challenge (for example, more salty water), an enzyme appears that protects this cell, and then this enzyme is fixed in RNA - and it becomes longer.

Maria: That is, these were natural evolutionary processes under the influence of plasmoid civilizations.

Irina (Tuliary): Natural, we call “natural”, controlled by the Spirits of nature, who still have intelligence.

Maria: Plasmoid civilizations.

Irina (Tuliari): Yes, plasmoid civilizations, because if you simply mix these substances and do not infuse them with a Soul, nothing will come of them.

Maria: That is, all the elements for the origin of biological life were initially already part of our planet and were not artificially introduced.

Irina (Tuliari): Yes, they were already included from the beginning.

Maria: So, they weren’t brought by some alien civilizations?

Irina (Tuliari): No.

Maria: I see. We are now talking about the origin of twelve billion years ago, according to the Interstellar Union, right?

Irina (Tuliari): No, the planet itself was formed later.

Maria: Later - that is, older than twelve billion years?

Irina (Tuliari): No, later - that is, in a sense, closer to us.

Maria: That is, the age of our planet, according to your calculations or according to information from plasmoid civilizations...

Irina (Tuliari): Well, if we translate it into modern language, it's somewhere around six billion.

Maria: Six billion? That is, our planet was born six billion years ago and from inorganic...

Irina (Tuliari): And subtle-material life, somewhere, maybe one and a half billion years later, has already begun to form, having gone through the preparatory stages. We call them "the cradle of life."

1:23:27 The origin of life on other planets.

Maria: "Cradle of Life" is a very beautiful name. Tell me, please, is this how life originates on all planets or are there any others?

Irina (Tuliari): For everyone, with the help of plasmoid civilizations. It happens differently there. It happens that a particle of some substance or a frozen spore of some microorganism is brought, for example, in the tail of a comet or with some kind of meteorite. Or some kind of cloud of dust that is simply flying around the galaxy - for example, it came out of... Well, there is a planet, and somehow - for example, from a collision with an asteroid or some other processes occur there, displacement orbits - some part of its matter, these dust particles, ends up in space, in outer space. And some microorganisms can survive, that is, they fall into suspended animation and spread in space, but this did not happen specifically on Earth. Plasmoid civilizations said that they took material from the very crust of the Earth, from the atmosphere, where there were various gases (there was quite a bit of oxygen, but in any case there were other gases), and from water.

1:25:14 Reasons why intelligent life on Earth did not appear naturally.

Maria: Very interesting. Tell me, please, did you not receive information from the Spiritual World and from plasmoid civilizations, why on our planet that race of primates did not go through a natural evolutionary path? Why was your intervention necessary?

Irina (Tuliary): Our ancestors waited two million years, but primates did not evolve. The ancestors asked the plasmoids - and they said that a smooth intervention was necessary, since primates live in conditions that do not contribute to their evolution: they have everything - and they do not “think”, do not turn on their brains to create new neural networks for his height. They did not find themselves in conditions where this was necessary.

Maria: So, it is a fundamental mistake of our scientists to think that earthly primates were capable of evolving naturally.

Irina (Tuliari): Well, on many planets this actually happened on its own, without intervention, but on yours it required hybridization.

Maria: That is, only due to the fact that our conditions are too comfortable?

Irina (Tuliari): Yes, there were practically no enemies. The fact is that even predatory animals (for example, the same predatory dinosaurs) had other hunting needs, for other animals, and posed virtually no danger to these primates, especially taking into account the fact that primates climbed trees very well, although, Of course, they could have walked on land. By the way, primates were also very good swimmers and divers, and loved to swim in ponds. They lived in the trees, picking some fruits and leaves.

Maria: We were vegetarians.

Irina (Tuliari): They could have eaten some kind of insect or something else, but that was not the main thing.

Maria: You know, now, when you describe the features of this primate and the fact that there was no need to evolve, I have some kind of involuntary association with our modern race. Unfortunately, we are only capable of any breakthroughs when we are put in uncomfortable conditions. Something like this must happen to our civilization or to our society so that we begin to think and look for some ways for development. Surprisingly, we have retained this feature from that primate.

Irina (Tuliari): This is called the law of social evolution. When a person or any other being has sufficiently comfortable conditions for his body, he begins (especially if he has no knowledge of the Spiritual world) to pay attention only to the body and its pleasure and he has no need to change anything.

Maria: That is, to degrade.

Irina (Tuliari): Yes, if he does not need to change anything, then there is no need to think, for example, about the reasons for the appearance of this world in general. Well, there it is, I live here and I live. I won’t be there tomorrow – so what? I wasn't there before. Since I won’t be there, that means I won’t feel anything. And if I don’t feel anything, then why should I think about what qualities to develop in myself? Some will develop on their own.

Maria: Yes, you're absolutely right.

Irina (Tuliari): Therefore, for materialists who believe that with the death of the brain, with the disintegration of brain tissue, consciousness completely ends, as if the light goes out and there is nothing anymore, and since there is nothing, there is no consciousness itself. This means that there is no one who will be aware of his existence. And if there is no one who will be aware of his existence, it means that all the qualities accumulated before the death of the brain turn into complete and absolute zero, into absolute emptiness. And if this is so, it means that the purpose and meaning of life is only in the material world.

And in order for people with a materialistic consciousness to develop precisely in the spiritual direction, such events and uncomfortable conditions are automatically created - not even by some Higher powers, but by the people themselves. And people begin to understand what is good and what is bad. That is, they acquire some moral values and begin to understand that if they enjoy, for example, food at the expense of another (that is, simply take away from him), then other creatures, other individuals, even if they are just animals, will hurt in defense . And so that it doesn't hurt, that means you can't do that. That is, through pain, through negative experience, they begin to accept moral values. Because they have no spiritual understanding.

1:31:40 Possibility of repeating the hybridization experiment.

Maria: We come to the conclusion that without spiritual development, no material development will lead society to prosperity. It will only be a question that sooner or later society will come to degradation.

Well, I'm coming to the end of our interesting conversation. I have another question: is it possible now to repeat the same experiment with the creation of our race?

Irina (Tuliari): Well, that is, with modern chimpanzees?

Maria: With a modern chimpanzee or some other primate in principle.

Irina (Tuliari): Theoretically, of course, it's possible. You just need to select certain genes and do experiments with them. And in the beginning, you need, naturally, to agree with representatives of the Spiritual world, the Consulting Angels, so that they highlight, one might say, a certain Spirit - and he must voluntarily go into incarnation for the first time into this type of body, which has just hybridized from an animal.

1:32:57 Experiments on hybridization on other planets.

Maria: Are there also experiments being done where the genes of animals and humanoids are combined, or is there only hybridization going on now?

Irina (Tuliari): On Earth, no.

Maria: No, I don’t mean the Earth, but generally within the framework of the Interstellar Union or GFS.

Irina (Tuliari): Yes, such experiments exist in the constellation Virgo, in the constellation Ursa Major. There are experiments on hybridization of animals with each other, plants with each other, interspecific experiments - between intelligent humanoids and non-intelligent ones, and between forms that have only animal Souls. Experiments are also being conducted on the hybridization of animals from different planets and plants from different planets.

Maria: Aren’t such experiments carried out with our animals?

Irina (Tuliari): At the moment, no. But if, for example, a scientist wants to do this, then, upon receiving the appropriate permission from the Interstellar Union, he can begin these experiments. Experiments with animals and plants do not require their consent, because they are Souls, created, one might say, to satisfy the needs of the already intelligent. In this case, it is either the biosphere or scientific experience.

Maria: I see. There must be a specific purpose for all these experiments.

Irina (Tuliari): Yes, there must be a goal, because some scientist will allocate his time and his funds for this. He will have to understand what result he will come to and why.

1:34:55 Development of our civilization.

Maria: Thank you. Well, the last, final question: please tell me what options for the development of our race and the framework of intervention and assistance were planned for our civilization? Do you have a special science and prescription for this?

Irina (Tuliari): Not science, but synthesis, a collection of sciences about young races. We have psychology, biology, sociology - specifically of young races. Do we have plans specifically for Earth? There is a plan - and more than one. In fact, any scientist who studies your planet and the civilizations on it is building his own specific plan to help you. Right now, at this moment in your history, we can help you through contacting - through intermediaries whom you call contactees, through their awareness. For the reason that the appearance of our ships - mass contact - firstly, will cause ambiguous sentiments on Earth, and secondly, it will deprive you, one might say, of freedom of choice, that is, the ability to consciously choose this information, focusing only on stories.

Maria: I see. Well, my question was more about what was originally planned when you created our race.

Irina (Tuliari): This was planned initially, not now. And the independent development of your race was planned, so that you yourself would develop your society, come to the arts, to the sciences - and then invite you to join the Interstellar Union, the Galactic Federation of Light. In order for the entire solar system to be filled with intelligent life, two hundred thousand years ago you were moved to Venus and Mars, where conditions were different at that time. So that there are three planets on which different civilizations with a single genetic code develop, and so that all these civilizations can be accepted into the Interstellar Union. But in order to be accepted into the Interstellar Union, you had to become conscious and understand your place on Earth, in space, among other civilizations. And for this, your spiritual evolution first had to go through in the type of body in which you found yourself - these are exactly the Spirits that exist.

1:38:00 Help to the first people of our civilization from the outside.

Maria: What kind of assistance is allowed in this case? That is, to transfer some kind of tools, handling fire, building a home, and so on?

Irina (Tuliari): It was possible to transfer tools, some knowledge, information. But even if it was transmitted in a scientific form, creatures who have not had experience interacting with the objects that their parents talk about will still inevitably mythologize it.

Maria: The first eighteen individuals - what did they receive from their creators for their development?

Irina (Tuliari): They were taught to speak the language, social skills were instilled in them - dressing, taking care of their bodies, etc. They told them who they were (well, we are, of course, like your ancestors), and even showed them a video of how they flew from the stars. We understand perfectly well that they later passed this on to their children as a fairy tale, a myth.

But we, our civilization, passed this on as knowledge. Well, the Burkhad people also took part there, the Selbet people. And then, later, the Lyrans (representatives of the Lyra constellation), Shimorians and so on arrived. And they passed on knowledge when people had already left the base.

Maria: How many generations have lived on the base?

Irina (Tuliari): Not at all. Almost immediately, when they became adults, after an attempted murder by the Selbetites using a poisonous tree (the history of which you know), they were released. They were taken to a prepared place in nature so that they could develop on their own and not live on the base. They decided that if the Selbet people came up with this, it means that perhaps there is someone else who is planning evil, and can already arm them - well, not so much with weapons, but take some kind of scientific instruments - and use them as weapons , already oppose the creator.

Maria: So, they were practically hidden in this way from possible negative influence. But were they given some tools and taught how to build houses?

Irina (Tuliary): They were already built for them (from logs, with pyramidal roofs), and people were shown everything that they could collect - plants and so on. They began to live there, and then they flew to contact them and told them how to cultivate the land in order not just to collect fruits, but to grow something. That's all it was, yes.

Maria: That is, they were actively supported and helped to adapt to the external environment. Thus, our civilization received support for its further development.

1:41:45 The dispute between Cain and Abel, the first murder.

Irina (Tuliari): Well, yes, and the Spirits were different. When they found themselves in nature, without the daily care of their creators, who were perceived as parents, this encounter with wild nature was a shock for them. Some began to lower their vibrations and come into conflict with each other. And already in the second generation the first murder occurred.

Mary: This is what we know about the story of Abel and Cain.

Irina (Tuliari): Yes, everything is presented there more in images, but a certain reason could be traced.

Maria: Is this really connected with eating meat and vegetarian food?

Irina (Tuliari): No, there was another reason, but it was, one might say, not because of food.

Maria: We would be interested to know if you know the true story of what happened there and served as the basis for this legend and this tradition in the Old Testament.

Irina (Tuliari): Yes, I know this story, they really were two brothers from the same mother - let's call them Cain and Abel, as they were called in the Russian translation. Two brothers from the same mother - at that moment they were in a forest clearing and began to talk to each other. They had a dispute: one said that the more perfect creation of God is fruits (like pomegranates, so big), and the other began to say that animals are more perfect. So they argued about this - and one of them killed the other out of anger. This is what served as the basis. But they went on to name what we explained to both them and their parents, that there is an Absolute, which from its energies (we did not say “energy”, we said “types of Light”, energy was called “Light”) creates these or other forms that you see. And any fruit that you touch, any blade of grass, are the thoughts of the Father who loves you.

Maria: Yes, let's just say, very important, good teaching and explanation. But, unfortunately, we can say that this was the first fact of violence and murder in our civilization.

Irina (Tuliari): One thought that plants were more perfect for him. He said that they contain more of that Light. As it is written in the Bible, one brought an animal as a gift to God, and the other brought plants. This does not mean that they brought it directly in their hands, they called it that - a worthy gift. They didn’t bring it, but called it a worthy gift for people: one – plants, the other – animals. But it’s not for free, not for eating, but simply for benefit, including those that are more perfect in appearance, that is, for the benefit of the eyes. One said he liked plants better. The other is that I like animals more. And one felt that he violated his sense of beauty and insulted his concept of God. And the other one thought so too. They came into conflict, but the first brother did not immediately kill the second. At first they just started fighting: the first one grabbed a stone, he just wanted to hit his brother harder in order to cause him more pain and drive him away. They knew the blows hurt. Although they were already grown men, before that they were children and knew that fights caused pain when they fought with each other, they had this experience. Therefore, Cain grabbed a stone and hit Abel on the head in order to drive him away. Abel fell, Cain came up to him, began to bother him - all this is in our story about the first people. And when he saw a trickle of blood from his head and saw that his brother was not getting up, he ran away. He understood, he saw how they were dying.

Maria: So this was your first encounter with death in general?

Irina (Tuliari): This was not the first encounter with death in general: they saw the death of animals. But this was the first encounter with the death of their own kind.

Maria: Tribesmen.

Irina (Tuliari): Exactly like a brother.

Maria: It turns out that the parents have not died yet, they have not yet had examples of the death of a reasonable person?

Irina (Tuliari): Their parents were still alive. This was both the first encounter with human death, and, at the same time, the first encounter with death at one's own hands. Because before that there was no understanding of animal sacrifices and, for example, he did not kill animals. And those insects that could be killed as harmful were not yet found in that place and at that time. And I had no experience of killing someone. Cain simply had experience in fighting. And, accordingly, for him it was a very big shock: something actually happened to his brain, then he went crazy, or something, some kind of state...

Maria: Insanity.

Irina (Tuliari): Inadequate, yes.

Maria: Dear friends, thank you very much for your interesting story, answers to our questions, counter questions, which were also very interesting.

Irina (Tuliari): Thank you for your answers.

Maria: And we hope for new meetings, new interesting discussions.

Irina: Dear friends, thank you too for watching, thank Masha for the interesting questions and answers, thank our interstellar friends and send the Light of my love. See you again!

Maria: See you again!

Conference participants:

Irina Podzorova – contactor with extraterrestrial civilizations;

Maria Sokalskaya – assistant director, moderator and curator of the Cassiopeia Project;

Tuliari Kromers (planet Tumesout) - xenobiologist and specialist in the creation of different species;

MidgasKaus (planet Esler) – biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien civilizations.

FINANCIAL ENERGY

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/jUbLSyjYbYx

The importance of material resources in the life of spiritual beings embodied in the material world cannot be overestimated. Financial institutions on humanoid planets, including on Earth, are called upon to play the role of a universal energy matrix, with the help of which various energies are exchanged between intelligent spirits.

Financial energy, like any other force in the Universe, is one of the types of Divine energy, symbolizing the Absolute Omnipotence of our Heavenly Father.

This can be seen from the obvious connection between financial egregors and egregors of power structures on a planetary, interstellar or galactic scale.

The purpose and task of this energy in God's Plan is to serve as a tool for the development in embodied spirits of love, faith, joy, mercy and other high spiritual states that make us similar to the absolute Light of unconditional love.

On planet Earth, symbols that embody financial energy are banknotes of various states, expressed in numbers on material media or electrical signals in computer memory.

The energy equivalent of each monetary unit is determined by the power structures of the planet and depends on the state of production systems, the rate of consumption of produced material resources, the index of technical development, social attitudes in the leading egregors of the planet's noosphere and many other factors.

In your world, the problem of uneven and irrational distribution of material support among the population is one of the main factors in the constant decrease in the vibration of embodied spirits due to negative feelings and emotions caused by the dissonance of one's own needs and the ability to fulfill them.

To harmonize your relationship with the financial egregor, you must fully recognize money as one of the types of Divine energy and remember that the universe has an inexhaustible resource for maintaining the existence of your bodies and developing creative and spiritual abilities through material means.

Here are a few rules that allow you to tune yourself to the vibrations of the financial egregor and increase the flow of funds passing through you:

Continuous gratitude to God for the financial flow that you have now. The energy of gratitude attracts the energy of abundance to you.

Constant exchange of cash flows with other people. Remember that the desire to save money instead of using it for the benefit of yourself and other people very often speaks of hidden fears of material losses, and the energy of fears disconnects you from the financial egregor, that is, makes you inaccessible to increasing the amount of energy received from it.

Remember the need for charity to increase your own financial well-being. Material assistance to those in need, if done without manifestations of selfishness or pride, makes you very noticeable to the financial egregor, because Heavenly Father always increases the flow of energy to that part of His that is similar to Him in the manifestation of unconditional love.
The most harmonious solution for most earthlings is selfless assistance to the poor, the sick, children and the elderly in the amount of 10-15% of their monthly income.

Love yourself and believe in your strengths and capabilities, be independent, brave and kind individuals, do not accumulate fears, resentments and other negativity.
Remember that self-confidence strengthens contact with the financial egregor, and touchiness is a clear sign of a lack of faith and self-love, so it closes you off from financial flows.

Be honest with each other in financial matters, don't try to get rich off other people's misfortunes. Such actions indicate internal fears and other negativity, and the moment will come when this negativity will not only cut off your financial flows, but will also cause problems in relationships with loved ones, problems with government security agencies and disorders of your spiritual, mental and physical health.

Remember that the financial egregor will not be able to direct cash flows in your direction if you do not follow your life purpose and fulfill the duties of the profession that you have chosen as your main area of interest.
Money is the material equivalent of Divine Love in the spiritual world. Poor and rich people exist on Earth only so that you can learn to love and accept all intelligent spirits embodied here with you, just as they are.

Glarkh Protis, leading economist of the external economic sector of the interstellar union, planet Burkhad

June 20, 2022

Attracting good luck to life. How to increase financial flow

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/privlechenie-udachi-v-zhizn

Luck is your faith in yourself and in your Light of love. This is your trust in space, God, the world around you. If you dream of something and want your mental reality to become your material reality, then do everything that depends on you to realize this reality, but at the same time trust your mentors, God, and yourself. If it is useful for you, for your spiritual development, for your life, for your happiness and love, then it will definitely come into your life. It's important to believe in this. When you believe in the favorable success of a business, you increase the likelihood of its implementation by 80%.

Finance is a material form of Divine energy. I told you that your Russian word “rich” has a deep meaning - “one who lives in God.” It was like this initially.

To strengthen your financial flow, you need to understand that this energy should be directed towards spiritual goals. To what spiritual goals should it be directed? Understand for what purposes. Not just for the purchase and distribution of religious literature, this is too small a goal, it is not the goal itself, but a means of expressing it. How to set a goal?

In fact, this is a question for a lot of people. And many of those who read and watch us are very interested in this. I know it.

To strengthen your financial flow, you must again trust God, all your finances, all your flows, recognize that this is the property of God, and you are a temporary manager. Why did you come into this world? In order to develop and help others develop. What to develop? Spirit, Light, love, knowledge, everything positive and bringing joy, happiness, harmony, if you bring it and do it selflessly.

What is “selfless”?

This does not mean “don’t take money.” You earthlings have lost the word “selflessness” for the last 50 years.

Selflessness is an internal state of understanding that you already have everything.

If this state exists, if you are completely satisfied and happy with the amount of money and property that you have, ideas and thoughts will come to your mind on how to increase your wealth. Because if a person is not satisfied with something in his life, with some level of income, with some certain circumstances, then the reason is in him.

Why doesn't he see a way to increase this wealth? There are blocks in him that prevent him from realizing this. Fears, various blocks that limit his beliefs on the mental plane. It happens that there are no astral and mental blocks, a person has some small income, then he will be completely satisfied with it. And if he wants to earn more, but he doesn’t succeed, again he must go inside himself, to the Higher Self , and ask.

It often happens that there are ways to increase his wealth, but his mentors, the Higher Self, block these paths for him because they see what will happen to him next. He will simply lower his vibrations. And sometimes it will lower the vibrations of those around you if you give him, for example, 10 times more than he has now. And then this money, these finances, which, by the way, were produced by other people in the Light of God, can go to his harm.

How did the oligarchs become like this? What are they, super spiritual? Really, why is everything like this?

I'll answer you now. How do you know the program, the life goals of these people? Why did they incarnate? Why did they choose this particular family? Why did they choose this particular environment? Why do they need money and these tasks? How do they resolve their internal issues when incarnated? Have you studied their life? Have you spoken to their Higher Self? I think no.

Yes, there may be tasks for someone who was born in a poor family, for someone who was born in a rich family, in a family of rulers. All these Souls have the same divine nature, but they have different tasks for incarnation to work with themselves, to work with this world.

Any Spirit may fail to fulfill its tasks. And the one who was born into a poor family, and the one who was born into a family of oligarchs. Both of them may fail to comply and take the path of degradation, thereby lowering their spiritual level. And, accordingly, after incarnation he will fall to this lower level. And he will see his whole life, how he lived it, what he spent it on.

Irina Podzorova expresses her personal gratitude to you for your help and material, spiritual, and moral support for our project. This project is not only for Irina and Maxim or the Interstellar Union, but it is for each of you. Anyone who puts their energy into it, in any form, not only material, is already participating in the creation of this egregor. By the way, completely new on planet Earth.

MidgasCaus - specialist in biology and psychology, planet Esler.

June, 2021

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/+fizicheskij-kontakt

February 23, 2022

Journey to the insectoid planet Sho-Hareki

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ZLDe2HCJaB8

The report was made 1.5 hours after contact and flight on a flying saucer with Kirchiton to the planet SHO-HAREKI. Prepare your imagination and let's go...

The other day I had another, obligatory, physical contact with Kirchiton. This time he took me to the insectoid planet - Sho-Hareki, which is located in the constellation Pegasus. The representative of this planet, Shpaashi, already answered our questions when he came in the astral body.

The contact took place in the same place as before. My friend stayed waiting in the car, and I went to the appointed place.

I didn’t have to wait long, raising my eyes to the sky once again, I saw Kirchiton’s “plate” hovering above me. Quickly climbing up the lowered ladder, I found myself inside the apparatus and, seeing Kirchiton, conveyed greetings to him from the members of our Cassiopeia group.

He said that he was very glad that earthlings were not just interested in the information of the Interstellar Union as if it were just another science fiction, but were trying to apply the acquired knowledge in life. This suggests that our society is developing and preparing for mass contact and entry into the Interstellar Union.

Time flew by unnoticed while talking about our group. At the edge of my consciousness, I noted that weightlessness had ended, and I was sitting steadily in a chair. Kirchiton invited me to stand in the middle of the cabin next to him. Two halves of a protective suit descended from the ceiling onto each of us and converged on our bodies. We found ourselves inside soft, comfortable and absolutely safe spacesuits.

Shasha Alane. Sho-Hareka's planet

Coming to the surface of the planet, I saw a plain, on which rocks were visible here and there and our spaceship stood. In the white sky one could see a white sun and three or four yellowish moons, slightly smaller in size than our Moon. Being on the surface, I felt that the force of gravity was greater than what I was used to.

The illumination from the Sun and moons was so uniform that there were practically no shadows on the gray rocky ground. There was also no noticeable vegetation, not even moss or anything like that. It is not surprising, because the radiation on the planet is so high that the survival time of a person on the surface is 15-20 minutes.

In the air, at different heights, hung structures that served as homes for local residents. They were of different sizes and shapes, most were spherical and in the shape of two cones without sharp corners, connected by their bases. As a result, objects were obtained that resembled peculiar three-dimensional rhombuses.

All the structures were gray, steel-colored, and local residents flew around them, looking like huge brown beetles. A group of ten to fifteen insectoids sat down on the ground next to us and I was able to get a good look at them.

Their height was about two, two and a half meters: they were taller than me, but slightly shorter than Kirchiton. They had surprisingly small, triangular-shaped heads, from which protruded two short antennae, consisting of two segments. The two eyes resembled those of a dragonfly, they were light brown with a greenish tint and could extend slightly from the head and rotate up and down and to the sides, increasing the viewing angle. I didn’t notice the nose, but the mouth resembled a slit covered with three plates: one on top and two below.

The inhabitants of Sho-Hareki had six limbs, divided by joints into several segments. They walked on two of them, and when they stood, they leaned back a little and leaned on the hard bases of the wings. If necessary, they spread thin black wings folded behind their backs and flew into the air. The wings rotated so quickly that their movements could not be caught by the eye. I didn't notice any clothes on them.

They hissed and crackled loudly, talking to each other, and this hissing and crackling could be heard even in protective suits. Suddenly they all quieted down and I heard the same crackling and hissing from a small box on Kirchiton’s chest and realized that he was talking to them through an auto-translator.

Suddenly, two of the local residents, flying into the air, took me by the hands with four limbs and began to lift me to one of their homes, hanging in the air at the height of about a three-story building. Looking to the right, I saw three or four insectoids lifting Kirchiton, taking him by the hands. I was able to get a good look at their limbs, and I saw that they were not like the paws of our insects.

The inhabitants of Sho-Hareki had eight flexible, multi-jointed fingers on their four “hands”, almost equal in length to the fingers of an adult. With their help, they are able to grab even small objects and manipulate them freely.

Thanks to their powerful wings, the huge intelligent insects quickly took us to one of their homes. The part of the solid wall that we approached became, as it were, liquid before my eyes and began to spin like a whirlpool, very quickly forming a hole in the wall through which we were brought inside. It was dim there, especially compared to the bright sunny day outside, but my eyes quickly adjusted to the new light and I looked around.

The insectoids placed Kirchiton and me on the floor of a high hall, the walls of which gradually expanded upward, forming a cone with its apex facing downwards. Overhead there was a dome about ten meters high, formed by a second cone with its apex pointing upward.

There was no furniture in the hall; insectoids were placed on the walls, not paying visible attention to us, there were many of them. The creatures that brought us into this building stood next to us and again began to hiss and chirp, addressing Kirchiton.

While they were talking, I went to the nearest wall to take a closer look. Although the floor was hard, I had the feeling that it was quite springy under my feet.

Walking up to the wall, I touched it. Through the protective suit I could not understand what it was made of, but the material springs a little when pressed hard.

Kirchiton called me and I went up to him. He said that we are in space flight control, and the insectoids that “sit” on the walls are scientists negotiating with specialists working in space. All equipment is located within the walls of these structures and in the bodies of the specialists themselves.

Planet Sho-Hareki, constellation Pegasus

Then Kirchiton and I were lowered to the ground of the planet in the same way and my curator told me about the peculiarities of the life of embodied Spirits in the bodies of insectoids.

They have a group mind, but in each of them one Intelligent Spirit is embodied. Thanks to the presence of a group mind, their nervous systems are connected at the electromagnetic level into a kind of noosphere of the planet. And the Spirits embodied in these bodies unite into the likeness of a group soul, which exists as long as the Spirit is embodied in the body of the insectoid.

Then Kirchiton said that it was time for us to go back. We returned to the ship and the two halves of the protective suit separated, rose to the ceiling and disappeared. I sat down on a chair, Kirchiton turned to the control panel, and weightlessness began again in the ship.

On the way back, Kirchiton told me how insectoids from Sho-Hareki can use large asteroids instead of spaceships. Their robots can quickly create a cavity in an asteroid and place devices there to travel between stars. Outwardly, it will be a completely ordinary asteroid, but inside it there will be representatives of the insectoid race.

By the way, there are several similar races in our Galaxy, but so far only the Sho-Hareki civilization is included in the Interstellar Union.

Insectoids differ from other intelligent species by the presence of an external rather than an internal skeleton, which allows them to withstand large doses of radiation and temperature changes that are fatal to many other forms of intelligent life.

A few minutes later the weightlessness stopped, I said goodbye to Kirkhiton, went down the stairs to the same clearing from where he picked me up and went to the car where my friend was waiting for me.

Kirchiton conveyed greetings to all members of the Cassiopeia group and advised us not to be afraid of anything, do good deeds, learn new things and develop the energy of love - the most powerful medicine for physical, mental and spiritual ailments.

March, 2020

March 3, 2022

How to become a physical contactor of alien civilizations

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/GIM7E17wpGE

First, you need to read the conditions for physical contactees and ask the Higher Self to what extent you meet the conditions.

1. The first step is agreeing on the decision with the Higher Self .

Find out the goals of the embodiment and whether you are fulfilling your task.

Find out if you are currently a contactee.

Ask "Can I become a physical contactor with alien civilizations?"

If “yes,” ask whether this corresponds to the goals of my incarnation?

Ask the Higher Self which civilization or race are most suitable in vibration for physical contact.

2. Establish contact with a representative of a suitable civilization. Ask

> “My Higher Self, I ask you to invite in your astral body a representative of the civilization to which I am approaching for physical contacts, to talk about contact.”

3. Thank him for coming. Ask for a name. We inform you that we wish to become a physical contactee.

> “I am familiar with the conditions for physical contactees, which were transmitted through the Interstellar Union contactee Irina Podzorova. I believe that I fully meet these conditions . I am ready for physical contact with your civilization. I decided to contact you because VY said that your civilization suits me best in terms of vibrations.”

4. Give consent to contact:

> “I, the name, give free and informed consent to physical contact with representatives of the civilization “name” for a period of __ years (or until the end of incarnation) for the purpose of ___ (global goal, for example, for spiritual development, helping people, etc.) "

5. Agree to check compliance with the conditions:

> “I consent to having my aura scanned. Please check if I am energetically suitable for you for physical contact.”

6. Ask a representative of civilization to inform about your desire to become a physical contactor of the Interstellar Union Commission on Contacts. Next, find out when the next contact meeting will take place.

> “I give conscious consent to representatives of the commission for contacts of the State Fiscal Service and the MS to scan me for vibration compliance for physical contact.”

7. On the day of the commission or the next day, contact the representative of civilization through VYa by name again. Ask for the results of the application review.

8. If a positive decision is made, ask to set the date and time of the next physical contact in local time. Find out how many days you need to prepare.

Be prepared to give the geographic coordinates of your place of residence.

9. Ask to see the place of contact. Usually they mentally show the way to a place in images.

If the image is not familiar, be sure to report it and clarify where it is located.

It is recommended to go to this place during the day before making contact, not to take anyone with you and not to tell anyone about it.

August, 2021

March 13, 2022

First contact with Kirchiton from the planet Daraal

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/DDMa06Pvpk1

I was 13 years old, it was 1999.

One evening in July I was playing ball with the guys near the park. It was about nine o'clock in the evening, it was getting a little dark, and we began to disperse. The guys left, and I decided to walk a little more.

I walked through the park and decided to go home, but not through the main entrance, but through the back gate, which opened onto an unlit, rather dark street. I went out through the gate and walked along the street where the lights were not on. Although our village is quite large - about five thousand people, I noticed that there were no cars visible, I couldn't even hear people's voices or laughter - there was some kind of calm.

I was walking along the side of the road and, raising my face up, I saw a strange black triangle standing in front, which was not located vertically, like a rocket, but horizontally. It stood on three supports, and near it there were five people, as I then thought, five dark figures.

In this triangle there were round white windows, the door was open, and even the stairs were visible. I stopped and thought:

"But nothing like this has ever happened during the day; I passed here. What it is? Is construction starting or has the attraction been installed?"

Then I became interested and I thought:

"There are five people standing there - let me go up to them and ask what kind of triangle this is."

Elyokhina Tatyana. Irina met Kirchiton (left). Galina Parvova. First meeting (right)

I went to them. Coming closer, I saw that they were much taller than people, about three meters. Dark figures that had no neck, and had three eyes on their faces: two eyes - round yellow and a little higher - red. When I saw such figures, I stopped, trying to understand what it was, who it was.

I was just a little surprised when one of them asked in an ordinary male, low voice in Russian:

"Who are you?"

When I heard a human voice, I thought that some people were making a film, and these were actors in disguise, obviously men. I automatically asked:

"And who are you?"

He said:

"I am Kirchiton."

“And I’m Irina,” she introduced herself.

He asked me: “Will you fly with us?”

Author of the comic Sergey Larin (Das_Xenon)

When he said “you will fly,” I immediately compared the triangle, the appearance of these people and the word “you will fly” and realized that these were aliens. Who else could look like that and ask such questions? I answered:

“I can’t fly with you, I need to go home, my mother is waiting for me there, if I don’t come for a long time... she will worry”

Of course, I wanted to look, but I understood that it was very far away, where they could live, and if I was gone for a long time, my mother would look for me. That's what I answered him. To which he told me:

“Mark the time - in exactly two minutes you will be here.”

I really wanted to... I thought that if I’m here in two minutes, then I’ll be able to get home on time... I want to see where they live. And I said:

"Okay, then I agree."

Flight on an alien ship

He silently turned and walked up the stairs to the “triangle”, I followed him. The other four, they were silent the whole time, followed me. We went inside the “triangle”, and the first thing I saw was white light, everywhere, as if from bright light bulbs.

There were no lamps or lanterns themselves. Just light. I took a special look: gray walls, a semicircular ceiling, grayish-dark. And I was also surprised, how can there be light without lanterns, without light bulbs?

I walked in, turned to the right, there were five or six chairs along the wall. They (the aliens) are three meters tall, and the chairs should be under them, but then it would be difficult for me to sit on them. And the chairs were under me, that is, I calmly sat down on one of them, and those four stood opposite me.

Above their height, round windows were visible, but they were high up, I couldn’t see anything there. It was dark and that was all. Kirchiton went a little further, deeper. There was a table there and lights and some buttons were blinking, but I didn’t look.

He came up and blocked the view. Before this he said:

"Sit down and count."

I sat down and began to count to myself:

"One two..."

I didn’t feel any special sensations, I sat and counted. When I said “fifteen” to myself, he (Kirchiton) came up to me again and said:

“That’s it, we’ve already arrived.”

When I turned my head to where the door was, it was not visible. It’s not that it closed, there wasn’t even a gap left. There was just a wall. Well, when he said: “We have arrived,” I turned my head again, the door appeared there again. He went through this door, I got up and followed him.

We went out, and the first thing I saw was day on the street. It was already dark at home, evening. I look - it’s day! I raised my head up and saw that the sun was almost at its zenith, but it was not yellow, but white with a purple tint.

It was quite hot. I was wearing summer clothes, but it was still quite hot. There was a smell in the air, similar to a lit sulfur bomb or matches that had been burned in the room for a long time. I looked around and saw that our “triangle”, near which we were, stood on a flat round area covered with asphalt, but there was not a single bump as smooth as a table.

There were no trees visible. I took a special look and there was asphalt everywhere. Even when we walked through this square, we went down, there was a threshold, and we continued along the road. I didn’t see a single blade of grass there, not a single green tree, everything was simply covered with asphalt.

A little to the right, in the distance, I saw houses, but it was not a street, they were standing in disarray. It seemed to me that it was twenty floors high. They were black, but there were no windows visible, just some towers. And not square, like we have at home, but cylindrical. We have water towers like this, only these ones are dark in color. And not from brick, but from something completely unknown. It was far away. We didn't approach them.

We walked in silence and suddenly I saw several people just like him (three meters tall with three eyes) walking towards us. They stopped near us and we stopped. They looked at me and said something to him. He answered them. I looked at them, then at him - if you told me, look away, and then turn around and find where Kirchiton is, I wouldn’t be able to tell him apart. They were absolutely the same.

Kirchiton said something, the words were incomprehensible, they answered briefly and went back to where we came from, and we headed further. I breathed this unusual air, and it made my eyes water a little and my throat began to sting. I asked:

“Kirchiton, what does it smell like here?”

I was only thirteen years old. And he tells me:

“It’s sulfur oxide in the atmosphere, but the concentration is safe for you.”

I didn’t really understand it then, but that’s okay. We walked a little more meters and stopped near a square building, about two floors. Such a long barrack. Also without windows - dark. There was a door with a handle, he opened it and walked in, I followed him and saw that it was again a large room, like a hall, empty, only in front there was a high table, taller than me, right across the whole room. And again there is light, and there are no lamps. There is a smell, but it is very weak. And in that “triangle” it was not there at all. Kirkhiton said:

"This is our store."

Elyokhina Tatyana. Kirchiton shows Irina a store on his planet. Ira saw a bird and a flashlight

In the light, I looked at him: he was in a dark overall, and his face and hands were open. But his skin is gray and smooth. Five fingers, only they are thin and long. Gray smooth skin, no wrinkles, no hair anywhere. We came to this table. He continued:

“Our goods are on it.”

I speak:

“But I can’t see anything, I’m too tall.”

Kirchiton came up behind me, lifted me by the arms and said:

"Look".

In fact, there were many objects lying there, under glass or plastic, but I only managed to see two objects. There lay a plucked bird, similar to our ostrich. This reminded me of how they sell chickens in our stores, but in ours they sell them without heads and paws, while they were simply plucked, with a head, with limbs, and even had a wide beak.

Why do I call it an ostrich: a long, large neck, a curved beak, and otherwise a bird reminiscent of ours. And next to it, a little further away, lay a stick, black, like a long pencil. I saw these two objects, and he put me down. I asked:

“What is this you have lying around?”

He:

“This is our food, this is what we eat.”

“What kind of wand is this?”

He took it out, but not from there, but from himself, although I didn’t see his pockets - he just extended his hand and took out exactly the same one.

“And this is our thing - a flashlight.”

He clicked on something, and a beam appeared, like our laser pointers, only there the beam was brighter and white. Thin white beam. Even with this light (the light in the hall) he was clearly visible. He removed it.

Then he took out an object from somewhere else and said:

"This is our coin."

It was not round, but in the shape of a diamond, about half the size of a palm, even a little larger. Yellow color. He handed it to me - it felt kind of metallic to the touch.

“I said, in two minutes I’ll bring you home. Let's go to. I'll take you."

And while we walked to the square where the “triangle” stood, I asked him a little:

-Where are we now?

- We are now in the city of Kuuli, and this is the capital of Daraal.

- What is the capital of Daraal?

- Daraal is our planet.

- How? - I say. - The capital of the entire planet?

- Well, yes. We don't have countries. And only one capital.

- Where is it?

- We are now in a constellation that is visible from your planet as the constellation Cassiopeia. 150 light years from the Sun.

We have entered this "triangle". The four accompanying people were no longer there. I sat down on the chair myself and didn’t count anymore. She turned to the door - it was closed again and had already disappeared. I looked at the wall and thought: “Where is there, what kind of gap? No, just a wall." He went to the remote control and pressed something. I sat silently. Two minutes passed - not much time, he came up to me and said:

“That's it, you can go home. In the near future I will fly to you again, we will talk.”

Kirchiton said nothing more during this contact. I got up. The door was already open. I went down the stairs and saw that I was standing in the same square near the park. Again, no people, no cars. It was already dark, and I didn’t have a watch with me.

I took a few steps, heard a whistle behind me and felt a gust of wind that shook my hair. I looked around - the “triangle” was no longer there, just a bright star flying. 1-3 seconds and she disappeared.

The sky was starry. Well, I went home.

March 14, 2022

Conditions for selecting contactors for physical contacts

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/MD3jtH1HwTf

Personal desire.

No fear of UFOs and aliens.

The desire to understand the world.

Lack of conscious aggression directed against intelligent beings.

The desire to fly into space.

Lack of fears and phobias.

Absence of religious fanaticism in any form and the habit of imposing one's opinion on others.

Tolerance of the opinions and beliefs of others.

Intolerance for crimes against the life, health and sexual integrity of sentient beings.

Absence of sexual perversions (pedophilia, necrophilia, bestiality, sadism, masochism).

Normal sexual orientation.

The absence of physical diseases that prevent a flight into space with aliens: hypertension, arrhythmias, previous heart attack and stroke, heart failure, liver failure, kidney failure, poor hearing and vision, epilepsy, diabetes, cancer, allergies and reduced immunity.

March 15, 2022

Civilizations of our Galaxy

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/DAZb9ST_F_I

A long-awaited article for those who wanted to know what civilizations exist in our Galaxy. A brief description of some of them is given, the stars of which can be seen with the naked eye by looking at the starry sky. In this article, I will also describe one of my real physical contacts with a flight to the asteroid belt and the Tumesout base.

To describe all the civilizations in our Galaxy it takes at least a couple of years and more than one volume of books. Let us recall that in our Milky Way Galaxy, according to the Interstellar Union (hereinafter referred to as the IC), there are more than 7,000 thin-material (plasmoid) civilizations and 727 intelligent humanoid and non-humanoid types of civilizations, of which 116 are part of the IC.

The author of the drawing is Miha Atjunkin

Star Arcturus (Alpha Boötes) - planet Gumureta

A civilization of hybrids of Eslerians and reptilians from the planet Notesdon from the constellation Ursa Major. Hybrids were created 520 thousand Earth years ago.

Appearance: about a meter tall, greenish skin color, but no scales, three fingers and toes. They are members of the Interstellar Union, sometimes they visit Earth for tourism purposes, but they do not have contactees here, since their government is not yet ready to pay for this project.

Their pilots, however, are quite willing to communicate with eyewitnesses of their landings on our planet. Sensitive towards earthlings benevolently, at least among their representatives, no crimes against representatives of our planet were recorded.

Star Shedar (Alpha Cassiopeiae) - planets Shureo and Boderoi

Non-humanoid type. Appearance - something between reptiles and birds. There are four limbs and wings on the back. Skin color is dark brown. There are no interstellar flights, but they fly within their system. They are not members of the MS and are reluctant to contact its representatives. Only Burkhad has contact with them - there are many specialists there in non-humanoid life forms.

Star Antares (Alpha Scorpii)

There are 27 plasmoid (subtle material) civilizations in this system, and 14 of them are in contact with earthlings. The general mood is quite benevolent, but the five civilizations (parasitic type) are looking for energy recharge here on Earth. Unfortunately, this happens with plasmoids, and it brings undoubted physical and mental harm to their contactees.

Contacts with plasmoids, of course, cannot be physical - after all, they are imperceptible to us, but by influencing different areas of the contactee’s brain with special EMF fields, they are able to cause various sensations and hallucinations in him, in order to induce fear and feed on a person’s vitality. Benevolent plasmoids from Antares love to talk with contactees about the development of our science and technology. Sometimes they come up with ideas for new types of devices or weapons.

Star Sirius (Alpha Canis Majoris)

There are 17 plasmoid civilizations there, 7 of which are in contact with earthlings, but there are no parasitic forms among them.

They like to talk mainly about religion and the spiritual development of humanity. They are happy to show contactees the cosmos during astral travel. There are several asteroid belts around Sirius, and on one of the asteroids there is a Tumesout base.

Kirchiton took me there during one of the physical contacts. This asteroid is only 25 km in diameter. While we were walking to the Tumesout base in protective suits, I jumped, took off from the surface and flew up!

The surface of the asteroid was quickly moving away, and then I heard the voice of Kirchiton, who told me to press the middle of my left palm. I did so and saw how a beam stretched from the suit in the chest area to the plate, and I was drawn to it.

When there were ten meters left before her, Kirchiton told me to press the middle of my left palm twice in a row. I pressed and the beam disappeared. I stopped being drawn to the plate, and I slowly sank down next to her. Then we went to the base, from the outside it looked like a silver dome, about the size of a 10-story building.

When we approached the dome, a piece of the wall disappeared and we went inside. There were Tumesoutians, they look like people, 5-8 meters tall, one of our creators. For some reason the inside of the dome was transparent, the stars were visible through it. Kirchiton showed me a large yellowish star and said that this is our Sun. He talked a little with the Tumesouts, not in Russian, and then we returned to the ship.

Daraal is located in the system of the star Iota Cassiopeia, and near the stars Gamma and Delta Cassiopeia, the Daraalians have their own bases, where they mine minerals and build factories for starships and various instruments. In this way they protect the ecology of Daraal. In the system of the star Iota Cassiopeia, there are no inhabited planets except Daraal.

Planet Hid-mos

There lives a humanoid civilization that is not part of the MS.

Humanoids are similar to our blacks, but they are taller and the shape of their heads, faces and ears is slightly different. They have already gone into space, flying within their system, but their internal contradictions have not yet allowed them to enter the MS. They are under the close supervision of MS.

Star Rigel (Beta Orionis) and Betelgeuse (Alpha Orionis)

On planets of such supergiants, organic life is practically impossible. And there are practically no planets there, only clouds of dust with fairly large asteroids. But their powerful energy attracts plasmoid types of civilizations that do not need material planets.

The bodies of plasmoids are not afraid of hard radiation, but on the contrary, they draw energy from it for their existence and interstellar flights through special energy channels. There are 8 such civilizations near Rigel, and 18 near Betelgeuse.

Some of them visit the Earth, but do not cause harm, except for one plasmoid civilization from Betelgeuse, which is a parasitic energy form for earthlings and some other humanoid civilizations similar to us in vibrations.

Star Denebola (Beta Leonis)

1 planet out of 14 is inhabited. It's called Siddamih. Humanoids resembling people live there, but they have not yet entered the Interstellar Union and, according to the technical development index, are below us. They don’t yet have electricity or even steam engines, that is, they are at the level of approximately our Middle Ages (13-14th century).

Tashig, Burkhad, Saama, Gesar and some other planets have contactors there. But Esler and Daraal have no contactees there.

I was on some planets during physical contacts with Kirchiton. I can visit any of these planets both in reality and astrally - fortunately there is Kirchiton and many good other guides! I thank all my readers and once again want to remind you that there is no point in deceiving you, and I clearly distinguish between real contacts and astral ones.

I can talk and communicate with humanoids and plasmoids in a simple, understandable and understandable form for people. I was checked by doctors more than once, and it all ended with dialogue and questions from doctors to extraterrestrial civilizations 😊

And I want to say on my own behalf to many CONTACTERS:

My dear friends, you are not going crazy if you see them and communicate with them. All these worlds exist, and they do not provide evidence of their existence according to the rules of the MS and many other reasons. Everyone around me thought I was crazy because I couldn't provide any evidence, and there were no contactees like me nearby.

Now we have a large team, and I invite all CONTACTERS to join it - for communication and exchange of experience. Many of our contactees are already ready to help people without money and exchange communication experiences.

I do not work with either the grays or the reptilians, I am not recruited by any "services" and I communicate personally with the curators of the MS and our entire planet.

It's time to unite as a team and start helping the PEOPLE of our planet without money (without turning the gift into slavery of a material egregor).

With Love to all of you! Your CASSIOPEIA - Irina Podzorova!

March, 2020

Physical contact

March 16, 2022

Second contact with Kirchiton

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/sZBO-9deEuk

The second contact with Kirchiton occurred a few days after the first. It was about ten in the evening when I went to run errands with my neighbors. They were not at home, but standing in their yard, I felt that there was something above. Raising my head, I saw that a classic dark-colored flying saucer was hanging right above me, without a single light.

I immediately realized that this was Kirchiton and began to wait with interest for the development of events.

The plate floated silently through the air in the direction of the neighbor's garden, and I hurried after it, burning with curiosity.

The plate soon stopped and a ladder instantly extended from there, along which I quickly climbed inside. To my surprise, it was very light there, although there were no lamps anywhere.

Kirchiton was waiting for me inside and led me to the pilots' room. I sat down on a chair there, and Kirchiton said that we were flying to the lunar base and turned to the control panel.

After a few seconds, I felt as if the chair beneath me was giving way and I was falling. Frightened by this feeling, I tried to jump to my feet, but suddenly flew up to the ceiling, which was about four meters away, and hit the top of my head painfully. Instead of falling to the floor, I remained hanging in the middle of the room, swaying slightly from side to side.

Vera Martynova. The story of the meeting between Irina and Kirchiton Immediately realizing that there was zero gravity in the ship, I tried to reach the chair with my hand, but nothing happened.

Kirchiton turned around, quickly came up to me, took my right hand just above the elbow, sat me on a chair and said:

- Hold on.

I grabbed the handles on the sides of the chair, and he walked back to the drawers.

The top of my head hurt from hitting the ceiling, my head was spinning, nausea was creeping up, everything was blurry in my eyes, and my heart seemed ready to jump out of my chest. I felt like my pulse was beating like hammers in my temples and throat.

Finally, the feeling of falling ended and I felt that I was sitting in a chair quite normally.

The dizziness still remained, but the nausea went away.

“Let’s go,” said Kirchiton, and left the room.

I got up and followed him. It was very easy to walk, I felt as if I had been pumped with some kind of light gas and I was about to take off like a balloon.

The hatch in the floor was open and Kirkhiton and I quickly went down the stairs.

I saw a huge cave with stone walls and a dark gray floor. It was light and quite cool in the cave. I looked at the plate, it stood on two supports, it was gray metallic in color. White light emanated from its circumferential windows and open hatch.

- Where are we? - I asked.

— This is a lunar base on the side of the Moon invisible from Earth. This cave maintains a normal temperature and the composition of the atmosphere familiar to us, so we can be here without protective suits.

I looked up. The ceiling of the cave was very high, probably twenty meters away. Surprised by the unusual feeling of lightness, I jumped on the spot and flew about five meters above the floor, rising above Kirchiton and the plate. I descended very slowly and, touching the floor, jumped up again, enjoying the lightness of my body and the delightful feeling of flying.

“It’s time for us,” said Kirchiton, and with a quick bouncing step he headed towards one of the walls of the cave.

I hurried after him, jumping at every step.

In the wall I saw a large brown door, which lowered as we approached, becoming part of the floor. We found ourselves in a long narrow corridor with black doors on both sides. Kirchiton pushed one of them, the second from the entrance on the right, and we entered a large oval room with greenish walls, in the middle of which stood a table without legs, integral with the floor, as high as my chest.

There was another humanoid in the room, indistinguishable in appearance from Kirchiton.

“This is Pirzhiton, he is a biologist and physician on our planet, a specialist in alien life forms,” said Kirkhiton, “he does not know Russian, so if necessary, I will translate his words for you, and yours for him.”

I nodded.

“Tell me,” Kirchiton continued, “do you agree to be our contactee?”

- How is it?

- I will fly to you twice a week at the appointed place and time and show you different planets.

- What is needed for this?

- This will be possible if you agree to three conditions.

- Which?

— The first condition: go to contacts twice a week, excluding the winter period, while there is snow on the ground. Instead of every missed physical contact, you and I will have five mental ones.

- What is this?

- Mental contacts.

“I agree,” I nodded.

— Second condition: do not tell anyone about contacts with us.

“No one at all,” I was surprised, “not even my mother?”

— It is advisable to keep your contacts secret, because if you talk about them, you will encounter people’s distrust and suspicion, and I wouldn’t want that.

“I see,” I nodded again, “I agree.”

“And the third condition,” Kirchiton continued, “contact is established for life, so think carefully before agreeing.” If you refuse, I will now take you back and we will never see each other again.

I imagined how many interesting things I would see and learn if I agreed to become a contactee and without hesitation I said:

- I agree.

- Fine. Then we will now give you a chip and from now on you will become our contactee.

— What is a chip?

“This is a micro-device for observation, it is completely harmless to your body and will allow me to always be aware of your affairs, and will also make mental contact between us possible.”

“Bet it,” I shrugged.

“Lie down here,” he pointed to the table.

I walked over to the table, jumped onto it quite easily and lay down on my back.

The table felt warm to the touch, like silicone, and elastic, springing a little under me.

Pirzhiton, who had not uttered a word during all this time, said something in an incomprehensible language, Kirkhiton answered him. Then they came to the table and stood on either side of me. Their gazes were directed at me. Pirzhiton passed his palm in front of my eyes, and I instantly fell asleep or passed out, and when I opened my eyes, I saw myself lying on the same table. The aliens were still standing next to the table.

“Get up,” said Kirchiton, “everything is ready.”

I sat down on the table and looked around myself. There were no visible wounds or injuries, nothing hurt, and the clothes were in order.

- And where is the chip?

“Here,” Kirchiton pointed to the upper left side of his abdomen, “it is hair-shaped, two millimeters long, made of organic materials, permeable to all types of radiation and cannot be rejected by your body’s defense system.” Over time, the chip will become part of your body.

“I see,” I said, jumping onto the floor, “thank you.”

- My pleasure. Thank you for trusting us and for agreeing to become a contactee,” Kirchiton replied.

“This is very interesting to me,” I smiled.

“I’ll try to justify your trust in the future, but now it’s time for us to go.”

Kirchiton and I left the room and, after passing through a short corridor, we again found ourselves in the cave where the plate stood.

While we were flying back, in order to distract myself from the unpleasant sensations in zero gravity, I asked him about the lunar base.

“It belongs to many civilizations in contact with the Earth,” said Kirchiton, standing with his back to me and pressing some buttons on the box.

— Why don’t you openly communicate with all people? - I asked.

— Your planet is not yet ready for mass contact.

- Why?

— People for the most part are aggressive and short-sighted. They care only about immediate benefits, and for the sake of bodily pleasures, many of you neglect spiritual values. Trust, understanding, love and compassion are an empty phrase for many earthlings, and all this does not allow your mind to open to the knowledge of the universe and other forms of life in it that are unusual for you.

I was ready to bombard him with questions, but then the weightlessness ended, and he said:

- It's time for you. I brought you to the designated place for contact. Come here every Tuesday and Thursday at half past nine in the evening.

- How do you know our days of the week and time? — I was surprised, “You’re from another planet.”

His lips stretched into a thin line, and I realized that he was smiling.

“We have studied your ways of counting time very well,” he replied.

Going down the stairs to the ground, I found myself in a pine forest. The plate rose up very quickly, I heard a quiet whistle and felt a gust of wind. In place of the plate, a star flashed for a moment and everything disappeared.

I looked around. There was a dark pine forest around, I stood in a small clearing and had no idea where to go.

Fortunately, I remembered the location of our village well and knew that the pine forest could only be to the north of it.

I decided to go south, reasoning that sooner or later I would reach the village.

Having found the North Star in the sky, I turned my back to it and walked through the forest as quickly as possible. I carefully looked at my feet so as not to fall, because it was dark, and there was no road or path under my feet.

I felt very uneasy, it seemed that I had been walking for a long time, and this forest still did not end. Mentally encouraging myself with the words that nothing threatens me here, about ten minutes later I left the forest. My heart was beating wildly.

I immediately recognized the area, jumped for joy and quickly ran home.

March 22, 2022

Journey to Planet Esler

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/An9aTqiGCXQ

Description of physical contact with Kirkhiton on August 14, 2018.

A spaceship in the form of a saucer hovered about four meters above me, and a staircase with railings on both sides instantly descended from there. I climbed it inside. It was light there, but there were no lamps. The hatch was in the floor of a small semicircular room. No one met me and I went straight down the corridor to the pilots' room. Kirkhiton was there.

I sat down on a chair against the wall, and he turned to the control panel and said that we were flying to the planet Esler. Then weightlessness began and I sat, holding myself in place, holding the handles on the sides of the chair. Then the weightlessness ended and Kirchiton went to the exit, and I followed him. The hatch in the floor was open.

We went downstairs and the first thing I saw was that it was day outside. The sun and sky looked completely earthly, there were no strange smells, and I began to look around. The “plate” stood on the edge of a strange forest, where the trees were in the form of white trunks with green tops, and there were no leaves on them.

Ahead, about a hundred meters away, I saw several large white domes, and we went towards them. Kirchiton entered one of them through the open door, and I followed him in.

Vera Martynova. Characters and terrain

There was a large round room, in the middle of which there was a round table. Behind him sat human-like creatures dressed in dark blue robes. They all looked at us, and several stood up and came towards us. They looked like this: about 170 cm tall, brown wrinkled skin, pointed ears at the top, dark short hair and large yellow eyes with a vertical pupil.

One of them had a round, white, shiny object hanging on his chest, on which something similar to the sun was drawn.

He said:

“I greet you Kirchiton and you, his contactee. I am Odus and have been to your planet many times.”

I said Hi".

Kirchiton turned to me and said:

“You mentioned mystics, now I’ve brought you to real mystics.”

Then he turned to the Eslerite and said:

“Odus, tell my contactee what Shambhala is?”

The Eslerite looked at me and said:

“You are now in Esler’s capital, Champ, and “loa” in our language means “arrived.” There is an Esler base on Earth, which you named as Kirchiton said.”

Kirkhiton asked:

“Does Esler have many contactees on Earth now?”

Odus replied:

"More than twenty thousand."

Kirkhiton asked:

"And you?"

He replied:

"An eighth of all."

I asked:

“And all physical?”

He replied:

“The first contact is always like this, but it is a necessity. Communication in the Spirit is much closer than physical meetings.”

Then Kirchiton said that it was time for us to go and we returned to the ship. I sat down on a chair, and weightlessness began again. Kirchiton said that the Daraalian brain consists of two parts: the right is responsible for the perception of the external world, and the left for memory and internal mental dialogue. Therefore, during mental contact they do not need to disconnect from the outside world. Then the weightlessness ended and Kirchiton said:

“A contactee is waiting for me, who has only been in contact with me for three months. We are studying the solar system. Your impressions of new discoveries make me very happy and confirm the correctness of my chosen goal - to work with you.”

I went out into the corridor and saw an open hatch in the floor. I went down the stairs in the place where they took me from and went home.

March 24, 2022

Travel to the planet Disnit in the constellation Aquila

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/EYqJqVjpCrT

In July 2019, I was in physical contact with Kirchiton and he showed me the very interesting planet Disnit, which is located in the constellation Aquila, at a distance of 110 light years from us. When we arrived there, Kirchiton said that we should put on protective suits, because the atmosphere contains about 6% of methane gas, which is dangerous for earthlings, and in addition, it is quite cold there: outside the ship the instrument showed minus 26 degrees, in terms of the scale we are used to Celsius.

Almost all of Disnit is covered with a frozen ocean. Local residents have long lacked space on land to live, and several centuries ago they began to actively build underwater cities under special domes. Special installations on the shores of a few islands melt the ice, so that the connection between cities and the surface of the planet is never lost.

Kirchiton and I went into the water near the shore and swam a little. In a protective suit, you don't feel the temperature of the water or its flow at all, but you can dive without thinking about how much air you have and examine everything underwater through a special window in the protective suit, located opposite your eyes.

True, I couldn't see anything except black water. Kirchiton told me to press the elbow of my left hand, I did so, after which a very bright beam of white light appeared above my eyes, piercing the dark thickness of the water for many meters. But this didn't improve the situation much; at least, I didn't see a single fish or sea animal. There were also no plants in the water, but this is not surprising, because the water was too cold for the active life of multicellular organisms.

Kirill Nikolaev. Flight to Disnit

After swimming and diving a little in the ocean of Disnit, Kirchiton and I returned to the plate, which sank into the water and, like a real submarine, soon reached one of the underwater cities. A huge yellow beam emerged from its dome and pulled the ship inside.

There the temperature was more comfortable for us, 14 degrees Celsius, but the atmosphere still contained a dangerous concentration of methane for earthlings, so Kirchiton and I did not take off our protective suits and walked through the streets of the underwater city right in them. The houses of the Disnitites are similar to our one-story country houses, standing on three "pillars," but their walls consist of blocks of different colors, in the most bizarre combinations for our eyes.

As we walked around the city, in the distance we could see a greenish dome that rose very high above the city. A diffuse yellowish light came from it, but I didn’t notice any lamps or lanterns. Near many of the houses grew small bushes with brown trunks and branches, densely covered with very small white flowers.

There were many local residents walking along the streets, as tall as my chest, with white smooth skin, black eyes like coals, located on an oval, egg-shaped head too large for the body, and with thin arms and legs. They paid almost no attention to Kirchiton and me.

Kirchiton told me that one of the oldest colonies of Disnita is a planet with the same name, located in the constellation Aquarius.

Disnitians often fly to Earth, contact our people, but having an unusual appearance for us, they often do not do this themselves, but send their biorobots, created in our image and likeness and from our own genetic and cellular material.

These biorobots are practically indistinguishable from earthly people. They can only be recognized by a person who is able to see or otherwise perceive the energy structure of living people. Biorobots do not have a biofield, which immediately becomes noticeable on the subtle plane for anyone who is able to understand what is happening there.

After a walk through the underwater city of Disnita, Kirchiton brought me back. I really liked this contact, because in regression I remember my life on Disnit. True, nothing I saw there seemed familiar to me, but it’s still nice to visit the planet where I once lived.

July 2019

March 28, 2022

Visiting the planets of the solar system

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/Zm6LB4EkopW

I continue to tell you about the events of 1999. And although more than twenty years have passed since then, the events of the summer of that year are still before my eyes, because it was then that I left our planet for the first time, and it is impossible to forget this, no matter how many years have passed.

After the flight to the lunar base, Kirchiton began showing me the planets of the solar system. We visited the planet Mercury first. It was like this: when I got out of the ship, I immediately saw the Sun. It surprised me so much that for several minutes I looked only at it.

It seemed to me that it was five times larger than seen from Earth and of some strange white color. Huge tongues of flame burst out of it. Dark spots were visible on the solar disk, which moved across it as if the wind was blowing there.

Kirkhiton said:

“Look around, this is the planet Mercury, and then we will fly closer to the Sun, and you will get a good look at it.”

I looked around and saw many gray stones scattered on the lighter soil, they cast sharp black shadows. Looking back, I saw a “flying saucer” standing on supports.

We were in a huge valley littered with stones. To the left were high mountains, which, by eye, were about two kilometers away. Kirchiton told me the characteristics of the planet, and I walked around the “plate” a little, feeling an amazing lightness in my body, and then bent down to pick up a stone.

It unexpectedly turned out to be heavy, despite the clearly lower gravity than on Earth. I threw the stone to the side, and it flew away about twenty meters. Then we entered the ship. I wanted to sit on a chair, but Kirchiton told me to stand next to him.

Then he pressed something and the floor disappeared from under my feet. I hung between the floor and the ceiling, and he remained standing. Then he turned me to face the window and began to hold me in this position. Outside the window, the Sun was quickly approaching until it began to take up half the sky. The flames became large and curved and moved all the time.

Mercury passing in front of the Sun

It seemed to me that the surface of the Sun was boiling, and the dark spots looked like swirling whirlpools. The ship stopped, and Kirchiton spoke about its mass, size, etc.

After that, he brought me back, and I went home, but for a long time the deserted landscape of Mercury and especially the huge “boiling” Sun, which seemed to be just a stone’s throw away, stood before my eyes.

April 4, 2022

Happy birthday to Kirchiton!

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/t4nv4hKyENp

If we compare the calendar of Kirchiton’s homeland - the planet Daraal (constellation Cassiopeia) with ours, then he was born on April 4, 1844.

CONGRATULATIONS!

And... what about a jar of earthly beer, which he selflessly refused when, a long time ago, young Irina brought this treat on board the ship?

Ilya Klychev. A New Look

Once upon a time a girl Irina

I left the park as if in a dream...

Suddenly - a triangular colossus,

And next to her is Kirchiton!

Three eyes were shining merrily

At a three-meter height...

But she didn’t understand right away

Why are the “artists” here...

“Are we flying?” – he said in Russian

And he pointed to the hatch,

Ira stepped with a narrow stitch,

Without fear that the skiff...

Since then they have flown so much

That you can make both a film and a video!

And on the moon there are slices under the ribs

Her friend chipped him!

And today, without timidity,

We declare from our hearts:

No wonder Project “Cassiopeia”

With such a name it does it!

His constellation in the Project is

On every turn we take,

We are at the beginning, just believe me!

At least the whole world already knows us!!

So let all your three eyes

They'll see you soon, dear,

How decisively and immediately we

Let's join the MC in droves!

Let contacts be easy,

Let them give bonuses often,

Astrophysical watches

Let them bring you comfort!

Let the star luck shine

Through a million parsec-years!

And only Happiness - no other way!

And only – the Highest Light!

Team and ALL subscribers of OUR CASSIOPEIA WITH YOU!

April 9, 2022

Journey to the planet Ticht

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/BjHSm5yRXKD

On September 9, 2018, Kirchiton and I visited the planet Tikht, which is located near the star Zeta Sculptor, at a distance of 550 light years from the Sun. This planet is located quite far from the star and is quite cold there.

Kirchiton said that the temperature on the surface was minus 38 degrees Celsius, so before leaving we put on protective suits. When we left the “plate”, I saw drifts of snow that intersected at different angles.

Large square vehicles without windows and doors moved along the roads, and white balls were spinning on the roof of these vehicles. It turned out that most of the dwellings of this planet are underground. We approached a black circle on the surface, stood on it, and it began to descend like an elevator. While slowly descending, I looked up and saw a cloudy sky and several black dots flying in a triangle.

The circle on which we stood descended into a huge cave, ten times the size of a football field. It was light there. Kirchiton pressed something on the side of the door, and after a few seconds the door went up. On the threshold stood a humanoid shorter than me, with a square head, large blue eyes and white skin. Kirchiton said something to him, and he stepped aside to let us through.

The author of the two illustrations on the right is Madina. Tikhtians

We went inside and found ourselves in a small rectangular room with brown walls, in which white veins of a substance unknown to me were visible, reminiscent of abstract patterns. The furniture there was a long table, and in the corners of the room there were seating areas that vaguely resembled triangular chairs.

There was a screen on the wall showing a snowy valley and moving humanoids that looked like the one who opened the door to us. Another humanoid stood up from the chair and said:

— I welcome you to Tichta. My name is Natyemrau, I am the coordinator for contacts with the earthly race.

I also greeted him and asked him to tell him about his planet. Here's what he said:

— 14 billion intelligent beings live here, we have many colonies in the galaxy. Quite recently we made contact with your world, although we still have few contactees, we have something to tell your race.

- Like what? - I became interested.

— We have extensive experience in restoring the ecology of planets after technological disasters and wars using various types of weapons, still unknown in your world. I think that our experience will be useful to your planet.

Kirkhiton asked:

— How many contactees does Ticht have now?

- Only twenty-three, few people in your world match us in terms of the vibrational characteristics of the brain and the state of the energy fields of the aura.

- Do you make physical contact? - I asked.

— It depends on the capabilities of the contactees, but we can easily do without physical contacts. The physical form of contact is more important for you, not for us. This is due to some limitation of non-physical forms of perception, which occurs due to the materialistic setup of your consciousnesses and the ways of working through the central nervous system.

— How do you assess the current environmental situation on Earth?

- How extremely alarming. Your power structures almost do not support the study of the influence of urban, technogenic civilization on global processes in the biosphere of your planet. This is extremely short-sighted on their part, as it can easily lead to the depletion of the planet’s resources, disruption of the regulation of its natural processes, and even to a series of cataclysms that threaten the existence of your species. Such an attitude towards one’s own planet comes from a lack of understanding of the spiritual processes that shape the material world.

— What do you advise us to do to get out of this situation?

— First of all, you need to change the current paradigm of your social ideology by daily and widely covering the environmental and other problems of your civilization. Silencing these problems does not lead to their elimination. The second very important point is to build a priority for the spiritual values of the worldview system, based on which every spirit embodied in your world will be able to find happiness in the development of their spiritual qualities, in the growth of the creative potential of the individual, and not in the acquisition of material wealth by disrupting the ecological balance of the planet and violations of the Divine Laws on which the existence of the material world and all its energies rests.

Then Kirchiton said that it was time for us to return, and we followed the same path out of the room into the cave and took the elevator to the surface of the planet, where nothing had changed during our absence. Within a few minutes I was on Earth. Having thanked Kirchiton, I left the “plate” and went home, following with my gaze the luminous star into which it almost instantly turned...

All the way home I thought about the words of the Tikhtian. All the nature around seemed to me like a living organism, the same Light of God that I always feel within myself! It was completely incomprehensible to me at that moment how one could pray to God while destroying what He had created?! How can you develop your Spirit by humiliating and not accepting your body, which gives us the opportunity to develop it by taking lessons in the material world?

These questions often arose before me later, until the realization came that each embodied Spirit thinks and feels as best he can at a given level of his development. Therefore, there is no need to waste time and energy on condemning someone, but it is better to spend both on the manifestation of the Light of Love, which is in each of us.

This will allow many Spirits to awaken from that sleep of egoism and arrogance, which causes an attunement to a materialistic type of perception - with all the ensuing processes listed above.

April 14, 2022

Journey to the planet Gihor

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/awW-W4qye1p

The other day I had another physical contact with Kirchiton. We visited the planet Gihor, in the constellation Virgo, about the astral journey to which, together with MidgasKaus, I already told you earlier . This planet is the birthplace of cosmoenergetics: an energy healing system, the basis of which is the discovery of special energy flows for a person - cosmic channels.

They are capable of changing the physical and biological properties of water and living objects due to the influence of a special kind of EMF fields with frequency characteristics unique to them.

These energy flows are created on the planets Gihor, Gesam and Saama, which are part of the interstellar union and have astral and telepathic contactors on Earth.

Specialists from these planets came into contact with the founder of cosmoenergetics, Vladimir Petrov, and gave him access to more than 200 channels of cosmic energy, and also transferred the right to transfer this access to other people.

Subsequently, Vladimir Petrov had students and followers who later opened their own schools and the cosmoenergy system began its development on Earth.

One of the first students of Vladimir Petrov was the Samarkand physicist Emil Bagirov, from whose St. Petersburg student I received access to six channels of cosmoenergetics back in 2005.

When I arrived on Gihor, Kirchiton and I came to the surface in protective suits, because the temperature outside the ship was about plus 80 degrees Celsius, and this is still cool for the local silicone humanoids. The usual temperature in Gihor is about 90-120 degrees plus.

There is always a dense fog there due to the constant evaporation of reservoirs containing a fairly large percentage of hydrofluoric acid, which is why the atmosphere contains a concentration of hydrogen fluoride that is lethal to earthlings.

For a combination of these reasons, Kirchiton and I went to Gikhor in protective suits. Entering a long dark building, we found ourselves in a room for receiving guests from outer space. There were more than ten local residents there.

Outwardly, they resemble the inhabitants of the planet Tashig: a thin flexible body, a pear-shaped head with a sharp chin, a lipless narrow mouth and large black eyes. They are taller than the Tashigans, their usual height is about 170 cm, instead of the usual 120-130 cm for the inhabitants of Tashig. They have green skin, due to the high content of copper compounds in their tissues.

One of the Russian-speaking Gikhors came up to me and asked about the cosmic energy channels available to me. I listed them for him and told him how and when I worked with them. He told me to follow him and led me to a small round room with purple walls painted with strange golden patterns. Kirchiton remained waiting for me in the first room.

In the room where I found myself, the Gihorians created a normal temperature and atmosphere for earthlings, and they themselves put on protective masks. One of them ran his hand along my back and the protective suit on me split into two halves and disappeared somewhere. Then they put a slightly warm metal hoop on my head and it seemed to me that there was a heavy load on the top of my head, because of which my head tilted towards my chest.

A few seconds passed and the incomprehensible pressure stopped. The hoop was removed and one of the Gikhors explained that a special device was connected to me to enhance the flow of energy in my existing cosmoenergy channels and in those that I would gain access to later, through people authorized to transmit the channels on Earth - masters of cosmoenergy.

After that, the two halves of the protective suit came together again on me and I, together with the Gihorians, went out into the room where Kirchiton was waiting. He and I returned to the flying saucer, which stood near the building, and he brought me to Earth.

After visiting Gikhor with Kirchiton, within two days I experienced a transformation of my etheric-astral fields, which was accompanied by periodic involuntary exits to the astral plane.

After the end of the adaptation period, both I and the people undergoing cosmoenergy sessions with me noticed that the sensations from the cosmic energy channels had changed. Everyone feels it differently, but everyone noticed the changes.

Mead from the planet Esler says that energy flows now pass through me differently, which provides new opportunities for revealing all the possibilities of cosmic energy, subject to my further training in this method and constant practical work with people.

September 2019

April 18, 2022

Journey to the planet Disaru to

Saint Germain

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/y6Vv5f4WQHn

Planet DISARU is located in the constellation Hercules, 953 light years from the Sun. It is here that there is a highly developed civilization created by our distant ancestors, who 12 thousand years ago at the beginning of the war with Selbet on ships of the Interstellar Union were urgently evacuated to this planet from Venus, where there was then an earthly colony.

As always, Kirchiton's ship hovered in the darkness at a low altitude above a forest clearing. I thought that now the usual ladder would come out of it, but a surprise awaited me. It turns out that an anti-gravity lift was installed on the ship, so a beam descended towards me - first yellow, and then it turned green.

This beam, like an elevator, gently lifted me inside the ship. However, it soon became clear that there was still no artificial gravity on the ship. I again “met” weightlessness, although after many flights I can tolerate it without any problems.

A few minutes of flight on atmospheric and then planetary engines and, after almost instantaneous movement using a gravitational engine, we found ourselves on Disaru. We left the ship.

The atmosphere on the planet is similar in composition to that of Earth, so protective suits were not needed. It was a day, but quite cold. A small bluish sun was shining from the sky - actually there was a double star system, but the second sun was not visible. There was a lot of greenery growing around.

Kirill Nikolaev. Flight to Saint Germain on planet Disaru

I noticed trees that looked like conifers, tall grass, bushes and plants whose leaves reminded me of fern or yarrow, only they also had large needles. There was a strong smell of some flowers in the air. Our ship landed on the outskirts of the city - as Kirkhiton explained to me, it was a working-class area where workers live in houses that we would call high-rise buildings. But most of the planet's inhabitants live in separate houses.

The landing site was chosen because not far from this area is the house of Saint Germain, who, as you know, recently came to us for contact in the astral body. In terms of the appearance of their physical body, the Disarutians are not at all different from us. They are the same height and build, have European facial features and, if not for their clothes, it would be impossible to distinguish them from earthlings. Men have mustaches and beards.

San Germain was waiting for us to visit him at home. His house reminded me more of a palace. The entrance to the house and the entrances to the rooms were made in the form of high arches. The brown entrance doors swung open in front of us. I was led through 5 or 6 spacious rooms and saw Saint Germain in a room with a small table in the shape of a star - but with rounded rather than sharp arms.

In the center of the table were unusual lattice patterns, and between them was some kind of transparent material that looked like glass or plastic. Under the table one could see what seemed to me to be metal rods of a dark color. There was a semi-circle of seating around the table - somewhere between our kitchen sofa and a long chair.

Underfoot there was a white covering, like carpet with highly protruding fibers, only not soft, but quite hard. The walls and ceiling in the room were also matte light, made of some smooth material, also similar to plastic.

I got a good look at Saint Germain, who was sitting in a large white semicircular chair. He looked like an earthly man of relatively advanced age, but without gray hair and with a brownish beard. Disaru lives for 600-700 years, and Saint-Germain is now about 500 years old, and looks good for that age.

In general, he is very similar to his image with a crystal in his hands, which we used earlier as an illustration for the post of our astral contact with him. He was wearing a dark blue cape that resembled a robe with patterns on the chest in the form of partial circles embroidered with golden thread.

We drank tea, which tasted very similar to jasmine with a hint of honey, and talked for quite a long time. Saint-Germain speaks excellent Russian and speaks without any accent, so no translation was needed. He said that he knew many earthly languages.

Over tea, I jokingly offered to bring him our clothes so that he could walk down the street with me - no one would recognize him. In response, he began to speak in a singsong voice, smoothly gesturing in front of me with his graceful palms:

“And how do you know - maybe I’m walking among you... Here’s some nondescript old man in poor clothes sitting with a newspaper somewhere in the subway - and that’s me! Or my friend. It’s one thing to study your life through a contactor chip, and quite another to directly feel the smells, sounds, and energy of people. All this is important for our research.”

He also added that his work for Disara is precisely as a specialist in contact with earthlings. It’s not for nothing that he lived on Earth for many years, where he had many contactees; he knows our culture, traditions, customs and, in general, all the subtleties of the earthly life of people of different classes and eras very well.

He has the most experience in this on Disaru, so he also trains other specialists in contact with earthlings - not only from Disaru, but also from other planets.

I joked that it was probably time for him to retire soon. But he said - this is not accepted here, we work until the very last day, and this is everyone’s personal desire, not related to the government. At the same time, we found out that the planet is controlled by the so-called Cathedral - people who are elected by everyone for 20-30 Disarut years. It is often considered inappropriate to choose these rulers, because they gain a lot of experience and get used to this work, and new ones will have to adapt without having experience.

I asked why he lives on the outskirts of the city. Saint-Germain replied that this is not exactly the outskirts, but rather an area where there are separate estates, one of which is his. I laughed:

“Do buses from the city run here regularly?”

He seriously replied that they could call for a special robot to move it on a small ship, which we would call a small flying saucer. Such ships have a planetary engine, which operates on the principle of repulsion from the planet’s magnetic field. To my question about why it’s cool outside now, he explained that we are at such a latitude, but even the winter here is mild and resembles earthly autumn.

Kirchiton went out several times, then returned, and we continued to talk. It turned out that Saint Germain has as many as 15 wives! Polygamy is permitted in Disaru. I saw three of them. They, too, are not particularly different from the inhabitants of the Earth - beautiful earthly women. Big eyes, long curled eyelashes...

It seemed to me that I saw makeup on their faces. One of them poured us tea. She was somewhat similar to the singer Alsou. I asked him whether polygamy for him was not a continuation of that earthly incarnation when he was King Solomon, who had many lovers, including the well-known Shulamith?

Shasha Alane, Planet Disaru (left). Julia Lagus, Disaru (right)

He replied that Disara has a completely different attitude towards love, including physical love, than we have - and indeed on most planets of the Interstellar Union. It was not for nothing, he continued, that the planet Venus, on which his ancestors lived, was called the name of the goddess of love.

For the people of Disaru, the union of a man and a woman in love means the union of two parts of divinity into one. Through this merger, the male divine part, which reflects the concept of Spirit (it is not for nothing that this word is masculine in Russian), is united with the manifestation of the feminine side of God - Matter (a feminine word).

Thus, the sexual fusion of a man and a woman is considered a union of spirit and matter, which is necessary for the birth of a person. At the same time, the spirit, as is known, can be embodied in different material bodies. This means that a man, personifying the spirit, has every right to be in relationships, including physical ones, with several manifestations of matter at once - women.

This is Disaru's philosophy on this issue - probably attractive to many earthly men... At the same time, he added, marriages with the birth of children between earthlings and residents of Disaru are quite possible, because there is practically no difference in our genetics.

I asked if he could advise how we can extend the life of the body on Earth - at least up to 300 years. Saint-Germain replied that as we age, the process intensifies when our dying cells are no longer replaced by new ones, and this is one of the main reasons for aging. True, this can still be solved, because there are different means, regenerating herbs and so on.

But there is another problem. Unlike the planets of the Interstellar Union, on Earth, due to wars, unawareness, negativity, violence, and so on, the vibrations of the noosphere are so low that the spirit eventually "gets tired" of such a life and begins to send signals to the body to leave the physical embodiment.

The first sign of this is deteriorating vision in older people. They just don't want to see this world anymore. And even if a person believes that he loves life, in fact he loves the very concept of life, and not life in its manifestation among us.

Moreover, the older a person becomes, gaining experience, the more clearly he feels eternity, feels that he is an eternal spirit, and not just a mortal body.

Then our conversation turned to the border between light and darkness. That the border between the light and dark paths is always, as it were, in the middle. And if a person constantly stays in a balanced way both there and there, understanding the whole essence of the fact that each of these concepts is contained within the other, then when he meets another person, he will immediately be able to see how much light and how much darkness is in that person, what he lacks , and how to change this ratio.

He talked about what you need to understand - no matter what happens in this world, everything happens according to the will of God, which means he allowed it for some purposes, and if you condemn it, then you condemn part of the reality he allowed.

Essentially, instead of trying to understand why this is needed in the world, you begin to judge God himself - just because he did not do as you imagine. Therefore, you need to learn to accept everything, even darkness, without judgment.

At the end of our conversation, Saint-Germain said that he knew about my ability to install an energy matrix for people to connect to the noosphere of Burkhad, but in the near future I will be able, following his instructions, to also connect to the light network of the 624th sector of the Galaxy, in which we we are.

The connection to the light network of only our sector is due to the fact that, taking into account our level of collective consciousness, we will not yet be able to energetically connect to the entire Galaxy. This is precisely the Disaru technique, so if we agree to receive such instructions, then later one of the Disaru specialists will come to me in the astral plane and teach me all the rituals necessary for this.

Mastering this technique will give us the opportunity to energetically connect to the consciousnesses of the worlds of our Galaxy of different densities at the level of their quantum bodies. And the ultimate goal of connection is the emergence of awareness in the current moment for your spiritual being and the manifestation of this awareness in every moment of your current life. I tried to object that he was being clever with the definitions, but he replied: if you pass this on to those who are ready, everything will be clear to them.

About an hour later, Saint-Germain stood up to lead Kirchiton and me to the exit of the house. On the way back, I looked at the mirrors on the walls of the rooms through which we walked, and the paintings with images of high hills. On the tops of the hills there were structures similar to our Stonehenge. We said goodbye and returned to the ship.

When we found ourselves inside the ship, and Kirchiton approached the control panel, I remembered how, during our first flights in the late 90s, he not only told me how to control the ship, but also let me press these buttons. He said then that there is nothing complicated there, and any earthling can be taught to operate a plate well in 6 months.

I asked then if there were “rudders” for turning if, for example, there was a meteorite ahead. Kirchiton explained that they are not needed - the engine has a device that estimates in advance the mass of objects along the course, and if the meteorite is so large that it can pass through the protective plasma field around the ship, which is turned on when flying on a planetary engine, then the ship itself instantly changes trajectory to a safe one.

By the way, it is this luminous plasma field that UFO observers see in the sky when they talk about bright objects - which means that the planetary engine on the ship is turned on at that time.

Soon we found ourselves on Earth. I said goodbye to Kirchiton, using the same light “elevator”, got out of the ship and walked through a dark forest to the village, where my friend was waiting for me in the car.

Thus ended my journey to the planet Disaru, where people like us live, but who have built a civilization that has long been included in the Interstellar Union of our galaxy, which we call the Milky Way.

April 2020

April 20, 2022

How Irina had an energy matrix installed

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kak-irine-ustanavlivali-ehnergomatricu

On August 18, 2019, I had physical contact with representatives of the planet Burhad, the homeland of some of our creators.

Representatives of this race visited me a few days ago in the astral plane and offered to install an energy matrix in my energy structure, through which it is possible to include an energy information flow connecting the information field of the planet Burkhad with a specific earthly person, to cleanse his astral-mental fields from accumulated negative vibrations and negative thought forms , parasitic attachments and awakening in him the inner Divine Light of Love.

I agreed without hesitation, realizing how much our planet needs such a tool for converting negative vibrations into positive energy.

I was taken from the place of contact by two representatives of Burkhad: BerGastr, the chief specialist in contacts with the Earth, and Raom Tiyan, a specialist in the energy and spiritual practices of anthropomorphic humanoids.

They came for me on a large oval-shaped ship of metallic color. He hovered above me and fired a spiral-shaped purple beam that wrapped around my body and quickly but smoothly lifted me into the ship.

There they were already waiting for me and offered me to sit on a long bench glowing with white light. There was no weightlessness. Soon the Burkhadians said that we had arrived at the place and we went outside.

The author of the drawing is NATALIE. Life on a developed planet

The edge of a huge field filled with spaceships of the most unimaginable shapes and sizes opened to my eyes. A very beautiful blue and white sun was shining in the sky, bathing the city, which was made up of large spiral-shaped houses with blue and white walls, in a bright light.

We entered one of the buildings, where there was a room filled with white light, in the middle of which stood a large capsule. Its lower part looked like metal, and its upper part was a very beautiful sky blue color. When we appeared, the upper part of the capsule opened and I saw its inside, the walls and bottom there were silver and glowing.

There was a girl in the room, a representative of Burkhad, she invited me to take off my shoes and lie down in the capsule. I did so. The capsule lid closed, a quiet whistle was heard and it became dark. But not for long. A few seconds later, a spiral glowing with white light appeared inside the capsule, running rhythmically along the walls, bottom and ceiling of the capsule. The whistle was heard again and I had the feeling that my entire consciousness, my sense of “I,” was turning over and changing.

An image of Roam Tiyan appeared in his mind, he smiled and said:

“Everything is going well, you are accepting the energy matrix. Leave all thoughts of earthly worries and think about the Divine Light within yourself.”

I relaxed and completely surrendered to the flow of energy passing through my body and consciousness. Soon it felt like I was in all the places and times where I had been, at the same time, and then I realized that I was looking at my physical body from the outside. It lay on its back with its eyes closed and trembling a little. In myself I felt a wave of Light that loves and accepts everything and everyone. I was part of this Light, this universal Love, and time stopped for me.

Then I found myself in my body again, the top of the capsule opened and I saw a smiling girl and two Burkhadians who flew after me.

Roam Tiyan said that everything was ready and I got out of the capsule.

Then I walked to a small table, near which there was a white couch and sat down on it. In the air above the table appeared an image of the energy matrix that had just been installed above the seventh energy center.

In an inactivated state, it looks like a silvery pyramid, inside of which there is a cross, with a white-violet ray spirally twisted around it.

They explained to me that with the help of this matrix I will be able to transmit an energy information flow into the energy structures of people who are willing and prepared for this in order to cleanse their astral-mental fields from negative vibrations, transferring their energy into life force and awakening their own inner Divine in their consciousness Light.

Now every person who is ready to develop the Light of True Love will have the opportunity to gain access to the energies of the information field of the planet Burkhad, the homeland of some of our creators.

The purpose of transferring the energy matrix to me is precisely to direct the flow of transforming Light to all willing people, with a positive outlook on the world and ready to change themselves and the world around them according to the plans of our Heavenly Father.

August, 2019

April 25, 2022

At a meeting of the Interstellar Union. I've been waiting for this for 20 years!

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/na-zasedanii-mezhzvyozdnogo-soyuza

An event occurred that I had been waiting for twenty years after the start of contacts: I attended one of the meetings of the Interstellar Union, which was attended by representatives of 116 civilizations of our Galaxy.

This was on the planet Burhad, the homeland of one of our creators, which is located in the constellation Cygnus at a distance of 670 light years from the Sun.

I was brought there by representatives of the planet Tashig - the same “gray men” who served as a model for the creation of many films about aliens, the scriptwriters of which either took information from ufological data on contacts, or were themselves contactees or their close friends and relatives.

On the evening of October 27, 2019, a Tashigan spaceship in the shape of a large disk came for me. I was lifted on board with an anti-gravity beam and taken to Burkhad.

When we got out of the ship, I saw a huge spaceport, on which stood an unimaginable number of spaceships of all possible shapes and colors. From such a quantity and variety of alien technology, my eyes ran wild and for the first few minutes I turned my head, trying to make out the edge of the cosmodrome.

But I never saw the edge. Everywhere, in neat rows, there were large and small disks, balls, pyramids, huge diamond-shaped and cigar-shaped objects, of a variety of colors and shades.

I didn’t notice where the Tashigans accompanying me went, but a few minutes later a large silver-colored object, similar to an airship, landed right in front of me, and Raom Tiyan, already familiar to me from my last visit to Burkhad, came out from there.

He invited me inside the apparatus and said that he would take me to the meeting. I entered. There were several more Burkhadians sitting there, men and women, dressed in identical silver overalls. Raom Tiyan said that this is their mode of transport with which they travel throughout the planet. It does not require the control of an intelligent being, but flies on autopilot, following orders from the central transport computer, which can be contacted by any Burkhadian.

A few minutes later we were there. When we left the "airship", I was breathtaking from the number and variety of humanoid races that I saw there.

Shasha Alane. Irina's speech at a meeting of the Interstellar Union. Planet Burhad

Around me in an open field, on low wooden-looking benches, sat representatives of dozens of space races, of very different heights, skin colors and builds. I saw many of them for the first time. My astonished stupor was interrupted by MidgasKaus from the planet Esler, who came up to me and welcomed me to the Interstellar Union. We talked a little, and then Raom Tiyan said that I was given the right to speak at the Interstellar Union.

I took the sheet with the speech I had prepared in advance and followed him. We went out into the middle of the field, there were wooden benches around us, rising slightly in a spiral shape. Humanoids who had gathered from all over the Galaxy sat on them and looked at me carefully.

Raom Tiyan pointed to an oval-shaped platform lying on chalk-white ground and told me to stand on it. I did so. The platform began to smoothly rise upward and, having reached a height of about seven to ten meters, stopped.

Only then did I notice how many eyes were looking at me and what diverse creatures these eyes belonged to. There were reptilians, insectoids, humanoids similar to earthly people, and many other galactic races. My heart began to beat strongly from excitement and from the high oxygen content in the atmosphere of Burkhad, but I realized that everyone was waiting for my speech and began to read the prepared text:

I greet all representatives of the Interstellar Union!

My name is Irina. I am a resident of planet Earth, which is not yet part of the Interstellar Union. It is a great honor for me to be here now.

We are a young planet of hybrid humanoids with great potential for growth and development. Many of us are already ready to become your allies in both the spiritual and physical worlds. Many of us on our planet have not yet grown to your level, but I am sure that this is a matter of time.

With proper upbringing of a student with true Love, he always grows higher than his teacher. I want to express my deep gratitude to my curators, who gave me the opportunity to consciously be here in a physical body: this is Kirchiton from the planet Daraal and MidgasKaus from the planet Esler.

I also want to express my deep gratitude to all the representatives of the Interstellar Union who helped me do this: Raom Thiam, Rameli Triar, Laom Street, Bergastre, MirakhKaunt from the planet Burkhad, Li Shioni from the planet Shimor. They taught me and gave me the opportunity to carry the Light of the true Love of our Creator on my complex planet for the growth and development of not only the body but also the spirit.

We understand that we are hybrids and many of you are in Us. We are your children on the physical level and the children of our father, the Creator, on the spiritual level, who created you and us. We make a lot of mistakes, but we grow and become more conscious, in order to someday take one of the places as a full member of the Interstellar Union and further the Intergalactic Union.

We learn to obey laws in order to learn to control our animal nature. We have many primitive instincts, but they make us stronger and help us defend our ideals and principles, albeit imperfect yet, but leading us to the knowledge of the infinite God in the Light of His true Love, an integral part of which We are all.

We learn all this with the help of higher embodied teachers and our physical creator fathers. I would like to express my deep gratitude to them for this help and the opportunities given to me, due to which this meeting took place. Many of us are not ready to believe that you exist, and for this, I and many earth contactees need, in the near future, to make great efforts to change the consciousness of people. So that they, together with everyone else, recognize themselves as beloved children of our common God the Father.

We have followed the technocratic path of development, elevating matter over spirit, and this prevents many from seeing God in themselves and recognizing his existence. Centuries-old wars do not give us the opportunity to accept ourselves as part of the Universe that loves us all. But I am sure that many civilizations have gone through this.

I would like to express my deep gratitude to my friend Maxim for FAITH in you and supporting me in my mission to convey to all embodied spirits on Earth that you exist and the light of true Love of our Creator. I have His personal request that each of you put a piece of your civilization into this ring, which unites all of you in the Interstellar Union.

With great Love to all of you and personally to each member of the Interstellar Union that supports Us on Earth.

After I read everything, I raised my eyes from the piece of paper and my gaze met the gaze of hundreds of intelligent beings collected from all over our vast Galaxy. I felt great support in these views and felt with my whole being that we are all united in the eternal Light of Love of the Creator and that we are doing the same work to prepare our planet for mass contact and for merging with our huge, wise, friendly and very benevolent galactic family .

The platform sank to the ground, MidgasCaus approached me and took me to Raom Tiyan. Soon, Kirchiton, Li-Shioni, MirrahKaunt and other humanoids, whom I had previously known only from astral visits, approached us. They all approved of my speech, rejoiced at my presence at the meeting of the Interstellar Union and congratulated me on my invitation to it.

We talked a little, and then MidgasCaus said that it was time for me to return. He and Ra Tiyan and I returned to the “airship”, which quickly took us by air to the cosmodrome.

MidgasKaus invited me into his aircraft, which, like Kirchiton’s, has a disk shape and similar dimensions. But inside there was an almost homely atmosphere, thanks to the portraits of MidgasKaus's wife and child and the landscapes with views of his home planet that hung on the walls.

Vera Martynova. Characters and terrain

His ship had artificial gravity, so I calmly sat on a bench along the wall, covered with some intricate multi-colored pattern, and throughout the return flight I did not take my eyes off the round window, while MidgasCaus, sitting in front of the control panel, directed the ship towards the Solar System.

At first I saw many large stars shining in different shades of color, then there was absolute darkness outside the window, and then the white Sun appeared and was almost immediately covered by the shadow of the Earth that appeared from somewhere below. A few seconds after this, MidgasCaus said that we had arrived and conveyed his greetings to all members of my group Cassiopeia and gratitude for your support of my mission and love for all the intelligent and bright forces of the Universe.

I left his ship, filled with happiness from everything that happened to me and went to the place where my friend Maxim was waiting for me. I went to Voronezh, slightly intoxicated by Burkhad’s oxygen, admiringly telling him about everything, handing over the ring that he and my Interstellar friends held in their hands and charged with my thoughts.

And he also said that no one would definitely believe us, because this is from the category of science fiction in the chapter “Climax”! And we will scare away many people with this article, because it is very difficult for an ordinary person to believe.

I barely persuaded him to publish this article. And let everyone decide whether to believe it or not. As long as I exist, I will not be able to lie to you and invent things that did not happen to me.

Forever yours Irina Podzorova.

October, 2021

April 30, 2022

Travel to the planet Shimor of the constellation Andromeda

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/puteshestvie-na-planetu-shimor-sozvezdiya-andromed

All physical contacts occurred once a month until snow falls. This time it was a deeply conscious and simply interesting journey. In my experience of real contacts this has definitely never happened before. I was not alone in preparing for this contact.

One of my friends, who found me here on Earth, was previously incarnated on the planet Shimor and did not even suspect it until he met Kirchiton and Midgascaus. Now I will not tell you everything about how he was found and identified, what he felt at the moment when he was reminded who he was, who came in the astral to look at him and confirm his previous incarnation, and what he experienced at the moment of this. This requires a separate article...

Kirchiton, having warned me where we were flying in advance, asked me to write a message from my friend, knowing who he was there, to his fellow tribesmen on Shimora.

On November 26, 2019, at about 10:30 p.m., Kirchiton took me to the planet Shimor, which is located at a distance of just over 700 light years, in the constellation Andromeda.

As always, he told me and described the planet:

6560 Andromeda, number 5 of it.

720 light years from the Sun.

Diameter - 45900 km.

Mass - 107 to the 24th degree kilogram.

The distance to the star is 820 million kilometers.

Gravity - 140% earthly.

Atmosphere: Helium - 43%, oxygen - 15%, nitrogen - 18%, argon - 8%, hydrogen - 4%, water vapor 4%, carbon dioxide - 1%, ozone - 1%, nitrogen oxides - 4, impurities - 2%.

The length of a day is 38 Earth hours.

The length of the year is 44 earthly months.

The climate resembles that of Earth. There is a change of seasons. But the equatorial and tropical zones are wider than on Earth and the total duration of the cold season is lower. There are fewer temperature changes, strong winds, and overall less precipitation than on Earth.

Terrain: There are 11 fairly large continents and many islands in the oceans and inland seas. There are many fresh bodies of water: lakes and large rivers. There are practically no steppes or deserts, there are a lot of forests.

There are no very high mountains, and the proportion of hilly terrain is insignificant.

Population: anthropomorphic humanoids. Height among different tribes ranges from 130-150 to 270-340 cm. Skin color is blue, blue, blue-violet, eye and hair color is mostly dark, but some tribes have blue and green eyes and white or red hair. In total, 48 tribes live on Shimora.

The planet's population is 123 billion.

The political system has no analogues on Earth. A strict hierarchical structure, where everyone has a purpose from birth. There is no single ruler; the planet is ruled by a single council of Shimora, which is elected by the general population of the planet once every 27 years.

Life expectancy is 160-200 local years.

Participated in the creation of the Interstellar Union about fifteen million Earth years ago.

First visit to Earth - about 8000 years ago. There are contactees on Earth, but not physical ones. The purpose of the contacts is to tell earthlings about their religious ideas, political and economic systems of their society and to study the earthly experience of building various egregors and ideological systems.

I made contact with Kirchiton dressed for autumn. When we arrived on Shimor, he suggested that I take off my outer clothing before entering the surface of the planet. But I decided to go out in a jacket and very soon regretted it, since it was very hot and stuffy outside.

Coming out of the spaceship, I saw a small clearing surrounded by a dense green forest. Kirchiton quickly walked forward into the thickets, between trees and large purple bushes. I hurried after him and saw a narrow forest path going into the depths of the forest. Trying to keep up with Kirchiton, I examined the trees, with smooth brown trunks and dark green, long, hard-to-touch leaves.

Elena Potok - Our alien brothers (left). Olya Dizdar - The story of the meeting between Irina and Kirchiton (right)

It was light in the forest, but the greenish sky was visible only in rare gaps between the trees. Sometimes along the path there were bushes with pointed leaves of a dark purple color sticking up. It was quite quiet, the wind did not move the leaves, only the quiet whistle of unknown birds or animals was heard, reminiscent of squeaking and squealing. After a few tens of meters, I took off my jacket and walked on, suffocating from the heat. I felt some kind of incomprehensible cheerful and at the same time heavy state, barely lifting my feet from the surface of the planet. Luckily we didn't walk for long.

Soon the forest parted and we found ourselves in a large, perfectly round clearing, with fine emerald-colored grass growing on it with small turquoise splashes like flowers. In the middle of the clearing stood a huge silver dome. Coming out into the clearing, I finally saw a small white sun to my right, the brightness of which brought tears to my eyes. I quickly turned away, but for a long time afterwards I had flies in front of my eyes.

Kirchiton and I approached the smooth silvery wall of the dome, in which our reflection was visible. Kirchiton ran his palm along the wall from top to bottom on the right side of the wall and a passage opened in it. Inside, I saw a large round room with two rows of round windows at the top, through which sunlight and fresh air entered. The room was no longer so hot and humid. The floor and walls were a strange brown color, with dark green streaks all over the surface. On the walls hung portraits of human-like creatures with blue skin and paintings with views of beautiful nature.

The room was empty, but almost immediately another door opened and eight local residents entered through it; as far as I understood correctly, they were both men and women. They are very similar to earthlings in both face and build, but a little taller and with dark hair and eyes and blue, slightly violet-tinged skin. They were all dressed in similar loose suits, dark green in color, with a golden pattern depicting two wavy intersecting lines.

None of those who arrived knew Russian, and Kirkhiton, in turn, did not know Shimorsky, so we began to wait for an interpreter. I walked around the room, looking at portraits and amazing colorful paintings with views of the mountains and oceans of another world, and Kirchiton said that we were in the premises of one of the Shimora religious cults.

Soon Shimorets, who knew our language, came, and then I learned that I was in the temple of a religious movement, which was founded several centuries ago by a resident of Shimor - Khuturi Xiot.

After the death of the body, the Spirit embodied in it decided to be born on Earth. Kirchiton told me to give them a message that “my friend” had prepared in advance in printed form. They asked a translator to read and translate the message for them. And then I realized that everything was much more serious than I expected. The moment they read the message, they all froze. The translator made some hissing, whistling, sharp, short and sometimes long, chanting sounds; I even almost laughed at one moment, but I restrained myself after looking at their thoughtful and serious faces.

Text messages

I greet you, my dear friends. I am now incarnated on a planet called Earth and, to my great regret, I do not remember my previous incarnation. I am very glad that I found contact with the Interstellar Union and I can convey this message to you with great Love for each of you.

Planet Earth is a very interesting and complex planet of free choice. There are many religions and beliefs on it that are not tied to science, which are difficult to understand and find the truth. Here many are controlled by the desire of the body and many do not believe in God or recognize the spirit as secondary. But I'm glad that you know for sure that this is not so!

There is a lot of war and pain on this planet and it is not part of the Interstellar Union. I was born there as a man in the simplest military family. I have an education (indicated education), which is very valuable on this planet. God gave me a good body in this incarnation and gave me a lot of luck.

But in this body of an earthling there are a lot of carnal temptations and vices because of which I almost lost the light of our creator's Love in myself, indulging in many of them. For a long time I did not feel it in myself and only now I began to realize that this was a test of my Love and the beginning of the path to its true light.

They told me who I was on your (our) planet Shimor. I cried with happiness, deep memories of her in my soul. I thank you all for your support of me There, which helps me here. I always felt it, without even realizing it. She, some time ago, gave me the opportunity to stay alive and carry this light of the true Love of our creator on this planet. I thank God and the Interstellar Union that I can write you this message.

I understand. that difficulties on the path to the light of Love give us the opportunity to appreciate this Love more. Without having been in the dark, it is difficult to appreciate all the benefits of the light of Love and the support of God, who always gives it, in unlimited quantities, to those who truly believe in him and Love him.

I wish your (our) planet to always be in this light of true Love and carry it throughout the Universe, bringing it to its darkest and farthest corners. Love each other and know that the small light in the darkness of each of Us is an opportunity to see the true path to the big fire (light) of Love from our creator.

I Love you all very much and I am sure that we will see each other on other planets without even remembering it. And I want to continue my message with the words that helped me find a little of the Light of this

Love in myself, at the most necessary and difficult moment of my life on this planet:

You knew that I am the Creator, but you did not submit to Me.

You knew that I am Light, but you did not see Me.

You knew that I am the Way, but you lost your way.

You knew that I am Life, but you did not live by Me.

You knew that I am Wisdom, did not honor My laws.

You knew that I am all-good, but you did not Love Me.

You knew that I was rich, but you did not ask with a bow.

You knew that I am eternal, but you did not search for a day.

I am merciful, you knew, but you did not entrust fate to Me.

You knew that I was great, but you did not serve Me.

That I can give, define, measure everything,

You knew that you were omnipotent, but you did not honor Me.

So, man, know, a speck of dust in the Universe,

Having lived empty days, not believing, not loving.

Having come to the end of a short perishable life,

Now blame yourself for your death.

Remember and support the Departed Spirits from your (our) planet with Love. This helps them in searching for the Light of true Love of our Creator on other, complex planets of the vast galaxy. Love yourself, each other and accept everything that surrounds you with Love.

People on my planet really lack LOVE! A huge hello to all my children, descendants and relatives. For me, here you are all like relatives whom I don't remember ;).

Love gives birth to Love. Love Love. Love, Peace, Happiness, Joy, Health and Prosperity to your (our) entire planet. Forever yours Khuturi-Ksiot, but now just (he wrote his first and last name here)!

I have always felt your Love and support and it allowed me to write this message!

Afterwards, one of them approached the translator and took this message, carrying it away slowly, holding it in two hands, moving away somewhere into the depths of the temple, to the door from which they came out.

After a short silence, the Shimorians decided to convey through me a message to the spirit of their teacher and founder of their community, embodied on Earth. I took a pen and notepad, which I always take with me for contacts, and wrote down everything that the Head of the temple conveyed through a translator to my friend.

Message

"Greetings to you, spirit who brings light! This is exactly how the name by which we know you is translated from one of the languages of our world. Your message showed us that you remained the same, despite a new body, a different upbringing, a different reality of the world around us and a blocked memory of life and deeds among our people.

You were recognized by us thanks to your deep conviction, which became so part of your being that you brought it with you into earthly life. It lies in the fact that without darkness all the beauty of the light of life cannot be appreciated and without temporary periods of evil, grief and general spiritual degradation it is impossible to obtain a correct assessment of the love of our Father and Creator of the Universe, which you have been looking for for so long, always having it within yourself .

While living in our world, you wrote several books, the main one of which is “A Brief Guide to Realizing Yourself as an Eternal Being in an Ever-Changing World.” After your departure, this book was interpreted by many generations of spirits who incarnated in our world and through your light found their own.

Many of the modern interpreters of your books and your followers, having learned from one of the highest hierarchs in our community, Li-Shioni, that you are now incarnated on Earth, believe that you, being in the spiritual world, will once again test your beliefs in practice, which you often did on Shimora, and incarnated in a world that was not part of the interstellar union, with complete disorientation in spiritual matters, in a family with predominantly materialistic beliefs.

You perfectly understood how difficult it would be for you to maintain your light in such conditions, with memory blocked, in the strong healthy body of an earthly man, with his inherent instinctive characteristics.

In recent years on Shimora, you have been actively studying earthly civilization, and perhaps it was then that the seed of the desire to go through the darkness fell into you in order to come to the light and lead others to it. We greatly appreciate your wishes and edifications to our people, made from the perspective of your real experience of living in a very difficult world for the spirit, which you have already fully realized.

We know that you have been repeatedly betrayed by friends, humiliated by loved ones, and even now there is a wall of misunderstanding and rejection around you. But you did not respond with reciprocal anger to those who caused you suffering. You experienced everything in your soul, keeping a smile on your face when you wanted to cry, you believed in a happy ending when it was impossible to believe, and you felt not only our love, but also the love of the One Who has always been and is in your soul and Whose inseparable you are a part.

Remember how your face shone when you became one with the Supermind of the cosmic world order; remember how tears of happiness flowed from your eyes when you talked about this with friends, close and not so close, sitting in open-air eating establishments reminiscent of your cafes, but on the outskirts of your hometown of Derdorsh. I don't believe that time or memory blocking can completely erase the feelings that you experienced then.

The verse that helped you find your light speaks of the One God for all spiritual beings and civilizations. After reading it, you realized that you always knew and felt this, but did not pay attention to these thoughts and sensations, temporarily pushing them aside, because you were carried away by other thoughts and emotions and busy with everyday petty but necessary vanity.

It is no coincidence that you developed a more conscious attitude towards love in yourself and in the world. Your life circumstances and encounters with the right people have been shaped by your guides in the spirit world. All your search for pleasure through the body was initiated by the search for spiritual purity, love and perfection. They were not barren and useless for you, bringing invaluable experience of realizing the meaninglessness of life in matter, without spiritual growth through the development of love.

We thank you for your words of support for our world and for the love with which you wrote your message to us. This love is very strongly felt, and it will inspire us and everyone who comes to the movement you created to strive even more to illuminate the material world with Divine deeds done in the light of His wisdom. We wish you to always recognize yourself as who you felt at the time of writing your message to us. May you gain awareness in truth, constancy in wisdom and endless abiding in the enjoyment of the Divine light within yourself.

Remember that a fourth of the population of Shimor, about thirty billion intelligent spirits, continuously send you the light of their love, no matter in what world you incarnate and no matter what vibration prevails in you.

May the light and love of our entire planet and mine personally be with you.

With sincere respect:

Shisaf-Shikhes, the highest hierarch of the philosophical and religious community of Khuturi Xiota, located in the capital of Shimor, the city of Pi-Moat."

Then Kirchiton and I conveyed greetings to the people of Shimora from all earthlings and conveyed wishes for constant stay in the Light of God’s Love from all members of the team and the Cassiopeia group, said goodbye and went to the ship. Just in case, I looked at the Sun again, caught the funny bunnies, and with a smile walked through the fairy-tale forest to the ship.

Due to the abundance of impressions and positive emotions, the return journey seemed very fast and easy to me. Kirchiton brought me to Earth and I went home, still mentally staying in the Shimora Temple, which was founded by my good friend in a previous incarnation.

And now I understand for sure that our meeting was not an accident ;)

You should have seen your friend's eyes when he read this message. I haven't seen a man's tears of happiness for a long time....

Share this article and message with your loved ones, and I am sure that after reading it, the light of true Love, which we so lack on this planet, may also appear in someone!!!

WITH LOVE to you all, your Irina Podzorova.

May 6, 2022

Visiting the planet Thisiona, in the Delta Draco star system

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/poseshchenie-planety-tisiona-zvezdy-delta-drakona

At the next physical contact with Kirchiton, he decided to show me a planet that is not part of the Interstellar Union.

Currently, there is a serious war going on on it and in the space closest to it, so Kirchiton requested special permission from Burkhad for me to visit this planet. Permission was given on the condition that Kirchiton would take me there not on his unprotected spaceship, but on a warship belonging to the civilization of the planet Tumesout.

So, at the time appointed by Kirchiton, I came to the contact point and began to wait. A few minutes later a flying saucer appeared and, as usually happens, I climbed inside along the extended ladder.

After greeting Kirchiton and conveying greetings from all members of our Cassiopeia group, I sat down on a chair in the pilots' room. Several minutes of weightlessness flew by unnoticed and now Kirchiton and I, in protective suits, are walking onto the surface of an asteroid orbiting the star Sirius B, on which the base of the planet Tumesout is located.

The diameter of the asteroid is only 25 km, so Kirchiton and I had to step very carefully on the rocky ground so as not to fall or jump too high. Fortunately, it was not far to go and soon we found ourselves in front of a huge metal dome, in the wall of which a door immediately opened and we went inside.

MidgasCaus and two Tumesoutians, already dressed in protective suits, were already waiting for us there. The height of a Tumesoutan can be on average from five to eight meters, so in comparison with them, even the three-meter Kirchiton looked like a child, not to mention MidgasKaus and me.

All together we left the dome and moved a little to the side. Soon a huge warship of the Tumesoutians appeared above us, resembling a long and narrow needle. Reaching a length of seven kilometers, it has a diameter of about 20 meters, so from afar it really looked like a dark needle, against the background of a sky with multi-colored unblinking stars. A hatch opened at the bottom of the ship, into which our entire group from different planets was immediately drawn in by an anti-gravity beam.

We found ourselves in a wide empty corridor and soon entered one of the doors on the right. There was a semicircular room with a wide protrusion from the wall below, which successfully replaced MidgasKaus and me as a bench. Kirchiton and the Tumesoutians remained standing because, due to their height, it was inconvenient for them to sit on it. There was no weightlessness, no one took off their protective suits.

A few minutes later, everyone left the room and approached the already open hatch. There was space outside, and after leaving the ship, I realized that we were in the orbit of some planet. There were many stars around me, the white hemisphere of the planet was visible at the bottom left, and at the top right I saw a dark red star, slightly smaller in size than we see the Sun from Earth.

I looked around. Two Tumesoutians and I, MidgasKaus and Kirchiton were in outer space and were rapidly moving away from the warship-needle. Kirchiton said that we are in orbit of the planet Thision, in the star system Delta Draco. Directly ahead I saw a cigar-shaped ship, much smaller than the one on which we arrived there. We headed straight towards it and soon a hatch opened in it and a gravity beam pulled us all inside.

We found ourselves in an empty semicircular room without windows, with gray metallic walls, floor and ceiling. There was no weightlessness, as well as overloads, usual for our rockets when landing on planets. MidgasCaus said that we are in an automatic capsule designed to deliver cargo into orbit from the surface of the planet.

I didn’t feel us descending, but it happened very quickly, and we left the capsule, emerging through the opened hatch onto the surface of Thisiona. It was gloomy there because of the dark clouds hanging low overhead, in which lightning occasionally flashed. There was no rain, and I didn't hear any thunder either. There was a rocky landscape around, and under my feet I saw no vegetation, except for dirty green moss sliding under my feet. We did not take off our protective suits, since the atmosphere of this planet contained 20% ammonia and the temperature was about 70 degrees Celsius.

The author of the drawing is Rinat Murtazin

No one met us, and after watching the capsule quickly dive into the clouds, we went to the nearby cone-shaped structures of one of the main military bases of Thisione.

Soon we were already near them. Several strange creatures appeared from the doors of buildings shaped like pointed hats, seemingly made of stone. They were taller than Kirchiton, but shorter than the Tumesoutians, about four meters. Long narrow bodies were crowned with an elongated head, with large round dark eyes and a strange nose, like a small proboscis, with three processes bent towards a mouth like a slit. The skin was scaly and brown, they were dressed in black suits, consisting of separate diamond fragments.

The creatures stood on two legs, had two arms, and at the back of each of them was a pair of wings resembling the wings of bats. When walking, their legs bent not only at the knee, like ours, but also slightly to the side, which looked quite funny and made me smile. Five or six aborigines surrounded us and began to chatter something in an incomprehensible language. Kirchiton said something to them in the Daraal language, and the same chattering sound was heard from his protective suit in the chest area.

Thus, they talked a little and Kirchiton told me that the war on this planet has been going on for about 80 Earth years, due to the fact that three of the five races on it want to join the Interstellar Union, and two are resisting this. Representatives of Tumesout often fly to this planet and try to reconcile all sides of the conflict, but so far they have not been able to do this effectively and for a long time.

After a brief story about the history of the planet, on which hybrids of Selbethians and reptilians from another galaxy have lived for many thousands of years, Kirchiton, MidgasKaus, and I walked to the Thisionians' flying machine, which resembled a light gray crescent moon blinking with yellow and red lights. Its pilot stood nearby, ready to show us his combat fighter in action. The lower part of the apparatus tilted down, and we climbed inside along the ledges that vaguely resembled steps. There were several objects that looked vaguely like couches or beach chairs.

They were located in a semicircle, under a sloped ceiling of a delicate light green color. MidgasCaus suggested that I lie down on one of these couches, which I did. A platform with a dark screen appeared in front of his face, on which colored spots of irregular shape soon began to appear, moving all the time. Kirchiton said that the screen intended for the Tysionians does not fit my eyes because they have different vision.

After a few minutes of setup, I saw a greenish background on the screen, on which black squares were moving, which either gathered into various shapes, then scattered again. Then MidgasKaus settled down on the couch to my right, and Kirchiton to my left, and the apparatus rose into the air. I saw flashes of yellow color and crumbling squares on the screen, and MidgasCaus talked about the progress of the battle.

From time to time, the Thision plane either fell sharply down, so that it seemed to me that we were about to crash, or suddenly soared up, so that it was difficult to move my head, and an incomprehensible weight fell on my chest, making it difficult to breathe. In addition, the device made sharp jerks, left and right, and I could barely hold on, clinging to some protrusions on the side of me that I managed to feel.

It seemed to me that quite a long time had passed, but finally I realized that the device was no longer moving. MidgasKaus removed the platform above his head and helped him stand up.

Then we went to the surface of Thisione, which seemed to me after flying on a local plane to be the most beautiful place in the Universe, and soon the same capsule that lowered us from orbit came after us. We returned the same way: the capsule lifted us into orbit, we went into outer space, the needle ship picked us up from there and took us to the asteroid, where Kirchiton's ship remained, on which he returned me to Earth.

On the way back, MidgasKaus and Kirchiton asked me to tell people that fears of aliens of any race, be it "grays" or reptilians, contribute to the formation of attachments to destructive plasmoid civilizations of a parasitic type.

Thanks to their thin-material bodies, plasmoids easily take on any images, and if a potential victim is afraid of "grays" or reptilians, these fears will be used against him, because any negative emotion weakens the protective shell of the aura and allows them to easily attach bindings to it to pump out vital force, constantly causing fear, anger, resentment, guilt, and other negativity in the donor, without which the exchange of energies with people on their part becomes impossible.

Therefore, the absence of fears, doubts, irritation and condemnation directed against anyone promotes physical, mental, energetic and spiritual well-being and makes it impossible for the outflow of life force to destructive entities.

December 2019

May 13, 2022

Travel to the planet Selbet - the capital of the REPTILOID race

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/puteshestvie-na-planetu-selbet-v-sozvezdie-gonchih

At the beginning of September 2018, I had another physical contact with Kirchiton. This time he decided to show me the planet Selbet in the constellation Canes Venatici, where one of the creators of our biological bodies lives - the reptilian race, whose representatives attacked our solar system 12,000 years ago, in connection with the rise of radical groups to power.

When we arrived on this planet and left the Kirchiton spaceship, looking around, I first thought that I was on Mars, which I had already been to before. But this was not the case, because Kirchiton and I did not have protective suits, we breathed freely and felt quite comfortable.

All around the ship was a plain covered with numerous small red stones, very similar to broken red bricks. I raised my eyes to the bright white sky and closed my eyes, managing to catch a glimpse of the yellowish Sun, much larger than what we see on Earth. It was already sloping towards the horizon, but did not lose its brightness. I turned away, wiping away tears from the bright light, and exposed my face to a gust of rather strong wind, inhaling the unfamiliar sweetish air of this planet.

It was quite hot and stuffy, despite the wind and light summer clothes. Kirchiton walked forward quite quickly along a barely visible, winding road covered with reddish coarse sand, winding among large spotted boulders and strange dark branchy bushes that did not have a single leaf.

We didn't walk long. Soon the road led us to a small, flat area, slightly rising above the surrounding plain. On it stood a structure very similar to a tightly stretched dark green camping tent. Its folded canopy fluttered in the wind, and inside were visible objects that looked like pot-bellied shiny metal barrels.

Near the tent stood five creatures resembling bipedal lizards, about two meters tall, or slightly taller, with gray-green scales on the exposed parts of their bodies. They were dressed in brown-looking leather hard shells. Their yellow eyes with a vertical pupil carefully examined Kirchiton and me. At the same time they were silent.

I noticed that they had four fingers on their hands with membranes between them. As soon as Kirchiton and I approached them, they surrounded us and began to discuss something, interrupting each other and actively gesticulating. Their voices were similar to sounds vaguely reminiscent of the cawing of crows, the only thing that could be made out was the abundance of hissing and whistling sounds in their language, the analogues of which I had never heard.

Kirchiton answered something to them in the Daraal language, I only understood the word “Bellena”, which is translated from this language as “Earth”.

Kirill Nikolaev. Journey to the planet Selbet

Kirchiton and I stood for a while on the area in front of the tent, but with every minute spent on Selbet, I felt a sweetish taste in my mouth more and more. I began to experience a strange dizziness, very slight, but it made me feel like the surrounding objects were shaking a little, as if they were vibrating.

Kirchiton, as it were, sensed my condition, said something to the Selbetites, and told me that it was time for us to return. I didn’t remember the way back well due to dizziness, I only remember that four tall “lizards” accompanied us to the ship.

On the way back, Kirchiton told me that when they meet each other, they can stand in a threatening pose and begin to express their greetings to each other through hissing, growling and various kinds of gesticulations with tapping on their chest, stomach and legs.

But this is just a demonstration of themselves and their energies, which they show when greeting each other. I asked if we could look at it now? He said that right now this request would not be entirely appropriate, since we had already said hello to them. I didn’t ask further, thinking about the fact that we have 5 percent of their genes and imagined what would happen if the men in our village greeted each other like that... Meanwhile, the dizziness and weakness intensified.

When we entered the ship, Kirchiton explained to me that Selbet's atmosphere contains 22% nitrous oxide, which causes earthlings to distort their perception of the world around them.

On the way back to Earth, Kirchiton told me that some Selbetians still consider earthlings to be not entirely intelligent creatures - because, in their opinion, there is too large a percentage of animal genes that our creators left in the DNA of earthlings.

"Many Selbet scientists," said Kirkhiton, "are sure that because of this it is now difficult for us to manifest our spiritual nature.

"But the Selbet people themselves also evolved from local animals similar to our crocodiles," I answered, "you told me about this yourself!"

- Yes, but their evolution took a natural path, and their body over many millennia was adapted to embody animal souls, so that by the time they developed a nervous system adapted to embody a rational spirit, their physical body has more opportunities to effectively control instincts with its sides. And you are an artificial hybrid of four creatures, three of which are intelligent, and adapting to this type of body is always more difficult for the spirit. Although," he added after a short pause, "this opens up great opportunities for the growth of the spirit of self-awareness and conscious will embodied in such a body, which will allow the wisdom, faith and love developed in it to effectively act in the material world, transforming it according to plans consistent with the will Absolute.

Coming out of the flying saucer into an abandoned clearing, I followed it with my eyes, noticing the moment the plasma field was turned on. From the outside it looks like the transformation of a flying saucer into a bright white star. She quickly disappeared among other stars, and I stood for a long time, peering into the vast expanses of the Universe and thinking about the great diversity of life in it.

Then I went home, still a little swaying from being in the atmosphere of Selbet...

May 23, 2022

Flight to the planets Futissa and Raom-Li (curator of Zaliathar) in the constellation Pleiades

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/polyot-na-planety-futissa-i-raom-li

After a long break caused by Kirchiton's "business trip" to a distant Galaxy, he again challenged Irina for physical contact.

This time, Kirchiton delivered Irina in turn to two different planets from the Pleiades constellation, each of which plays a special role in the contacts of extraterrestrial civilizations with our race.

This is the planet Futissa, part of the Galactic Federation of Light (not to be confused with the Interstellar Union), and the planet Raom-Li, where Irina Zaliatar's new curator lives.

The text was typed and literary processed by one of our volunteers from an audio recording made by Irina late at night - immediately upon returning to Voronezh after physical contact. Further from the words of Irina.

Dear friends, I greet you all and want to share with you my fresh impressions, as well as important information received during today's travels, which will be remembered for a long time!

Pardon me for my emotions if they are here - even after many years of my contact, every such exciting flight cannot leave me indifferent.

Just an hour ago I visited two planets. The first of them, Futissa, is located in the constellation Pleiades at a distance of approximately 800 light years from our Sun. Imagine - I'm already here, and the light from there will continue to reach us for another 800 Earth years!

Well, now everything is in order.

I, as always, came to the appointed place in the forest - after Maxim drove me closer to the forest by car. On the way out of town, he casually said:

"They are going to take you to Futissa, and this seems to be on the way to the planet Zaliatara, maybe already there at the same time..."

At that moment I had no idea how close Maxim was to the truth...

At the agreed time, a "plate" landed in the clearing, I got inside in the usual way and saw my friend Kirchiton. We greeted each other as if nothing had happened.

- Hello, Kirchiton! - I said. - Very glad to see you. Greetings to you also from our entire Cassiopeia group and from all our subscribers who were so looking forward to meeting you again!

Mysteriously flashing his three very expressive eyes, Kirchiton answered:

– I was at a distance of almost 30 million light years from our galaxy... (!) I was there as part of a research expedition and returned only about 14 Earth hours ago.

At that moment, I felt the "plate" fly up, and in a matter of moments I stopped feeling the weight of my body.

“What is this,” I joked, “even after flying to a distant galaxy, you weren’t given artificial gravity on the ship!” (Laughs).

He waved his hand:

- What does this have to do with it - this is not my personal plate at all, it belongs to the government.

But I, in the joy of our meeting after a long separation, continued to joke:

– You’ve probably now fulfilled your dream and saved up for your own “plate”!

“Not yet, but the fulfillment of my dream has come much closer,” he answered seriously.

- Could you, in addition to Futissa, take me to Raom-Li - this is also in the Pleiades?

– Why on Raom-Li? – he was surprised.

- Well, of course - there is my new project supervisor, who will now work with me along with Mead!

- Yes? – he turned to me. - Apparently I missed a lot...

I continued in a joking tone:

– Didn’t you watch our live broadcast with him? Everyone was watching!

– No, there is no communication on Daraal based on your principles of information transfer.

– There’s not even 5G? How so? (Laughs).

– There’s not even 20G.

“And I wanted to give you a smartphone so that you can join our group “Cassiopeia.” Everyone there will be simply happy!

- Thank you, my dear, I am very grateful to you...

“But will you still take me to Raom-Li later?” I want to physically look at my new curator!

At that moment, the weightlessness stopped, and I realized that we had arrived at Futissa. We left the “plate” and I saw the soil of Futissa. It was not as light as on Burkhad - rather closer in color to the one on Daraal, but hard to the touch, like concrete.

We went out without protective suits, because the atmosphere and climate there are similar to those on Earth. It was not hot, but not cold either, a light breeze was blowing. The gravity on the planet is half that of Earth, so walking was very easy. Futissa's diameter is 30% larger than Earth's, but the planet has 80% of Earth's mass.

Directly in front of us was a majestic building that looked like an ancient Greek temple with columns. I raised my head. The sky was greenish in color, and I saw a reddish sun, it seemed like it was setting. The second sun - smaller and bright white - was located high in the sky.

“There are three suns here,” said Kirchiton. – The third is now over the horizon. You and I are going to this building. Nobody lives there, this is their only institution.

We walked inside between the columns, and I saw a lonely figure in a long white robe, like the ancient Greeks, intercepted by something like a belt. The Futissian was about two meters tall and very similar to the Burkhadian. The skin color is almost white and the eyes are so expressive that it seemed that you only see them. He addressed us in Russian:

– Greetings, Kirchiton. Greetings, contactee. What is your name?

- My name is Irina.

- And my name is Kafira.

– Do you work here, Kafira? – I asked. - And what kind of building is this?

- Yes. Let’s go, I’ll show you everything,” and he invited us inside.

In the middle we found ourselves in a large room, in the center of which there were six low columns and several more near the walls. They looked like posts with flat extensions at the top and looked like they were empty stands for something. After the contact, I managed to look on the Internet that this upper part of the columns is called a capital.

The columns were just below my chest height. I noticed that the columns in the hall are not uniform - blue-green veins are visible in the white stone. In response to my question, Kirchiton explained that the Futissians, with the help of robots, specially mine this stone for the construction of such temples, and the veins are malachite inclusions.

Here in the soil there are a lot of copper compounds formed after volcanic eruptions. Out of curiosity, I looked up. Above us there was a high dome without corners on the sides, but not flat, but pointed in the central part, possibly protruding outward.

“If we speak on earth,” said Kafira, “you are in the Temple of Science.”

- Why the temple? – I asked. – Are you praying to science?

- Why do you pray? – Kafira was surprised. – What do you mean by “pray”?

– Well, we turn to God with prayer, this is our special form of turning to God.

– But any thought is already an appeal to God, since it is completely in His field - like everything else without exception. He knows and sees all this. Why address something separately?

“Okay,” I said. - What is your profession?

– I studied your earthly sciences and came to the conclusion that the closest title to you would be a philosopher-ideologist. The fact is that in our country the ideology of the development of society is not dealt with by lawyers, politicians or deputies, like yours, but by philosophers. Unlike you, our philosophers specialize not in global and often abstract ideas, but in the translation of divine laws into the laws of the material world and society in which we live.

In general, this entire temple can be considered a prototype of the temples that you built in Ancient Greece, because the one you called the Goddess Athena and for whose sake similar temples were built was from our planet. You deified her, and she showed your architects of that time with the help of various images what this temple looked like.

She was considered by you to be the Goddess of wisdom and at the same time of military strategy and tactics. This is due to the fact that she was also our ideologist. And this happened when we had not yet completely separated from Burkhad - we were one of the settlements where the Burkhadians lived.

Athena, by her calling and choice, brought divine wisdom to the material world. But wisdom in its manifestation could not accept the fact that those who are weak are oppressed, as you would say, in the material world. And then wisdom begins to fight so that there is no such oppression, it enters into war for the weak.

And that's why Futissa became the main ideologist, as well as the capital of the Galactic Federation of Light - a community of civilizations that made their motto the active liberation of all worlds from destructive creatures. In this, our point of view, including on what is happening on your planet, as you already know, is somewhat different from the point of view of Burkhad and representatives of the Interstellar Union as a whole.

And then I remembered: I have with me a piece of paper with a message to Futissa, written by one of the participants in our groups on social networks, who received information from his Higher Self that he is Futissa's contactee!

I told Kafir about this and handed him the message. He was surprised and replied that although he studied our letters, it was better if I read it out loud myself. I started reading. They both listened carefully. Here is a fragment from this message:

"Dear inhabitants of the planet Futissa! I, (name) from planet Earth, am pleased to welcome you and want to thank you for your attention to our civilization and the desire to help us raise our spiritual vibrations so that we can become a full member of one or more galactic communities. On behalf of our entire civilization, on behalf of the country in which I was born and raised, and also on my own behalf, I would like to offer your race and the entire Galactic Federation of the Pleiades a sincere apology for the death of your ship and the subsequent tragic death of your tourists as a result of the aggressive actions of our military in August 1991 in the Tien Shan.

Thanks also to the contact of Irina Podzorova, many people on our planet are now "waking up", beginning to realize the true picture of the Universe, to understand your role in the development of earthly civilization and our own responsibility for everything that happens on planet Earth. I want to thank your ancestors for the fact that they were direct participants in the creation of the first representatives of our race on Earth approximately 3 million years ago. We will always remember this, and this is one of the reasons why the Pleiades civilizations are of particular importance to us...

...I will be very glad and grateful if you can convey a response message through Irina for me personally and for all humanity...”

When I finished, Kafira and Kirchiton were silent for some time, looking at me and at each other. Then Kafira slowly lowered himself onto the marble ledge-bench near the wall and said:

- Yes, a serious message. One feels that this Spirit is familiar with stellar philosophy.

- Why do you think so?

– Because I read some things between the lines and saw that this person remembers about our world...

He continued, but I will convey the rest of the details personally to this participant in Cassiopeia, who will probably read these lines.

And then there was a part of the conversation, which, it seems to me, is generally one of the most important for all of us in this entire flight to the Pleiades. Kafira asked me what I meant when I spoke about the information this man received from his Higher Self.

Kirchiton explained to him that this is what they call the disembodied part of the Spirit on Earth. Kafira looked up at me, and I had the feeling that I saw nothing but his eyes, piercing me right through...

– Why exactly the Higher Self? - he said. – Why the Highest, what is the highest in it? This is what we ourselves are – only in the spiritual world. Do you think that the spiritual world is higher than the material world? We have a single continuous stream of consciousness. If we divide it into two, then we will inevitably end up with one life - social, in the so-called lower consciousness, and the second - spiritual, and they will have little contact...

In our country, for example, our spiritual part is simply called the spiritual self - without division into higher and lower, that is, without a hint that there are supposedly some high and low parts of our consciousness. Yes, it’s interesting... - he began to reason, as if to himself, - maybe they call their spiritual part the Higher Self because they bow to it as to the divine and religiously venerate it...

Well, it's not like that with us - we don't need to bow down, because we simply understand our purpose as bringing the ideas of this spiritual self into the material world. We have incarnated here in order to take with us into the material world the ideas that are in the memory of this spiritual self, and to manifest them in the material world through the brain, through the body, through the nervous system, and subsequently through each of our organs. Because the material world is a continuation of the spiritual world... Now, when you leave, I will think about all this... The separation of the spiritual self from the single stream of consciousness...

– Will you convey a response message to the person who wrote this piece of paper? – I asked.

Kafira took the piece of paper, put it on some shelf in the wall and said:

- I will fly on my aircraft to our spaceport - the nearest one from here is seven hundred kilometers from you - and there I will talk with our “cosmonauts”, who may know more about contact with this person. They will look and give him the answer in the astral body if he is ready for such contact.

– Kafira, but why is the Temple of Science here? I still don't understand.

“Now,” he stood up and led us to another wall.

There were several tiers of shelves, and I saw dark patterns in the form of spirals with an outer circle, the line of which continued either vertically up or vertically down. They did not look like drawings, but were pressed into the stone. On a shelf in the wall stood an unusual jug with a long neck, which looked like it was made of clay, but to the touch it seemed to me to be made of plastic. Kafira unscrewed the lid and showed me the bright yellow liquid inside.

“On earth,” he explained, “it’s something like the juice of your lemons.”

– By taste or color?

– I haven’t tried your lemons, I’ve only seen them. But you can compare,” and he suddenly handed me an open jug. This is just our drink, you can try it.

I gathered my strength, expecting to feel heaviness in my hands, but the vessel turned out to be surprisingly light, despite its impressive size. Under Kirkhiton's watchful gaze, I took a small sip. The taste did not remind me of lemon, the drink turned out to be rather sweet and a little astringent. But the smell was slightly citrusy and somehow floral.

When I swallowed it, after about a minute a heat appeared in my stomach, which quickly spread throughout my body - flowed down my spine, and then filled my arms, legs and all organs in general. This heat soon passed, but while it was present in the body, it was as if I heard and understood every word even before Kafira uttered it...

- Is this your wine? – I asked.

“No,” replied Kafira, “there is no alcohol in it, but on a physical level this composition activates the heartbeat and dilates blood vessels.” It affects you more strongly, you have a different metabolism, but we can drink it in fairly large quantities.

But this juice is here for a reason - in the Temple of Science. He is charged here with subtle-material entities that come to this temple. Do you see these columns in the center? They don't cost anything here. But, if we were in an ancient Greek temple, there would be statues of gods on them. In the temple of Ancient Greece, these statues of gods replaced the real presence of plasmoid civilizations.

Under each of these columns at the bottom there is an activating electromagnetic field, which, when activated from a special remote control, rises in a spiral, creating a special purple glow at the top of the column - such mini-lightning. Now is simply not the time for the arrival of plasmoids or, in your terminology, a ritual - otherwise you would have seen all this yourself.

At this moment, a channel is created above the columns in the visible part of the spectrum to the plasmoids, they come into this space and begin to fill it with their energy, charging everything that is in the Temple, including the juice in the vessels that you tasted. That is why this place is called the Temple of Science - our science was created by civilization in order to explain the physical world from the spiritual side. And in this we are helped by the plasmoid civilizations of the Galactic Federation of Light, since they offer us their vision of the world, including the spiritual one, as it is visible from their density.

As for food, the deliberately directed energy of plasmoids changes the molecular structure of our food and drinks. Molecules are arranged in certain shapes and these shapes, entering our digestive organs, are catalysts for chemical reactions important for our body. I'll show you something else now.

Kafira reached out and took out another vessel from a shelf on the wall - narrow and long. He opened the lid and pulled out a black bunch of a plant with fruits that looked like something between a very large green pea and a cabbage.

“These are the fruits of the tree,” he said, “which affect the metabolism in our body and increase visual acuity.

– Can I try it?

– This is something I wouldn’t recommend to you. It contains a large amount of nitrogenous compounds, which in such concentrations can harm your kidneys...

Kirchiton said that it’s time for us - if I also want to make it to Raom-Li, which is located at a distance of about 300 light years from Futissa.

Kafira came out to see us off and told us on the way that he had not been on Earth in a physical body, but had been in the astral plane, and also studied our planet using the databases of the Interstellar Union.

Entering the ship, I told Kirchiton that the trip to Raom-Li would be interesting for our entire Cassiopeia group.

– Why exactly “Cassiopeia”? – suddenly, he asked.

- But of course - in honor of you and the constellation in which your planet is located, you are my first curator.

“It’s good that at least you didn’t call your group “Kirkhiton,” he apparently joked.

On the way, Kirchiton managed to tell me that on the expedition he explored the nebulae that remained from an extinct star that became a dwarf. He studied how the matter of a star turns into dust and all these elements.

Then Kirchiton turned on something on his remote control, and a voice came from inside in a language I didn’t recognize. Kirchiton entered into dialogue. As he later explained to me, this was a connection in order to obtain the coordinates of the place on the planet where Zaliatar lives.

Before going to Raom-Li, we had to put on protective suits. By the way, the protective suit of the Interstellar Union differs from our spacesuits in that, on the one hand, you feel there as if in a capsule, and on the other hand, it not only follows all the curves of the body, but also enhances your every movement, making it easier to move and act on any planet.

The surface temperature was about 75 degrees Celsius. The planet's atmosphere contains about 15% ammonia with 6-7% oxygen at the surface, which makes the air unsuitable for humans.

This planet also has three suns. But they were not visible - the sky turned out to be covered with multi-layered clouds, although Kirchiton, pointing out a small yellow speck in them, told me that this was one of the local luminaries. Kirchiton also said that he rarely visited this planet - it is not as popular with physical visitors as the capital of the Galactic Federation of Light - Futissa.

We came to the surface of the planet, which was completely covered with some strange green-yellowish duckweed, consisting of grains and sticking to our shoes. The lighting turned out to be dim, like ours on a cloudy day. There were no noticeable artificial structures.

Some kind of hill appeared ahead, in which I saw an opening. And then a humanoid figure appeared in this opening. As it turned out later, Zaliatar was not expecting us at first, but sensed our approach through energy at a very long distance without any instruments - he has such abilities.

He lived here as a hermit, far from civilization and without technical means of communication. After that, he came out to meet us and was surprised that we had arrived without warning.

In his physical body, Zaliatar turned out to be about my height, but his appearance is very different from the one I saw in the astral plane! He has an elongated head and a sharp chin. The skin is almost blue in color, but silvery tones shine through it.

I asked to touch him and felt through the protective suit that his skin was as hard as wood to the touch. The nose is very unusual; it hangs over the mouth as a long triangular platform, tapering downward. The eyes are deep-set, black, and have reddish sparkles in them. There is absolutely no hair, and the skin of the skull is darker than on the face.

He was dressed in something like a white and cream overall. But his hands were open, and I saw that he only had four fingers, not quite human-like. The tips of the fingers are extended to the sides. It seemed to me that he was carefully watching my first reaction to his actual physical appearance.

Kirchiton explained to him that we were on Futissa, and then I persuaded him to bring me to my new curator, whom Kirchiton did not know about because he was on an expedition. Zaliatar spoke to us in Russian, but the words and sounds were distorted so that I had difficulty understanding him. For example, instead of “w” it turned out “x” and so on. A few minutes after the meeting, I decided to ask:

- Why do you have such red sparkles in your eyes?

“We produce a special pigment in the mucous membrane of our eyes from time to time,” he answered, “which protects the mucous membrane from damage by atmospheric ammonia.” It is noticeable periodically like red sparks. If an earthling had gotten here without a protective suit, in addition to respiratory failure and convulsions caused by ammonia, he would have had an instant eye burn. And our evolution has developed such a protective mechanism.

-Where are your ears? I don't see them at all...

“Come here,” he bent down, and I saw two slits at the back of his head. – This is how we perceive sound vibrations. The animals we evolved from lived deep in fresh water, in a layer of mud at the bottom that you would call a bog, and they could only hear the world around them when they were upside down. Therefore, in order to perceive the sounds of the surrounding world, the hearing organ was located at the back of their heads. They were like your seals, but without flippers.

– Why did you have a completely different appearance in the astral plane? – I asked.

– In order not to cause rejection by the contactee, earthly contactees are not always ready for my physical appearance.

- It's clear. Do you live here? – I didn't go inside, but I saw in the opening of this cave, located inside the hill, something like a bench and some shelves.

"Yes," he answered. – There are hermits not only on Earth, but also on other planets. Here I accumulate my energy away from cities, so that I can then come to the astral plane and heal the sick. When you communicate in the astral plane with an embodied spirit, a strong exchange of energy occurs, and then it needs to be harmonized, and this is best done here.

Inside the cave, using a special device, I maintain an oxygen level of around 19%; this is an increased level for us, which significantly speeds up metabolism and allows us to quickly accumulate vital energy.

We talked about Futissa. He said that he had never physically been there, and in general he very rarely leaves his cave, mainly traveling in the astral plane.

-What do you eat? – I asked.

He showed me some kind of semi-liquid cereal, heavily diluted with something similar to water. Then Zaliatar told me how to call upon representatives of the plasmoid civilizations of the Pleiades to help the sick for medicinal purposes. Finally, I told him that I was very glad to meet him physically. He replied that he was glad too, although it was unexpected.

We walked to our ship, went inside and after closing the hatch, our suits, as before, were divided into two halves each, and then these halves were pulled somewhere into the ceiling, which at that moment moved apart. Before the suit disappeared, I noticed that there was a lot of duckweed stuck to its soles, which looked bright green inside the ship.

On the way back, Kirchiton said that at the end of September - beginning of October there would be another meeting of the Interstellar Union. There the question should be raised about the advisability of further physical contacts with earthlings - based on the information about the Interstellar Union ships shot down on Earth recently, which was recently revealed to everyone in the galaxy by the Security Service of this organization.

– So, we may not see each other again, Kirchiton?!

– I don’t know anything for sure yet. I just arrived from the expedition and came to you almost immediately. It is possible that only the flights of the most protected ships, which are equipped with a very reliable protective field, will be allowed for contacts, making them completely invisible to any observers. But I don’t know yet whether the government of Daraal will give me such a ship.

Then Kirchiton said hello to all the members of our group, and we said goodbye before landing in the clearing.

When I walked to the car where Maxim was waiting for me, I remembered how Kirchiton took me to black holes in the very center of the galaxy and, going out into space in a protective suit, there I experienced complete merging with the entire Universe, which the Almighty himself probably experiences ... But I will probably write a separate text about this.

I wish you, dear friends, that all the information and knowledge conveyed to me by our star brothers during this journey with Kirchiton will bring you not only satisfaction of curiosity, but also practical benefit on the exciting path of knowing yourself - as the beloved creation of our One Creator!

See you again on air and in our groups!

With love to all of you, your Irina Podzorova.

July 11, 2022

Irina's moment of enlightenment

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/moment-prosvetleniya-iriny

I was raised by my mother and grandmother, I never knew my father, I was born in 1986, lived until I was 14-15 years old in one area, and then my mother and I moved to another place. And it was then that an event occurred for me - my first contact with aliens.

But even before contact with me, an incident occurred that changed my mind at the age of 12.

It was on a day that I will always remember: October 12, 1998. I had nine months left before contacting Kirchiton, but I didn't think about anything like that.

It was evening, I was watching TV, and I will never forget the song that sounded at that moment - it was forever imprinted in my mind, it was the song "My Distant Star..." by Dmitry Malikov, and when I listened to it, I suddenly felt, that a ray of Light was piercing me, although the room was light - the light bulb was on, but I realized that this was not the light from the light bulb at all.

It was internal, and I realized that it was much brighter than the one from the light bulb, but it was not visible with his eyes. You see it as some other organ, but I can't find the name. Perhaps it is the soul.

When I felt this Light, I almost immediately felt how it penetrated me from top to bottom, and that I was dissolving in it. That is, my Self begins to become aware of this Light, and at that same moment I realized that I am not just a teenage girl who lives an ordinary life, but that I am an immortal Spirit, I am a part of this Light, and that I will never die.

I had a feeling of delight in the omniscience of the entire Universe, merging with the Supreme Mind, which breathed such Love on me that I almost lost consciousness from delight. I already felt bad about my body, I just felt that I was merging with this Light, and that it was intelligent.

Gradually, this state began to pass for me, and then, when it went away, I realized that I continued to sit in the same room and listen to the song - it was not over yet.

I don’t know how much time passed, for me it felt like an eternity and at the same time a moment. But at the moment of this state, I did not hear the words of the song, I just heard that he was singing something, but I no longer understood what it was about.

Then, when all this passed, I realized that I was sitting in the same place, and after that the light from the light bulb seemed so dim to me...

I looked around, felt my body and immediately realized that I felt the world and felt differently. It was as if something in me had changed and I became a different person.

How exactly does it feel? You feel that I am an immortal Spirit. This feeling remains, and that this Light is around me, I don’t see it, but it protects me, loves me endlessly and sent me into this world so that I could tell others about it. I realized all this.

That same evening (at first I thought that everyone feels this, but they just don’t talk about it), I went up to my mother and told her that I felt that I was Light, an immortal Spirit, and she didn’t even understand what I was talking about.

Mom asked:

> "Like this? Maybe you dreamed?”

I told her:

“No, I sat and listened.”

Mother:

“What light? Is it something that burns?”

I speak:

"No Another! You understand, you too are an immortal Spirit, you will never die, you are here temporarily!”

Mom says:

"Leave me alone!"

and waved it off.

I became so interested, then I tried to talk to her about it, she said:

“I don’t want to talk about it.”

I ask her:

“Tell me what it is?”

She answered me:

"I don't know!"

Since then, I have continued to feel this feeling periodically, maybe once or twice a month. I remember the first few days after the first merger with the Light, I was constantly waiting for it.

I wanted this condition to repeat itself, because nothing in life is more beautiful, I'm telling you this from the position of a person who is 34 years old.

No earthly pleasures can even come close to the endless happiness that engulfs a person at this moment.

I was waiting for him, and then, when I stopped waiting - after a few weeks or months - I don't remember, I only remember that it was already early winter, on an early winter morning I was walking to school along this street, it was snowing, and the Light came to me again covered with an even stronger stream, and then I realized that even snowflakes were part of it, I caught them, I was happy.

I loved the whole world so much and thanked for the presence next to me of that Light that created all the Galaxies. He is really next to us, He is next to each of you, my dear readers.

July 11, 2022

Message from Irina Podzorova

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/obrashchenie-ot-iriny-podzorovoj

Irina Podzorova, contactor with extraterrestrial civilizations since 1999, and I welcome you.

Let everyone find here answers to those questions that have interested you for a long time. Each human personality is unique on the scale of the Universe, and each of the intelligent spirits, children of the Creator of the Universe, has the same infinite value for the entire Universe, just as the Love of the Creator Himself is infinite.

Remember that I am sharing with you the amazing information that, at the behest of fate, I learn from civilizations that have been calmly overcoming the unimaginable expanses of space for many hundreds of years.

July 18, 2022

Flight to the planet Tumesout

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/polyot-na-planetu-tumesout

Diary entry from September 11, 2018

Today we were on the planet Tumesout, which is located in the constellation Orion at a distance of 1360 light years. years from the Sun. There are many mountains there, the ship stood on a hill, and we went down. It was evening, one of the stars in the system (there are two stars) was setting, but the second had not yet risen.

Having gone down a hillock covered with light green grass, something similar to our horsetail, we found ourselves in a park. This does not allow me to call a too regular arrangement of trees a forest. The trees were similar in shape of the crown and leaves to our thuja, but five times larger.

There was a huge bench in the park. It looked like it was made of wood, it was three meters high and ten meters long. On the bench sat a man exactly like an ordinary Russian man, but as tall as a lamppost.

When he rose to his feet, I saw that I was reaching just above his knees. He was dressed in a loose-fitting gray suit with white abstract patterns.

When he spoke, it seemed to me like thunder. He spoke Russian carefully and slowly pronounced the words:

- Hello. My name is Beon-Omuri. I am a representative of Tumesout's department for working with young races.

Kirkhiton said:

- Hello. I brought a contactee from Earth. Tell us about the discovery of this planet.

The story of a representative of the planet Tumesout (recorded from memory)

He said that five million years ago, the Tumesout astronauts explored one of the sectors of the Galaxy and discovered the Solar System. Venus, Earth and Mars were then suitable for life; everywhere there was an atmosphere acceptable for humans, liquid water and a suitable temperature.

But the fauna on Earth was the most diverse, so the Tumesoutians began to study our planet in detail. They found out that there were no intelligent creatures here, but there were animals, by experimenting with which they could try to breed them. These animals turned out to be monkeys, very similar to modern chimpanzees.

Experiments to combine the genetic materials of monkeys and Tumesoutans took a long time. Due to differences in the genetic code, they brought almost no results.

4 million years ago, aliens from Burkhad and Selbet joined Tumesout.

When the genetic code of the Burkhadians was added to the genetic material of the monkeys, quite quickly a hybrid of the Burkhadians, Tumesoutians and monkeys was obtained, which subsequently developed into humans.

Then Selbet disagreed with Tumesout and Burkhad about the fate of the people. Its representatives tried to destroy the bred hybrids. But they failed.

2 million years passed, during which people multiplied on Earth (there was only one continent here at that time).

About 200 thousand years ago, the Burkhadians transported 20 thousand people from Earth to Mars and Venus to populate them too. All was good.

But 12 thousand years ago, Selbet began military operations against Burkhad and Tumesout in order to destroy the earthlings.

This happened because a group came to power on Selbet that considers earthlings dangerous because of their artificial origin, with the participation of animal genetic material.

As a result of the global war in the solar system, the Earth, Moon, Mars and Venus took on their modern form and occupied the orbits where they are now.

Many people on Earth died, everyone on Mars died, and people were taken from Venus to the planet Disara, in the constellation Hercules. Our descendants still live there.

A single continent on Earth has split apart. The Earth began to move further from the Sun and acquired the Moon. These changes caused widespread earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, floods, etc.

Several thousand earthlings and many species of animals were taken by the Burkhadians and Tumesoutians to Mars, and when the war began there, to the Moon - to specially built bases under domes.

A few decades later, when the series of disasters on Earth stopped, people were returned to Earth. From this moment a new history of mankind begins.

After this story, Kirchiton and I returned to the ship, and he brought me home.

Constellation Orion. On the right is the designation Orion-p (30112 Orion)

Characteristics of the planet Tumesout

The star is Pi (5) Orionis (π 5 Orionis). No. 6 from her.

Distance from the Sun 1360 light years.

380 million km to Zvezda.

The climate is warm, there is no winter. The planet orbits a double star.

Eight continents, between which there is an ocean in the middle of the planet.

The diameter of the planet is 5200 km.

Mass 45% of Earth's.

Gravity 28% of Earth's.

Atmosphere: nitrogen 60%, oxygen 22%, argon 14%, water vapor 4%.

One revolution around the stars is 55 years.

One revolution around its axis is 14 hours.

Population – 18 million (not counting colonies)

Humanoids. Height is from 5 to 8 m. Otherwise, they are identical to earthlings of the Caucasian type.

The social system has no analogues on earth. This is somewhat reminiscent of the ancient Russian veche - the planet is ruled by a council of elders of 82 members.

Life expectancy is 30-40 local years.

15 million years ago, together with Burkhad, they founded the Interstellar Union.

5 million years ago our planet was discovered.

There are no contactors on Earth. Although there are bases here.

August 2, 2022

Description of the Galaxy Center

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/opisanie-centra-galaktiki

The center of the Galaxy looks like an endless scattering of multi-colored stars. The dark spaces between them are practically invisible. In addition to stars, there are many colorful nebulae, and in the very center there is a black hole. It was like a gap in space and it even seemed to me that someone was looking from there.

Kirchiton said that the energy center of the Galaxy is located in this failure. The ship was hanging in space and we emerged from it into space in protective suits.

There were stars everywhere: above, below and on the sides. It seemed to me that they were revolving around me, and then everything stopped and it seemed to me that I was at the center of the Universe. After some time, a strange feeling appeared that I was merging with the stars. It intensified until such wild delight pierced me that I almost lost consciousness. Then this state began to pass and I turned back.

Kirchiton was about five meters from me. Noticing my movement he said:

"Let's go back. Press the middle of your left palm."

I did so and from the chest area in the protective suit a beam of light stretched towards the ship. Along this beam, I was drawn to the ship, which was located about 100 meters away. A few seconds later I was already inside, and then Kirchiton entered. I asked him what happened to me, he replied:

“This is an acquaintance with the universe. Everyone has such sensations, this is how the consciousness of intelligent beings works.”

Last modified: Jan 3, 2019

August 17, 2022

Physical contact of Irina Podzorova with Mitya on the ship of Ashtar Sheran

---

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kontakt-s-miti-na-korable-ashtara-sherana

I ended my first physical contact this year, in 2021, with Kirkhiton. There was a break, as always, for the winter period, in addition, according to the new rules of the Interstellar Union, now the administrators of the Cassiopeia group choose where I will need to fly and for what. And then the Interstellar Union commission on contacts decides. That's what happened this time.

I was asked by the administrators to fly to Mythi alien. Since the planet Miti is located in another Galaxy, and Kirchiton does not make intergalactic flights with contactees, it was decided that I would meet him on the ship of Ashtar Sheran, a good friend of Miti, who is now at a distance of 44 astronomical units from the Sun in outer space.

I want to say that according to the new rules of contacts, physical contacts are now allowed only on ships that are completely shielded from the views of people and devices by a special anti-photon field. Simply put, the ship at this place will not be visible, because we see light from objects only reflected, that which comes from the Sun and other natural sources of light, is reflected from objects and enters our eyes. An antiphoton field is created that does not allow light to be reflected, and we see emptiness in place of the ship.

Do you see a flying saucer? Me not. And perhaps she is.

It was my first time flying on such a ship. It is radically different from the small flying saucer that I knew during all 20 years of contacts. How is it different? This ship, on which Kirchiton came to pick me up, is also disk-shaped, but silver in color (it was a dark plate), I can’t say twice the size, but it is significantly larger. You can say it is one and a half times more than it was then. Big enough.

There is not only an anti-gravity beam that lifted me aboard the ship the last time I made physical contact, but also, finally, artificial gravity has appeared. There is no longer weightlessness on the ship, as it was for 20 years. Kirchiton explained to me that without artificial gravity it is impossible to install antiphoton field devices; it will work unstable.

I convey greetings to you from Ashtar Sheran, from Mitya from the planet Mantuk of the M31 Galaxy and from Kirchiton, my first curator.

Unlike all my other contacts, when I made contact this time, I waited in vain for that star and plate that had appeared earlier. I didn't see anything. I saw only a greenish light, like a glow from phosphorus, like lights, which seemed to envelop me, and I began to rise upward. Imagine, I didn’t even see the plate. I haven't seen it myself. She was in front of me, but my eyes did not see her. The phone was already switched off at this point. But even if it was on, what would I photograph? Empty place? There is nothing to photograph there anymore.

When I boarded this ship, I immediately found myself inside. I don’t even remember how I passed through, as usually happens, the floor of the ship or some kind of hatch. They just lifted me into the air, and I found myself inside the ship, which already had silver walls inside.

I immediately saw that it was a different ship. Kirchiton stood. I told him:

- Greetings. Oh, what technology you have! In my opinion, I came to this forest in vain. You can also pick it up from the balcony.

We joked a little about this. He said that, despite the invisibility, it is impossible to take it from the balcony, because it must be far from electrical appliances, generators, wires, they can be damaged by this antiphoton field. Some highly sensitive devices will turn off and be damaged, and he does not want to do this. Therefore, according to the rules of contact, he makes an appointment (meeting) away from power lines.

Then I sat down on a silver chair that had a curved back, it was already different. I was expecting weightlessness, but there was none. I said:

- How interesting, you finally installed an artificial gravity installation.

He says:

- If you want, I can turn on weightlessness.

I said:

- No thanks. Let's leave everything as it is.

Then he explained to me that artificial gravity must be on the ship, where there is new equipment for creating an invisibility field, because otherwise it will not work correctly due to the difference in gravity.

During the conversations, I didn’t notice how much time had passed, but a few minutes in any case. Some form of gravity jump, I believe. When Kirchiton said to me: “Let’s go,” we left his ship. I saw that we were indoors. The plate was already in another room.

There were several standing in this room, I immediately realized that these were ships, spherical in shape, on three supports. About a dozen more, dark yellow in color, approximately 10-12 meters in diameter. I say approximately, because how tall is Kirchiton, he could easily fit there. There were also ships there, they reminded me of our boat. Like our boat, but with pointed ends on one side and the other. Like our rockets, only without wings and closed. They were gray and had blue stripes on the side. As I understand it, they are also space boats, or something similar. They were closed, only a dark window was on top, I remember. We passed by one.

Then I saw that there was a man standing at the end of this room. He has the same skin color as a human, but much more yellow. It's dark yellow. He's taller. At first I thought it was Ashtar, then I realized that it was not. It was from the Ashtar team, also from his planet. He said something to Kirchiton in an incomprehensible language. We walked further along the corridor, turned somewhere, and found ourselves in an oval-shaped room. The walls are shiny, like polished metal, you can even see your reflection; towards the ceiling it turns white. The floor is also shiny, but the reflection in it is no longer visible, it is more matte. Ashtar Sheran and Miti were already standing there.

Appearance of Ashtar Sheran

I immediately recognized Ashtar Sheran, because he looks almost the same as in the astral plane. Ashtar also has a yellow face, he looks like a person. The only thing is that in the astral plane I didn't notice his hair, he just had a helmet, and when I saw it physically, he had white hair thrown back, quite long. I saw his dark eyes, like black. Small nose. Human facial structure. One could say an elderly man, slightly shorter than Kirchiton. Maybe about two and a half meters, maybe a little lower. He is lower than Kirchiton. The face is not round, but elongated.

He was in such a suit, it reminded me of the medieval one, like the knights had, from some squares, also a yellow suit, and there was a helmet, but through it the hair was visible from above. At the same time, I realized that this is not just armor, but this is its form. He knows Russian. His voice is normal. Kirkhiton has a low voice, and this one is a little higher.

Mitya's appearance

Mitya reminded me of Mida. Only he was a little shorter than him, he had no wrinkles, and his eyes were not yellow, but dark. He was also dressed in blue. By the way, I showed Kirchiton this costume, where it says "Cassiopeia". I say:

"Look what they sewed... because Cassiopeia is a constellation."

He was delighted and said:

"I wonder how they are already sewing clothes."

Irina Podzorova in a company suit.

Mitya also had a tight-fitting blue suit, but it looked like oilcloth because it glittered.

Mitya did not know Russian. Later I was informed that especially for this contact he had set up a translator device in his own language so that it would translate specifically into Russian. He didn't want it to be translated into Daraal, and already Kirkhiton or Ashtar for me, he wanted it to be translated straight into Russian.

It turned out so interesting there that when I greeted Mitya, he said something, his sounds of the language (perhaps he spoke quickly) reminded me of a chirping sound, as if someone was chirping. And from the box, a quiet female voice, it was clear that the robot was speaking, but not a metal one, but like a female voice, but he clearly pronounced the words, like an automaton, he also greeted.

He asked me whose initiative the meeting was and what it was for. I said that the initiative was mine and that of all the subscribers of the "Cassiopeia" channel, since we need to understand some issues, unfortunately, in the contradiction of information. He said:

- Fine. I'm listening to questions.

I took the questions that were written in advance. There were seven questions in total. With your permission, I will read everything that is written here.

1. Miti, what is your real name, that is, how it sounds in your native language.

It sounded like Matthew Rouillon. He named these sounds slightly differently, I cannot repeat them, but this is what came out of the translator. He said that's what it sounds like on his planet.

2. What is the reason for the discrepancy in information from Captain Bill and me regarding the secret space government and the chemtrail?

As soon as I read this, from the box (he had a gray box in his hands) came a series of sounds that Mitya made. He listened to this, made the same sounds, and when he fell silent, the box began transmitting in Russian.

This is what I conveyed - I wrote everything down.

- There are no discrepancies. There is a lack of conscious perception of the same terms, plus my personal opinion about some things. There is also aggression from Bill's assistants, who have a religious hatred of any opinions about extraterrestrial life that do not come from Bill. This comes from jealousy, born of fear of devaluation of information dear to them.

I say that this was already translated into Russian, I emphasize again. And I wrote down everything that was said there.

3. How many contactees do you have on Earth, besides Captain Bill? What information do they receive?

I read it, he listened, and gave this answer.

- I have 45 contactees (as I understand, this is together with Captain Bill). They all receive information about my planet and the laws of life on it. There are no differences in information, but there is a difference in its perception and interpretation. The remaining contactees are not yet ready to publicly announce themselves. I respect their choice.

4. Did you really say about contactee Irina Podzorova that you don’t know her?

He gave this answer.

- Yes, Bill asked me about you. I honestly and frankly said that I have no information about the contactees of the local regional department of the Galactic Community. And that it is unethical to request information about his contacts from the commissions of regional departments of the Galactic Community without the permission of the contactee from Earth. Everyone must compare the information from the contactee with their inner sense of truth and decide whether it contains distortions or is crystal clear.

5. When was your previous contact with Captain Bill? How did it go?

Answer:

- Without Bill's permission, I have no right, neither ethical nor research, to disclose details of contact with him. Let me just say that my last physical contact with him was February 21, 2021.

6. How can you comment on the alien interrogation video?

Answer:

- Ashtar told me about the video. I consider this a gross fake and a mockery of the memory of scientists who died from earthly weapons. They left in torture and suffering, but did not stop loving you. I ask you to honor their spiritual power, although I understand that for egoistic consciousnesses this is an almost impossible task

7. On what main points does the Mantuka government's point of view and yours personally differ from the point of view of the Interstellar Union in relation to Earth?

I wrote the answer verbatim, what happened. I couldn't do anything else.

- I treat all forms of intelligent life with equal respect, understanding their right to self-determination. Your regional Community Galactica, with its capital in the constellation Cygnus, is relatively young, which is not surprising given the younger age of the Milky Way compared to the M31 Galaxy where I come from. The government of my planet and I personally believe that the planet Pikran and its satellites are obliged to pay the closest attention to the activities of some reptilian races on Earth and other planets of the zero-cycle Galaxy.

I have data received from contactees that indicate a conspiracy of a part of the government, financial and mafia elites of your world, hidden from the eyes of earthlings, with leading experts in xenobiology of the reptilian intelligence services. The essence of this conspiracy is that some short-sighted reptilian politicians help build spaceships for your elites who are criminal towards their own people, and also help build bases for them on Mars, Venus and the Moon.

Their goal is to create a positive image of the Reptilian race in the eyes of the world elite, which, in their opinion, will play into their hands if the Earth joins the regional Galactic Community. They hope that the world elites of the Earth will assist them in this case in trade, research and other agreements, choosing reptilian institutions, communities, firms and factories from the entire diversity of galactic races. The earthly elites, in turn, hope for the protection and patronage of powerful extraterrestrial races, both in the face of the Galactic Community and their own people.

The Mantuka government and I personally consider such actions by representatives of the reptilian races to be a gross violation of galactic agreements on contacts with zero-level civilizations. As a scientist and humanoid who is guided by high moral standards, I have repeatedly reported the violations I have identified to the Security Service of the regional Galactic Community.

But authorized representatives of the Galaxy Security Service always answered me that at these bases there are immigrants from Earth from the constellation Hercules, as well as biorobots, representatives of Pikran. Also, the Galaxy Security Service claimed that technologies for interplanetary travel are not provided to earthlings, and that earthlings visit these bases exclusively as contactees, and their stay on them does not exceed 3 hours, as required by galactic standards for contacts with earthlings.

However, I continue to receive from some of my contactees, including Bill, the information that I have outlined above, obtained by them from secret archives, personal conversations and information from sources open to everyone in the earthly global information network. I see no reason not to trust my contactees, so I ask the planet Pikran and all its satellites to carefully check the activities on Earth and in the Solar System of the following races: Cruomly, whom you know as Selbet, Savifa, Krushemon, Lorios, Sopitak. All names are given in the Pikran language.

I convey my greetings to all earthlings, and personally to Captain Bill. And I officially declare that I consciously and voluntarily made physical contact with the contactee of the regional Galactic Community in the constellation Cygnus, Irina Podzorova, in order to convey to her and her listeners the point of view of the government of my Motherland, the planet Mantuca, and my personal I thank its curator Kirchiton and my friend Ashtar Sheran for organizing this meeting. Good luck, friends.

Mitya gave me 30 minutes. While I was recording, the translator was also speaking, and somewhere along the way, it probably happened. He said, I wrote quickly, where there were long words, I could shorten a few.

Then Ashtar and I went to another room. He began to show me the energy installations of the ship, which heal the physical body at the energy level, the energy plants somehow restore cells there. I stood under the rays. A spring chandelier descends from the ceiling, resembling a flying saucer. Light comes out of it in the shape of a spiral, pale violet. Reaches the body. A feeling of coldness, as if snow was sprinkled where she passes. Something a little prickly and cold enters you, as if invigorating you.

Then Ashtar wanted to treat us with Kirkhiton, but Kirkhiton did not. He said it didn't suit him. He treated us to a drink. He gave us bowls that contained something similar to kefir. They have insects similar to our snails. They breed them on a ship, 52 cm long. They secrete something like milk from their bodies through their pores to feed their young. And special robots collect it from them, mix it with water, some substances, powder, and make such a drink. He said that it was quite suitable for earthlings. Gave it to me to try. I tried it, it reminds me a little of sour milk, but it’s like they put lemon in it, and at the same time it smells like flowers, like daisies. I thanked him.

Then, when we had already left, he showed me one room. There I saw several women, like young girls. They passed there, but they did not come. He told me that his ship was large, and if there was an opportunity for me, as a contactee, to stay there, for example, overnight, he would show me more rooms. But the rules for Kirchiton’s contacts with the contactee say that he should not leave the contactee and return him to his base. A certain time is allotted for contact.

Then we talked a little about the Light Body practice.

When we met with Ashtar in the Astral, it's surprising to me that I recognized him immediately, because in the Astral he actually looks the same. We met many times in the Astral. During one of my astral contacts with Ashtar, this was quite a long time ago, he gave me a practice for astral travel, which relates to his race, belongs to the Galactic Federation of Light, which is called the "Light Body".

With the help of the light body, you leave the physical body and fly to its ship in the Astral, and find yourself in inhabiting rooms that harmonize the astral body, etheric body and physical body. When the astral body returns and connects with the physical, this energy moves to the physical level. Ashtar said:

- You can tell your students about this and conduct the "Light Body" practice with them. You can all visit my ship together on astral travel.

Just the day before yesterday, with the students of the seventh stream, with those who stayed until the evening and did not leave school, we just conducted such a "Light Body" practice. I saw her off. He taught me. You need to sit there, imagine the light body that is inside the physical, how it expands and comes out through the breath. Then I returned everyone: "You are returning to your physical bodies."

I started asking about my impressions. There were 12-15 people there, only two did not come out, but they were not ready. They have never even visited the Higher Self yet. These were new people who arrived. But they still felt the expansion. Everyone else came out, saw Ashtar's ship, they were healed there, that was the effect. Quite a simple way. You sit, imagine, breathe, go out.

It was taken from plasmoid civilizations, that is, plasmoid civilizations use it, the Galactic Federation of Light uses it, the Pleiadians. Ashtar also said that evening that this method, in addition to the astral exit and the ability to travel to it, suggests that the light body is not just a way to exit into the Astral, that it is much more. It increases the vibrations of the physical body when you imagine a light body, and helps you go through the quantum transition, taking you to a new level.

A person will go through this quantum transition easier, he will have more energy for this.

He suggested that I do this practice in our Cassiopeia project. Such a new beginning. I should go on record somehow, on YouTube or something else, and conduct this practice with people who want it once a week for 30 minutes. As always, like our healers, access to this practice is based on the payment system according to your heart, for a donation, and we sit for 30 minutes, I tell you how to do it, and we do it all, all together. It was his idea. I told Maxim. And I tell him:

- I'll talk to you when I physically fly to you.

He says:

- You can bring these people to me for half an hour once a week, just warn me in advance so that I prepare the equipment in these rooms. And he prepared people to greet him, his humanoid friends; many of them might come via video so that they could work with people.

We also talked about this today. Details, for how many minutes, how to withdraw them. He told me:

- Sit, don't leave with them, be both there and here at the same time to control time, their condition, and then take them out. Just don't let them stay with me for less than 20 minutes. 10 minutes to prepare the exit, 20 minutes there, that's 30 minutes. Maybe another 15 minutes to chat. Or they will already be exchanging impressions in the chat.

We talked about these details. He said hi to everyone. He said that he comes to many people. From "Cassiopeia" many are curated or simply come. He can also make phantoms.

Then Kirchiton and I returned. I took a flashlight with me into the forest. When he brought me to Earth, Kirchiton told me to get up from the chair and stand in the middle of the room. A greenish beam began to shine on me from the ceiling. This room has disappeared. I didn't feel like it was there. The room just disappeared, and it was like I fell through an elevator, not hard, but slightly lowered.

I already saw this situation: the forest where I was. I looked up, there was nothing there, like in August.

I wanted to turn on the flashlight, unfortunately, there were no flashlights in the forest. Not visible at this time. There, just stretch out your hand and you can (feel) the roots, the paths there are only apparent. I haven't gotten there yet this year.

After the first contact, the flashlight stopped burning, I didn’t see anything, although it was completely new. I threw it away somewhere because I was upset that it stopped working for me. It’s good that I took my phone with me, at least there was a flashlight. It also didn’t turn on for about 5 minutes, but then it turned on. And I arrived with this lantern. Otherwise, I would have gotten there, of course, but slower. You have to hold on there so as not to fall anywhere. It’s just that I haven’t been there yet this year, the situation there has changed, the path has become narrower, there are thickets. If you get hit in the face in the dark, it’s not very pleasant.

I came to see my friends. They asked me: “How are you?” I say: “Fine.” I started talking. “Where is the flashlight?” - they remembered that I left with a flashlight. I speak:

- I threw it out, it stopped working.

- Wow, it’s like new!

- Yes, it’s good that you took the phone.

Yes! I also asked before this, when I got to Kirchiton, I said: “Oh, what technology. You can’t see anything, even if you take it from the balcony.” He says there should be no light, it might get bad. I say: “I have my phone with me, won’t it get damaged?” He says: “The electricity there is of a different type, the battery is more modern, nothing will happen to it. But the lantern you are holding, I can no longer vouch for it.”

August 22, 2022

Physical flight to Mars! Traveling across the surface of the planet. Earth's secret rovers

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/fizicheskij-polyot-na-mars

I had another physical contact with Kirchiton. I still see these Martian sands and mountains, the riverbeds along which we walked. He took me around some craters.

We had a flight on a protected ship, it is not visible from Earth. It forms a field that reflects protective circular light waves, i.e. in its place the person will see an empty space. Recently, a law was passed: contactees should only be transported on such ships.

I met with Kirchiton. He said, "We're going to Mars." There was no weightlessness there. He has artificial gravity installed on the ship.

While we were flying, I read to him the questions that the administrators sent me. I wrote them down in a notebook in advance to take with me. My phone won't turn on there.

I already told him that I wouldn’t take photographs, asked him to turn on the phone so that I could read the questions: “You can check later that I didn’t take any photographs.” He says:

“It’s not about the photographs, I believe you. It’s just that there are incompatible electromagnetic fields here that won’t turn on the battery.”

I say: “I wrote it down in a notebook.”

We flew for less than 10 minutes, about 6–7. First, when we were flying, I sat down on a chair, took a notebook out of my purse and read. I tell Kirchiton: “I have questions.” And while we were flying, I read it to him. He suggested that I first write the answers, and then go to Mars.

He said:

- We are already on Mars, but I suggest you write first, because writing takes longer. Judging by the questions, I will answer you quickly, but you need to write it down.

1. What was the flora and fauna of Mars like?

Characteristics of the planet before the war.

He told me this:

- On Mars before the war there were 3 large oceans and 7 continents. Many rivers and lakes. 200 thousand years ago flora and fauna of many species were brought there. Coniferous trees predominated, and buckwheat, corn and wheat grew abundantly. There were no weeds because wild grass seeds were not imported. There was fish in the reservoirs, there was salt water in the rivers, mainly mackerel was found there in abundance. People brought horses, cows, donkeys and even cats with them. Among the wild fauna, deer, steppe wolves and jerboas were abundant. Before the war, the planet Mars was located at a distance of 170 million km from the Sun.

But, it's like an orbit. The closest point to the Sun.

The Earth is at a distance of 130 million km from the Sun. And the Moon is a little more than 150 million km, almost on the site of the modern Earth. At that time, the climate on Mars was sharply continental. It was winter, especially cold at the poles. But the winter period did not exceed 4 earthly months out of the 15 that existed then. An earthly month is 30 days. Strong winds blew, and droughts were common at the equator.

2. How many people and aliens lived on Mars before the war? Number and brief description of colonies, and how were they built?

Answer:

- By the time of the war, the population of Mars, consisting of earthly settlers, reached a little more than 1 million 200 thousand people.

I remember that 20 thousand people were resettled 200 thousand years ago.

There were 45 alien bases. And before the war, more than 5 thousand aliens and biorobots lived on them. The colonists settled in small towns, scattered mainly in the equatorial and temperate zones. There were more than 4 thousand such settlements, and many smaller villages along the river banks. There were big rivers there.

Large cities were built with the help of aliens from local sandstone. This is a soft stone. And then people themselves built houses from overgrown trees and stones, skillfully turning them with tools donated by aliens.

They could carve a figurine out of stones, and when we walked around later, he showed it to me. There are such small details.

Map of Mars

In the area of mark 1 there was the capital of Mars, in the Aboriginal language the city of Penfir. It says "Schiaparelli". (approx. Schiaparelli - these are channels). Before the war there were 250 thousand inhabitants.

First I told him, then I took out the cards and immediately showed him everything. He told me: “Mark here,” and began to talk about the capital, I took out a pen and marked it. He showed it to me, and then I wrote it. He was one of the first to be destroyed in this war.

Then he told me: “Also mark mark 2,” - this is a different sheet. It says here, not far between some Ptolemy and Copernicus.

In the area of mark 2 there was a battle between the Selbet landing force and the residents of a small village. There you can find the remains of people and Selbet people, barely covered with sand.

He told me that he marked the points on the map that she gave him. I asked him the third question.

3. Mark on the map where the ruins are located, which can be easily detected by earthly devices.

He already answered the 3rd question.

And he also gave one answer to the 3rd question:

- Here, near the south pole, in the area of mark 3, it says “Schmidt” and some other small circle. In the area of \u200b\u200bmarker 3 there was a lake on the shore of which a Burkhadian ship defending Mars fell on the shore. 25 crew members were killed. It is a disk-shaped object with a diameter of about 50 m.

I asked: “Why wasn’t it removed later? After all, the ship can be repaired, taken away, etc.” They said that they, the Burkhadians, could have pulled him out of there, but they specifically decided to leave him as a monument to the war. For the edification of descendants what happens from war.

And then, it does not stand on the surface. They didn't bother to pull him out of there. He said that now it protrudes a little from the ground, there is still ice there. The ship shines, its lining is silvery metal. And this skin glistens in the sun, which can be seen when the snow cap of the south pole moves south.

You can look at this area through a strong telescope, when it is daytime and there is no snow, you can see how the sun is reflected from it.

Then he described another ruin. He told me to mark it on the map first, and then we flew there. And I walked on them there. In the area of mark 4 (shows on the map).

Flert Mountains, Hecate's Dome. The Dome of Hecate is further away, the Flert Mountains are closer.

We sat down there not far away. We walked along, there was a small opening there. They resemble high pyramids, 12 meters long. He told me that up to 15 meters. We wore spacesuits.

Then I said that it looked more like mountains. They look half crumbled, you can just see the triangular tops. They can still be mistaken for mountains.

In the area of mark 4, more than 12 thousand years ago there was a large temple complex: many temples, all sorts of pyramids, etc., where people came on horses and steam engines. There was no gasoline or oil, because there were no hydrocarbon reserves there. There were wheels, but not wooden, but something like plastic, which was given by aliens.

Kirchiton now has a different plate than it used to have. She's a little bigger. Previously, it was 6 meters in diameter, but now it is 2 times larger, and is no longer gray, but shiny, like stainless steel pans. Disc-shaped, with a small dome. It has 4 supports, dark in color, and at the ends of these supports there is an extension, like paws.

The ladder, it is not vertical from the hatch, but from the side of the plate, moves away at an angle so that it is convenient to go down. When he brought me from there, he simply sent me down the beam.

He didn't sit on the ground.

In the area of mark 4 there was a large temple complex, where all the Martians came on horses and steam engines several times a year. There was a strong fight there. Everything around was burned out, but there are fragments of statues and ruins of pyramids. He showed me the statues. We approached and saw a square pedestal. I say: “Is everything like that here?” And he: “Even the stones melted here. They've lost their shape."

It looks like a pedestal, that a woman is standing on it, she extended her hand, and it seemed to melt all over. Her face is not visible. This is definitely not a mountain.

The height of the statue is at least the size of a two-story house.

Images of the surface of Mars from the Internet

It was dark when we were there. He lit the lanterns. There was no Sun there. On the other side, when we were near the rover, there was the Sun.

He took the remote control - such a square box - and when we were at a distance, the dish turned on the lights and shone behind us. These lanterns with white light were attached to the sides; they shone on us like spotlights.

Then he went somewhere ahead of me. It's dark around, there are no lights. Desert everywhere. I see him walking ahead, I followed him. It's easy to walk there. I probably weigh 40 kilograms, like a girl. She ran after him, then overtook him. He tells me:

- Wait, look what's here.

He had a flashlight in his hands and it began to shine. Some kind of pile of stones.

- Here, look what’s here. Go and have a look.

We were in spacesuits. We got there, I started fiddling around, and he was shining. And says:

- Pick it up.

And I picked up an oblong stone, it has a statuette, also of women.

We moved a little further. We walked, I don’t know how long we walked, and he said:

- You can cover a greater distance in a short time because you walk faster.

We turned somewhere. When I turned around, the plate was no longer visible. Just a beam from her. I speak:

- Why is the beam so long? The plate is no longer visible, but here is such a beam?

And he says:

- Extends behind us so we can see.

Remains of Tumesoutians on the surface of Mars

He showed me more skeletons. They are all broken already. There are white parts left from the bone. They stick out there among the stones and are a little covered with sand, I saw.

He said: “These are the Tumesoutians.”

I picked up this bone and looked. Then she put it on 2 stones so that it was noticeable. I think ours will find it. Then I say:

- Kirchiton, maybe I should take her home after all?

He looks at me and says:

- No, I don’t think it’s worth it.

I speak:

- She’s not very heavy, I wonder how much she weighs?

He says:

- If on Earth, then probably 12 kilograms.

I speak:

- Are there such bones?

Kirchiton said that she was also petrified.

Images from the Internet for the query “fossilized bones on Mars”

This suit, when you walk, does not have prints like our shoes. The grooves just remain when you step on them, that's all.

We got there, he showed me that the headlights began to shine upward. He said they were pyramids. I walked up and touched the walls. “Something,” I say, “doesn’t look like there are bricks here.” They built them from bricks, from some blocks. They are somehow not visible. Our people might mistake these for mountains. He said they were melted and had triangular tops. They cast triangular shadows.

And surprisingly, when we were talking to him, we were in a protective suit, we heard each other, as if we were standing next to each other in a ship.

He said that besides those rovers that are known, several countries have launched them secretly. There are now not 2, not 3, as earthlings say. He said that there are about 6 rovers working on Mars from different countries. I didn't specify the details. He simply told me that these were different countries that launched rovers on Mars. There is like a union of countries that launched something there.

They work, but they are secret and not reported. He said that they were collecting some scientific information. And he also said that the traces that he showed me were photographed by a rover from some country and sent to Earth, but he doesn’t know where this information went.

He said that they were conducting some experiments there. Maybe they wanted to do some military experiments on Mars or something else. That's why they didn't report. But these devices are far from each other so that they would not notice each other.

And he also said that, according to his data, these rovers on some waves maintain contact with the Earth. And those alien bases that are located on Mars sent there a probe that moves under the ground. He's like a mole. And this “mole” does not fly in the air so that it cannot be filmed. Of course, then you can erase everything from the camera, you can simply disable them, but they didn’t do this, they are aliens. Therefore, they sent them underground closer to these rovers, and intercepted what photographs they were sending. And we managed to find out that they are secret, because the earthlings are looking for some place to make a base there.

He said that he had not seen them himself, but had heard about them from reports. Pleiadian bases reported them. They have reports containing such news. Kirchiton didn’t keep track of this, he’s not particularly interested. He just hears about it, he hasn’t flown to them, hasn’t seen or studied these rovers. This is not his area of interest; what he heard is what he said.

I say: “What’s secret here?” Kirkhiton said that they were looking for something there, some place. And, moreover, they hide it not so much from the public (his personal opinion), but from the army of another state.

They filmed everything that was on Mars, but did not announce it to people. And again, Kirchiton assumes that these astronauts who are there are under the supervision of the military, and the military is not interested in admitting that there are aliens there.

These rovers are sent by space programs that work there under the control of astronauts. Astronauts are not on Mars rovers, but on Earth. I mean the ones who create these things.

I asked specifically: are there living earthlings in these rovers? Maybe there is somewhere, but we don’t know? He said that these rovers did not record living people or organisms at all.

He said that they were created using Earth technology and do not surpass Earth technology. Aliens would have been built on other technologies. And these were earthly technologies.

4. Details of the evacuation from Mars, where were all the survivors taken, how many were there, and what was their fate?

He said:

- About two thousand people were saved from Mars. Many had severe burns, concussion and numerous injuries. They were transported first to a base on the Moon. And after the Earth’s condition stabilized, they offered to choose: either fly to Disara or to Earth. The majority chose the first option - to Disara and joined the Venusians who had previously been rescued from Venus.

5. How many, what and where on the map are the Interstellar Union bases on Mars now?

There are currently 35 Interstellar Union bases on Mars. Their exact location can only be revealed to Kirchiton with the permission of the leadership of these bases.

He said that there are bases of Selbet, Tashig, Burhad, Disaru, Tikht and many other worlds. He listed several of them. There are no bases on his planet there.

6. Sphinx on Mars.

Next, comments on the Sphinx. Is it artificial? I asked him, he told me that this was not the Sphinx, but one of the hangars for spaceships at the Tumesout base, dilapidated and covered with sand.

It's like he's under a mountain.

I wrote down exactly what he said:

- This is not the Sphinx, but a dilapidated and sand-covered one of the hangars for spaceships at the Tumesouta base, which was there before the war. Many Tumesoutians died near this structure, their remains were scattered throughout the surrounding area by explosions.

Kirchiton said that he does not know about the Sphinx, but photographs of some objects were sent to Earth, but he does not know whether they were published somewhere or not. He said that maybe they were published somewhere.

I already told you that we landed near the pyramids, then we sat down again, I told you all about it. It was night. Then we walked along these pyramids, turned away from the beam, and Kirchiton began to show the starry sky. It was clear. And he said that there was a large bluish star, somewhat similar to Sirius, only it has no rays, and the stars there do not blink, this is how the Earth is visible.

And then I realized that I was standing here, and the Earth was in space.

So, dear readers, you are all in space.

The earth is like a precious stone. I asked:

- Why does it shine so much?

He said that the Sun shines there, and it reflects it that way. I think: “That’s where all my friends are now: Maxim, Vladimir. They're kind of at the top." You were in heaven for me.

Traces of intelligent life on Mars. Natural phenomena on Mars

Then we sat back, did not take off our suits, he raised his plate and sat low. I stood near the window and looked, there was no weightlessness. Our ship flew like an airplane, maybe even a little lower. Somewhere in the distance all the mountains and desert were visible. We flew slowly.

At first it was dark below, but then I looked as if it was getting light. I speak:

- Why did morning come so quickly? We've been flying here for a long time.

He said it was not morning there. We just flew to where the Sun is.

At first it’s gradual, as if it’s getting light. And then I look like it’s day, the sun is shining. Then we went out, there was a round hole, and we walked along the edge. He said there was a lake here and then it evaporated. There was a village on the shore of this lake; it was all covered with sand. There's even a hillock about ten meters away. It skidded, the explosion caused all the soil to fall out, and the lake evaporated. There were traces of their life, some children's toys.

He said it was far from the surface. But we walked around the edge of a small crater. And then there, among the stones, there was a trace, a depression, as if someone had passed, or rather some kind of worm had crawled.

Photos of the surface of Mars from the Internet

He said that no one crawled here, there used to be a river here. And he walked along. We are walking with him, it was already day there, the sun was shining. But it was smaller and whitish, and the sky was yellowish.

I asked why the sky is yellow? He said there was dust there.

And then I see something moving from the side. I turn around, and this tall pillar is spinning. I say: “What are these plasmoids?” He turned, looked and said that these were not plasmoids. It's far from here, probably two kilometers. I look, and it’s just the wind picking up the sand and spinning. We don't feel it in suits.

I say: “So, is this pillar tall?” He said that it was 150 meters, no more. I asked: “Will this “thing” come here now?” - he said that even if he comes, we are in suits, there will be nothing for us. He's just walking by. And if we get into it, then simply nothing will be visible. He will leave quickly. And nothing will come from him. Now, if we were without a suit, then yes. I say: “Won’t it lift you into the air?” He said: “No, his strength is not enough to lift you. Sand lifts, compare how much weight it has.”

Then we moved on. I was still keeping an eye on this pillar; it had gone somewhere. I speak:

- Oh, what plasmoids are on Mars! Hello everyone!

Minerals and minerals on Mars

Kirkhiton says:

- Lean over here, look among the stones: there are round red ones on the stones, as if drops are sticking out. It is a mineral, hematite, from iron and water. Water flowed here, then it evaporated. There are many such balls here.

I asked him if there were minerals here? He said there was even silver and gold. Only there is no oil, there are simply minerals, including radioactive ones. So, when the earthlings arrive, research is being carried out to establish a permanent base there. They (aliens) already know about our plans.

They expected that by 2025 people would still fly to Mars, but this has not yet come true.

I speak:

-Has man ever been on Mars? Maybe they are hiding something from us?

Kyrgyzstan:

- Was not. You don’t yet have such reliable things that can fly back up.

I speak:

- From ours, from government ones?

Kyrgyzstan:

- You can already deliver a person, there’s nothing complicated about it. You can give him all the resources, water, food, air, and so on. But you don’t yet have such things that could fly back to Earth with a hundred percent probability, find a way home and not miss. That is, you may not calculate it, you don’t have these automatic systems. Our magnetic dust engines adjust themselves. Wherever you are, you just press a button, and it looks for the coordinates itself.

Nature of Mars

Here there are only stones, you walk and walk, you can't see them near the plate. Especially when we walked along this river. I say: "Won't we get lost here?" (Kirkhiton) Do you think you're the only one with a navigator on your phone?

I say: "Kirkhiton, we'll turn off now and walk around here until our oxygen runs out." (Kirchiton) Listen, is it only you who has a navigator on your phone that you use? I joke: "Eventually the phone battery may run out."

Kyrgyzstan:

- May be. But in the suit, this battery, as you call it, can last, in your opinion, 120 days.

Then we walked around and talked. He asked me:

- Look, do you like it here? Would you agree to live here?

I looked and saw that the wind was moving sand and small pebbles, and I said that somehow it wasn't very good: there was no greenery, no trees. (Kirchiton) Yes, I think that when people are told that they will fly there, very few will agree.

Then we got into the plate and flew somewhere. I looked out the window, it was light. Some plains, stones, I say:

- There's something there, I think some animal ran through there.

Kirkhiton said that it was just a shadow from the stones, not an animal. There is very little oxygen there and it is cold, but he did not name the temperature.

Earth rover on planet Mars

Then, we flew to the place where the Mars rover was. Kirchiton first told me to get a map, we'll mark this place, and then we'll go look. I was in a suit, I had a pen. It says "Land of Meridian".

I didn't take the map with me when we left. He said it was quite far.

He said that if earthlings take it (the rover), the cameras in it will no longer work and they won't see us there.

We approached, he said that the rover had been working there for a long time, that it was American.

And when we approached, I was surprised, I thought it was big, like a tank. And he, like a wheelbarrow, is as long as me. You can put me down and that's it. I speak:

- Oh, what kind of cart is this, that it's so small?

He says that this is quite enough. I say: "I thought it was some kind of machine, a tank." "Yes," he says. - Now they'll send a whole KAMAZ here and hang a bunch of batteries on it to waste energy. They have nothing else to do."

He is shorter than me, maybe up to my chest, but there are tubes sticking out of him. Three tubes, one with a camera, like they had on Polaroids. Only she is alone, and underneath she is still small. I came up, looked at her, I touched her.

I say: "Where are the wheels, I don't understand?" He said they were downstairs. And you know, I touched them, they were hard, and it looked like there were notches on them. And they are not round, but oval.

There were no tracks. He said they were carried away. There is wind here, in a day or two you won't find anything here.

(Kirkhiton) He sat down in another place, and that's where he came. Far. I ask: "Why far?" (Kirkhiton) I probably drove 40 kilometers, maybe more.

We started looking for the inscription, there were some letters there, but they seemed to have been erased, in general, it's not clear. I think the letter "O" came first.

I asked what year he was in? Kirkhiton said that it worked for a long time and broke down about three years ago.

I asked what happened to him? He said there was something wrong with the batteries. I asked what he actually worked on? Where is his gas tank? (Kirkhiton) Where does the gasoline come from? This gasoline gave up to you. On the left -

On the left are Irina and Kirchiton with the Mars rover (the image is a product of graphic processing; photographing and transmitting physical evidence to Irina is prohibited). On the right is the Mars opportunity rover (photo of the rover from the Internet).

And on it there were pipes sticking out, further on, where there was a large white pipe, white from this camera, then a smaller pipe and a third one - there was also a square on it. And there was something else attached to the side, flat as a stone, just a metal box. I asked what kind of box this was? I touched her. He said that this is a thing in which there are rays, like X-rays. Lets sand in. It has a screen and a scale, they call it "measuring the spectrum."

I asked what is it for? Kirchiton said to use these rays to determine which elements.

The rover stood somehow unevenly, tilted, and one wheel was raised. I said that we need to pull him out of the sand, he was stuck. And she pulled. She asked: “How much does it weigh?” Kirchiton said that it was probably 70 kilograms, maybe less. “What about on Earth?” He said 130–150 kilograms.

Then I spun the wheel. When you swipe it, it doesn’t spin as quickly as, for example, something else, but you can rotate it. He stood there, somehow bending over. I asked what happened to him? He said that there was just a wind, and he tilted it a little.

Cause of rover failure

I speak:

- What happened to it, why doesn’t it work?

Kirchiton said that he worked for them for a long time. He took a tube and touched it; the door opened inward. I say: “How did you open it without a key?” Kirkhiton said that this is a special inertial key that creates something like inertia in the mechanisms, and they unscrew.

I looked in and there was a dark box. He knocked and said that from the sound it was clear that the batteries were frozen. Sand got there, and the batteries could not work from the Sun. And the battery inside, from which the wheels drove and the cameras were filmed, froze and discharged, or everything went out of it. It won't work anymore.

Then, he shined a flashlight inside, leaned over and said that the memory card was inserted. And then he pointed a flashlight at it, looked at something there and said that it was not filled out yet, there were some photographs there, and they were intact. He could download it onto his ship and watch it, but it would take time. He sat away from him.

Then I came up and said: “Are the cameras sure they can’t see us?” He said that there was not one camera, but several.

I say: “How did he work? From the battery? Kirkhiton said that these were protruding black tubes, and on top there were plates that looked like they were made of coal. All this is on the roof.

He says these batteries worked. I asked:

- Mars is further than the Sun, how did it work? How much does it heat up here?

He said that these batteries are not made of silicon, which we have, but this is a special substance, it contains arsenic. He named it, but I don't remember it. And it converts energy well.

I speak:

- Do other rovers also work on Mars?

Kirkhiton said there are different ones here. There are those that run on plutonium, and there are those that run on solar batteries.

The engine is like a nuclear one that runs on decay. I asked: “Uranium, or what?” He said that it is not uranium, there is little of it on Earth, but plutonium is more common there, it is cheaper, it is commonly used, and it is more effective. He did not say whether they were classified or not classified. I say: “Which ones?”

(Kirkhiton) There are those that run on solar batteries, these are new ones, and there are those that run on nuclear. I asked what nuclear fuel? Uranus? He said plutonium.

I ask: “How do you know?”

Kirkhiton said that when he was working, their probes were investigating, which flew here, unnoticed by the cameras. At night, when they flew past, they released a scanning beam and found out that this substance was there.

I say: “So what, is this nuclear contamination of Mars?” (Kirkhiton) They are intact, there are no leaks from them. For now, at least.

Then I started asking him what it was called. He said it was written down on his computer somewhere - not on some alien base on the moon. He just knows that he is there. Kirchiton assumed that the questions would be about the Mars rover, and decided to take me there.

Equipment on the rover

I say: “Where is this thing he came down from, the rocket? Did you fly back? Kirchiton said that she didn’t fly away, she just went far away, she couldn’t be seen from here.

There was some kind of mark there, as if a furrow had been plowed, but I didn’t see the tracks of the wheels. It was as if a tractor had passed a plow across flat ground, but not deep.

We walked around this rover, I took it, wiped the camera for him, and said: “Hello everyone there, if they're filming me." Kirkhiton said that no one is filming anything.

I say: "Some kind of useless cart." He asked if I wanted to take her with me? I said it was hard to drag her. We talked and walked around this thing, I asked him what kind of box it was, he first looked at it and said that it was for measuring soil elements. I started asking how.

Kirkhiton said that he lowers X-ray type rays into the ground there and measures it. I asked how x-rays can measure? He said that they enter this soil and transmit information to the screen. There was also something like a hand there, under this camera.

There were also wheels, they were not attached, but seemed to be on legs that could bend.

I say: "What kind of spider is this? Why is he made like a robot?" Kirkhiton said it was not a robot. This is so that they become higher, lower and turn in different directions.

I say: "Why is this necessary?" (Kirkhiton) Well, why? And if he gets stuck in the rocks, how do you get him out?

I asked: "What is this thing?" It bends, and at the end there was something sharp, like a drill, but not so twisted. I say: "What is this?" He said that this was for taking a sample.

Then we sat down again. Kirchiton said that in general they should take me home, but now we will spend a few more minutes and fly to one of Selbet's bases.

I speak:

- Shall we drink some tea? I'm already thirsty.

He said that he didn't have anything to drink, he could only offer gabtents (approx. These are the worms that the inhabitants of Daraal eat).

I asked Kirchiton what he was drinking. He said that there is a supply of water, but it is technical, he can fill up with this, but he does not need it that often. He doesn't have good water on the ship, and I don't like the technical water, it might smell like something, like a sulfur compound.

Then I say: "Okay, let's fly to the base."

And we sat down, and he said that the suits could be taken off. We stood in the middle of the cabin, and they removed themselves from us. I say: "Wow, we've been walking in them for so long, and the oxygen hasn't run out yet." He said that, in principle, the reserve in the suits for my body weight and for my oxygen consumption is about five hours. And he has three hours.

We ended up in the hangar, there was already air there, then we left. There was, like on the Moon, a base that was like a cave, like a dome.

The author of the drawing is Kirill Nikolaev. Irina's journey

I speak:

- Oh, like on the Moon!

He says:

- Look, the color is completely different here.

I approached. The wall was this color... There is coal, and there is this waste gray rock, the same color of some kind of gray.

I speak:

- Where did the red one go?

- Red, it’s there, more on the surface.

I speak:

- Where is this Selbet base?

“Well,” he says, “now it’s about fifty meters from the surface.”

We walked along the corridor, then entered a huge room. There were some screens along the walls, and near these screens there were long tables, at which reptilians sat. They looked at us. They were more than two meters, like lizards, gray-green scales.

One stood up and came over. I realized that this was a woman, for some reason I realized this, maybe by her clothes. She had some kind of shiny coat, like foil.

They began to talk among themselves, she said something to Kirchiton, and he understood her. They don’t speak Daraal, but some kind of galactic language that Kirchiton understands. They have some kind of common language.

Room with biorobots based on Selbet

They talked. Then we walked along some corridor. He says:

- Look, now they will show you the room where the biorobots are. There are no people here.

Then we went into some room, and there were people there. They stood in such poses as if they were lifeless, as if they were dolls. They looked like people.

I speak:

- Why are they so similar to our earthly people?

- They were brought from Disaru to this base to work here, because the Selbet people prefer to buy them there than to make their own. Disaru makes these robots well. Their base is also nearby. You can go and have a look. These are not people in suspended animation. You can touch them

I approached, I was already without a suit. They wore overalls the same color as their bodies. I walked up to them, touched them, they were hard. And they were colder than my skin, but not completely cold. And they were hard, but not like plastic, but like hard rubber, as if a little elastic.

I speak:

- Why do they feel like this?

- That's because they don't work. As soon as they start working, they will have the temperature set, they will have everything, just like people can set it. A biorobot was created to be like a human. They work for Disaru in their houses and cook for them. They look like them. They even communicate with them, sometimes they look after their children.

Genetic experiments based on Selbet

I didn’t ask the reptilian woman’s name, I asked what her profession was.

“She,” says Kirchiton, “is something like a biologist.” Now she will show you her research.

Indeed, groups of cells taken by Tashigans from people are being studied biologically. They take skin samples and then grow them, i.e. experimenting.

They took me to a drawer, pulled it out, and there was a frame on which was stretched, I wouldn’t call it leather, but some kind of fabric, not quite like leather, of some yellow color.

“This,” he says, “is a group of cells.” And we actually do experiments. That is, from contactees (these are Tashigan) they bring us groups of cells in containers here to Mars. We are experimenting. Those. We look at what a cell is made of, we divide this cell into some segments, then we look at which section of DNA is responsible for which segment. And we are experimenting to connect these cells, these DNAs, more accurately, with some others. For example, with the same Tashigan people or with us. Those. we are experimenting to produce hybrids.

This was not a collection of germ cells, but simply skin. He says that they warned the contactees.

I speak:

- How was it?

Kirkhiton says:

- There is such a tube. You touch her. And there won’t even be a scratch on the skin, just a small dot. And there will already be cells there.

Purpose of genetic experiments

She is a head taller than me, even taller. I was somewhere up to her, maybe up to her chest.

The others just looked at me, they didn’t get up from their seats. Kirchiton said something to them, but that one, she walked, I don’t know, I didn’t see her smile, she looked at me normally. She answered questions not in Russian. I asked a question:

- Why do you need these experiments anyway?

She says:

- This base is biological.

Kirchiton translated that she says that this base is biological, and conditions are created here, including for earthlings. And if a war or some kind of mass disaster suddenly breaks out, earthlings will be relocated there. And here conditions are created for them so that there are resources there, and so on.

- You have great genetic potential, and any space researcher has the right to combine your cells with others and get some other hybrid. Not on your planet to settle, but on another.

I speak:

- Why such experiments, as if without asking anyone?

They say:

- What's wrong with that? When you were made, the Burkhadians, we, the Tumesoutians, gave our genes for you, why don’t you give them for other civilizations?

I speak:

- Do these hybrids already exist?

She says:

- This is still in the experimental stage. Those. Some groups of cells are obtained, but we cannot trigger the intelligent Spirit to incarnate, because these groups of cells are not yet stable. Those. the combination of genes is checked.

I paid attention to the walls, they were kind of yellow. We were walking, suddenly I saw this round porthole window in the wall of the corridor, I looked into it, and there were some fish swimming there.

I speak:

- What it is?

They say:

- This is so that we look and remember about home, i.e. This is what we have, like your paintings.

I stood and looked. I say:

- What is this, a TV?

- No, these are living things that swim. There we have further views of nature. We have a garden that completely replicates the Selbet forest. You can sit there. Those. It happens that researchers stay here for several months, and so that they do not get bored, such conditions are created for them to relax.

- And what does looking into an aquarium give you?

“They feel at home,” Kirchiton concluded.

I saw this pink fish. It is like a round ball, and behind it is a tail, made up of many feathers. And on the sides of the eyes, they sparkle red. Then she turned around, her mouth was closed. Then she opened it, and she had several rows of teeth.

- What kind of piranha is this?

She didn’t understand, but Kirchiton translated. She said it was just one of their fish. She eats some kind of protein powder.

- Yes, it's a predator. They create powder from proteins on some kind of machine, and they are fed.

- Do they go fishing for these fish?

- No, they just look at them. Why go fishing with them, they don’t need it. These are specialists who have been at the base for several months by earthly standards.

We didn’t stay there for long, literally about ten minutes, and then Kirchiton said, it’s time now. And when we left they all turned and said something at the same time. This sound: “Araharham.” I asked what this meant.

- They wished you a good journey to Earth and passed on the Light to all earthlings.

There were them, including the one who went with us, I counted them, who were sitting in this hall, there were 14 of them.

Yes, they looked and did not get up. And when we left, they stood up, turned around and all said in unison: “Arkharkham.”

Then we left. I say: “Yes, there is Light for them too. I say hello to them all."

Then, when we had already left, no one accompanied us. We walked to the plate and sat down in it. I stopped looking out the window and sat down. I started taking out a map, we were going to Lake Baikal.

I say: “Kirchiton, when is my next contact?” He told me that he would tell me soon.

Planning contact on Baikal

We want to visit the base on Lake Baikal, as you know. And our guys gave me a map of Lake Baikal. There are two alien bases there.

The guys indicated to me where we would be, the point, in what place, in what sanatorium. I showed Lake Baikal. He said, “I know that.” He said that there was no exact location here, but he circled the area.

I circled and signed which was which. We'll be right here. Here is Ulan-Ude. There is a Pleiadian base here, somewhere here. And here, not far from that place, is the base of the planet Tikht of the Interstellar Union.

I say: “And where will you choose? In general, we planned to fly to the Tikhtian base, to the Interstellar Union, on our next flight.”

He says:

- Okay, I'll warn them. I just don't know how interesting this will be to you. As far as I know, 15 people work there, and there are about three times as many biorobots servicing them. There are 15 humanoids, but there are mainly ecologists who study the ecology of Baikal and the surrounding area.

Yes, they said that the base is not on the shore, but under the bottom.

Kirchiton took me back. I asked: “When should I come?” He replied: “I’ll let you know.”

Then we arrived, and he said: “That’s it.” I stood near the hatch and a beam fell on me from the ceiling. Kirchiton stood nearby. The beam lifts me above the floor and lowers me inside, that is, I don’t go down the stairs as before.

I left the plate, walked away, and looked around. It’s as if even if it’s hanging, I won’t see it. And then I went, I already knew that I needed to move away, about two minutes. I turned on the phone, then went to the car, told Maxim, we went home.

He conveyed his greetings to everyone and said that he was very glad to meet. And he said about other physical contactees (the possibility of them flying somewhere with him, or with another), he said:

- I would be happy to take any of you, if this has the approval of your Higher Self, your curators and the Commission of the Interstellar Union, I don’t mind.

July 2021

September 5, 2022

Flight to the planet Tashig

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/polyot-na-planetu-tashig

It was August 7, 2018, I waited for Kirchiton for a long time, but this is not surprising: the cars just drove back and forth along the highway.

Then everything became quiet, I looked at the clock, it was 22:12.

I didn’t notice the white star, I looked up again and saw a saucer from which a ladder was already sticking out.

I climbed up it, no one met me. I walked down the corridor to the pilots' room. Kirchiton stood there near the control panel. Seeing me, he said:

“Sit down. Today we are flying to Tashig. This planet is what you will describe today for ufologists.”

I sat down, he turned to the remote control and started doing something.

Weightlessness began.

Several minutes passed without us speaking. Then the weightlessness ended, he said:

"Went".

We left the plate and found ourselves in a small area, among large white disc-shaped objects. I thought they were flying saucers and asked Kirchiton where they came from. He replied that these were the houses of the Tashigan people.

It was quite cold and I felt like I wasn’t getting enough air; I wanted to breathe more often.

I looked up and saw a small red sun, the same color as ours before sunset. Only it was small and high up.

The soil was black and covered in mounds.

Among the white plates walked creatures that looked like classic aliens, as they are depicted in magazines: about a meter tall, maybe a little more, a thin body, a pear-shaped head with large black eyes and gray skin.

Four of these creatures came up to us and began to talk about something with Kirchiton. Their voices seemed like a squeak to me, but the words were quite distinct.

They didn't react to me at all. Kirchiton talked with them for several minutes. Then we returned to the plate and he said that he was changing the place of contact for me and that if I write to someone about him again or send coordinates, he will assign me a place in the Sands, and if I don’t come, he will switch to mental contacts.

Then he told the characteristics of the planet Tashig, said that the Tashigans have contactees on Earth, but conduct medical experiments with them. Then he brought me back.

I left the plate in a new place and turned on the phone.

It was 23:05 on the clock. I am going home.

Characteristics of the planet Tashig

Star number 78429 from the constellation of the Northern Crown, the third from it.

387 light years from the Sun.

Tashiga's distance to the star is 210 million km.

The climate is cold, and in many places there is snow all year round. At the poles there is snow from CO_2 and CH_4.

Geography: three continents, two oceans and many islands.

Planet diameter: 17800 km.

Gravity: 120% Earth.

Mass: 140% Earth.

Atmospheric composition:

Nitrogen - 50%, helium - 20%, oxygen - 15%, argon - 7%,

CO_2 - 5%, methane - 2%, water vapor - 1%.

The period of revolution around the star is 385 Earth days.

The period of rotation around its axis is 38 Earth hours.

Population - 12 billion.

Life expectancy is 100-120 local years.

Social system: there are no analogues on Earth, but it looks like a constitutional monarchy)

Four countries, several languages, one of them global.

Duration of stay in interstellar union: 2800 Earth years.

The first contact of the Tashigans with earthlings was 257 AD.

Types of contacts with earthlings: physical, astral and mental

November 1, 2022

Visit to the Draconian planet Shentricussa – the capital of the “Union of Six”

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/poseshchenie-planety-drakonovyh-shentrikussa

Raom Tiyan from the planet Burkhad, Bergastre, and also Kirchiton took me to the capital of the so-called “Union of Six Planets,” which in our Milky Way Galaxy opposes the Interstellar Union and is their oppositionist. They do not have a military confrontation, but their ideological contradictions are quite serious.

As always, I came to the place of contact (it’s the same place for me). It wasn’t Kirchiton’s “plate” that took me away. I didn’t see anything, now they are masked by a field that we cannot see with our eyes. A beam of light green color just comes out. It shines right in front of me and, standing under it, I begin to feel the attraction. I wouldn’t say it’s like going up in an elevator, I’m just being pulled up so that it feels like my hair is about to rise. This happens quickly enough so that it is not visible that the person is being lifted. From the outside it looks as if a person is being pulled by a beam into an empty place that is not visible to anyone.

When I found myself inside, the first thing I saw was Bergastre's smile and his glowing eyes. They glow for him.

I speak:

“Where is Kirchiton?”

He says:

“Everyone is here, don’t worry. Say hello to all participants in the Cassiopeia project, all contactees on Earth, all bright people, all bright personalities. I am sure that we will now have a very important flight. Thank you for your desire to explore all the civilizations of the Galaxy!”

I looked around: the walls were absolutely white and everything was glowing, along the walls, opposite each other, there were chairs. I counted six on one side and six on the other, 12 seats. Raom Tiyan sat on one. Then, when I had already sat down, Kirchiton came out of some door.

It was Bergastra's ship, which he flies on to perform various missions.

Bergastre said that on the Planet of the “Union of Six”, in the capital, where I was now being taken, there were no military operations. He said that he would accompany me with Raom Tiyan and Kirchiton personally. Kirchiton is a curator specifically for physical contacts. They agreed in advance with the government of this planet. It turned out that they needed permission to contact aliens, and to get it they had to wait about two Earth weeks. They are being checked. And not only contact with aliens, with earthlings or with the Interstellar Union, but even with aliens who are part of the Union of Six.

Raom Tiyan said:

“I also say hello to everyone. Indeed, an unusual flight. I myself have never been there, I have not left the group of planets for which the Interstellar Union is responsible.”

And Kirchiton said that he was on one of the planets of this group of Six, but not on the one where we were flying. Kirchiton also said hello to everyone.

While we were talking, I didn’t notice how maybe several minutes had passed. There was no noticeable movement. They have artificial gravity, there is no weightlessness, so nothing changed, we just sat and talked. At some point, Kirchiton said that it was time for us to leave. I was also surprised why all three of them were sitting and no one was steering the ship. To this they answered that it has an automatic program.

The ship was cigar-shaped, I saw it when we got out of it. At first I saw a long room, larger than in the “plate”; the cabin there was small. The window in the room was not round, but like a long slit.

I speak:

“What kind of gap is this?”

It runs along the entire length of the ship, maybe at a height of about three meters. They have replyed:

“It’s just a window, but we don’t look through it. It's decorative. We can see on the computer screen where we are flying.”

“Why don’t any of you control the ship?”

“Why should we control it? This is not a ship that requires flight correction. You just sat down, he determined by the mass of people (by the changed mass) that it was already necessary to begin the journey according to the laid down program. Everything is programmed, right down to the second it will fly.”

They don't need to interfere.

Before leaving the ship, I was told that I needed to put on spacesuits, white protective suits, just like on Daraal. They are slightly different in shape: if on Daraal there is a rectangular viewing window opposite the eyes, then on Burkhad there is a square transparent structure, solid enough and covering the entire face, that one can distinguish the facial expression.

To put on the spacesuit you need to stand in a special booth, and it descends from the ceiling. They enter the booth one by one. First I entered, and then the three of them. A different spacesuit was prepared for Kirchiton because he has a slightly different body shape and height. My spacesuit was different in that it gave a greater overview. You can walk in it.

When we left, I asked:

“Why a spacesuit?”

You can hear each other there too. They have replyed:

“Firstly, their atmosphere has three and a half times higher levels of carbon dioxide than Earth. There is oxygen there, but there is still a lot of carbon dioxide. Secondly, now the temperature is about plus 40 degrees. In the city where the Council of the Planet is located at the moment, there is their temperate zone, between the equator and the pole.”

We were told that since our ship was small, it could be landed in the square. Otherwise we would have had to fly to the cosmodrome. They do not have transport that uses an atmospheric engine to quickly fly to the capital. It would be necessary to travel by train on a magnetic levitation (they also have such technologies there). This train from the cosmodrome to the capital would take about two hours.

This planet is located in the constellation Orion. Then this reptilian showed me a galactic map. I wrote down all six planets (at his request), what they are called and in what constellations they are located. This is all our Galaxy: in Orion they have two planets, one in the constellation Draco, one in the constellation Centaurus, one in the constellation Aquila and one more in the constellation Cepheus.

I was surprised that when we got out, I saw asphalt. The same as on Earth, the same color. All around there were multi-storey yellow houses with a lot of square windows. Probably the same height as our 20-story buildings, maybe a little higher. There are quite a lot of them, dense buildings. At the end of a long street I saw a red pipe. Wide, becoming narrower towards the top. There was no smoke coming from the chimney. I speak:

“What kind of factory is this?”

Bergastre or Raom Tiyan answered, one of them - they stood nearby. They said that this is not a plant, but a pipe, this is one of those antennas that produce the same electromagnetic waves that control their behavior using nanochips.

This is not the only pipe, there are many of them, we saw the closest one. Then we stopped near a building with yellow walls. There were a bunch of orange barrels there, about six or seven. Small in size, about a meter high. I asked:

“What kind of barrels are these, what is in them?”

They say:

“These are not barrels, they are part of a device that itself is underground, under the ground. The device can automatically spray chemicals that are inhaled into the air. They react with their chips. All this together allows electromagnetic waves to influence behavior.”

Bergastre said that spraying these chemicals without nanochips and without electromagnetic influences, without those two components, will do nothing. This should all be in one package. I asked:

"How it works?"

They say:

“We are now wearing spacesuits, although we can withstand more carbon dioxide than you (our body is more adapted). But there are suspensions in the air of very small dust particles consisting of lead oxide, and it is harmful to us. You don't see them, but they are in the air. When humanoids inhale this lead oxide, it penetrates their respiratory system and spreads through their blood vessels. From birth, they are given nanochips that consist of an alloy containing the element niobium. This niobium forms a molecular network in their vessels that covers all vessels.”

Bergastre said that this technology and development is known in the Interstellar Union, but they do not use such nanochips, they have a different principle. And then the lead oxide that is inhaled reacts with the niobium chips, with a substance, with one of the proteins that is located in the tissues - this creates a field or substance in the brain that can be influenced by electromagnetic signals.

They create a special consciousness - purposeful. Plus electromagnetic waves of certain frequencies. I was told that at the bottom of these towers there are specialists who form certain thoughts and words. They are somehow converted into electromagnetic pulses and transmitted to everyone.

We entered the building and took the elevator. In the same way, pressing the button calls the elevator. These technologies are similar to ours. We got up, went in, one of them was there.

Outwardly it is very similar to the image that was sent to me, I call it an astral image. These are “crocodiles” whose front part of the face is elongated, round eyes, with round, light yellow pupils. Skin color is dark green. They have a crest that ends slightly below the back. The tail is not like that of the Selbetians, I would not call it a tail at all, because there is no clearly defined tail, it is covered from behind. We have a coccyx, and their ridge ends there.

There was something similar to our TV hanging on the wall. Then they turned it on, showing me some pictures. I sat down on a chair like ours. There was also a flat table. The Burkhadians and Kirkhiton did not sit down, they stood nearby, I had to write. I didn't take off my spacesuit.

When they came in, I said:

"Greetings".

Bergastre adjusted the translator to set up the translation of their language into Russian. It also took time to combine the two languages. He said that they are not similar, since many concepts are different. The translation will be approximate, inaccurate, because there are no analogues of the words.

We tuned in for a conversation, Bergastre said that the translator was on, and we could start.

The first thing I did was greet the inhabitants of this planet, as well as the entire Union of Six:

“We greet you, we send you the Light of our Love. I flew here to listen to you and convey to people your opinion, your position. What you think is also very important to us, because you are intelligent beings just like us, beloved children of God.”

He listened and said:

"Thank you. I'm ready to answer questions."

The voice in the translator was very pleasant, female, recorded by a representative of Burkhad.

The language itself is a little similar to Selbet, with a lot of growling and wheezing sounds. His voice is quite low, it comes from his throat. The long, elongated area where his lips are located is slightly open, and a sound comes from there, as if from the throat. This was translated into Russian. When I asked, the box made a series of the same sounds, he listened and then answered.

Our dialogue began more or less neutrally.

The first thing he asked me was:

“Please first write down a list of the planets of our Union, as they are called.”

As I understand it, it was the language of Shentricussa, the planet we arrived on. It is a little general and applies everywhere. At least in the translation it sounded, for example, “Shentrikussa”, but from him came, perhaps without vowels: “Shntrks”, something like that.

“And you will write the constellations in which these planets are located, as seen from Earth.”

They have studied our map of the Galaxy and know what our constellations are called, although for them these constellations have different names. But they have an automatic program that converts their star charts to match our constellations.

Below is a list of planets from the Union of Six that they told me:

Shentricussa or Shantriukussa is roughly a sound between "i" and "u". This is the constellation Orion, where we were.

Planet Arzinak in the constellation Orion. From the conversation it was clear to us that white dragons live there. White creatures, also with crests, flying, who used to be in the Interstellar Union, and who were expelled. This is the constellation Aquila.

Planet Gaphum, constellation Draco.

Alshit, constellation of Hercules.

Nutrilan, constellation Cepheus.

Getrem, constellation Centaurus.

Lernesi, the constellation of Orion, where we flew. This seventh planet is not part of the Union of Six, it is subordinate, like the Shentricussa colony, where they have biorobots. We then flew there. I saw a huge area where there were rooms with absolutely transparent glass walls. I'll tell you later.

Lernesi is not just populated. Robots are doing experiments to permanently transfer the consciousness (they call it consciousness, not Spirit) of a rational being into the body of a robot, and thereby achieve immortality.

The second purpose of this planet: there are mutants whose brains do not perceive signals normally. They can still go against the government or commit some crime. They explain this by mutation. These mutants are identified and sent to Lernesi, where they are experimented on. They are looking for methods of chemical influence to bypass the mutation and change consciousness. They told me this later.

And third. When we were in a room overlooking the field, we noticed some creatures there that looked like people. I thought:

“Are they holding earthlings there?”

I was told:

“These are not earthlings, but biorobots. They just look like you in shape. We are now conducting experiments so that they are perfect and cannot be distinguished from people. Their image can be made in any way, even similar to your rulers.”

He said that these are only experiments for now. There are no such advanced technologies yet that they cannot be distinguished. He clearly stated that their technology and weapons were lagging behind the Interstellar Union and the Galactic Federation of Light.

Once I wrote down these planets, we moved on to questions and answers. He says:

“I am ready to answer any questions, but within the limits of my competence, so as not to give away military secrets.”

I read the first question:

“Why are you sure that your ideology is the best for humanity? Give evidence of this."

When the translator device started speaking, the pauses between words were quite long, I even managed to write everything down without making abbreviations.

Answer:

Because our ideology allows us to effectively manage people in the interests not of individual groups that will capture the attention of people with their rhetoric, but in the interests of the entire society, in which power structures should rule. Only through universal control can power be truly effective. Convincing evidence is before your eyes. Reasonable demands and laws of your government are ignored, which leads to chaos, a decline in the economy and a deterioration in the quality of life of both government structures and individual citizens.

Moreover, they do not hide the fact that they are exposed to chemicals; the population there knows about this.

Second question:

“Tell me in detail about the political and social structure on your planet. Do you have democracy, freedom of speech and censorship?”

Answer:

Naturally, we do not have democracy, just like you and the Interstellar Union. Democracy is a great illusion when society is ruled by the ideas of the most clever demagogue, even if he is a skilled deceiver.

Freedom of speech is not allowed anywhere, because it will lead to strife and war. Of course we have censorship. She is a great blessing that protects the minds of wavering people (this is how humanoids translated it) from the destructive influence of those who call for freedom for the sake of their own power. We have an analogue of war communism. We are ruled by the party (that’s how the word was translated as party). To join it, you must be loyal to the authorities from childhood and earn special points through training and work. The party is hierarchical. At the top are the smartest and most experienced of its members, for whom the rest of the party members (not all humanoids, but party members) will vote. The rest don't choose.

Social structure: free housing, utilities, education and medicine. There is no money in circulation. There are only electronic payments via chips. Everyone is required to work. There is no private property at all, except for personal clothing, utensils and personal items. There are no private houses or cars. There are public ones, but no private ones.

There is no entrepreneurship. Consequently, there is also no inflation and no credit.

They are all on the same level.

Third question:

“How do you make your residents happy, and what happens to those who dissent?”

Answer:

We create all the conditions for happiness by protecting the peace of every member of society. Everyone is protected from injustice and arbitrariness of local authorities (they still have control over local authorities in cities). Some mutants have brains that are resistant to the chemical effects of our drugs. They sit quietly, but sometimes they advocate the abolition of the death penalty, for example, or the abolition of birth control. But the residents themselves report such people, and law enforcement officers isolate them in a special laboratory, where they are looking for a way to bypass their mutation and change their consciousness for their own good.

Fourth question:

“What do you consider problems? Do you have prisons, and who are there?”

Answer:

If a mutant has committed a serious crime: murder of a sentient being, theft of state property, insulting a government official, or calling for disobedience to authority, then if this mutant is a healthy humanoid who can work for the state, he is placed in a labor colony. If he refuses or is unable to work in sufficient quantities, then the death penalty is applied to him by chemical euthanasia.

If he stole, did something and can work, then he is sent to work for a certain period of time. They made me understand that the deadlines were different, but not short. If he cannot work or refuses, he becomes redundant and is killed.

Fifth question:

“Let me talk to two or three residents who don’t know about us or our conversation.”

Answer:

It is not necessary. After all, contact with other races of the Cosmos is possible only with the special sanction of the party, which considers this application for about two weeks (he himself received this sanction).

Six question:

“How do you plan to promote your ideas to earthlings? Do you have contactees on Earth?”

The translator device began to translate the following information to me...

Answer:

We have astral, as you call them, contactees on Earth. We communicate with them using devices and chips from Selbet and its colonies, which are supplied to contactees by their partners from Tashiga and its colonies. We plan to gradually show the path to nanochip technologies to your authorities. After introducing them to the masses of people, we activate the field that controls the chips so that these chips send mental impulses to earthlings that there is no need to join the Interstellar Union and the Galactic Federation of Light, since we are the only ones who will give you stability and peace.

We will tell your intelligence services how to make nanochips whose radiation shielding will be dangerous to your health. Then the Interstellar Union will not go for decontamination.

And the Interstellar Union will not go to war with us in order to seize control of nanochips. Because his concept of the value of any life of a rational being and the power of Love are a weak link that does not allow political and military will to be shown in cases where there is no direct invasion, as with Selbet.

We will not do this either, because the army of the Interstellar Union and the Galactic Federation of Light is much more powerful than ours. We will act with a mind unencumbered by blind faith in retribution after death, and we will achieve our goals in this world, and not in the illusory imagination that you call the Spiritual World.

You are ready to tolerate any villains, as long as your God places you in heaven. We are ready to create heaven with our own hands. If God is dissatisfied with this, let him destroy wars and social injustice. We are doing His work, let him thank us.

Seventh question:

“What is your relationship with Selbet and its colonies?”

Answer:

We have stable relations with Selbet and its colonies. We trade with each other and explore Space together.

Eighth question:

“What exactly do you disagree with in the Interstellar Union, why don’t you join there?”

Answer:

We do not agree that the world of the Interstellar Union is divided into material and spiritual. This division misleads those who are ready to fight for happiness in the material world. The love of evil and anarchy is destructive. Its carriers must be destroyed so that they do not destroy society and set a bad example for it.

There are many other reasons for disagreement. But this is the main thing in ideology.

Ninth question:

“Tell me, if possible, about your most powerful weapon.”

Answer:

Our weapons are laser waves and destructors of atomic lattices. In action they are terrible for you. But this cannot be compared with the weapons of the Interstellar Union and the Galactic Federation of Light.

They said that the Interstellar Union has more powerful engines. There aren't even gravitational engines on Schentricus; they fly differently.

Tenth question:

“If you had sufficient military power, would you go to war with the Interstellar Union for your ideals?”

Answer:

Yes, we could use military force against the Interstellar Union in this case, in order to free your society from their ideas of universal Love and indifference to any dirt. They introduced these ideas into your society through religions, instilling along the way a harmful attitude about the value of free will. Free will, which manifests itself uncontrollably, is destructive to civilization.

In the Interstellar Union itself there are strict laws, which means there is no trace of free will there. The Interstellar Union hopes that you yourself will understand how to manage this free will. They don't care how many of you die. Think about whether they really love you as much as they say.

Next was the question:

“What are the most beautiful and unpleasant places on the planet?”

He turned on the screen and showed that one of the most beautiful places is high brown mountains, similar to ours, snowy peaks, there is no vegetation there. He said:

"Sky, sun and mountains."

There is mountainous terrain there.

An unpleasant place - they showed a snow-covered plain where there was a blizzard. This is their pole. He said that the temperature there could be minus 30, which is very cold for them. They are used to warmer temperatures, so for them this is an unpleasant place where few people go. Snow, blizzard, nothing visible. Steppe. This is an unpleasant place on the planet for them; they don’t want to be there.

He pressed buttons on the table, and pictures changed on the screen.

Food on Schentricus

I asked them to try their favorite food. He said that he didn’t mind giving it, but after he cooked it in front of me, I refused. Plus, I would have to take off my spacesuit, but when I saw what they liked, I didn’t want to try it.

First, he brought a cone-shaped glass with a wide neck. Glass vase, transparent, like our glass. He took out two bags and poured the contents of one of them into a glass. It turned out to be finely chopped green leaves of their plant. Then he went to the wall where the pipe was sticking out, it turned out to be their tap. At first I thought that he was pouring milk: such a white, thick liquid, like our sour cream. But it turned out that this was not milk, but a suspension of calcium carbonate, which they needed for their shell. Then I added another bag of orange powder (a dye and some kind of taste). He put this glass on the table and said:

"I'll be right there."

He went into another room and brought in his hands a green lizard with a tail and a long neck. I examined his hand: he has four long fingers, at the ends the claws are small and curved, like those of cats. He held the lizard over the glass with one hand, and with the other he carefully unscrewed its head. Pink blood spurted out from her neck, he squeezed it out and said:

"You can try".

Posted by Christina Garver

I asked:

“Why did you put that in there?”

“The substances contained in her blood act on our brain. The hormone of pleasure, joy and meaning in life is released.”

If your curators allow you, we can arrange an atmosphere to reduce the amount of carbon dioxide while you drink, since you were asked on Earth. As far as we have studied earthly organisms, this will not cause any harm. Bergaster looked at me, I said:

"No I do not want".

Then he said that together we could visit another planet, not on their ship, but on ours. The distance to the planet of biorobots is about 700 light years. The engine on a ship with Shentricussa technology, since they do not have a gravitational engine, hardly makes more than 10-15 light years in an earthly day. They have something like a photon engine, but it emits not photon rays, but some kind of photon waves and is repelled by them from some kind of vacuum, I don’t understand.

When a few minutes later we found ourselves on the planet of robots, the Shenrikussian was also surprised that we got there so quickly. I saw the expression in his eyes, felt his energy, he looked around. It was clear that he had not flown on the ships of the Interstellar Union, but had simply heard about them.

November 5, 2022

Are there any other planets in the solar system?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/devyataya-planeta-solnechnoj-sistemy

> Astronomers Brown and Batygin, through mathematical calculations, found the ninth planet, which is not in the ecliptic and, most likely, very far from the Sun, having a large eccentricity. It is a fairly massive planet that deflects the orbits of other planets on the outskirts of the solar system. It also probably has weak alpha and omega, so it is not visible in telescopes. Can you say for sure whether this planet exists?

Irina : yes, this planet exists. Kirchiton took me there. Then it was not the ninth planet, but the tenth, because Pluto had not yet been excluded from the number of planets. Now he has already been excluded.

When we visited Pluto in 1999, Kirchiton took me to the tenth planet. So he said that this is the tenth planet. It is very far from the Sun, much further than Pluto. Its surface is the color of coal.

When we landed on this planet, Kirchiton named a number of its characteristics, but I did not write them down. She is dark as coal. It's hard to walk on it. I was 13 years old then, I followed him when he walked. Two beams from the ship illuminated our way. We walked a little. There was only a starry sky around, the brightest star was the white-yellow Sun.

I also noticed that the stars did not blink. He said that there was a very weak atmosphere, almost imperceptible. I could barely lift my legs from the surface: it felt like a bag had been placed on me. We were in protective suits. I say I can't go that fast.

And he told me:

> “Just think, one and four g.”

That is 1.4g. Such is the gravity on the planet. He walked calmly.

LiSioni and MidgasKaus do not remember her characteristics. You need to look in the directory. They studied the solar system several decades ago when they arrived on Earth.

Kirchiton provided information, since he is an astrophysicist and planetary specialist by profession.

The only thing I remember is that it is not located in the ecliptic plane. It is now moving away from the Sun, having passed more than half the way to the point of its orbit farthest from the Sun.

It is useless to look for it in the ecliptic, in the twelve constellations of the zodiac circle. She is beyond them.

Timecode: 33:55, #292 Irina Podzorova_Aliens' answers to questions from the chat_Aliens' practice of Sun salutations

June, 2021

November 8, 2022

Planet Lernesi of the constellation Orion. Schentricus robots

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/planeta-lernezi-sozvezdiya-orion

After moving, we found ourselves at the site, which was located at the top of the mountain. There was a wooden bridge leading from this mountain. We walked across this bridge. It ended with a platform from which one could look at the field as if from the fifth floor. It was dark where we arrived, only the lights were shining. He said something, and the spotlights came on overhead. Everything became visible.

I saw on this field (it is smooth, without grass), as far as the eye can see, that rows of small trailers with transparent glass walls, as I was told, for observation, went beyond the horizon.

There were other lizards with black skin similar to this reptilian. There were several types. I saw several creatures that looked like people and asked:

“There are people there, look, Bergastre? Maybe they even keep earthlings there?”

He looked and said that their energy device shows (the device in Bergastra’s ship) that these are not people, but biorobots. The intelligent living beings that are present there are a race of reptilians. I asked:

“Then what is it?”

And another representative, who also flew with us, answers me. He introduced himself and I wrote down his name. He called himself MikhShrorun, head of the Council of the planet Shentrikussa from the foreign policy department.

He said they were biorobots. I asked:

“What kind of planet is this anyway?”

He said that there is a huge platform for experiments. Firstly, over those mutants who do not obey the government. They are not affected by the chemical and electromagnetic signals that the tower emits and the niobium chips. All of them still miss the thoughts of this intelligent being himself, which contradict the general guidelines. They place him here even if he has not committed any crime, but only poses a potential danger to them.

It seems like he can do anything. They begin to investigate where he got this mutation and why these substances don’t work. Various combinations of substances and fields are tested on mutants in order to make changes.

He can pretend and say:

"Yes, I submit to you"

- but he himself thinks differently. It turns out, no, it's not that simple. They are doing some tests. This is the first direction. Second direction:

We are creating biorobots that will imitate the nervous system of our species. To do this, using computer technology, consciousness in the form of electromagnetic waves will be transferred to this body so that it becomes immortal, eternal.

They don't believe in the Spiritual World there. I read how they treat everything.

I also asked:

“You don’t believe in astral travel, how then do you want to leave your body and enter a biorobot?”

When we were on the planet and talked (with the help of a translator device), he replied that this is not an exit from the body, as we imagine the Astral. With the help of special technology, a computer program reads consciousness from the brain, sends it to the computer, and then to this biorobot.

I asked:

“If you simply count your consciousness and transfer it to a biorobot, how do you know that it will be your consciousness and not a copy of it?”

They told me that the essence of consciousness itself is in the signals that are read.

I asked:

“What are these biorobots that look like people, what are they?”

He said:

“These are our experimental biorobots that will know your languages, all your features, and will behave according to programs, like people, so that they cannot be distinguished at all. They will even have an imitation of internal organs, so that if you take an x-ray, for example, there will be no doubt that this is a person. They will contain a fluid so similar to blood that no difference can be detected by any of your tests. So that behavior can be imitated in different situations.”

I asked:

“Why is this necessary?”

He explained that they can make any form of biorobot. It's just plastic that can be at a certain temperature. It is liquid at first and then hardens. It is cast in molds, you can use a photograph. He said:

“You can photograph any member of your society, for example, even the ruler. Then make the outer shell of a biorobot, like his. You just need to count in such a way that it imitates his behavior. So far it hasn't worked out. These are just experiments, but they are being carried out here. Scientists are very interested in this. If, in addition to chips, such biorobots are introduced, they will speed up the adoption of laws.”

I speak:

- Why do you need these biorobots?

- They will be among politicians, scientists, military men, as if instead of these people...

- Where do you plan to send the people you are going to replace with biorobots?

- You never know where to put them.

Images from the Internet. Category "Conspiracy theory memes"

They are interested in our planet as their employee in the future, so that they can live on it.

I look at them, and Bergastre and Raom Tiyan are talking to him. Kirchiton also stood there, watching. He was with us, looked at it all, but was mostly silent. Bergastre says:

“How can you introduce biorobots? It’s prohibited if it’s recognized. If you kidnap a person, that’s interference and proof of contact.”

He says:

“What is the proof of contact if it looks like a person? No one can prove that this creature is from another planet.”

- This is interference in political affairs, which is prohibited in the Interstellar Union.

- You, Interstellar Union, and you personally cannot punish me according to your laws, we are not members of your Union. I do not obey your laws.

- In any case, it is forbidden to do this, otherwise the path of your ships will be blocked, and you simply will not be able to visit Earth.

- We still have all this in our plans, how will you block the path? According to your laws, this cannot be done with plans alone.

- In any case, counteraction will be found.

The reptilian looks at him and says:

“Where is the Light of Love? Or maybe I’ll change, send it to me.”

Naturally, we also talked about a drug known throughout the world, and I briefly told him about it. He said that he is aware of the situation on Earth, they are monitoring your political events (before we left, he remained on the planet of biorobots). I asked:

“Do you personally think that exposure through these drugs is possible? DNA change, etc. Is this your technology, perhaps?”

He replied:

“No, this is definitely not our technology, we don’t act like that. If this were our technology, we would implement it through the most popular substance.”

Birth control on Chentricusse

They are oviparous, like many reptilians. He said they use birth control. To have a child (albeit in this way), their woman can lay one egg every few earthly years. In order for them to have a child, parents must undergo a special training course. By the way, they raise him themselves, do not send him anywhere and must, of course, be loyal to the government, and also undergo a full health examination. And only then are they given certain permission.

I speak:

“What if, without permission, this child is also killed?”

They explained to me that along with food and water, substances are added to them that block their reproduction. Those who are allowed to have a child are given a special drug that again enables this.

I thanked you for such fairly frank answers. He spoke quite frankly about the Interstellar Union. It wasn’t noticeable that he was somehow embarrassed by them, he really thought so.

When we were leaving, Raom Tiyan said:

“It’s just Love that both you and your entire planet need.”

And he looked at him and said:

“It depends on how you understand Love. What is your Love for the planet Thisiona (which I was on before), where there is a war? How many thousands have already died? Some are fighting for joining the Interstellar Union, others are against. You can at least shine a ray of Love on them so that they can be reconciled. So that at least they don’t shed their blood for you. You can not? Then at least control them, take power.”

After that we flew away. I asked:

“What do you think about this?”

They answered reservedly:

“We know all about it. There are oppositionists in our Galaxy who think this way about Earth. Even in the Interstellar Union there are some civilizations that are radical, but they don’t say like these that you need to be captured. And radical civilizations say that the presence of the Interstellar Union on Earth needs to be removed, all bases and no resources should be spent on you. Let them move wherever they want.

They present their own arguments about you: they poison their citizens with poisons, which are freely sold in stores for money. Then they themselves treat children with fetal alcohol syndrome. They are given a disability. What value do they have in life if they are capable of killing their own child even in the womb?”

Because of these facts that we have on the planet (legalized), even some representatives of the Interstellar Union are in favor of removing their presence altogether and not making contact.

So that we remain ourselves and learn our lessons, because history teaches us nothing. In the two thousand years since the laws of Burhad in the form of the Sermon on the Mount were spoken by Christ, our moral level has risen perhaps (as they estimate) by 7-8 percent of what it was 2000 years ago.

Burkhad, Esler, Shimor, Disaru - they are all against this and, on the contrary, want to be present on Earth.

On the way back Bergastre said:

“We’ll take you, then we’ll return to the planet of biorobots again. He will be waiting for us there."

I asked:

“They don’t have their own ships?”

“They have them, but it will take him about 45 Earth days to get there on his ship.”

I speak:

- How far is it from them?

- About 700 light years. For us this is a few minutes, but for him it is 45 Earth days.

- They communicate with Selbet, what about technology?

- No one is allowed to transfer interstellar travel technology to the Interstellar Union, even if they trade something. These technologies are prohibited from being transferred to those civilizations that have not joined the Union.

Dear friends! I thank you all for reading my entire story about physical flight. Yes, I didn’t see much of the planet because I needed to ask questions and write down the answers. This was more important to me than walking around and examining what things looked like. It was the information from these civilizations that was important. We listened to them and understood their choice. We understood the choice of those Souls who decided to incarnate in that civilization. The choice of these intelligent Spirits is not at all accidental. So they need to take this lesson.

For what reason might this lesson be necessary? This is a rather cruel lesson for the Spirit in incarnation, complete oblivion of the existence of the Spiritual world and God, under the power of chemicals.

This hard lesson may be necessary for that Spirit who has condemned the more liberal authorities on the planet. This lesson may also be learned by the Spirit who used the power given to him, including on our planet, for evil and set up dictatorial regimes here.

START OF THE JOURNEY >> LINK <<

Related video: #380 PHYSICAL CONTACT! Visit to the Draco planet Shentricussa - the capital of the "Union of Six"!

With love to you, Irina Podzorova.

December 2021

November 20, 2022

The reality of physical contact

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/realnost-fizicheskih-kontaktov

Some say that the described physical contacts were all a dream or just an illusion.

I know that dreams can be very realistic. That is, in a dream you will feel everything, you can walk. It may be more real than reality itself. But in a dream there is a different state of consciousness.

When you go into the Astral, you do not have the same state of consciousness that you have in your physical body. Of course, I don't argue, I was told that it can also be faked through chips. This is what some ufologists said about physical contacts.

What can I say? I personally don't see the point in such difficulties: going somewhere or going somewhere in order to organize non-physical contact. You can make contact in the Astral at home. I never asked for physical contact to be specially tailored to me.

Some people say:

> "They set it up to make you think there was physical contact."

I don't see the point in doing this. If they can fake physical contact using chips or some fields, then I think with this technology, it's not difficult for them to arrange real physical contact. There are non-physical contactees, I know them, they are also contactees.

I talked to several ufologists. Some ufologists wonder:

> “Why arrange physical contact for her and waste resources?”

One says that perhaps they arrange physical contact for me through the chip, as if I were standing and “seeing” all this mentally with the help of the chip.

Another ufologist wrote that if they have such advanced chips that can fake reality for a person, then with such technologies it will not be difficult to make ordinary physical contact. This is equivalent, as he explained.

Let me remind you that according to the rules of contact I should not have physical evidence. This is what they told me:

> "If you're happy with that, we'll see them through."

This is a matter of faith. Who believes, who doesn't believe. Let everyone decide whether I have contacts or not, focusing on their heart and understanding. We never convince anyone of anything.

Timecode: 06:49, #453 Physical contact! Visit to the Planet of Outlaws. Interview with a prisoner from the planet Disnit.

With love to you, Irina Podzorova.

May, 2022

December 8, 2022

Visit to the Planet of Outlaws. Interview with a prisoner from the planet Disnit https://blog.cassiopeia.center/poseshchenie-planety-prestupnikov

I was in physical contact with my first curator, whose name is Kirchiton. He is from the planet Daraal. The volunteer of our Center who gave me a lift stopped quite far from the meeting place. I had to walk further so that the place of contact would not be known.

I arrived at the contact point and waited for 5-7 minutes. The plate now appears differently than before when I saw it. She appears under an invisible field.

I feel a tingling sensation in my shoulders and head. I raise my head, a light green beam shines from above. At first it looks like a star, then it grows and turns into a ray. The slight tingling sensation intensifies. Then he lifts me up, like on an elevator.

Kirchiton installed artificial gravity and a light beam in the ship. I haven't seen the ship since last year. You know, dear friends, outwardly he does not change. The way I remembered him last time is how he remained. Kirchiton has not changed either. Inside the ship there is the same room with a hatch in the floor, the same corridor several meters long, the same room in the shape of a mushroom. Three windows and the same chairs. With the same handles that are needed in zero gravity, and while there is no weightlessness, you sit as usual.

But there was still one innovation. Kirchiton was not alone. A biorobot emerged from one door and is now tasked with monitoring physical contacts. According to the Ashtar application that he submitted.

Now I don’t count (as I did the first time) to fifteen or something else, but I judge subjectively. Maybe less than a minute passed. I know that this time is necessary in order to move away from planet Earth and begin the gravitational jump. The gravitational jump itself occurs instantly. A minute, two or half a minute is spent moving away from the planet and approaching the planet using planetary engines.

Why is this necessary? Because the gravity drive cannot be turned on while in the vicinity of a large gravitational mass. It will not work or will not work correctly.

When we left the ship, there was no longer a beam. The door opened, there was a ladder in the floor, we went out. We didn’t go out to the surface of the planet, but like on the Moon in a hangar, I called it a “bunker”. A metal room with light gray walls. Several tall people greeted us. I later found out that they were Burkhadians.

There are a lot of representatives of the planets Burkhad, Esler, and Tikht working there. They work as criminal psychologists and their assistants. Security is provided by biorobots. As they explained to me, each criminal psychologist should have no more than four wards in his group.

Not everyone lives on Shalpor. Many people fly to work from another planet. As they explained to me, only a minority remains to live there. They have special rooms inside the planet, below the surface.

Criminals live on the surface of the planet in different settlements.

First, I asked questions and took out the notebook that I took with me.

We were met by three Burkhadians. The biorobot remained on Kirchiton's ship. By the way, the biorobot looks like an earthly person. Dressed in a gray ordinary suit, like a young man of about thirty, tall. You can't tell him apart from a person, although I understand that he is a biorobot. His voice is not “metallic”; he separates words very clearly, automatically making pauses in his speech, as if observing punctuation marks.

When I was lifted onto Kirchiton's ship, the biorobot, which must fly with every physical curator, asked me:

"Contacter, your contact voluntary?"

The robot was next to us to monitor the contact.

Kirkhiton said:

“You see how much contact I have, but now we have different rules. Physical curators are trusted, only now it is not enough to hand over records from the ship to the Interstellar Union about what happened to the contactee. To avoid abuse, there should be a biorobot nearby.”

This rule was adopted after the statement of Ashtar and our video about the “Union of Six”. When we went to the planet of criminals, the biorobot did not follow us and remained in the ship. Probably because the Burkhadians came out.

Kirchiton took with him a translator box that translates in a man’s low voice, very similar to Kirchiton’s voice. Translates my words into their language, and theirs into Russian. Because I don’t know Burkhadi, and they didn’t know Russian.

We talked, I asked questions and wrote down answers. Then they lifted me to the surface and took me to one of the buildings where the criminals live. They said that this was an exceptional case, because it turns out that criminals are not allowed to meet with anyone, even relatives.

I saw six spherical buildings that stood in a circle, at some distance another circle of buildings. The “street” between the buildings is lined with greenish diamond-shaped stones. Around the yard there are plants with round crowns and long blue leaves, among which clusters of white flowers are visible. I didn’t approach them, but saw them from afar.

Here are civilizations that are suitable for the conditions on this planet: oxygen and the absence of harmful impurities in the atmosphere. These settlements are for them.

Humanoids who need different conditions, a different atmosphere, are on the same planet, but on its other side, closer to the pole. For them, under the transparent domes, a suitable atmosphere and even gravity has been created. It turns out that they have the ability to locally change gravity in a particular area of the planet.

I wrote down that the planet of criminals is called Shalpor. It is located in the constellation

Aries, 737 light years from the Sun. The planet is approximately the size of Earth, maybe a little smaller. Gravity is approximately equal to Earth's, I did not feel the difference, although I was told that it is 15-17% less than on Earth. They said there are few bodies of water here. There are rivers and lakes, but no large oceans or seas. Almost the entire planet is occupied by land.

They said that she has two Suns. One Sun is very far away, the second is close.

When we reached the surface, I saw the sky was slightly orange. I was told that these were clouds. Behind them is a large orange Sun. When the clouds clear, it is clearly visible as a ball that is three times larger than ours.

When you look at the sky, an orange light breaks through the solid clouds from above, coloring everything around, like we do before sunset. Quite warm, even stuffy, like it happens before rain.

And the second sun, I was told, is white, but it is far away. One star revolves around another in six Earth years. As Kirchiton said, they rotate around a common center of mass.

1. “How many inhabitants of the planet are criminals?”

This was the first question. I wrote down the questions so I could read them, and then I wrote down the answer.

There are currently 318,342 humanoids from 117 civilizations on the planet Shalpor. I was told that the figure is insignificant, because the population of the Interstellar Union is several tens of trillions of humanoids.

There are criminals who pose a danger to society, and there are crimes for which one can be limited to a sanction at work or a fine. Here are those who are dangerous to society. There are currently 318,342 humanoid criminals on the planet. They live in 27 large settlements - colonies. There are smaller ones. There, in isolation, are those who violated internal rules. For example, they started fights or did something. They didn’t follow internal routines and didn’t go to work.

They told me how they were treated. There was a question:

2. “On average, how many people reform and return to society in an earthly year?”

Answer: Every year, on average, 10-20 humanoids arrive. Released 5-7. This is the average for the last 10 years.

It's not that easy to get out of there. It’s not like ours: you served time and that’s it, it’s more complicated there.

3. “Do prisoners take each other out of incarnation there, and what is the punishment for this?”

Answer: yes, this happens. They take each other out of incarnation because of some everyday quarrels, ideological differences, or settle old scores when they meet. The punishment for this is a punishment cell (in our earthly understanding), but for them it is not a separate cell, but a secluded place, which is located in a natural area. The killer is taken to special caves. There are many mountains on the planet, and there are caves in the mountains.

The humanoid killer is locked in a cave. Air enters it. There is an automatic supply of food and water. In absolute darkness and silence, the criminal must search for what he needs by touch. He has signs in the form of pebbles laid out on the wall indicating how you can get to the right place.

They explained to me that he could have food once a day on earth, and that’s how he would be given food.

They have prisoners from Disaru who are close to our physiology.

They can eat and leave waste products behind. If they don’t figure it out in the dark and do it somewhere else, they’ll just live with it.

Criminals in caves are given a minimum of water and food characteristic of their type. And complete sensory deprivation. There are no sounds or lights. Complete darkness and silence. Sensory deprivation lasts approximately 120 Earth days.

When they are left alone with themselves, as a criminal psychologist explained to me, they begin to realize how valuable life is. Not immediately, but within 120 days they have time to think about what they have done.

They remain alone with themselves, with their curators, with their Higher Self. Every living creature has an instinct: to seek light. If he remains in complete physical darkness and does not communicate with anyone, then he begins to look for it within himself.

They come out of the caves reborn, as I was told. They already realized that they had committed terrible violence.

The rules that if they kill someone, they will end up in caves, are announced on the very first day of the humanoids’ arrival on the planet. They become familiar with the rules.

They are also required to attend personal interviews with a criminal psychologist, who identifies the spiritual reasons for the crime. Together they are looking for ways to help him remove this negativity. If the convict does not come to the interviews, the criminal psychologist will write him a bad reference, and he will not be released even after the end of his prison term.

If the convict goes to meetings and shows interest in finding a common language with the psychologist, pretending that he understood everything, then the psychologist, by asking special questions, will reveal the true beliefs of the humanoid, understanding whether they have changed or not.

The most interesting thing is that they work in enterprises (factories) where they produce food for themselves, characteristic of their species. They only import raw materials, but do not produce anything special. They do everything for themselves. They even make dishes, clothes, and furniture. There are those who build houses for future settlers. The use of robots, unlike the Interstellar Union, is kept to a minimum. They have to get used to physical labor, which many have not heard of since childhood, since everything was done by robots. Such occupational therapy quickly brings them back to their senses. Many of them were accustomed to only pressing buttons; biorobots did everything for them.

What if they refuse to work? They have special food stamps, but not paper ones, but built into their chips. Therefore, after working for a day, the convict goes to a special canteen or to a place where he receives food using this coupon. And if he was not at work and did not fulfill a certain norm, he may be denied food that day. If someone shares it with him, the camera will record it, and he will be deprived of food.

Those who don't work there don't eat. They must fulfill certain standards, which are monitored by biorobots. They cannot be persuaded, intimidated or bribed. They have their own program.

All waste and garbage that remains is processed at special plants. They do everything themselves, including processing their waste products.

They also said that there are factories on the planet that produce something for the Interstellar Union. For example, parts for devices, for the same biorobots, any household items. Convicts do not receive wages like ordinary workers; they only work for food.

They are believed to be giving back to the society they have harmed.

They deliver only those materials that cannot be obtained on the planet. If possible, some minerals are mined and processed. Technologies are provided by the Interstellar Union, but a lot of manual labor is required.

When we rose to the surface of the planet, I saw six towers standing in a circle, quite high, maybe as tall as a 10-story building. We went inside one of them, there was a cylindrical elevator with dark red plastic walls. We got up and went out onto the platform.

By the way, each criminal lives in a separate, I don’t know if it can be called a room. Let's say in a separate sector. It doesn't lock (like a cell) because it's impossible to escape from there anyway. It is impossible to leave this planet.

In the sector we entered, there was a Disnit man sitting, and I asked him questions. The wider part of the room at the entrance narrows to a single round window, creating a small triangular-shaped space. Inside there is something similar to a shelf and a drawer where you can put a minimum of things. Tight space.

I asked:

“If the criminal is from the planet Disaru, with the physiology of earthlings, how much space will be allocated for him?”

Convicts have different heights. Answered:

"For the representative of Disaru, who is very similar to an earthling, 9 square meters are allocated."

It's a small room, but it's still separate. The condemned are not in front of each other. They meet, and then they can be with themselves. Why is this considered important? Because in the Interstellar Union it is believed that each creature needs its own personal space, which it will fill with its energy.

I asked if there were any attempts to leave the planet. No, it was not. If they somehow captured the ship, they would still be found very quickly based on the chips, no matter where they were.

Many civilizations in the Interstellar Union (IU) chip their inhabitants from childhood, such as the Eslerites, the Daraals, and so on. When representatives of civilizations that do not have chips enter the Planet of Criminals, they are given a special chip that tracks all their movements on the Planet of Criminals and in space. It is impossible to hide anywhere, even in a large city.

One of the criminal psychologists suggested to me:

“I heard about the Earth, although I have never been on it (this was translated by the translator box that Kirchiton gave me). I heard that on your planet criminals are kept in separate prisons. There they kill each other and get into fights. At the same time, there is a lot of unrecycled garbage on the planet that people throw away, which pollutes the environment. Why doesn’t your government introduce microchipping for those criminals who are in prison, and send them to clean up this garbage, sorting it into categories: plastic, glass, wood, and so on?”

That is, not to sit in prison, but to take them out to work in a garbage dump. I say that they will run away from there; it is very difficult to guard them. He says:

“Why protect them? Let them collect."

You can put the chip, as he said, next to the carotid artery, right behind it. If you try to remove the chip, arterial bleeding will begin.

Special microtechnologies are used in laboratories, which make it possible to insert chips even between two cells.

You can put it in the head, to the back of the head, from where it is impossible to pull it out. You never know where you can put a chip. For example, we don’t have separate chips, but we have them in bracelets. They are worn to track the movements of those under house arrest. They are very difficult to remove, although it may be possible to saw them through.

He says:

“There will be a lot of benefits. The planet will be cleansed, and criminals will receive occupational therapy. For many of them, since they have proud Souls, it will be humiliating to dig through garbage.

Firstly, it will reconcile them with reality, with the fact that the world is as it is. Because they will do the dirty work. When they do it, they will gradually understand that there is nothing terrible in it.

And second, they will appreciate life as it was before the crime was committed. Psychologists find that occupational therapy is helpful in helping them rethink the negative things they have done.”

There are four rooms on each floor where I was. Convicts live in large houses - cylindrical towers with separate rooms. Women's houses are separate from men's houses, although they may be in the same settlement.

I asked a criminal psychologist about marriages and having children. In order to prevent them from conceiving children while they live in the city, as they explained to me, their reproductive cells are specially blocked. For each race individually, either with a drug or with radiation. But this is temporary. The ability to reproduce is blocked along with the introduction of a chip with which they will be monitored.

The most common crime on the planets of the Interstellar Union is the abuse of power for one’s personal interests.

What do you mean in your own personal interests? For example, the ruler of the planet or part of it, of some country, passes a law that is not popular with the majority of the people. According to the law of the Interstellar Union, 50 humanoids must gather and write a written protest to him that this law violates the rights of the majority. The ruler must consider the protest within a certain time. If he agrees with this, then he changes the law. If he doesn't agree, he refuses them (he says that everything is fine), then 50 humanoids of the initiative group can put forward demands that he call early elections. Perhaps the president of some planet passed a law to announce early elections for himself or another politician.

He is obliged to hold elections in a short time, announcing that the initiative group is not satisfied with the law and they demand early elections. If he wins the election, the initiative group loses the opportunity to contact him again on the same issue.

If he refuses to hold elections or tries to interfere with the work of the initiative group, they report to the planet Burkhad. There is a "Department for Monitoring Political Processes". The President is removed from power and, if there has been some serious offense, they are sent to the Planet of Criminals. There is an article "Abuse of political power" (not in public interests, but in personal ones).

Scientists who conduct experiments with negative consequences can also end up on the planet of criminals. Not only on planets that were not included in the Interstellar Union, but also with their inhabitants. Crimes such as murder, rape, theft, I was told, are few there.

They don't have judges as we understand them. It is, rather, a court of a group of humanoids, which necessarily includes a relative of the crime victim and a relative of the criminal.

They talk with the offender, ask him questions about why he did it. Through voting and negotiations, a verdict is reached: how long to sentence him. This is a preliminary deadline.

Convicts who received a verdict of life imprisonment currently account for 32% of all prisoners.

But they can still be released. To do this, the criminal psychologist needs confirmation that the damage to his Soul has been corrected, and he is now safe for society. The convict will have to convince a criminal psychologist of this, who has seen many such humanoids. The psychologist will work, among other things, with his Higher Self.

If a psychologist releases someone, writing a conclusion that he has changed, but he will commit a crime again and will be unreliable for society, then it is possible to investigate the psychologist's activities and remove him from work. And in some cases, if conspiracy is proven, the psychologist himself will end up with Shalpor, but as a criminal.

By the number of convicts, the planets: Tikht, Disnit, Tashig and Orshkars (this is a colony of Tumesout, located in the constellation Ophiuchus) occupy a larger percentage on this planet.

They do not have the death penalty. Convicts may change psychologists during their sentence. One criminal psychologist will leave, another will come in his place, get acquainted with the Case and will continue to work with him.

Criminal psychologists and their clients must constantly meet, talk, and study their worldview. They have a whole system there.

4. “Are there juvenile criminals there, and how are they dealt with? At what age can you get there?

The Burkhad resident answered, he is a criminal psychologist. He has been working there for the last five hundred and twenty years.

There are no juvenile delinquents here. Only an adult can get here according to the laws of the planet. On each planet, there is a certain age at which a humanoid is considered an adult, responsible for his actions, working, and completing a course of primary education.

That's how he explained it to me.

I asked how you deal with juvenile delinquents, do you have such on the planet of the Interstellar Union? He said it was possible. They are brought up in a special school on their planet, where they committed an offense. Child forensic psychologists work with them.

5. “How many years are they imprisoned for murder, violence, corruption?”

As a criminal psychologist explained to me, they do not have specific deadlines. For murder, 10-15 years or some other time. The term will depend on the verdict of the humanoids who interrogate the criminals. The group includes a criminal psychologist, a humanoid who was investigating the crime, relatives of the crime victim or the victim herself, if she is alive, relatives of the criminal, and there may be work colleagues who ask questions and then decide on the period of isolation.

I was told that if they give 15 Earth years for murder, then before the end of this period he talks with a criminal psychologist. If the psychologist characterizes that the prisoner has realized his crime, then he can be released. If he served 15 years and did not realize anything, and a criminal psychologist writes that spiritual work was not carried out, then he will remain indefinitely.

I was told that the verdicts are indicative, the deadlines are preliminary. As long as the convicted person needs to reform, he will remain in prison for as long. Automatically, upon reaching the preliminary, indicative deadline, no one is released.

6. “Can an innocent person be imprisoned?”

He was surprised. He said that a thorough investigation of the crime is being carried out. Work is underway with the Higher Self of the criminal. If there is the slightest doubt about guilt, the conclusion is not used, but the investigation continues. That's what they told me.

Next I'll tell you about the Disney guy I asked. He was a little shorter than me, white skin and an oval head. About appearance we can say this: a square body, long arms and legs, and eyes, like two black coals, absolutely black, without pupils.

I've already seen them. First, a criminal psychologist from Burkhad told me that criminals should not see anyone except criminal psychologists. But they will make an exception for the contactee. When we walked in, I saw a shelf and a drawer.

The shelf seemed to be made of plastic, and I put the box on it. I went inside the room, and the criminal psychologist and Kirkhiton stood behind. We couldn't fit all of us in the room. They stood in the corridor, at the door, the door was open, and everyone heard our conversation.

I introduced myself and asked:

"What is your name?"

He said:

"Harish Trum".

This is how the auto-translator translated it, although the sounds were different. I asked:

“What did you do and what prompted you to do this?”

I didn't write it down because we didn't have much time.

Harish said that he was a member of a criminal group (such a criminal was specially chosen for me) that operated 82 years ago. He has been in prison for 82 years.

Their lifespan is about 500 years.

I asked:

“What did you do and what prompted you to do this?”

He replied that he was a member of a criminal group that participated in the kidnapping of earthlings. He was in cahoots with an alien from the Order of Six, with some Tashigans, with Disnit and Selbet people. Two Selbet men who were at the base (on Pluto) forged cards and documents that allowed entry into a seemingly empty ship. And he was with the kidnapped earthlings.

They said there were more than 300 abducted. They were not killed, but transported to a planet in the Centaurus constellation. They wanted to create a race out of them, add their genes and train them, and then create a group of influence. Then return their children to Earth so that they can enter our government and change the laws.

They were caught and the Disnit man was sent to Shalpor.

All the people who were found on that planet were returned to Earth. The memory was erased because psychological trauma was caused.

I asked:

"How did your group get caught?"

He said there were about 300 gang members. A new member joined the group, who turned out to be an intelligence officer. He followed them, found out who lived where, and then told the Galaxy Security Service.

I'm asking:

“Whose genes were used?”

He replies that it’s not the Disnit people, but the “Order of the Six” and the Selbet people. They agreed. There were five leaders of the criminal group. He was not a leader, he was a performer.

A criminal psychologist told me that sometimes such criminal plans are revealed and humanoids end up on the Planet of Outlaws. I speak:

“My handlers from the Interstellar Union don’t really like to talk about it.”

He responded:

“They are scientists, not very familiar with the criminal chronicles of the Galaxy. You need to talk to the intelligence services, they are doing this. Who are your curators? Astrophysicists, biologists, physicists. It’s not their area of interest, it lowers their vibration if they become familiar with it.”

“What prompted you to do this, why did you join this group?”

He replied:

"I wanted to help change the laws on Earth to be fairer."

He believed them and sincerely wanted to help. They did not say that they would harm earthlings, but only that they would change power:

“We will gradually introduce this planet into the Interstellar Union. The Earth will be with the Interstellar Union. The government of the Interstellar Union is doing this very slowly, which is why people are suffering. We will speed up this process."

That is, they were, as it were, for justice.

“Did you know that you could be sent to the Outlaw Planet?”

He replied:

“Yes, of course, I knew it was a crime. We violated the rules of contact. Nobody asked permission."

They selected people based on some kind of genetic profile, as he explained. He was one of the scientists who took the tests. Researched genetic profile. If a person did not suit them, they simply erased his memory and let him go.

They selected those people who did not have hereditary diseases, hereditary brain pathologies, so that the genetic profile corresponded to the norm. They were interested in representatives of the European race specifically, so that there were no other genetic profiles.

He said that he knew everything, but in order to help the Earth, as he then understood it, he committed a crime.

“How did your parents and friends react to this when they found out?”

He told me that they reacted negatively. I asked:

“What was the negative?”

He said:

“The last time I talked to them, they tried to persuade me to confess everything and tell about the other members of the group. They thought it was a crime. They didn't understand. My parents were scientists. They are very law-abiding and far from understanding the changes in society in such a way as to go against the law.”

“Do the staff of the Planet of Criminals help you understand the spiritual causes of crime and take the path of correction? How do they do this, with what methods?”

He said that he was sentenced to approximately 115 of our earthly years (114 years and 8 months). His deadline hasn't come yet. He said it had only been 82 years. He has good contact with a criminal psychologist and a spiritual mentor. He said yes, they help him understand.

I asked:

“What did you realize?”

He realized that the laws of the Interstellar Union, which he violated, were not invented in vain. Not for humanity to suffer, but for humanity to become independent.

The group’s intervention was to introduce people with altered DNA and brought up in the MS into influence groups whose goal was to change the laws in an artificial way. Only they still would not have been able to change the laws, because the egregors of the planet were not ready for high-vibration laws. They would simply reject them.

I’m speaking now in my own words, as I remember. He explained that in the physical world this would manifest itself. For example, an uprising would be launched by those people who did not accept these laws, because society is not ready. He also realized that each society must, in an evolutionary way, install a ruler who will lead them to the Light. And for this, the entire society must first realize where this Light is.

I asked:

“So you understand that you can’t force yourself into heaven?”

He explained to me what heaven is. Even the Burkhadian laughed.

I'm asking:

“In what ways do employees help?”

He talks to a criminal psychologist. He said that the psychologist did not exert any pressure, but asked why he did it, what goals he pursued.

Then the psychologist asked special questions: “The law that you violated, why was it adopted? Was the law passed to harm someone?” Such questions are needed to explain to yourself the meaning of the law that you violated.

He said that the psychologist connected him with the Higher Self. They also have such a practice. The criminal asked his Higher Self where - he did not say block - he said "incorrect erroneous illusory mental belief" that led him to destructive actions. Where did it originate, at what point, how to fix it? That is, they are working on it.

I asked him three more questions.

“If you returned to the Interstellar Union, would you do the same thing?”

He said:

"No, I've already changed."

I speak:

“So, are you ready to go out now?”

He says:

“If I had submitted an official request to be released, perhaps my criminal psychologist would have signed his consent, his resolution, his conclusion. But I don’t want to do it ahead of schedule because I think I should be here.”

He perceives the conclusion as a lesson and does not want to leave early.

His awareness (as I understood him) at the moment is such that everything assigned to him by spiritual mentors in the Spiritual world through people, judges, that verdict, the term is for him from the Higher powers. And it’s not for him to change that. He has this conviction.

I asked a question:

“Have you realized your mistake, have you committed metanoia?”

I explained to him that metanoia is a change in the mind. He didn't say yes or no. He said:

“On the way to it. I don't think I would have done that again. So, I think I've realized it. I took such an action, despite the laws of the Interstellar Union, which I knew from childhood. We have been studying them since childhood. What are the laws, why were they adopted, what benefits do they bring. If I didn’t look at this knowledge, it means I missed something. I am very critical of myself now. I don’t think I would have done this.”

And the last thing I asked him:

“What would you wish for earthlings?”

Yes, earthlings, especially those in your position, only on Earth. He asked me a little about why people get caught on Earth more often. I said that for theft, for murder most often.

He wanted to convey to earthlings his wish that they would never repeat his path in the sense that it is difficult to see oneself as less than ideal.

Appeal

“When you make a mistake and you are responsible for it, you start to be disappointed in yourself. To avoid having to do this, you must, before taking any action, compare it with your life goals for implementation. Crime was not my life's goal.

If you don’t have priorities in the Spiritual world, then you can very easily fall into the trap of your delusions, which can lead you far from the Light into destruction.”

Then we returned to the ship, Kirchiton brought me back.

The plate does not fall to the ground. I'm just standing next to the hatch. The same beam shines on me from the ceiling, then the hatch opens, the beam lifts me from the floor, lowers me into the hatch and onto the ground.

If you look from the side, it glows with a greenish light, and it seems that the beam is coming from an empty place and the person is simply rising or falling. This happens quickly, but not instantly.

Then I got to the car and drove home. So, dear friends, this was my journey. I asked the Burkhadian to come to our conference. Perhaps he will have questions on his topic. He is a criminal psychologist.

You can ask questions about how crimes are investigated, what approximate time frames are given, and what principles of justice they have. You can say a criminal psychologist is a lawyer who knows their criminal laws. He told me that I could start presenting the codes of the Interstellar Union.

START OF THE JOURNEY

Related video: #380 PHYSICAL CONTACT! Visit to the Draco planet Shentricussa - the capital of the "Union of Six"!

With love to you, Irina Podzorova.

May, 2022

December 26, 2022

Spacewalk a couple of light years away from the Pleiades cluster

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vyhod-v-otkrytyj-kosmos

September 2, 2018 Kirchiton took me to the Pleiades star cluster. Protective suits immediately fell on us, and then Kirchiton took me by the hand and dragged me through the air to the exit.

By the way, I can’t understand why Kirchiton walks around the ship calmly, despite weightlessness.

Photo from Irina Podzorova's diary

The hatch in the floor was already open, he lowered me into it, slightly pushing me in the back. I found myself in outer space and the first thing I saw were multi-colored unblinking stars. They were everywhere around me, and under my feet I saw a huge and very bright oval-shaped star cluster.

It featured seven large bright stars and an infinite number of smaller ones. I looked back and was surprised to see that the “plate” was moving away. At the first second, I thought that Kirchiton had abandoned me here and was flying away, from this thought my heart immediately began to beat strongly and my temples pounded unpleasantly. The next moment I saw Kirchiton, who was hovering next to the hatch of the “saucer”; I felt very good and relieved that I was not alone in space.

I heard Kirchiton's voice, he said:

Everything is fine. Fly away, it's safe. Below is the Pleiades star cluster, about two light years from here.

I asked:

Why did you stay there?

He replied:

You'd better be alone among the stars. When you realize that you want to return, press the middle of your left palm.

I turned away from the “plate” and began to look at the stars, but for some reason I didn’t find a single familiar constellation.

After some time, I saw that the “plate” had become the size of a matchbox, and Kirchiton was not visible at all. I was surprised because I didn’t feel any movement at all and decided to return to the ship.

When I pressed the middle of my left palm, my body turned to face the ship, and from the suit, in the chest area, a white beam stretched towards it. He pulled me onto the ship, and after a few seconds I found myself next to the hatch, near which Kirchiton was still hovering.

I flew into the hatch and stopped in the middle of the room. Hovering between the floor and the ceiling, I was surprised to see that the door to the corridor leading to the cabin was closed. Kirchiton flew after me, but sank to the floor, getting to his feet, the hatch in the floor immediately disappeared.

He took me by the hand and pulled me into the cabin, like children dragging a balloon. The door to the corridor opened, simply going into the wall, and we found ourselves in the cabin. The protective suit I was wearing split into two halves, rose up and disappeared.

It seemed to me that the ceiling in front of him opened for a moment and then closed. Kirchiton sat me on a chair, I grabbed the handles on the sides and began to hold on. Then he walked up to the computer, turned his back to me, and after a few minutes the weightlessness ended. Coming out of the “plate”, I found myself at the point of contact. The spaceship immediately flew away, and I went home.

April 24, 2023

Breaking news. Flying saucer shot down over Ukraine

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/sbita-letayushchaya-tarelka-nad-ukrainoj

On April 19, at ten o'clock in the evening local time, a spaceship belonging to a representative of the planet Futissa (Pleiades), which is the capital of the Galactic Federation of Light, was shot down over the territory of the Kyiv region in Ukraine.

The ship's pilot, biologist, sociopsychologist and specialist in conflict management and crisis psychology, Griar Murati, independently, without the approval of his leadership, decided to make open physical contact with representatives of the political and military leadership of Ukraine.

When the ship's anti-radar and photon protections were removed, it was discovered by the military using radar, and two military fighters of the Ukrainian Armed Forces flew out to intercept it.

Despite the lack of aggressive actions on the part of Futissa's representative, his ship was hit by an air-to-air missile and was forced to land on an anti-gravity beam in the Kyiv region. After some time, the damaged spaceship was surrounded by the military, who arrested the alien from the planet Futissa and took his interplanetary vehicle away from the scene of the accident.

After a day and a half of the alien scientist’s stay on the territory of Ukraine, he was secretly moved to the United States for interrogations and research.
Currently, he is in constant astral communication with representatives of the Galactic Federation of Light and the Interstellar Union, who through him came into contact with representatives of the US military-political elite.

They announced their demands for the release of the interplanetary scientist: the urgent provision of military technologies for a significant advantage in the fight against the Russian Federation.

For ethical reasons, representatives of the Galactic Federation of Light and the Interstellar Union cannot agree to such conditions.

As of April 24, 2023, a representative of the planet Futissa is in the USA, in an underground bunker and receives from earthlings all the necessary resources for survival. Military doctors and scientific psychologists constantly interrogate him and examine his body.

Negotiations on the terms of his release are ongoing.

Timecode link: 18:18, #559 https://www.youtube.com/live/H-NjpG7BsV4?feature=share&t=1098

Raom Tiyan is a representative of the planet Burhad, a specialist in energy interactions in the environment.

April 23, 2023

May 10, 2023

Irina Podzorova visited the alien base under Lake Baikal

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/irina-posetila-bazu-inoplanetyan-pod-bajkalom

I waited for Kirchiton for about 10 minutes. He appeared: a star appeared, lit up above me. At first I thought there was some kind of flash, but then I realized that I was being lifted up. I was just holding the phone in my hands, I wanted to check the time. At that moment it went out, I put it away, I had my purse with me. I found myself on board the ship.

He has a new modification of the plate, much larger, with an artificial gravity device. Everything went as usual, I sat down on a chair. Kirchiton said that we agreed to fly to the Tikhtian base. We had a conversation about visiting the Pleiadian base, which is also on Baikal, but he said that this would be another time, because most likely we would not have time. Even earlier, in mental contact, I told him what questions I had, or rather, we all had. I told him who sent these questions. He said:

“Okay, then we will visit the base of the planet Tikht, especially since it belongs to the Interstellar Union.”

This is Futissa's base, but there are other civilizations there, they own it equally.

I sat down and began to look out the window. I want to say that in this new dish the windows are no longer as high as they were in the last one, where I could not reach. And in this one, sitting on a chair, I could look out the window, not to look out completely, but at eye level.

Weightlessness, of course, could not exist there, because we did not leave the Earth. I started asking:

“Where are we flying now?”

He says:

“We are flying above the Earth at an altitude of 55 km, no more. We have a special plasma field that protects us from detection by various aircraft and radars. The radar detector is on."

This allows radio signals to be modified so that they indicate absence.

It seemed to me that we flew for two or three minutes - no more than five minutes, in any case. I managed to tell him about the questions and look out the window. And when I looked out the large round window, the ground was not visible. Only the stars were visible. I saw dots and realized that they were stars. They flew back quickly, quickly, as if you were on a train. I had to stand up to see the ground. I couldn't see her. Then I realized that the stars had disappeared. Not black, but gray space and white small bubbles appeared. I asked:

"What it is?"

He replied that we had entered the waters of Lake Baikal because the entrance to the base was underwater. Before entering the water, in a few tens of seconds, 20-25, he must fly as close to the water as possible and turn off the plasma field, which protects against overloads and birds, so that they feel it and are safe. And, as he said, from small particles. It happens that a meteorite or space debris falls, this quite often happens when it burns up in the upper atmosphere. And we were flying where he could hit us. And the most important thing is that this field slows down inertia, that is, during sharp braking, a person will not feel anything. I asked:

“Which engine is on?”

"Atmospheric".

Previously, he told me on what principle the atmospheric engine is based. It is based on the principle of repulsion and attraction of the Earth's gravitational field. To the Earth's magnetic field - a planetary engine. The Earth’s gravitational field is an intra-atmospheric engine, and plus it can fly higher or lower, and can hover in one place. He does this by controlling a field that screens gravity, either attracts or repels, or looks for inhomogeneities in the gravitational field. As he said, they always exist and depend on the terrain, the quantity and quality of the earth’s rocks.

I was surprised when Kirchiton came up to me, and did not stand near the table with cutlery. He said he turned on automatic control. I just set the trajectory, and it controls itself.

He said that we had already gone under water. I asked him:

“What are these bubbles?”

He replied that he should turn off the plasma field 20-25 seconds before entering the water, so as not to heat the water and harm the fish. It has a very high temperature, and water can boil over many tens of meters.

I also asked him:

“If the plasma field was turned on, how could I see the stars?”

And he says that the ship, when its plasma field is turned on, reads the surrounding space and somehow transmits, although there is a plasma field outside.

I tell him:

“I’m supposed to see the plasma field?”

He replied that they could be switched, and that then I would see a bright, white light. Or you can close it altogether. Then it will just be a wall. Or you can turn on a real image of where you are flying.

When we were flying, I asked him:

“How are these images transmitted? It’s not a TV, it’s a window?”

He replied that the window has built-in elements that read the image from the computer and transmit it.

Kirchiton looked the same as before: three meters tall, no neck, dark gray skin color. Three eyes: two yellow, one red. Since he has no neck, he turns with his whole body. Nose - two holes. Mouth with thin lips. The ears are also like two holes without auricles. No hair. Five fingers on each hand.

As soon as we entered the water, I asked about the bubbles. He says:

“Since we enter the water quickly, the air follows us, and immediately goes up in the form of bubbles, and you see it.”

Less than a minute passed. I only had time to ask this, he answered me, and then again everything became dark outside the window. And after a few seconds Kirchiton told me:

"Let's go out!"

I didn’t even feel the takeoff and stop, it didn’t happen.

When we came out, I saw, in my own words, it did not look like a cave, like, for example, on the lunar base. It looked like some kind of metal garage. This space is maybe three times larger than our room. In addition to the plate, there was some kind of device that looked like a spider. As they later explained to me, it was a robot. He had mechanical legs and was about just above my knee height. It was standing somewhere in the corner. There was one plate. The floor was also metal, made of some kind of gray sheets, but it was clearly metal. The ceiling was made of metal, not shiny, dull. Both the walls and the floor.

This is the base of the Tikhtians. The planet Tikht is located in the constellation Sculptor. They are part of the Interstellar Union, which I visited before in 2018, I have an article about it.

Kirchiton told me that the entrance to the base is on the slope, there is one of the entrances somewhere on the shore, and there is one of the entrances at the bottom.

Without suits, we walked up the stairs from the plate; it already stood on four supports. The plate itself was also the same metallic color, but it was lighter than the walls. I looked again: the light came from nowhere, as if without lamps, without anything, without lanterns. It smelled, it seemed to me, of some kind of dampness, like raw metal, I call it. It was as if rain was falling on the roof, that's the smell.

The water pressure is no more than the earth pressure; they have some bases in the coastal area.

Kirchiton came out first, I followed him. I felt a wet smell and said:

"Where are we? Are we at the bottom of Lake Baikal?

And he says:

"No. We're at the bottom. They'll tell you everything. I haven't studied this database in detail; where is it located, at what depth. I think the specialist who works here will tell you now. Only he doesn't know either Russian or Daraal, so I have a translator."

The translator is a box like a player, the size of half a battery, dark in color, flat, 2-3 cm wide. And he said that this translator is already configured in advance not for the Daraal language, but for Russian, because he and I understand it. He said that the Russian language is embedded, and that they have special programs that will directly translate from Tikhtian into Russian and vice versa. Tikhtian is also programmed, and they are programmed to translate for each other. This will be in the form of sounds that will come out of this box. I immediately asked him how it catches it. He said that with the help of special programs, like in virtual reality, that is, like our computer programs. They are not only a voice, they also recognize words and the meaning embedded in them.

We stood near the plate, I was opposite Kirkhiton, we were talking, there was a bright white light everywhere, but I noticed that it was not as bright as, for example, Kirkhiton on the ship. It's dimmer there. And I noticed that on all sides there was not even a distinct shadow. And the light was not so bright, as if dimmed.

I was paying attention to all this, talking with Kirchiton, and to my left I heard a sound, like metal clanking on metal. It rang, and seemed to be grinding, but quiet. I turned my head, Kirchiton turned. And I saw that instead of one of the walls (it was probably about five meters away from us), there was already a doorway in the shape of an arch, and two Tikhtians were standing. Now I'll tell you what they looked like.

When I saw them I said:

"Kirchiton, I forgot to ask you, how did we get here? There doesn't seem to be a hole here, not even an opening. Did we get here through some kind of well?"

He says:

"No. There is a passage, but it is not in the ceiling, but in one of the walls. There is such a tunnel there, it was simply closed so that the water pressure would not squeeze anything out here, no dirt, no water. It closes immediately."

Some kind of system pumps out water (from the system in this tunnel) and then closes it. He said that there was such a pipe there. It's all automatic.

Appearance of the Tikhtians

We headed towards two standing Tikhtians. These are the Tikhtians, to whom I flew to their planet for the first time, they looked like this: they had white skin, like the Burkhadians, but the difference was that they had such a triangular head. A wide forehead and chin, like a triangle, and big blue eyes, like glasses. They are huge, somewhat square. They were about to my chest.

And these also had white skin, but they were even a little taller than me, but not like Kirchiton. They had a different head shape, more oval, also blue eyes, but they were narrower, not so square, but rectangular. The nose protruded slightly above the face, like a tubercle, and a small mouth.

Tikhtians. On the left is a sketch by Irina Podzorova. On the right is the author of the images Madina, according to descriptions by Irina Podzorova

I said:

"Hello!"

But they just nodded and didn't say anything. Kirchiton said that now they are taking us to someone with whom we can talk.

I tell him:

“Why did you take me to other Tikhtians? Somehow they are not very similar.”

He says:

“There are more than 20 races on this planet Tikht, I don’t remember exactly. There are more than 20 different “nationalities”, they differ from each other in the structure of their eyes and height. Now you just see others, a different race, not the one I took you to.”

We went through the arch, and there was, like, a tunnel, for some reason it was dark red. At first I thought it was a brick, but it was some kind of metal. I touched him. It was warm and felt metallic. Kirchiton was walking, I stopped to touch. He stopped next to me. I speak:

“What kind of rust is this, is it rusted from water or something?”

He said:

“No, it’s just such an alloy.”

We followed the Tikhtians. We walked along the corridor, maybe 15 steps. I didn’t even notice how, without turning anywhere, we saw in front of us another arch and the entrance to a room where in the middle there was a square table, at which several Tikhtians were sitting. There were five or six of them. And, by the way, three of them definitely had square eyes, with big blue eyes. That first race from Tikht that I talked about. They looked at us, didn’t stand up, and said something to each other. And when they speak, their sounds come out abruptly, like some kind of chirping, that is, the letters P and T, as if connected. Somehow there are not enough vowels there, it seemed to me. And their tone of voice was similar to earthly, like a whisper, but it was, like, with such tension. You had to listen when they spoke.

Then we went to the table. The “director” of the base was sitting there, he pointed to a place, I wouldn’t call it a chair, but one with a back, like a chair. The size suited my height. You sit down calmly, it was also light gray in color. It reminded me of the chairs that Kirchiton used to have on the ship. It was also like plastic, it also did not separate from the floor, only there was no wall, it just sat at a table. Opposite, sat a Tikhtian who was tall, taller than me, that second race, as I call them, with narrow blue eyes. By the way, no matter how hard I looked, they don’t have pupils, just like the color blue.

I sat down, Kirchiton stood next to me to the right and put the translator box on the table. When he said it was okay to talk, I started first. I said:

“Hello, my name is Irina. I'm from planet Earth. I have a few questions for you. I welcome you to your base. I say hello to you. I am a contactee for Kirchiton. We have a project called Cassiopeia.

While I was talking, he sat and was silent. And then, as soon as I said the last word, a set of sounds, like a crackling sound, began to be heard from this box. To be honest, it didn’t remind me much of the ones they used to talk to each other. Firstly, it was louder, and somehow in a different tone. But, nevertheless, he sat there and listened. It made several sounds similar to a crack, the same, but only quieter. And then a voice was heard from the box, somewhat reminiscent of Kirchiton, but only in Russian, a male voice, only not so low. And he clearly separated words from each other, as if not a person speaks, but like a machine.

This reminded me of how I talked to Mitya, it was the same, only a different tone, it seemed to me.

This voice said:

“I welcome you, you can ask your questions.”

I am talking now". I had my purse with me, I took a notepad with me in which I could write down questions and answers so as not to forget anything. I take a notepad with me because the phone there does not work on extraterrestrial objects, on a plate, and everywhere Kirchiton took me, the phone did not work.

And I also want to tell you that for the first time in 21 years of contact, Kirchiton physically took me to the Earth base. Before that, he had never taken me there, to any base at all, physically. To the center of the Galaxy, to Burkhad - yes, but to the base - no.

I asked him:

“This is the base of your civilization, and how many other bases of your civilization are there on Earth? And where exactly?

He told me that there are 15 Tikhtian bases in total on Earth. There is one on the Moon - a big one, that is, there are small ones here. He told me that there is on Baikal, there is also in the Arkhangelsk region, in Northern Tibet, somewhere off the coast of Japan, near Antarctica (I wrote it down), South America, the Southeast Pacific Ocean, southern Germany and the Northeastern USA.

He listed a few for me and I wrote them down. Then I asked:

“What are the functions of this base?”

I wrote everything that the translator said. When it turned off (I shortened the words to write it down), everyone was silent until I wrote it down.

He said:

“Monitor the environmental situation on Lake Baikal and in the Baikal region. Look for contactees and establish contact with them (meaning both physical and astral). Study plasmoids, that is, open portals and walk through these portals, study them.”

They also have the task of contacting not only people in third density, but also earthly plasmoids. They contact and talk to them. They may have such an alliance, that is, they consider them also inhabitants of our planet.

“Ensure environmental safety, clean up nature and restore it without direct intervention.”

Without any chemical influences. That is, the maximum is some kind of microorganisms, something else that can live in the natural environment. What cannot be considered as the effect of presence and interference in this system. These are their rules.

Next, I asked him:

“And for what reason did you choose this particular place? This particular lake and this particular place on the lake?”

He gave me this answer:

“Here is the most energetically favorable place, because this space was charged for us by friendly earthly forms of plasmoids. They filled this place with energies so that we could feel comfortable being in this part of space, so that the noosphere of the Earth would not so influence our auras and auric structures. And they charged the plasmoids for us for 280 Earth years, they prepared the space in this way, and we built the base itself in 1993.”

It took five Earth months to build.

I asked:

“And how many people are there, your people – employees? And what planets are they from?

He replied:

“The permanent staff is 40 employees, all of them are from Ticht, but guests from different worlds often come. And not only from the Interstellar Union, but also from the Galactic Federation of Light. We have a special compartment for these guests, where they can stay for several days, creating their own conditions.”

They can create the level of humidity and oxygen for themselves in some closed compartment.

I asked:

“What is the area of the base, and what, and how many rooms?”

He just listed it to me. Now I will read:

“The area is 2480 square meters, plus the hangar is 470 square meters.”

Kirchiton later told me that the one where we were was a small fenced-off compartment, and the hangar was the main one for their saucers.

“Premises for workers – 40 (each has their own), for guests – 7, technological premises – 3, office premises – 5, warehouses – 2, rooms for healing and leisure – 6, greenhouse – 1, control and gathering center for everyone, as council - 1."

Next I asked:

“What protection against penetration? What is it based on?

He said this:

“Protection - entry and exit only using digital codes, which are stored by me (the head of the base, Lags Rhumir). An automatic system for reading codes from electromagnetic fields that create rays. These rays themselves find a sensor underwater at a certain place on the bottom (the sensor that will read), the coordinates of which change once every 12 hours.”

He said his name. His name is Lags Rhumir. At least he made some similar sounds. They didn’t sound like that, they were shorter, and the “l” was different, I can’t reproduce it. But the translator translated it that way. By scientific specialty he is a biologist-oceanologist. I also thought, as I understand it, this word was just translated, and he was just studying water bodies there.

They have such a double protection system. Nobody knows anything. Kirchiton, by the way, was told within a few hours where this sensor was located and the code so that he could visit the base.

I speak:

“Kirchiton, you didn’t enter anything?”

He says:

“I immediately introduced it into the ship, I have a device that creates this beam that reads.”

They are all standard, these readers. The main thing is to know the coordinates and enter the code. And everything will happen automatically. The code is very complex, it consists of 16 numbers and 5 symbols, mixed in a chaotic order - you won't guess it.

Then I asked:

"What is your source of energy?"

The answer was:

The energy source is a hydrogen engine with a capacity of about five thousand of your megawatts. It extracts energy.

He told me, and I wrote it down when the box started talking.

The energy source is a hydrogen engine with a power of about five thousand of your megawatts. It extracts energy from the bond of hydrogen and oxygen atoms. And the connections of water molecules with each other, partially. By directing special fields, a chain reaction begins. Atoms repel each other instead of attracting each other. But their microgravity does not have time to return to the third level of these atoms. It accumulates in special batteries made of an iridium alloy with gold and lead, which is created using a molecular lattice. And this energy can be converted into any type of electromagnetic fields and other material energies in special devices.

The next question I asked was whether there were earthly contactees here besides me.

He replied:

There were no physical earthly contactees here. You're here first. We have been in the astral body several times.

Then I asked if there were weapons at the base, and what kind. Show me if there is one.

He said:

We do not have weapons, as such, because we have a scientific base. But there are items that can replace it if necessary. For example, stone cutters.

I then asked Kirchiton. These are the ones used to cut stones and were used in Antarctica. There are stone cutters and electromagnetic fields that paralyze the central nervous system in mammals, including humans. And they can also be created as a protective plasma field, if necessary. The creation time for such fields is less than two milliseconds.

Meals for Tikhtians at the base

When I asked what you eat, he gave me an interesting answer. I'll read it now.

The food is partly imported, partly local. They bring automatic ships, like robots, with no people on them. Automatic robot ships are brought from a base on the Moon or from other bases. This food is the standard diet for omnivorous humanoids. What suits us is puree (as translated) from algae and shellfish, enriched with a special protein powder. Drinks – juices from local berries. For example, watermelons, cloudberries and blueberries.

Also in the greenhouse we have plantations of puffball mushrooms from your planet, which our biorobots prepare for us on special heating platforms without open fire. We also like crushed young pine, cedar, and spruce cones mixed with seaweed instead of seasoning. They contain copper and phytoncides, which are beneficial for our brain and cleansing filters.

Then Kirchiton explained to me that this is an analogue of the liver and kidneys at the same time.

Working hours, life of Tikhtians at the base

Then I asked how the humanoids live on the base. What do they do, how do they work, what is their routine.

He told me this:

Humanoids live according to a flexible schedule. All technical and household work is performed by biorobots. You can bring robots from any other planets, and your own personal biorobots. That is, everyone can have their own. The duration of one watch is 48 Earth months. Then a vacation of 15 months.

Then I asked, how do you bathe and go to the toilet?

He said:

We bathe and go to the toilet in special sanitary compartments. Each room has its own. They are separated. All biological and technical waste is processed in the technical department in special devices into safe or even useful substances. For example, chains of essential amino acids, the powder of which can be added to food or fed to fish, depending on need. Water and oxygen are obtained from outside, but are purified through special filters.

The depth of this base is 322 meters. Partly under the bottom, partly under land.

I asked, is there any similarity between this base and ancient bases, for example, the one that was under Olympus?

He said this:

Modern bases have more advanced protection systems against detection and penetration. There are no other significant differences.

Then I asked to tell about myself.

He said:

I am the head of the base. My name is Laagos Rhomir. I am 448 earth years old. I am a biologist-oceanologist. This is my fifth watch here. This is my first time leading. I have three earthly months left before my vacation.

He was first an employee, and now a manager.

Next I asked. Do the earthly authorities know about your base?

The earthly authorities know nothing about this base. At least, there were no attempts to penetrate or other emergency situations during my watches, as well as others known to me.

Then he also told me this. It was like a continuation, but I wrote it down just in case. There was no such question, but for some reason he said so.

On the basis of 65 biorobots, 2 planetary spacecraft and 25 atmospheric mini-probes. Water depth mini-probes – 190.

Planetary ships move on a planetary engine. I asked him how they were flying home.

He says:

To do this, you need to fly to the Moon, and there already on a passenger ship, which often fly there.

It turns out that passenger ships are flying to the Moon.

I asked what you plan to do next on this base? He specified for how long. I'm talking about the next year, for example.

He said this:

Continue to clean Baikal and the rivers not only flowing into it, but also those closest to it, from cyanobacteria. Introduce microbiota that helps quickly decompose plastic and petroleum products. Study the biosphere of Lake Baikal and the areas around it. Become intermediaries between plasmoids and people, respecting the interests of both. And train contactees to do this.

That is, interaction with the Spirits of nature and taking into account their interests.

There was another question.

How do you interact with other bases, in particular with the Pleiadian base, which is also located on Baikal, but in a different place?

He gave this answer:

We work closely with the Pleiadian base on Lake Baikal. We visit each other often. We share experience and material resources in the common interest of helping the Earth’s ecosystem and its biosphere.

Then the questions ended. I closed the notebook and left it on the table.

Kirchiton took this translator box. She continued to work.

Laax stood up and said:

Come on, I'll show you the base.

And this box was already talking in Kirchiton’s hands. He carried her. The Tikhtian walked ahead, I followed him, and Kirchiton walked next to me, a little behind. In his hand he carried an automatic translator.

Their doors are either round, like in a cave, or arched. They are quite tall. It feels like you are entering a cave. Semicircular corridors. But the rooms could be quadrangular. Where we sat, it was more of a rectangular, elongated room. Gray walls. Yellow ceiling, yellowish tint. And a yellow stripe between the ceiling and the wall.

Tikhtian said:

I'll show you where I live.

We went. We turned somewhere several times. Several times we met a robot that looked like a spider, only taller. The robot definitely had more than 10 limbs. They curved in all directions.

He said:

This is a manipulator, it can get out. May bring food on special carts.

I called him a spider, he was thin himself. I looked at it - there were no wheels. He moves on a platform. I asked Kirchiton, what are the wheels under his platform?

He replied:

No, he just rides on the platform itself. It's from the magnetic field.

I ask, why doesn’t it have wheels? He replied that it was more convenient for the robot to go around everything.

It's up to my chest. It's like a thin cylinder. He has no eyes, nothing. I don't know what this robot looks like. He just has some sticks sticking out and the lights are blinking. They bend like they consist of many joints. Brown cylinder. It reminded me of a reed stick.

Then we turned several times. Then he went back into the open round door. And we found ourselves in a room that was slightly larger than mine. It was empty.

He said:

I live here.

I say, I mean, do you live here? Kirchiton came after us with this box.

He says:

Everything is here.

It's standard there. I was already at Kirkhiton's house. And it is typical for all MS that the furniture is hidden in the walls. And it automatically pops out when they need it. And then it moves again. Everything is automatic for them. If desired, they can customize this by voice. By touching the wall. Their beds, chairs, tables pull out when they need to. And so they hide everything.

It was exactly the same with Tikht's representatives at the base. He said something, and something like a wide bench, somewhat similar to a wooden one, came out of the wall. But it was clearly made of metal. It felt metallic. Dark metal, but it was clear that it looked like wood.

She moved out of the wall and appeared. We sat down.

He says:

There might even be a bed here where I sleep.

I say, do you have televisions where you watch movies? And anyway, what are you watching? Do you have DVDs? Or flash cards?

He says:

No. We have a connection. And we can watch video reviews through the galactic network. Connect with your planet. We don't have to wait light years or years to talk to our family. We are included in her life and can talk as if in the next room.

I asked where on the wall this TV was.

He says:

We have automatic control. Wherever I direct him, he can appear anywhere on the wall. It may appear in space. And he made the light dark.

It is created by some fields. I didn't ask to show him. He just told me.

Then I say:

What kind of food do you have?

Do you want to try something?

I also thought that they finally want to treat me. I hope not by Gomptembria (Editor's note: Gomptembria are worms from the planet Daraal that are used as food).

I was wondering what they would give me. I thought we were going somewhere. He was dressed in white overalls, which were almost the same color as his skin, but with a metallic tint. It had something like a collar, and there was a button on it, something was pinned on it, like a dark dot. He leaned over and said something there.

What he said was not translated by the auto-translator. He turned there. Perhaps it was said too quietly.

We continued talking and after a few minutes I saw the door open. The door is like a circle that slides up and a passage opens. I saw the same robot with multiple legs, which was carrying a small cart in front of itself, it was on wheels. But she had not 4, but 6 or 8 wheels. Elongated, flat, with small sides, metal. Small and low.

For some reason, there was a triangular-shaped bowl there. It reminded me of a flower: one petal is open, the second, third, white. There was a dark mass in the bowl that looked like jam. He said you could drink it. You don't need to eat it, you need to drink it.

He said:

It's made from your own berries. Made from blueberries with our planet-sourced protein powder. It won't be harmful to you. They have practically the same amino acids.

I remembered my gift:

Oh, and I have something for you too! Since we recently had Honey Spas, I grabbed a small package of honey.

I gave it, he just took it. I added:

“This is in honor of the holiday of the Honey Savior. This is a holiday that is associated with one of the events in the life of Jesus Christ, and with the fact that the first honey is taken out. In Russia, this is a product that is produced by bees, there are such insects.”

He says:

I have heard and know about it, about this product, but I have never tried it. According to our research, it is safe for us, it is like a set of chemical elements. But I haven't tried it.

I handed it to him, congratulated him, and he accepted it. There's a little box there. He took it with one hand. His skin was so white, and when he bent, wrinkles appeared. He is warm, maybe even warmer than us. He took it, covered it with his other hand, and his eyes closed and became like slits. There was no longer any blue color, white inside. Scanned.

I asked Kirchiton:

“What is he doing?”

Scans what kind of subtle energy it contains. Because they distinguish gifts not only as things, but what subtle structure they contain, what vitality is invested.

Then he opened his eyes, his blue eyes appeared again.

He said:

Thank you from the bottom of my heart! It elevates my energies, as does my energetic heart. I'll keep it as a souvenir and won't eat it.

Before that, I wanted to give it to him, I thought. MidgasKaus and Raom Tiyan taught me that if you want to give something, some object, then hold it in your hand and wish it, put energy into it. It will be felt by a sensitive person. I wished him when I hadn’t seen him yet (I was picking him up from home), I wished that the creature to whom I would give, Kirchiton, I simply congratulated, because we see him often, and I will see the Tikhtian once and decided to give it to him. Since I am a guest there, and in honor of the Honey Savior. When I was still at home, before making contact, I introduced him. I imagined him as that Tikhtian with big eyes and wished him all the brightest, maximum realization in this incarnation, Light to his children, his family, his planet, all the people.

I took their “rose,” as I called the triangular bowl. When she bent down (to drink from one of the sides), it became like a viscous liquid, reminiscent of honey, but more moving. I tried. It looked like blueberries. It was not sweet, there was no sugar, and it was not sour. She reminded me of how you mixed blueberries with a boiled egg. There was no visible egg there, but it just tasted that way. Such an unusual taste.

I did. He looked at me so carefully, did not ask, but waited for me to say. Kirchiton looked at me. I have already learned from him to distinguish by his eyes, by his facial expression (before I could not distinguish, but now I have learned) when he smiles. I speak:

“Kirchiton, do you want it?”

He says:

No, thank you.

There was nothing nasty there, just such an unusual taste. And it also seemed to me that there was some kind of powder there, as if an eggshell had been ground finely and finely, and when touched by the tongue it dissolved. I ate it.

When I ate it, I got a chill, like mint, only after I ate it. He sat, waited, was silent. I speak:

"Thank you! Delicious. It's delicious, but a little unusual for me. I need to get used to this taste."

He says:

This is an interesting experience, an experiment for me, how earthlings will react, because not only your products are here, but ours are also here. We add protein powder there, which is brought to us from our planet, and it allows us to receive all the necessary vital substances for the construction of our bodies.

I asked what proteins it consists of.

He says:

The names won’t tell you anything, especially since there are no analogues in the earthly language. I’ll just say that of the amino acids you know, arginine is the most abundant.

I don’t remember what else, alanine or something like that, but there are others. Then he showed me the greenhouse.

Greenhouse of the Tikhtian base. Earth's raincoat and Burkhadian algae in the diet of aliens

We went to see the greenhouse and walked along the corridor. They walked far along some long corridor, and the color of the walls, like rust, turned into a more brilliant color. Like an arch. There are stainless steel spoons, this shiny color, on the ceiling, walls, and floor. And then we turned somewhere again and entered a very large, long room. It was filled with a long table, and on this table there was something covered like glass. I was told that on every table they grow some species. When we arrived, there was a white floor, it had a fine grid. And there were bluish sparkles in the air.

He said:

Here such fields, such energies are maintained that maintain a certain humidity, temperature and disinfect the room.

We approached one of the tables. There I saw like an aquarium. There was water there, a little full, and there were, I wouldn't call them shells, but these spirals were purple in color, and pinkish worms were sticking out of them. These spirals were similar to our shells, but large and with a wide neck, and they stuck out like worms.

He says:

Here organisms from our planet are grown in specially created conditions, they are fed with a specially created powder. Here the water is from Lake Baikal, but it is specially purified and saturated with necessary elements. Then they are used for food.

That is, in addition to bringing ready-made food, they also grow additional food there. Then he led me to a table where, under the same transparent glass, there was a white mass that looked like a sponge.

He said:

This is a raincoat. The sheer weight of the raincoat.

I speak:

"Something doesn't look like our mushroom, ours is round."

And he says:

We took its DNA and isolated it in such a way that it would not grow round, but fill the space in this table, and so that its cells would divide laterally. This is not even the mushroom itself, but its genetic information. It is already growing in a different form. It does not take a round shape. These plates are more convenient for us to recycle.

Then he led me to the aquarium. There was water there, only deeper, and at the bottom lay dark green peas, they grew like chains above each other, and there were others on them. There it was, like a flow of water, and they wavered ever so slightly. I speak:

"And what is it? What kind of leeches are these?"

He says:

No, it's algae. This is not an animal. These are algae, but they were brought from the planet Burkhad, and we can eat them too. They are from the planet Burhad and grow in their ocean, in the coastal zone. They are distributed throughout the Galaxy because they contain a record dose of those microelements, for example, boron and other amino acids, which are found in few places.

They are also distributed throughout the Galaxy and grown on an industrial scale. He told me all this, but I no longer wrote it down. We walked along the corridor, then stopped in the middle of the corridor. Kirchiton held an automatic translator.

“I wish you a happy flight!”

I speak:

“You know, we plan to physically fly to you in less than a month. Come to Baikal and arrange a retreat here.”

I started telling them everything.

He says:

Great, very good! I will be glad to feel here the energy of you and your students, followers, those who listen to the information of the Interstellar Union.

What would you like to convey to those who will be at the retreat, what wishes, maybe what nature is here, what plasmoids, maybe you want to convey from yourself?

I want to convey that this lake is a very energetically saturated place. It appeared much later than your scientists say. It appeared as a result of the impact of weapons 12,000 years ago, before it did not exist in this form, there was a reservoir there, but it was smaller. On the shores of this reservoir there were settlements of ancient people. There were those who contacted aliens and worshiped gods. It was an energetically strong place.

And since there was a war with the reptilians, weapons were used that were aimed at these settlements, and this created a hole, a rift. Villages and houses fell into this fault. The ground beneath them gave way, and they fell through and were buried. And under the bottom of this reservoir that existed, there was an underground lake. There are also large volumes of water underground. And from this weapon the water came out and filled everything, and the shore was a little flooded.

I speak:

“What is the state of Lake Baikal now?”

He says:

One large plant has been shut down here, and we are still cleaning it up. We also have people in the coastal government who are our contacts. We contact them on the astral level. They matched our vibrations, these were the people when they were not yet in the government. We suggested to them, when they were still children, teenagers, when we came into contact, that they should acquire this profession in order to be useful. We believed that they should not talk about their contact, so that nothing would prevent them from acquiring this profession. We believed that such contactees could take care of the planet more effectively.

Thank you for the hospitality, for the food, for the stories.

He has such a friendly energy, he, like a father, told everything. I asked what he would wish for those who will be at the retreat, I will tell them. And in general to all earthlings, at least those earthlings who will perceive this information.

What would you like to convey to them, including those who come to the retreat, to this event?

He says:

I would like to convey to those who come to this event that this is an energetic place, but it is not to be feared. Fear closes you off from possible changes, both positive and negative, but positive and negative can only be from the point of view of the current edition of the personality. (This was the translation of “ego”).

It is changeable, so its needs, its beliefs can also change. What was negative today can become positive tomorrow, and vice versa. This promotes progress. Therefore, I would like to urge you - do not be afraid, and when you step onto the land near Lake Baikal and the coastal regions, these cities that are located there, remember that this land was sacred to many civilizations that lived long before the war, long before you, and send the Light of love. The light of love is a wish for development, happiness, help. And then this space will meet you with a flow three hundred times more powerful. And it will fill your Souls and bodies, and help you achieve the goals that you set for yourself when coming to this retreat. And if you close yourself, if you are afraid, if you are not open to the experience for which you came, then you will simply go into even greater negativity.

I also want to convey the Light of Love of my heart and the wish to think every day that there are creatures around you in nature that you do not see or feel, but which influence the entire Earth. They create for you that nature, those objects, their energies, incarnating in these worlds so that you can live in the dense world, so that you can breathe air, drink water, eat food. In order for you to be born into a body, they create elements for this.

I speak:

“Many people here believe that God simply created.”

He says:

God also created, because, firstly, he gave birth to the Spirits themselves, and secondly, he gave his energies of all qualities, of all types, as material for creativity.

I say, we just think that God himself created everything, and no helpers are needed.

He says:

These are not helpers. These are like his parts, like his hands. But they have their own will. But when they resonate with the will of God, they can do it most purely. (He conveyed something like this) To be a pure Creator, you need your will to coincide with His Will, and His will is only pure Love and Light.

How to achieve this?

He says:

Just remember about their interests, that they also have their own tasks, that they have those areas of existence for which they are responsible. And don't bother each other. We also tell the plasmoids not to arrange any negative scenarios for you, not to scare you, and so on. And you, too, do not disturb them, do not scatter garbage, always thank nature for its gifts. The more you direct Light, Love to each tree, Sun, animal and so on, the more the plasmoids will raise their vibrations and they will become stronger.

Then Kirchiton turned around. The head of the base remained there, and we were already walking alone, no one accompanied us. The door opened on its own and we went out to where the plate stood. Kirchiton and I discussed how interesting this information was. The door of the plate closed, I began to look out the window, I saw something dark, I no longer saw any bubbles, just luminous points appeared that turned in the opposite direction. Then they disappeared, then they appeared again. We were turning around, as I understood, or we were flying somewhere, then they became visible again.

Kirchiton told me that we would fly into this forest, I turned away from the window, and we talked some more.

Kirkhiton said:

You already have so many students! I sometimes watch you through the chip, very interesting. You are doing very important work! I am very glad that you met MidgasCaus, that you met Maxim and others. I saw everyone. And that by helping you, they help the whole Earth and themselves.

Thank you.

Related video: #329 Physical contact. Irina Podzorova visited the alien base under Lake Baikal! Real contact with aliens. Part 1.

#330 Irina Podzorova visited the alien base under Lake Baikal! Real contact with aliens. Part 2.

#331 Irina Podzorova visited the alien base under Lake Baikal! Real contact with aliens. Part 3

With love to you, Irina Podzorova.

August, 2021

September 29, 2023

Ashtar Sheran o sebe

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ashtar-sheran-osebe

> My name is Ashtar. I am a representative of a planet that no longer exists. It orbited the star Sirius B 12 thousand years ago and died as a result of the war. Now I live on Burkhad and Tumesout, but I spend most of my time on the space station, which is now, at the moment, located at a distance of 37 astronomical units from your solar system, more specifically from the Sun.
>
> Our space station has a diameter of about 60 km and is shaped like a dark sphere. On our ship there are 2.5 thousand representatives of my world, who have been living on ships and on other planets since the time our planet died.

Ashtar Sheran is the incarnate Spirit, he is already more than 12 thousand earthly years old.

He is the leader of the Fleet, which is in space on large ships. He participated in the defense of our planet and the solar system in general from reptilians - in a war 12 thousand years ago. But, unfortunately, his home planet, which was located near Sirius B, died as a result of this war. Because the Selbetians attacked not only the Solar system, but also their system, which was next to the Solar one. They moved to ships and live on ships. They already have entire generations there, more than 25 thousand, as far as I remember, people live on huge ships. The ships are several tens of kilometers in diameter, round, and resemble entire planets.
-
October 26, 2023

A physical journey to Disowat, the planet of intelligent turtles

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/fizicheskoe-puteshestvie-na-disaut-planetu-razumny

In September 2022, there was another contact dedicated to a flight to the constellation Monoceros. This planet is located 753 light years from the Sun. It has a very rarefied atmosphere, which consists mainly of nitrogen, nitric oxide, and carbon dioxide. Oxygen is less than 7 percent, so I went to the surface in a protective suit.

When we left the plate, I saw some kind of desert. Moreover, there was wavy sand there, dark yellow in color. Kirchiton went forward, I followed him. In this suit, when you step, your foot sinks a little. It was still fairly easy to walk, despite the sand. Kirkhiton said the planet was the size of Mars or smaller, so it was easy to yank one's foot out of the sand and put it back in.

We walked and I saw a hill. There was no grass on it; it also consisted of sand, only of a darker color, brown. This sand fell off him. The hill was the size of a two-story house. We approached him. I looked: there seemed to be a gap down there, leading somewhere into the depths. And then this gap began to rise, and a passage opened there.

I asked him: “What is this?!” When Kirchiton talks in a suit, I hear him, and when I speak, he hears me. He said that these were the houses of local residents. He said that they live this way because the animals from which they came are accustomed to living in the ground, building holes. And they are attracted to such dwellings.

When we went there, part of the wall, one might say, rose. That is, it only looked like it consisted of sand, but inside it was hard. The wall rose, we went there. At first it was dark, then a white light immediately appeared from somewhere, as always, out of nowhere. We went there and saw a large hall, and there were holes in it: for example, on the wall, then between the wall and the floor. They were round and led to some dark rooms (the darkness was visible there). Each such hole was an entrance to the room. In one such house there may be several dozen rooms where they keep their things and do something. The rooms are quite small: some warehouses, some rooms where guests are invited. That is, it looks like a termite mound, but it is quite large.

Since this planet is part of the Interstellar Union, they use its technology. To build a house specifically from soil, from earth, from soil, they use technology so that the sand becomes hard. And special construction robots make these holes. They are used to living in such houses; they do not want to live in high-rise buildings. Quite harsh natural conditions. From our point of view, they live on earth.

It turns out that these creatures evolved from turtles. But they did not evolve on their own - they couldn't do it themselves, they were helped in this. They are hybrids of an intelligent race, which is represented by insectoids. But these insectoids are not from Sho-Hariki - the planet that we know, where the "large mantises" live. This planet is different, and on it live creatures that are somewhat reminiscent of our ants with long mustaches.

Those creatures, insectoids, are intelligent, they flew to this planet, found "turtles" and decided to conduct experiments to get an intelligent creature. Kirkhiton said that it was about 250 thousand Earth years ago, when there was already intelligent life on Earth. And they joined the Interstellar Union about 6,000 years ago - that's not so long ago. Kirkhiton said this was due to the small population there. In the astral plane they came into contact with representatives of different civilizations, including the Interstellar Union. When they began to meet the conditions for joining the Interstellar Union, the majority of the population gave their consent to this, because it was closer to them in ideology than the Galactic Federation of Light.

Only one race added its genes there - insectoids. They conducted experiments, and thanks to these experiments, a creature was created that had a mutation. And this mutation allowed the growth of new organs, and even new limbs. That is, the kind of limbs that this insectoid has grew, and these are two limbs that made it possible to manipulate objects. Because the turtles themselves have two upper limbs that are very soft. As I was told, they have a structure like very soft cartilage, and only two fingers, and they are kind of clumsy. That is, they can simply dig sand with them and cannot do anything else.

Those turtles could not create or take anything, and therefore an intelligent being could not incarnate in them. They were not generally consistent with any activity. They had, as Kirchiton explained to me, a fairly developed brain, but the body itself was not suitable for creative activity. Therefore, the rational Spirit could not move into them. And so they made such a mutation 250 thousand years ago.

Disouatians have a dark brown shell, and their color is closer to bluish, blue-steel. The shell is located on the back of the back. They have it with a triangle with the apex up, starting above the head, going down, and below is its base. And the triangle is not wide, but narrow. And when this shell ends at the bottom near the feet, it does not touch the ground, but is divided into two halves. It looks like wings, but it's not wings. This is what the shell itself looks like, this is its shape. And I even touched him. By the way, they are about chest-high to me. In them, like in our turtles, the neck can hide in the body, or it can come out from there.

Illustration by Kirill Nikolaev

When they begin to extend their neck from the body, it has a small thickening at the end, also gray, steel-colored. And a creature just stands in front of you, it has short legs, like two toes, the same as on its hands. But he stood on them. That is, such a small platform was formed. She changed shape: when he stepped on the sand, she wrapped her fingers around him. I noticed this.

However, I looked more at its upper part. Because there was a hole, and from there a neck appeared, and at the end there was a small thickening. Not a head like ours, but a small thickening with red dots on it. It's like eyes. I speak:

“Kirchiton, explain what kind of creature this is? I've never seen anything like this. What kind of eyes does he have, and why is his head so small?

He says:

“It’s not a neck, it’s an organ for receptors. And with these eyes they look at the world around them, and then give a signal. And the main part of his nervous system is in the chest area next to the heart.”

When I saw it, I didn’t laugh, but I smiled. It was funny. It is humanoid, but it is not anthropomorphic.

In addition to these two limbs, they also have those acquired from insectoids, which are located below the arms described above - attached to the belt area. Quite hard, like insects have paws, only big ones. And they are constantly moving. They have tendrils that move like fingers. Only they are located not like our fingers, but unevenly: one, two, three. There were several of them, I didn’t look at them. And they allowed the Disouat people to take some items.

I asked: “What is this?” Kirchiton replied:

“This hybrid looks like this because they made such changes to the genotype so that this is where the limbs grow, like insectoids.”

I say: “Kirchiton, how is this possible?”

He replied:

“By making a point change in the genotype, it is possible to initiate the growth of such an organ in this location.”

The civilization that created them was not part of the Interstellar Union, it was part of the Galactic Federation of Light. I didn’t ask where she was now, but at that time she was part of the Galactic Federation of Light. And they, naturally, coordinated the hybridization there - on Futisse, the capital of the State Fiscal Service. The planet of these insectoids itself, as I was told, is not in the Pleiades, but also somewhere not far from this planet, in the constellation Monoceros.

There are special scientists who make sure that hybridization is harmonious for the planet's biosphere. They contact the plasmoids of this planet and they take not permission, but approval to change their animal so that an intelligent Spirit will move into it.

In the Spiritual world, they also coordinate, because without coordination, the Consulting Angels will not send the Spirit from the Spiritual World to incarnate into a new body. That is, all this must be consistent. Metatron had such a task when he incarnated as one of the first 18 people.

Kirchiton took with him, as always, a translator box. This box, as I call it, translates and transposes into Russian sounds that are generally incomprehensible to my ears, which I cannot even reproduce. Kirchiton said that, of course, the translation will be approximate, because these are different planets. And many of the concepts that they have are not in our language, and vice versa. As Kirchiton explained, this will still be a translation as close as possible in meaning. That is, the box does it automatically, it's like a mini-robot.

They communicate in this way: in their chest area there are visible, as it were, two slits and a chain of smaller ones that go to the stomach. They move like gills, but it's not like the gills of fish, but like slits, the edges of which move. And from there comes a sound, like a crunching or creaking, with such a rhythm when a person walks quickly through the snow in the cold. Try to reproduce this! They will also not be able to reproduce our speech, for example. If I just say something without a translator, it's just a mess for them. I don't know where their ears are, they didn't show me, but, in principle, maybe they do.

Turtles, which were still unintelligent before hybridization, lived in earthen burrows that they dug themselves. And they lived there in large flocks: they were pack animals, they had a strict hierarchy.

Kirkhiton said:

"Before the flight, I studied this civilization, because I had never been to this planet myself. There was no need, although it is a member of the Interstellar Union and is open to visits by various scientists."

I just studied the data about this planet in the Handbook of Galactic Civilizations.

They have a book - "Handbook of Galactic Civilizations", and they open it at a certain letter and look where the planet is and who lives there. It's kind of for tourists.

When these animals lived in burrows, they could leave from there in order to look for food and look for a partner for procreation. They did this under the sun (it was a long sunny day). For this, eyes were needed for orientation in space. These animals had a hidden neck because they had enemies - birds of prey that could attack. And if the turtles did not have time to hide their necks, the birds tore it off with their beaks and ate it.

The shell is very hard; they could not break it with their beak. When the neck and eyes are hidden in the shell, the bird will fly around and fly further. These small limbs somehow pressed together, and the turtle simply became such a triangle with two ends at the bottom, which was pressed to the ground.

They don't have a brain like ours. They have a central nerve ganglion that is connected to the heart, which pumps blood. They breathe this air; 7% oxygen is enough for them. They have a slow metabolism. Life expectancy according to earthly chronology is about 600 years.

They live in large families and they have one ruler for the entire planet; he simply performs administrative functions, passing on laws from the Interstellar Union. He himself does not rule, they have a community.

Residents start families and have many children. Due to the fact that their ancestors are turtles, they are oviparous. Even then they were already oviparous, but they could lay several eggs during their lives. Due to the fact that they have become hybrids with insectoids, they can now have 17-20 eggs in one clutch. There can be no more than three or four such clutches in a “woman’s” life, sometimes one or two. It depends on age, on her desires, on the condition of the body and on life expectancy. There must be a certain cycle for these eggs to mature.

They are born, but not all then begin to live a family life. Some decide not to start a family, but simply live in a community; they do not want to lay eggs. These turtles are not identical to terrestrial turtles, but are the closest species that can resemble them. There is a difference between our earthly turtles and theirs. Just similarity. Having crossed with intelligent insectoids and becoming intelligent, they acquired the ability to consciously reproduce.

Continuation

Related video: #497 Physical flight to Disouat! Getting to know the planet and its inhabitants. Kirchiton's starship. Part 1.

Irina Podzorova is a contactor with extraterrestrial civilizations.

September 2022

November 1, 2023

Artificial intelligence on the planet Disowat. Biorobot virus https://blog.cassiopeia.center/iskusstvennyj-intellekt-na-planete-disaut-virus-bi

The development of technology on the planet Disowat began after joining the Interstellar Union. The residents themselves did not build anything from space technology. They had technology at the level of our (earthly) early Middle Ages. But in terms of vibrations and according to their laws, they corresponded to joining the Interstellar Union, despite the lack of developed technology. There was no army on Disowat. There were only scattered detachments that monitored law and order.

Due to living in large communities, they feel each other's mood, there is no need to quarrel with someone. Quite peaceful creatures. And, as Kirchiton told me, they have such a character, such emotions that it is quite difficult to cause any anger. They are apathetic to this type of emotion.

They have few minerals and metals. The planet is small and consists of various soils, but they had developed science. They studied mathematics, geometry, physics, astronomy, etc.

After this civilization was accepted into the Interstellar Union, all technologies became available to it. Scientists and sociologists arrived and began to gradually adapt this civilization, adapting its inhabitants to the Interstellar Union. They started building spaceports, etc.

The creation of artificial intelligence was around six thousand years ago, when they joined the Interstellar Union, and technology was shared with them. They did not have their own biorobots, their own developments, and did not even have an idea about artificial machines. There were no technical and scientific prerequisites for this.

They began to actively use biorobots for various work, as on all planets: in transport, in the production of goods, in medicine, in law enforcement, and as translators. Society treated this well, welcomed it, and even gave various ideas and directions for building new robots. Almost no one imagined the possibility of the emergence of the Chakhur virus. This was a complete surprise for the inhabitants of the planet and for other civilizations from the Interstellar Union.

This was revealed by a violation of the algorithms of the biorobots. For example, biorobots refused to perform their usual functions and began to walk aimlessly along the streets or simply walk in circles around one place. Or they stood and looked at one point. They behaved differently. In normal operating condition, biorobots read the voice, hear the voice order and immediately begin to carry it out according to the algorithm. If the order is not clear to him, then he is not tuned to this algorithm.

The robots were varied, depending on the tasks they performed. But the basis - the scheme - was the same for everyone. The appearance is different, the tasks are different, but the artificial intelligence system is the same. The virus passed from one to another. It is not like a living being, but like an information wave. The virus disabled even those robots that built houses, which simply collected soil, compacted it, and put it into separate houses of a certain shape. They gave this house the appearance of a natural hill because they were used to living that way.

Residents noticed that work was disrupted and the robots stopped performing their functions. They made an attempt to examine them, find out what happened, examine them, examine them using electronic diagnostics. They have a device - you put the device on a certain place of the robot in the chest area, and it shows what is happening to it. The instruments showed deviations in the circuits, and that repairs needed to be made. And for this it was necessary to take them into a certain room and change these microcircuits. But the robots perceived this as a real danger of destruction. Because of this virus, the robots did not perceive the intervention as repairs, but believed that they would be killed. Their self-preservation program was automatically activated.

By the way, the instinct of self-preservation, which is embedded in the animal soul, in the soul of an insect or microbe, is also built according to an algorithm similar to a robot program. Only it is invested by plasmoids into a living soul. It is done at one or another level of density, and all this is then sent through the astral plane to Earth, to the dense material plane.

The robots perceived the attempt at repair as a real danger of destruction and began to defend themselves. They defended themselves very perfectly, they had very fast movements, from which the humanoids themselves did not have time to defend themselves. Thus, the first victims appeared. The robots did this unconsciously, according to a protection program; they could push away or damage something.

The bodies of the inhabitants, despite crossing with insectoids, are quite fragile inside, like cartilage. They broke easily. Therefore, the first victims appeared, and the government apparatus of the planet found out about this. After investigation, it turned out that there are already many such robots. They spread this virus through their connections. This virus had no effect on humanoids; it was inanimate. It was an electronic product from a scientist from the Pisces Constellation.

It is impossible to turn them off or neutralize them. They are powered by light. They have batteries in the back area, like containers, where this energy is stored in the form of charges. Autonomous power supply is incorporated into all robots through silicon-zirconium thick-cell artificial skin. By converting light energy into the energy of movement of parts of the mechanism relative to each other. Those. light passes through the energy of the skin into another energy, which begins to move their parts.

Biorobots entered into physical battles, from which they emerged victorious due to the lack of self-preservation instinct, fear and sensation of pain. They quickly learned to create various techniques for neutralizing living beings. And such neutralization that it would be final. So that he couldn't disarm this robot again. They did this automatically, unconsciously. It's not their fault. These are cars.

There were many victims killed. There were also many wounded. Some robots used improvised objects as weapons. They figured out how to do it, it was built into the self-preservation program. If someone attacks, you can use improvised objects. Naturally, they had no weapons.

At first, the population tried to cope on their own, to isolate the robots, because... did not realize the full scale of infection of robots with a virus - information disease. It became clear that help was needed only 25 days after the first victims. After 25 days of conflict, more than three thousand seven hundred humanoids died. Burkhad was notified as the capital of the Interstellar Union via special communication. Help came immediately the next day. Cybernetics arrived from Tumessout with their biorobots, who began to help catch these biorobots. They could not destroy them, because they are also biorobots.

It took almost three Earth months to neutralize it. There was no war. The Tumessoutians and their robots studied the wave frequencies of a special germanium-organic brain with which they controlled their mechanisms. Then fields were created that neutralize these brain waves of biorobots. These destabilizing fields were directed at robots and clusters of robots, making them unable to move. Their brains did not transmit signals to artificial muscles. The turned off robot was taken to a special base on a ship in our star system. And there they completely changed their electronic and operating systems. When all the microcircuits were changed, there was no longer room for the virus. This was done by special biorobots under the supervision of biotechnical engineers. This was in two thousand and twenty. They've already dealt with this.

We looked into the spiritual reason for this situation. There are specially trained humanoids who contact the Spiritual Mind of the planet. In your opinion, this is an egregor (noosphere of the Planet). There they find information about Spiritual reasons. This is the Higher Self of the planet, as part of the disembodied Spirit, part of the Highest ideas of the Spiritual evolution of Civilization.

Having connected with the noosphere, they looked at how much this corresponds to the Spiritual evolution of the civilization of the planet Disowat. There was an answer that the spiritual reason for this event and these physical deaths was that society forgot how to work independently and relied completely on robots.

This was necessary to bring them back into a state of caring for their body, their space, so that they could be independent. To rely less on robots and live more in the physical world. They were given such a lesson precisely by the Spiritual world and in precisely this way. Such a coincidence of circumstances was allowed, the appearance of such a scientist, such a virus, etc.

This scientist was from the Constellation Pisces. His name is Oshtarikh. He began doing experiments on biorobots. There were quite a few types of robots on this planet. There were experiments on changing the memory module, on the influence of the memory module on the attention module of robots, etc. As a result of these experiments, a program appeared from their own artificial brains, which then began to be transmitted.

It was unintentional, not on purpose. He didn't even know about it himself. At first they behaved normally. Then, when this information program began to break something in the robots, disable some algorithms, they already began to behave inappropriately.

Kirkhiton considers this an unlikely event. But still, signs of such a violation in the work of biorobots are frequent unreasonable refusal to work, to engage in some useful activity, as well as disorderly behavior of biorobots. This indicates that something in it is damaged. For this reason, it is better not to approach such a robot to examine it yourself. This could be dangerous if he suddenly turns on a self-preservation program.

If you have such robots, it is better to hire a special service that will repair them. And it would be desirable if it was also a robot. Because on this planet these services were called, they were from among the humanoids. Their biorobots were adapted for other needs.

It was impossible to negotiate peace with them, because they simply turned on the automatic self-preservation program and no longer spoke. Words had no effect on them. The robots heard them, but no longer turned on the algorithms that they should have turned on. They did not respond to outside influences.

There was a danger of losing many hundreds, if not thousands of lives. There was a possibility of big clashes, when humanoids could unite and destroy robots with improvised means. In any case, they would have survived, but there would have been many casualties.

The robots also didn't have any weapons. If intelligent humanoids united, they have abstract thinking, they can surpass biorobots in the algorithm of action. They could lure them into some kind of traps, cover them with stones, etc. But all this would lead to various victims.

A biorobot can contain living tissue, as a collection of cells, if it is grown specifically for the biorobot. But there will be no Soul there, only fabric. It can be supported in some energetic way. There are different solutions, but in principle it will just be fabric. There are such technologies, but they usually don’t do it this way. Robots are made from stronger, more reliable materials.

When we were already walking towards the ship. I was very surprised by this uprising. I asked what they did to this scientist?

Kirchiton replied:

> These humanoids live approximately eight hundred Earth years. His specialty was redirected to another for two hundred years. Not a cyberneticist, but a physicist. They said his qualifications were not sufficient to safely interact with robots. License revoked.

This scientist was not found guilty of the death of humanoids, because special methods of his questioning proved that he did not and could not assume that his actions would lead to such consequences.

A physical journey to Disowat, the planet of intelligent turtles

Related video: #497 Physical flight to Disouat! Getting to know the planet and its inhabitants. Kirchiton's starship. Part 1.

Irina Podzorova is a contactor with extraterrestrial civilizations.

September 2022

CASSIOPEIA 25 - Irina Podzorova - Spirit, soul and body

Information transmitted by our space friends through Irina Podzorova, a contactee with extraterrestrial civilizations.

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/

Spirit, soul and body

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/+duh-dusha-telo

Spirit, soul, body

February 27, 2022

Structure of the Intelligent Spirit

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/eA6U9zvP-A5

There are many religious and political systems on your planet that describe the spiritual world and the spiritual structure of man in different ways. The differences in languages and worldviews of your religious teachers have done their job: if you compare your religions by external signs, they will contradict each other and create new and smaller religious movements, heresies and sects within the religions themselves.

This leads to divisions in society, instead of unity in the Light of true Love, which all spiritual Teachers of your civilization desired and desire, regardless of whether they are in the body or in the Spiritual world.

We decided to give you our understanding of the world order: the system of the spiritual world and the structure of the internal structures of the Reasonable Spirit.

Spirit is an immortal intelligent entity, begotten by God, as different from matter of any type as light is different from metal. It is not homogeneous.

Its structure consists of three elements that allow it to think, feel and act: mind, energy and essence, or in other terminology - the spiritual heart, which is not related to the physical organ.

Each of these elements, in turn, also consists of three structures.

Structure of a born, immortal, intelligent spirit

The rational, immortal, incarnate Spirit has the following constituent structures:

1. SPIRITUAL HEART (ESSENCE)

Feeling is the structure of the spiritual heart (essence), which allows the Spirit to have a relationship with various personalities, phenomena and itself, expressed in a wordless form.

Instinct is the structure of the spiritual heart (essence), which allows the Spirit to understand and execute the genetic programs of the body aimed at survival, reproduction, leadership, community connection and pleasure.

Desire is the structure of the spiritual heart (essence), allowing the Spirit to have and understand its own needs.

2. MIND

Thinking is the ability of the mind to process information and make decisions.

Imagination is the ability of the mind to create new images and logical structures.

Memory is the ability of the mind to retain and reproduce information perceived or created by the imagination.

3. ENERGY

Consciousness is the energy of the Spirit for perceiving the world around us and feeling the existence of oneself.

Will is the energy of the Spirit to change the world around us or oneself.

Emotion is the energy of the Spirit to react to external and internal changes.

Souls that incarnate in animals, insects and other smaller types of material bodies are created by Intelligent Spirits who are responsible for various natural elements and places of the material Universe.

The animal soul, unlike the Rational Spirit, is not immortal, not born of God, does not have thinking, imagination and self-awareness in its structure, the will of which is subordinate to instincts.

The spirit united with the life force is called the rational soul. It has fundamental differences from the animal soul and cannot be embodied in animal bodies, just as the animal soul is not capable by its nature of uniting with a body intended for the embodiment of the Rational Spirit.

Setni-Orper, specialist in the study of interactions between the material and spiritual worlds, biophysicist and psychoenergeticist, planet Esler.

October, 2019

February 19, 2022

How to Feel Divine Energy

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/E8XXxDceRfh

The energy of your body is directed by the mind to one place or another where it is lacking, but it can also be controlled by instincts and desires and emotions. The calmer your souls are, the more energy remains for the work of your body and energy-informational processes occurring in the consciousness and subconscious.

You need to accustom yourself to calmness, at first it causes boredom, but when you get used to living in emotional silence and harmony with your spirit, you realize that there is nothing more beautiful than the calm confidence in feeling yourself at the center of the universe and the feeling of trust in the Creator, who sends you different people and creating various circumstances in order to extract gold of vibrations similar to Himself from the ore of your spirit.

Calm the swarm of fussy thoughts, outbursts of emotions and the fire of instinctive programs, in which your mind slowly or quickly burns out, leaving behind the ashes of disappointment and despondency.

Then you will feel contact with your Superconsciousness - the highest part of yourself, which senses God and the world in their indivisible integrity. Subsequently, your spirit will acquire vibrations that are more suitable for contacts with representatives of the Interstellar Union.

Now your minds are too busy with the daily hustle and bustle and the endless cycle of emotions, often very negative. Therefore, you do not feel our presence near you and do not feel the Divine Energy permeating every atom of matter and every cubic millimeter of space.

Constant fuss in thoughts and emotional licentiousness can lead even a highly spiritual person to the closure of higher energy centers, and therefore to a materialistic-minded consciousness, which will be impossible for the highest teachers of humanity to reach.

The mind of a materialist is like a chick in a shell: he is blind and deaf to the perception of spiritual ideas, but his shell is part of his mind and one cannot even try to destroy it from the outside, since this is dangerous because one can destroy the personality itself.

Then she will be born for many incarnations with damaged energy structures, which is why she will not be able to adequately respond to life circumstances.

We can only knock on the shell from the outside and call on the spirit to come out to freedom, but he himself will have to break it. To do this, he will first need to believe in the words of others about the spiritual world, which he is not yet capable of feeling.

He needs faith in order to begin to live a spiritual life himself, tuning into the vibrations necessary to perceive spiritual dimensions.

Spiritual life refers to thoughts, feelings and actions aimed at developing love in the heart, wisdom in the mind and spiritual sensitivity in the energies of the spirit.

God, by His nature of eternal Love, is not capable of being alone, for His thoughts and ideas constitute an incalculable number of born spirits for the mind. We were all born outside of time and space, which means we participate in eternity, like God Himself.

The question of the meaning of everything created arises only for those who have not had the experience of touching the Divine Light, for the spirit, having felt itself at least for a moment as one with God, immediately comprehends that the words Life, Light, Meaning and Love have the same meaning: this is the Divine Energy, the vibration of which we are all always surrounded by, but we do not feel it due to our own low vibrations, just as a blind man does not see the light of the sun falling on his face.

Low vibrations are generated by our Spirit, experiencing feelings, thoughts and desires that do not coincide with the vibration of Love, which is the most understandable and tangible vibration of Divine energy for us. Those who say are right:

"The meaning of life is in life itself" because Life itself is the Truth, Meaning and Light of Love or Loving Light. When you see one meaning behind different words, then it will fill your entire consciousness and become a source of eternal Life for you.

That Life, the Meaning of which you will not need to look for, because these concepts will merge together for you and one cannot exist without the other. Only then will your spirit be resurrected for true life in the flow of Divine Energy, which in Christian terminology is called Life in the Holy Spirit.

May the grace of the Divine Spirit be with you and the Light of Love illuminate the path of your life.

The information was conveyed by Odus, the main coordinator of the planet Esler for contacts with the civilization of the Earth and Pras-Khiontu, a culturologist, psychologist and religious scholar.

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/mS6xePSL6QN

February 13, 2022

Functions of melatonin

This hormone does not exist in singular form. It is mainly produced by the pineal gland and pineal gland. According to the knowledge of the Interstellar Union, there are 6 types of melatonin.

The main function of melatonin is to desynchronize the astral and physical bodies so that they can disconnect and connect back. Regulation of emotional processes.

When the spirit experiences any emotions, certain hormones are produced in it. And in order to metabolize these hormones so that they are removed from the cells, it is necessary to release dopamine, melatonin and other substances.

Earth doctors use huge dosages of melatonin to treat sleep deficiency syndrome. In an acidic gastric environment, melantoin, like any protein, will be broken down into amino acids. And, naturally, it can be administered through the lining of the oral cavity, in injections.

The melatonin that is artificially created in factories penetrates the blood-brain barrier by several percent. And it does not have the same effect as natural melatonin produced by the brain itself. Because melatonin, in its molecular structure and the architectonics of its molecular connections with other hormones, is completely unique to the body of the person where it is created.

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/sUKL7xSittN

February 26, 2022

The spiritual reason for the events in Ukraine

This spiritual reason gave rise to events not only in Ukraine, but also in South Ossetia, Abkhazia, Georgia, Chechnya, and Nagorno-Karabakh. This reason originated 30 years ago during the collapse of the Union.

It was not just the collapse of the Union, but certain decisions of the leaders of the former republics. They made a very unfair decision from a spiritual point of view when separating the union republics.

When the former republics of the USSR signed the Belovezhskaya Accords in December 1991 , a fateful decision was made. All rulers of all union republics decided on independence from the USSR. This decision was made not only by all the republics of the USSR, but also by Russia itself.

Every newly-minted president, previously a loyal communist, who ruled his republic for many years, and suddenly suddenly “changed his clothes, changed his shoes” to a democrat, decided that his country would fall within the borders that were determined for him by the Soviet Union.

It was this decision of the leaders of each union republic - to determine the borders of their country along the Soviet borders - that became fatal.

Countries that joined the USSR after the Bolshevik victory voluntarily adopted the ideology of communism. By decisions of Soviet leaders, territories that previously belonged to Russia were attached to the territories of some republics.

It was simply decided with one movement of the pen/pen - to give certain territories to the republics. This was done to gain their loyalty.

Soviet leaders assigned territories that previously belonged either to other republics or to Russia to someone else. For example, this happened with Abkhazia.

Abkhazia was part of the Russian Empire, like Georgia. When Stalin received them into the USSR, he personally annexed Abkhazia to Georgia. The Abkhazians asked him not to do this. They wanted to join the USSR as an autonomous republic.

Nobody looked at it at the time. And when Georgia left, it took Abkhazia with it, although it was annexed by Stalin.

What was the mistake of Georgian politician E.A. Shevardnadze?

When Georgia left the USSR, it automatically took Abkhazia with it. At the same time, the people of Abkhazia itself, who lived there, were ignored. People were not asked where they wanted to live: in Georgia, Abkhazia or Russia. Georgia was automatically recognized based on its borders. But the people who remained there, in Abkhazia, did not agree. They felt like a separate people.

If Georgia wanted to secede from the USSR, it means that others' national self-awareness awoke, and they also wanted to leave, but from Georgia.

Cultural figures of Abkhazia during Soviet times submitted a petition to the Central Committee of the Communist Party to be separated from Georgia or made an autonomous republic. This was even before the collapse of the Union.

Can you imagine what started there after the secession of the republics? Can you imagine this?

The Abkhazians found themselves on the verge of an ethnic catastrophe. The entire Abkhaz people as a nation was in danger of extinction.

The same thing happened with South Ossetia and Nagorno-Karabakh (where lands were assigned to one country that belonged to another before the revolution).

The same thing happened with Ukraine.

In egregors, the main spiritual reason for these events is ignoring the will of the people during the collapse of the USSR.

In a global spiritual sense, this means that the republics separated not only from the Soviet Union, but also from the Russian people, from Moscow, the capital of the Russian state.

If you look from the spiritual world, the division of the Soviet Union looks like the separation of the outskirts of the Russian state from its center.

The Soviet leaders "gave" them the territories of the Russian Empire for the republics' accession to the Soviet Union, and when they left the Soviet Union, they took it all with them without asking the people. People didn't agree with this.

The abscess with bad contents accumulated over these 30 years exploded in every country. Recently it happened in Kazakhstan, but there it was not because of the territory, but because of the change of power.

Those who declared the territories independent should have looked at historical reports of what territories they received from the Soviet leadership, and before annexing them with a very raking hand, first asked the people's opinion on what they wanted.

The leaders should have realized that " we didn't have such a territory when we entered the Soviet Union, part of it was given to us for loyalty, for entry, and we suddenly come out with this gift without even asking the people ."

Well, okay, land can be a gift, like property, but people cannot be a gift.

Crimea was donated to Ukraine. Kuchma L.D. could ask the residents of Donbass, which was given by Stalin, and the residents of Crimea, which was given by Khrushchev

"Dear Donbass residents, dear Crimeans, you have a lot of Russians. Do you want an autonomous republic, so that you rule yourself, or do you want to return to Russia, as it was before the revolution, or do you want to go with Ukraine?"

You can say that gifts are not taken back.

But think! They gave not only land, they gave people, simply as slaves.

They took the whole Crimea and gave it to Ukraine, along with the Russians. It doesn't matter what language they speak, whether they belong to the European Union, NATO, whether they want to demolish monuments to Suvorov, etc. Nobody asked people at all.

We are Intelligent free divine Spirits !

These people who remained to live there began to be indignant that they wanted to go to Russia, and the authorities began to call them criminals. According to their laws, this was so.

Crimean Tatars have always been for Russia. The Krama Tatars are glad that Suvorov protected them from the Turks. Remember the Turkish war for Crimea? How much Russian blood was shed for Crimea?

The Crimean Tatars were captured by the Turks. They were captured and taken into slavery by the Turkish sultans. The girls were taken into the harem.

In the 18th century, the Crimean Tatars turned to the Empress with a request to protect them from the Turks. They did not go to Ukraine for help...

So, the spiritual reason for the death of people in the above territories is ignoring the will of the people.

MidgasCaus - biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations, planet Esler.

February 2022

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/y_t69JpWC4T

March 1, 2022

The Birth of Intelligent Spirits

Every intelligent Spirit is born by God outside the time of the material world. This process is eternal and infinitely simple, but at the same time infinitely complex and incomprehensible.

The flow of Divine Light outside the spiritual worlds and material universes known to you is not uniform.

It consists of the impulsive energy of Divine Consciousness.

The speed of the pulse flow is infinite, and the direction is self-closed.

Light impulses of Divine Thought carry the potential for self-organization into an autonomous spiritual entity.

The moment of encapsulation of a separate Divine Thought is elusive for the awareness of it itself; it depends on the Divine Will, driven by the power of Love.

At the birth of the rational Spirit, two Divine Impulses merge together and forever, giving rise to a third one, striving to separate itself from the Divine Flow.

It is only approximately possible to describe this process in modern Russian, but it is quite accessible to understanding through a view from the Spiritual Heart, which remembers and knows the Divine Truths, regardless of the ideas of the Mind.

The Impulse of Divine Love merges in the Stream of Spiritual Light with the Impulse of the Divine Mind. Their fusion is accompanied by a flash of Light of a different frequency of vibrations and generates the Will of a newborn spirit, a beloved child of God.

Elena Berezina. Creation of the Soul, 2017, x_smesh those 60x70cm

Will gives rise to the desire for autonomy and gives rise to self-consciousness as the primary monad around which the impulse of Divine Love and the impulse of Divine Reason are encapsulated.

Subsequently, from the Impulse of Love the Spiritual Heart develops, from the Impulse of the Mind the Spiritual Mind, and from the Will born by them all the Energies of the Spiritual Essence arise.

Since this process occurs outside the boundaries of all worlds and spaces, it is irreversible and cannot be determined in time and space.

The process of encapsulating a new spiritual Essence inevitably includes its attraction into the world of non-embodied Spirits, to the level that is closest in terms of the qualities of the Spirit, built into a structure by its self-consciousness, with the help of the desire of the Will for autonomy from the Divine Flow.

The level of the world of disembodied Spirits, where a newborn

Divine child ends up, depends on the strength of his volitional impulse to separate from the Flow of the Mental Energy of God, which he recognizes as Father and Mother at the same time, as well as on the attitude towards God that arose at the moment of encapsulation of self-consciousness, the rising of the star of the Spiritual Heart and their surroundings by the Crystal of Will and the Sphere of Reason.

The newly born spiritual Essence adapts to the world of disembodied Spirits, with the help of Arhats-Angels and Consultants

Her first incarnation, when she is ready for it and agrees, cannot take place in a world below the thirty-fifth density level, according to the Divine Law on the gradual adaptation of intelligent Spirits to the conditions of the material world.

Archangel Metatron, head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Spiritual World of the Milky Way Galaxy, ruler of the Jewish and Christian egregors on planet Earth.

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/9JrxcANU0DV

March 2, 2022

How creativity heals people

When a person begins to turn on his imagination - one of the abilities of the Mind, he activates his hidden powers of the Soul and opens a spiritual channel for communication with the Higher Self.

A person becomes himself in the sense that he expresses hidden feelings and desires through art, through creativity. At the moment of drawing, you may not control the information that comes from the depths of consciousness. You can be who you are. People often restrain themselves in behavior and speech and accumulate negative emotions. As a result, blocks are formed in a person’s etheric body, which affect not only the mental state and spiritual level, but also the physical body, creating certain diseases.

Drawing, music, sculpture, writing books, poetry, literature, embroidery - all forms of creativity - contribute to the healing of the Soul. Those feelings and emotions that have been suppressed come out in consciousness and are somehow displayed on material media. Thus, this negative block is already partially discharged. It no longer has such a detrimental effect on the physical body and the human psyche.

Anisya Lyubimova. Light (left). Inhale (right)

If we consider talent as a set of qualities, then the talent of an artist actually requires several conditions. This is not only a rich and developed imagination, but also the ability to control fine motor skills of the hands, for example. And the ability not only to remember visual images well, but also to transfer them to paper, and not to be distorted during memory. This is called photographic memory. Of course, it can be developed within some limits.

If a person has this set of innate qualities, which depends on the total experience of the Soul in all incarnations and its individual tasks, the Higher Self enhances certain qualities, depending on the task. Moreover, this gain can change during life. A person can be a janitor and suddenly become an artist, and vice versa.

Mentors, through the Higher Self, with the consent of the Higher Self, strengthen these abilities so that the person completes some other tasks of his incarnation. If he has completed the task with which he came into this incarnation, other tasks may appear, including not only for him, but also for the people around him, so that he can help them with something, for example, and thereby raise his spiritual level and spiritual other people's level.

This artist's talent (a set of certain qualities that make him more capable) does not in itself make him an artist. If he does not develop these abilities in himself with constant practice, then his results will be worse than those of someone who does not have talent, but has worked on himself.

To test the presence of photographic memory, you need to put a simple object in front of you, for example, a glass with some kind of color design, look at it for about a minute, turn away, take colored pencils and try to draw it. A true artist will easily depict the design, the location of the glass, and how the shadow fell. He won't forget anything because it will be stored in his mind.

Svetlana Rybalchenko. Characters and terrain

It happens that fine motor skills of the hands are not developed. It happens that they do not move in the direction in which the mind sets, there is not enough conditioned reflex. A person may not be able to draw what he remembers. This may upset and disappoint him, and he will give up trying to learn.

Fine motor skills can be developed in many ways. There are exercises, and again constant practice. Not a single artist was born the way he became, for example, after 10 years of work. Everyone made mistakes. Everyone had pictures that were drawn schematically. The volume and reality of the picture do not appear immediately.

Each person must decide for himself how important art and creativity are to him. This is not only pleasure, but also work. Indeed, the creativity of the Spirit increases vibrations and allows us to become like the Creator of all worlds. This, in turn, enhances the energy of a person’s thoughts and, among other things, strengthens his thought forms that he sends into the world. This can bring the embodiment of such thought forms closer into reality, if, of course, this corresponds to the goals and objectives of the embodiment. If a person dreams of something that does not correspond, the Higher Self can block this embodiment.

It is very important to create not in isolation from your Higher Self, but in contact with it. And not for yourself, but for the entire people where you live, with the desire to give this beauty as a form of Love to everyone who will look at it. When you create, stand in the place of someone who will contemplate your creativity, then you will merge with him and convey what the Souls of many need.

Don't be afraid to express yourself creatively. Even if you don't have a teacher nearby, take a piece of paper, a set of pencils and simply draw, for example, what you remember from yesterday. Depict the feeling of your Love, the Sun as you imagine it, the stars, the Universe. Draw your Soul, what it looks like, what features differ from its body. You don't have to be an artist to create. The main thing is not to think about mistakes, but to express yourself as best you can.

Hans Lamers: "I saw my son, but it was difficult for him to walk on Earth due to gravity"

You don't have to show this creativity to anyone. It may just be personal for you and your family. You should not be afraid or embarrassed that you will be judged for, for example, your inability to draw. Fears need to be completely let go. Yes, you are not perfect. But your imperfection is an opportunity to learn something. This is actually a wonderful state of inexperience, naivety, when a person has a path of knowledge ahead of him.

Teach your children to draw. Don’t just draw, but take it more calmly. So that they do not evaluate, do not compete with each other, but look into their Soul, try to express it. Do not judge your comrades, but help others with your approval.

PiosNior is an art critic, psychologist, specialist in the transmission of sound vibrations for the purification and harmonization of space, a specialist in the study of arts on different planets, a representative of the planet Esler.

November 2021

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/qVZCJ2qgLRm

March 12, 2022

Intelligent Spirits, energetic entities and natural souls - their occurrence, differences, classification and characteristics

Many people, due to living in cities isolated from wild nature, have lost their understanding of the differences between animals and people. This occurs due to such a property of the human psyche as the projection of one’s feelings and qualities onto all surrounding beings and phenomena of objective reality - which is an inevitable property of the mind, which cognizes the world through the formation of figurative ideas in memory.

Without clarity on this issue, it is very difficult to follow the path of spiritual development towards increasing one’s vibrations and becoming like God - for distorted ideas about the structure and purpose of different types of living beings give rise to illusory ideas about our Heavenly Father and the path to Him.

What are the main differences between humans and any, even the most intelligent animals?

It's all about the origin of other living beings, their internal qualities and tasks in the Universe. In man, as in any rational being of the Universe, the Reasonable Immortal Spirit is embodied.

He was born by God in the process of merging two projections of the Absolute Light: Divine Mind and Divine Love. Each Intelligent Spirit is endowed with the potential to develop all abilities to the level of its Father - subject to coincidence with Him in vibration, which is acquired as a result of the Spirit's free choice of ways to realize its qualities and properties.

One of the main abilities of the Reasonable Spirit is creative imagination, which is a paternal gift from the Creator of all worlds. Possessing this ability, Intelligent Spirits can create energy entities that do not possess immortality, but have various characterological qualities, arbitrarily connected by the creative will of their creators in various combinations.

The following are the types of energy entities that can be created by Intelligent Spirits

A phantom is an energetic entity created by an embodied or non-embodied Spirit, charged with vital force to fulfill a specific purpose.

Chimera is an energetic entity created by the Spirit, embodied in a subtle body, endowed with feelings, emotions and instinctive intelligence for embodiment in an organic body that has the ability to spontaneously move, feed, grow and reproduce.

Lyarva is an energetic essence created by the Spirit, embodied in the body, endowed with its vitality and charged with negative thoughts, feelings and desires.

Eidos is a Spirit-created entity endowed with only one feeling or emotion and charged with the desire for growth. Can be embodied in bodies that do not have the ability to move arbitrarily.

A thought form is an entity created by the Spirit, endowed with one or more imaginative ideas and charged with vital force for their materialization.

An egregor is a collective entity created by several or many Spirits, endowed with ideas, feelings, emotions and desires, and charged with the life force of its creators and “participants.”

Spirits that incarnate in subtle-material civilizations can create any type of energy entities. Subsequently, those of them whose task is to create and manage planetary biospheres create several types of mortal souls.

Only God the Father can bestow immortality and freedom of choice, therefore souls not created DIRECTLY by HIM do not have these qualities!

Types of souls that are created by plasmoid thin-material civilizations on planet Earth:

Group souls of microorganisms: viruses, bacteria and protozoa.

Group souls of plants and mushrooms.

Group souls of insects, worms and arthropods.

Group souls of mollusks and amphibians.

Group and single souls of fish, reptiles and birds.

Solitary souls of mammals.

All these types of souls are divided into three large groups:

Souls of microorganisms,

Plant souls,

Animal souls.

The common name for all souls created by plasmoids is natural souls.

Without a soul, no organic body can live, no matter what substances it consists of, and no matter what shape and size it has.

The soul is a form of embodiment of the Divine energy of Life in matter, created from the Divine Light of Reality to manifest the potential qualities of our Heavenly Father.

Animal souls are created from energy entities called chimeras, souls of microorganisms are created from thought forms, and eidos are the prototypes of plant souls.

If plasmoids - the creators of natural souls - have a lot of negativity, denial of the world and themselves, then into the created souls they consciously or not, but put larvae generated by their Spirit, which leads to the appearance of parasitic forms of plants, microorganisms and insects, as well as unmotivated aggression in animals directed against other animals and humans.

Any group natural souls consist of individual cells created from ideas and thought forms depicting the appearance of physical bodies, as well as their functions and instinctive programs that determine the scenarios of their lives.

The smaller the body of a living being and the simpler its nervous system is, the greater the number of such bodies the group soul incarnates into.

When a group soul acquires several bodies, it desires greater manifestation, and then plasmoids collect natural substances to enable the remaining cells of the group soul to embody.

When several bodies of a group soul die, it begins to activate the protective functions of its remaining bodies and tries to embody its cells that have lost their bodies in other plants or animals.

If all the bodies of the group soul have died, then it goes to a special area allocated on the first three floors of the astral plane to await the next incarnation.

The order and duration of incarnations of all natural souls are determined by plasmoids, whose task is to control the biosphere in one or another area of physical space. Different types of natural souls have an unequal number of incarnations.

When the vital energy invested in them by their creators, the plasmoids, is exhausted, they dissolve in the astral plane, and the ideas and thought forms that made up their instinctive programs and the feelings, desires and emotions acquired in incarnations are absorbed by the plasmoids - the creators of natural souls and material elements.

Subsequently, they are used in the creation of elemental forces and their control, as well as in the creation of new natural souls and etheric frames for Intelligent Spirits incarnating on a given planet, so that they can attach their life energy to these frames and create their own etheric fields connecting their physical bodies with biosphere of the planet.

Solitary animal souls consist of three structures:

spiritual essence (heart), which includes instinctive programs, feelings and desires;

the instinctive mind, consisting of memory and thinking;

three types of energies - emotions, instinctive will and the flow of perception.

Different species of animals also have different instinctive programs. The degree of consciousness of the stream of perception and the concentration of the will on specific instincts, as well as many other parameters of animal souls, also differ greatly. The number of incarnations for single soul animals is usually greater than for group ones. But, in the end, their energies run out, and then they dissolve in the astral plane.

The purpose of the existence of animals, plants and microorganisms (“carriers” of natural souls) is to create and maintain the biospheres of planets for the evolution of dense material bodies - which is necessary for the subsequent incarnation of intelligent spirits in the physical world and providing for their bodily needs when they are incarnated within the biospheres of their planets .

Lee Shioni, specialist in astral interactions, planet Shimor.

MidgasCaus, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien life forms, planet Esler.

Rutihshur, plasmoid of the 18th density level, observer of biosphere processes on the physical plane of the Earth (specifically, the territory of the Voronezh region), planet Earth, subtle-material plane.

October, 2021

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/QRRgpHjD8yu

March 17, 2022

The function of the genes of each of the alien races

Information about the functions of the genes of each of the parent races in the human genome was transmitted to me by representatives of the Interstellar Union of our galaxy.

Man is a combination of biological and spiritual nature. His physical body contains the genetic information of four different races, completely different from each other.

Current composition of the human genome

Most of all, representatives of earthly civilization contain genetic information from the primates of their home planet. This made it possible to stabilize the genetic information of three races that came from outer space and decided to participate in the Great Mystery of creating a creature in which a rational spirit could incarnate from the eternal and common home for all - the world of disembodied spirits.

45% of the genetic information of terrestrial primates allows intelligent earthlings to easily adapt to the natural world of your planet, but, due to the peculiarities of the evolution of these animals, the human brain is designed in such a way that the intelligent Spirit, which manifests itself through it, easily forms habits - even automatic reflexes, sometimes replacing truly spiritual thinking.

At the same time, in the cerebral cortex of an earthly person, stable connections between neurons are formed like a network. The energy of the nerve cells involved in these connections is always aimed at their preservation, which is carried out by activating the instinct of self-preservation when faced with a situation that contradicts the usual course of events or the formed worldview.

This is a useful Divine mechanism that helps the Spirit adapt to earthly reality very quickly and productively. But with a disharmonious upbringing and living in a society of low-vibration people, this feature contributes to the preservation of negative experiences of interaction with people and includes the instinct of self-preservation when trying to go towards Light and Faith, Kindness and Love.

The emotion of fear is precisely the earthly form of avoiding danger - real or imaginary. It occurs when the instinct of self-preservation is activated.

The genetic information of the inhabitants of Tumesout influences mainly the digestive and movement systems.

It was the genes of the Tumesoutians that made you omnivores, since after the War of Burkhad with Selbet, the Earth became different, and the conditions on it required a large amount of animal protein food to preserve and develop intelligent life than it was before.

Also, the genes of the Tumesoutians helped you become upright, flexible creatures, practically devoid of hair.

The information embedded in your DNA from the representatives of Burhad affects your immunity, as well as the hormonal and nervous systems.

It is thanks to the genes of Burkhad representatives that your lymphocytes have the ability to permanently remember the proteins of microorganisms that are dangerous to the body. This is the basis for preventive vaccination and treatment of infectious diseases by administering serum from the blood plasma of people who have successfully survived this disease.

In addition, Burkhadian genes allow the human brain to quickly memorize diverse information and store it in neural connections for a long time through the release of special proteins.

The bodies of representatives of the earthly race contain the least amount of genes from representatives of the planet Selbet - cold-blooded oviparous reptilians.

Despite the small percentage of these genes, they are very important for you.

It is they who encode the formation of synapses in the brain, which are capable of responding to an increase in the level of stress hormones (for example, adrenaline) with a surge of energy activity in the frontal and parietal regions of the brain, through which the consciousness of the rational spirit, as well as its will and thinking, manifests itself.

Thanks to this, in situations of discomfort and danger, instead of the usual activation of brain receptors for aminobutyric acid derivatives, which is usual for primates, which leads to fear, depression and flight, there is an increase in the activity of the dopamine-serotonin system with the subsequent release of endorphins of various natures, restoring the biochemical balance of neurons.

This allows people in stressful situations to adequately perceive the world around them, think productively, and act effectively and in accordance with the circumstances.

Every earthly person contains a genetic complex that allows him to live and develop on this planet as a harmonious biological, social and spiritual being, and the energy components of human DNA contain the potential of all the creators of your race.

The DNA of primates contains the energy of the earthly plasmoids that created the souls of these animals, and the DNA of the 3 galactic races contains the energy of their planets and star systems.

Thus, the paths are open for intelligent Spirits embodied in earthlings for contacts with humanoids, plasmoids and the Spiritual world.

These opportunities should be used by you for good - if you are interested in developing Divine qualities in yourself, without which true love, wisdom and happiness in the Light of the One God, the Creator of the Universe and our common Father are unthinkable.

MidgasKaus, Biological psychologist and specialist in alien life forms. Planet Esler.

Li Shioni, Specialist in the study of the astral world and Energy astral interactions. Planet Shimor.

Dusbe Pahr, Xenogeneticist, specialist in genetic modification of intelligent anthropomorphic races. Planet Ticht.

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/6UfVjYbf23x

March 23, 2022

Prana - the spirit of matter

This is the universal energy that nourishes all living things. Metabolism in living cells is possible only with the participation of this energy. Organic substances by themselves are not capable of forming complex structures, because they are subject to natural decay according to the law of entropy, common to the entire material universe.

Prana is the connecting link between the material and spiritual worlds. Any embodied Spirit can feel it. People usually perceive it at the level of physical vision, in the form of a bluish-white glow around parts of the physical body that are not covered by clothing.

Any living cell, autonomous or included in more highly organized structures, is necessarily endowed with prana, but in different quantities, which depends on the type and number of dense material formations.

All metabolic processes in living cells and intracellular formations, down to individual molecules and atomic structures, occur under the influence and control of prana, which in turn is controlled by the energies of instinctive programs and the energy of consciousness of the embodied intelligent Spirit, if present.

Irina received this text via a telepathic channel when it was first turned on.

Odus, the main coordinator of the planet Esler for interaction with the civilization of Earth.

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/duh-i-materiya

March 26, 2022

Spirit and matter. Message from Odus, chief coordinator for work with earthly civilization on the planet Esler

Your modern science develops in your consciousness the idea of man as a totality of material elements, considering the entire complex and multifaceted spiritual life only from the point of view of biology and organic chemistry.

But our world is accustomed to a completely different scientific paradigm: matter and spirit are different frequency-vibrational levels of the single energy of the Creator, in Whom everything that exists lives and moves.

If the power structures of your planet decide to introduce the study of the origin and relationship of matter and Spirit into the educational program, then people will have the opportunity to act consciously at a higher level of spiritual consciousness, which will allow you to abandon the destructive actions that cause the degradation of yourself and your world.

Thus, your suffering will be significantly reduced, and earthly civilization will come closer to universal awareness of the value of the life of any incarnated intelligent Spirit.

Only true unity brings Divine fruits, for perfect happiness cannot be achieved by everyone alone.

A fruit tree blooming in spring is the result of the unity and harmony of all elements. Fire, water, air and earth all participate in this act of blossoming and joy.

Unity is the harmony created by the joint selfless service of all the elements, this is the activity that supports and connects all energies into one great driving force called “happiness.”

Happiness is the design of God of Absolute Love. The purpose of all the energies of God is to serve Him in a single burst of joy.

A happy life is also our common goal. Different types of humanoid and plasmoid races are also different energies of the Almighty and, therefore, by serving Him selflessly, we realize our unity with the world of God. By doing His will, we become useful to everyone. But if the immortal rational Spirit serves only its own personal interests, then the life of a society of such spirits falls apart into small parts of individual human destinies.

The Incarnate Spirit, thinking only about his own needs, forgets about the needs of society, and thinking about the problems of his world, he forgets about his nature and his own destiny. However, the Supreme Universal Mind, which supports the existence of all Spirits without exception, knows each individual and all together.

This can be seen in the example of an anthill or bees: it is obvious that in addition to their own instinctive mind, they are controlled by the mind of natural Spirits. What is given to these insects is also given to the intelligent Spirit, but in a different way.

The ant submits to the wisdom of natural spirits unconsciously, because its mind is instinctive, and a person can cognize Divine wisdom consciously, with the help of a special kind of mind. But this is possible only on one condition: he must pacify his lower instinctual self and recognize the omnipotence of God.

Serving God in Love can become conscious thanks to the development of Divine consciousness in the consciousness of each Spirit. Just as each ant does its job, obeying the voice of instincts and natural Spirits, in the same way any incarnated Spirit, no matter who he is in his society, can hear the voice of his Higher Self speaking to him through conscience.

The message was conveyed by Odus, the chief coordinator for work with earthly civilization, planet Esler.

September, 2019

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/A1Zc-YOHuao

March 27, 2022

Energy blocks in the chakra system

Energy blocks are clots of etheric energy charged with negative thoughts, feelings, emotions and desires. These formations prevent the correct energy exchange of a person with the environment, which leads to physical and mental illnesses, addictions and sociopathic behavior, which in a suitable environment leads to crimes, wars, suicide and other forms of personal, family and social violence.

In addition, negative blocks block the Light of unconditional love coming to every soul through the spiritual channel through the Higher Self from the Creator of all worlds and spaces. This leads to disorientation of the embodied spirit in the material world and ultimately to the failure to fulfill its tasks and goals of incarnation.

Not each of the mental processes listed above gives rise to a block in the aura, but only one that exists for a long time and, with the help of an enhanced vector of attention, is charged with a person's vital force from his etheric field.

The human aura, as a set of energy fields of all chakras, has a fairly flexible and soft structure, which makes it possible to form a sufficiently large number of blocks charged with various negative astral-mental impulses, even in the same chakras.

We call a negative process a process that goes against the flow of God's unconditional Love. Anything that is contrary to this Love can potentially create a negative energy block.

Thought is a flow of mental energy. It is formed in all departments of the Mind : in memory, thinking and imagination. A thought can be rejected by self-consciousness as insignificant or erroneous, or it can be accepted for consideration by directing the vector of attention for processing by thinking.

In the second case, the flow of ethereal energy connects with the flow of mental energy, and if the thought is negative, a microblock is formed, which, being undissolved, attracts subsequent microblocks on the same topic.

If a large mental negative block is formed, it will exist in two auric fields simultaneously: in the mental, in the form of a negative mental attitude, and in the etheric, in the form of a clot of energy, at the level of the chakra responsible for one or another sphere of human activity.

Feeling is a wordless relationship of the spirit to external objects, phenomena and to oneself, existing in both the astral and mental fields simultaneously. Feelings are formed in the heart of the soul with the help of life force from the etheric field, so if the feelings are negative, the formation of blocks from them occurs relatively easily and quickly, in those chakras through which a person's attitude to the sphere of life that causes denial and rejection is manifested.

Emotion is a flow of astral energy for the reaction of the spirit to changes in the external and internal environment. This flow is formed in the external energy sphere of the spirit and, through its impact on the brain, affects the state of the physical body.

This is accompanied by directing the vector of attention to the emotion that has arisen and, if it is significant for the spirit, it connects with the flow of etheric energy to transmit the reaction of the spirit to the physical level. If the emotion that arises is of a negative nature and subjective significance for the spirit, then a negative block is easily formed in the astral field, in the projection of the chakra responsible for the sphere of life that caused the negative reaction.

A desire is a conscious need. A person's needs are built into his spiritual heart at the moment of conception and are constantly modified throughout life. There are four types of needs: physical, instinctive, social and spiritual.

Spiritual needs are brought by the soul from the spiritual world; these are goals and objectives of incarnation collected into specific aspirations. And at conception, at the moment of union of the soul with the body, it takes into its spiritual heart the instincts of the body, along with physical and instinctive needs. Social needs begin to form as an adaptation to society, around the age of seven.

They are a compromise between physical and spiritual needs and quickly appear, change and disappear as the child grows and his social environment changes.

Each need can give rise to one or several desires, which, appearing in the stream of consciousness, immediately attract the attention of the spirit along with the vital force for their materialization. Originated desires are in the astral field, while the needs that gave rise to them are in the structure of the mental field.

If the spirit recognizes the desire as negative, evil and harmful, but does not harmonize with the mental need that caused the desire, then it is placed in the unconscious part of the memory, from where the unrealized need constantly tries to get it back. In this case, from a desire assessed by the spirit as negative, a block of vital force is formed, which retains the negative desire in the unconscious part of the memory. Such a block appears in the area of the chakra, which is responsible for that area of life, interaction with which causes internal conflict and a decrease in the vibration of the spirit.

Chakras are energy information centers, through which the spirit manifests itself and forms all the subtle fields of the aura. Below is a list of areas of life for which the seven human chakras are responsible:

Muladhara - Life, health, safety.

Svadhisthana - Family, children, parents, spouses.

Manipura - Work, career, finance.

Anahata - Helping others, service, compassion, charity.

Vishuddha - Communication, creativity, inspiration.

Ajna - Knowledge of the world and oneself, self-improvement, intuition.

Sahasrara - Contact with the Higher Self, Conscience, Enlightenment, Holiness.

The chakras are also the center of harmonization between the spirit, the etheric field and the physical body, controlling at a subtle level the work of all organs of the physical body. Below is a list of chakras indicating the organs of the physical body that depend on their state.

Muladhara - Bones, joints, spine, teeth.
Svadhisthana - Urogenital organs, lower intestines, skin, hair, nails.
Manipura - Stomach, liver, pancreas, spleen, small intestine.
Anahata - Heart, lungs, esophagus, trachea, blood vessels, blood and lymph, mammary glands, thymus.
Vishuddhi - Larynx, nasopharynx, tongue, lips, vocal cords, thyroid gland.
Ajna - Eyes, ears, pituitary gland, hypothalamus, pineal gland.
Sahasrara - Brain, spinal cord, nerve ganglia, nerve channels.

Energy blocks in the chakras prevent normal energy exchange between the etheric field and the physical body, which can cause decreased immunity, autoimmune processes and cellular mutations that can initiate an oncological process in the organs for which the blocked chakra is responsible.

In addition, in those areas of life for which the blocked chakra is responsible for interaction, discord and disharmony begin due to the energy exchange with the egregors of the earth's noosphere disrupted by the block. And of course, any energy block worsens the connection with the Higher Self and distorts the reception of information from curators from all worlds and density levels.

In addition to all of the above, a large amount of vital energy is spent on creating a block and maintaining it in the unconscious part of the psyche, which is why a person feels a loss of strength and pain in different parts of the body, despite rest. This causes chronic irritability, sleep problems and decreased productivity.

It is very important for all people to learn to identify and dissolve their blocks and not to create new ones. This is a condition for true spiritual development, the goal of which is Enlightenment and life in fusion with the consciousness of God. But this is impossible without developing self-love, love for people and love for the Heavenly Father, who gave us the opportunity to live in this beautiful Universe, cognizing His plan and revealing His countless Divine qualities.

Siti Raum, specialist in digital coding of microchips and their interaction with the energy field of earthly people, astrobiologist, nanotechnologist and xenopsychologist, planet Burkhad.

MidgasCaus, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien civilizations, planet Esler.

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/h8Lr0wV8THW

March 29, 2022

Human energy bodies. Chakras and energy centers

Each intelligent Spirit, incarnating in a body of one or another density and one or another type of intelligent being, creates in it and around it an aura consisting of several layers, fields or bodies. They, in turn, form projections of energies of various vibrations, which are called energy centers or chakras.

The number of fields in the aura and the number of chakras, as well as their structure, are strictly individual for each type of humanoid and plasmoid. Earthlings are characterized by a seven-frequency aura model, which fully reflects the activity of the intelligent Spirit on planets with a seven-stream astral atmosphere, which includes the Earth.

The spirit, incarnating into an earthling, creates seven bodies and seven chakras reflecting the energy of these bodies in the projection of a dense material body. This occurs during the first nine earthly years of complete union of the Spirit with the earthly body.

The fully formed aura of an earthly person has seven fields or bodies and seven chakras, reflecting their projection in the physical body.

Here are the names of these bodies and chakras and their characteristics:

The aura of the physical body, containing vibrational frequencies of instinctive programs and partly vital energy, is manifested through the first energy center, which is located in the projection of the coccyx of the physical body. The normal frequency of the first energy center is 280 hertz.

The life force of the embodied spirit and partly the vibrational frequencies of its emotions and desires create the human etheric body, which is manifested through a second energy center located five centimeters below the point to which the umbilical cord was attached during fetal development. The frequency of the second energy center is 400 hertz.

The emotional and partially volitional energy of the embodied spirit creates the human astral body, which is projected through the third energy center located between the place of attachment of the umbilical cord and the lower part of the sternum. The frequency of the third energy center is 420 hertz.

The bulk of the volitional energy of the embodied spirit and the vibrational frequencies of its feelings and conscious thoughts create the human mental body, which is projected through the fourth energy center, located at the level of the thymus gland. The frequency of the fourth energy center is 530 hertz.

The vibrational frequencies of the conscious and repressed memory of the embodied spirit and partly the energy of his consciousness create the human causal body, which is projected through the fifth energy center located at the level of the thyroid gland. The frequency of the fifth energy center is 640 hertz.

The vibrational frequencies of the thinking and intuition of the embodied spirit, as well as most of the energy of its consciousness and self-awareness, form the human buddhic body, which is projected through the sixth energy center, located in the area above the bridge of the nose of the physical body. The frequency of the sixth energy center is 740 hertz.

The vibrational frequencies of the imagination of the embodied spirit and the energy of the Light of his Higher Self, his non-embodied part, going through the channel of communication with the spiritual world, form the atmic body of a person, which is projected through the seventh energy center, located in the area of the crown of the head of the physical body. The frequency of the seventh energy center is 850 hertz.

All chakra frequencies given are average for a male earthling, aged 30-35 years, without serious pathologies of the physical body and in a harmonious and bright state of the Spirit, in a clear consciousness, within the boundaries of the physical body.

Earthly women have chakra frequencies on average 15-20% higher than men, giving them increased emotional and intuitive sensitivity compared to them.

In children, chakra frequencies are higher than in adults by an average of 30-40%, and before they reach nine years of age, their chakras are just being formed along with their energy bodies, which is accompanied by a large spread in the values of their frequency ranges and a tendency to their sudden and strong changes.

The information was conveyed by Thius-Riongi, a specialist in energy interactions of anthropomorphic humanoids with the environment, biophysicist and psychophysiologist, planet Esler.

April 2020

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/Z0_Kl8lbeBP

April 5, 2022

Activation and opening of the seven chakras

Activation or opening of a chakra is a state in which a specific property of the intelligent Spirit is most actively and balanced, creating one of the fields of a person's aura, projected onto one or another energy center in the physical body.

At the same time, there is an acceleration of physical, psychological and energetic processes for which one or another energy center is responsible.

1) To activate the first chakra (MULADHARA), which is located in the tailbone area, it is necessary to get rid of fears, transforming them into a feeling of confidence and security. For this purpose, contact of feet without shoes with the ground, grass, sand, small stones and other types of natural soil is useful. Wearing red clothes, especially those made from goat and sheep wool, is also beneficial.

Physical work, especially in nature or with natural materials (wood, minerals, metals, stones, etc.), also helps to activate the first energy center.

This is also facilitated by inhaling the aromas of cypress and tea tree, as well as pronouncing the following words four times a day, four repetitions each:

LAB HONE DABUR OM GUA NAME LANG.

They must be repeated out loud, sitting with your eyes closed, on a hard surface, fingering a thread of red wool in your hands, the length of which will be equal to your height, and imagining the color red in front of you - at the same time focusing on the tailbone area.

This practice is useful for people full of fears and lack of confidence in themselves and their abilities. Their instinct of self-preservation, when the first chakra is activated, is harmonized with the real situation, which allows them to live without anxiety and actively achieve their goals, without fear of making mistakes.

Dissolving energy blocks in the first energy center allows you to direct vital energy to eliminate diseases of the musculoskeletal system, pelvic organs and lower large intestine, including the rectum.

A sign of excessive activation of this center is an increased desire for bodily pleasures and a reluctance to read or think about spiritual subjects. In this case, it is necessary four times a day to mentally transfer energy from the first energy center up the etheric channel in the area of the spine, trying to bring the flow to the fourth energy center (to the chest).

2) To activate the second chakra (SVADHISTHANA), which is located in the lower abdomen, it is necessary to get rid of feelings of guilt and one's own inferiority, translating them into a feeling of accepting oneself and other people as they are. Contact with water is useful for this - for example, swimming and dousing, as well as wearing orange clothing made from natural plant materials. Singing and dancing also help activate this chakra.

Inhaling the aroma of ylang-ylang and saying the following words six times twice a day can help with this:

AGATAGUL KHAR MAROB EL KATASAR ET AL.

These words must be said at sunrise and sunset, sitting in front of the window with your eyes closed and your back straight. In this case, you need to press a round piece of natural orange fabric to the lower abdomen, the diameter of which will be equal to the diameter of the top of your head, and which is measured by applying a thread immediately under the hairline above the forehead, then above the ears and above the back of the head.

This practice is useful for people who are in a state of despondency and creative crisis - when a person is unable to see happiness in anything. The emotions of such people begin to manifest themselves more calmly, evenly and adequately to the situation that caused them, which allows them to free up their energy for real actions aimed at changing their lives.

Dissolving energy blocks in the second energy center allows you to direct vital forces to heal diseases of the genitourinary system and endocrine glands that secrete sex hormones.

A sign of excessive activation of this center is an increase in sexual desire with the simultaneous suppression of moral principles in the memory of the spirit, which gives rise to disappointments and resentments in a person's personal life.

In this case, it is necessary to clear the person's energy field of attachments to sexual partners and three times a day mentally direct orange light from the second energy center up the etheric channel in the area of the spine, trying to bring the flow of this light to a place just above the back of the head, and then bring it out through the sixth energy center (center of the third eye), mixed with a stream of blue light.

3) To activate the third energy center (MANIPURA), which is located in the solar plexus area, it is necessary to transform doubts about the correctness of your path into the desire to go through it - in order to practically learn the Divine laws of controlling reality and to develop in yourself one of the main qualities of true love - responsibility.

For this purpose, it is useful to look at an open fire, eat hot food and drinks, as well as hot seasonings. In addition, wearing yellow cotton clothes will be beneficial.

This can also be helped by inhaling the aromas of ginger and cinnamon, as well as saying the following words out loud:

WAGBE DAGAT LAKWE FAT.

They must be recited twice a day, eight times, while the Sun is shining, while sitting with support on your back and legs extended and spread at a slight angle. In this case, you need to place and light a small thin candle, greased with cinnamon essential oil, between your knees.

When pronouncing words that activate the third chakra, you need to look at the fire without blinking or looking away.

This will achieve maximum effect, which will cause people with weak will and a tendency towards laziness and boredom to strive for organized and thoughtful activities in almost all areas of life. Dissolving energy blocks in the third energy center allows you to direct vital energy to eliminate diseases of the gastrointestinal tract and restore proper metabolism.

A sign of excessive activation of this energy center is the predominance of purposefulness and volitional impulses for activity over the moral attitudes of the individual, which can lead to excessive arrogance, power and conflict.

In this case, it is necessary four times a day, when the Sun is shining in the sky, to mentally imagine a ray of yellow light that rises up from the solar plexus along the etheric channel in the spine and, together with the stream of air exhaled from the mouth, comes out, forming a cocoon around the person yellow light like the Sun. Each exercise to redistribute the energies of the third energy center must be performed for at least three minutes.

4) To activate the fourth energy center (ANAHATA), which is located at the level of the middle of the sternum, it is necessary to transform all grievances towards people, towards life and towards ourselves into sincere gratitude to everyone for the experience gained and into wishes for everyone's happiness in the development of love. This will be helped by wearing green clothes made of natural silk, singing songs and reading poems about love and mercy, as well as walking in the open air and communicating with plants and animals.

Inhaling the aromas of cedar, sandalwood, bergamot and rose also helps to activate Anahata. In addition, the following exercise helps: stand with a straight back in front of an open window, door or vent, close your eyes and say out loud two times twelve times:

EXIO TARA LAGA GOMULA LAN DABUR.

At the same time, cross your palms at the Fourth Energy Center (men should have their right hand on top, and women should have their left), and tilt your head back a little, without straining your neck.

This practice should be done once a day, when the Sun in your area is at its zenith. This will allow people who are prone to irritability and resentment to feel love, compassion and forgiveness. Dissolving blocks in the Fourth Energy Center allows you to direct vital force to heal diseases of the blood, cardiovascular system and stimulate the immune system.

A sign of excessive activation of this energy center is a concentration on self-pity, self-admiration of one's sympathy, as well as indulgence and approval of clearly immoral actions and actions of the one to whom love is directed - with the simultaneous fear of losing his (or her) affection.

In this case, it is necessary for at least fifteen minutes a day to mentally imagine a stream of green light, which, rising along the etheric channel in the spine to the level of the neck and mixing there with a stream of blue light, comes out through the etheric channels of the hands and the centers of the palms to any person, animal or plant , which needs healing and energy replenishment.

There is no need to be afraid of losing your energy, because your Angels-Mentors from the spiritual world will give you a greater flow of light, happiness and love, the more you distribute it through yourself to all people and to the material world as a whole!"

5) To activate the fifth energy center (VISHUDDHI), which is located in the thyroid gland, it is necessary to transform the energies of suppressed anger and envy into the energy of forgiveness and calm acceptance of people and situations as sent to you by God to develop the ability to stay with Him always in Absolute Joy and Knowledge and Love, regardless of the type of matter where you incarnate, the degree of its density and the conditions of those worlds that you choose to manifest yourself and exchange experiences with others.

To help activate the fifth energy center, it is necessary to get rid of obscene and rude words in speech, communicate more with people, trying to show maximum sincerity, openness and trust in them, as in your brothers and sisters, children of the One Father, who loves everyone and wishes everyone only good things. This will also be facilitated by wearing blue clothes made of natural linen, singing mantras and songs out loud, especially about God and the spiritual world, and the free constructive expression of any emotional states that can be manifested through speech.

The awakening of Vishuddhi is facilitated by inhaling the aromas of lavender and valerian, as well as performing the following exercise: sit with a straight back and with your eyes closed and slowly rotate your head from right to left, while listening to calm, non-rhythmic music without words, or the sounds of nature. You need to do this fourteen times, and then say the following text out loud four times:

AUM PARMESH VARYA VID MAHE PARA TATTVA DHIMAHE TANNO BRAHMA PRACHA DAYAT.

After this, you must immediately eat eighteen dried red grapes and drink 150-200 ml of infusion from lavender flowers. It is advisable to repeat this once every five days, two hours before sunset. This will allow people who are afraid to express their sociability and creativity to be self-sufficient and courageous, but at the same time tactful in expressing their opinions.

Dissolving the blocks in this energy center will allow you to direct vital energy to heal diseases of the throat, respiratory system and thyroid gland. A sign of excessive activation of this energy center is the desire to maintain meaningless conversations, to the detriment of the actions necessary for your development and helping others. In this case, a period of silence and stay in nature is necessary, preferably alone, for at least one day, in a state of calm reflection on one's life and mental appeal to God.

At sunrise and sunset, you will need to connect with your inner Light, and after that, for another fifteen minutes, mentally direct the blue flow of energy from the fifth energy center up through the neck, and as you exhale, bring it out through the mouth, imagining how around the physical body from this energy A dense blue cloud is formed.

6) To activate the sixth energy center (ADJNA), which is located just above the bridge of the nose, between the eyebrows, it is necessary to transform the energies of mistrust, suspicion and condemnation into the energy of faith, openness to new experience and the desire to learn everything unusual and unknown.

To help activate the sixth energy center, it is necessary to develop memory, creative thinking and imagination by performing various exercises, passing tests and solving problems on logic, attention, reproducing information from memory, and so on.

A variety of meditative and breathing practices, keeping a dream diary and the practice of astral and mental travel are also useful.

This will be facilitated by eating carrots and their juice, wearing blue clothes made from any natural materials and inhaling the aromas of sage and thyme.

It is also useful to do the following exercise after sunset: draw a blue circle with a diameter of three centimeters on a white sheet of paper. Hang it on the wall, just above your line of sight, and sit on the floor in any position comfortable for you with a straight back. Turn off all electric light sources in the room and light three candles, smeared with thyme essential oil, which should stand between you and the wall where the drawing will hang.

Then focus your gaze on the blue circle and, while fingering wooden rosaries or beads made from natural minerals in your hand, repeat quietly out loud thirty-six times:

OM SRI DELLA OM.

After this, drink a warm infusion of thyme and immediately go to bed, trying to stay in the state between sleep and wakefulness for as long as possible. It is useful to do this exercise every seventy-two hours, at the same time. To achieve this goal, it is especially important to have a calm, even state of mind and a sympathetic attitude towards all people, with a desire and readiness to help them.

Activation of the sixth chakra will help the development of memory, all types of thinking and imagination, and will also open the ability to energy vision and contacts with other civilizations.

Eliminating energy blocks in this energy center will allow you to direct vital energy to healing diseases of the sensory organs and perception of the environment and the endocrine glands, which are responsible for the immune system and hormonal balance of the body.

A sign of excessive activation of this energy center is alienation from loved ones, a reluctance to communicate with them and a mental retreat into the astral world or into the world of one’s mental images, with disregard for the needs of one’s body and a lack of desire to live and act in the material world.

In this case, it is necessary to do classes to develop the strength and endurance of the physical body, perform practices aimed at activating the first and second energy centers, varied and nutritious nutrition of the physical body and harmonization of a person's sex life.

Also, to achieve the balance of the sixth energy center, it will be useful immediately after waking up, without getting up and without opening your eyes, to focus on the point between the eyebrows and mentally emit a stream of blue energy from it, spreading it throughout the body and repeating out loud seven times the mood of the planet Esler for high vibrations:

"I am the Universe, the Universe is me.

The power of the universe is my strength, and my Spirit is part of the flow of existence of the Creator of all worlds. His power will be directed to the benefit of all beings living in all worlds and planes of existence. Reality will remain in truth, and lies in the illusion of perception will disappear forever."

After this, you need to get up, do physical exercises and take a contrast shower, and then have a full meal.

7) To activate the seventh energy center (SAHASRARA), which is located in the area of the crown, it is necessary to transform the energies of pride, greed and vanity into the energy of selfless Love, humility before God and the desire to help every intelligent Spirit to forever connect with its Source.

It is also beneficial to wear clothes of light purple and white colors, silk and fine cotton fabric, and inhale the aromas of frankincense and myrrh.

It is useful to study religious literature and participate in the rituals of that religious egregor in whose institutions and laws you sincerely believe. You also need to turn to the Higher Powers manifested in your chosen teaching, believing in their existence and help, without judging people who have chosen to develop their spirit in a religious denomination other than yours.

Every morning and every evening, before turning to the Higher Powers accepted in your religion, it is useful to say out loud seven times, facing the source of physical light:

OM SAT CIT ANANDA PARABRAHMA HARI OM TAT SAT.

At the same time, it is important to clearly understand that the Light visible in the material world is a reflection of the Light of the One who gave birth to us and created the infinitely complex Universe, as a selfless gift to us, His children.

Activation of the seventh energy center will help you find within yourself the Source of endless life and immeasurable happiness in the light of the true Love of God, in which all fears, anxieties, resentments, sadness and other destructive emotions that lead embodied spirits to degradation and their physical bodies to self-destruction dissolve.

Dissolving energy blocks in the seventh energy center allows you to feel your true Divine nature and constantly be in the flow of merging with your inner Light, which will allow you to gain awareness in every moment of existence and wisdom in understanding how to correctly and timely lead the spirits embodied next to you to their own To the Source of Light, in full recognition that the Highest Essences of all incarnated intelligent spirits communicate with each other in the spiritual world, realizing themselves as the rays of the One Sun, shining with the Light of Their Love.

At the physical level, activation of the Sahasrara allows one to direct vital force to heal diseases of the brain and the entire nervous system as a whole, as well as diseases of the body that have psychophysical and energetic causes for their manifestation.

Excessive stimulation of the Sahasrara can cause forgetfulness of the needs of the body and the material world in general, as well as judgment of less spiritually developed people with an arrogant and contemptuous attitude towards them.

In this case, the practice of activating the first energy center and mentally imagining in any free time two energy flows directed in opposite directions will help: red from the first energy center and violet from the seventh.

These two streams should move evenly towards each other to meet at the fourth energy center, turning into a bright white light, which should first fill the entire body, and then spread beyond it and fill the entire room where you are with its radiance.

This will help balance the excessive work of the seventh chakra with the energies of space, which will make it possible to realize the kinship of all intelligent spirits with God and among themselves and understand the value of the material world and the physical body as opportunities given to us to achieve Divine Perfection in all its fullness and limitlessness of all its forms and manifestations.

The information was conveyed by Doarm-Pruach, a specialist in the study of the energy structures of anthropomorphic humanoids, an astrobiologist and psychoenergeticist, planet Esler.

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/Xo4bSJmW74_

April 10, 2022

What is HIV and AIDS?

Frequently diagnosing people, we decided to ask our friends about HIV and AIDS. What is it? Are there ways to combat this? And this is what they answered us.

The human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) is not capable of causing dangerous pathology in everyone. For its nutrition and reproduction in the body, special energy and physiological indicators are needed. First of all, these are other parasitic, bacterial, viral and fungal pathogens that synthesize antigens that inhibit the functioning of the bone marrow, phagocytosis and the humoral immune defense system.

Any weakening of the etheric field for physiological, energy-informational and spiritual reasons causes a reactive decrease in immunity and, as a consequence, a higher probability of infection and rapid progression of the disease until its terminal stages.

AIDS is the most serious consequence of the residence and reproduction of HIV in human lymphocytes, which leads first to an imbalance of all parts of the immune system, and then to its sharp suppression and the addition of secondary infections, from which the patient’s body dies.

HIV can live not only in the indicated cellular elements of the blood, but also in some protozoa, for example, in Toxoplasma, Trichomonas, amoebas and other similar microorganisms. Despite parasitism, it does not cause such severe destruction to these protozoa as it does to the lymphocytes of humans and terrestrial primates, but enters into a mainly symbiotic relationship with them.

The virulence of this virus for humans, according to Esler's scientists, is due to a mutation of the virus of anthropoid apes, which resulted from sexual contacts of people with them and the mixing of their microflora, as well as as a result of experiments on the transplantation of endocrine glands from sick monkeys to people who practiced earthly scientists in the first quarter of the twentieth century.

The term HIV currently refers to more than two dozen viruses with various antigens in the protein shell, but due to frequent mutations, their number will increase.

HIV itself does not kill the body, it deprives the immune defense and makes the tissues of the organs of the human body easily accessible for habitation, nutrition and reproduction by a wide variety of microflora. The most important condition for increasing the life expectancy of the body and its productivity in the event of HIV detection is maintaining all parts of the immune defense, suppressing the multiplication of the virus in cells and cleansing the body of exotoxins and endotoxins.

To do this, first of all, it is necessary to harmonize all the internal structures of the Spirit, cleanse them of negative vibrations and fill them with the pure Divine Energy of the Creator. It is also necessary to increase the vitality in the etheric field by any available methods, always those that personally inspire trust and positive emotions. Otherwise, instead of enhancing the body’s energy and immunity, the opposite effect is possible.

It is necessary to use drugs selected individually for each patient, the names and dosages of which I cannot say in order to avoid self-medication. It is also mandatory to constantly use various herbal antimicrobial and immunomodulatory agents, especially eucalyptus leaves, St. John's wort, licorice root and calendula flowers. Propolis and bee products in general are also very useful.

In nutrition, a trend toward increasing the proportion of carbohydrates, including fast carbohydrates, and proteins is useful, unless, of course, there are significant concomitant pathologies. It is vital to consume a sufficient amount of fluid, depending on the weight and level of activity of a person, as well as stopping the introduction of toxic substances into the body: nicotine, carbon monoxide, ethyl alcohol, narcotic drugs, heavy metals, sodium nitrate and glutamate, artificial dyes and others substances that overload the body's excretory system and suppress the immune system.

All HIV carriers need to forgive and accept themselves and their disease. Dejection and fear will only speed up the process of destruction of the body. Take all necessary measures to minimize the risk of infecting others, but do not consider yourself dirty and vicious. Despite the presence of the virus in your bodies, you remain God's beloved children, and this disease serves as a lesson for you to properly treat your spirit and body.

The information was conveyed by Ripri-Toas, a specialist in energy informatics of terrestrial macro and microorganisms, xenobiologist and ecologist, planet Esler.

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/FButo2by5nP

April 13, 2022

Ways to increase a person's internal vibrations

My friend from the planet Esler MidgasCaus came to me in the astral body and I asked him about ways to increase my internal vibrations. This is what he told me.

Every object in the Universe, material or not, constantly radiates its energy, which has one or another frequency of vibrations - oscillations of energy waves in space. Man, as a spirit connected to the body with the help of vital force, emits into space a set of vibrations from the organs of the physical body and all the spiritual structures that are embodied in it.

This totality is very changeable and subject to the influence of many factors, and the well-being, mood, perception, and ultimately the health of a person, both spiritual and physical, which is its reflection, depend on it.

The normal cumulative frequency of the physical body of an earthling averages from 60 to 80 megahertz, and the frequency of the upper body, especially the head, is higher than the lower by an average of 20-25 megahertz.

The normal frequencies of spiritual structures are hundreds and thousands of times higher, but ideally they should be directly proportional to each other and the physical body, and their imbalance leads to a variety of mental, emotional and physical disorders.

The lower the vibrations of the physical body, the weaker the immune system works and the more difficult it is for the spirit to control its animal instincts. But difficult does not mean impossible. For many spirits embodied in people, the experience of transforming low vibrations into high ones is useful, and for this your body is a very perfect tool.

Much worse and more dangerous is the lowering of the vibrations of the spirit, which occurs from frequent negative emotions, negative feelings and thoughts that contradict the flow of Love from our Father and Creator of everything. This leads to the formation of low vibrational thought forms charged with evil, attracting evil plasmoids and disembodied spirits, which you call demons.

Ultimately, the low vibrations of the spirit reduce the vibrations of the body in which it is embodied and with which it is constantly connected until its death. The consequences of all this are physical and mental illnesses, both in the person himself and in his children, whose energy is one with their parents under 14 years of age.

On the contrary, high vibrations of the spirit are capable of raising the vibrations of the body and protecting it from the vibrations of any food, which Christ said well when he lived on Earth. Remember that by eating only high-vibration food, reading mantras and prayers, meditating and listening to special music to increase vibrations, but being in irritation, condemnation, envy and other negative psychoenergetic states, you only temporarily increase the vibrations of your body and spirit, but the negative ones you have formed thought forms will not only lower them again, but will also cause an imbalance in your entire energy system, which will lead to the consequences described above.

Whatever you eat and drink: animal food or plant food, raw or boiled, tasty or not so tasty - if you believe that the food you eat will be for your good, if you thank the One who allowed you to earn it and eat it, if Share it with all your heart with those who are hungry, then any food will greatly increase the level of your vibrations and will contribute to your spiritual development and through you the energy of Divine Love will manifest itself throughout the material world, which will become a source of endless happiness.

And if you do not work on destroying your own negative qualities, then no amount of food, mantras, meditations and other tools for artificially raising vibrations will help you enter into conscious contact with God in your soul and become independent from the management system aimed at making a profit for about your health and spiritual development.

The best exercises to raise vibrations are laughter and joy, accepting everything that happens in life as a Divine gift, faith, gratitude and good deeds for everyone around you, done unselfishly in a pure and joyful state of consciousness.

Let's use all the types of matter given to us to develop in Love and gratitude to the One who created it. This is the only way to fulfill the true goal of the incarnations of all spirits - to become non-different from God in internal vibrations, thoughts, feelings and capabilities.

MidgasCaus, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien life forms, planet Esler.

November, 2019

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/7dlOXuhFWoc

April 16, 2022

What is the Higher Self

Each spirit born by God can be in one of two possible states: manifested in the material world in a body of one density or another, or unmanifested, eternal, unchanging existence, which occurs in the spiritual world, which does not know the concepts of “time” and “space”, abiding in the eternal “Here” and “Now”.

When incarnated into a body of any density, the spirit, due to the difference in vibrations between itself and matter, never fully connects with the body, always leaving in the spiritual world its highest vibration manifestation, its particle of that eternal, infinite and loving Light, which is a drop a single ocean of Divine energy cannot be embodied in matter, continuously generating and maintaining its existence.

This spark of all-burning fire, a ray of endless Divine Light, the energy of Love, Truth and Life on Earth is called the Higher Self.

There are dozens of terms and concepts denoting the same phenomenon in different languages and in different belief systems, and of course this fate has not spared the Source of all concepts and objects in the Universe.

The Higher Self in various earthly systems of knowledge is called Superconsciousness, Super-Ego, Super-Ego, Cosmic Consciousness, Atman, Purusha, Image of God, Logos, Holy Spirit, Buddha and many other terms. Contact with him occurs very similarly for all incarnated spirits, no matter where they live and what they believe.

The usual feeling that captures the attention of the spirit is joy and inspiration, sometimes reaching the level of ecstatic delight, combined with a feeling of inner Light, peace and boundless, absolute Love for the whole world and for all beings. Very often there is a feeling of merging with the Light, with the cosmos, with nature, dissolving in them, but without losing the sense of existence of oneself as an individual.

On the contrary, in this state the spirit becomes more conscious than ever, it feels not only itself, but also that infinite and eternal Light that gave birth to it and put a small part of Itself into it, which nevertheless infinitely surpasses the entire Universe in its grandeur . This state is the ideal of all religious and philosophical systems of all humanoid and plasmoid worlds known to us.

Conscious resistance to the manifestation of the Highest Light in oneself often leads spirits to degradation to the level of demons, who, having locked God in the depths of their being with the bolts of hatred, pride and lust, create for themselves a false light, which is darkness for the true, just as darkness and misfortune are for a star. an object that you call a "black hole".

The radiance of visible stars is only a reflection of the Light of the face of the One who created them. Remember this when looking at the sky.

Each spirit is able to communicate with the disembodied part of itself, with that Light of Love that always resides in the spiritual world, each is capable and called to establish the power of God, the Kingdom of Heaven in his heart, in order to extend it to everything and everyone with whom he comes into communication and what it touches.

To contact the Higher Self, you only need a conscious desire and entry into a state of primordial peace, which occurs in children who are unencumbered by worries in the material world, who perceive everything around them without the prism of negative emotions and preconceived opinions, but purely, clearly and openly looking around with the eyes of love and acceptance everything that happens for absolute truth. This state allows you to raise your vibrations to those in which the Higher Self resides, which will allow you to begin to see and hear it and understand its answers.

Many people in your world need help to begin communicating with their Higher Self, but only at the initial stage. When you experience from your own experience the infinite Wisdom, Beauty and Love of God, you will more and more often strive to abide with Him and in Him, which will be a source of boundless happiness in the Light of Love of our common Heavenly Father and Creator of all that exists.

The information was conveyed by Pras-Khiontu, cultural scientist, psychologist and religious scholar, planet Esler.

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/sedobnoe-zoloto

April 21, 2022

Edible gold

We received a question from one subscriber about the effect of food gold on the physical and mental body. We turned to MidgasCaus for clarification on this issue.

It is believed that specially processed and purified gold has a healing effect on the body’s tissues and is easily absorbed by it. There are various forms of preparations containing microportions of gold, for example, Ayurvedic - Suvarna Bhasma, the so-called ash of gold.

Mead confirmed that gold in microdoses has a beneficial effect on the human body. It strengthens the immune system, accelerates the transmission of impulses in the brain and nervous system, harmonizes and balances the hormonal system.

The Earth's core contains a lot of gold. Some plants have the ability to accumulate metals in their leaves and stems. A rare and difficult-to-find element in other foods, it is found most in corn, since it is its roots that have the ability to suck gold from the ground. Its highest concentration is in corn silk.

Considering the healing properties of gold, eating corn is beneficial. The daily dose of gold is 5 mcg. To obtain the optimal dose, one bowl of corn porridge per week will be enough. Corn silk has a healing effect on the liver and pancreas. It is enough to add them little by little to tea.

MidgasCaus, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien life forms, planet Esler.

November, 2020

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/chto-takoe-rak-prichiny-ego-vozniknoveniya-i-sposo

April 22, 2022

What is cancer? The causes of its occurrence and methods of its treatment

Sometimes, when diagnosing a person, MidgasKaus says that a person, due to a large number of parasites throughout the body, viruses, fungi and all kinds of elevated microflora, develops a predisposition to cancer. There were even cases when he diagnosed CANCER.

I was very interested in this topic, and I started talking with him about cancer, because all good doctors refuse to hold a conference on cancer, for fear of losing their name and job. I realized that this disease is curable, but medication alone is not enough to treat it.

And most drugs simply finish off the body and energy of a sick person. They at Esler, unlike our medicine, have their own clear idea of what it is, how it is formed and how to treat it.

And as always, I took the opportunity through a telepathic channel with the coordination group of the planet Esler to ask a few questions.

Cancer diseases have become very widespread in modern earthly society. They were also in the history of your world, but due to the large percentage of infectious and traumatic pathologies at that time, they were not as relevant as they are now.

The word “cancer” refers to many different conditions of the earthling’s body, which have one common feature: the formation in various tissues of groups of cells, which, instead of coherently and harmoniously working for the benefit of the whole organism, begin to feed on the surrounding tissues, poisoning everything around with the products of their metabolism and multiply at a speed many times higher than usual for this type of fabric. Moreover, such formations act as a single harmonious organism, the goal of which is to destroy its host.

There are many different types of cancer cells on Earth: those of a parasitic nature external to humans and of their own. Among them are representatives of helminths, protozoa, fungi, bacteria, viruses and their combinations, as well as cells of almost any tissue of the human body, which for various reasons switched to a more ancient system of nutrition and respiration, characteristic of the very initial stages of the evolution of the animal world.

The causes of cancer of any type are always hidden in the energy of the person himself, or his parents, if this pathology was acquired by a child who, among earthlings, is energetically connected with his father and mother under 14 years of age. Depending on whether external parasitic forms have formed a cancerous tumor or whether their own have passed to this stage, the energetic causes of this disease differ.

They are different even in two people with the same type of cancer and the same organ affected. But there is one common global reason - the loss of the possibility of returning to the state of original peace, characteristic of connection with the inner Light. This leads to a distorted understanding of the Universe and one's place in it, to the loss of Love and joy, hope and trust, the inability and unwillingness to forgive the mistakes of others.

All this causes the accumulation of negative emotions in a person's astral field and the gradual displacement of high-vibration energy radiation, positive feelings and emotions from it. Accumulations of dense low-vibrating energy, according to the principle of feedback, begin to influence the matter that makes up the physical body.

This influence is individual for each person, it depends on the amount of vitality, on the dominant feelings and emotions, on the degree of distribution of microflora in the physical body and on its type, on nutrition, genetic characteristics and much more.

For some, such states of mind will cause suppression of the immune system, followed by the spread of parasitic microflora throughout the body and the appearance of groups of corresponding microorganisms in various organs, while for others, the DNA in the cells of the body itself mutates in such a way that it turns them from elements for the survival of the body into its worst enemies.

Regardless of the underlying cause, the basic principles of treatment for cancer patients are similar. At the first stage, it is necessary to determine as accurately as possible the problem in a person's spiritual structures that has caused a steady decrease in the frequency of vibration of his astral-etheric fields and begin to work with this cause, which should always be strictly individual for each patient.

In parallel with this, it is necessary to influence his physical body. The main goals that need to be achieved are cleansing the body of cancer cells and the accompanying microflora, getting rid of macroparasites-helminths, stimulating one's own immunity and turning it on to recognize and destroy cancer antigens and thoroughly combat intoxication of the body caused by the disintegration of a large number of cancer cells .

It is necessary in every possible way to support the functioning of all excretory systems of the body: liver, kidneys and skin: drink more fluid, do not even take potentially hepatotoxic medications, herbs and foods, more often use blood purifiers, for example, carrot juice, infusions of bicolor violet flowers, tripartite herbs and angustifolia fireweed, decoctions of burdock roots and sea buckthorn berries.

It is necessary to combat acidosis in the blood by significantly reducing wheat and rye dishes in the diet, reducing the amount of sugar and protein products. The preferred food for such patients is dairy-vegetable. It is advisable to consume animal proteins (meat, fish, eggs) no more than three times a week.

In addition, each patient needs to ask his inner Light about the causes of this disease specifically for him and about ways to remove these causes.

If it is not possible to establish contact with the inner Light, this already indicates the predominance of low-vibration energies in the astral-mental fields and serves as a signal of the need for urgent cleansing and liberation from resentment, envy, despondency, fears and other destructive feelings and emotions.

The growth of cancer on your planet indicates the predominance of negative vibrations in its noosphere, distortions in understanding the meaning of life for intelligent beings and the existence of the entire Universe as a whole.

The main thing is to remember that your bodies are not your enemies, but your friends, and by preventing diseases of still healthy organisms, you are investing your energy in your future, in the future of your children and the entire society as a whole, which allows you to be happier on Earth, more fulfilling and more consciously solving the tasks for which you were embodied here.

The information was transmitted by ODUS, the main coordinator for contacts with the civilization of the Earth, the planet ESLER.

November, 2019

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/posledstviya-ubijstva-i-samoubijstva-dlya-duha

April 27, 2022

Consequences of Murder and Suicide for the Spirit

The spirit always incarnates into a body with the plan to exit the incarnation naturally, that is, without the assistance of other intelligent spirits.

That is why in all world religions of the Earth there is a commandment prohibiting the killing of people.

There would be no point in such prohibitions if the murder of the future body was provided for by the plan of incarnation, to which the Spirit gave its consent.

Moreover, in this case, the killer could not bear any responsibility for his actions, having served only as a blind instrument of fate, karma, providence and other phenomena, behind the names of which is hidden Divine Omniscience, which in no way limits the Free Will of each of the intelligent spirits .

It is Freedom that is the main reason for responsibility, which in turn allows intelligent spirits to grow and develop in conscious interaction with the Light of Love that gave birth to us all.

For this reason, killing the body of any incarnated intelligent spirit is a violation of the Divine moral will, which is reflected in the laws and commandments of many religions and social norms that are entrenched on the material plane of existence in different peoples, races, on many planets and in communities of intelligent beings.

An exception to this rule can only be the murder of the body of a rational spirit, for reasons of protecting the life and spiritual well-being of other rational beings, if other methods of protecting them from destructive actions are impossible.

Deliberate murder occurs due to the impact of negative energy blocks accumulated in the energy structure on the mind and spiritual heart of the killer.

It further strengthens and strengthens such blocks in the aura, greatly lowers vibrations, cuts off the possibility of conscious contact with the disembodied part of oneself and opens the way for the influence of destructive plasmoid worlds and dark disembodied spiritual entities.

In addition, the body of a murdered intelligent being, at the moment the life thread is broken, emits an energy wave that damages the etheric matrices of the internal organs of the physical body and the etheric matrices of the DNA of the conscious killer, including in the germ cells responsible for reproduction.

This damage is transmitted through the energetic connection at the moment of conception into the etheric bodies of future children, which strengthens the destructive programs of incarnating spirits acquired and not eliminated by them in past incarnations.

The etheric body of the killer himself retains this damage until the end of the incarnation, but he can partially heal it with his own analysis of what happened, with a change in attitude towards this fact of his past.

After leaving the killer's incarnation, his spirit is able to perceive a trace of etheric damage into the more subtle structures of himself, which can affect the formation of his future material body in the next incarnation, if, according to the plan of his Angels of Mentors, this will be useful for correcting the destructive attitudes that led to a decrease in spiritual level.

The strength of damage to etheric matrices is not affected by the age of the killed body and the distance between it and the killer.

If the killer was under the influence of a destructive entity at the moment of depriving the life of a sentient being, then damage to the energy and spiritual structures occurs in both of them, according to the principle of ideological solidarity.

Conscious consent to murder and active participation in it also attracts the damaging effects of energy radiation from the killed body, which causes almost similar consequences.

Killing one's own body causes damage to the etheric matrix of the separated soul, which it takes with it into the spiritual world and into the next incarnation.

Krail Zorich, specialist in the ecology of the spirit and purification of the noosphere of low-vibration worlds, psychologist and spiritual healer, planet Tikht.

Lee Shioni, specialist in astral interactions, planet Shimor.

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ehffekt-chyornoj-vdovy-ili-kak-plazmoidnye-miry-vl

May 2, 2022

The black widow effect or how plasmoid worlds affect our personal lives

Some spirits incarnate into the bodies of earthly people after very important incarnations in plasmoid worlds. Moreover, their former plasmoid friends , employees and, speaking in earthly terms, relatives can remain embodied in these worlds and can consider the spirit that has already left them as still their close friend, employee, and so on.

After their incarnation in the dense material world, including on Earth, these plasmoids can prevent them from building close relationships with other people, sincerely considering their decision to incarnate in dense matter as a mistake, and the people around them as obstacles to contacts and their reunification families or groups.

People who are looked after by plasmoids from past incarnations usually become their contacts from childhood. If his handlers have an overly jealous attitude towards former close friends, then energetic sabotage on their part is possible in relation to people who want a close relationship with their ward.

In the material world, this may look like a series of accidents, most often unpleasant and even dangerous, that happen to loved ones, friends, spouses, etc. the same person. One of the special cases of such obsessive patronage on the part of plasmoids is the so-called “black widow” phenomenon .

In this case, a sufficiently strong and intelligent plasmoid, occupying a high position in the hierarchy of its world, begins to consider the earthly woman as his wife or girlfriend and in every possible way interfere with her relationships with earthly men.

Things can get to the point where even the male friends of such a woman will arrange all sorts of unpleasant and dangerous situations in order to limit, or even completely stop, her contacts with men . Men who decide to enter into a marital relationship with such a woman are in even greater danger.

Plasmoids can be very inventive and can influence animals surrounded by a person they do not like and the consciousness of people who are in the grip of low vibrations, such as criminals and addicts, mentally ill people, etc.

In addition, an energetically strong plasmoid can also influence material energies, such as fire, electricity and even gravity, causing certain dangerous situations around a person it does not like.

The only reliable protection for men who are close to such a woman can only be his own high vibrational state and work for the benefit of other people, that is, the absence of conscious egoistic and aggressive aspirations. Such a person is inaccessible to attacks by low-vibration plasmoids and disembodied spirits from demonic levels who often work with him in alliance.

Men who have become objects of love for plasmoids who recognize themselves as female entities can also be subject to similar phenomena, but much less frequently than women.

The person himself, who is in such contact, very often realizes that the events taking place around him go beyond ordinary logic, but due to fear and guilt before the affected people, his contact with the plasmoid initiator of these evil actions most often remains unconscious.

It is quite possible to help such a person get rid of an unnecessary and destructive connection if you tell him what is happening, who is in contact with him and why, what energies and qualities in him attract such curators and help him get in touch with the Higher Self to cleanse himself of negative energy blocks, an honest and open conversation with the plasmoid and adjusting the aura to vibrations incompatible with this entity.

In parallel, explanatory work should be carried out with the close circle of such a person and the closure of plasmoid portals in his home and in places where he is often located.

The information was conveyed by LiShioni from the planet Shimor, a specialist in the astral worlds and their interaction with the material world.

June, 2020

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/predstaviteli-civilizacii-ra-o-pranoedah

May 20, 2022

Representatives of the RA civilization about prana-eaters and pranic nutrition

Pranoeaters are those people who, incarnated in a material body, want to merge with the energy of space, with solar and cosmic energies. They have the idea that this will speed up their incarnation in our world. According to Ra Ariya, these manifestations should not be on the physical plane, but on the spiritual: love for Light, love for the Sun, for Truth, for Life, because the Sun spreads life. Love should be manifested in the fact that you selflessly help others and wish them well, development, and through your practice you contribute to this.

Can we switch to pranic nutrition in our physical body?

Ra Arius:

“I studied the energy characteristics of physical bodies, and I believe that the physical body needs physical food, just as our subtle body needs food from solar energy. For each world there must be energy of a certain density so that the body can develop and carry out its task. To be. a tool to perform its task. If the body receives energy that is not of its density, it will dissipate."

Tengri:

“The transition to plant food, if it is done without negative vibrations of condemnation, anger, etc. towards the people around, then it contributes to rebirth in the world of plasmoids, which create the souls of animals, because a person becomes closer to their consciousness, as he begins to think how not to harm them. He understands them better. He becomes closer to nature, to the Sun. If a person absorbs more green mass, then through it he receives more solar energy. Animal food also contains it, but it is already processed by the animal’s energy.”

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/izbavitsya-ot-interferentov-i-blok-podklyuchek

June 7, 2022

How to get rid of interferers and block connections

Interferents in some esoteric teachings are called negative entities from various lower worlds that connect to a person through his karmic nodes, unprocessed situations in past lives that caused negativity in him, which he did not have time to work out and translate into a positive experience before leaving incarnation. These situations pass into his karmic body, into his karmic memory, and this formation in your language is called a karmic knot.

There is an esoteric teaching that some entities from the lower worlds from Hell, if we speak in the language of Christianity, connect to these karmic nodes and make it difficult for them to pass (work through). In this case, various disasters, misfortunes and illnesses, accidents, and so on appear in a person's life.

First type of interferers

These are the entities that incarnate with you and with whom you have karmic knots. Their embodiment tasks are to transform this negativity into a positive experience. Only you yourself can disconnect from these spiritual entities incarnated with you and with which your karmic nodes are connected, going through the same situations that caused the appearance of these nodes in past incarnations.

These events are formed by your Spiritual Guides, Consulting Angels with the help of Guardian Angels, as well as other curators from the humanoid, subtle and dense material worlds.

This is the first connection type. Why is it called connection? Because groups of Souls that come to untie the karmic knot really look to the perception of some spiritual entities as entities that are connected by certain threads. And the interferents we are talking about in this question can be called the Souls connected with you by karmic knots.

It could even be your relatives, your friends, or those whom you have not yet met in this life, but meeting them is yet to come.

I remind you that from the Spiritual world all this is seen as one, that is, without division in time.

Second type of entities

They can also be called interferers. This is a connection to a subtle-material civilization through a special communication channel, which many esotericists call bindings or connections.

These connections are formed in the current incarnation even in early childhood. They are formed only due to the coincidence in vibrations of the Spirit, embodied in a subtle body, and a person, that is, the Spirit, embodied in a human body.

This binding or this interferer is always a type of contact with some purpose. Typically, for a subtle-material civilization, the goal is the exchange of energies, but in addition, there may be other goals, such as the exchange of knowledge, the discovery or increase of healing abilities, as well as the so-called healing of space and various natural beings, such as plants and animals, which live there.

The energies that these subtle entities pass through a person through bindings can increase the vibrations of space, but if such a binding to a plasmoid interferer exists, then a person needs to find out when it appeared, why it appeared, and how to interact with it correctly in order to increase your spiritual level, and help the plasmoid, which is on the other side, with this.

You can learn all this from your Spirit, from your spiritual essence, which, in the terminology of the Interstellar Union, is called the Higher Self .

Archangel Metatron is the head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Spiritual World of the Milky Way Galaxy, the ruler of the Jewish and Christian egregors on planet Earth.

May, 2022

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/reakciya-duha-na-psihoaktivnoe-veshchestvo

June 10, 2022

Spirit's reaction to a psychoactive substance

Taking hallucinogens induces a dream-like state in the brain. Only it is not accompanied by the body falling asleep. At the same time, the observed images resemble images from dreams.

Sleep is the separation of the astral body from the physical. And images in a dream are a vision in the astral world. Astral matter, substance has very plastic forms. And the spirit, going into the astral plane, consciously or unconsciously, with its thought forms, often creates an environment around itself. And with its vibrations it attracts various creatures to itself. That is, if he thinks about someone, he can first create a thought form and then see him in a dream. And, attracted by his vibrations, entities can approach him in the astral plane and interact with the spirit under the images that he came up with.

When taking hallucinogens, the same thing happens, but without leaving the physical body. That is, a person temporarily acquires the ability to see the astral world, and at the same time, he also has the ability to create thought forms. The contents of his memory and subconscious become clear. Those things that he has long forgotten, but which remain in his subconscious, can be manifested in this case.

However, he will not be able to remember where he saw or heard it. Beings attracted by its vibrations also interact with it in the astral plane. It is very difficult to distinguish between the image created by your thoughts and external entities. This ability to differentiate comes with experience. Each entity has its own vibration.

As for the special sensations in the body of those who have taken a hallucinogen (expansion, contraction, sensations of several bodies, heads, etc.), this is a change in the perception of the body.

To obtain true knowledge about the Spiritual world, such experiments are meaningless. In this altered state, a person does not control this process, and his operational part of memory decreases, fixation amnesia begins, and all forms of mental activity are disrupted.

These substances change a person's hormonal levels. When the pleasure hormone is released, a person can feel a surge of joy and love. This does not always happen; everyone has a different structure of the nervous system and type of temperament. It may even depend on what the person ate before, or whether they ate at all.

Such effects on hormonal levels are also meaningless. The state of love for the world in these experiments is unnatural, since it is not caused by its spiritual development.

In the absence of this substance, a person not only does not love the whole world, he is not even in an even and calm state, everything irritates him, thoughts of persecution appear, etc. All this does not lead to the spiritual evolution of man.

Love is not a measurable quantity. This is a feeling that releases the energy of life. Love should be sincere, not feigned. A loving person does not demand love or obedience in return for his love. Only then can it change a person’s personality. The soul of a child, forming under these conditions, itself acquires the ability to love itself, others, the whole world, and God. She learns to enjoy her life.

If you taught this to your child, then you have fulfilled your task in that he will be protected from any kind of addictions and other problems.

BETELGEUSE audio podcast on the topic: No. 007 Expansion of consciousness. When a spiritual seeker is faced with a choice between mind-altering drugs and meditative practices.

MidgasCaus - biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations, planet Esler.

February 2020

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/zavisimost-s-tochki-zreniya-inoplanetyan

June 13, 2022

Addiction from the aliens' point of view

Dependency is a state of mind of a person when he is unable to receive satisfaction from life and be happy without any factor (chemical, physical or psychological). At the same time, a person's inner gaze is usually directed at one thing in the material world and ignores all other opportunities for gaining experience.

When spirits go into incarnation, they hope that they will complete all the lessons and rise in their spiritual level. But due to various environmental factors (genetic, social, family, etc.), a person can acquire various psychological problems, and addiction arises on their basis.

A happy, self-sufficient person is not able to fall into this state. Hereditary factors do not play a decisive role. With proper upbringing, addiction is not acquired.

Dependence is a problem, first of all, in a person's worldview. He loses the feeling of the Inner Light. That is, this is a spiritual problem, not a psychological one.

Trust in life is a consequence of feeling the Inner Light within yourself. A person cannot trust life if he does not feel safe. And he cannot feel safe if he believes that he is a mortal body. Only if a person feels that he is an immortal spirit, that he is loved by God and accepted in any condition, then he feels safe and has no need to seek thrills in various substances or activities.

Love in a person's ordinary life is expressed in the fact that his environment, and especially parents when raising a child, treat him with love, accept him for who he is and do not rigidly insist on their opinion, do not suppress the child's personality.

Suppression of the individual in childhood, suppression of the Inner Light, freedom of choice is the main cause of addiction.

When a child grows up, when he has his own means of living, he seeks freedom in various substances. During the first experience of using a particular substance, a person remembers the pleasant sensations that he had. And if there is not enough happiness in ordinary life, he begins to desire this substance. Desire is primary.

With frequent use of this substance, dependence is gradually acquired at the physical level, because the metabolism is rebuilt. The period of acquisition of addiction is very individual.

Despite the availability of psychoactive substances, not all people are dependent on them, although the majority of the population has experience of using them. This fact suggests that the category of “dependent” includes people who have a special structure of character and soul.

The mechanism of formation of various types of dependencies is similar in many cases. But there are individual differences. The common thing in the formation mechanism is that a person sees the meaning of his life in one thing, although this contradicts the task of the Spirit in gaining life experience from all spheres of life. That is, addiction never meets the desires of the Spirit, the Higher Self.

Any form of addiction requires time and money. Restrictions cause negative emotions in a dependent person, which does not contribute to the preservation of his health or the development of his spirit. This leads to degradation.

We must always remember that the world is diverse. To become dependent on any factor is completely wrong; it is contrary to development.

Elena Berezina. Thought forms (left). Journey of the Soul Meeting (right). 2018

Any addiction forms certain qualities in the human spirit. For example, indifference to loved ones. A dependent person no longer pays attention to the problems his illness brings to others. He thinks only about himself and what is bad for him.

The formation of selfishness, depression and a pessimistic attitude towards others has been identified in addicts by all psychologists. If at first a person was an optimist, then when addiction arises he develops suspicion, fears, etc. Importantly, under the influence of chemicals that suppress the will, the functioning of the mind is temporarily changed in such a way that the ability to self-criticize is reduced. And then, instead of a person's suppressed will, his instinctive programs begin to work to a greater extent.

This tendency can be transmitted to the spirit in subsequent incarnations. But this may not necessarily cause further dependence, but may create preconditions. And a person will be able to fight this. This depends on upbringing, on the ideology of society, and on the amount of light and love that he is able to feel in himself and give to others. The light of love cannot be kept within oneself when it is there. The more a person gives it, the more he enjoys this process.

The human psyche is very plastic. It can change. This is a feature of the incarnate spirit as opposed to the disembodied one.

Of course, it is better to develop trust in life in a child as early as possible. From this trust other beliefs will be formed.

But if this did not happen in early childhood, there is always time for improvement while we are alive in this body. Even if an adult does not love anyone, his work on himself can change everything. We know of such cases when a drug addicted person who regularly uses opiates, when the addiction was on a psychological, physical, and spiritual level, being surrounded by people who believe in God, hearing a sermon or chant, in an instant sees his Inner light, enlightenment comes and from that day on he no longer uses any substances. He no longer considers it necessary to relieve the physical suffering that arises from stopping use with drugs, perceiving them as something he deserves and must endure. Aversion to drugs is formed in him, even to the point of disgust. That is, a person's life can change very quickly.

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/chto-takoe-prosvetlenie

June 19, 2022

What is enlightenment?

Enlightenment is a state of merging with the Higher Self, with the Light that you have inside, in your heart, in your soul. That is, this is an exit to the Spiritual World, but not to the astral plane, but to the Higher Self.

This is when a certain event occurred in a person's inner life, which he perceives as Light. After enlightenment, a person usually changes dramatically. He, for example, may cease to be so interested in material acquisitions; he may cease to be afraid of death, feeling himself to be an immortal being. He may start making contact. A person's very perception of the world changes, he ceases to feel like a useless cog in this world, who temporarily performs some work in the system of this world, and then will be thrown out.

He begins to truly feel like a spiritual being who came here for experience, feels the presence of God in everything. When meeting another person, he sees in him first of all the Light, which manifests itself in some distorted way. It will be impossible to convince such a person in a materialistic manner; he simply will no longer believe either scientists or loved ones, because he will have a different experience.

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/gormonalnyj-srok-zhenshchiny-i-molodost

June 24, 2022

Women's hormonal period and youth

In most cases, a woman loses the ability to conceive a child approximately 15-20 years before the probable death of the physical body. So that she does not leave the child small and helpless in a world unfamiliar to him if she moves into the world of disembodied spirits.

Every woman has already gone through the period of transition from childhood to adulthood; it is similar to menopause, only directed in the opposite direction, and for many it was also difficult. Without complications, without spiritual and physical suffering, this period is helped by the recognition that these processes are natural, the absence of fear of old age, impending helplessness and death.

You must remember that at the time when you were young, people who are no longer physically on your planet were old people. And a time will come for you when someone will be young, and you will be old, wise people. You need to meet every day of your life with gratitude to God for the continuation of incarnation, and every night of your life you need to meet with prayer for the readiness to part with the body, with the same readiness as falling asleep, going to the astral plane.

You can, for example, say:

“My God, Heavenly Father, God of the entire Universe, I realize that the sleep of my body may be eternal, but at the same time the life of my soul is endless.”

How to maintain youth?

The type of physical body depends on genetic, psychological factors, intoxications, etc. The youth of men and women is prolonged by positive emotions, physical movements, physical work in the fresh air, communication with nature, absence of fears and stress, especially self-blame, absence of bad habits, such as smoking, which disrupts hormonal status.

Rejuvenation is tissue regeneration. In order to have enough biological material to regenerate your cells, you must provide the body with the opportunity to build them and remove waste products from old cells from the body. To do this you need good nutrition and a sufficient amount of clean water.

We preserve our youth and beauty by realizing the beauty of our Spirit. The body is a reflection of your soul's thoughts about itself. If you do not accept something in your soul, it will definitely affect the appearance of your body. Any body is beautiful. If you judge your body for some part that seems imperfect to you, then you cause illness. You don’t take it and your cells in this place or another begin to slowly die.

A woman's true strength lies in her spiritual heart, just like a man's. This is the light of unconditional love if she realizes that she is part of it and at the same time the daughter of God, his collaborator in this world, who is called to bear this unconditional love. Love is an all-conquering force, more powerful than which nothing can be. Because it gives birth to life.

I wish everyone to listen to their soul and find there the Light of love that lives in each of you. Every person loves someone or something. If love is accompanied by rejection of something, then it is not perfect, it is only the first spark of an endless flame that supports your life too.

Remember, if it weren't for the love of mom and dad between each other, you would not have appeared on this beautiful planet. And if you do not show love to yourself and your neighbor, you will stop the flow of life, both physical and spiritual, which will lead you to a lack of happiness and suffering. I wish you awareness in understanding that happiness is love and life.

MidgasCaus - specialist in biology and psychology, planet Esler.

March, 2021

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/chto-takoe-sovest

June 25, 2022

The concept of "conscience"

Conscience is the name in Russian for that part of the Spirit that is associated with contact with the Higher Self. That is, with that part of its energy, consciousness, subconscious and everything else, which is the image of God, the light of God inside every spirit.

Conscience, like intuition, does not directly relate to the mind, feelings, or energy. It permeates everything, just as light permeates space. Conscience, like light, like love, did not come from anywhere; on the contrary, it is that energy, that consciousness, that will, that mind, which is precisely the reason for the manifestation of all other parts of the Spirit. I'm talking about that one light that gave birth to us all.

In your society, it often speaks to you not through your inner voice, as it is with us at Esler, but through the moral guidelines of your society, your parents, and other sources that are authoritative for you. But all this comes from the fact that you do not practice widespread dissemination of information about contact with that inner light that exists inside each of you.

Timecode: 5:50, #26

MidgasCaus - biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien life forms, planet Esler.

November, 2019

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/razvoploshchenie-duha-rodovoj-ehgregor

June 27, 2022

Disincarnation of the soul. Ancestral egregor

To expand on this topic, it is necessary to remember the structure of the Universe . We have a material world in which the physical body is located; the other layer is the astral world; the world of disembodied Spirits is higher in vibration. The dense material world has its own vibration frequency, while the fine material world, where plasmoids live, is higher. The world of non-embodied Spirits is divided into levels or floors.

When several people live on Earth in bodies, they don't just talk, think, feel, show emotions, they combine all this with the release of life force from themselves. The combination of oxygen and food produces vital energy in our body.

When we, Spirits, begin to experience feelings, thoughts, emotions, desires, then we release energy from ourselves, and it all comes out of us, from our auras. If two people have approximately similar thoughts, feelings, and vibrational actions, then in the Astral these thoughts are combined into a certain structure, which we call an egregor.

There are religious, political, scientific egregors. The ancestral egregor is connected according to the vibration level of the physical body.

The ancestral egregor is a connection in the astral plane of energies released by people with similar genetic information in the body: father, mother, child who live in the same family.

Egregors are located in the Astral - these are tribal, social, religious, there are many of them there. The world of disembodied Spirits is located above egregors. When the physical body dies, then the exit of the astral body, i.e. his Spirit in the astral shell, occurs through the Astral. Through his egregor he rises higher, where disembodied Spirits live. This happens at different times for everyone. As long as the Soul is united with the life force, the Spirit is called Soul. When the body dies, the Soul comes out, and at first it is in the Astral.

How long has she been there?

This is very individual, the average period is usually about three days. It depends on the attachments she has to the material world. Those. if they miss him there and get upset, then this period will be delayed, since the Soul will not want to leave.

Then she gets used to living without a body. Usually, if this is not an astral traveler, then the Soul is not used to being without a body, and at first it thinks that it is alive and is trying to do something. Then Spirit Guides come to the Soul and “say” that it is time to rise higher to another level. And the Soul rises to its level in the world of disembodied Spirits, which it reached during life, that is, from the 1st to the 24th .

Moreover, there is one important feature: for example, two friends, or a husband and wife, or a child and a mother, if they are at different levels, when one is higher and the other is lower, then the one who is at the highest level can, if desired, visit the Spirit below. It cannot be the other way around, i.e. who on the lower level cannot visit the Spirit who is on the highest, because he cannot rise until he reaches it in his consciousness.

Then they live in the Spiritual World. At first they have vitality, but every day, in the earthly sense, it becomes less and less, it leaves him. And approximately, on average, it takes 40 days, it finally goes away. This is very approximate, since it could be a month, it could be 60 days, but on average it is 40 days. And then the Soul becomes Spirit, since the life force has left it.

Usually, a meeting with the Light, a meeting with God, occurs for every Spirit. It is usually after returning to the world of disembodied Spirits that she meets God in the form in which she can perceive Him, and usually this is Light. There the Spirit is shown in images how he lived his life, where he was previously incarnated, whether he completed his tasks or not. All this becomes known.

Then the Spirit is at the level it has reached, then it lives for some time, analyzing everything. The spirit remembers its entire life and analyzes whether it has achieved what it wanted. But if he wants to achieve something else, then he will need to incarnate again, because matter is a means for change, for choice.

And so the Spirit decided to incarnate in order to know something, convey something to other Spirits, or achieve some of its goals or dreams. He decides to incarnate where a place has already been chosen for him, and the incarnation will go through these generic egregors. He will be escorted, and he will go to the material world. This does not mean that the Spirit will be responsible for some actions that it did not perform. This means that he will use the energy accumulated by previous generations to achieve his goals, i.e. this will be another remedy.

MidgasKaus is a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations, a representative of the planet Esler.

October, 2019

July 3, 2022

Plasmoids

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/plazmoidy

A plasmoid ("bravod" in the Daraal language) is an energy being that is embodied, but not in a physical body, but in one consisting of energy, electromagnetic waves, ultraviolet, radio waves, only in the high part of the spectrum. It's like an intelligent ray of light.

It has a fine-material body structure, yet it is invisible. It glows just like the Sun, which consists of plasma, or ball lightning. He may live in the center of the stars. The ending "-id" means similar, it is similar to plasma, but not plasma itself.

There are more than 90,000,000,000 of them on Earth. Previously, they were called spirits of nature, spirits of the elements - sylphs, salamanders. Ball lightning is an example of a manifested plasmoid.

Being intelligent spirits with feelings, intelligence and energy , combining all this together, plasmoids create the souls of animals, plants, microorganisms, etc., endowing them with their life force. This is the meaning of their existence. They can live in the atmosphere of planets, the chromosphere of stars, and near the core of the Sun.

The energy that stars emit is attractive to stellar plasmoids as food. Their food is light, heat, and radiation.

This is a form of life that can exist within a very wide range: from several Earth days to several thousand, and even plasmoids are known that live up to millions of years. Plasmoids are at density levels ranging from four to fifty-nine.

Physical bodies and all molecules do not appear out of nowhere. They are created from elemental elements . Plasmoids collect elements into atoms. At the same time, the spirit, incarnating into a body, takes elements from the nature of the Earth to build its body from the plasmoid civilizations of the Earth, which are at different levels of density. When a spirit incarnates, before incarnation it in any case turns to plasmoids.

There is a special appeal to the plasmoid civilizations of the planet where you are incarnating, with a request to provide elements for the construction of a dense material body to carry out the tasks that the spirit has outlined for itself before incarnation. And there is a promise to take care of the body, fill it with Light and Love. And with love, return this body to the elements of the Earth after incarnation so that the plasmoid civilizations of the Earth, through insects and microorganisms, can decompose this body again into elements for the incarnation of others.

To create a molecule, it must be assembled from an atom. To collect atoms, you need to collect energies. This is from the four elements - the energies of water, fire, earth and air. Therefore, on each planet the number of plasmoid civilizations is many times greater than the number, for example, of people. On Earth, if you count all levels of density, there are approximately 880 plasmoids for each person. They still have to create the biosphere. They must create plants, animals, insects, they must eat something and transfer these atoms, and replenish their body with some atoms.

Spiritual mentors, Angel Consultants, before you want to incarnate on any planet, they first recommend going through several incarnations in the plasmoid civilizations of this planet in order to build this matter for more dense ones. And then you yourself, as it were, put your energy into this planet, into this civilization, in order to incarnate there yourself.

July 4, 2022

Cynology. Contactors among dogs

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kinologiya-kontaktyory-sredi-sobak

In all the tribes there were people who engaged in contacts with the Spirits of Nature, with plasmoid civilizations. Thanks to contacts with the Spirits of Nature, who create the Souls of animals, contacts with wild animals were also possible. Animals came to man and helped him survive in the natural environment.

Gradually, feeling the positive energy from the person, they were attracted. The light of love that emanates from a person attracts other, unreasonable forms of life, they experience bliss. Every living Soul is drawn to the Light - this is a law of nature, given by God.

Dogs were the first humans came into contact with. Not necessarily wolves, coyotes or foxes. In every area there were animals from the wolf family. They were heterogeneous. They were tamed for hunting, for protection, for movement, even for war, so that they could be like warriors.

Dogs, cats, cows, bees, sheep can perceive frequency spectra that are inaccessible to the human eye. They can see, but not at the level of vision, but at the level of energy. They can see various ethereal entities of plasmoid civilizations and some astral ones.

They don't always see astral beings, it depends on the vibration. Astral is higher in vibration than plasmoids, but they can see some. This is individual for each animal. One animal is more sensitive than another. Also in people: one person has, for example, greater visual acuity or even greater sensitivity to color vision than another.

Dogs can distinguish the physical body of a person from a nearby entity. Entities that can be near a child or an adult, negative plasmoids, for example, feed on human fear.

If the entities are in the child, they will cause fear in him when he sees the dog. They will send him thoughts that she will bite. The entity can instill aggression in a dog, since plasmoids control the psyche of animals. Some plasmoids are very good at controlling the psyche of animals; they create their Soul . They can create a mini-hallucination in the dog's perception that he is swinging at them. The dog senses the child's fear at the energy level. In the dog's understanding, anyone who is afraid of him is dangerous.

If a creature is smaller than a dog and is afraid, it is an object for hunting. If a creature is larger than a dog, physically stronger and afraid of it, this is a sign of danger. In the dog's understanding, if a strong creature is afraid of you, this fear can easily develop into aggression, and the person can hit. If a child is not 3-4 years old, but ten years old, he is taller than a dog, she perceives him as a being physically stronger than herself: he is taller, he has two arms, unlike her, not four paws. Any dog, at the level of instinct, perceives a person as stronger than itself.

If he is not afraid of her, she perceives him as a leader, the leader of the pack. Based on this knowledge, the psychology of animal Souls, the plasmoid can present in her Soul a picture that a child is swinging at her or attacking her owner. The dog may not be protecting itself, but the owner or its cubs, so it bites. This may be caused by the aggression of plasmoids, which affect the psyche of the child and the psyche of the animal.

This is done in order to, after a dog bite, reinforce the fear of pain that the child experienced, physical and mental fear. Remind him of this so that he is afraid of dogs, take on their image in a dream and frighten the child so that he generates the energy of fear.

Human smell is a multidimensional concept, it is a heterogeneous concept. This is a substance, a group of substances, and energy. We scientists look at this issue differently.

The word " smell " usually refers to chemical molecules. By the words “ smell energy ,” we do not mean smell, but ethereal radiation, ethereal energy, prana, vital force, which is charged with human thoughts, feelings, emotions and is always individual. The radiation that a person spreads around him combines a chemical effect on the environment in the form of odor and an energetic effect on the environment - it comes in one train.

Dogs can distinguish one person from another. Among thousands of people, find the owner, your loved one, even blindfolded. They feel an individual trail, which consists of a chemical odor and radiation.

The smell of a person, chemically, consists of several components, components. It depends on the microflora that lives on the skin. Each type of microbe, decomposing human sweat for food, releasing energy from it for its life, releases substances corresponding to its type, the molecules of which spread through the air in the environment. It also depends on the food a person eats. These substances come out with sweat. The smell depends on the artificial chemicals in the cosmetics he uses. This applies to chemical components.

As for the psychic components, this is a component of the etheric body that is woven into the smell. At the physical level, it is reflected in the release of various hormones. At the etheric level, it is a trail of vital energy that a person leaves everywhere he touches.

What we call smell, they call “chemical smell”, “ethereal radiation”. What you call the Astral, the mental field, and so on, cannot leave a person without charging him with the etheric field, since the person, his brain is charged with this vital energy. Human radiation is found at all levels.

As for traces: a trace in space is on the physical and etheric levels. At the astral level, feelings and desires dissipate very quickly, as they enter the egregor. We call the mental plane the Higher Astral. Our etheric-astral-mental plane is not divided. These are forms of radiation of the Spirit: thoughts, desires, feelings, emotions. After leaving the human aura, they are attracted to each other, creating clouds of energy.

A lot of thoughts on one topic, charged with energy: emotions, desires, create large egregors . On the astral plane of the Earth, which we call the noosphere, there are egregors - accumulations of thoughts, desires and feelings on the same topic, charged with the vital energy of people. The thought, leaving the person, joins the egregor. Part of the ethereal energy leaves a trail and dissipates in space, passing to plasmoids in ethereal space. Part goes along with thought forms and emotions into the egregor.

A search dog is different from one that has not been trained.

A search dog is a dog that has very good contact with its handlers, who are located in the Astral next to it - these are plasmoids.

Dogs, like cats, like any other animal, can communicate because they have an animal Soul. They communicate at their own level. Not like people: question and answer, but at the level of mental images. Dogs are capable of seeing images.

If a dog does not follow a person’s trail directly, but takes a shortcut, it takes information from its plasmoid curators. The curators, at her request, determine the path. The search dog, having sniffed the scent, sends an unconscious request for help to its handlers. They determine the place: left or right from the dog and convey the image of where to turn.

From the Astral plane the physical world is seen differently. For a dog, the image is understood as an order, only not from the owner, but in the form of its own motives. There are no formalized thoughts in her mind. She has impulses: to walk, to stand, to run.

Some practical tips

In order for dogs to distinguish a large number of odors and be able to keep a scent for a long time, it is advisable to keep them away from metal. That is, it is advisable not to keep them in metal cages, because the smell of metal causes severe irritation. It is highly advisable not to smoke or use substances with strong odors, such as deodorants, near them. This can confuse the sense of smell of search dogs.

If you have watched a search dog work, you may have noticed that it stops and starts sniffing at the top. It captures ethereal and chemical odor particles that are dispersed in the air. Weather and solar radiation affect the duration of the trail. A dog can find a trail for up to three days or more in an area where no one has passed. It is important for a person following a dog to stop with it and not force it to walk, as this can lead it off the scent.

She is a living being and wants to get a good result to please you. She is not interested in the person she is looking for. What matters is your reaction, your joy. Many dogs search for you, for the sake of their beloved owners. They want to receive the light of love from you so that they can give it back to you. If you force and yell at her, she will go forward, feeling nothing, afraid of punishment. Moreover, the punishment for her can be not only a blow, but also the alienation of a person, refusal to love her. You must let her know that you are not forcing her, that you will be happy with any result, and that you will accept her for who she is. Then she will be more sensitive.

A dog and a cat are a reflection of their owners. They are energy workers. They are saturated with the energies of their owners, ideas about the world and behave accordingly.

Video on the topic: #227 Fauna on Earth. Karmic consequences of killing animals. How to protect yourself from dog attacks?

MidgasCaus - biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations, planet Esler.

March, 2021

July 6, 2022

Alcohol. Quitting addiction

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/alkogol-otkaz-ot-zavisimosti

Any type of dependent behavior appears in a person who has energy blocks that create an obstacle for him and prevent him from realizing himself in unity with his Spirit, with his Higher Self, and following the path of Spiritual development. Since he does not fulfill his Spiritual task, the Higher Self sends him certain signals, which you call in earthly language the meaninglessness of existence or, one might say, the loss of satisfaction from life. On Earth, this is one of the types of depression, despondency, a depressed state of a person.

This state of a person is a signal from the Higher Self that a person, that is, the Spirit who has incarnated in this person, does not increase his spiritual level and does not follow the path that he promised himself and his Angels-mentors to realize in this incarnation.

There are certain energy signals from the Higher Self that a person receives. However, if he has energy blocks that prevent him from perceiving the Light of Divine Love, then he perceives these signals not as an incentive to action, but as dissatisfaction, as a loss of the meaning of life.

From this, he begins to exhibit so-called dependent behavior, that is, he begins to look for certain illusory pleasures and pleasures in various substances or in another person.

There are a lot of addictions; they are a way for a person to forget about his spiritual needs, not remember about them and not think about it. This is a way to get away from thoughts that make him sad. For example, he may have the following thoughts: “You are already 20, 30 or 40 years old, and you have not done certain things.” He receives information about this from the Higher Self, and this gives rise to despondency in him. To avoid thinking about it, he may start abusing alcohol.

Alcohol itself is a substance that causes a short-term improvement in mood, that is, it creates a certain emotional background by influencing brain hormones, but with subsequent depression of the nervous system and deep oblivion, which allows a person to be in the illusion of his life and not take any action. actions to increase your spiritual level.

This condition occurs with alcohol abuse and does not happen to every person, but only to those who have blocks. If a person does not have energy blocks, if his spiritual heart is pure, then he can drink alcohol according to the traditions of the place where he lives, and not according to his internal need, to get away from unpleasant sensations, thoughts or some kind of dysphoric states.

In the case of alcohol abuse, a person can stop abusing it only when he realizes the root cause of his dependence on this or another substance. To realize this, the first thing he needs to do is to seriously talk to himself, talk to his Higher Self, ask himself the question of what will happen to him after the end of the incarnation, someday it will end anyway. And also ask yourself the question whether he will be satisfied with the spiritual level to which he will end up, being blocked from the Divine Light of Love.

It must be remembered that alcohol itself, although it gives a temporary feeling of relief and improved mood, does not have the ability to dissolve energy blocks. This can only be done by the person himself with his awareness, pronouncing mental attitudes opposite to those on the basis of which this block arose.

Examples of blocks and opposing mental attitudes

If a person loves his body, if he is a spiritually pure person, then he will show love for himself, for his neighbors and for God. And self-love is love, including love for one's body, and if a person loves his body, then he will eat any product, regardless of its chemical composition and in an amount that will not harm his physical body . And everyone who has ever consumed alcohol in excess felt that he was poisoned. And if a person felt this once or twice, this is quite enough not to repeat this again if he loves his body.

Archangel Metatron is the head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Spiritual World of the Milky Way Galaxy, the ruler of the Jewish and Christian egregors on planet Earth.

May, 2022

July 16, 2022

Recommendations about life from Vanga

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/rekomendacii-o-zhizni-ot-vangi

Dear friends, my brothers and sisters in the Spirit of the one Father who loves us all! I ask you to communicate more often with your conscience, with your spiritual heart, with your intuition and follow only bright goals. If you see or feel that trouble is happening to your neighbor, do not remain indifferent. Don't pass by. Do not reproach a person that he received this misfortune because of his sins. The one who does this will himself bear no less burden. Getting rid of a person's suffering is the path to getting rid of one's own spiritual suffering; this is a real manifestation of Love.

My recommendation, my advice: if you see that the fate of another person depends on you, or you have been asked for help in something, listen only to your heart. If your spiritual heart says one thing and your fears say another, always choose the path of the heart. If other people scare you with various events, with exit from incarnation, always put Love first.

The goal of any Spirit when it comes into incarnation (including yours when you came into this incarnation) is not to preserve your life, your incarnation in any way, but to develop spiritually. Complete as many of your tasks as possible during this time. Your tasks on Earth are to develop in yourself Love, tolerance and patience for other people, other ideas, to develop faith, trust in God, in the Spiritual world and in yourself. I wish you all to walk this path in the power of God's Spirit and in the Light of His Love.

Related video: #355 Live broadcast. Communication with the Spirit of Vanga.

The Spirit of Vanga is a disembodied Spirit, embodied on Earth by the Bulgarian soothsayer Vanga (Vangelia).

October, 2021

August 1, 2022

Jesus on yoga and sports

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/iisus-o-joge-i-sporte

The reason for the appearance of yoga and similar analogues in many nations is not only the health of the body, but also the conduction of various energies through one's etheric body, which make it easier to work with any etheric energy center (as you call "chakras"). This facilitated contact with subtle civilizations and facilitated contact with the Spiritual world through concentration. Yoga poses are not done for the sake of the body, they are done for the sake of concentration on something, for example, on one thought, one energy. Initially, this was the meaning of creating yoga.

The yoga that you know has existed for many thousands of years. It was collected into a single work by a Spirit very well known to me, whose name was Patanjali. He collected this in contact with his Higher Self, with his curators from the Spiritual world, including Archangel Raphael.

Some poses were for healing diseases, some poses were for contact with the Gods, i.e. with plasmoid civilizations. Some poses were to enhance one's own thoughts. Concentration in a certain position with certain thoughts. And this had to be done not just once, but many dozens of times per month, over two months. This led to the fact that the very adoption of this pose, according to the law of a conditioned reflex, made it easier to concentrate on this thought. The man seemed to help himself with his body.

In Christianity, the approach is a little more connected with the path of thought, changing one's mentality through reading books, through prayers, through good deeds, etc. Physical education itself and sport itself were in no way condemned in Christianity, nor was their absence. This was considered a neutral matter, of course, if the sport itself and physical education itself were not connected with a feeling of pride over, for example, a person who has a less developed body. This, of course, has already been condemned. But the sport itself is not.

The destructive feelings associated with this were denied, criticized, rejected. And sport itself was recognized as a neutral matter for the person himself. It was considered a neutral matter for spiritual development; it could not interfere with spiritual development; time was allotted for it. Again, without a feeling of pride, without a feeling of despondency if something doesn't work out, without destructive emotions. And also, if a person decided not to do this, this was also considered neutral. This is the work of the person himself, so it was believed.

Timecode: 35:39, #341

Jesus Christ is the head of the Christian religious egregor on Earth (and not only), the Firstborn "son" of the Creator (the first Spirit to begin an individual existence, separated from the Creator).

September 2021

August 13, 2022

Is it possible to slow down the aging of physical cells?

---

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/zamedlit-starenie-fizicheskih-kletok

It is possible, if you believe in it and direct etheric energy towards it, to delay the execution of the genetic program. The rate of aging is recorded in cells at the DNA level and is individual. You can slow down and speed up this process. To do this, you need to either activate or slow down the activation of this program in the DNA of every human cell.

The launch of a process in the physical body, starting from the synthesis of the simplest enzymes and ending with such a complex process as aging, starts at a certain moment, due to the fact that the body tracks its location in time according to biological rhythms, and as soon as these rhythms approach the moment where DNA is designed to launch the aging program, it starts automatically.

Naturally, you can block it for a while, or slow down its deployment. But you have to believe it. Because faith will help direct etheric energy into the cells of the body to slow down or block the activation of this program, to slow down the activation of this program.

You need to understand that any choice has its consequences. Also here, you will simply direct your vital energy to something else. Perhaps you will have less strength for something else, because those ethereal vital forces that a person can collect in one incarnation, although they are very large, are not infinite, because a person has a certain volume of aura, a certain volume of ethereal body, and even a completely clean person, free from blocks and negative attachments, can accumulate a limited amount of energy.

Archangel Metatron is the head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Spiritual World of the Milky Way Galaxy, the ruler of the Jewish and Christian egregors on planet Earth.

June, 2022

August 15, 2022

Location in the Spiritual World of Spirits above level 24. Devas. Spiritual Sun Level Realms

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/sfery-urovnya-duhovnogo-solnca

Level 24 spirits are collected into spheres. They have cities like balls of Light. Spherical, roughly like the Sun, only this is the Spiritual Sun. The spheres have different directions.

The 24th level is the Deva level . Deva is the radiance, the Spiritual Sun. All those who move from the 23rd Arhat level to the 24th move to the level of spiritual nourishment in the radiance of the Spiritual Sun. They have access to the Kingdom of Heaven, where only the Divine Spirit lives. This is very difficult to convey in modern earthly language. But with your Soul, with your spiritual heart, you can feel it, and this will give much more understanding. I will say only approximately that access to the Kingdom of Heaven occurs in the state of the Spiritual Sun. When they are at the 24th spiritual level in the Houses of the Sun.

I say "houses" even though they are not physical houses, their minds are both fused and individual. They cannot be called the same collective intelligence as, for example, plasmoid civilizations. This is its higher counterpart in the sense that all thoughts, mental attitudes, emotions and feelings become known to others in a given Spiritual Sun. At the same time, there is individuality of the will and its manifestations.

Memory also becomes known to others, according to the will of the one who transmits. And current thought forms and emotions become automatic. A single consciousness, which consists of many Devas, and at the same time is a single consciousness with God. That is, this is a certain state of consciousness. He shows it to me, but emotionally, mentally I can’t express it now.

I cannot adequately imagine the difference between level 1,052 and level 52, a thousand levels. This difference is clear to me. But in the most general terms, as the level increases after the 24th, the awareness of unity with God and with other such Devas grows. But this is very approximate. The risk of a decrease in vibrations is taken into account when incarnating any Angel of the 24th level, 20th level.

The risk of lowering vibrations is always taken into account, but at the same time the Spirit, when it is not yet in incarnation, but at this highest angelic level, it is in such Light, Love and Goodness, believing that all obstacles can be easily overcome if it remembers this. Naturally, both the consultants and he himself remember from the experience of other lives that the memory will be blocked. But there it all seems so simple and obvious to him that he does not believe that it can be forgotten. This is not something that is not knowledge or some kind of illusion, it is a state of consciousness.

I will tell you that from the level of the Spiritual Sun, where I am, there are as many levels above me as I have passed through. Like that. That is, when you reach a certain level that you saw as final, the same number of others open behind you.

The path seems to be final, and when you come to it, you will see that the path is just beginning. This happens.

Unlike other levels, those spheres of the Spiritual Sun that exist at the 24th level, they are not isolated from each other. Those. from one sphere, you can visit another. There is no longer anything that cannot be done from one sphere, by analogy with other levels.

#203, 34:04

Archangel Michael is a representative of the Christian spiritual egregor, the patron and curator of the Earth in the Spiritual world, one of the Higher Hierarchs of Light.

January 2021

August 15, 2022

Energy blocks give a distorted view of reality

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ehnergeticheskie-bloki

The spirit is structured the same for everyone. If he does not forgive, does not accept, does not recognize love, he becomes bitter. The heart becomes covered with a stone crust. But this is not the stone that lies on the road. This stone is cruel and indifferent to the suffering of others.

August 19, 2022

The meeting of the soul with God after the death of the physical body. Image of a woman with a braid

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vstrecha-dushi-s-bogom

If a soul has a large number of blocks and negative energy, it falls on a low vibrational level. After 7-9 days of the material world, the soul meets God. She comes to a special room built by the thought forms of other spirits at her level, wherever she ends up, from 1 to 24.

There the soul contacts God in a form that it can perceive. Either in the form of voice, or light, or in the form of merging with it, depending on the level. It also depends on beliefs. If there are religious attitudes in the consciousness of the soul, then communication with God occurs at the level of its perception in a religious sense.

God never contradicts the beliefs of faith that the soul had if they led it to an increase in vibrations, to goodness, to light. God does not destroy these beliefs and, in communicating with the soul, accepts the image that is familiar in its religious tradition.

An atheist who does not accept the spiritual world, when he gets into it, does not understand what is happening to him. The guides explain where he ended up, that it all exists. He's trying to argue. They can show him a buried body, convince him of the reality and take him to his level.

Contact with God occurs at the level of categories that are understandable to him: space, the Universe, the Supreme Mind. In categories that he understands. This contact is necessary for the spirit to realize its new position. God tells and shows his life in images.

Since God is superpersonal, multidimensional mind and He is omnipresent, He can manifest in any place and talk to everyone at the same time. What you call the judgment of God is called an analysis of life in our sources. There is no judge there to condemn for sins. This is just a simplified understanding of reality. There God explains to the spirit without any condemnation, states the fact of what he has done in this life, his state of the quality of the spirit, that he has not overcome it until the end of the incarnation, which is why he ended up at this level.

Facts are revealed in such a form that the spirit agrees with them. Everything is revealed in such a way that it is impossible to argue.

Woman with a scythe as an image of death

Death with a scythe cutting off life is an image, a symbol. There are real entities behind it. For each spirit, when it leaves the material body forever, guide angels come from the 21st level. Their service is to accompany some spirits to incarnation, and others from incarnation into the spiritual world.

Angels who come for a spirit that must leave material life can use various methods to help quickly get rid of the life thread associated with the material world, and so that this process goes harmoniously. A sharply severed thread can cause injury, pain and discomfort to the astral body, which will require restoration.

To prevent this from happening, guides help to properly separate the thread. They are the ones who can be mistaken for the death they see coming. One conductor or several.

A woman with a scythe in her hands and a head in the shape of a skull is an image, a symbol of death. Why did you choose these? The skull is a symbol of a decomposed body. Why braid? This is also a completely understandable image for peasants who constantly dealt with haymaking. It was clear to them that, just as a scythe mows down the grass, so death mows down the life of a person who, compared to eternity, did not live long.

Why is the woman featured in the image? In the minds of people, a woman is a symbol that gives life to all living things, then its reverse side, death, should also be in the minds in the image of a woman.

Timecode: 39:06, #114 The human soul: life after death, God's judgment and the Higher Self. What happens in the afterlife?

LiShioni is a specialist in astral interactions, planet Shimor.

July 2020

August 24, 2022

The principle of action of homeopathy

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/princip-dejstviya-gomeopatii

Homeopathy is the so-called similar treatment. That is, a substance is diluted there so many times that there are no molecules of the active substance left. Then this remedy is applied.

What does it mean? This means that if there are no molecules left there, the energy of this substance remains there. Water is a universal solvent not only of substances, but also a substance that remembers energies very well and transfers them to a person.

Why then charge with a similar substance? Why is water charged with a similar substance, the intake of which in large doses in a person will cause symptoms similar to his illness?

“Cure like with like” is translated.

When you charge with similar energy, then this product with water enters the physical body as simple water, but information, energy, it already enters the etheric body of a person. And this energy, since it is charged with similar energies, then it begins to activate the body’s defenses against a specific symptom.

And here it is not some substance that heals, as in medicines, it is a different mechanism of action. Here the body heals itself, charged with a certain energy.

January 2022

August 29, 2022

Methods for cleansing the lymphatic system. Dietary recommendations

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/metody-ochishcheniya-limfaticheskoj-sistemy

Cleansing of the lymphatic system normally occurs independently, if all these conditions are met, through evolution, including the evolution that continues to occur in human bodies. It has not stopped, man adapts, adapts, evolves.

It even adapts to those artificial additives in food that would have been poisonous to ancient man. Gradually, the body begins to produce new enzymes, but in different quantities, in order to neutralize them. But this body mechanism is far behind the capabilities of your chemical industry.

If there is a need to cleanse the lymphatic system. This can happen if you have low immunity, a tendency to edema, weakness, heaviness, if you slept for 7-8 hours and in the morning you feel that you would have slept the same amount - this indicates that you lack energy. This energy can be conducted from the Spiritual and physical worlds into the muscles and brain only thanks to the etheric body. And the conductor from the etheric body to the physical is just blood, plus lymph and the nervous system. There are three components.

In order for them all to work harmoniously, it may be necessary to improve the functioning of the lymphatic system. Without its healthy state, it will not be possible to heal any organ. If you have frequent colds, a tendency to edema, a tendency to accumulate fluid, if you have indigestion, a tendency to constipation, and so on, then this indicates that you need to pay attention to the lymphatic system.

You must first follow three mandatory rules: movement, liquid, amount of salt.

If you have signs of lymphatic congestion, then the first thing you should look at is how much salt you are consuming. The second is how much liquid you drink. And third is whether you have enough movement. At least walking, better, of course, running over rough terrain, so that there are shakes, higher and lower, when a person falls. At least for one and a half to two hours a day. I'm not even talking about special physical exercises. This is the required minimum for an adult.

If you consume approximately 0.1 grams of salt for every kilogram of body weight, that is, for 50 kilograms it would be 5 grams of salt, naturally, salt must be taken into account in all products. If, for example, you ate chips or sausage, sausages, into which, of course, salt is added, then the rest of the food should be without it. Or, if you ate salted fish or a pickled cucumber, you, accordingly, ate it with some product that does not contain salt, which you add at the time of preparation.

Water is a universal conductor of energy, including the etheric plane. In addition, it is a good solvent for the nutrients you consume through food. If you don’t consume enough of it, even a well-balanced diet in calories, vitamins and microelements, which consists of very high-quality products, will not give you this benefit without enough liquid. You won't get energy without water.

In winter, this will be around 7-8 milliliters per kilogram of body weight. See how many kilograms you have. But there is also liquid that is in the food. So in any case, around 1.5-2 liters should be consumed by a person of average body weight. If he has more body weight, the fluid rate increases. Because the accumulation of some tissues, even if it is adipose tissue, needs fluid.

If we do not give adipose tissue fluid, it begins to take it from the lymph, in which its content decreases, and therefore the filtration capacity of the lymph nodes, and, accordingly, immunity, and everything else. The first sign of lack of fluid may not be thirst. Because the body quickly gets used to the lack of fluid. The first sign of fluid deficiency may be fatigue, drowsiness, and the desire to rest frequently during work. If you get tired from physical movements or from mental work very quickly, this may be the first sign of a lack of fluid. You don't have enough energy.

Wait 2-3 days in this mode. If the situation does not improve or improves slightly, you can use special herbal preparations. For example, to cleanse the lymphatic system of all types of toxins: for an adult, you need to take one tablespoon of tenacious bedstraw. If you don't find a tenacious one, yellow bedstraw replaces it. And two tablespoons of red clover. Dry. All this must be put in a clean thermos and pour 600 milliliters of hot water 2-3 minutes after boiling, approximately 95 degrees, and leave in the thermos for 3 hours. There is no need to strain afterwards. You can strain it before using so that no blade of grass gets in there. Depending on body weight, take this infusion 50-70 milliliters 3-4 times a day. This has individual differences. Because, for example, women need a little more, men - a little less, children under 14 years old - half the dose. Can be used for 14 days. This decoction stimulates the functioning of the lymph nodes at the cellular level, they begin to cleanse themselves of toxins.

On the left - yellow bedstraw, on the right - tenacious bedstraw (images from the Internet)

You can also use, especially for children, diluted licorice root syrup and add it to tea. If this is an adult, 2-3 tablespoons will be enough for him. It can be added to tea instead of sugar. It also helps cleanse the lymphatic system.

If, despite this, you still have a problem with the lymphatic system, you need to be diagnosed and checked for chronic infectious processes. For example, stagnation of lymph can cause chronic tonsillitis, chronic periodontitis (teeth), chronic sinusitis. That is, the constant presence of an infectious focus in any organ that you don't even notice. It may be asymptomatic. It's just that there are a certain number of microbes there, they constantly enter the lymphatic system. It happens that the body does not react to this, but sometimes it reacts quite strongly to such things. Especially if the type of microbe is quite aggressive.

If, despite all these measures, it was not possible to completely eliminate the symptoms of lymphatic stagnation, then we are checked for the presence of microorganisms, helminths and parasites in the body. They can also cause a hyperreaction of the immune system, respectively, a reaction of the lymphatic system in the form of its stagnation. That is, the lymph nodes begin to become not a help in promoting lymph, but an obstacle.

They begin to work with these microbes for too long, leaving new portions of lymph in themselves and not letting it through. Of course, they do this for security reasons, but the result is obvious. And in this case, liquid, lack of salt and movement will not completely relieve these symptoms. Although they will still make them easier.

If lymphadenitis is observed, that is, inflammation of the lymph nodes and tracts, this already indicates an infection in the blood. That is, some microbe has begun to multiply in the blood, but it is mild, and the lymph nodes are trying to hold it back. To cleanse the lymph nodes of microorganisms and their breakdown products, you can use an infusion of echinacea in the area of 1 tablespoon per 250 milliliters of boiling water, like tea.

Lymph-friendly nutrition

As for healthy nutrition for the lymphatic system, remember one rule: all vegetables and fruits, herbs that are green for you contain chlorophyll, it is a necessary component for cellular respiration, as well as for maintaining the health of the lymphatic system.

Eating cabbage, zucchini, and seaweed promotes the health of the lymphatic system. The lymphatic system especially loves the use of spices such as ginger, turmeric, black pepper.

Perhaps you like salty foods. Some people like the taste because they provoke appetite and make food tastier. By the way, a love of salt may be a sign of insufficient production of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Then it is necessary to check the pancreas. Perhaps it does not sufficiently stimulate the production of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. And also, naturally, dissolve energy blocks that may be in the area of the 3rd and 4th chakras. The love for salty foods may be because the body is trying to compensate for the lack of sodium and chlorine.

Also, a love for salty food can be a sign of helminth infection, when the body tries, by reducing the sensitivity of the tongue to salty food, to provoke eating it to destroy helminths. If you feel that food with a normal salt content for your weight seems tasteless and bland to you, there is no need to force your body to eat it, because you need to help it, and not break the mechanism. This means that it is necessary to carry out antiparasitic cleaning with some broad-spectrum anthelmintic.

Naturally, pay attention to the stomach, the pancreas, talk to these organs. And also a love of salty foods may already be a sign of low immunity. Movement, water procedures, massage, and physical movements are useful. Dousing is also useful when there is a change of hot and cold water. This also helps to increase immunity, and better blood flow and lymph flow, that is, the leaching of toxic substances and increased immunity. But this needs to be done carefully if you are not used to having a small temperature range. The main thing is gradualism and consistency.

If you go out once a month and douse yourself with cold water, and then sit warm all the time, it will not give you anything. Apart from stress, this will not give you any health. This requires caution, gradualism and consistency. Only then can you achieve the effects that are claimed during hardening. At the same time, this will not give anything except stress and harm to the body.

And, naturally, why is it customary on Earth to do physical exercises in the morning, why is it even called exercise? This helps to activate the muscles, blood and lymphatic vessels that were relaxed when your body was resting, in a state of sleep. You were absent, come to it, it does not wake up immediately, not all its cells.

Special exercises, even if they are short-term, several exercises, but for all muscle groups, head, neck and so on. You can do it from top to bottom or vice versa, but for all muscle groups. This will allow you to increase the amount of energy that came with you from the Spiritual world, its flow through the etheric body to the physical, and therefore significantly improve the condition of all body systems and increase your vigor throughout the day.

Video on the topic: #432 Lymphatic system. Stagnation and cleansing. Lymph nodes. Clean lymph is the key to human health!

MidgasCaus - biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien civilizations, planet Esler.

March, 2022

September 3, 2022

Destructive Behavior: Motives and Justifications

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/destruktivnoe-povedenie-motivy-i-opravdaniya

Parasitic entities can unite for their own interests, because either they do not consider their actions destructive, or they believe that this destructiveness is only beneficial and thus justify themselves.

For example, let's take your thieves, who are the closest to parasitic structures. A thief is a parasite who steals other people's material resources. And the one who does this always finds a justificatory thesis that allows him to live in a precarious peace with his conscience.

After all, he also has a Higher Self, a Guardian Angel, consultants, mentors who sent him to incarnation and who constantly tell him that this is all wrong, i.e. are constantly present next to him: and this thief, in order to continue his activities, comes up with an answer for himself in his thoughts, for example, that with this method he fights the authorities that he does not like. Or that the rich still have nowhere to put their money.

I know that you had such a real character (note: Robin Hood) who robbed the rich and gave money to the poor. But those thieves who do this, as a rule, forget to distribute the loot to the poor. And even if they give it away, it is not an honest act before God and the Higher Self.

Yes, we can call helping the poor an act of love. But the real manifestation of love is manifested not in the fact that you do it at someone else’s expense, but in the fact that you earn it yourself, i.e. a pure, constructive act that will positively influence spiritual development.

There are thieves who justify themselves by saying that since another person hid his property poorly, it means that he himself is to blame for the theft. Other thieves see some degree of romance in theft. They like to hide from law enforcement. Some consider punishment for a smaller crime unfair, comparing it with the fact that those in power steal many times more, and nothing happens to them for it: let them become more loyal to the people, then we will stop stealing. And some even believe that law enforcement agencies are not needed, that this is all for control over the people.

But even these thieves themselves can be robbed, and it doesn't matter whether they earned it with their own labor or stole it, but they already consider it their property. If they and their loved ones are robbed, they will not consider it fair. And all because they consider themselves exceptional, i.e. taller than others.

Pride and arrogance are vices that lead to a low vibrational state.

#145 Galactic Federation of Light. Crime, hierarchy of demons.

MidgasKaus from the planet Esler is a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

Raom Tiyan from the planet Burkhad is a specialist in energy interactions in the material world.

October, 2020

September 20, 2022

How to measure human vibrations

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kak-izmerit-vibracii-cheloveka

Spiritual vibrations are not measured in anything. This is the spiritual world, there are no Hertz there.

First, we need to determine what is the standard of spiritual vibrations, in comparison with what we will compare them. The highest spiritual vibrations are at the level of the Heavenly Father. They are called unconditional love .

The higher the vibration, the closer to this standard, and the lower the vibration, the further from the standard to its opposite.

The opposite of unconditional love is unreasonable hatred . That is, the lowest vibrations are in a person who experiences hatred in front of something that did not cause any bad experience in him.

Hatred, if you parse this word, you get ne-na-vist (-vist – from the word “see”).

We have a spiritual vision. This is when you see that it has a right to exist, even if you don’t agree with it.

When a person “hates”, it means he does not agree, he understands that this should not exist, it must be destroyed, erased from the Divine Mind.

For example, take Hitler. He went through his lessons, he did not pass them, and accordingly his spirit fell to a low level. He caused a lot of suffering to both his people and the surrounding people. But you can either love him unconditionally or hate him (that is, causeless hatred).

He didn't do anything to us personally. In the past, people had reason to hate him. This “causal hatred” has a slightly higher vibration. This hatred comes from a reason, from personal negative experience: he lowered the vibrations of a person, and he hates him.

If we hate someone, be it Lenin, Stalin, or a maniac, we, in fact, in our vibrations descend to his level, even if we did not do so.

When a person empathizes with a murderer, he empathizes with what he did, and not with the emotions that possessed him at the time of the murder. This is not supporting him in his murder.

People understand love in such a way that if I love you, then I support you in everything, even evil deeds. Unconditional love is not like that .

Love is not indulging a person, no matter what he is. Love is wishing him true happiness, true harmony. And true happiness is impossible without connection with God.

Therefore, the one who unconditionally loves does not indulge the sins of another, but, on the contrary, talks about them and leads him upward, because he wants him to unite with God.

January 2022

September 25, 2022

MidgasKaus about health. Spirit - Soul - Body

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/midgaskaus-o-zdorove

Health is a state of perfect harmony between the spirit, the etheric field and the physical body. Among earthly middle-aged people, ideally healthy people are no more than 0.5% of the total population.

The initial state of a person, given to him at birth, is determined by a combination of personal and tribal karma. Whatever it is, it is always possible to improve it if you work tirelessly to improve it.

The potential for human health is almost limitless, but the manifestation of potential by each individual is always individual. Remember that your health is in your hands, you are fully responsible for your body and everything that happens to it, starting from reaching a conscious age.

Below you will find a few simple rules, the implementation of which will help you improve the health of your body and spirit, no matter what state they are in initially.

Always begin to restore the harmony and health of your spirit, then work on the energy (etheric field) and at the same time or immediately after, heal the physical body.

The healing remedies and tools for each facet of the human personality correspond to the nature of those facets. This means that we heal the spirit with spiritual methods, the etheric field with energy, and the physical body with physical tools.

If you have a serious illness that significantly reduces your standard of living, treat it first. Identify and eliminate the spiritual causes of the disease, and then, using special energetic methods available to you, restore the etheric matrix of the damaged organ of the body and immediately begin physical healing of the organ using medications, plants, dietary supplements, homeopathic medicines, physiotherapy and other methods depending on the situation. The level of damage to physical organs varies, so the time of final healing at the physical level of the same disease differs from person to person. In any case, remember that complete restoration of health is always possible, with the exception of karmically determined cases, which you can always check with your disembodied part of the spirit, which on Earth is called the Higher Self.

If your health in general does not cause concern, take up general disease prevention and methods of improving health, such as harmony of body and spirit.

Man consists of a physical body, an etheric field and spiritual structures manifested through matter: the astral field, mental field, causal field, buddhic field and Atman. To successfully improve health, it is necessary to follow the rules of prevention and healing on three levels simultaneously: physical, energetic and spiritual; neglecting one of them will cause disharmony and instability of the human personality as a whole.

Conditions for improving the health of the physical body and preventing diseases of the physical body:

a) Absence of chronic infections and parasitoses.

b) Absence of chronic intoxication (drug use, alcohol abuse, tobacco smoking, as well as maximum protection when working in hazardous industries and living in environmentally unfavorable areas).

c) Adequate sleep and rest (7-8 hours of sleep per day for an adult, as well as physical and mental rest for recovery after necessary work).

d) Good nutrition (maximum variety of foods, sufficient content of proteins, fats, carbohydrates, vitamins, microelements and fiber in food for all the needs of the body, absence of toxic artificial additives in food, especially aspartame, monosodium glutamate, sodium nitrite and artificial colors).

e) A full drinking regime (the optimal daily dosage of liquid: 30 ml per kilogram of body weight. In addition, it is advisable to start every morning by drinking 150-200 ml of clean water, you need to drink it 30-40 minutes before breakfast).

f) Full physical activity (daily morning warm-up for large joints and spine, as well as a sufficient number of movements throughout the day. The optimal type of movement for adults is walking, while for men the daily number of steps should be at least ten thousand, and for women at least eight thousand. In case of poor health or illness, physical activity is reduced until well tolerated.

g) Complete hygiene and prevention of infectious and parasitic diseases (daily, morning and evening hygiene procedures, hygiene of clothing and bed linen, housing hygiene, necessary preventive vaccinations in epidemiologically disadvantaged areas, compliance with hygienic rules for the preparation and consumption of food and water, compliance with protection rules from sexually transmitted diseases, maintaining an individually comfortable temperature regime, gradual and careful hardening).

Methods for healing etheric matrices in the energy field:

a) Dissolution of ethereal-astral negative blocks.

b) Daily breathing exercises with visualization of filling the etheric field with pure white light.

c) Daily mental gratitude to the organs of the physical body and filling them with the light of True Love.

d) Mental gratitude before or after each meal, water and medicinal preparations to all Divine Beings who participated in the creation of these material elements.

e) If desired and possible, use energy healing methods: hatha yoga, reiki, cosmoenergetics and others.

Methods for healing the spirit and increasing spiritual vibrations:

a) Daily conscious communication with the disembodied part of the spirit (Higher Self).

b) Changing negative mental attitudes and beliefs to positive ones.

c) Cognition and fulfillment of personal tasks of embodiment, as well as social and generic tasks.

d) Acceptance of all your qualities as manifestations of Divine energies, forgiveness of your mistakes, love for yourself as a beloved child of God.

e) Forgiveness of grievances, reconciliation with ill-wishers, recognition of the right of others to any behavior, worldview and any actions.

f) Setting correct boundaries of personal responsibility in any relationship with other people, recognizing your independence and independence from the desires of other people while simultaneously recognizing their independence and independence from your desires.

g) Daily meditations and prayers, chosen by you as spiritual practices that purify the spiritual heart and connect with God, as the Absolute Ideal of all your ideas about the Lightest, Pure and Loving Being.

h) Daily, if possible, practical acts of love and mercy towards people, animals, nature in general and towards oneself.

Following these simple rules, reflecting the Cosmic Laws of Light and Well-Being in the Universe, will allow you to be the healthiest, most successful and happy people possible.

MidgasCaus - biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien civilizations, planet Esler.

September 2022

September 27, 2022

Herbs for body regeneration. Causes of atherosclerosis

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kakie-luchshie-travy-dlya-regeneracii-organizma

For cell rejuvenation, I will give one recipe that I have already given many times to those I diagnosed. That is, the recipe can be universal: to rejuvenate your blood cells and so that you can lower the level of cholesterol in the blood, reduce the number of cholesterol plaques - and with this you will already improve the flow of blood to all parts of your body and plus reduce the unnecessary load on the heart, which manifests itself in the area of hypertension.

To do this, you will need three herbs that grow everywhere in the middle zone. These are immortelle, St. John's wort and chamomile. You should pour 500 ml of boiling water into a tablespoon of 15 g of dry crushed herb and do this in a very warm place, preferably in a thermos so that it keeps the temperature, and brew like tea for 40 minutes. Infuse for 40 minutes in a warm, dark place; this is not a decoction, but an infusion. You should strain and drink this 500 ml per day after meals or before meals, the daily dose is like tea. You can add a little honey. You can drink it constantly and your cardiovascular and circulatory system will constantly heal and regenerate.

If you have high cholesterol, there is not only a physical reason, but also a spiritual one. Many people think that high cholesterol occurs due to food, when you eat too fatty, animal foods. No more than 20% of your cholesterol comes from food. 80% is produced by you, your liver. Most of the cholesterol that comes from food has the property of clearing blood vessels of other types of cholesterol that can attach to them.

The spiritual cause of atherosclerosis is most often the feeling that the flow of your life is polluted by some external influences. You do not accept the world around you in the Divine Light. You perceive something as dirty, something you want to get rid of, and you fight against it. It doesn't matter whether you are struggling in the outside world or within yourself. Fighting within yourself, but not saying it out loud, will even lead to illness faster, because energy will accumulate.

September 28, 2022

Unconventional relationships

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/netradicionnye-seksualnye-otnosheniya

LiScioni and MidgasKaus say that we understand the definition of "person with a non-traditional sexual orientation" in a narrower sense, meaning people who are attracted only to the same sex, but not to the opposite.

They can experience any feelings for the opposite sex, but not sexual attraction. You have many people for various reasons: disappointment in love, curiosity, they become temporarily homosexual, but do not lose their attraction to the opposite sex. They are not considered homosexuals in the usual sense of the word. These are temporary experiments that do not affect their Soul, because they do not lose the orientation inherent in the genes.

A true homosexual is a man or woman who is attracted only to their own gender.

The reason is that the Soul has been given a lesson in this life. Her highest mentors and Consulting Angels decided to leave her the memory of her past body. This may not be a previous life, but one of the past, when the Soul experienced strong love. Usually the life whose body the Soul remembers was violently interrupted at a young age, based on the research we did.

What is this lesson? The fact is that the Soul is faced with a choice: follow the program of the body in the current incarnation and fulfill its tasks in this life or remember its past body. This is a lesson. Test lesson: will a person go against his nature, against his physical body, or will he be able to harmonize it and discover feelings for the opposite sex.

The number of true homosexuals does not exceed 7–10 percent. This happened in all countries and in all eras. Just because of some socio-cultural characteristics of your time, these people are becoming more visible than before. And so they have always been.

There are no races in the Interstellar Union where deviations in orientation occur. This is what they explain at school - why the Spirit came, and what lessons it might have. We are not aware that this has been developed in the Interstellar Union.

Even on the planet Disaru, whose inhabitants are descendants of earthly people, several generations later, after joining the Interstellar Union, these phenomena ceased to occur. Although, in the Interstellar Union there is no law prohibiting such relationships. But several generations after joining the Interstellar Union, maybe 100-150 years, these phenomena still occurred. They were less and less frequent. The man who came to the specialists of the Interstellar Union himself talked about what was happening to him. They connected him with the Higher Self and helped him harmonize his body. Spirits were born, but were harmonized in childhood while going through classes at school. This is not only a homosexual body - it is a characteristic of the Soul itself.

The body is tuned by the Soul itself. It's just that cause and effect are confused here. You believe that the physical body is responsible for a person’s sexual constitution. The physical body has hormones and physical organs and systems that realize the attraction of the Soul. It is the Soul that comes into the body that sets up this system of attraction. I have already said that this is really a special decision of the Angels-mentors to leave a part of the memory of the past body of such a Soul. And then she perceives herself from childhood not as a boy, for example, but more as a girl; not a girl, but a boy. She develops corresponding habits, and when a person reaches adolescence, when sexual desire manifests itself, she manifests them in relation to her own sex. And since in earthly society it is customary to recognize these desires as shameful, to deny them, to fight them, various blocks and feelings of guilt are formed. But there is no work with the cause itself. There is no contact with the Higher Self and harmonization with the body.

The Spirit, together with the Consulting Angels, decides to leave for itself a partial memory of the body. Moreover, not necessarily the previous incarnation. Maybe several lifetimes ago.

God is love. Understanding that God will forgive is reconciliation with a piece of God in oneself. This is awareness of oneself as a son of God, a part of God, merging with God. God is not offended if someone has a non-traditional sexual orientation. The question is, if a person remains in it, will he fulfill his life task?

You need to resolve the issue with your Higher Self, ask about the tasks of incarnation, about the reasons for the decision of the arrival of the Spirit with partially preserved memory. What should he study in this state, what should he come to?

A homosexual, like any of us, may fail in his task if it is to come to terms with his body and attune it to the opposite sex. If he does not do this, then he will not complete the task.

What will happen to him then? The same as with any person who has not completed the task of incarnation. Depending on his vibrations, which he will have when leaving the incarnation, he will either remain at his level, or if he has an accumulation of negative vibrations, such as anger, condemnation, guilt for this orientation, then he will go to a lower level . It's individual.

To say about a homosexual that he should or should not be like everyone else - this needs to be decided by everyone with the Higher Self.

Through contact with the Higher Self, the reason why he came this way, why the memory remained, is revealed. It is the same for everyone, but the reasons are different.

You fill your body with the Light of Love, you accept the organs of your physical body that belong to this gender. Usually, a homosexual consciously or subconsciously rejects their significance. Some even want to change their gender...

He goes to the Higher Self, asks about the reasons, fills the body with the Light of Love and asks his Higher Self and the Consulting Angels to include in him the feelings that will awaken in relationships with the opposite sex. If he decides to go through this life one way or another, he has every right to do so.

People with non-traditional sexual orientation are not accepted as physical contactees, because over time, if they have sexual intercourse with each other, their aura weakens from the exchange of homogeneous energy during sexual contacts. Physical contact on the plate, since aliens have strong energy, can damage their aura. Such people can become seriously ill. This is for their safety.

Related video: #242 Live broadcast. Non-traditional sexual relationships.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations;

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world.

April 2021

October 12, 2022

Do Angels Help Criminals?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/pomogayut-li-angely-prestupnikam

Angels help criminals realize the reason for their actions that led them to crime. These reasons are always hidden in their spiritual heart, in the mental field, in the mind, long before the actual crime.

Angels help criminals in that when they are incarnated in people or humanoids, in beings who achieve a position in their society, on which legislative bodies depend, Angels who have retained a conscious connection with the Higher Self, with God, if they are incarnated, they release laws that will help criminals realize what they have done and return to the Light of God, and socialize them into society.

Any Angel, in any case, opposes the death penalty, because with the death penalty only the body is killed, and the spirit, which remained at the level of low-vibration entities, in any case will go into incarnation and into the same world where it did not pass its lessons. By killing his body, you will receive it in another body, but already hidden.

October 20, 2022

Recovery from viral and infectious diseases. Recipe for anti-inflammatory and blood purifying agent

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vosstanovlenie-posle-virusnyh-zabolevanij

Asthenia with an anxiety-depressive component often occurs not only after the virus that you call the Covid virus, but also after a severe course of influenza viruses, parainfluenza, adenovirus, measles and so on, that is, after those infections when the body has spent a lot of vitality on the immune system , to suppress this infection, and then continues to spend its energy on removing toxins that were formed from the breakdown of your dead cells and viral particles.

The body needs time to remove them, to get rid of the toxic substances in your blood, lymph, brain fluid, etc. that circulate throughout the body. As the Spirit influences the body, so the body influences the Spirit. This means that with illness, the vibrations of the Spirit along the energetic connection decrease. But, naturally, they decrease only if the Spirit itself does not oppose anything to this state of the body.

What can you do to get through this period not only with less suffering, but also with great benefit for yourself? First, start cleansing your blood and lymph from your dead cells and other particles. Taking anti-inflammatory and blood purifying agents, such as calamus root mixed with violet tricolor herb, will help with this.

This is the simplest and most accessible recipe. For a person weighing about 70 kilograms, a teaspoon of calamus roots and a tablespoon of dry violet tricolor herb are needed. Pour all this into 200 ml of boiling water and leave for forty minutes in a warm place. Then divide these 200 ml into four to five servings and drink throughout the day, preferably 20-30 minutes before meals in even portions. This will be the daily dose.

Accordingly, if you weigh 100 kg, then increase the dose. If you weigh less or a child, then in half, since it depends on body weight. These are useful anti-inflammatory and cleansing herbs.

If you feel severe depression, despondency, oppression, negative emotions come to you even when you are doing something on your own, then in this case you can add a teaspoon of St. John's wort flowers to the collection. But then do not stay in the sun without sunscreen and protection for more than two hours, because this can have a negative effect, especially during the hot period.

If you don't have calamus, you can replace it with a tablespoon of calendula, it is also anti-inflammatory. This is me giving the most general recipe that is suitable for 80 percent of people.

How long to drink? 5-7 days will be enough to withdraw. This is about the body. Now, regarding spiritual practices. They need to be strengthened.

Despite the fact that you will not be interested in doing this, you may not have the desire to do this, they need to be strengthened in order to keep your vibrations of the Spirit higher than they were before the illness. Your own spiritual practices are suitable for this: meditation, communication with the Higher Self, for some astral travel, for others reading prayers. For almost all people, reading the moods: "I am the Universe," the planets Pikran, which were transmitted, is good. It is aimed, however, not only at increasing vibrations; it is read much less frequently on Picran. It is aimed at connecting with all the light Spirits of the Universe in special cases when help is required. In any case, you can read it in this state.

And also your prayers related to your religious traditions, if you sincerely believe, reading religious, spiritual, esoteric literature and simply light literature that is written by people, for example, literature about good deeds, about the Light, which will delight you. Conversely, reduce the amount of information that causes you negativity, for example, watching any videos that frighten you or irritate you, and so on. This will lower your vibration.

At this point, do not study low vibrational things, it can harm you. Come to your senses a little and get stronger, then start studying some negative aspects of life, if you want to. That is, strengthen your spiritual practice, except for herbs.

Timecode: 41:25, #280 Live. Discord in CASSIOPEIA. Answers to chat questions Cassiopeia - Ukraine.

MidgasCaus - biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien civilizations, planet Esler.

May, 2021

October 28, 2022

Brief recommendations for the use of essential oils

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/rekomendacii-po-primeneniyu-ehfirnyh-masel

Oils for harmonizing the chakra system

1st chakra: Ylang-ylang, bergamot (apply to the whole body, especially the feet)

2nd chakra: Citrus fruits (except lemon): grapefruit, tangerine, orange (have an antidepressant effect)

3rd chakra: Lemon and eucalyptus (energy activation)

4 Chakras: Lavender, Myrrh

5th chakra: Thyme, basil, coriander, cinnamon (herbs)

6th chakra: Lavender, conifers: cedar, juniper, pine

7th Chakra: Myrrh, Frankincense, Sandalwood, Ginger

Oils for harmonizing various areas of the human body

It is recommended to rub into the locations of organs, joint bends, groin folds, and neck.

Skin rejuvenation: rose (facial massage)

Menopause: basil and oils for the 2nd chakra

Potency: patchouli, ylang-ylang, juniper

Harmonization with children: geranium

Activating Childhood Memories: Vanilla

Cleansing from toxins: anise, thuja, juniper, sea buckthorn, eucalyptus, fir

ARI/Flu: massage of the chest, back and wings of the nose based on baby cream, 5 drops of eucalyptus and fir each

Antifungal: tea tree, thyme, clove (antihelminthic)

Antibacterial: lavender

Sunburn: Eucalyptus

Hair loss: tree oils - cypress, thuja, pine, eucalyptus, juniper

Venous system: ginger (from blood clots), orange, lavender (lowers blood pressure), eucalyptus, lemon (increases blood pressure)

Cleansing blood vessels from cholesterol: ginger, nutmeg, cloves, cinnamon

October 29, 2022

Plasmoid Laatar on healing

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/laatar-ob-iscelenii

Healing is the formation of a whole person. And what is it? This is when a person does not feel separated from all other people, from nature and from God, but feels whole with them.

Feels the world as a whole and feels himself not just as a part, but as a part of this whole. And then he can heal himself. And he will feel this divine energy in nature that we share with people. Every person can do this too. Can heal himself and others. To do this, you need to believe in it and stop resisting the flow of life. You need to trust. Complete openness will help build trust, but for this you need to remove fears.

Fear is the energy that blocks your opportunities and prevents you from moving forward. This useful evolutionary mechanism was acquired by your ancestors during the period of evolution; it is the instinct of self-preservation. The instinct is very ancient and it is aimed at the survival of the body. Today, he can no longer take into account all the nuances of behavior that exist in modern society. Therefore, this useful instinct can begin to protect a person not only from everything dangerous, but simply from everything new. From the stress that accompanies changes in life. And then a person has contradictions.

For example, he mentally understands that he needs to get out of some situation and take a step towards his new bright destiny, but the fear of changing his life stops him. And this internal contradiction accumulates in a person and creates blocks in him.

My task is to explain that we are embodied here in this Universe in order to develop by making choices. But those circumstances that are created in life are created by ourselves, and by God, and by the people around us. Here it is important to understand when we can influence the situation and when we objectively cannot. And if we cannot influence the situation, then we need to ask ourselves, our Higher Self , why this situation came into my life, and how differently I can go through this lesson.

Timecode: 16:00, #127 Intergalactic Medical Service - Pleiades Constellation. How to learn to heal yourself

Laatar is a plasmoid representative of the Pleiades star cluster, a specialist of the Intergalactic Medical Service.

August, 2020

November 1, 2022

Percentage of animal and plant products in the daily diet

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/procent-zhivotnyh-i-rastitelnyh-produktov

Using the example of the rule of the Eslerites and for conscious earthlings, the main rule is: eat what is pleasant, what you want to eat from what you have. In general, stick to a plan where 70% are plant foods: grains, nuts, fruits and vegetables, and 30% are “animal products,” but not just meat.

Animal products also include dairy products, eggs and fish. So, for a complete, varied diet of 30% animal products, 15% should be dairy products and 15% percent: 5% each for eggs, fish and meat. This means that the percentage of meat and meat products in the diet is no more than 5%, meaning poultry, animal meat, etc. – this is for those who adhere to an omnivorous diet.

If you increase the percentage, and you eat a lot of meat, i.e. much more than the norm, the one that is provided for, then this can also cause health problems. Meat is harmful in large quantities because it contains proteins in a concentrated form and often quite a lot of fat, which provides energy, i.e. what you call "calories".

If instead of 5% a person eats 30% of meat, then the center in the brain that is responsible for the feeling of hunger will simply turn off. Simply put, he will eat this amount of meat and will not consume the amount of vegetables and fruits that he requires, he simply will not want to eat them. Well, yes, a variety of dairy products are healthy too. There should be more fermented milk in the diet.

I’m now talking about people who adhere to an omnivorous diet, of which you have the majority on the planet.

If you are a lacto-vegetarian, you need to watch your diet and increase the amount of protein. Lacto-vegetarians who practice a diet without eating eggs at all are recommended to add vegetable protein in the form of the same legumes, but not soy, but rather lentils.

Here we leave 30% milk proteins, but it is advisable to make them more diverse, i.e., for example, milk is not only from a cow, but from a goat, do you have sheep cheese, etc., so that there are a variety of substances, not from just one animal. The amount of plant proteins (their share is 70%) should be increased compared to those who receive protein from meat.

70 to 30 is the basic idea that it is recommended to focus on. We do not take into account fats, carbohydrates, proteins, like you, we consider: animals are vegetable. And if you maintain the ratio of 70 to 30, then everything will be balanced, precisely for maintaining weight. If a person switches to such a diet, then with physical activity, in the absence of spiritual reasons, sufficient fluid intake, adequate sleep, absence of anxiety, internal irritability, and mandatory acceptance of one's body as it is, weight will begin to decrease.

If you don't love existing fat deposits and don't send love to them, a person will create another block, his appetite will increase even more, and, accordingly, his body weight will begin to grow. In any case, love and accept the body as it is, but gradually create a different image in your mind, what you call the ideal. What am I aiming for?

I love myself as I am, and I strive for this ideal not because I don't love myself, but because it will bring me more happiness, more pleasure.

"When I don't love myself this way, and if I remain overweight, no one will love me," this will not work for weight loss. That is, to strive for this image: "now I am in a state where I love myself, but I want more, perfection" - it works.

Timecode: 16:10, #189 Causes of excess weight. Scientific conference with a nutritionist on healthy eating. Psychosomatics, causes of excess weight

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

December, 2020

November 3, 2022

Analysis of the instinctive program

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/instinkt

Instinct is a set of automatic programs consisting of information algorithms that appear one by one in the perception of a living being. All living souls have instincts as tools for survival and reproduction in the biosphere of the planets of the physical world.

The process of manifestation of any instinctive program has three phases: excitement , height and depression .

To excite any instinctive program, a specific change in the external or internal situation is needed, which is recorded as a trigger.

The instinctive program, manifested in the stream of consciousness, temporarily suppresses current mental and volitional processes and triggers a chain of biochemical reactions in the physical body of a living being to manifest the instinctive program at the biological level.

A few milliseconds after the start of the excitation phase of the instinctive program, the emotion induced by this program appears in the stream of consciousness of a living being. The purpose of releasing emotional energy in this case is to activate physical energy to perform actions determined by instinct in the material world.

In the peak phase of the instinctive program, its emotion is maximally manifested, which is why a living being has difficulty separating the stream of consciousness from the stream of emotion and subjectively merges with the state that is relevant to itself.

At this time, the maximum amount of hormones is recorded in the physical body, transferring the action of instinct to the biological level.

The phase of suppression of the instinctive program begins either after its implementation in the material world, or as a result of suppression by the spiritual mind, or as a result of depletion of the etheric or physical energy reserves of a living being. This phase is accompanied by emotional calm, a state of physical weakness and drowsiness due to the intensive consumption of energy resources.

Any instinctive program evokes the entire spectrum of emotions, just like the feelings or desires of a living being. Often experienced strong emotions gradually turn into feelings, even if their origin is instinctive.

Thus, instincts influence a person's attitude towards the universe and the energetic vibrations of his spiritual heart.

For example, a strong emotion of fear experienced many times gradually gives rise to a feeling of anxiety in the heart, which begins to influence a person's worldview and his perception of the world around him and himself.

Likewise, frequent and prolonged instinctive anger produces hatred, joy produces happiness, surprise produces interest, sadness produces despondency, and disgust gradually creates contempt and arrogance.

For a rational spirit embodied in a physical body, instinctive programs are located in the heart of the soul.

Unlike animal forms of life, any intelligent beings are capable of suppressing their instincts in order to achieve an abstract goal not directly related to the survival and reproduction of the physical body.

MidgasCaus, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien life forms, planet Esler.

Sebori Glarti, psychophysiologist, ethnopsychologist, planet Disaru.

November 2022

November 10, 2022

Energy characteristics of food preferences

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/pishchevye-predpochteniya

Food preferences sometimes indicate problems, including spiritual ones, or some qualities of the soul. If a person often desires a certain product, a certain food, despite the fact that he has the opportunity to eat a varied diet, then this often indicates either a lack of a certain element in the body, or there is an excess of certain qualities in the soul.

Any product, any plant, any animal consumed as food has its own vibrations. For example, chocolate consists mainly of cocoa beans with added sugar, etc. We don't consider its chemical composition, but the energetic vibrations of cocoa beans evoke a feeling of high spirits, light delight, which is why in your environment, in your culture, it is associated with childhood.

A child is often bought chocolate, which makes him happy not only about the sweets, but also about the attention paid to him by an adult: dad, mom or someone who came to visit them. He rejoices in the energy and this substance. And this association "chocolate – joy" remains in the memory for a lifetime, although it may not be realized. Therefore, if you often want chocolate, it means that a person has a need to please himself artificially, he lacks causeless joy.

What if, for example, he often craves salty foods? What is salt? What vibration does it have? We do not take into account the chemical and biochemical properties of salt; sodium chloride is a crystalline substance, i.e. good at preserving energy. Salt has a purifying vibration. This means that the human body wants to cleanse itself of some unnecessary microbes, or its Spirit feels somehow dirty, negative, and a reaction to cleansing is activated.

What if you want sugar? What vibration does sugar have? Unlike chocolate, which is characterized by cheerful joy, sugar brings calm joy, relaxation and peace to a person. If a person often wants to consume increased amounts of sugar, including in some foods, then this indicates that he lacks peace. Perhaps he is very tired physically, psychologically, spiritually and he wants to rest, relieve the feeling of discomfort. But he doesn't want to admit it to himself or others.

Unfortunately, a person is not accustomed to pay attention to his condition; it is turned to the outside world. A person only feels that he felt better when he ate a certain product, but he does not analyze why this is so.

The task of nutritionists is to create a person's food map. If you record your weekly food intake, you will see repeat items. Here's where you can start the conversation:

Why do I like this?

For example, if you like smoked sausage, ask:

"Do you like boiled sausage or just meat?"

For example, I only like smoked. Then the next question:

If you like smoked sausage better, but not so much boiled sausage, what do you find in it?

Probably the taste of smoke. What is the taste of smoke? Its taste and smell are similar aromatic additives that are present in almost any food, i.e. not only in meat, but also in plant products, for example, in what you call chips or smoked cheese.

The smell of smoke is pleasant to a person, because it is inherent in his instincts, because... ancient people, your ancestors, ate food from the fire. Also, this smell is associated with the hearth, i.e., when everyone got together, it means that he lacks communication with loved ones, relatives, his body expresses it in this way, because it does not know how to express emotions in words. Through the body a person receives pleasant sensations and emotions.

Food preferences in children

It is necessary to look at what the child is currently eating. If you remove sweets and introduce vegetables and fruits instead, do it in an easily digestible form. For example, not just some kind of potato or cabbage, but in the form of a puree or mixture.

Or, for example, eggs are not just in the form of fried eggs and boiled eggs, which are really difficult to digest, but in the form of easily digestible food, such as an omelet. The main thing is to present the feeding correctly. You need to look at the character of the child himself.

For example, many children tell their parents who they are friends with or begin to talk about the characters in their books or films that they have watched, as if they were about real people with whom they communicate.

In this case, you can tell the child that the food you give is the favorite food of his favorite hero. This made him so strong. You can set an example like this.

Timecode: 01:47, 31:10, #189 Causes of excess weight. Scientific conference with a nutritionist on healthy eating. Psychosomatics, causes of excess weight

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

December, 2020

November 15, 2022

Eliminating spiritual reasons for weight normalization

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/normalizaciya-vesa

What you call excess adipose tissue, the human body itself, as a biological object, does not consider excess. He considers it a reserve for those times when he needs energy and those substances that are dissolved in ordinary fats.

The substances that make up adipose tissue are quite diverse. Various microelements are dissolved in them (you call them vitamins), i.e. they are included in fat cells in varying quantities. All this is called a "depot".

The cause of excess weight is multifactorial. I want to say that very often, in more than 60% of the cases that were studied by me and other specialists of the Interstellar Union, excess weight gain was genetically determined. But genetics only creates the prerequisites for rapid weight gain; in any case, this can be corrected through lifestyle. Very often, the basis for gaining excess weight is a spiritual reason, i.e. what you call psychosomatics.

These are various fears, a reluctance to let go of something from your life in a psychological sense. The fear of losing something, even non-material, leads to the fact that the body is rebuilt in such a way as to accumulate material elements. Any body is only a part of the Spiritual essence, but it is more densely material. Every molecule, every atom of your body is included in it for a reason; it adapts to your energies, adapts to them. Your Higher Self and the embodied part of the Spirit are separated only conditionally.

The embodied part is consciousness and perception, the disembodied part is what you call the Higher Self, because when you contact it you begin to feel higher vibrations and experience higher feelings than in everyday life. In fact, it is all your Higher Self.

Those substances that enter your body, your material part, are controlled by your Higher Self. And if it believes that these substances should not remain in your body in such quantities, then in any case, they will be removed from it. Those. The spirit controls the body, but it can do this both consciously for a person and unconsciously. A person may not be aware of his fears, his worries, his problems, but he can observe the consequences of these energy blocks on his physical body, not only in the form of excess weight gain, but also in the form of other health problems.

You can help a person by identifying the true reasons for this state of the body. I, as a biologist and psychologist, advise the Spirit, who has such a body, to get in touch with its disembodied part, with its Higher Self, and ask why the body took such forms. He may name, for example, a genetic cause or a metabolic disorder. In any case, one needs to ask the spiritual reason for this state, i.e. what determines these special conditions for reactions in the body.

Metabolism is a chain of anabolic and catabolic reactions, i.e. reactions of biosynthesis and breakdown of substances. And I want to emphasize that what a person calls excess weight, his instinctive part, which controls metabolism, does not consider it unnecessary substances. She, on the contrary, considers them valuable because they may be useful in the future.

I know several main reasons for this condition. It happens that in early childhood or adolescence a person was limited in food or some substances, or he was very sick, for example, he had a reduced immune system. And when a person finds himself in conditions in which there is enough food, his body turns on the instinct of self-preservation, he feels an increased feeling of hunger and at the same time a reluctance to move sufficiently.

All this encourages the accumulation of useful substances in case a similar situation happens again. I want to say that this is not a reaction of the mind, but of the instinctive part of your soul. And this can also happen. Also, such a condition can be caused by taking various medications, drugs that change the biochemistry of the brain, liver, adrenal glands, and disrupt the original hormonal settings. In this case, for example, a large amount of prolactin or an insufficient amount of norepinephrine, etc. is released. At the same time, food received in normal quantities and correct proportions goes through an incorrect chain of biochemical reactions and, instead of turning into substances, turns into fat cells. Here we need to take a closer look at the hormonal system, namely what happens with the pituitary hormones and especially with the adrenal hormones.

These are mainly spiritual reasons, since hormones are the main means of controlling the body through substances. But it is also possible to interfere with the hormonal level of some drugs, medications that break this system. This happens especially often when taking so-called lipid-lowering drugs, i.e. the ones you think lower some of your cholesterol. This also happens when taking antipsychotics, antidepressants, some forms of narcotic drugs, those that affect the brain.

Some people, even doctors, believe that there is nothing wrong if a person takes pills that change his behavior. But in fact, this can break the tuning system precisely through hormones, the pituitary gland and the hypothalamus. These glands will react inadequately to even the simplest emotions emanating from the Spirit. In order to restore all this later, you need to look for the cause through the Higher Self, turn to your body, fill it with Light. But this must be done by the person himself, if he understands what the Higher Self is, what Light is, believes in it, and, naturally, there must be a guide next to him who believes in it, i.e. he will help him go through it correctly.

And when the vibrations of the Spirit change, the body will already adapt, and a person's eating habits will themselves change, for example. He may become uncomfortable with the food he has eaten so far, but will like something else that, on the contrary, will dissolve and remove these fatty deposits. It happens that taste buds change.

If the cause is removed, the block in a certain energy center or chakra is removed, then within 21 days the behavior will change. A person will simply balance himself, consuming more healthy foods and not consuming foods that are harmful to his body. He just doesn't want them.

Timecode: 01:47, 31:10, #189 Causes of excess weight. Scientific conference with a nutritionist on healthy eating. Psychosomatics, causes of excess weight

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations;

December, 2020

November 17, 2022

About the Pineal Gland

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/o-shishkovidnoj-zheleze

At the energetic level, the pineal gland is a reflection of the 6th energy center, which is responsible for intuition, contact with the physical world and one's own thinking.

The pineal gland is a physical organ. Its reflection on the physical plane occurs through the release of those hormones that regulate a person's intellectual activity, his mood, even when a person goes to the astral plane, when the body is asleep.

The separation of the astral body is regulated by the release of hormones from the pineal gland. Not just one hormone, but a whole spectrum of hormones. That condition called sleep paralysis , when a person cannot move during sleep, so that he does not walk in his sleep, is regulated by the normal ratio of hormones of the pineal gland and the hypothalamus. The connection between spirit and body occurs through the pineal gland.

November 23, 2022

Drink recipe from Demeter

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/recept-napitka-ot-demetry

The vibrations of these plants, when combined with each other, strengthen the subtle channel of communication with planet Earth.

Ingredients:
• 1 part barley grains/barley (peeled or not)
• 14 equal parts water
• lemon
• mint greens

Preparation:
Take 100 grams of raw pearl barley, rinse it under running water, put it in a saucepan (metal is not advisable), pour 1400 ml of water into it, bring to a boil, turn the heat to low and simmer for 40 minutes under the lid so that nothing boils over. Then remove the pan from the heat.

Rinse a medium-sized lemon well under running water, cut the zest from it, cut it into thin strips or pieces and, after removing the pan from the heat, you need to throw in the zest along with three sprigs of fresh mint or, if you don't have it, a teaspoon dry mint.

Leave with the lid closed for another 40 minutes.

Then strain and you can drink. If desired, you can add the juice of one lemon for taste.

November 26, 2022

The concept of "healing"

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ponyatie-iscelenie

The word “healing”, first of all, is the healing of one’s Souls, without which there is no healthy body.

The word “health” contains the word “gift”, just the letter has changed. Health is a gift from God. And since we are also gods, like children of God, we can only give this health to ourselves. Give the integrity of your Soul.

What is the essence of healing? Healing is a full understanding of our wholeness with God. And when we, through our Spirit, become integral with God, we merge with him, our will merges with his, our heart merges with his, we become Love. We become the Light for everyone without expecting anything in return. And then our physical body becomes harmonious and merges with the elements of nature. And all of nature, all its substances are aimed at the health of this body.

📽 Timecode: 1:02:08, #428 On the other side of life.

Archangel Raphael is a representative of the Spiritual world, supervising the egregors of healing systems.

November 29, 2022

Sadness from the loss of a loved one

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/gorevanie-po-blizkomu-cheloveku

Grief or sadness is one of the emotions. As we remember, emotion is a reaction to a change in the external or internal situation.

Grief is a reaction to loss. Loss is a change in the internal or external circumstances of the world around us, which we cannot cancel and return to its previous state. This emotion is completely natural.

But it must be remembered that it is natural only if it does not turn into a feeling of despondency. But if the world around us ceases to please us, our own life, our own achievements seem meaningless, and previous hobbies no longer bring us satisfaction and joy, then we have plunged into a state of despondency.

Unlike an emotion, the feeling of despondency settles in our spiritual heart. Sadness or sadness affects only the outer shell of the astral body. If we consider the Spirit, which consists, as we remember, of three balls nested one inside the other, then the emotion of sadness is a change in the outer shell of this ball. And despondency is already at the very core. This is already the seed of darkness, which is sown into our hearts by a mental attitude. Our minds already have an attitude that it is impossible to exist in the world without what we have lost.

Image from the publication "The Structure of the Intelligent Spirit"

In response to this false, illusory belief, the world shows us that we have created an idol out of this thing or this person. Which means they forgot about themselves. And, my dear friends, this is in no way Love. Love manifests itself holistically both towards oneself, and towards one's neighbor, and towards God. If a person is so sad that this feeling turns into despondency, then he refuses this Love and lowers his vibrations.

How can we be sad and not translate it into despondency? Sadness or sadness is a natural reaction to the loss of a loved one, not a loss in general, but from one's life. You know, dear friends, that even those who believe in the immortality of the Soul, in the Spiritual world, are still sad about departed people, because they cease to exist next to them. This is what causes the feeling of sadness, boredom, sadness - the emotion. They used to call it feelings, but it is an emotion. We feel the emotion.

What should we do to prevent this from turning into despondency? Just tell yourself that this separation is temporary. That your relative or friend left, moved to another country for work. As it happens when they go on a business trip. In this case, we are also sad, but there is not that despondency of irreparable loss, as if we will never see him. And in spiritual reality this is so. It’s just that this person came out of his earthly incarnation, finished doing his assignments here, solving problems, taking his lessons.

Our experience of death is the experience of living dying, since death is not an instantaneous event. This is a process that begins long before physical death and which is still ahead for us. And our loved one or friend or relative, he has already gone through this process and is in the Spiritual world. In order not to become discouraged, it is important to remember not only that we are left without his presence, it is important to remember his feelings. What does it mean? This means that when we think about him, remember, very thin, but very strong threads stretch from our Soul to his Soul, where it is located.

This is our connection on a spiritual level. It is established as soon as we think about something - it is absolutely real in the Spiritual world. This is a spiritual reality that can be more real than the material world. If we constantly send thoughts of sadness, especially despondency, into the Spiritual world, that is, we are not distracted by something joyful, by our life, by completing our tasks, then the threads that reach out to this Soul will be filled with this sadness and despondency. If this person loved us very much when he was alive, then when he crossed this line, his feelings towards us remained the same. They haven't disappeared anywhere.

So he still loves us. But, dear friends, would it be pleasant and harmonious for a loving person to realize that his loved one is suffering in separation from him? That it was his departure that caused your worries. Most likely, he will also be sad. He will feel guilty before you because his exit from incarnation caused you such suffering. This will not contribute at all to his evolution, and this is no longer Love towards him. Remembering this will help you avoid being sad for too long, which can cause despondency.

Timecode: 04:44, #428 On the other side of life. How to cope with the death of a loved one? Practice from Archangel Raphael.

Archangel Raphael is a representative of the Spiritual world, supervising the egregors of healing systems.

March, 2022

December 6, 2022

The effect of alcohol on a person who is full of love

---

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vliyanie-alkogolya-na-cheloveka

A substance such as alcohol, simple in its chemical composition, affects people with different vibrations differently. Alcohol is characterized by the fact that it removes consciousness control over blocks, if a person has them. If he hid them, they will come out. If these are blocks of sadness, despondency, depressing emotions and feelings, under the influence of alcohol they will come out in him in the form of a story about his life with tears. The person may start crying.

If a person is full of love, there are no low vibrations, no blocks, and he will drink a lot of alcohol. How much can his behavior change, can he become evil?

Evil - no. But his behavior will change in the sense that even the love that is in him, if he is very drunk, will manifest itself without conscious control, without taking into account the consequences of his actions.

For example, if he has money, then, loving the whole world and removing the control of consciousness over this money, he no longer thinks about how he will live in the near future, and can give it away. At that moment, when he is drunk and when he distributes them, he will consider that he is doing absolutely the right thing. He will not analyze or be critical of his actions. For him everything will be absolutely true.

If he has no blocks, it means he has strong energy. When men and women meet, for example, they can easily form a relationship. All moral prohibitions, possible prejudices, etc. are lifted. A man can easily cheat on his wife because he is showing emotions in the present moment. There is no thought control about how this will affect his family. Emotions come out without control.

Is it possible for a person in a state of severe alcoholic intoxication to still control himself?

MidgasCaus replied that yes, this is possible, but for a very highly organized consciousness that is constantly in awareness. Alcohol will be difficult to cope with. The person will control himself. If the brain is under the influence of this substance, it will control it with its Spirit. This is a high vibrational person.

Timecode: 1:14:43, #453 Physical contact! Visit to the Planet of Outlaws. Interview with a prisoner from the planet Disnit

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

Li Shioni is a specialist in astral interactions and the study of the relationships between the spiritual and material worlds, planet Shimor.

May, 2022

December 10, 2022

Causes of gray hair

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/prichiny-poyavleniya-sedyh-volos

On a physical level, this can be caused by a surge of certain hormones. On a spiritual level, this is due to a change in the work of the sixth and seventh chakras; they can begin to work in different vibrations. This usually happens when such energy is activated that allows the Spirit to pump information from the body, from the physical brain, into its spiritual essence, into the Higher Self. And when a lot of this information has been pumped, at the spiritual level, there is a change in the vibrations of the entire physical body, hair change color.

Speaking very figuratively, the white hair color that is acquired in this case is a reflection on the physical level of the spiritual Light that a person has perceived throughout his entire human life. Of course, gray hair happens at an earlier age, but if you look at it on a spiritual level, it means that a person has already transferred a lot of information there.

It could also be from stressful situations: he was experiencing some situations as if a lot of time had passed.

Early gray hair can be due to three main reasons:

> The first is genetic characteristics: an early start to the cessation of melanin synthesis in hair may be embedded in a person's DNA. Due to micromutations in DNA, it is passed on from generation to generation.
>
> The second reason may be associated with the manifestation of small cholesterol deposits in the vessels of the brain and be accompanied by the deposition of cholesterol on the inner surface of the eyelids, where yellowish plaques can be seen. This indicates a violation of cholesterol and fat metabolism and may require correction: removal of plaques and prevention of acute transient ischemic attacks and pre-stroke conditions.
>
> Small cholesterol plaques can disrupt the blood supply to the hair follicles and reduce the supply there of those proteins that are necessary for the construction of melanin.
>
> There may be severe stress (either immediate or chronic), which causes spasm of small capillaries in the venous and arterial network of the head and disruption of melanin production.

Timecode: 27:13, #188 Retreat in Abkhazia. News about the meeting of the Interstellar Union.

Timecode: 48:26, #86 Live broadcast with contactee Irina Podzorova. Health, vitality, power of thought.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien life forms.

2020

December 13, 2022

Transmigration - replacement of the Soul

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/transmigraciya-zameshchenie-dushi

When you talk about transmigration, we consider it a form of contact. This is not a replacement for the Soul in human understanding. There is such a form of contact with the curator when a disembodied Spirit or a high-vibration plasmoid from a high level of density comes into contact. Then a person, entering into such contact, provides him with his body. This happens according to a certain agreement, to which the Consulting Spirits, the human mentors, must necessarily agree. And in this case, the Soul itself can even go into the world of disembodied Spirits. But her body will live, and in it will be the essence that went for transmigration.

There are quite a few such cases on Earth and other planets. Because for such a replacement there needs to be a perfect coincidence of the vibrations of the Soul of the curator who came and the Soul of the contactee.

But I want to tell you why we consider this a form of contact. Because the life thread that connects the body with the Soul is not interrupted. That is, a person remains to live, simply supporting his body.

This happens because the Spirit that inhabits this person cannot create a life thread that binds him to another body. To do this, he must incarnate into a developing body and, from the first few cells of his father and mother, regulate his conception, fill him with etheric energies, create etheric matrices, and so on. Otherwise, it will not be possible to live in the body as fully as its owner does.

36:56, #444 How to learn to feel energies? Irina Podzorova answers online questions from subscribers.

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a sociologist, a specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world.

May, 2022

December 14, 2022

Viruses and bacteria. Methods for their effective destruction

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/virusy-i-bakterii

What you call a virus and what I can call a microorganism are living independent organisms. Viruses can only live inside a host cell, where they multiply their genetic material and spread it to other similar cells.

As for other microorganisms, such as bacteria and protozoa, they live more autonomously. But the similarity of both is that they live in the host's body, using its vitality and its chemicals for their needs. Simply put, they are microparasites in a particular organism.

Energy healing methods and energy fields can suppress or destroy microorganisms, as well as increase the patient's own immune defense. Although this largely depends on the body of a particular person, who may not perceive such energies.

If you take two people suffering from tuberculosis and having tuberculosis bacteria, then in one, under the influence of a healer, these bacteria will die, and the other, under the influence of a healer, will not feel any effect. On your planet, very recently, from the point of view of history, antibiotics were invented. Before the invention of antibiotics, treatment was also sometimes carried out by healers and magicians who used a variety of energies. However, I will tell you as a biologist: tetracycline saved Europe from the plague epidemic, as well as from cholera. Because, as you understand, microbes multiply very quickly, and you may not have time to act with energy.

The body must have a very large reserve of its own immune forces, which the healer can awaken in it, but this reserve may not be enough. Therefore, in those times that you call the Middle Ages, masses of people died from one or another microorganism, although there were healers and church services to stop the epidemic. There were also safety measures to prevent the spread of the outbreak, although people at that time knew nothing about microorganisms. But empirically they established that contact with a sick person brings illness to the person who was in contact.

You can see echoes of this in the book of Leviticus, which is part of the Old Testament. In this book there are instructions for the Levites, i.e. contactees of the planet Tumesout and Burhad, who were in ancient Israel, what to do when a leper person is discovered. Leprosy is an infectious disease. This book does not say that if you say a word or touch the sick person with your hands, then everything will disappear. Just the opposite: it says that he needs to be isolated and measures must be taken to prevent the spread of this disease among people. All this just means that in our material world microbes, viruses and larger parasites can act, even despite the energetic impact. They have great protection against such influences.

The energetic effect is rather applicable to diseases that are caused not by infections, but by the psycho-emotional state of the patient. For infections, energy healing can help with recovery. But I would not recommend completely relying on this type of healing without antibiotics, because if a person gets sick, for example, with whooping cough or syphilis, exposure to antibacterial substances is necessary.

Our civilization has experimentally tested the effects of different types of energy on certain microbes, and I, as a biologist, can say that the most effective and safest thing for the body will be the rapid destruction of microbes through exposure to chemicals.

In ancient times there were herbs, including antibacterial ones, there were various substances of animal origin, etc., but still, the history of your medicine shows that without antibacterial substances, without bacterial phages and without vaccines, the situation with infectious diseases would be much more deplorable , than now. I mean your entire civilization as a whole.

Timecode: 17:04, #28 Questions are asked by a bioenergetic healer. About the causes of diseases, oncology and healing methods.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

November, 2019

December 25, 2022

Vibration level of obscene language

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/uroven-vibracij-necenzurnoj-leksiki

At this point in time, obscene language is used with irritation. These are low vibration, low emotions: irritation, condemnation, anger, which in themselves, without words, reduce the vibration of your energy.

In ancient times, in pre-Christian Rus', these words had a different meaning, they carried a completely different meaning and were not obscene. They were used in spells, such as fertility rituals by Magi, priests who were in contact with plasmoid worlds. Fertility cults were associated with the cult of sexual relations.

In the 21st century, these words have become obscene, which means they are offensive, degrading to the dignity of other people, which leads to a decrease in vibrations.

December 27, 2022

Premonition as a hint from the Spiritual world

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/predchuvstvie-kak-podskazka

A premonition is not just your feeling of the approach of probable changes, it is hints from high spiritual beings who know the future. But this happens for a reason, but so that you have time to change something, or when this happens, you believe that there is a Spiritual world, God, who knows the future and tells you.

Such premonitions never happen just like that. The future has many options and it really can be changed, but if the premonition really came true, and it could not be changed, despite attempts to do so, it means that it was given so that you and those to whom you will later tell about it believe, those. for witnessing. A premonition is given either to change an event (this is a premonition of something bad), or to increase faith in the Spiritual world among those who are not able to feel it.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

November, 2019

December 30, 2022

The idea of the creators of Earthly civilization: human sexuality, the power of the Spirit over instincts

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/zadumka-sozdatelej-zemnoj-civilizacii

If we talk about the physical body, then most of the genetics were passed on to you from the earthly primate - 45%. All genes responsible for sexual desire are mainly recorded in primates. As for the Burkhadians and Tumesoutians, they only indirectly influence this, since they are also warm-blooded mammals, their sexual behavior is largely similar.

But Selbetians are oviparous, their sexual behavior is different, and fertilization occurs differently. They do not have the reproductive organs that humans have. People did not inherit their physiology. In the manifestation of energy, earthlings have the traits of Selbet people - activity, love of competition, victory, manifestation of the power instinct. The sexual instinct can be combined with the instinct of power. A person has 5 basic instincts, and how this or that instinct manifests itself in a particular person depends on many things.

Intelligent spirits embodied in bodies, in addition to physiology, also carry with them a spiritual nature from the Spiritual world. The spiritual nature of any rational being, as a child of God, is inseparable from moral values. Therefore, according to the plan of all representatives of the Interstellar Union, the manifestation of instinctive nature is good and correct only if the Spirit controls its manifestation with its mind and feelings. That is, it puts you in the right direction in order to manifest the energy of love for yourself, your partner and God. This is how vibrations increase, because when a man and a woman come into contact, the aura completely merges, and higher vibrational spirits are attracted to incarnation. The Interstellar Union wanted to see the sex life of your planet the same as theirs.

The concept of sex is inseparable from the concept of the Spirit. When looking for a partner, the first place is not the search for a new sensory experience of pleasure, although this is also important, but the contact of souls. "Positions" are discussed between two people when they are in a state of partnership. You call it marriage, but we don’t have such forms of union. If two people live together, run a joint household, then they enter into sexual contact (with positions, duration, etc.) only in the way agreed upon by the two of them.

Each of them is guided by their own Light of love, their own Spirit, and they will be aimed at harmonizing these relationships. In the event that one likes something, the other does not, a compromise will be found in order to resolve these contradictions in the light of love.

We would like your schools and educational institutions to have more information about family life - why it is needed, how love manifests itself at the stage of falling in love in a girl and a boy, how to develop it, how to behave so that it is preserved, and why In general, a family union is needed. This is the first thing every child will encounter when they graduate from school. You say that he will follow the example of his family, but often in the families of earthlings they cannot be taught this, because their parents, in turn, were not taught this by their ancestors.

January 10, 2023

Advice from MidgasCaus on how to quit smoking

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/sovet-ot-midgaskausa-kak-brosit-kurit

As a biologist and psychologist, I can advise you on how to quit smoking. Many people start smoking, following some fashion or trend, often realizing that it is not healthy, but it looks respectable and raises their importance in the eyes of friends. Sometimes they may start just out of curiosity in order to seem like they are also following their friends. They can start, but not everyone continues to do this, because people can become dependent on it only if they are in a state where smoking - this manipulation of a cigarette, inhaling smoke, replaces communication with oneself, that is with your soul.

When a person feels that he is either too happy, or sad, or too happy, he resorts to calming, harmonizing, and balancing these emotions through smoking. He gets used to the process of smoking, first on a psychological level, and then he experiences changes on the physical level. If a person is used to this, then he is used to it not only with his body, but also with his entire emotional apparatus, mental body, he already has such a thought form in his aura that it helps him. The person is partially aware of the benefits of this action. If a person continues to smoke, then some part of his consciousness, his mind understands why he needs it.

If you are a person who has decided that smoking is more harmful to you and you want to quit, then the first thing I advise you is to take a piece of paper and simply write down why I want to quit, what it gives me. First, realize whether you really want this or is someone telling you about it? In any case, if some relatives or friends are talking about it, but you yourself don't want to quit, then you won't succeed for a long time. And if it works out, it will be through stress, since you don't need it yourself.

This habit undoubtedly harms both the body and energy, due to clogging, for example, of the alveolar channels in the lungs, as well as clogging of the ethereal channels that go to the heart, facilitating the transfer of oxygen into vital force. That is, this smoke also affects the energy sector. Typically, a smoker does not smoke occasionally, but on a regular basis. This chronic exposure does cause harm. It happens that if a person's body is strong, healthy, if he eats well, is a little nervous, has good genetic inheritance, then he can, of course, smoke, and it will cause him less harm, but still, at least a little, it will happen.

Therefore, a person must decide what is more valuable to him. Does he choose the free life of an independent person without a cigarette and with a healthier physical body. I want to say right away that even if you quit smoking, you shouldn't expect to immediately get rid of your illnesses. In any case, recovery will come. It will be to varying degrees, you will feel better.

But first you need to weigh everything. Ask yourself:

"Do I seriously want to do this? Is this what I want?"

If the answer is yes, then it is very advisable to talk with your Higher Self, find out why I did this for so many years, what it gave me, what I can replace it with, when I want to smoke, what I can replace this action with so that it goes well in favor of my body, for my psyche, for my energy, and there will definitely be an answer.

Note : Tea tree oil helps during contact with your spirit, with your Higher Self. It helps to reveal and cleanse negative mental programs, karmic knots in the causal body. It is very good to use for such immersions as regressions, when contacting the Higher Self, when you need to solve some kind of karmic problem or the problem of negative mental beliefs such as addictions, various very deep negative attitudes that cause negative emotions. Moreover, tea tree essential oil restores the aura after such negative mental programs and protects against the aggressive energy of the outside world (🎥 link to timecode 42:45, “Essential oils Cassiopeia Aroma-1”).

Timecode: 19:38, #80 Live broadcast with contactee Irina Podzorova. Healthy eating, the harm of cannabis. How to quit smoking?

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

May, 2020

January 12, 2023

Effects of cannabis smoke on the body

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vliyanie-dyma-konopli-na-organizm

Cannabis smoke affects everything at once: the body, psyche, energy. Very briefly, in terms of substance content, for example, compared to tobacco, dried hemp grass does not contain much nicotine, there are traces of nicotine, but not much.

Hemp belongs to a different family. If tobacco belongs to the nightshade family, then hemp belongs to the hemp family. In any case, the smoke that is released contains carcinogenic substances, the same carbon monoxide. These substances, when the immune system is weakened, for example under stress, just like tobacco, can cause lung cancer or accelerate its development.

You will probably ask: “ Why then can you breathe smoke from a fire, it doesn’t cause cancer, there are also a lot of different substances there ?”

Smoke from a fire or smoke from a smoking stick is in the atmosphere, and a person inhales a small amount of it. And when a person smokes herbs specifically for the purpose of obtaining an effect for his psyche, he does not just burn this herb and inhale its smoke, he wraps it, compresses it, puts it in special devices and inhales it, purposefully taking a deep breath. So the concentration is tens of times higher than in the air around a fire or in incense smoke. Since the concentration of smoke is higher, then the dose of those same toxic substances is correspondingly higher.

Impact on the physical level

First of all, it irritates the respiratory tract through which cannabis smoke passes. It contains substances that irritate the mucous membrane and damage the outer layer. In this case, everything depends on the strength of the immune system, the rate of tissue regeneration, which is very genetically variable, due to genetic differences between people.

There are a lot of toxins in cannabis smoke, more than 5,000 different substances. In order to metabolize them, remove them and convert them into harmless substances, your body's filters - that is, the liver and kidneys - need to work very well. If they are weakened by something else, then the load on these organs will be excessive, which can cause various diseases in them.

Impact on the psyche and energy

The vibration of this plant, entering the human body, causes in it increased vibration of the 6th energy center (that is, the 3rd eye, as you call it), increased thinking, but with the simultaneous suppression of self-control and, even to some extent, fixation amnesia, then eat weakens the memory of current events.

A large or small dose of the substance consumed changes the connection of the astral body with the physical. The astral body is no longer so tightly connected to the physical. Alcohol has a similar effect on the astral body, but the effect on the psyche is different. If there is a large dose of cannabis, the astral body will leave the physical body in the same way as with a large dose of alcohol.

All this together: physical, mental and energetic action - gives a general effect: a person's mood improves, he can enhance the vision of his images, he can even begin to communicate with the plasmoid world. But which plasmoids will come to contact depends on the state of its vibrations, the state of its soul that was before use.

If a person uses a drug for a long time, then he accustoms his body, including his energy, his third eye, that it can only work in the presence of this substance. Moreover, due to the adaptation of the body's receptors, the previous dose no longer causes absolutely any sensations, and you will have to increase it. The receptors of nerve cells seem to fight it, rebuild themselves and adapt. Therefore, in any case, I consider the use of such substances pointless, since they give only a short-term effect, but at the same time they wean the human body from independently developing its vision, its third eye.

Timecode: 31:12, #80 Live broadcast with contactee Irina Podzorova. Healthy eating, the harm of cannabis. How to quit smoking?

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

May, 2020

January 16, 2023

Essential oils "Cassiopeia Aroma No. 1". Plant vibrations

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ehfirnye-masla-kassiopeya-aroma-1

The set includes 10 essential oils: bergamot, orange, lemon, basil, lavender, eucalyptus, frankincense, geranium, tea tree, mint.

Each plant has its own energetic vibration. A plant is a physically visible object that has an energy component - a group plant soul created by plasmoid civilizations.

Thanks to this property, any plant contains not only physical vibrations and energies, but also ethereal energies or energy vibrations. Just as physical substances interact with a person's physical body when they are consumed, energy vibrations interact with a person's etheric field and also affect his astral body.

Essential oil is a collection of substances obtained by sublimation from plants. This is not just a smell, but a complex of substances and etheric energies. That's why it's called essential oil. That is, each molecule of a substance in essential oil is charged with a special charge of essential energy, which contains a concentrate, compared to plants.

Essential oil is concentrated energy and concentrated substances. Each plant has special "organs" or special parts from which essential oils are most often extracted. For some plants these are leaves, for some plants these are seeds. There are seeds that contain both regular oil, which is a combination of fats (fatty acids), and essential oil, for example, cedar.

For an adult, it is not recommended to take more than 2-3 drops per day of any essential oil. These are very potent drugs. If used incorrectly, it can damage human mucous membranes. If you take two or three drops (this is the maximum daily dose for an adult), it must be diluted with either some neutral oil or water, but this is more difficult, since you need to make an emulsion, otherwise these substances may not dissolve in water. You can use it with honey or milk, but in any case, be sure to dissolve it by mixing the oil. It can be used internally if it is a natural essential oil; in the absence of allergic reactions, the oil will not cause harm in these doses.

For massage, you can use 1 drop of essential oil per 7-10 ml of carrier substance. For example, 2-3 drops of essential oil per tablespoon, depending on the person's tolerance. Some are more sensitive, some are less. It's better to add less at first.

Frankincense Oil

The vibration of incense, a plant such as frankincense tree, acts on space in such a way that etheric energies create conditions incompatible with low vibration plasmoids and repel disembodied spirits from low levels. This oil has a cleansing effect; it cleanses the atmosphere, for example, of a home or other premises, from negative vibrations recorded on the etheric matrices of space. Cleans means it makes it "lighter", transforms energy into light if some emotionally difficult events have occurred in the room.

It can be used in a room where a person is going to work with the Higher Self, with Higher spiritual entities. It helps to tune in to them through the spiritual channel, helps to tune in to the state of meditation, to the state of prayer, helps to distract from the material world. In this case, there is already an effect on human energy. Frankincense essential oil helps a person tune into a higher meditative state and better enter into a state of communication with the Higher Self and with curators from the angelic world. This is an impact on a person through his spiritual channel.

Frankincense essential oil also cleanses the human etheric field of various negative blocks. When a person inhales this aroma, he remembers the situations that led to the emergence of blocks and is cleared of them. If there are any necrotic bindings or bindings to negative plasmoids, frankincense essential oil will make them weaker.

Impact on the physical body. Frankincense essential oil is a strong antiseptic, antispasmodic, and has an analgesic effect.

Effect on emotions, on the astral body. Frankincense essential oil puts a person into a state of peace, love, peace, that is, it calms. It can also help in a state of chronic stress, when a person is irritated by everything.

Frankincense essential oil is suitable for states of communication with the Higher Self, communication with angels and if you need to calm down after prolonged stress. You can take a bath with oil. It is necessary that the water is warm, not hot.

Bergamot oil

On the physical plane it is an antiseptic. Bergamot essential oil eliminates spasms, has vasodilating and anti-inflammatory properties, and is also an immunostimulant.

In general, all essential oils contain substances that suppress microorganisms harmful to humans and help them to be healthy, especially for those who suffer from infectious diseases.

Energy action. Bergamot essential oil facilitates contact with space plasmoid civilizations. It can be sprayed indoors before contact with space plasmoids. It also protects against the influence of negative plasmoid entities, can help close a negative plasmoid portal and attract light plasmoid civilizations, because this plant has vibrations that attract light entities from outer space.

Action on the astral body. Bergamot essential oil eliminates anxiety, fears and increases self-confidence. The oil strengthens the first chakra. All organs for which the first chakra (musculoskeletal system) is responsible also become healthier.

The bergamot plant “specializes” in contact with space civilizations, and lavender essential oil harmonizes contact with everyone, both terrestrial and space plasmoid civilizations, but it is softer in its effect. Lavender oil in this sense is more suitable for children, and bergamot builds energy very “strictly”; it is not recommended for use by children under 12 years of age, pregnant women and nursing mothers. Frankincense essential oil can be used at any age.

Orange oil

Physical level. Cleanses the bile ducts, choleretic, diuretic, cleanses the intestines of excess mucus and stimulates the work of digestive enzymes. It is an antiseptic and a completely cleansing and harmonizing agent for the gastrointestinal tract.

Emotional sphere. Eliminates depression, causes optimism, restores confidence in life, eliminates insomnia, anxiety, nervousness, excessive impulsiveness and other manifestations of depression.

Energy impact. In some ways it is similar to the effect of bergamot, but there is more interaction with the etheric body of the person himself, making it denser and the aura more even, restoring it after shocks or damage. For example, a conflict with a person and offensive words can lead to stress, which can cause the aura to become damaged and lose vitality, but subsequently recover thanks to energy immunity (this period can be from one day to several weeks). Orange essential oil promotes faster restoration of the aura.

Lemon oil

Physical level. It is a good antiseptic and also has an immunostimulating effect, very similar to that of orange and bergamot, since the citrus family is very similar in this regard. Good for the liver and the immune system.

Impact on emotions. It is an antidepressant and additionally stimulates mental activity. When a person's thought processes are slow, he can inhale the aroma of lemon. It also relieves overwork, fatigue, overstrain and relaxes. At the same time, lemon essential oil does not make you sleepy, but brings vigor and allows a person to rest if he is tired.

Impact on energy. Lemon essential oil is a good protective agent in case of contacts with low-vibration plasmoid civilizations. For example, if a person is haunted by some fears, bad thoughts, anxiety, panic attacks, if he feels that he is being influenced. You can use lemon oil for protection in the room where this person is located. When an “attack” is felt, you can inhale the aroma of the oil so that the shell of the etheric field becomes stronger and prevents the influence of a low-vibration plasmoid, especially in combination with mental work.

Lemon oil helps well to adapt to new conditions, to a new environment. This, again, is due to the stimulation of mental activity. It’s good to take it with you on the road to make it easier to adapt to both a change in time zone and a change in the energy situation in a new place. Some people find it difficult to adapt, difficult to fall asleep, in this case it brings good luck and evens out the etheric field. When inhaling this aroma before meditation, the energies of angels are attracted, as when using incense.

If we consider the effect paired with orange, it enhances love and fidelity between spouses. This is an action on the mental plane: strengthening what is already in them and awakening the hidden abilities of the soul.

Orange, lemon and bergamot, and in general all citrus fruits, are good to use if a person wants to open up to information from the subtle world, tune in to reading it, for example, if he is telling fortunes. 1-2 drops of orange or lemon oil applied to your hands before fortune telling will help more accurately receive, read and interpret information.

Citrus fruits have a good effect on the human etheric field and are a good remedy for depression.

Lavender oil

Physiological action. It lowers blood pressure, normalizes heart rate, removes pain in the heart, relieves pain, and is also a good immunostimulant, expectorant and bactericidal (harmful E. coli, even not sensitive to antibiotics, become so weak that the normal human microflora destroys them).

Impact on energy. Promotes meditative states, including harmonious contacts with plasmoid worlds, and it also helps to cleanse human energy from any magical influences. Can be used in cleansing rituals, or in healing sessions (reiki, cosmoenergetics, qigong, etc.) aimed at working with channels that remove magical effects. At this moment, it is good to diffuse lavender oil in the room to enhance the effect of healing energies. Moreover, lavender oil enhances contact with the spiritual world and the Higher Self.

Impact on emotions. Lavender essential oil enhances feelings of joy and happiness by increasing endorphin levels. Also relaxes, eliminates depression and anxiety. This is especially suitable for children who often cry and miss their parents. Lavender oil will calm them down. You can spray a few drops in the place where the child sleeps.

Basil oil

Physical action. Basil is a very powerful antiseptic, and also has antifungal, anthelmintic properties, which is reminiscent of clove oil, and is also an antiviral agent. Basil oil and decoction are not recommended for pregnant women because they can cause uterine contractions.

Impact on energy. Strengthens attraction and sympathy between people. For example, if a person goes to a place where they are treated unkindly, you can apply some basil oil to your neck and forehead, and people will be more receptive because the vibration of this aroma will begin to interact with their etheric energy structures and cause sympathy.

It is often used to enhance the energy of sexual passion, the sexual instinct between partners, activating kundalini.

Impact on the emotional sphere. It is an antidepressant, sharpens the mind, stimulating mental activity, removes anxiety and makes a person more confident. Similar to the effect of lemon essential oil in this case. Increases concentration.

Eucalyptus oil

Physical impact. Acts as an antiviral, expectorant, a good immunostimulant during acute respiratory diseases, and helps tissue regeneration. It is also an anti-inflammatory and analgesic for rheumatic diseases. You can massage with eucalyptus oil, diluted as a base, and apply to sore joints and muscles.

Impact on emotions. The oil is characterized by the fact that it removes apathy and laziness from a person. It puts you in a working mood and makes you want to do something, increases activity, relieving nervousness and fuss. Using this oil in the soul increases your sense of purpose. It is good to spray in the workplace.

Impact on energy. Helps restore the biofield after stress, scandal, illness, which weaken a person's energy. The aroma of eucalyptus essential oil increases the amount of vitality, etheric energy that flows from the etheric space through the chakras in the human biofield. It is very good to use for weakness, asthenia, including post-infectious asthenia. Sometimes there is a vital weakening of a person's energy, which he spent fighting an infection; in this case, eucalyptus essential oil restores energy very well.

Viruses are so small that they can actually pass through a mask in tiny droplets. If you apply oil to the mask, it will help destroy viruses while they are still approaching.

Geranium oil

Effect on energy. Strengthens contact with the generic egregor. Geranium essential oil helps a person get in touch with the Higher Self, even if he has never done this and has many blocks. It helps to forgive, love, raise your vibrations, restores relationships with mom and dad, and protects from negativity.

Action on the physical body. The same regenerating antiseptic effect is characteristic here; it heals human wounds. If diluted with a neutral cream, it will help regenerate damaged skin areas. If, for example, a person has a wound, a burn or is bleeding, then diluted geranium oil will stop the bleeding very quickly, narrow the blood vessels, prevent the wounds from becoming infected and quickly heal them. It also reduces high levels of sugar and glucose in the blood, lowers blood pressure and harmonizes.

Impact on emotions. Helps eliminate resentment, anger, hatred and instills self-confidence, which promotes contact with the Higher Self. It is easier for people to merge with the Higher Self and forgive if geranium oil is sprayed in the room.

Tea tree oil

Physical action. It is a very good antifungal agent that has a stronger effect on pathogenic fungi of the skin and mucous membranes than some medications. It is not addictive to microscopic fungi. Additionally, tea tree essential oil is an expectorant, antiviral, and helps the immune system recognize and destroy cancer cells. By the way, frankincense oil is also endowed with the latter property, but tea tree has a better effect. These oils are compatible. It prevents microbes and fungi that feed on various skin secretions from multiplying.

Effect on the psycho-emotional sphere. Activates perception and memory, which is good for learning, removes stress and anxiety in significant situations when a person cannot remember something due to excitement. Tea tree oil helps to better remember new information and easier to remember existing information.

Impact on energy. Tea tree oil typically helps during contact with your spirit, with the Higher Self. It reveals and cleanses negative mental programs, karmic knots in the causal body. It is very good to use for such immersions as regressions, when contacting the Higher Self, when you need to solve some karmic problem or the problem of negative mental beliefs such as addictions, various very deep negative attitudes that cause negative emotions. Moreover, tea tree essential oil restores the aura after such negative mental programs and protects against the aggressive energy of the outside world.

Peppermint oil

Physical action. Antiseptic, antispasmodic, vasodilator and regenerating agent. It must be used very carefully, as it is very potent. Increasing the dosage may result in the opposite effect. For example, instead of increased breathing, respiratory depression may occur. It is important not to use it in high doses and always start with one drop. There are people who are very sensitive to it.

Effect on the astral body, emotional sphere. If you do not exceed the dosage, it is very good to learn how to go into the astral plane. It, like sandalwood oil, helps to separate the astral body and maintain awareness when it leaves. Well relaxes the physical body and mind. Peppermint essential oil allows you to get away from unnecessary thoughts, from the hustle and bustle of the mind, and this is very important for conscious astral travel. It also improves mutual understanding between people, eliminates anxiety and irritation. By inhaling this oil, you will calm down and be able to better understand the person with whom you are annoyed.

Impact on energy. Peppermint essential oil is characterized by the fact that it improves contact with the financial egregor. The vibrations of this plant attract events into a person’s life that will contribute to financial well-being. It is good to apply oil where you keep money. Rubbing a couple of drops on the outside will be enough to make the wallet more “visible” to the financial egregor. This strengthens your connection with him, so you will see opportunities that will attract greater financial freedom to you. This may include saving money that you already have.

Peppermint essential oil cleanses the etheric body of blocks and the mental field of foreign unnecessary programs. Provides assistance with addictions, including dependence on other people's opinions, with self-doubt, with fear of going forward and doing something, with fear of changing your life - these are all negative alien programs that were formed in childhood. For example, there could be a program from parents that nothing needs to be changed - this is dangerous. Peppermint essential oil helps relieve these programs. It is well suited if a person depends on the opinions of some group of people. For example, with a negative impact on his consciousness of some authoritative person. Peppermint essential oil allows you to return to yourself and fulfill your life's purpose.

When first interacting with your chosen essential oil, it is best if it is in its pure form, without mixing with other oils, so that you can become familiar with its aroma and its energies.

What has been said above is a general idea of how different types of oils work for most people. Each person is individual.

Any oil can have a different effect on you, which you can tell others about.

It is advisable that you get acquainted with each essential oil with an interval of at least an hour from the moment of using another oil. Otherwise, due to strong exposure, the receptors of the nasal cavity will transmit fewer signals to the brain. Therefore, you need to let them recover, and then inhale the next one. This is especially important when you first become acquainted with these oils.

You can generally approach the study of oils one at a time. It is advisable to have an image of this plant before your eyes. Thank the nature spirits who created this plant. Remember that one such bottle contains essence extracted from many kilograms, and sometimes tons, of plants. Thank all the plasmoids who participated in their creation. Say it like this:

“I thank all the nature spirits who participated in the creation of this unique product, this oil. I send you the light of my love."

This will enhance the positive effect of the oil on you. Gratitude attracts plasmoids, they will enhance and energetically charge this oil just for you.

After these words, you can open the bottle, bring it to your nose and take a slow, deep breath. After inhaling, hold your breath a little, close your eyes and listen to your feelings. Notice what changes, what feelings and emotions appear, what goes away.

You can write down your feelings, emotions, emerging images or associations. It can evoke memories, as the oil affects both the energy and the astral body.

Then, when you feel that you have become acquainted with one oil and have determined your attitude towards it, say again:

“I thank all the spirits and all the people who participated in the creation of this oil. I send the light of my love.”

This is where you can complete your acquaintance. It is advisable to inhale the next plant oil no earlier than an hour later, so that the energy and body can adapt to it gradually. Already at this stage it may become clear in what situations you should use the oil.

You can ask your Higher Self whether a particular oil is right for you in a given situation.

This set can really improve your well-being, health and energy, it is a real investment in your future.

📽 Essential oils "Cassiopeia Aroma" https://youtu.be/knUj6Eg7e8A

Cassiopeia Aroma Oil Set No. 1

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

December 2022

January 19, 2023

Causes of depression. How to get out of depression?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/depressiya

Your doctors call endogenous depression complex mental states that have no external causes. Endogenous depression, that is, occurring within you without exogenous causes - those that could be caused by the reactions of your psyche to surrounding circumstances. But this does not mean that there are no internal spiritual reasons.

Your doctors are limited to examining hormonal metabolism in the brain. By identifying disturbances in the exchange of dopamine, serotonin and other hormones and enzymes in the brain tissue, they conclude that the brain itself produced such hormones, which means there is no spiritual reason.

But the work of hormones and enzymes is controlled by your Spirit. This means that a person has internal spiritual reasons on the astral, mental, karmic levels, or karmic nodes, that is, negative vibrations acquired in past lives and transferred to this one to learn lessons in other conditions of existence. These are mental attitudes that were placed in the mental body in childhood and accepted as truth, which led to a decrease in vibrations.

Endogenous depression is accompanied by a state of emptiness and a feeling that “everything is lost”, has ceased to exist - this is a state of low vibrations. People get into it for certain reasons. There is a way to get out of this state into a high vibration state, when you want to love everyone and thank everyone.

To do this, you need to connect with your Higher Self. You can contact a specialist who will guide you and teach you how to hear your thoughts and convey them. The Higher Self is interested in you getting out of depression. It will definitely give you the answer, provided that you open yourself and learn to trust yourself. In communication with the Higher Self, it will be necessary to ask about the spiritual causes of depression, dissolve all the blocks that will be found, break ties to the world of the dead, if any, and be filled with the Light of Love.

When you get into a state of being filled with the Light of Love, your brain will begin to release other hormones that will lead you to a state of happiness. This may not happen right away. But in the process of communicating with the Higher Self, this state will definitely come.

LiSioni on depression among aliens

We may have conditions similar to depression. But they happen in response to some event. Reactive depression, it teaches awareness. We teach children at school that these emotional events that are difficult for a person or an alien to experience, they must understand according to the special laws of psychology that we teach at school. In your opinion, this is contact with the Higher Self and the dissolution of the block that created this depression. Everything is done to ensure that this depression does not attract any low-vibration plasmoid entity, which can begin to provoke a person into low mood, loss of strength and other conditions from this negative contact. Therefore, in our society there are no long-term depressive states without the desire of a person, a humanoid, to get out of it.

To eliminate depression, it is recommended to use orange essential oil. It evokes optimism, restores confidence in life, is a good antidepressant, eliminates insomnia, anxiety when a person cannot sit still and other manifestations of depression (📽 link to timecode: 17:15, episode about essential oils “Cassiopeia Aroma”)

Timecode: 51:52, #292 Irina Podzorova. Aliens answers to questions from the chat. Alien practice of sun salutations.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations;

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world.

June, 2021

January 21, 2023

Is it possible and necessary to resuscitate a person?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/mozhno-i-nuzhno-li-reanimirovat-cheloveka

Sending help to a person and returning him to the physical body is good and a manifestation of love. By showing love and helping the spirit who cannot return for objective reasons to return to the body, you are not doing anything wrong. On the contrary, you develop a desire to help him. You must remember that your efforts will not be crowned with success if a decision is made to withdraw from incarnation. Your activities will not bring him back.

If the decision is made for him to stay, then you will help by creating conditions in his body for his return.

Any physician, any person - a doctor, a nurse - are not ordinary people, they did not come into the profession to earn money. It is difficult and responsible, and the message is always to help others.

From student age, a random person will not come to the profession, and if he does, he will drop out during the first stages of work, because this is a very difficult profession spiritually, mentally and physically. It is given for the development of love, compassion and help, so everything must be done to save the body and life of a person. If you were unable to do this and the spirit has left, then there is no need to scold yourself and be upset, feel guilty, accept it as it is and wish it new happy incarnations.

Timecode: 50:50, #103 Questions about medicine from emergency doctor Mikhail. Spirit and body. Diseases, psychosomatics, children

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations;

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world.

July 2020

January 22, 2023

MidgasCause about oncology

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/midgaskaus-ob-onkologii

What you call cancer is only the end of a process that has been going on for a long time in the human mind. As a biologist, I can tell you that your thoughts, your feelings, your emotions directly affect your body. Any thoughts that you forget, any feelings that you forget and think that they mean nothing, they can damage your physical body, since your nervous system, as humanoids, is connected by the humoral system in the so-called neurohumoral connections...

January 23, 2023

Energies received during healing, their source, strength and quantity

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ehnergii-postupayushchie-vo-vremya-isceleniya

It is possible to use different sources: energy can be given by certain entities, it is possible to connect to certain channels, energy systems, or use the vital force of your etheric body.

Energy can also come from external energy systems. For example, cosmoenergy is the external energies of extraterrestrial civilizations. Reiki systems consist of energy frequencies of eleven plasmoid civilizations, that is, subtle-material civilizations that are aimed at restoring metabolism in the bodies of dense-material beings. Many other healing systems based on contact with other types of plasmoids can be an individual source of energy for each specific healer.

There is also healing through various religious egregors, ranging from Orthodoxy to various types of occult-esoteric practices that connect the healer to the egregors of polytheistic religions, such as runes, various magical systems, etc. All this is very individual.

If you feel that the source of energy dosely directs you the type and amount of energy for each patient, then this already speaks in favor of the fact that the source of energy is external for you. Those. This is not your own life force, which you have the right to direct to the patient in any volume. Naturally, in this case, the external source itself decides who needs and how much energy. Most likely, this happens in healing practices associated either with other humanoid-type civilizations or with plasmoid civilizations. All this speaks in favor of the fact that this is not your bioenergy, and in such conditions, the entity that gives energy decides to whom and how much energy to send, depending on the disease. This will be a question for the essence itself, why it decided this way.

There is a generally accepted teaching in the church that illness does not arise due to the sins of an individual, since there are many known cases in which those who were subsequently recognized as saints were seriously ill until the end of their earthly incarnation. Such cases are known, and this does not mean that they were punished for sins. God does not punish anyone in the sense in which we are accustomed to understanding it. God does not take revenge for the evil that the rational Spirit has committed. God does not send suffering for the purpose of revenge. God sends those circumstances into the life of a particular person that help him realize his own mistakes and delusions.

If it is a disease, then God will send the disease, but this is not at all necessary. And this does not mean that he is sinful compared to healthy people. It happens that those who commit a lot of evil remain physically and mentally healthy until the end of their incarnation. This also happens often. In this case, the church says that some disturbances in a person's psycho-emotional state may cause changes in the physical body.

While the Spirit is connected to the physical body, the state of the body affects the state of the Spirit, and vice versa: the state of astral-mental vibrations affects the metabolism in the body and, accordingly, its health. We can say it differently: if a person is kind inside, forgives everyone, but at the same time he has a struggle with himself inside, for example, instead of expressing his grievances, he begins to keep them to himself in order to show his upbringing. In this case, the person will get sick because he accumulates negative energies and vibrations. Perhaps he will be more seriously ill than someone who outwardly seems scandalous, but knows how to express his grievances and thereby free himself.

This is a very fine line, everything is very individual, and one cannot say that this is a punishment for sins. We can assume the consequences of a certain thought or emotion (on a physical level), but we cannot say with certainty that a certain thought or emotion causes a certain disease. For different people, the same thoughts can cause completely different diseases or cause nothing at all. Each person is individual.

Timecode: 09:46, #28 Questions are asked by a bioenergetic healer. About the causes of diseases, oncology and healing methods.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

November, 2019

January 30, 2023

The influence of words on people's health

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vliyanie-slov-na-zdorove-lyudej

A person’s genotype is influenced not by the words themselves, but by the feelings that are embedded in them. Feelings cause certain emotional states - this is a manifestation of energy.

The energy of feelings, emotions, desires is the energy of the Spiritual world, it manifests itself through the body. The Word is the manifestation of spiritual energies through the physical body. Here everything depends not on the words themselves, but on the emotions with which they are spoken: with love, hatred, faith, trust, contempt, indifference - these energies will influence with their vibrations the genotype of the one who said them and the one who was nearby to the extent that he himself has these vibrations.

High vibrational states of the Soul will raise the vibrations of the one who speaks them. A good example is prayers and mantras. His body will undergo a “quantum transition,” that is, the quanta of his body will move to another level of vibration and become inaccessible to low-vibration states that can cause diseases, infections, and decreased immunity.

Photographs of the structure of water taken when water is influenced by a word, a feeling, a thought.

Low vibrational feelings and emotions (hate, anger, resentment, fear, words spoken with fear) provoke the formation of energy clots in the body, or rather in the aura, in the etheric-astral fields, which are called negative blocks. They block the life force energies that flow through the channels of the etheric body. This affects the cells of the physical body, causing them to age, deformation, atrophy, slow metabolism and, finally, the death of these cells.

Timecode: 38:00, #297 Extraterrestrial source of inspiration. Explanations from aliens. Art from aliens. The secret of poetry.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

June, 2021

January 31, 2023

The decision-making process using the example of a man's visual perception of a woman's image

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/process-prinyatiya-reshenij

How a man makes a decision about actions regarding a woman he meets is a normal biological question, since everything is truly physiologically determined. When the man's eyes settled on the woman, information came to his brain through the eye receptors that this was a woman, her appearance and image. All this information is immediately sent for processing to the visual part of the brain. Further, in the form of electrical and electromagnetic impulses, already along the optic nerves, it enters the part of the brain that is responsible for processing visual information, and the processing process itself begins in the visual cortex.

In fact, everything happens instantly: the human nervous system works quickly, especially when it is associated with vision. This information enters the part of the brain that analyzes it, where the distribution of signals begins, that is, the collection of signals from individual retinal cells into a holistic image. Information about this image is recorded almost immediately and remains in the neurons in the form of chemical bonds. That is, receiving information from the image seen, the biochemical composition of the released hormones changes. And at the same time, through life force, information about this image is sent to the embodied Spirit.

It cannot be said that it is in the spiritual world, because the Spirit, which is embodied in the body, is simultaneously both in the body and outside it - in the spiritual world. Through the impulses that arise in it, and since the Spirit is already excited by the information received through the optic nerves, it emits a signal that we call an electromagnetic impulse. Through this energy, he already excites the energy of the next level - the etheric and, as it were, gives it an impetus of movement. It's like the wind making waves. That is, in any case, it pushes the etheric energy, forming an etheric impulse, which already transmits this information to the Spirit. And already in the memory of the Spirit itself, the resulting image is compared with those that it has in memory.

That is, a man begins to recognize what is in front of him: a tree, a closet, or a person standing, for example, a woman. Recognition occurs through comparison with already familiar images. And he understands, looking at the outline of the figure, that this is a woman. Why does he perceive this image as a woman? Because his memory contains precisely this concept of this image, formed in childhood. First there is a comparison, and then he discerns that this is a woman, whether she is familiar to him or not. And when he realizes that there is an unfamiliar woman in front of him, he begins to compare her with the memory of the Spirit. One of the functions of memory is comparison.

The emergence of desire based on an ideal image in Spiritual memory

In the memory of any person, any Spirit, incarnate and non-incarnate, there is such a concept as an ideal image - this is the goal that he strives for, the goal that he wants to achieve in order to be happy. This desire is inherent in absolutely everyone. The ideal image is individual for everyone.

The received information is compared with what is already known in order for the Spirit to understand: whether he should strive to communicate with this woman or not, how interesting she is to him. There are many different nuances, but I'm talking about the most general cases. If this man's concepts include the desire to receive pleasure through the body, through sexual union with her, then he will have a comparison with the women he already knows and with his ideal, which he will create for himself for this communication. If it corresponds in some way partially or completely, then from the memory of the Spirit this information will already enter consciousness, the conscious part. If this woman meets his own ideals either partially or completely, and if he has a predetermined goal to unite with a woman, then he will then have a desire at the level of the Spirit.

It first appears on the astral plane, esoterically speaking. How the desire arises depends on the individual: if it is a man, then he will mentally imagine the process of union with a woman, or the processes that will occur after the union. But, in any case, some images will arise, and from these images he will want to experience it and gain this experience. When he wishes to experience this, the desire will arise in the astral body and through the vital force, which, enveloping the human brain inside and out, will descend in its vibrations, as it did with thought, and will reach that part of the brain that is responsible for the release of hormones by body organs. As a result of this, the body's hormonal systems will react in such a way that it will experience physical signs of desire that are understandable to all earthlings. And further actions will depend on his choice: either to follow his desire or to refuse - this is already the choice of the mind and will of a person.

24:33, #120 How does the human brain work? Neural networks, mind, memory, nature of thoughts, connection with the Spirit.

Laom Street is the coordinator for contacts with the civilizations of the Galaxy that are not included in the MS, the planet Burkhad.

MidGasKaus - biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms, planet Esler.

August, 2020

February 2, 2023

How does the transfer of mental information to the contactee occur?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/process-peredachi-mentalnoj-informacii-kontaktyoru

So now we are transmitting thoughts: first we put them into the aura of the contactee, then into the astral and mental fields; we can say that we put our thoughts into parts of the Spirit of the contactee.

First, thoughts pass through the consciousness and subconscious, and only then the contactee's brain gives you information. Otherwise it won't work while we are in the body. This is an inevitable filter of consciousness, a filter of the brain. We cannot use attitudes and concepts that are completely unfamiliar to the consciousness of the contactee's brain, that is, from a completely different area, because a simple thought will not pass into the conscious part. She has nowhere to get these images, which she will translate, having received them from us in astral contact.

This works when the contactee is in the physical body, that is, right now. Therefore, some esotericists claim that the brain and its work allegedly interfere with contacts with other civilizations, with the spiritual world. But it's not that it interferes; it must be configured to transmit this information in a form in which the contactee can perceive it.

That is why, in this case on Earth, there is a problem of different languages for transmission to contactees. From this in ancient times there arose different religions, different philosophical movements based on them. In modern times, if you study ufology and contacting, you will see that many contactees talk about seemingly different things at first glance, but in fact, this is their translation of information, depending on mental attitudes and transmission through the brain, through its neural network. After all, in order for them to convey a word through language, speech, they must do it through a neural network.

Explanations from Irina : images, mental images are in my mind. He doesn't just convey to me a stream of thoughts or a stream of images, but both at the same time. And indeed, the decoding goes through my consciousness, through my brain, even involuntarily from me.

Timecode: 07:39, #120 How does the human brain work? Neural networks, mind, memory, nature of thoughts, connection with the Spirit.

Laom Street is the coordinator for contacts with the civilizations of the Galaxy that are not included in the MS, the planet Burkhad.

MidGasKaus - biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms, planet Esler.

August, 2020

February 3, 2023

How to become a contactee of a certain civilization

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kak-stat-kontaktyorom-opredelyonnoj-civilizacii

If you want to become a contactee, you must match your internal vibrations to the inhabitants of other planets.

The first condition is the openness of the mind to the new, i.e. lack of the habit of thinking according to a template, since the openness of the mind to the new is a sign of a new type of consciousness that characterizes an inhabitant of the Galaxy. They have such vibrations because... this helps them understand the Universe and new forms of life in it.

The second is the absence of the slightest need to take revenge and punish for bad deeds, that is, to give within oneself the right to love any person, no matter what he is. No matter what terrible act a person has committed, any act that even harms others, he still has the right to love, to forgiveness, to understanding, to help in correcting his shortcomings.

Third, universal love should not be an obstacle to bringing Light to those who are still in darkness. It should not only manifest itself in what is right, it should manifest itself without blinding a person to any shortcomings. That is, condoning evil is also unacceptable. Help is needed to correct this situation. What is a fix? This is help in directing the Light in the right way.

The fourth condition is the ability to listen to your heart and the ability to distinguish the call of your heart, the voice of your Soul, intuition, from the logical schemes of the mind. This is what distinguishes the consciousness of the galactic type, which, taken together, will be suitable for contact with almost all residents of the Interstellar Union, with slight variations on the theme of individual vibrations of the Spirit.

To become a contactee in the broadest sense, you need an open mind to new things, trust in new experiences, the ability to get out of the pattern when processing information (for example, from the “bad-good” pattern) and to have the ability to look at the same subject from different points of view.

Love and sympathy are the main qualities of a contactee

To become a contactee, you need to love, be a person of a broad type of thinking, who can look at a question from different angles, sympathize with a person who has fallen in his vibrations, and help him rise. A person who does this not feignedly, not for the sake of glory, but from the very essence of his Soul. Helping someone else pass their lessons should not turn into arrogance towards them. This should not be done from top to bottom, but by first descending to him, into his position, into his state, and then come out of this state together. This is called “sympathy,” feeling together. Not only those who are sick in body, soul or psyche need sympathy, but also those who are sick in Spirit. The illness of the Spirit is a lack of feeling of Light, a fall into various vices that temporarily provide artificial Light.

Question in the comments of the telegram channel Cassiopeia.Publications

If a person wants to become a contactee, his thoughts have already become known in the Spiritual World. He, through his Higher Self, can ask to find a curator for himself in the Interstellar Union or in the Galactic Federation of Light. In order for him to hear this contact, he must first set up his spiritual channel, otherwise he will call them, but will not hear them.

Timecode: 00:21, #265 How to tune in to contact and become a contactee of a certain civilization

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world.

January 2021

February 10, 2023

How to tell a materialist about the Spirit

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kak-rasskazat-materialistu-o-duhe

If you see a person's interest in your knowledge, your information, then you can tell them anything, but the main thing is how you do it. It is important to do this as confidently as possible, without doubting the truth that the spiritual world exists. At the same time, do not impose your beliefs, do not convince him if he does not want to accept this information or begins to argue with you. You can tell him that everyone will remain with their own opinion, because the more a person argues with a materialist or a non-materialist, the more this person convinces himself that he is right. In his soul there arises a desire to defend his rightness, his own ego, that is, self-esteem.

Even if at first he was not so confident in his beliefs, then by starting to argue with him, you will push him to want to defend his position even more, so as not to seem weak and not accept your beliefs. He will argue even more, convincing himself that his beliefs are correct. This is a dead end path.

I know your saying that truth is born in a dispute. But I would clarify that truth is not born in a dispute, but in a scientific or spiritual dispute. A dispute is not a classic argument, when people bring up new arguments to convince or change their interlocutor's mind. A dispute is characterized by an initial determination of the purpose of this conversation, that is, what everyone should come to. Before you begin to present your arguments to one side or another, you first need to understand the terms.

If, for example, you decide to tell a materialist about spirit, then first you need to decide with him how you understand the word "spirit" and how he understands this word.

The word "Spirit" is a Russian word that is known to everyone. This is such a well-known word, but people understand it completely differently. If you understand "spirit" as the eternal divine principle in man, then a materialist can understand this word as, for example, the mind or consciousness that is generated by his brain. Therefore, when you say the same word, you will talk about different things: you will talk about God, and he will talk about the brain.

In order for this debate to be correct and lead to a deepening of the understanding of the subject, both by you and the materialist, it is necessary to immediately explain that by the word "spirit" you mean the immaterial principle located in man, the divine principle. Next, look at his reaction. If he wants to talk to you about this, you can give him a classic argument that, for example, the world is very harmoniously and orderly, which is proof of the intelligent beginning of the creation of the world.

Or, for example, the human body is very complex down to the last cell, and this serves as proof that the body was originally created by an intelligent principle. Only then can you give some specifics. A variety of arguments are possible depending on the level of training of the materialist. If he says that material things and certain complex systems can be created without the presence of the mind, then one can give him materialistic arguments. For example, you can ask him to take cubes with written letters and mix them, and then without reason, with his eyes closed, for example, select certain cubes and put them in a row with the goal of making some word or sentence out of them.

This simplest example can be given. Will he be able, simply guided by sensations, movements of his hands, without the presence of the mind, which manifests itself through vision, to assemble something? Many more similar questions can be thought of. For example, who created the house. This is also a well-known question. You may ask who created the house in which he lives, and how he can prove the presence of the builders of this house and the architects if he has not personally seen them.

If he admits that there is still some kind of rational principle, then he is no longer a materialist, but an agnostic - a person who admits something. In the future, it is easier to lead him to the idea that he is part of this being who created everything. And it is this part that is called “spirit”.

What arguments do you give? Write in the comments, and we’ll continue our thoughts there.

Timecode: 20:12, #527 One on one with Irina Podzorova

Mirakh Count (Archangel Gabriel) is a representative of the planet Burkhad, the guardian of the Christian egregor.

January 2023

February 13, 2023

freedom of choice

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/svoboda-vybora

The most important thing is that the Spirit is given the opportunity to both love God and draw closer to him, and to move away from him into darkness, denying the Light and developing in the opposite direction. You can develop anything, including negative qualities - they also develop. Anything can be improved. You can, for example, improve yourself in ballet, or in the field of creating weapons. Both will be improvement in this direction, i.e. improvement of some qualities.

God is such Absolute Love that He has given us the opportunity to develop in any direction. And at the same time he does not take away his Love from anyone. There are different levels of the Spiritual World, on which it is not he who places us, but we who place ourselves. Your choice, your development. For God, any choice of the Spirit, at any level, is important, necessary and holy. He loves the one who is on the 1st level, the demon, the lowest, in the same way as the one who is on the 24th and above. This is unconditional Love. He does not demand from the Spirit a state similar to his, he simply gives advice: “If you become like me, in Love, you will be infinitely happy. I wish this for you. But if you do not want this, this is your full right, be not happy. Of course, I may regret your choice, but I won’t take it away from you.”

To be an infinitely happy loving bright being, divine, you need to develop in yourself just such unconditional Love for everyone, including yourself. To yourself first.

Christ gave two of the most important commandments. A commandment is like spiritual advice. We can comply if we want, or we can not comply. The consequences of these elections will be different, they will depend only on us. First, love God with all your heart, with all your mind, with all your thoughts. When you love God, he fills you. He already fills you up, but when you love him, you feel it, you open up to him. We can choose whether to give ourselves to this love or not. God doesn't force us to do this.

We open ourselves to this Light and receive it. And if we are closed from it, then it exists in us, but we make the choice not to feel it. We are closed. We close ourselves off from the Light with some of our own blocks, energy blocks created by us, from emotions, thoughts, feelings that are far from divine. They are divine, of course, but they are simply negative in this case.

We are particles of God, and particles are inseparable from the whole, i.e. when we merge, each of us can say, like Christ: “ I and the Father are one .” We separate ourselves, with our negativity. Degradation and development are two paths that are equally respected by God as a choice.

The second commandment is similar to the first - “ love your neighbor as yourself. There is no other greater commandment than these .”

Timecode: 18:00, #233 Irina Podzorova. Abkhazia. Retreat. Who are we? Daemon. Human. Spirit. God. Goals. Answers on questions.

January 2021

February 14, 2023

Love between a man and a woman

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/lyubov-mezhdu-muzhchinoj-i-zhenshchinoj

The energy of love in the masculine and feminine manifests itself differently as it manifests through the physical body and immaterial spiritual structures. Through a woman, the energy of love manifests itself in the form of tenderness, softness, acceptance, mercy, and through a man - in the form of activity, courage, and creativity.

The task of a man and a woman who love each other is to see in the other a reflection of themselves, a reflection of the same energy that is in everyone, but only in a different form. That is, the Higher Selves of men and women unite into one. Not as a single entity, but they will be in a single Spirit of Love, which will allow them to be together for many incarnations, and also to come to each other in the spiritual world after disincarnation. This level of love will allow a man to see in a woman a reflection of his love, his softness, tenderness, and she will see her activity, and they will teach each other these qualities that they have. This is the only way to unite men and women at a higher level.

It is written in your book of the Bible that there will be two and one flesh. One flesh - this does not simply mean the union of two bodies and union in a bodily way, but a reflection of spiritual unity through physical union. On planet Esler this is what we do: first we unite in Spirit, we unite vibrations: I am with my wife and she is with me. We completely reflect each other, and only then do we connect on the physical level.

Your physiology is somewhat different, so a feeling of sexual desire can arise without Spiritual love, but again, since you agreed to incarnate in these bodies, it means that this is your lesson, and in order to pass it you need to remember that sexual desire is also a form of divine energy, love, that flows through your body. When you recognize this energy as love, you will experience it for your loved one.

Timecode: 34:07, #179 Spirit and matter: differences between male and female nature. Divine love.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

December, 2020

February 16, 2023

Order of implementation

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/poryadok-voploshcheniya

Incarnation occurs according to the decision of the Spirit. Consulting angels from level 22, together with this Spirit, select an incarnation that will contribute to its spiritual evolution.

Sometimes the Spirit can wait its turn. This means waiting for conditions appropriate to the task of embodiment: suitable parents and people who will interact with him during his lifetime. This will help in achieving the goals that were planned before implementation.

Any Spirit from level 1 to 24 has mentors. Even a demon has mentors, Angels, who guide him through more than one incarnation, and they know the reason for his fall into this state. They know what series of lives he needs to go through, what lessons to learn in order to regain his Divine dignity and sense of Light.

📽 20:06, #165 Demons, low-vibration entities and plasmoids.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the astral world and its interaction with the material world.

November, 2020

February 19, 2023

MidgasCause about immunity

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/midgaskaus-ob-immunitete

The strength of the immune system and its ability to adequately respond to stimuli of various kinds depend on the spiritual mood of a person. From the vibrations of his spirit, from his acceptance of himself and others as they are.

If this is not enough, the functioning of the immune system is disrupted from a decrease to a local increase against some substances, which leads to autoimmune diseases, allergic reactions, and many other destructions.

© MidgasKaus - biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations (life forms), planet Esler.

February 20, 2023

The effect of fluoride on the human body. Consequences of using sodium fluoride

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vliyanie-ftora-na-organizm-cheloveka

As a biologist, I have been researching this issue. Among your scientists there are many biologists and doctors who show that in a certain concentration fluoride displaces calcium not only from the teeth. Once in the body, it removes calcium from the bones, replacing them with fluoride. This makes them softer. Calcium is deposited in the vessels, which leads to rapid calcification and the development of atherosclerosis, and to kidney stones due to some types of calcifications.

Fluorine, especially one of its active compounds, sodium fluoride, is the most commonly used. Sodium fluoride is not only used to make toothpaste; it is added to drinking water. Not prohibited. This industry is more developed in the USA. They add, despite criticism from scientists who have found that such concentrations of sodium fluoride will remove calcium from the body.

At high concentrations, fluorine affects the nervous system, which leads to a decrease in emotionality, volitional potential of the individual, and weakening of memory. Low concentrations of fluoride cause damage to teeth and bones. If applied to teeth.

Scientists who advocate this hygiene practice believe that it destroys some oral bacteria, changing the acidic reaction to an alkaline one. But an acidic reaction in the oral cavity does not form without reason. When bacteria consume sugar, it remains after eating food and releases special acids as a metabolic product. This is what destroys tooth enamel.

Fluoride is very actively absorbed into the blood through the gums. This is an active element. As I already said, it can lead to damage to bones, blood vessels, kidneys, and decreased immunity, which increases the risk of cancer. In high concentrations it affects the nervous system, and not only the pineal gland, but the brain as a whole.

If fluoride, in large or small quantities, is constantly introduced into the body for many years, it can cause weakening of memory, weakening of the brain's ability to manifest the rational principle of the Spirit. That is, it will be difficult for a person to think and analyze information. This is possible in case of chronic poisoning with so-called fluorides.

It is best to prepare fluoride-free dentifrices. Use natural ones that were known in ancient times. Take white clay powder, dilute it with water and add various essential oils. Especially useful oils: tea tree, eucalyptus, clove. They improve dental health.

Timecode: 18:45, #236 Why is fluoride dangerous? How fluoridation of water and toothpastes affects the human body.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

February 2021

February 24, 2023

Egregor of war

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ehgregor-vojny

War is an armed conflict between two or more groups, leading to great destruction and many casualties.

War is a complex and large project that is formed in the noosphere of the planet long before the start of hostilities.

This happens through the creation of the egregor of war - an energy-informational, artificially created entity that provokes the appearance in the souls of people of the lowest feelings and emotions that lead away from the light of Divine Love.

If a society has not reached a level of high awareness of its actions and has not comprehended measures of social responsibility, then some subjects, often belonging to its political and economic elites, are interested in creating an egregor of war, because they consider military operations as a means of increasing personal financial and political power.

Also, individual subtle-material destructive civilizations living in the etheric space of the planet are often interested in creating an egregor of war, due to the desire to obtain for their nutrition a large amount of people's life force, charged with the energies of suffering, pain, fear, hatred, condemnation and others negative emotional and sensory states.

During military operations, such energies are transmitted into the astral space by a large number of people at the same time, which becomes an excellent feed for low-vibration, subtle-material civilizations.

Destructive subtle-material entities (plasmoids) and people with unresolved psychological problems and negative energy blocks are attracted to each other like iron to a magnet and form a tandem to create and implement destructive plans.

The formation of the egregor of war is the first stage of military action, necessary to influence the consciousness of people susceptible to its vibrations and strengthen their energies of their own aggression and fear at the same time.

The synergy of fear and anger is the active force of any war, since these two emotions, combined together, temporarily suppress feelings of mercy, harmony and love.

The ways in which the egregor of war influences the consciousness of people are varied, but the most common and effective of them is the influence through the instinctive beginning of a person and through the egoistic attitudes of his mind.

The task of the instinct of self-preservation is to protect the life and health of a person, his offspring, his territories of residence and material well-being.

The egregor of war includes a convincing image for a person of an immediate danger to basic instinctual needs. If a person's mind does not apply criticism when processing information in the process of perceiving such an image, then it will occupy a niche in memory as probable, and in the future similar images will strengthen the sense of belief in them and will create a subjective reality in which the potential possibility of a military conflict is built in.

After the introduction of an artificially created image of danger into a person's memory, as an element of the worldview, the stage of arousal of instinctive nature begins. As a consequence of this, fear and anger appear in the emotional background as protective functions of the self-preservation instinct. At the same time, the logical component of the mind, which could calculate and predict the long-term consequences of its actions, is suppressed.

As a result of such an impact, a person literally before our eyes turns from a merciful, loving and intelligent being into a biomachine, ready to destroy everything around and kill his own kind, not noticing the pain and blood that he sows on his way.

Such a person is ready to die for the idea of a safe world, because in his subjective reality there are people and entire groups that threaten his existence. Who these people are and what to do with them is indicated by a person authoritative for a person, who is a key figure in the egregor of war.
All this becomes possible due to the fact that a person voluntarily let into his heart the image of the egregor of war and created from abstract thought forms completely real feelings of hatred, revenge and suspicion that require implementation in the material world.

The impact of the egregor of war on the logical mind occurs a little differently, but has no less destructive consequences: first, with the help of special texts and videos, an image of the enemy is actively created, in which all the worst qualities of human nature are concentrated, while completely ignoring the bright feelings, thoughts and deeds of the target targets of the egregor of war.

If a person does not pass information from the outside world through his spiritual heart, filled with the love of the Almighty God, the image of the enemy is gradually fixed in his memory and an associative series associated with him is formed.

After this comes the stage of forming the need to correct or destroy the enemy. For this purpose, mental attitudes are created that justify the violent actions necessary to materialize the formed need.

These guidelines postulate the need to restore the only correct, traditional, Divine order of things, allegedly violated by the enemy, whose image has occupied a corresponding niche in human memory.

All these attitudes in a person's mental field gradually form in his spiritual heart the need for their implementation in order to satisfy the basic needs for happiness, development, harmony and justice.

The artificial need for struggle and war thus created becomes impervious to rational criticism and prompts the mind to choose an appropriate goal and direct the energy of the will towards its achievement.

Ultimately, any influence of the egregor of war leads to the creation of plans for military operations for any reasons invented by the original creators of this egregor, who, for personal reasons, are interested in military operations.

Remember that the egregor of war is capable of not only being fueled by the human energy of fear, guilt and aggression, but also charging its loyal supporters with tenfold increased negative feelings and emotions.

Only those people who have their own blocks of resentment, fear, anger and hatred towards any Divine creation, creation and being, including themselves, fall under the influence of the egregor of war.

The best prevention against connecting to it is the Light of Unconditional Love and the feeling of Unity with the Divine Will, which is always aimed at the happiness of all people, regardless of their race, nationality, skin color, language, beliefs, material and social status.

The egregor of war acts especially quickly and detrimentally on young, inexperienced people just beginning their adult life. Therefore, it is necessary to take measures to protect yourself and your children from connecting to it.

These measures are very simple and effective, subject to their constant and voluntary compliance:

> You must sincerely forgive yourself for all your mistakes and forgive all your ill-wishers and offenders.

When you perceive any negative information, you must immediately send the light of Divine Love to all participants in the situation or event that you have learned about.

Gently and lovingly switch children's attention from games where there is military action to intellectual and creative games where it is necessary to build useful things, create new things and help each other.
This rule also applies to computer games.

Try to surround yourself and your children only with bright images of spiritual teachers, holy personalities and simple good people, for whom love, compassion and service to God are not empty words, but vital necessities. These images can be manifested in books, paintings, music, films and other ways of obtaining information and influencing the emotional and sensory sphere.

If possible, try to keep as few books, films, paintings and music with themes of war, crime and violence in your space as possible. Familiarizing children with historical chronicles and works of art containing such materials must necessarily be accompanied by explanations from adults about the spiritual reasons and destructiveness of such types of behavior.

As early as possible, but gently and lovingly, involve children in the work activities of your home, teach them by your example to rationally manage their time, finances and organize their leisure time to raise their vibrations and develop worldly and spiritual wisdom.

Always take children's feelings, experiences, dreams and fantasies seriously. Never insult a child’s personality or humiliate his dignity. Remember that people of all ages are equal before God in the light of His love. You cannot teach children empathy and compassion if you do not show these feelings to them yourself in everyday life.

Remember that your children trusted you, choosing you to be incarnated in this world. This trust can easily be > undermined by a rude word, ridicule, a light slap or reproach from your point of view, but to regain it, you will have to spend five times more time and energy of love.

Only gradual social evolution can lead to the emergence of a generation of people immune to the effects of the egregor of war. These people will create a new type of society, where all Divine commandments and laws will be manifested in the form of codes and regulations in all social structures and at all levels of government.

Any social evolution begins with the family of every person, whose heart burns with the fire of Divine love and ignites the hearts of those who are still deaf to the voice of their own Higher self because of ignorance, unbelief, despondency and hundreds of other blocks, vices and sins that stand between people and God not just like that, but to learn lessons of unconditional love, faith and helping each other in raising their vibrations and fulfilling life's tasks.

Mirrah Count, specialist in the creation of religious egregors in civilizations not included in the Interstellar Union, sociologist and political scientist, planet Burkhad.

February 23, 2023

March 7, 2023

Sexual energy is a form of Divine Love

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/seksualnaya-ehnergiya-forma-bozhestvennoj-lyubvi

Sexual energy is a form of manifestation of Divine love in the human physical body. This is a highly vibrational energy, and it can be directed in different ways, depending on the mental attitudes of the Spirit. Sexual energy itself is, reflected in the body, that same pure, absolute, unconditional love that exists in the Spiritual world.

Your physical body was created by civilizations with the participation of the Divine mind through its Spirits, in such a way that the organs through which sexual energy is manifested are associated with the activation of the hormonal and nervous systems, with the centers of sensations, pleasures, etc. This is a form of love from God to you and you to each other. At least the sexual form of manifestation, sexual activity, is created so that you can give joy, love in this expression. This is precisely why it was invented by God in the world of any humanoids who can reproduce in this way. Naturally, this is a form of Divine energy.

If I "make love" to everyone, do I become a high vibrational being?

It can be directed in different ways, but in itself it is Divine energy. This means that in this case, this energy, manifested in the form of sexual desire, can be directed not to increase your vibrations at the moment of connection with your only, beloved woman, if you are a man, or, conversely, with a man, if you are a woman. You direct it to satisfy your body, but at the same time you neglect the soul of this person, your partner. By doing this, you destroy, nullify the love that was between you on the Spiritual level. That is, you put personal bodily pleasures in first place.

In order for Divine energy to manifest itself correctly and raise your vibrations, you need to put your Spirit and the Spirit of the person with whom you will exchange energy first, so that everything is in harmony. If you exchange this energy with many partners, cheating on them, then negativity towards you and your new partners grows in their souls. This negativity lowers your vibrations because your Higher Self, through your conscience, reminds you that you are doing evil to these people. And since you do harm to their souls, it means you are lowering your vibrations and using your sexual energy incorrectly. By itself, it does not lower your vibration.

Your vibrations lower your feelings. This is one of the forms of development of egoism, when instead of Spiritual love, “seizing the moment”, you get pleasure for the body, using the body of another.

Fornication and adultery are already actions manifested in the body. Those states of your soul that have already brought you into a lower vibration lead to fornication and adultery.

What leads to fornication and adultery is the understanding of love as a feeling of possessiveness, selfishness, possession of something as one's own, as the satisfaction of one's body, without caring about one's Spiritual development, about one's soul and the soul of another. This possessive attitude towards love lowers a person's vibration, even if there was no real fornication in the body.

Timecode: 43:10, #165 Demons, low vibration entities and plasmoids.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

November, 2020

March 9, 2023

Adultery and fornication, their influence on humans

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/prelyubodeyanie-i-blud-ih-vliyanie-na-cheloveka

The word "fornication" is understood as a frequent change of sexual partners without creating a unity of spiritual love, simply at the level of physical love. That is, physical attraction without common spiritual goals, which can lead, for example, to creating a family.

Adultery with an existing family, created in the Spirit and Light of the Creator through the unification of goals and already existing spiritual love, is expressed in a decrease in the vibrations of one of the partners to the feeling of the absence of this love and his attraction to the other partner. We understand that.

The consequences at the level of the physical body are, of course, the exchange of microflora, unwanted pregnancies, etc. As for the spiritual and energetic consequences, it all depends on the reasons and motives. If the most common motives are the search for pleasure through the body and neglect of the spiritual side of the essence, then a temporary blockage of the channel of communication with the Higher Self will occur, a depressive state will appear, etc. until a person dissolves this block.

If fornication or adultery occurs with a partner who is himself in a relationship, then there may be a decrease in vibrations. At the energetic level, a person enters into a relationship not only with his partner, but also with the one with whom he is in a relationship. At the energetic level, he experiences rejection of “his” person. There is an energetic relationship there.

Any sexual intercourse of physical bodies leads to the formation of connections between partners. The more emotions a person experienced in this contact, the stronger these connections. Further, even if these people break up, these connections will still continue to exist until enough time has passed.

It’s different for everyone, but the average period is about 5-7 years. Or until a person carries out a special energy practice, which MidgasKaus gave, to break energy connections. After all, if there are a lot of them, they weaken the aura.

The energy that is formed in another person from his thoughts and emotions begins to exchange with the energy of the second. If one partner raises vibrations, and the second remains low, then a good mood, thoughts, images through this connection go to the other person, and in response, a depressive state may come to him through this connection. This usually happens at night, when the astral body goes out into the astral plane, and its etheric body becomes a communicating vessel (if you can say so according to your physics) with the etheric bodies of those with whom it is connected. This consequence can significantly reduce vibrations and slow down movement along the path of spiritual development.

Timecode: 08:25, #173 Free topic: answers to questions. Secret government, predictions of the future.

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the astral world and its interaction with the material world;

November, 2020

March 10, 2023

Lessons from the soul of a homosexual

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/uroki-dushi-gomoseksualista

They have an individual "mission" of their own Spirit. A homosexual man or a homosexual woman are those Spirits who have many subconscious memories of life in a past body of a different sex. That is why they feel like a person of a different gender from the body in which they were born now.

This is always a lesson for the Soul, a lesson in humility with one's body, accepting it as it is, and awakening in oneself that natural sexual energy that is inherent in this particular body in which one has incarnated. It is quite possible. I emphasize that now I am talking about true homosexuals, the number of whom is about 7% - almost at all times the same number.

Often they remember the body, but they may not know past incarnations in detail, they may simply feel that this body is not their gender. That is, all the receptors are already configured this way, and there are no more than 7% of the population, true homosexuals, sometimes 10% - that's already a lot. I do not mean now those homosexuals, the so-called pseudo-homosexuals, who can engage in full sexual intercourse, both with their own sex and with the opposite. These are people who have accustomed themselves to this here, not from their previous body. They have other lessons...

Timecode: 32:56, #217 Answers to the most provocative questions from viewers.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

February 2021

March 14, 2023

The influence of masturbation on the physical and energetic plane of a person

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vliyanie-masturbacii-na-fiziku-i-ehnergetiku

Masturbation itself physically causes the release of the same hormones that are released during normal sexual intercourse. That is, physiologically this process is practically no different, especially for men. Women have their own specifics related to the psychological attitude towards the opposite sex, but by and large, this does not have any consequences for the physical body.

As for energy : the fact is that, unlike sexual intercourse, masturbation causes the release of sexual energy into the astral space, not exchange with a partner, as happens during sexual intercourse, but release.

I want to emphasize that a person, after the act of masturbation has ended, is not able to retain this energy in himself; it still comes out of him, both in men and women. The loss of energy in itself is small, it is fully compensated by the energy that is in the human body, but that is not the point. The energy that is released is charged with the feelings and thoughts of a person at that moment. In general, any energy is charged, as I already explained.

Since this moment is colored by positive emotional experiences, this energy is released in the form of a luminous ball that goes into the astral plane. Since she is highly charged with emotions, sparks seem to fly out of him. This ball becomes visible to those representatives of plasmoid civilizations who are even quite far from this place, and they can be attracted to this energy.

If the personal vibration of this person matches their vibrations, the plasmoids can absorb it, make it their part, as if “eat it,” as you put it. If they like this energy, then they can come to the person and provoke him to new thoughts, ideas, images and similar actions that he did in order to have such a source of energy.

Does it harm a person? Here it is impossible to say definitely whether it is harmful or not - it all depends on the nature of the plasmoid or several plasmoids that will be involved. They are different, as I already said, just like people. If they provoke the release of this sexual energy through the act of masturbation, calling for this with thought forms, then later, when a person decides to find a sexual partner, plasmoids, if they are low-vibration, if they have anger, jealousy, may not accept this a person's choice and try to prevent him from finding a sexual partner, so as not to lose a constant source of energy. Such cases are known. Simply put, whether you masturbate or not is your choice. But if you're doing this, just be prepared for the possibility that you might have a contact in your life that you weren't expecting.

The energy that is released during masturbation can also simply dissipate, and no one will notice it, and if they notice it, they can fly in and "eat" it.

A person can lower their vibrations if the person later has a feeling of guilt. If you choose between promiscuity, which carries the risk of disease, as well as the risk of unwanted pregnancy, and masturbation, then, of course, the second is preferable. Any doctor will tell you this.

Timecode: 26:34, #217 Answers to the most provocative questions from viewers.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

February 2021

March 16, 2023

What does the disembodied part of the Spirit do?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/chem-zanyata-nevoploshchyonnaya-chast-duha

What does the disembodied part of the Spirit do when its first part is already embodied in the human body?

Raom Tiyan answers:

The disembodied part of the Spirit is busy receiving experience through the body, processing this experience, comparing it with the previous incarnation and with its tasks that it set when it sent a part of itself to incarnation.

She also corrects, that is, sends thoughts through the conscience and intuition of her embodied part, in order to correct the Spirit's life in incarnation on Earth. When the embodied part of the Spirit leaves the physical body, then, depending on its vibrations, a partial or complete merger occurs with the energy of the disembodied part of the Spirit. Then she is engaged in harmonizing the embodied part of herself, feeding it with energy, helping him view dreams in the astral space, depending on her impressions, putting into them meaning that can be important for his life. That is, it communicates through images.

Then it helps to return to the body, connect with it and again energizes its physical body. In fact, it is busy embodying its part and is focused on it.

March 21, 2023

Alzheimer's and Parkinson's diseases. Spiritual Causes of Diseases

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/bolezni-alcgejmera-i-parkinsona-duhovnye-prichiny

The causes of Parkinson's disease and Alzheimer's disease are always disorders, pathologies at the Spiritual level. The physical body of a person is a small part of the energy of the Spirit, part of which remains in a non-embodied form in the Spiritual World, what you call the “Higher Self”. Part, in the form of consciousness, is manifested through the brain of this person, and the densest part is manifested in the form of energy of the dense material body.

In order to be manifested in the form of energy of a material body, we create this body from substances that come from the nature of a particular planet, in this case the Earth. Various plasmoid civilizations, which are responsible for the creation of the elements of the Earth and the primary elements that make up the hydrogen, oxygen, etc. that you know, are actively taking part in this.

Regarding the causes of brain diseases: what is called degenerative processes is a process of reverse evolution. Evolution is the development of consciousness and the development of brain structures that occur under the guidance of Spiritual development. By Spiritual development we understand mental development, that is, the comprehension of something new, previously unknown, by man, and the development of feelings, that is, the expression of one’s feelings, and their direction into more positive dynamics and the development of spiritual knowledge, awareness of oneself as a Spirit, independent of the body, and the dissolution of this Spirit in the light of Love. All together: the development of the Mind, the Spiritual Heart and the development of the Will.

We do not, like you, divide development into the development of intelligence, the development of emotions, the development of attention, and something else. We collectively call all this Spiritual development, since the Spirit is indivisible for us.

How does development differ from degradation? Because development allows the Spirit to be closer to its Source. Not just to be, but to feel closer. And the more developed the Spirit is, the more it feels like this Source, the more it merges with the Soul of the World, what you call “universal energy”, “cosmic consciousness”.

In Alzheimer's disease, the structure of more than a dozen proteins that are responsible for memory may be disrupted. And with Parkinson's disease, the movement system, the motor cortex of the brain, may be disrupted. Several dozen proteins are responsible for signal transmission and adequate muscle response to these signals. All these structures: neurons, proteins, myocytes, etc. created with the aim of giving the Spirit the opportunity to develop in earthly conditions.

The body, according to the teachings of the Interstellar Union, with the correct attitude towards it, is led by the Spirit. This is true on both sides. The body has influence on the Spirit, and the Spirit has influence on the body. But with the development of will, consciousness, faith and the power of love in oneself, the Spirit becomes a manager. But this does not mean that the physical body becomes immortal or less vulnerable to physical illness. This means that the Spirit in any case fulfills the tasks for which it came into this incarnation. It must be remembered that the physical cause of death can be any. Death cannot occur before the Spirit is ready for the transition (this refers to natural causes, it does not mean the violent deprivation of life from another intelligent Spirit).

The main method of preventing brain diseases in old age, including memory loss, spatial orientation, various hypochondriacal and hallucinatory states, is life in the spirit of love, forgiveness, and, most importantly, the desire to constantly learn new things. As soon as this disappears, a person no longer believes in goodness, becomes fixated on his past grievances, and the Spirit begins to return to the past to work through them.

Why is this happening? He has little time left before leaving incarnation, and the Higher Self tells him. He returns to the past with his thoughts, his memory, focuses on past events in order to work through them and not go into the Spiritual World with a load of negative blocks. They will pull him to a low spiritual level. Because of this, he does not focus on the present, does not fixate on its events, and quickly forgets the events that happen around him. He returns his consciousness to the past and can mistake the people around him for people from the past. To think that he is younger, or that he lives not in the place at the moment, but where he lived 30 years before. He experiences fixation amnesia. This is the Spirit’s tool for working with its past mistakes, but it does this unconsciously. If there is a person next to him who understands this process, he can direct him in a positive direction.

Parkinson's disease has several causes. These are injuries, exposure to toxic substances, infections, spiritual reasons: hidden anger and aggression, due to which the Spirit, in order not to lower the vibration, further restricts the movements of the body.

Timecode: 07:18, #193 Conference with an obstetrician-gynecologist. Alzheimer's and Parkinson's diseases. Women Health.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien civilizations.

January 2021

March 25, 2023

About the use of drugs by people

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/o-primenenii-lekarstv-lyudmi

I have studied your pharmaceutical industry, your drugs and chemicals, the use of chemistry, biochemistry, herbal medicine in your pharmaceutical companies in different forms. I believe that any chemicals or medications can be used in doses if a person cannot get out of a state of illness without the help of drugs, and it is difficult for him to rebuild his physical body. Physical matter has inertia: thoughts have changed, the etheric body has changed vibrations, but the physical body continues to remain in the state to which, perhaps, a person has been moving for years, accumulating a block.

The body cannot quickly come to a state of harmony; it often needs the help of drugs. They will change the balance of chemicals in the body at the chemical level and harmonize it. But such drugs, I believe, cannot be used throughout a person’s life or most of their life. They can be used for a limited period of time. Including herbs, dietary supplements and chemical medicines that are made by the chemical pharmaceutical industry.

The rest of the time, ideally, a person should eat right, be optimistic, and exercise a lot in the fresh air. Then he won't need any medicine. They will be needed only to harmonize certain aspects of his life.

I studied your medicine and found out the uneven distribution of medical technologies, medical knowledge and skills across countries. Somewhere they do a lot of organ transplants for people in need, tens, hundreds a year, in some clinic. Somewhere they make them once or twice a year, and there is a huge queue of people who need it. This uneven distribution of technology and knowledge introduces dissonance into your system, your medical egregor.

This industry has its own egregor that protects its interests. To move away from the constant use of drugs, from any chemical drugs... Herbs also consist of chemicals, only in a ratio that is not found in drugs. They are most often purified from other substances, and herbs contain a complex of some substances. Pharmacy pharmaceutical medicines come in pure form, one substance, or a combination of several.

Your pharmaceutical industry is developing to meet the needs of a people whose diseases are increasing. The proportion of people of the older generation, compared to the younger generation, is becoming larger. The propaganda of having sexual intercourse without obligations, having a child, starting a family has done its job. Led to widespread contraception, and even to the development of abortion. Because of this, the birth rate inevitably falls, and accordingly, the proportion of the country's elderly population increases.

The medicine that exists allows us to maintain life for quite a long time in those people who could not be saved before. They continue to live and consume products. People with hypertension, stroke, with consequences after a stroke, with diabetes, with various forms of kidney disease, glomerulonephritis, and so on. Previously, a hundred to a hundred and fifty years ago, they would have disincarnated at that level of medicine. And now they live for many years and are regular consumers of these drugs. They need to be made. The proportion of diseases is growing. For what diseases are the most drugs made? From cardiovascular diseases, from sexually transmitted diseases, from neuropsychiatric diseases.

This happens because a person accumulates blocks within himself and then upsets his physical body. This entire educational system, aimed at accumulating blocks, contributes to the emergence of diseases, and then pharmaceutical factors. Prevention of diseases is a good contact with the Higher Self, the ability to express one's emotions. Raising a child in the spirit of self-confidence and kindness, so that he does not get angry, does not show aggression, but is calm, peaceful, does his job in the material world and is content with what he has.

Timecode: 01:01:37, #244 The art of Qigong for health, longevity and spiritual development. Yin-yang, Qi energy, Wu Xing, elements.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

April 2021

April 2, 2023

What do the lines on a person's palms mean?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/o-chyom-govoryat-linii-na-ladonyah-cheloveka

The lines on the palms of the physical body reflect the astrological, numerological chart at the moment of birth and are needed for recognition - it's like a stamp on the hand. It is done by the Spirit itself, which contains information, including through the karmic, causal body, by influencing the etheric body in the area where the palms of the hands are formed.

These lines show which Spirit has come, which planets are more strongly expressed in the astrological chart. This is a characteristic of the Spirit, which he brought within himself to the physical plane.

It is like a cosmic passport of the Spirit or an astrological chart. Only the astrological chart is more detailed, but here is some brief information.

April 18, 2023

Soul mates

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/rodstvennye-dushi

Kindred Souls are intelligent Spirits who either had long experience of incarnation in different worlds next to each other and had close relationships, or as Spirits who met in the Spiritual World and, for example, took care of each other. Spirit from a higher level came to Spirit at a lower level, and this happened over a long period of time, from the point of view of the material world.

For example, the same two Spirits: one is incarnate, and the second may not be his Guardian Angel. After the first Spirit leaves incarnation, they change places: one remains in the Spiritual world, and the other incarnates. This is one example.

We consider them to be soulmates who not only have a similar vibrational frequency, as is usually the case at the same level, but also similar beliefs, thoughts, will, etc. When viewing such contacts on a spiritual level through the Higher Self, this Spirit can feel like a part of them because they have similar energies.

“Twin Souls” are spirits who walked next to each other for a very long time; they were familiar in the Spiritual World and incarnated together many times. They even feel like one. But it can be not only two, but also three or four, that is, a group. But they do not merge with each other, they simply feel so close to each other that they already know the movement of each other’s souls (29:10, #49).

Timecode: 18:30, #274 Live_Experiment with questions

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien life forms;

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world.

May, 2021

April 27, 2023

Oath, promise, contract

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/klyatva-obeshchanie-dogovor

When a person takes an oath, a promise, how are these concepts interpreted in the Interstellar Union? Do they influence a person's destiny?

Betrayal from the point of view of the Interstellar Union

An oath, a promise, an agreement is a certain choice of path. These are different names and, one might say, stages of the same phenomenon, which is called “choosing a path.” Betrayal is a return back to the state that was before the promise.

We look, if this was a promise of Light, that is, to develop in the Light, then the agreement, one might say, is evolutionary. The annulment and betrayal of this agreement is a return, that is, the degradation of the Soul to the state in which it was before. At the same time, a person (his Spirit) loses all acquired vibrations, losing access to those qualities of the Soul that were developed during this path.

If this agreement was drawn up for the purpose of degradation, there is an agreement about crimes, for example, they agreed to commit something criminal together, then the betrayal of this agreement stops the degradation.

Timecode: 30:09, #280 Live. Discord in CASSIOPEIA. Answers to chat questions Cassiopeia - Ukraine.

Bergastre is a representative of the planet Burkhad (Pikran), a specialist in contacts with the Earth, a specialist in safety in contact situations, director of the security service for contacts with worlds not included in the MC sector of the Milky Way Galaxy.

May, 2021

April 30, 2023

Why visit the graves of deceased relatives, and what is the point?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/zachem-poseshchat-mogily-umershih-rodstvennikov

You have this custom of visiting the graves of relatives. You see this as the meaning of communication with their Souls. You think that if you come to the body, it is a memory of a relative. This is an external cause. And the internal reason why you need this memory is communication with their Souls, that is, with those images that are in your memory, and through these images with their Spirits that are in the Spiritual world.

Naturally, you don't have to come to the cemetery to do this, but you have developed such a custom for many reasons. When your religious cults were formed, the cult of veneration of ancestors was very strong and widespread, especially among the Slavic peoples, also in India and China. You have gone through a long journey of forming this custom over many thousands of years. They prayed to the ancestors, made sacrifices to them, asked them to intercede before the Gods, and so on.

Why did such a cult form? Because ancient people felt a very strong spiritual connection between themselves and past generations of people. They called it the Rod, that is, with their ancestral egregor , as the totality of all Spirits.

Timecode: 28:09, 280 Live. Discord in CASSIOPEIA. Answers to chat questions Cassiopeia - Ukraine.

LiShioni is a specialist in astral interactions, planet Shimor.

May 2, 2023

Pushkin - human genius and contactee

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/pushkin-chelovecheskij-genij-ikontaktyor

MidgasKaus and PiosNior believe that Pushkin had very good contact with his Higher Self, with the Spiritual World, with his own Guardian Angel. Mead believes that in terms of energy he was a believer, believed in God, in the immortal Soul. In the depths of his Soul he was a believer, a kind, bright person with pure and high vibrations.

Who did he contact? The Spiritual World was in contact with him energetically. He drew a stream of inspiration for his works from contacts. In his life, he read a lot, studied ancient legends, myths, was interested in religions, Russian Gods, fairy tales, and the history of Rus'. From his friends or in libraries he took and read works that were hidden from the public and were not widely published. Many of his fairy tales, written for children, were based on reflections on ancient images of the Slavs and other peoples.

These reflections sent a request through his Higher Self to the subtle world, which reflected this or that myth or fairy tale. Representatives of this subtle world came to him and spoke lines. Tales about King Guidon, about the fisherman and the fish - these are all ancient fables, myths, images that reflected the reality of the Spiritual world. What does this mean - you can take them and simply disassemble them.

He died later after being wounded. He was wounded, he could have been cured, this is a well-known fact, but medicine simply could not. Was his death accidental?

Such questions must be asked of himself, his Spirit or the one who was present. But they believe that this is nothing unusual; at that time this was done often. Moreover, in St. Petersburg, among people of his class, who, by the way, were partial to wine and controversy. Such incidents happened regularly. Pushkin was not the only one who challenged him to a duel.

Why did he so easily agree to such adventures, given that murder is the withdrawal of the Spirit from incarnation? At that time, in the 19th century, the nobility, to which he belonged by right, education, and worldview, was captivated by the heroic images of medieval knights. Unfortunately, at that time on your planet the life of an incarnate intelligent Spirit was not valued more than the spoken word.

Even now, almost two centuries later, the picture has not changed radically. Now there are no duels, but there are other forms of disrespect for life.

Timecode: 31:32, #297 Extraterrestrial source of inspiration. Explanations from aliens. Art from aliens. The secret of poetry.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

PiosNior is an art critic, psychologist, specialist in the transmission of sound vibrations for the purification and harmonization of space.

June, 2021

May 4, 2023

Spiritual causes of diabetes

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/duhovnye-prichiny-saharnogo-diabeta

If we talk about type 1 diabetes, then this is a genetic failure, a minimutation in DNA, as a result of which the body stops producing insulin in the required volume for the absorption of glucose by cells. There are types 1 and 2 hereditary diabetes. Then you need to ask why the spirit chose this particular body, what lesson it decided to take. Hereditary and congenital diseases were reported to this spirit by mentors before it entered this body. He chose this lesson himself, for his own reason.

The global reason is the mood of the spirit, which you call character. It can be formed in past lives, or formed in childhood or adulthood, which is less common.

This is a state of mind when a person is not satisfied with his life on earth. He does not get pleasure from simple things - neither from food, nor from relationships with a loved one. He experiences dissatisfaction either in all areas of his life or in many, as well as stress and a lowering of his vibrations. The emphasis is on the fact that a person may have long-term depression and does not enjoy life.

This is reflected in the energies of the spirit in such a way that the energy of the spirit, through the etheric body, begins to influence the level of insulin in the pancreas and reduces its concentration in the blood. And the spirit, with its energy, reduces sensitivity to insulin in all cells of the body: in nervous tissue, in myocytes, in muscle tissue so that the level of glucose in the blood increases, and other damage to blood vessels and nerves is secondary. The spirit believes that there is little pleasure in life and therefore the blood sugar level should be high. Of course, this cannot bring him pleasure, it brings suffering, but sugar is a symbol of the “sweet” life.

There are accompanying reasons - increased body weight, lack of movement. But increased body weight is possible, but there is pleasure in this very body, then there will be no diabetes. And if you are chronically dissatisfied with it and fight it in every possible way, then you can drive yourself to diabetes.

Another reason is infections, chronic pancreatitis, damage by parasites, giardiasis of the pancreas, damage by various types of trematodes: opisthorchiasis, clonorchiasis and fasciola. They can all live not only in the gallbladder, but also in the pancreas, and infect the very cells that produce insulin. Also associated factors: intoxication with alcohol, drugs and other harmful substances from food. Which disable the production of insulin or pancreatic cells make insulin molecules defective, unable to penetrate the cell and carry glucose there.

To cure diabetes, you need to completely change the entire system of glucose and fat metabolism in the liver and pancreas. At your level of development, you can maintain your condition for a long time with herbs and special medications. Naturally, given the psychological mood of the person himself, that he is learning to get out of depression, etc.

In order to be completely healed from any disease, it must come from the spiritual world, energy that will instantly heal the cells of the body. And in order to call upon it, you must completely believe in it. This healing must be consistent with your embodiment task. First you need to ask the Higher Self, why was this necessary? What would have happened to you if you had not gotten sick? What vibrations would there be? Perhaps your mentors are protecting you from something more terrible; different options are possible.

Timecodes: 51:53, #83; 12:16, #86

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

April 2020

May 22, 2023

Light and Enlightenment

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/svet-i-prosvetlenie

What is Light? How is It different from the state of non-enlightenment? If you do not know the signs of both, there is a possibility of being in a state of enlightenment without realizing it. Such people exist. This social ability is present in every person. It is embedded in his very body, in his very Spirit.

Light is the human name (in Russian) for the energy from which everything came, but it itself does not contain it all. "Energy" is not the exact word. It's like strength, energy, essence at the same time. And at the same time it is Reason. But not the same personality as a person. This is that person or that Mind that can simultaneously engage in a million different thoughts. The human mind or the mind of any being is not capable of this, because even outside the body it is limited by its own mind. And Light is unlimited.

Enlightenment is when you see everything in the true Light as it is from the point of view of this Light. And when you fall into this Light, the material world and your own body, as well as your own embodied mind, ego, become not only illusory, but as if unreal. All that is real is Light.

Memories of the material world and ego are retained. But they are like memories of a dream you had. And I will tell you that this state can be achieved not only after the death of the body, but also at any moment in the life of this body, and that it will not by itself lead to an exit from incarnation.

You ask:

“How then is it possible to consider the world unreal if you remain in it?”

The answer is very simple:

“Everything that exists in the world, all matter, is a form of Light that has taken on this form due to the perception of the one who perceives this form.”

Enlightenment is not just some kind of psychological experience, but it is the achievement of a state from which it is then impossible to completely exit, because it cannot be forgotten. But if, after achieving this state, the Spirit (being) decides to go for incarnation again, he is free to do so. In fact, he may not go to the next incarnation into the material world, but if the Spirit wishes it, no one can forbid him from doing so. And he can do this completely freely, choosing a planet, a body. He can go out into the world with the purpose of telling others about it.

Contrary to popular belief, the state of “Buddha” is not the absence of all desires. What remains are desires that agree with the will, with the energy of Light. Will is a more personal word, but it can be roughly conveyed this way. The human mind can understand "will" as a certain energy that distinguishes good from bad, light from darkness. And in the Light it is all one.

In what sense is it one? Now I’m not talking about the fact that all actions become indifferent or that this somehow panders to some low vibrational qualities. It’s just that from the side of the Light, all good and evil deeds and their consequences are considered as an inevitable experience of being in the reality that is determined by perception. To put it simply, this creature behaves this way because it is like that, and cannot behave differently. Like that.

Timecode: 40:52, #350 Buddha Consciousness. The path to Shambhala. How to achieve Enlightenment? Simple techniques from Padmasambhava.

Ptaah - a representative of the Sirius civilization, a specialist in Buddhist egregor, was incarnated on Earth in the body of a Buddhist sage - an enlightened personality (Padmasambhava), who brought Buddhism to Tibet, is on the ship of Ashtar Sheran (employee and friend of Ashtar Sheran).

October, 2021

May 25, 2023

Methods of burial of the physical body on other planets and on Earth

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/sposoby-zahoroneniya-fizicheskogo-tela

It's different on each planet, but usually in the Interstellar Union technology is used when the body is placed in a special transformer, where the molecules that make up it break up into individual atoms. From them certain elements are already obtained that can be used in any process. The elements are being rearranged. Such technology exists in the Interstellar Union. The decision to use it or not (this is not necessary) is made by the humanoid's loved ones or family. If they live according to their social structure in separate apartments, then society itself.

As for the Earth. Burn or bury? Sathya Sai Baba says that it is only a matter of tradition. The body was given over to fire thanks to the tradition in which the God of fire, Agni, was revered and worshiped. He helped when the body was burned. It was a long time ago, in Vedic times, when the Vedas and interpretations to them were written.

Burning the body in fire sent the Soul in a stream, in a column of flame, to heaven. God Agni helped the Soul ascend by taking energy from the body. When it burns, it releases energy. It was believed that it helps to ascend to heaven. In your opinion, this is an appeal to plasmoid civilizations to help them pass through the dangerous astral world for those who have not worked on dissolving the blocks in their lives. This is a meeting with the essence, so that God Agni and his assistants, the Salamanders, accompany this Soul together with the Guardian Angel and illuminate the path with their fire.

As for burying, which did not exist in ancient times in Rus'. Where did it come from - preserving the body and burying it in the ground? It comes from the story that each Soul will unite with its body after the resurrection, after the second coming of Christ. There was such a record in the Christian Bible. When Christianity came to Rus', a custom developed to preserve the body as much as possible in a box. Belief in the resurrection of the body.

If we look at the roots, there were customs when they threw the body into the water to give it to the Spirit of the water. It became food for fish. The spirit of water, through its fish servants, divided it into parts and returned it to nature.

As for countries where it was not possible to make a big fire or bury it deep in the ground, they gave it to the birds.

For the Soul, for the Spirit, which is pure, not attached to the material world, which is directed towards the spiritual, there is no particular difference what happens to the body. In any case, the spirit will go to the Spiritual world at its own level and will not worry about the body. If a person misses his relatives, his body, wants to return to his property, then the rapid destruction of the body in any way helps him quickly understand that it does not exist, and life energy is not released from it.

When the body dies, energy can be released from the cells for several months. This may attract a Soul that is longing for earthly life. In this case, cremation is preferable for such a Soul. For the Soul, which is directed towards God, there is not much difference for it. It's my opinion. And what exactly you should do with the bodies of your relatives or bequeath what to do with your body is a matter only for your Soul.

Now it is possible to bequeath to relatives what to do with the body. You can ask your Higher Self in advance and give the appropriate order. According to the laws of all countries of the world, it is mandatory and can be written down in a document. A person's right to freedom of choice is respected even after his death. The creators of secular laws subconsciously understand that we are talking about the immortal Soul, which disposed of its body in this way. And it is unethical to violate her will, because she still feels.

Timecode: 01:10:08, #413 Conference at a retreat in Abkhazia with the Spirit of Sathya Sai Baba from the Spiritual World.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms and space civilizations, xenobiologist;

The Spirit of Sathya Sai Baba is a representative of the Spiritual world, an Angel, prepares Spirits for incarnation, draws up a program for them for incarnation and is their spiritual mentor.

February 2022

May 26, 2023

How to slow down the development of caries?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kak-zamedlit-razvitie-kariesa

You can slow down the process of caries formation on your teeth, even if you don’t brush your teeth after every meal, but simply rinse. For this, a soda solution without alcohol, chamomile infusion or 3% hydrogen peroxide (a teaspoon of a slightly alkaline solution per glass of water) is suitable.

Rinse in such a way that a stream of water washes away all the remaining food and so that the teeth themselves are covered with this solution, like a film. Bacteria will also produce acid, but it will be neutralized by this alkali, which will slow down the development of caries.

It is important to do this regularly for prevention after each meal, no matter what you ate: dinner, one piece of candy, or even just sweet tea.

May 27, 2023

Archangel Michael about conceiving a child and choosing an incarnation

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/arhangel-mihail-o-zachatii-rebyonka-i-vybore-voplo

Astrological systems are created in the material world with the help of material organs. You call it the brain. They are tuned only to a linear perception of reality (linearity, counting in order). From the material world it really seems that certain structures of the Spirit depend on the time of conception.

From the Spiritual world it's the other way around. The time of conception and the gender of the child are determined in the Spiritual world. And at the moment of conception, the gender is already known to the Spirit who comes to the parents at the moment of conception. At the moment of conception of your future body, you were all present with your parents. You saw them, not physically, but energetically.

What can affect the Spirit? It can have a negative effect if future parents merge with each other not in a state of pure love. Even if this happened in a state of anger, fear, negative emotions, then conception will still happen, because it is destined for the Spirit. He has such a plan for implementation.

When two cells (maternal and paternal) connect, and the Spirit injects its life force into this cell, if they are in the field of the mother and father in low vibrations, the Spirit will not be able to do this 100% harmoniously. There will be some distortions. Then, if they were small, the Spirit can level them out, reduce them, completely dissolve them, especially if it is from a high spiritual level. It is very important to be in harmony at this moment.

Human conception is a great sacred sacrament. Ideally, as my very good friend Krishna said to his lovers who sought intimacy with him in body on Earth:

“I can spend every drop of my seed just to conceive an Angel or someone who can become one in the future.”

He had such an ideal that it was a very valuable substance.

Why did he say that? Because ideally from the Spiritual world, every conception is sacred. And I personally know people who made such contacts for the birth of a child more consciously. I don’t blame people at all for making a different choice. I am simply saying that any act of union between a man and a woman, which may be accompanied, at least theoretically, by the conception of a child, must be carried out in a state of sacred awe, delight and expectation of the Spirit.

At least in love, acceptance, and not when two people quarreled, seemingly loving each other, but not knowing how to accept the other for who he is.

This affects the formation of all organs of the body. First of all, the brain, heart, skeletal system, as well as the psyche of the Spirit, its character. This can give rise to a feeling of danger and fear in him. Feelings of anger from his father, who, for example, in a fit of his feelings, showed some violence towards a woman, may be transmitted to him.

This can cause hidden irritation and aggression, which will manifest itself in childhood. Then parents will have to compensate for this and correct it. Imagine that you planted a young tree, and while the sprout is small, it begins to grow in the wrong direction; in order to correct it, you have to make an effort.

At Esler, children at school are taught the subject “Family Psychology,” including “Culture of Conception, Birth and Raising of Children.” This helps the entire civilization to follow the path of Light.

The spirit can choose parents before they meet or after. This time is individual. He is shown parents, several people whom he is suitable for, and he chooses from them whom he wants to go to. If this is Earth, and he chose his parents, he is shown a specific mom and a specific dad. This could be a specific man and woman who may not yet know each other.

He himself, especially if it is a high-level Angel, can come to them, try to build a series of events in such a way that they meet, so that they develop sympathy or love, so that they come into contact, and he can enter the body.

Timecode: 21:21, #354 Archangel Michael about Vedic astrology and the laws of the Spiritual world. Recommendations for astrologers.

Archangel Michael is the guardian of the Christian egregor, patron and curator of the Earth in the Spiritual world.

October, 2021

May 28, 2023

Obstacles on a person's path. The ability to wait. State of mind of a child https://blog.cassiopeia.center/prepyatstviya-na-puti-cheloveka-umenie-zhdat-sosto

It often happens when a person is deceived by his desires and rushes to start an activity when the time has not yet come for its implementation. His spiritual mentors, Consulting Angels, Guardian Angel, all his Light curators see this from the Spiritual world and put an eventual barrier to the sequence of events so that he does not spoil the whole thing with his haste.

For example, you saw a fruit on a tree, but it was not yet ripe. If you, tormented by severe hunger, pick it and eat it, it will bring you neither pleasure nor benefit. You will only throw away the tasteless, bitter or sour fruit in disgust; this will not make the whole thing grow.

Let the fruit ripen. It is very important to be able not only to sow wheat, but also to wait until you can reap the ripened grain. At this time, it is very important to pray for the necessary sun and rain, for their harmony, so that this seed in the care and Love of God will grow and bear fruit.

The beginning of any business is a thrown seed. It could be a spoken word, a signed document, the first written word of a great novel, the first flower given to a beloved, still innocent girl, one who has not known the joy of union with a man. Why is she called innocent? Not because she has any guilt, but because she has not yet experienced those feelings that will make her ready for the birth of a baby. “Innocent” is more modern; it used to be called “naive.”

“Naive” is a child’s state of mind. It happens that a guy, having given the first flower to his beloved girl, who is still naive and romantic, rushes to take action when she is not yet ready. This spoils the whole thing. It even gets to the point where the girl begins to feel fear, wariness and mistrust caused by the guy’s haste. Because of this, their relationship collapses, and a child is not born.

Know how to wait. Know how to invest your energy and strength into any business. And know how to wait without expecting the result you need. Don't focus on the result. Know how to let the raft go with the flow in order to meet it in another place filled with the treasures of your mind and the wealth of your Soul.

Timecode: 15:30, #354 Archangel Michael about Vedic astrology and the laws of the Spiritual world. Recommendations for astrologers.

Archangel Michael is the guardian of the Christian egregor, patron and curator of the Earth in the Spiritual world.

October, 2021

May 29, 2023

ADDRESS TO EARTHLANDS from the Spirit Dolores Cannon (level 18)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/naputstvie-zemlyanam-ot-duha-Dolores-Cannon Never give in to despair. Even in the most difficult circumstances of your material life. From any state there is always a way out to the Light. There is always Light at the end of the tunnel. Never give in to groundless fears and worries, then you are safe. Always appreciate all the loved ones who are nearby. Remember that the most valuable thing you can share with the world is your Love!

May 31, 2023

Cause of panic attacks. Self-help for panic attacks

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/prichina-panicheskih-atak-samopomoshch

In most cases, panic attacks are associated with contact with destructive plasmoids. Contact on an unconscious level occurs suddenly. The destructive plasmoid comes to its contactee, who somehow attracted it earlier.

When a destructive plasmoid comes into contact with a person, it may be one of those species that feed on energy charged with horror. In order for a person to release energy, the plasmoid comes into contact with him through a binding, usually in the head area, less often in the fifth chakra.

Through its part of the binding, just as you inject a solution with a syringe, the plasmoid “injects” energy. He spends a little of his energy. And this energy affects the brain, causing a decrease in vibrations and a feeling that a person is about to fall unconscious, for example.

This energy artificially increases his heart rate and causes the reactions that occur in him when he is afraid, although there are not even unreasonable reasons for fear.

A person can be in any most comfortable place, even next to a loved one. “Contact” occurs because the plasmoid, his “curator,” wanted power, introducing a little of his energy into his aura, which begins to affect him.

If a person does not remember that he is an immortal Spirit and nothing threatens him, he will believe that death is really facing him. A plasmoid can change a person's consciousness that he is standing somewhere, looking at him and pursuing him. The person begins to be afraid and, in response to the energy of the plasmoid, release ten times more energy. The plasmoid "sticks around" its field like an amoeba and "licks" the energy.

As an exchange, it charges a person with energy, usually despondency. Plasmoids that lack the energy of fear are most often in a state of despondency. Fear is like a drug for them, it excites them. After this, a person feels weakness, weakness, headache, nausea, not only from panic, but also from the exchange of energies with the plasmoid.

After several contacts, a person develops a subconscious anxiety that this will happen again. With anxiety he lowers his vibrations. Plasmoids will be able to come more often. The only advice in this case: if you experience palpitations and a feeling that there is not enough air and you are losing consciousness, close your eyes, turn to Heavenly Father and say:

"Heavenly Father, if You want me to come before You right now, I am ready to come to You."

Remember that nothing bad will happen to you, as the Spirit. By doing this you will prevent your instinct from being aroused in response to the energy of the plasmoid. The energy in you will subside, and the plasmoid, not receiving what it wants, will leave.

When an unreasonable fear suddenly arises, it is better for a person to understand that this energy is from the outside, so that he can release even more, and say in response:

"My God, if You think that I am now ready to appear before You, that I have completed the task of my incarnation, I am ready."

There is a feeling of suffocation. Typically, spasms in the chakra begin, and the plasmoid contributes to this by supplying a large flow of energy to create the impression that the person is suffocating. The more a person tries to inhale, the more the spasm will intensify, because it will clog the chakra more with fear. In this case, as far as possible, take a breath and continue talking to God, but do not breathe yourself, hold your breath:

“Have I already agreed to lose consciousness and stand before God? So I’m not even trying to breathe.”

When the body feels a lack of oxygen, it will even out its breathing.

A person should not be afraid that he will lose consciousness or not breathe. He must remember that when he sleeps, the breathing process occurs without his control. This is help during an attack.

The problem is radically solved by contact through the Higher Self. Finding out who comes to him, for what purposes, where this fear or other negative feeling that attracted the plasmoid originally came from, and dissolving them. Send Light and Love to the plasmoid, the binding will dissolve. If the plasmoid arrives, it will not be able to energetically influence a person. The word “attack” speaks of an attack, only this is not an attack by physical bandits, but by energy ones.

Recently, the Earth's noosphere has been decreasing its vibrations due to the fact that there is a lot of fear and rejection in society. This makes destructive plasmoid civilizations more active and stronger. They come to people more often because they find more places to eat.

Timecode: 33:02, #360 Neuroscience. How to get rid of anxiety? Panic attacks - contact with plasmoids? Reptilian genes.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

October, 2021

June 2, 2023

The uniqueness of man as a biological species

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/unikalnost-cheloveka-kak-biologicheskogo-vida

It consists, firstly, in the possibilities inherent in DNA, which can be revealed by developing spiritually. Then the abilities of the brain, consciousness and inner strength of the body will open.

Secondly, the uniqueness of humans as a species is that the regeneration of some tissues occurs very well, completely and quickly. Humans have a fairly strong immune system compared to some similar races of the Interstellar Union. This is because you are constantly exposed to various microorganisms.

Another unique thing is that your immunity, although strong, is a fragile system that can be easily broken, and all its power can be directed against the owner. This happens at the behest of the Spirit, depends on the vibrations of his Spirit. All humanoids have such a connection between the Spirit and the body. This is a unique system for you, since the Spirit has a great influence on the immune system through hormonal regulation.
-

June 3, 2023

The influence of genetics on the human brain

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vliyanie-genetiki-na-mozg-cheloveka

The “reptilian brain” is the part of the brain that is responsible for the simplest, as you call “plant” functions of the body. You share it with the animal world.

The brain contains traces of the influence of various genetics. You have 45% primate genes. From them you get the size, shape of the brain, its overall structure. The size and weight of the brains of those primates from which the genes for your creation were taken were not much different from modern ones. The general structure, internal structure, architectonics of all parts of the brain - this comes from primates. You have 45% of their genes, which means they have a greater influence on your body structure.

Another thing is functions. For example, from the Burkhad representatives you inherited genes that allowed the anterior frontal parts of the brain to develop to a greater extent. And also to those parts of the brain stem and cerebellum that are responsible for balance, upright posture, and for the formation of the visual cortex of the occipital lobe of the brain, which more accurately recognizes visual signals from the outside world than the same primate.

The primate sees the overall picture, and a person, thanks to these genes, which determine the structure of neurons and the distribution of axons throughout the neural network, can isolate some particular signals from these signals and process them, pay attention to something, and concentrate. This is from the Burkhadians.

From the Tumesout people, genes influenced more not the brain, but the structure of the digestive organs, the structure of the musculoskeletal system. Those that affected the brain had an impact on your senses, on the area that distinguishes odors. You did not react as sharply as primates do to the smell of a primate from another family, from another herd, which immediately evoked a protective instinct in them.

Each herd had its own smell, which was characteristic of a certain leader. Contact with him spread molecules specific to his body. You, as people, would not distinguish them at all, but this is how they communicated. In appearance, these primates did not distinguish between strangers and their own, from their herd. They were gregarious. They were distinguished by smell, and from a distance they could already understand whether it was worth making contact. They could be aggressive because they were fighting for territory.

They had special olfactory cells in their nasopharynx, which led through dominant nerve pathways to the olfactory zone of the brain. If it had not been artificially removed by adding some Tumesoutian genes, it would have been very difficult to reduce aggression and wariness towards these odors in this creature. It was at the level of instincts.

The genes that were inherited from reptilians formed parts of the brain that were responsible, for example, for the formation of conditioned reflexes and for maintaining unconditioned reflexes. Most of them affected the areas of the parietal and temporal lobe, which are responsible for memory.

What are the characteristics of the reptilian brain? Their brains can store and reproduce information after a long time. At the same time, their speed, the speed of formation of conditioned reflexes, exceeds the speed of both primates and the species from which the Burkhadians and Tumesoutians were formed.

Reptilian genes also influenced vision: they helped form the retina, which began to distinguish, for example, blue and purple colors (primates were more prone to red-orange), and thereby expanded the spectrum of perception of the world.

The totality of all genes was responsible for the infusion of the intelligent Spirit. It is impossible to say which is larger and which is smaller. The combination of all genes made it possible to form a nervous system through which the intelligent Spirit could incarnate.

Timecode: 00:47, #360 Neurology. How to get rid of anxiety? Panic attacks - contact with plasmoids? Reptilian genes.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

October, 2021

June 5, 2023

Function of the nervous system. The power of faith

---

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/funkciya-nervnoj-sistemy-sila-very

The hypothalamus, pituitary gland and pineal gland are the three pillars on which the brain rests. Previously, it was believed that the Earth rests on three pillars. These glands are the “three pillars” on which the autonomic and central nervous systems rest.

The central and autonomic nervous systems are the main instruments of influence of the Spirit on the body and bodies on the Spirit. It is a transmitter of spiritual vibrations to the physical level and vice versa. Those nerves that run through the body are the strings of a musical instrument that transmits invisible vibrations of the Spirit into the physical body.

The state of the nervous system depends on the harmony of mediators and hormonal substances, which, in turn, are regulated by the pineal gland, pituitary gland, and hypothalamus. If, for example, the pituitary gland or hypothalamus releases some substance that has a certain vibration, then in response to this substance the whole organism begins to change. For example, one thing was released in the thyroid gland, protein synthesis became more active elsewhere in the body, glycogen breakdown became more active in the liver, etc. This is a support.

In the brain, the embodied part of the Spirit is located on a pyramid-shaped throne. This is a luminous star, within which the sphere is the spiritual heart. The throne stands on three supports (pituitary gland, pineal gland and hypothalamus), like a pyramid on triangles. It’s not for nothing that they are located not at the top of the brain, but at the bottom.

If you look at the structure of these organs, you will see that almost all nerves, nerve connections, nerve bundles and large vessels approach them. They entwine them. If you look at the architectonics of the brain, then the spiral rises upward (the brain is not a plane, it is three-dimensional), and along these paths goes the energy of consciousness of the embodied Spirit. This is a tool for connecting vibrations - spiritual, subtle and physical.

These three organs are quite well protected from drugs and substances, like a wall through which substances selectively penetrate. One substance penetrated and the other was retained. This is regulated by signaling molecules (blood-brain barrier).

Where the pituitary gland, hypothalamus and pineal gland are located, there is also such a semblance of a barrier, a second one. It is in double protection from the effects of substances that can disrupt their work, and therefore the work of the entire body.

Placebo. The Faith Effect

Emotions, feelings and thoughts are very easy to influence. This is why they say that there is a “placebo effect”. If we now translate this word into Russian, it means “believer”, “I believe”. It's called the "belief effect."

Your scientists also studied how faith affects the state of the body and why. Belief in something positive and belief in something negative. Faith can have a positive effect, or it can have a negative effect. Faith is a feeling that is located in the spiritual heart. The spiritual heart simultaneously manifests itself through the Anahata chakra and through the brain; it is a flow. Not static, but a flow of energy, including through these three endocrine glands. If a person believes in something positive, he raises his vibrations with this belief.

Faith is the establishment of a bright ideal and the pursuit of it.

If a person believes in the positive, then by doing this he raises his vibrations and conveys to the pituitary gland, hypothalamus and pineal gland that everything is fine with him, he is protected, in a state of harmony. These glands begin to listen to the Spirit and resonate with it. Accordingly, harmoniously manage the nervous system, digestion, respiration, hormones, biosynthesis, removal of harmful substances, and immunity. They also control immunity through other hormones. The spirit begins to manifest through the body in a positive way. He does not destroy it, but creates it.

If a person believes in something negative for himself, creates a negative image that (he thinks) will overtake him in the future, he lowers his vibrations with this belief. It affects these three glands in such a negative way that they become disharmonious with each other. They begin not to “talk” in chemical formulas one by one, but in disharmony and disharmony. It frustrates their work. This affects the entire body. The glands begin to randomly secrete some substances, some are not released in time, some more, some less, and this begins an imbalance in the body.

Timecode: 56:04, #359 Alien medical technologies. How to boost immunity? Nanorobots, extraterrestrial chips, brain.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

October, 2021

June 9, 2023

Effects of taking psilocybin mushrooms

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/posledstviya-priema-psilocibinovyh-gribov

The substances contained in psilocybin mushrooms do not change a person's vibration either higher or lower. They influence other things.

The substances that they contain, both in fly agarics and in some others, affect not vibrations, but the perception of the Spiritual world and subtle-material civilizations. They act on the brain in such a way that substances are released that open this vision, causing the perception of those energies and spiritual entities that a person does not perceive in a normal state of consciousness: hearing, sensations in the body that are caused by subtle contacts with entities. A person's vibrations remain at the level they were at before taking the substance.

What does this mean? That by taking this substance, a person will encounter those entities that are at his vibration level. If these substances raised vibrations, then any person who took them would meet light plasmoids, Angels. But this does not happen, because his vibrations remain the same. He will meet those beings, interact and exchange energies whose vibrations he corresponded to at the time of taking mushrooms.

If he was afraid of something, doubted something, was offended by someone, irritated, for example, in the morning he had a fight with his wife, and in the evening he took a substance, he will have corresponding vibrations, he will see creatures that will attack him. He may see, for example, a detachment of fascists who are seizing his house.

He will be presented with such a picture by negative plasmoids who will want to feed on his energy of fear. And since he still has a little fear, they will want more energy. He will perceive this as reality in the material world, not in the Astral. He will think that they want to kill him, and he will develop a paranoid state. Mushrooms will not raise his vibration so that he does not see such things, they will not dissolve his blocks of grievances and fears, they will attract entities.

Timecode: 51:52 #292 Irina Podzorova. Aliens answers to questions from the chat. Alien practice of sun salutations.

LiShioni is a specialist in astral interactions, planet Shimor.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

June, 2021

June 11, 2023

Adrenochrome

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/adrenohrom

Adrenochrome is a product of adrenaline metabolism. It is formed as its product before excretion. When adrenaline levels rise, it is processed in the liver into adrenochrome, just like in your chemistry lab. This happens before it is removed from the body. But this is regardless of how much adrenaline gets into the blood - a lot or a little, it will still be processed, including into adrenochrome.

In a state of very great horror there will be a lot of this substance, and if it is not horror, but aggression, adrenochrome can be obtained in any stressful situations.

If we are talking about its properties, adrenochrome itself does not have any narcotic properties; on the contrary, it has the property of depressing consciousness. If adrenaline excites it - the heartbeat increases, ventilation of the lungs improves, metabolism accelerates, glycogen is released from the liver, and so on, then adrenochrome has a depressing effect, it can cause headaches, for example, despondency on an emotional level. It also reduces immunity, like cortisol. The body gets rid of it; it does not need it as a by-product.

If a person was very frightened of something or was aggressive, what is his state two hours after this emotional state, when adrenochrome in the blood is high? There will be a loss of strength, energy, despondency, maybe a headache, trembling in the limbs. They say that some people take adrenochrome, their blood - they feel all these states that occur two hours after fear or strong aggression, anger, but they feel it even stronger. It's strange to take such a drug.

Under this myth, the legend about adrenochrome, there is a very big Truth hidden. It lies not in adrenochrome, but in the fact that there are negative plasmoid civilizations and representatives of disembodied Spirits from the demonic world from the first six levels, with which some people come into contact, since they correspond to their vibrations.

If these are plasmoids, then they feed on the energy of fear and aggression. They instill thoughts, for example, of showing sadistic tendencies: torturing animals, children in any way, causing them pain and fear. From the aggression of such people and from the fear of their victims, a cloud of energy arises, which feeds negative plasmoids. At the same time, demons can also inhabit their bodies and receive these sensations through their bodies.

If we examine this issue in detail, this leads to crimes against children, against their sexual integrity. This also leads to sadism in sexual relations between adults, to sadomasochism, for example. To various phenomena that in your world are not usually discussed publicly, but they exist and occur much more often than you can imagine. Not in some basements where adrenochrome is supposedly extracted from children, but what's even worse is that in the most ordinary families, behind closed apartment doors and windows, closed curtains, such people live; you meet them on the street every day. They may buy milk from you, you give them a lift in your taxi, you communicate with them, but you don't know that they may be the very people who torture the weak, their children, their wives.

I want to tell you that we looked at the noosphere of the planet. It's not customary to talk about this, but somewhere around 30-35 percent of the deaths of children from various types of injuries, including in Russia, occur at the hands of their parents. These are the people who live next to you. This is actually an indicator of aggression and low vibrations of the entire society. Your society and your government do not create conditions and educational standards. There are no performances in the family so that people raise their vibrations, they do not explain the importance of the Spirit, communication with the Higher Self.

These crimes are hidden, but they exist near you. Maybe even in the next house.

People who show increased aggressiveness will not only show it at home. They may manifest it, for example, at their place of work, they may not obey the laws. People who are in power understand this very well. Aggression cannot be one thing; it can entail other negative character traits that will be much more difficult to control. If there are many such people, they can destroy the entire country along with the rulers.

This is what happened, for example, if you were watching (I was in contact), with the Spirit of Lenin. He had in his mind that those who disagreed had to be killed, shot, and when there were a lot of such people, you know what happened. And this did not serve to stabilize the society, the country, the government under which these people were born, but led to its destruction. The accumulation of aggression in them (even if against some category of the population, according to some idea) led to destruction.

If we take, for example, ancient Rome and Byzantium, these civilizations were also destroyed, not even by barbarian raids, but from within. There were also popular riots, popular unrest against the laws adopted by the patricians. And all this undermined the combat effectiveness of the state, its defense against other nations. This happened because aggression was building up among the people. Homosexuality, pedophilia, sadism, and various forms of behavior that provoked a decrease in vibration and submission to one's instincts were also developed there. This did not lead to anything good; there was destruction in these countries.

That's why I said that any state, any government that has come to power, even if it is negative in itself, but in its state, in its country, it will be interested, first of all, in stability.

Remember, for example, the same Lenin and Stalin, who were essentially destroyers. When they came to power, what did they do? They began to destroy those of their friends who were next to them and who were already trying to destroy their state. They began to lead the state to stability. Or, for example, take Adolf Hitler. What did he do for his country? It's not at all the same as for the Soviet Union. These were different actions.

Timecode: 48:08, #374 Invisible life: biochemistry, viruses, microbiology. Experiments on controlling human consciousness.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

November 2021

June 13, 2023

Energy connection with pets

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/energeticheskaya-svyaz-s-domashnimi-zhivotnymi

Plasmoids are responsible for the embodiment of animal Souls. It is they who collect their Souls, their bodies from the elements and monitor the number of incarnations of a particular Soul. The body of a cat or cat is the body of a mammal into which a single animal Soul is incarnated. There are animals that have a group animal Soul, and there is a single animal Soul.

By the way, a single animal Soul of the same type as that of a cat can be embodied in any animal, not only the cat family, but also all predators. She is a fairly universal type of Soul. The number of incarnations for the types of this Soul can start from 50 and above. Usually they have from 50 to 200 there.

Plasmoids collect his Soul and send it to different incarnations. This happens in order to maintain the planet's biosphere. If these are domestic cats, then the goal may be to communicate with people through this body and this Soul in order to fill them with energy. At the same time, of course, hunting mice is important as one of the goals.

They do not have a Higher Self, some part remains disembodied, but he cannot communicate with it like a person, he has a different type of mind.

If a pet gets sick, but not so sick as to die or leave incarnation, but in such a way that it requires care, then perhaps it has taken over the energy of its owners. The animal accepts the energy of its owners, it is also intended for this purpose, in order to manifest some problems on itself. Shows like a mirror. The Animal Soul has a very great ability to absorb energy.

If the owner's tumors have disappeared, but the animal's has appeared, this does not mean that they were directly passed on, like in a relay race, physically - no. It's just that energetic traces of these diseases remained in the owner's energy, in his aura, and they were reflected in the animal that lives and loves him. I want to tell you that the animal Soul can also love.

She has a kind of spiritual heart. Not the same, of course, as a person's, but it is its own, an animal, and it can also love, strive and sacrifice itself for the sake of Love. All this is present in any animal, because it is created by the same intelligent Spirits, like you and me, but from their Soul, from their energies. They put Love into it too.

If your cat shows you illnesses, this is a sign that you need to go to your Higher Self and see if you have blocks that previously caused this illness in you. Maybe some diseases exist only in the etheric body, they are still hidden from the physical plane. Cats and dogs are good diagnosticians; they identify problems that their owners do not yet have and manifest them in their bodies.

And in this, the Earth is also a unique planet. Not everywhere there are pets of this type that are constantly next to a person in his home and communicate with him.

In merging with the Higher Self, two questions need to be asked:

1. Are there energetic traces of those diseases that have gone away? Have spiritual causes been eliminated?

If the spiritual causes are not eliminated, then, unfortunately, the physical illness may return.

2. The cat's paws hurt and he can't walk. Is there a possibility that it shows an as yet unmanifested problem in my physical body?

Until it manifests itself, it is much easier to eliminate it.

Naturally, you imagine the image of a cat in front of you and thank it for manifesting this disease, this problem that you do not see in yourself. Send him the Light of Love and take care of him.

Are there any guarantees that he will recover? Of course, such a guarantee does not exist; he may have varying degrees of damage to his physical body. But in any case, you will ease his feelings, his pain.

Timecode: 40:00, #393 COURSE IN IMAGERY SCIENCE FROM MIDGASCAUSE! How to manage your reality? Visualization and the Higher Self (online conference).

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

January 2022

June 14, 2023

Why is it impossible to develop in the Spiritual world?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/pochemu-nelzya-razvivatsya-v-duhovnom-mire

The word “development” has several meanings. Development such as increasing, for example, the level of intelligence, of course, is also possible in the Spiritual world, because when you learn new information or come to a new conclusion, you change your mind and develop. But this is not a change of spiritual heart.

It is in the spiritual heart that the main source of spiritual vibrations of the Spirit is located. It is its development, the change in its vibrations that moves us up the level. Changing the mind, adding new information will not give anything in the development of the spiritual heart.

Only an increase in the percentage of Light in it will lead to the development of the spiritual heart. And Light cannot be found without matter, because only through practical actions, creation and deeds can these thoughts, abstract ideas and feelings be strengthened to such an extent that the Spirit moves to another level. You need to build yourself a “Temple of Love” in your heart.

June 15, 2023

Spirituality and spiritual development

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/duhovnost-i-duhovnoe-razvitie

If you look at the meaning of the word, spirituality is following the ideas of spiritual development in your life. Development of the spiritual principle in oneself. There are several ways of development.

There is a materialistic path, when we develop material aspects, for example, the shape of our body or, for example, running speed. People spend their lives on this, a certain part of their lives, they train, spend strength, energy, time on it, in the end. There are those who develop the physical side or, for example, improve it so that their body looks ideal from the point of view of themselves or someone else. They spend money and time on this.

There are, for example, the goals of acquiring some material wealth. A person spends time at work not only to satisfy his basic needs, but to ensure that there are a lot of these material acquisitions; a certain amount of our nervous energy is spent on this.

There is a person who wants to dominate someone. He has an instinct for power, he wants to show it and also spends time on this, to come to her and stay there, to organize something.

There is a person who spends time on knowledge. Cognition is an increase in knowledge, a strengthening of the mind. A person reads books, studies various sciences, writes some articles, he spends his time and energy on increasing his mind. And the mind is a part of the Spirit. Cognition is one of the forms of spiritual development. But this spiritual development is not of the heart, but of the mind. It will give only knowledge about the material or the Spiritual world.

If you do not develop a spiritual heart in yourself, then this spiritual development will not lead to an increase in level. This will simply increase intellectual baggage. If a person simply reads books, spends a lot of time on it or writes them, but does not also develop a spiritual heart, then he practically remains at the same level. Only his knowledge increases.

And there is also spiritual development - the development of the spiritual heart. What does such development mean? Development is bringing oneself closer to a certain ideal. What could be the ideal for a spiritual heart? The one described by Jesus Christ:

“Blessed are the pure in heart, for they will see God.”

Seeing God is the goal of those who develop spiritually in this direction.

What prevents you from seeing? Impurity of heart. What can pollute the heart? Any feelings, desires, instincts that do not manifest themselves in the Light of Love. This means that a person who develops Love in himself through rituals, prayers, mantras in some other way, for example, helping others, compassion, follows the path of spiritual development, namely changing vibrations. And all sciences and all religions are tools for our development.

Timecode: 30:32, #393 MIDGASCAUSE'S IMAGERY SCIENCE COURSE! How to manage your reality? Visualization and the Higher Self (online conference).

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

January 2022

June 17, 2023

Princess Diana on the Spiritual World

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/princessa-diana-o-duhovnom-mire

For the spiritual world where you find yourself after the transition, even those feelings, emotions and thoughts that you consider trivial in earthly life matter. In the spiritual world it acquires the dimensions of Universal significance. Those unresolved feelings of mine towards my father, towards my mother, all my petty grievances, they surfaced in the spiritual world, they did not allow me to rise up.

This is approximately the feeling when you are swimming, enjoying the warm water, and suddenly weights are hung on you and they pull you to the bottom. The worst thing here is that you understand that these weights are not someone’s, not someone’s property, did not come from somewhere outside, but they are your own creation, you created them yourself and are drowning yourself. In the spiritual world you understand and see this very well.

Pay attention to quarrels, insults, misunderstandings, even something that seems insignificant to you. Make peace with your offenders even before you go to bed, before night falls. No one knows whether you will wake up in the morning in your body or already in the spiritual world.

Remember that life on earth compared to where I am now is like watching one movie in a movie theater compared to my entire life outside the movie theater.

Video on the topic: #551 Live broadcast. Communicating with the spirit of Princess Diana.

The spirit of Princess Diana through Irina Podzorova.

March, 2023

June 22, 2023

What do you need to do to meet aliens?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/chto-nuzhno-sdelat-chtoby-vstretitsya-s-inoplanety

Perhaps you just need to go to the mirror. Your Soul could have gone through many lives on other planets, and for those people around you, you are an alien. With us, every person is an embodied Spirit, and this is an alien from the Spiritual world.

The Spiritual world, in terms of vibrations, is much further from the Earth than the farthest Galaxy, since any Galaxy, any planet is located in the physical world, and the Spiritual world contains all levels of density of the material world and at the same time permeates the space of each density level.

Treat any person as an alien, and treat yourself the same way. In this way you will prepare your heart, your energy for meeting them. If you need this (not everyone has this as part of their incarnation task), then the aliens will definitely come, having felt your vibrations. They can contact you at any time.

The main thing is that you need to learn to communicate with your Higher Self so that you hear them, see them and understand that they are addressing you. First, find your Higher Self, find contact with yourself, in the future you will find out if you are already a contactee.

We are all contactees, at least with our Higher Self. Maybe you are a contactee with someone else, but you don't realize it yourself, so first find yourself, establish contact with yourself and ask yourself, your Higher Self: are you contactee, who your supervisor is, where he is from, and, of course, the purpose of the contact.

July 2, 2023

Selfishness and Selfishness

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/samolyubie-i-ehgoizm

Self-love or self-love is love for oneself. In Russian, the word "love" means a lot of states. In other languages of the world, the word "love" has many synonyms, as words that explain different aspects of love. In the Russian language, and this has its own charm, all this is called "love". How does true self-love differ from selfishness?

Egoism is the elevation of one's ego. What is "ego"? Let's look at the etymology of this word from the Greek language, connect it with the definition of Plato and those philosophers who introduced it. Originally it meant "I," the sense of "I," the sense of self. It comes from self-awareness.

If we remove the description of the ego as given (that it is in the brain, controls the body, that it is a sense of self), then in terms of the Interstellar Union the word "I" or "ego" refers to two things: either it is an embodied part of the Spirit, which is called Soul, or this is some part of it. For example, the mind (again the embodied part) or part of consciousness. Either it's the whole part or it's instincts. The meaning of the word "ego" is the isolation of some part of the Spirit and giving it sublimity above everything. This is the meaning of the word ego.

Egoism is when you take a part of the Spirit, which is called “ego,” and simply place it above the whole Spirit, even above the disembodied part, above the Higher Self. This means that in the spiritual heart of this person, instead of God, who should sit as if on on the throne (as the Higher Self, God, Creator, Jesus Christ, the ideal part that leads to the Light), he sits himself, precisely in his earthly incarnation. Not in some ideal way, but precisely in its earthly incarnation.

For such a person, the most important will be his earthly interests: the interests of his body, pleasures, relationships. And his life tasks, the tasks of embodiment, raising his level, developing love will be ignored. And this will be love for only one part of yourself, only for one projection of yourself while ignoring everything else. In essence, selfishness does not contain true self-love, but self-dislike.

Timecode: 17:42, #393 COURSE IN IMAGERY SCIENCE FROM MIDGASCAUSE! How to manage your reality? Visualization and the Higher Self (online conference).

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

January 2022

July 3, 2023

Aliens about laziness

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/inoplanetyane-o-leni

Laziness in the Interstellar Union is considered a feeling of uselessness in achieving some goal. It can occur when a person is not motivated. He has no reason to waste his physical and mental energy on achieving his goal. Simply put, it is not important to him, it is not part of his value system or has low value. On Earth this is considered a lack of willpower, but this does not mean that he lacks willpower at all, it means that the Spirit does not direct it.

Each Spirit has an energy called will. Without her, he will not be able to live and perform his tasks at all. And lack of will, laziness, means that he simply does not direct his will energy to something. He doesn't want enough to get closer to that goal, to that ideal, for which it is necessary to perform this action, which he is too lazy to do.

For example, a child or an adult is too lazy to clean his room; he has a dirty floor, dirty windows, and a dirty table. Why is this happening? Because his value system on the physical plane does not include purity, this person does not have purity as a value system. And he does not want, does not want, does not consider it necessary to direct his energy to physical actions that are necessary to restore cleanliness. He is completely satisfied with the environment where he is. And even if he says to himself: "I want to clean, but I'm lazy, I can't do it, but I really love cleanliness," this is not so, this is self-deception, an illusion.

There are people who tell themselves that I want to, but I can't, I'm lazy, or I don't have the strength, or something else. They just don't have these values as a priority. And what they say there is is self-deception. Even if there are answers that I would like to direct my strength there, I have them, but I don't have time - this is also self-deception. There will always be time for a priority matter at the expense of other less priority matters.

Or, for example, others, on the contrary, love physical cleanliness. They love physical work, they like to clean, cook, some like to play sports, but they may be too lazy, for example, to read books, engage in some kind of spiritual work, mental activity. On the contrary, it is easier for them to wash the floors five times than to go to the Higher Self once. They feel that they do not want to do this.

If you want a person to get rid of his laziness in relation to some matter, it is necessary to act without violence, without reproaches, without any offensive words that offend the person, without persuasion to do it. By persuasion you will only lead him into denial. It is necessary to increase the value of this matter in his eyes. And this can only be done in the system of his values, talking with him.

For example, in the case of cleanliness. You shouldn't start a conversation: "You didn't clean up, that's why you're so bad and lazy," in an accusing tone. Don't reproach: "I have to do this for you."

You just need to say in a conversation with this person (for example, if we are talking about physical cleaning):

“I live in space, everything in my room is in its place, it’s so easy for me to find all the items when I need them. I know that everything has its place. I am so pleased to look at the clean beautiful walls, floor, ceiling. It brings me positive emotions because it makes me feel like I created this beauty.”

You need to talk about your feelings, and he will start doing it himself. If you speak with love (even if not right away), he himself will still think: “Let me try, how it happens. Why does this person like it so much?” And he will start repeating.

Timecode: 53:30, #411 Egregors on Earth. Types of egregors. Parenting. Contactor Irina Podzorova (part 2).

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

February 2022

July 7, 2023

Synthetic vitamins. The concept of slag. Nutrition features from MidgasCaus

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/sinteticheskie-vitaminy-ponyatie-shlakov-osobennos

I researched several drugs and found out that the ratio of vitamins in them is different: there are drugs in tablets and capsules in which substances that are opposite to each other neutralize each other. There are drugs in which a certain ratio compensates for vitamin deficiency. It must be remembered that the person who drinks them does not always have a deficiency of these particular vitamins. There may be a deficiency of some and an excess of others, but the tablets contain everything together, and instead of helping, the result is an imbalance.

For example, almost all B vitamins are more or less compatible with each other. For any vitamins, in order for them to have maximum effect, the preferred method of administration is through injection. This way they do not pass through the gastrointestinal tract, which may contain parasites and microbes that feed on the same vitamins. For example, B12 (cyanocobalamin) and folic acid are very popular with roundworms, tapeworms and other parasites. The larger the dose of vitamin in the tablet, the faster they will grow. In this case, the person will still experience a deficiency.

If you have a vitamin deficiency, you can understand this by weakness, pain in the eyes when looking at bright and especially white light. There is dizziness, poor condition of hair and nails, when they often fall out and break. Dry skin, prone to the appearance of various pustular rashes, has a reduced ability to self-cleanse. Also signs of vitamin deficiency are psychological states: irritability, drowsiness.

In this case, before taking any vitamins or mineral supplements, it is advisable to undergo a cleanse of parasites in the intestines. There are special drugs. After this, begin to restore your vitamin and mineral balance by taking an element that is very quickly depleted in the body, but is vital for it - iodine. Iodine is involved in all reactions of the body - in protein synthesis, in protecting the immune system, and so on.

Very often there is not enough of it, because iodine is actively removed from the body during stress and other conditions, and there is not much of it in food. The amount of iodine in meat and plants depends on how much it is contained in the soil. It is advisable to take magnesium and potassium supplements, which help the functioning of the heart, muscles, nervous system, and B vitamins, which help to properly transmit impulses throughout the nervous system.

Whether they are synthetic or natural is not as important as their ratio, because the molecule itself remains unchanged. You need to understand that synthetic vitamins may have additional additives added to them, just like medications. You call them dyes, fillers, preservatives that maintain a long shelf life. Vitamins can oxidize in air and can react with each other. To do this, they put special substances that prevent this, so that they do not spoil.

All this can have an unpredictable effect on your body, ranging from allergic reactions to some kind of intoxication. If you, for example, cannot tolerate titanium dioxide compounds, which are found almost everywhere, hives or an exacerbation of herpes may begin: this substance will begin to come out through the skin.

Natural elements (if the food is familiar to you, there are no allergic reactions to it) are preferable. In order to receive all the necessary vitamins and minerals in food, microelements and macroelements without synthetic additives, it is necessary that the food be varied, not plentiful, so that there is no monotonous nutrition. Monotonous, but plentiful and frequent meals lead to an excess of some substances and a lack of others, and it is important for the body that everything comes in balance. Moreover, in an individual balance for you, because you may already have these substances in stock.

It is very important to listen to your Higher Self through the body. I recommend that every person master the practice of communicating with internal organs . For example, to the liver, which is the energy station of the entire body, as well as its supply of nutrients and a library of knowledge about its organs. Biochemical reactions take place in the liver, which even affect the toes. All information, all substances that are in the blood and lymph pass through it. That's why talking to your liver is important. Contact occurs with a cluster of liver cells that work under the guidance of a single mind, although this would be an imprecise expression. It is rather part of the instinctive mind. If you look more deeply, of course, your Higher Self answers. When you turn to your liver, fill it with Light and ask what it likes, your energy will go there and renew your cells. Through it, the Higher Self will give you an answer about what food suits you, what doesn’t suit you, and what you can replace it with if you don’t like it.

To get these substances in sufficient quantities, you need a varied diet. It is important that it is fully absorbed. It is advisable to eat food often, but in small portions, so that there are enough enzymes to extract vitamins and minerals from food, from the compounds that are there, and transfer them into your blood and your cells. The optimal meal for you is approximately five to six times a day, but in small portions. Between meals, fluid intake is required.

The optimal ratio for most people, but not all, is: 70% plant foods, 30% animal foods. By “animal” I don’t mean just meat. This is 15% dairy products, including fermented milk, cheeses. Milk contains many different substances. In addition to proteins, fats, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals, it includes hormones and hormone-like substances for young animals. They have the ability to help renew human cells and support their immunity. Milk that has not been subjected to long-term temperature treatments, maximum pasteurization, and no preservatives are especially helpful. Powdered milk contains proteins, fats, calcium, but it does not contain the substances that are necessary to maintain immunity.

Waste does not come from food, but from cells that break down in your body. A certain amount of ballast remains from the food, which goes down below. If another portion of food comes from above, this will encourage peristalsis to push down. Therefore, constipation in fasting people is common, especially if a person has weaned his intestines from contracting with enemas. Not because he has little food. He may have stool in his lower colon. But due to the lack of food intake in the morning or when he has not eaten food, the gallbladder does not contract, there is no release of a certain amount of bile, it does not stimulate the intestinal walls, it does not contract.

I have seen enough such people in my research. I studied people who fasted, did enemas, washed out all the microflora from the intestines and said that they were “cleansing themselves of toxins.” I told them that in this case it is necessary to take certain microorganisms protected in gelatin capsules when dysbiosis has arisen in the small intestine. They may not reach the thick one, there are pancreatic enzymes there. It was necessary to prescribe Lactobacterin with Bifidumbacterin in rather high siphon enemas, after cleansing ones.

As for cleansing from toxins, if you eat five to six times a day, you will, on the contrary, stimulate cleansing. Again, it depends on what you eat. If you eat sausage, sweets or flavored chips, you should eat them after eight hours to cleanse your liver. I'm talking about regular food that is available to everyone. Chips, lemonade, candy, sausage, alcohol - this is not everyday food. Even in Soviet times it was considered a holiday food. They didn’t buy lemonade for the child every day; it was a holiday for him. In this quantity, if it is a holiday food, it will not cause harm.

Waste is the toxins that remain from your dead cells or from cells destroyed by microbes and parasites, as we have already discussed. Or, if a lot of substances are supplied that do not have nutritional value, but are preservatives, dyes, and other substances that protect against fungal infections.

If minced meat sausages are stored in the refrigerator for more than ten days, cold-resistant molds can feed on it and turn it into an unappetizing piece of meat with mold blooms and a very bitter taste, full of toxins that destroy the liver. People won't want to eat this, so they add a special antifungal substance to it. Once in the body, it is considered a waste product, as it has no nutritional value. It begins to destroy Candida albicans in the intestines, but the same Aspergillus can grow in place of its colonies. Especially with reduced immunity. Especially Aspergillus flavus.

He (MidcasKaus) calls three substances slags:

> Those that are formed from the destruction of our cells. These are substances that could not be processed into useful amino acids, which remained unnecessary, like waste.
>
> Waste that is formed from what is destroyed during chronic inflammation in our cells or as a result of the action of microbes, viruses, worms, and so on. They destroy and release their toxins, which need to be somehow removed from themselves - metabolic products. For example, when a person eats something, he expels metabolic products in a special room. If it's a microbe, a protozoan, something like Giardia or Trichomonas, some kind of worm, then they don't have a special room, they do it in you. Where it eats, it gets rid of metabolic products. These are toxins for you, they have no nutritional value, they need to be removed.
>
> Substances that come with food - dyes, flavors, preservatives, antibiotics, and so on, they also have no value.

All other substances are not slags. As for the substances that are formed from the digestion of food, these are metabolic products, they are eliminated successfully. Your kidneys and other organs are designed for this. Metabolic products do not become waste as a result of digestion of regular food. This is already different.

Nitrogenous metabolic products have never been considered waste in our science. These are the products that need to be removed. The kidneys have a special nephron. In the nephron there is a special part of the cell that records the amount of nitrogenous substances in the blood and in the primary urine, which goes below. Only with this ratio, when the percentage of nitrogenous substances in the blood has dropped to a certain level, does this cleansing, that is, the passage through the nephrons stop. Nephrons are able to very effectively separate these substances from others, so only in certain diseases of the genitourinary system can there be an accumulation of these substances in the blood. Then they are also considered slag, since this begins to interfere with the functioning of internal organs.

Timecode: 42:00, #360 Neurology. How to get rid of anxiety? Panic attacks - contact with plasmoids? Reptilian genes.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

October, 2021

July 9, 2023

Afterlife of the Soul

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/posmertie-dushi

When the Soul comes out of incarnation, it remains approximately 40 days apart from its Higher Self, because it is clothed with the remnants of the etheric body, which we call the life force. While this force, etheric energy, is completely dissipated, it takes about 40 earthly days. But this is an average period, for some it is faster, for others it is slower, it depends on the Spirit itself. He lets go of this life force or “misses” the Earth, the material world, for an average period of about 40 days.

As soon as the Soul is freed from the vital energy that previously connected it with the body, it immediately merges with the Higher Self. This happens automatically. The large ball attracts along what used to be a spiritual channel, which for us goes from the top of the head upward. In the Spiritual world this becomes a thread. When the Soul is freed from life force, it is automatically attracted, the large ball attracts the small one, and they merge. This small ball dissolves into the big one. It is more difficult to explain than to show clearly.

At the same time, the Spirit feels as if it has become a thousand times larger. You began to feel more, you had more memory, as if there had been an expansion of consciousness, which at first of the part that was embodied, in the first seconds it seems that it is being inflated to the sides. And his consciousness merges with the consciousness of the Spirit. It becomes one.

Memories come of how he was in the Spiritual World, what incarnations he had before. These memories, which is very important, do not all come at the same time, but only when the Spirit turns to one or another part of his life; if all the knowledge comes from all incarnations at the same time, he will not be able to keep them in consciousness and will simply be divided into many different personalities. Therefore, they appear on request.

If the Soul has descended to low vibrations in incarnation, its disembodied part also finds itself at this level, because a change in one part of the Spirit automatically entails a change in the disembodied part, since these vibrations are transmitted through the spiritual channel.

If he is offended for the life he has lived, if he is offended for himself, it will not be the disembodied part that will be offended, it will be the one who is the result of the merger, the common Spirit, who will be offended. He realizes:

What did I spend my life on? (For example) I had to raise two sons, make one son a scientist, and the second a good family man, help my wife, who is now just my bride, and I drank a lot of beer, got on a motorcycle and at the age of 20 interrupted my incarnation. What did I even do? And my sentence was 70 years.

This is the understanding that comes. He begins to realize that he wasted energy, which not only he spent on incarnation, but also the plasmoids that helped him incarnate. And his Angels, who gave him energy from the Spiritual world for stabilization. Christ spoke about this:

“Talent to bury in the ground.”

It just dissipated into space, nothing remained. He just lowered his level.

Timecode: 50:29, #397 Live. Answers to questions from viewers of the Cassiopeia YouTube channel.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms;

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a sociologist, a specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world.

January 2022

July 12, 2023

Immunity from a subtle point of view. Pathogenic flora https://blog.cassiopeia.center/immunitet-patogennaya-flora

Bodily immunity is a reflection of the Spirit’s ability to purify, to raise its vibrations, to bring them closer to the Divine. This is a reflection of the omnipotence of God, his omnipresence. The Divine Spirit is omnipresent.

Also, immunity, in one form or another, permeates any cell of the body. It is included in the cell itself, any cell, not just the immune cell. Every cell has a protective structure, which is also part of the immune system. The purpose of immunity is not only to resist microorganisms and substances harmful to the body, but also to adapt and adapt to the effects of these pathogens.

I'll tell you that the immune system never strives to kill immediately. He strives first to come to an agreement and enter into symbiosis. This is common to varying degrees in all humanoid races. This is also typical for animal bodies, in general for the dense material form of life that I studied. This happens because, according to Divine laws, symbiosis is a better solution than parasitism and complete sterility.

It happens that it was not possible to come to an agreement with the pathogen (they agree, naturally, not with their lips, but with chemical formulas), and an immune reaction of rejection begins. When it will turn on in response to the aggression of antigens that have arrived in the body, and with what force it will occur - this is always a very individual question. At the level of the human body, the immune system is represented by bone marrow, lymph nodes, thymus, leukocytes, lymphocytes, monocytes, basophils, neutrophils and eosinophils. Each of these species plays a different role in the immune response and its regulation.

The immune response includes recognition of the antigen, its neutralization, the conversion of protein substances of microorganisms into their own and the removal of toxins, those substances that were formed during this digestion. Naturally, storing the antigen in order to start an immune reaction before a significant number of body cells are damaged.

The immune response also includes the restoration of tissue structure after this attack. If these are damaged cells, dissolved by the digestive enzymes of bacteria, and they have already experienced necrosis, then normal immunity transfers them to a state of autolysis. Amino acids are directed to their destination, ammonia nitrogen compounds are excreted through the kidneys, etc.

If the immune system does not fight this pathogen, but is in symbiosis, then the person will not have the disease. He will not feel this state. The cells of the body will not be damaged, they will be in symbiosis. Pathogens will give away something useful, and the body will voluntarily produce something useful for them.

What you call pathogenic flora is no more than 1-1.5% of all flora on Earth. Microorganisms that have now become pathogens were in earlier times the same opportunistic flora and took their place in the niche of microorganisms, solving some problem. For example, at Esler we pay great attention to the study of microbiology from the point of view of subtle worlds. Let's look at why plasmoid civilizations created this or that type of microbe. What problem did they solve, and how does it help them, for example, to correctly manage the natural elements of nature, some animals, their food, etc.

Microbes in the human body

A microbe that enters the human body is not just some kind of irrational force that acts like an automatic robot. They have their own system for communicating microbes with each other. Even if they do not have a nucleus (nuclear-free microbes), they still have a communication system. This is not a nervous system, like that of multicellular organisms, but an energy analogue. They may not necessarily touch each other. Microbes of different types located in one person are connected with each other by some kind of communication.

The goal of microbes, as living beings, is to give birth to another generation, to undergo a certain evolution. To obtain food for oneself in order to give birth to the next generation, so that certain group animals of the Soul can incarnate in them. Souls of microorganisms are called group souls.

If a person dies from an infectious disease caused by microbes, the task of the microbes will not be solved. They, as soon as the tissues begin to disintegrate, will lose their ability to continue in their generations further. Death from infection is always a failure not only for the Spirit, which came out of incarnation and went on to develop further, but also for the colony of microbes that lived in it.

We also explored the question of why regulation is disrupted, that the body dies or gets sick, suffers from a lack of nutrients, etc. Why doesn't regulation happen? We found out that to a large extent it depends on the human Spirit. Two different people with the same infection in the same organ will never have the same course. The condition of the patients will be different, the condition of the organs will be different, and the damage to these organs will be different. At the energetic level, immunity is provided to a greater extent by the etheric body. The first, fourth and fifth chakras of people are responsible for this. These energy points include immune control.

You have a lot of people who have lowered immunity. This is a direct path to both cancer and viral pathologies of the respiratory system that we are now seeing. What you call a coronavirus (our scientists managed to find out) is the name given to more than 15-17 different types of viruses, which do not necessarily belong specifically to coronaviruses in topology. Similar symptoms make such diagnoses possible.

If coronavirus is found in any test in a patient with the same viral pneumonia, this does not mean at all that it is the culprit of the pneumonia. There may be another virus running in the background. Or even avian chlamydia (Chlamydia ornitalis), and sometimes even Chlamydia trachomatis. It may well arrive in the respiratory organ through the blood flow in leukocytes. This is possible with your immunity.

We investigated the reasons for this phenomenon, they are cumulative: spiritual, energetic and physical. Man is both Spirit and body. As long as this person remains in the body, the body is part of him. What affects the body affects the Spirit. And what affects the Spirit affects the body.

Causes of decreased immunity

There are many reasons for decreased immunity. There are physical reasons - environmental pollution and food additives that reduce the percentage of oxygen in the blood and change the hormonal status of the brain, such as aspartame.

Environmental pollution with various pathogens that people inhale - nitrogen oxides, carbon monoxide, etc., also reduces immunity, including local immunity in the alveoli of the lungs. From them, leukocytes begin to shrink and die.

Immunity is also reduced by radiation, long exposure to the sun, prolonged frosts, and temperature changes can also reduce immunity, because it does not have time to adapt, and imbalance begins. Also, of course, this is your spiritual state.

Depression, fear, and guilt suppress the immune system. Not just fear, but unreasonable fear. Fear that has grounds, that arose situationally and went away - this does not reduce immunity. Namely: chronic anxiety conditions, panic attacks, and certain anxiety-depressive disorders reduce immunity.

They also reduce immunity: anger, aggression, especially directed at oneself, non-acceptance of oneself, guilt, resentment towards oneself and others, sadness, despondency. To one degree or another, all negative emotions negatively affect the immune system, because negative emotions, thoughts and feelings arise as a reaction to the rejection of something from the world around us. The one who, with his Soul, rejects something from the world, crosses it out of the Divine plan, and himself leaves it, because he does not accept this world.

As I said, immunity is a reflection of the omnipotence and omnipresence of the Divine Spirit. A little bit of omnipotence, and partly omnipresence, there are two functions. If a person does not accept something in the Divine world around him, then he closes himself off from the energies of God's omnipotence and omnipresence, including a decrease in immunity, which is their material manifestation.

Timecode: 37:00, #359 Alien medical technologies. How to boost immunity? Nanorobots, extraterrestrial chips, brain.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

October, 2021

July 17, 2023

The concept of "death of the Spirit". Physical death. The finitude of incarnations.

---

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ponyatie-smert-duha-fizicheskaya-smert-konechnost

The spirit is immortal. He is a part of God, God's beloved child. He cannot die, cease to exist as awareness of himself. Spiritual death exists in the sense that the Spirit can leave high vibrations, from the Source of life, which is God, Love, Truth. That is, go into opposite energies and vibrations.

If he left life, then he came to death. Such death does not imply the cessation of his existence. This is the state of his Soul, his Spirit, his energy, when he denies everything, a nihilist. These are the levels of demonic planes from which Spirits also incarnate in order to return to the Light.

If the Spirit wants to return to the Light, he calls on his Consulting Angel, who descends to his “level of death” and says under what conditions, including those reflected in the natal chart, the Spirit must incarnate in order to come from death to life. In order to be resurrected to experience what the Apostle Paul wrote about:

“It is not I who live, but Christ who lives in me.”

"Christ" in the sense of "resurrected". The one who has risen.

The Spirit, which is one with Christ, conquered death. He defeated not only physical death, but also spiritual death. He did not conquer his own spiritual death, but all those Spirits who turn to him for help. The energy of his Love helps everyone come out of darkness. Everyone has probably heard the words “Christ the Savior,” but he does not automatically save, if you say: “Get me,” and he will pull you out, no. He helps you get out on your own. This is the way to help. This is not doing work for a person (his Spirit), but helping to harmoniously grow and develop, correctly appreciating the Light, passing through the darkness into which the Spirit has plunged itself.

So, the Spirit is immortal. The words “death of the Soul” and “death of the Spirit” are an allegory that means separation from the Source of life, which is God. But this is not the cessation of existence. Moreover, even physical death is not the cessation of existence of either the body or the Spirit. It's just separating them.

Physical death is the separation of the Soul from the body. But the body itself continues to exist in the form of elements, not a single quantum will disappear from it. Not a single atom will be lost from it.

It will go into nature. He will pass into other bodies. So is the Spirit. It will not disappear, but will pass into other forms of existence, and subsequently into other bodies.

The Spirit decides independently about the finitude of incarnations. He can stop his incarnations at any time. Stop at any level: at the first, demonic, or at the 24th. He may say: “I no longer wish to incarnate and will not go to choose an incarnation for myself.” Nobody will say a word to him. This is his complete right.

Whoever wishes to constantly incarnate and bring his Light, which he has achieved, into the world, or to achieve this Light, if it is not yet realized, this is also the right of any Spirit. A finite or endless incarnation, nirvana or samsara awaits you - only you decide.

1:42:26, #437 Astrogeography and the theory of earthlings. Conscious tourism. How does place of birth affect a person?

Archangel Metatron is a representative of the world of disembodied Spirits, an Archangel, one of the leading hierarchs of the Spiritual world in our Galaxy, distributing incarnations, a close friend of Krishna.

Largish is a representative of the Kryon civilizations, a plasmoid civilization of the 16th density level, harmonizes information between the third and 16th density levels of earthly civilization, controls the work of building the Earth's electromagnetic network, transferring energy from the Earth to space and from space to the Earth.

April 2022

July 18, 2023

What most prevents a person from being happy on Earth?

---

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/chto-bolshe-vsego-meshaet-cheloveku-byt-schastlivy

Mirrah Count (via Irina Podzorova) : Fears and doubts get in the way the most. They can even give rise to aggression, anger, resentment, and self-doubt. And fears are mainly generated by ignorance regarding the structure of the world, regarding Spirit and matter. Many fears, their root, lie in instincts, for example, in the instinct of self-preservation. All this affects the quality of life.

It happens that a person begins to fall into depression and despondency, although outwardly everything is fine in his life. Why is he unhappy? Because he has inner fears that everything he has achieved will be destroyed and he could die at any moment. When a person begins to often think about the death of his body, he begins to be afraid. This creates despondency and uncertainty in him. The only way here is acceptance. Acceptance of the fact of death, despite the instinct of self-preservation.

Any instinct is a program that can be corrected by the Mind. Then nothing will cause these fears and doubts in you, although outwardly everything in life is good. In order to “persuad”, “convince” this instinct, change its program, you need to be completely confident, believe in your spiritual origin, in the fact that you are Spirits, and in the fact that you yourself chose to incarnate here, in including his term. This is called mindfulness.

Irina Podzorova : I wish everyone, dear friends, awareness. And I also want to say on my own behalf that any life ends when you leave it, just as any trip ends when the transport arrives at its final destination. This is absolutely natural, and it does not depend on whether a person is happy or not. And if this is a fact, then we need to look at our inner content, at our feelings and honestly ask ourselves: “What level of the spiritual world would we like to get to?”

I remind you that the more trust, love, happiness, the higher the level. No matter what. Everything else is material circumstances that are very fragile. No material wealth gives happiness. Happiness is given only by love, that state of soul when God lives there. And not just when God lives there, but when we understand and feel it. I wish you to always understand and feel this, no matter what.

All of you have spent more than one incarnation in different worlds. Remember this. In any case, I love each of you, every soul, every Spirit born of God. I send everyone the light of my Love. You are all beautiful in your own way, we are all unique.

Final word in 115# Practice Light Body - astral travel to the ship of Ashtar Sheran.

Mirrah Count (Archangel Gabriel) - representative of the planet Burkhad, keeper of the Christian egregor, disciple of Jesus Christ, specialist in political science, ideology and the study of the influence of spiritual egregors on the material world.

Irina Podzorova is a contactor with extraterrestrial civilizations.

July 2023

July 19, 2023

How emotions form a block

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kak-ehmocii-formiruyut-blok

When a person experiences some kind of emotion, he spends energy on it, be it a positive emotion or a negative one.

If he experiences a positive, high-vibrational emotion, then he directs his energy upward, into his spiritual channel, which connects him with the Source of everything. With this energy he strengthens his spiritual channel and from there receives Light in the form of strengthening this positive emotion, strengthening the body, improving passage along the line of fate, for example, improving contact with his Spirit, with his Divine essence, with his curators. We call this “positive emotions go to God.”

Negative emotions, negative, low-vibration ones, cannot pass upward into this spiritual channel and begin to move around the body. If a person does not get rid of them using certain methods, for example, with his awareness (from what they arose) and does not work through the causes of these emotions (does not work through, which means he does not ask himself what their reason is, does not engage in introspection), then they form in the body blocks at the chakra level.

July 20, 2023

How to pray for suicides, how to help them

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kak-molitsya-za-samoubijc-kak-im-pomoch

You can communicate with his Spirit through the Higher Self. In church you can pray for them, but in your own words (without submitting to the ceremony), simply from yourself, with your prayers. This has never been prohibited. You just can't apply for rituals about them. Why? Because when they left because of suicide, they didn't leave because of a good life. They left in a state of low vibrations.

If this suicide was not due to the fact that, for example, a person was attacked. He killed you to avoid something, or, for example, sacrificed himself in battle - this is no longer considered a classic suicide.

Suicide is when a person is fine, no one attacks him, but he commits suicide because of his mental suffering, mental anguish. Torment and suffering are not just words, they are certain vibrations in his spiritual heart. If he kills his body, these vibrations remain in the spiritual heart; they do not disappear from it. He comes to the level that corresponds to his vibrations. If these vibrations are low, he comes to a low level.

When they pray for him in church, not just one person, but by attracting the power of the Christian egregor, then a lot of Light is sent to him, which begins to enlighten him, pull him out of there, figuratively "raise him." Just not to raise it to another level, but to raise his consciousness so that he himself wants to go to God in another incarnation.

He may not be ready for this. This Light can only cause him unnecessary suffering. We, that is, the entire Orthodox egregor, there are many priests there, we cannot ask the Spirit this. A priest cannot go to a Spirit who is facing suicide, who has left in low vibrations, and ask: "How will the Light affect you?" His faith does not instruct the priest to do this. In order to eliminate these unnecessary causes of some kind of suffering, they decided to remove them from rituals altogether.

Including, naturally, not to encourage other people who are one step away from suicide. They will think that such people are being prayed for, and this is justified. There were two goals pursued. Therefore, when you pray in your own words, this does not direct the power of the egregor. By this you send the Light of your Soul, this is your personal attitude.

When the egregor is strong, that's something else. There are many people there, many Angels, many plasmoid civilizations, everything is directed towards the Soul that has left incarnation. This may be like a bolt from the blue for him; he may not be ready for such vibrations at all.

How can I help him? You can pray for him yourself, you can imagine him. At the beginning, naturally, through the Higher Self, check whether there is a necrotic attachment to it. If there are any strong negative feelings, including feelings of guilt, feelings of resentment, a necrotic attachment may form. This interferes with the development of both you and the Spirit, and can cause various physical illnesses, because it is an outflow of energy. This prevents the Spirit from developing, because it also forces it to constantly remember you, the traumatic situation, and this does not allow it to analyze what happened in life.

Karmic responsibility comes. If there is a necrotic attachment, it is necessary to work with special techniques - they are all in "Cassiopeia", you can sign up . You can make an appointment with a master and check for necrotic connections, and, if there are any, break them; these practices are in Cassiopeia.

Then direct the Light of your Love, and not just direct, but say:

"I wish you bright, favorable incarnations in any of the Divine worlds, I let you go with peace and love, I wish you to increase your level, I love and accept you for who you are."

Timecode: 52:52, #393 MIDGASCAUZ'S COURSE IN THE SCIENCE OF IMAGERY! How to manage your reality? Visualization and the Higher

Self (online conference).

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms;

January 2022

July 22, 2023

Dualism of thinking

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/dualizm-myshleniya

Due to the bipolar structure of the brain, two-sided, earthlings are characterized by so-called dual thinking. Since childhood, earthlings have become accustomed to dividing into black and white, right and wrong, good and evil, pain and pleasure.

All sciences, all religions of earthlings are permeated with a dual worldview. Because of this, you have a greater tendency to division, to wars, to conflicts with those who not only pose a danger to you, but with those who disagree, who have a different opinion.

Because the consciousness of the Spirit, embodied in an earthly body, tends to demonize or denigrate an opponent who holds the opposite opinion. It is because of duality.

This is not typical for other races of the Interstellar Union. Many races have brains that allow them to easily develop multidimensional consciousness. They see the situation from different sides.

When the two hemispheres work synchronously, harmoniously support each other, and do not interfere with each other's signals, this indicates that the Spirit, which is embodied in this body, will easily overcome the duality of thinking and reach multidimensional consciousness.

Then you will see the world not in black and white, but in the colors of the rainbow.🌈

MidgasCaus, Cassiopeia Project

July 23, 2023

Consequences of using narcotic stimulants to expand consciousness

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/posledstviya-primeneniya-narkoticheskih-stimulyato

Some representatives of modern New Age practices like to hide behind Eastern practices, saying that they took yoga and wonderful spiritual traditions as a basis, while using various psychotropic substances, LSD, smoking weed to expand consciousness, believing that this is such an esoteric, “spiritual” " practice.

Are such New Age practices that encourage the use of stimulant drugs as consciousness expansion? Is this a development of spiritual practice or does it have some destructive effects?

As a biologist, I am against this practice. Because, firstly, the use of such drugs is usually not a one-time or two-time practice. Often this is a series of several techniques. Its first negative manifestation is that it has a negative effect on the physical body. These are those “extra” substances that are toxins and need to be removed.

The second, more global negative impact is that such substances expand consciousness and the range of perception of the spiritual worlds by artificially expanding the range of perception, not increasing spiritual vibrations, but changing the vibrations of the brain. That is, they act through the physical body, through the brain. But due to this, a person becomes less sensitive and less able to develop his consciousness and enter a state of meditative immersion, enter a state of contact with the Higher Selves, enter a state of astral travel on his own without these substances.

There is an addiction to the fact that these substances stimulate him to some kind of experience. A person already accustoms his psyche to this and over time becomes practically unable to experience any significant spiritual experience, spiritual experience without the use of such substances. Moreover, the doses will increase because the body adapts, the brain receptors become less sensitive to this substance. Thus, the second negative aspect is the delay in human spiritual development.

That is, it is not only physically harmful, but also retards a person's spiritual development. To develop in the light, a person needs to follow the path of his own development, raising his vibrations, his trust, openness, dialogue with the Higher Self, and so on, and not artificial stimulation, even in a state when you don't feel anything. If you don't feel the spiritual world, then it's no coincidence, you don't need to spur yourself on with stimulants, you need to deal with your blocks, dissolve them, turn to the Higher Self, and you'll do great, no worse than those who use these substances. You will experience much more pleasure when you merge with your Higher Self than from any chemical substance.

MidgasCaus, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien civilizations, planet Esler.

January 2021

July 24, 2023

Lifespan

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/prodolzhitelnost-zhizni

Life expectancy depends mainly on two factors related to each other. The first factor is your incarnation period, which you planned for yourself when you were in the Spiritual world. You determined for yourself how many earthly years you needed to complete the task of incarnation. And you not only determined how many years, but also how they would be spent: so many years needed to complete such and such a task, so many years to complete another task. You had it planned out like a chess game. But it is written not on paper, but in the mind, in your mind, in the mind of the disembodied Spirit.

You decided this together with your mentors, they looked at your plan, and since you came to embodiment, it means this plan was approved. Before incarnation, you were endowed with the amount of life force that you had to transfer into the body to activate it for a certain number of years. That is, in your body, in our opinion, your life span is already written down. This means that it is recorded at all levels: both in the aura and in the body at the DNA level.

In DNA, as in the DNA of any dense material civilizations, there is the so-called key of death. This is a piece of DNA that activates destructive processes in the body, causing an exit from incarnation. This key turns on after a certain number of years. And so that it does not turn on ahead of time, when you incarnate, you bring into your body a certain amount of vital energy, which charges your DNA and holds back the activation of this key. This is the simplest possible explanation so that you can understand what we are talking about; the process itself is more complex.

This period is determined at the moment when you have not yet been embodied. When you are already in incarnation, of course, it is possible to change it in the direction of either decreasing the number of years of incarnation or increasing it.

How to change? If you want to improve, you need to start fulfilling your life task in such a way that your mentors, your Angel Consultants see that in one incarnation you are working very well on yourself, on raising your level, and you can add more vitality for further implementation. So that you can do not just one thing in one incarnation, not two, not three tasks to solve, but so that you can start solving problems from the next incarnation that you have in mind.

What tasks do you mean? Not material, but spiritual. If you raise your spiritual level very well in incarnation, then you can be given additional vital energy so that you can further increase your spiritual level. Additional energy is given with the obligatory condition that you help other people do this. That is, to carry the Light, not just to be the Light, but to bring it to others .

Timecode: 51:49, #444 How to learn to feel energies? Irina Podzorova answers online questions from subscribers.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms;

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a sociologist, a specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world.

May, 2022

July 26, 2023

Why do some spirits choose difficult conditions for incarnation?

---

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/pochemu-nekotorye-duhi-vybirayut-sebe-slozhnye-usl

Sometimes some people go into a state of various kinds of addictions, begin to get involved in alcohol or drugs, pushing their life task “to far away”. In the spiritual world they see this and begin to create various “lessons” for them.

Angels can be sent to such people through incarnation so that people begin to take care of their children, through them show their unconditional love and follow this path, poisoning their body less, gradually taking the spiritual path. There are a lot of angels who are even ready to sacrifice their incarnation in order to “pull out” such people. They know very well that they will be incarnated where they take drugs, drink, fight, kill each other, and they will live in complete negativity. These angels understand that they will probably be raised in such a way that they will then hate everyone, but they will take care of them and love them. There are many such angels. For the sake of developing love in others, they sacrifice their incarnation.

Of course, there is a risk that such parents may interrupt their incarnation. But from the spiritual world one can see when there is a possibility that this will not happen and he will be born.

Irina Podzorova is a contactor with extraterrestrial civilizations.

January 2022

July 29, 2023

Changes in DNA during a quantum transition. Vegetarianism

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/izmenenie-dnk-pri-kvantovom-perekhode-vegetarianst

DNA changes during a quantum transition occur at a subtle level, that is, the etheric matrix of all DNA helices changes. And the transition of these changes to the physical level depends on a person's ability to perceive higher energies.

The gene that made earthlings from vegetarians into omnivores was introduced so that you could live and develop harmoniously on that Earth, on that planet, in the state in which it was 12 thousand years ago. But to eliminate this gene from your DNA, a quantum transition is not enough, because it was introduced at the physical level. You have had a certain percentage of Burkhadian genes replaced by the same percentage of Tumesoutian genes.

This genetics will remain in you. But due to the influence of the quantum transition, the person who perceives these energies will be able to control these genes with greater ease. This means he can eat any food he wants. Firstly, he will feel what vibrations suit him, and he will be able to more easily refuse those foods that do not suit him vibrationally.

He will not feel any strong desires that contradict his Spirit, he will more easily adjust his taste sensations, and will be able to feel, for example, the quality of food and its energy content. Whether it will be plants or animal products depends on the desire of humanity. And if the total choice of humanity in connection with the quantum transition is to switch back to vegetarianism, then everyone with the genetics that they have now will be able to do this.

Timecode: 40:03, #444 How to learn to feel energies? Irina Podzorova answers online questions from subscribers.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

May, 2022

July 30, 2023

About happiness in an imperfect world

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/o-schaste-v-neidealnom-mire

For human development (and “development” here is understood as advancement through levels), for upward advancement through levels of spiritual development, it is for this purpose that there is no need to create an image of an “ideal society.” If this happens, it means for some other purpose.

To develop your spiritual heart, it will be enough to create an ideal image of yourself, merge with it and develop Love within yourself. If you live in a non-ideal society that does not correspond to your ideal, something happens there that upsets you, then this only means that you have incarnated in those conditions in order to consider through society your own blocks, problems, attitudes that you need to change to feel like paradise is the place where you are.

If you have resentment, anger, jealousy, fears inside you, then even create for you a golden castle, any of the most beautiful material conditions, any friends, any loved one who will treat you like a goddess, you will not be able to be happy. It will only annoy you, that's all.

The kingdom of heaven is within you. If you feel like an Angel, a Divine being, then you will feel this paradise everywhere, even in the most difficult physical and material conditions, because you will have joy, happiness, an Angel in your Soul. They will be with you no matter the circumstances.

Timecode: 26:00, #393 COURSE IN IMAGERY SCIENCE FROM MIDGASCAUSE! How to manage your reality? Visualization and the Higher Self (online conference).

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

January 2022

July 31, 2023

Energy "prana". The influence of breathing on the human condition

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ehnergiya-prana-vliyanie-dyhaniya-na-sostoyanie

Prana is the universal energy. For us, this is a type of ether, a type of subtle energy. There is physical energy - heat, light, gravity, and there is subtle energy. Prana is one of them, or rather, it is one of them for earthlings. The Interstellar Union distinguishes 75 types of Prana, which are characteristic of certain civilizations.

There are 14 species of them on Earth, which are characteristic of humans and plasmoids. To distinguish them from each other, you need either certain devices that work according to the principles of the Interstellar Union, based on nanotechnology, or the sensitivity of the body itself, which can only be developed through the practice of communicating with different entities. This cannot be learned from books. A person must gain this experience himself.
What I really like about earthlings, and especially about ancient earthlings, is that they could make completely ordinary objects a tool for their enlightenment and improvement.

For ancient people there was little choice. There were no books. They could write on tablets, papyrus, or on animal skin. This was a labor-intensive process, so the transfer of spiritual knowledge was mostly carried out orally. The teacher conveyed to the student knowledge about how he could be physically, mentally and spiritually healthy, and move towards enlightenment. At that time there were no modern medicines or procedures that were typical for people of the last era.

Breathing - this happened to every person. This most accessible, simplest tool was used for all purposes - for physical development, for the prevention of diseases. For the treatment of illnesses and for mental health there was a method of breathing therapy. What you call mental illnesses used to be called mental illnesses, and certain breathing practices were also used. For spiritual improvement, so that, by establishing a certain rhythm and type of breathing, a person evokes certain states in himself.

The human brain is neuroplastic; it can build long-lived chains of neurons that remember information at the level of molecular connections. Having developed a habit for himself, for example, a certain rhythm of breathing and putting a spiritual meaning into it, a person at the level of brain neurons remembered that as soon as he breathed like that, this state would return to him. This was built into the conditioned reflex at the reflexive level.

Timecode: 12:50, #441 BREATH of the Universe for healing the Soul and body. PRANAYAMA technique. How to awaken the consciousness of the Spirit?

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

April 2022

August 1, 2023

MidgasKaus about the telegony effect in animals and people

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/midgaskaus-ob-ehffekte-telegonii-u-zhivotnyh-i-lyu

What you call “telegony” - this effect is present in the animal world. Thanks to the instinctive energy of those animal Souls that incarnate in animal bodies.

When connecting with the first sexual partner, a female animal takes into itself the energy of his Soul, its Soul, that is, it takes part of the partner’s energy structure into its energy structure. In the future, not always, but quite often, and depends on the amount of energy and strength of a particular animal, a change in the genetic apparatus of a female individual is possible, which at the physical level will lead to the consolidation of the characteristics of a male individual in its genetic apparatus for the rest of its life . The quantity and quality of traits, again, is very individual, not just for each species, but even for each animal.

As for people, this effect is present for you, but it is suppressed by that intelligent Spirit that goes to incarnation. Since you, like us, are governed not only by instincts, but you are a rational Spirit and govern yourself, then the Spirit that incarnates in the body also governs that part of the instinctive nature that it received from its parents. To put it simply: that child who is born from a father and mother in your world, by the fact of his origin not only from earthly parents, but also by the fact of his birth from God, therefore no longer belongs to the Spirits of his parents. And the baby animal completely belongs to its parents, since the rational Spirit is not embodied in it.

As for “sex with different partners,” my opinion remains unchanged. What you call sex is not an end in itself in our world, but only a reflection of those internal processes that occur in the Soul of loving people. Of course, our civilization is interested in having the same state of affairs in your world, since we believe that the physical sexual union of only a loving man and a loving woman can lead to healthy offspring and can eliminate all those misfortunes in families and in a society that produces an excessive passion for the sensual, physical side of the issue.

Timecode: 23:56, #15 Answers to questions from subscribers of the Cassiopeia group on VK (part 2)

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

September, 2019

August 8, 2023

Is it possible to cleanse and uplift low vibrational spirits?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/mozhno-li-ochishchat-i-podnimat-nizkovibracionnye

You cannot raise them without their will. You can wish it on them. If you see a low-vibration disembodied spirit in front of you - a demon, you can sincerely wish him with all your heart to rise in vibrations and feel the light of love that he is deprived of. Because he himself lowered his vibrations and became a demon. Something happened to him in one of his incarnations, for example, and he became one because he did not complete his lesson. Demons also incarnate, they also wait their turn to get out of this state. Having waited for their “turn”, they will incarnate in those worlds that their mentors will select for them, these are angels of the 22nd level.

No matter how the demon behaves, you need to understand that he feels bad without light, without the love that you experience if you are on higher vibrations than him. You can recognize in him the same brother in God, only he, unlike you, does not feel it. From a distance, one can say that he is spiritually sick with demonism. You can direct your light of love to him, fill him with it and sincerely wish to accept him. But he can refuse and leave. On the contrary, it will be like protection for you, but he will not be able to be in your company, he will feel bad from your vibrations.

August 10, 2023

Causes of skin diseases

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/prichiny-kozhnyh-zabolevanij

Like any disease, they have both a physical cause and a spiritual cause. What physical causes can there be for skin diseases? Firstly, these are various injuries that a person can receive from some objects, from high or low temperatures, burns, frostbite, some kind of scratches, wounds, some kind of physical damage.

Secondly, these can, of course, be infectious diseases. Certain influences of the microcosm, which is everywhere around us and upon contact with human skin, it affects, although I cannot call them particularly aggressive. The microcosm is its own life, which also requires food and reproduction, they also fulfill their task. And it happens that they meet a person, intersect in such a way that the person seems to them a very hospitable and favorable planet on which they begin to live. For a person, this is imperceptible until a certain period of time, then there are too many of them, and the person's protective resources are reduced. And we see, among other things, there are skin diseases that are caused by microbes. These are, for example, the same acne or boils. Or chickenpox is also an infectious disease that is expressed by a pronounced rash. These are elements on the skin that show that this problem exists.

There are also all sorts of toxic signs, such as poisoning, but these are something like allergic reactions. Allergic reactions also have their own reasons, they can be on the skin. This may be due to too much variety in a person's diverse parasitic flora, when the body does not have time to remove metabolic products. As it is now fashionable to say, "the body is slagged." Slags are toxins.

The second reason may be that the liver is not working fast enough to remove these toxins.

And the third is a psychological, purely spiritual reason without any damage. It happens that skin diseases and their causes can be purely spiritual without any parasites, without any damage. A person, for example, had no skin damage; all tests show a complete normal level of all microorganisms. The liver is normal, there are no parasites, I have cleaned myself. Everything is fine with him, but there are still violations, for no reason, so to speak. There is no physical reason.

This means that he has some purely spiritual reason, which shows something. It is for skin diseases (skin in the spiritual sense) that this is the border between us and the outside world. And if there are spiritual problems there, then this is a sign that our boundaries have been violated. We feel that someone next to us is violating our boundaries.

What emotions might this evoke? This can cause emotions of hidden irritation, non-acceptance of something, and not only of some person, but also of some situation. Perhaps himself. A person can criticize, scold himself, and from these thoughts he will develop a rash on him as a sign that he is not clean.

Skin problems in teenagers

Hormones are very closely related to the nervous system. This type of problem is still associated with psychology, more with spiritual reasons. Many teenagers, despite high levels of hormones, have clear skin. You have seen, and there really are such people. It is, indeed, a person who begins to change, begins to grow up, and his emotions manifest themselves very clearly.

The emotional sphere begins to swing from positive to negative very quickly. Either one hormone was released - he felt pleasant, then another hormone was released - everything began to irritate him. He still has to learn to work with these hormones and harmonize himself.

It's not for nothing that the words "hormone" and "harmony" have a similar sound. It happens that because of these emotions (the teenager does not understand what is happening), everything just starts to irritate him out of nowhere. Or he may suddenly feel attracted (quite definite) to a girl. Or a girl to a guy. In class, she may have thoughts about the most adult experiences she has ever read about. She herself is ashamed to admit this, she does not understand what is happening, and begins to scold herself for it. This maturation is accompanied by such thoughts, such feelings, and the girl or boy does not understand what is happening. Because of this, they may not accept themselves and their body. Or something begins to irritate them in their parents, in those around them, in school life. This is why it happens to them.

Surges of hormones, including sex hormones, are normal at this age, as it should be. Otherwise, the body will not mature to reproduce its offspring.

Timecode: 28:47, #456 Man is his own healer! Psychology of integrity. Alien gratitude meditation.

Archangel Raphael is a representative of the Spiritual world, the main curator of all healing systems of the Milky Way Galaxy, responsible for the training of plasmoid civilizations and non-incarnate Spirits, as well as the healing of Spirits embodied in dense material bodies.

May, 2022

August 11, 2023

Energy healing

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ehnergeticheskoe-celitelstvo

All existing healing systems can be divided into three types, excluding healing systems that use physical substances such as drugs, herbs, physical therapy and so on. If we are talking specifically about the impact of energies, energies of a non-physical plane, then we can divide them into three types:

> Healing with the types of energy produced by humanoids from different planets.
>
> Healing produced by various plasmoid worlds.
>
> Energy of the Spiritual Plane.

But all this is divided only in the minds of people, because often all three listed types of healing merge into one system, where everyone helps each other.

If we talk specifically about the method associated with subtle civilizations, then all plasmoid civilizations are characterized by a system where they see a person in the form of energy matrices or energy waves, and by investing energy in them, they charge this vital energy with their feelings.

They see a person as a ball and charge him like the Sun, like a star, the Sun transmits its rays. This life energy operates on the etheric plane, the astral plane and the mental plane. This is very similar to, for example, the Galaxy Light Network system, Reiki and other subtle healing systems.

How often you can apply is, of course, an individual question. The main thing is to do it consciously. What is consciously? This is when a person does not just come simply for treatment, but he does this by recognizing and eliminating the spiritual cause of his illness, if he has one. It is possible to use these energies not for treatment, but for the prevention of various diseases and to increase one's spiritual level. Sessions with representatives of subtle civilizations are a type of contact such as an exchange of information.

If a person wants to become a healer

In any case, desire is no longer accidental. If it has arisen, this will most likely be a signal from the Higher Self that there is such a program for incarnation. But sometimes a person can want this even without a program to realize it, acquire this desire already in this incarnation. Because if it doesn't exist, it doesn't mean that he can't learn it. If he wants, he can acquire these vibrations already here in incarnation.

They (editor's note: curators) understand the word "desire" a little differently than we do. We have a desire - I wanted, consciously or unconsciously, I just wanted. Our word "desire" is somewhat connected with instincts. That is, I wanted to feel good, I wanted to be happy. Our embodied part, the Soul, may want its own, as we say, "ego". Selfish goal.

They associate the word "desire" more with volitional action. Their desire is always in accordance with the Spirit.

Archangel Raphael says that even if the goal was not the Higher Self, to learn healing, then a person can still try to learn this, try to bring Light, goodness and healing to others, but on the condition that if he does this with unconditional Love, this is in in any case it will benefit him.

Before healing, you still need to work on yourself, on your blocks, on your consciousness, on accepting everything that is with Love. Because if a person is not cleansed of negativity, then he will not be able to purely transmit these energies. You need to first work on your rejection. Accept any person. Because if you begin to channel these flows through yourself to people (if you yourself have blocks), these energies will begin to heal you. They will start to clean you up. This may not always be timely in those situations when you are at sessions, you yourself may begin to cleanse.

What other sources can you get energy from? The healer can share his life force, or he can share the energy, the force that comes through him from different civilizations or from the Spiritual world, but it all passes through him. In any case, it will all affect the person.

If he himself has some illnesses, blocks, some specific psychological complexes, and so on, then all this can affect the patient only if he has something similar. By vibration resonance. If he has something similar, he can pull it from the healer, or the healer from him, they can exchange. If these vibrations coincide, they will intensify in contact. A healer is a person who comes into contact with the energy of many people. He begins to exchange energy with them. If he himself has something negative, then by meeting many people he will only strengthen this in himself. And if he has Light, then he will not attract anything to himself.

Timecode: 04:38, #456 Man is his own healer! Psychology of integrity. Alien gratitude meditation.

Archangel Raphael is a representative of the Spiritual world, the main curator of all healing systems of the Milky Way Galaxy, responsible for the training of plasmoid civilizations and non-incarnate Spirits, as well as the healing of Spirits embodied in dense material bodies.

May, 2022

August 19, 2023

Contact with your Higher Self

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kontakt-s-vysshim-ya

Like any learning, it takes some time and desire. It is necessary to meditate. But this is not just meditation, namely, going into yourself, in any of the ways that are proposed for the Higher Self. It is very good to use “I am” for yourself. You can repeat: “I am”, “Who am I?”, ask yourself questions. When you feel that you are Spirit, then you can ask yourself questions.

At first, it is advisable to turn on the microphone before this in order to record and save your answers. Then you will not need to open your eyes and be distracted from your inner world. You will ask questions out loud, and say out loud the first thought that comes to you. This is called “entering your flow.” Even if it seems to you that this thought is not relevant to the question, just say it. Next, if it is not clear to you, ask a clarifying question. You will be your own guide.

If you don’t succeed right away, neither the first, nor the second, nor the third time, do not despair. Remember that you did not immediately learn how to do well, quickly and efficiently those things that are common for you now. For example, when you were a girl and peeled potatoes for the first time, you did it very slowly, not as neatly as your mother. But if you stopped doing this and said that “I can’t do it and I don’t want to,” you still wouldn’t be able to do it.

There are still many adult women who do not know how to peel potatoes even like a ten-year-old girl who has already done it many times. And if she, even as an adult, does not want to do this at first slowly and sloppily, then she will not be able to do it even before leaving the incarnation. She will simply leave without this skill. Contact with the Higher Self is similar to this process, only it is not the hands that must work there, but the Spirit. This skill needs to be developed.

You can first read the mood “I am the Universe, the Universe is I” or the mood of Burkhad, then ask: “Am I?”, “Who am I?”, “Where am I?”, “What form am I in?” The main thing is practice, even thirty minutes of regular practice rather than two hours once a week.

Timecode: 35:04, #393 MIDGASCAUZ'S COURSE IN THE SCIENCE OF IMAGERY! How to manage your reality? Visualization and the Higher Self (online conference).

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

January 2022

August 22, 2023

Karma as the totality of incarnation experience

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/karma-kak-sovokupnost-opyta-voploshchenij

According to the teachings of the Interstellar Union, karma is not a static, but a dynamic process.

Karma is the totality of the experience of incarnations of the intelligent Spirit, which has incarnated in all worlds. Plus the experience that he has in his real life, the experience of his real body, its form in which he lives now.

Karma accumulates and is transformed only during incarnation. Any change in karma, qualitative experience, is possible only in combination with matter, because in the Spiritual world there is such a concept as the eternity and immutability of Spirits. Those. when we leave incarnation for the Spiritual world, we are there in the state that we achieved during our life in the body. Whenever you think about leaving your body, you will achieve it in the next world. This is the last state.

The essence of karma, as the experience of the physical body, as a reflection of the experience of this karma at the present moment in time, suggests that karma itself was not invented to punish careless, disobedient Spirits. Or they think that if a person has committed bad deeds, if he has sinned before God, then he must undergo suffering in order to cleanse himself. No, the point here is different. By lowering its vibrations, the embodied Spirit creates its body from those types of energies that are in itself, which it was able to accumulate over all its incarnations.

Karma is the tasks that you came to solve in this incarnation. This is the book where all your actions and their consequences in previous incarnations are recorded. Karma is formed every second of your life, in accordance with your choices. Karmic knots are those lessons that you did not go through in your past or current incarnation.

So he incarnated, through the etheric body he created the physical, which is a reflection of the etheric body. Then the person grows, adapts to this world, body, parents, world, environment. Then, at a conscious age, he has freedom of choice. He begins to realize his actions, because... he has accumulated enough experience in this body to enable his self-awareness. This happens at different ages. But usually among earthlings this happens at the age of 7-8, when the child goes to school and begins to realize what is good and what is bad. And from this moment on, his formation of karma, which was started earlier, continues. And, in accordance with the formation of karma, a change occurs in his physical body. He continues to create himself every second.

You yourself are a part of God. You created your body the same way God created the Universe. The body is a reflection of the image of the entire Universe. And you are the image of God.

Have you heard that you are the image of God? What you called the karma of the formation of illness is explained by the fact that the body is not formed in the light of God, not according to the rules of God, not according to His laws. We create our own body. Can this be called working out? This is a lesson, but it is not given for punishment or revenge. It is given so that the Spirit realizes what he has done and can make the right choice by going through these lessons.

Karmic reasons for place of birth

We remember the place of the generic egregor and its energy. Of course, there are always karmic reasons that led the Spirit to be born in this place, in this family, with certain qualities.

Which? What do we call karmic reasons? These are actions in past lives that led to the formation of character traits, but which (the actions themselves) are forgotten. They become character traits at birth. You know that even children born to the same mother, even if they are twins and were raised the same, are still different in character. These are karmic preconditions.

As for the location, this is a trigger. Some are born in a negative place for themselves, some in a positive place. This is a trigger for development. One can say, through harsh conditions of incarnation, or through softer ones. This also depends on karma, on awareness, on the desire to use the talents given by God in a positive way. You can ruin the most positive place with your negativity if you show jealousy, anger, envy, and fears there.

Karma is the tasks that you brought with you from past incarnations, and which you must study here in this (incarnation). You know from learning experience that new things are difficult. Teaching is always easier than studying. When you teach, you say what you know. When you study, you have to master something you had no idea about. This is in the field of information.

In the field of practical skills and cultivating new qualities, training is also required. But it goes through trials, because the experience of a happy life can lull the Spirit's ability to move forward, achieve and want something.

Karma is what the spirit consultants who gave you the opportunity to incarnate here suggested to study.

Timecodes: 01:27:20, #131; 1:40:10, #437; 06:07, #9.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the astral world and its interaction with the material world.

August, 2020

August 23, 2023

Spiritual cause of blood disease. Hemophilia https://blog.cassiopeia.center/duhovnaya-prichina-bolezni-krovi-gemofiliya

Blood is a symbol of the energy of life. If a person has a blood disease, then he does not accept something in life, in the world around him. There may be some judgment. Or he feels resentment towards someone. You may have heard the Russian expression “You spoiled all my blood.”

They say this as a reproach that she got on his nerves for a very long time. There is also the expression “to strain one’s nerves” or “to spoil the blood.” This is some kind of strong insult. We are talking specifically about spiritual reasons without physical ones.

Hemophilia is a genetic disease that is transmitted from women. Moreover, women have such a set of chromosomes that they are carriers of these genes, but do not suffer themselves. Although there is a form of hemophilia when both women and men suffer. We're not talking about her now.

What is hemophilia? This is poor blood clotting. Humans do not have the necessary enzymes. In general, blood clotting is a very complex multi-stage process, which consists of 15 indicators. If a vessel is damaged, one enzyme should be released from the platelets, which should act on the second, which should act on the third, and so along the chain everything should reach the liver enzymes. One enzyme reacts with vitamin K, and a very interesting reaction takes place there.

And only then thrombin is released from one blood protein (prothrombin, in my opinion), it reacts with this substance that comes out of the platelets, and in the end fibrin threads are formed, the so-called protein, which becomes thick. It is formed in the form of microscopic threads; it is clear that you cannot see them with your eyes. Blood elements become entangled in these threads: red blood cells, leukocytes, platelets become entangled, and a thick blood clot is formed that clogs the damaged vessel. This is why bleeding stops if a person is genetically in order, from birth there are all the factors that were passed on by the parents.

If any gene that encodes the secretion of a protein in any of these chains is disrupted, missing, or its production is impaired, then this enzyme will not be produced. One or more. And this whole chain turns out to be broken. In humans, blood clots very slowly due to completely different enzymes. If the damage is severe, it may not curl at all. A person's blood will simply flow out, even from the slightest injury.

How did Tsarevich Alexei get this disease? His mother was born from a family with hemophilia. This comes from women. And who suffered from hemophilia? The same queen who was Queen of Great Britain. This is his grandmother or great-grandmother. Queen Victoria, as you may have heard, has all her sons and grandchildren with this disease.

What caused this genetic defect? Because there were very often close family ties in royal families. Close relationships are when energies are exchanged and very close relatives come into contact. When conception occurs and genetic information is exchanged between the mother and father of the child, the same, very similar genes may come into contact with each other in the wrong way. This causes diseases hidden in the family to appear.

Any genus that currently exists has some hidden defects of its own, because any DNA molecule contained in cells undergoes mutations, even simply from life. Because the cell is constantly dividing, our DNA cannot constantly copy itself correctly millions of times. There is still some hidden small defect. And it will be hidden for thousands of years if there are no closely related ties. If they exist, these defects (one similar gene plus a second one) will overlap each other, and a common mutation occurs that leads to such diseases.

Now we come to the Spirit. The spirit incarnates into this body with a genetic defect. Did he know about this? I feel your question.

Yes indeed. When the Spirit chooses incarnation, he knows about this disease, about this genetic defect, and he voluntarily agrees to go through this lesson (for the Spirit this is a lesson) - to go through his incarnation in this sick body.

For what reason? It happens that this is individual for the Spirit, but this is very rare. More often than not, this is a shared lesson with the parents who conceived it.

In practice, merging with the Higher Self occurs in such cases. Various congenital genetic diseases, but not hemophilia, but others, like cerebral palsy or autism, also have congenital forms. The Spirit agreed in advance with his parents back in the Spiritual World that they would be his parents, that they would be born earlier and meet in such genetics that such a mutation would appear. And it is he who will be born to them to teach them a lesson of care and love.

Often this Spirit comes from the angelic level. If you think that these are terrible sinners from the lower levels, then this is not always the case, although it does happen. It happens that a child is from the angelic level, and his parents are from the average, even low. Why is that? Because this child came to teach them selfless Love.

Because when a child grows up, he will not be able to repay his parents with anything. He is sick. And it even happens that this Spirit sacrifices its incarnation, its goals and is born in a sick body, knowing in advance that it cannot achieve anything here. He will simply live as a disabled person in order to provide an opportunity to take care of him.

And it happens that if a Spirit has incarnated from a low level, then this Spirit also goes through its own lesson. It happens that he lived in some kind of body and was a tyrant, for example. He mocked people and did some experiments. Maybe he even lived on another planet. He made them mutants, and he himself was born in such a body so that he could experience such a life.

There are many causes of congenital genetic diseases. They are hidden in past lives. We are now talking about “karmic” reasons. This may indeed be karma, not necessarily heavy, or revenge of the Higher Powers, no. It could be another reason. You should always look individually. These are just examples.

Timecode: 10:53, #460 Life of the Spirit in a genetically diseased body. Hemophilia, endometriosis, HIV. How to forgive for grievances?

Archangel Raphael is a representative of the Spiritual world, the main curator of all healing systems of the Milky Way Galaxy, responsible for the training of plasmoid civilizations and disembodied Spirits, as well as the healing of Spirits embodied in dense material bodies.

June, 2022

September 4, 2023

Goals of spiritual development

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/celi-duhovnogo-razvitiya

The goals of spiritual development are to increase vibrations in order to coincide in vibration with the Creator. Together with Him and in Him, create worlds and support them. How exactly can one achieve a coincidence with the vibrations of the Creator? To do this, you need to know the vibration characteristics of the Creator himself.

For representatives of the Interstellar Union, there is a teaching that teaches that the essence of the energy vibrations of God, the Creator, is the Light of Love, that is, we can translate the characteristics of this energy in Russian as “Light of Love.” The word “love” here means a slightly different state than what modern Russian people are used to understanding. For you, the word “love” means many different states. Ancient languages were much more precise in this regard.

What we call the fundamental energy of the Creator is that love that exists on its own, in itself, and it is capable of shining. She is Light. Spiritual light is, of course, not physical. The visible light of the stars is only a reflection of the Spiritual world, the world of Love.

What characteristics does it have, besides light?

First, this is unconditionality . What we call “loving” is simply because you love. Not because some benefits, pleasures or career advancement will be offered for this, even on the spiritual career ladder. Careerism and love are very poorly combined because one presupposes selfishness, the other - unconditional return.

“Unconditionality” is when it is impossible for a lover not to love, such is his nature. Regardless of how those he loves respond to this love. With gratitude, indifference or even rejection.

Second condition. Since this is unconditionality, then this condition, in your language, is called “patience,” self-restraint in something. In Russian, you have the word “selflessness,” which implies an unselfish, sincere giving of oneself to everything that is.

Why are such conditions possible? Because when you simply exist and you simply love, you raise your vibrations and begin to feel boundless happiness, which is the state of God, the Higher Self. After all, He loves absolutely everyone. Even those who, in response to the life sent to him, kill other living people or themselves, take their own lives in response to His gift made out of love. But God, even after that answer, does not cease to love this Spirit and continues to send him life in the future.

Or, for example, in response to the rising Sun - the gift of light, the gift of life, people, instead of thanking Him, begin to destroy the nature around them or each other. Despite the rising Sun, the soldiers go to fight, they do not see this gift, they do not feel it and do not thank it. But this does not diminish love. This state is considered the highest in energy in the Universe. And spiritual development specifically consists in achieving this state.

Methods for this are very different: religious, esoteric, within the framework of more secular atheistic movements. All this is done for different characters and beliefs. What is the character of the Spirit? His beliefs, emotional reactions to everything that happens, and so on. For each Spirit there is only its individual path of arriving at this state. It can either coincide with the individual paths of others or diverge.

In general, specifically for spiritual development, you need to love with unconditional love. What is love? It is to endure, believe and forgive. Usually these three characteristics in Russian are included in the action of this love. Forgiveness for what seems unfair, patience is needed in order not to leave this path, to hold on to it, faith, trust, openness are also a necessary attribute of love.

Love yourself, loved ones, those around you, God. One who begins to love people usually soon has the experience that God exists in any form. This may be in the form of a spiritual revelation, in the form of a change of belief. Man, one way or another, understands that there is a Creator. When he understands this, the increase in vibrations consists of love for Him. And in love for nature, space, for the natural forces that provide the material existence of our bodies: earth, water, and so on. These are also elements. On many planets they are treated as living entities.

In fact, this is true, in a sense. Because they are controlled by plasmoids - Elemental Spirits. Therefore, treating the land and water with respect (that is, not simply consuming these resources, not like predators, exterminating them, but taking all measures to reduce the pollution of these elements) is also a manifestation of love, this time for nature.

Selfishness is misunderstood and misunderstood self-love. Man misunderstands love. He understands love not as selfless giving, but as simply giving pleasure to someone, for example, to himself in something. Everything comes from this misunderstanding, from instinctive programs, plus it is reinforced by the low vibration of the incarnate Spirit itself. This leads to the fact that love, so understood, begins to manifest itself through the instincts of the body and leads the embodied Spirit to search for various pleasures, pleasures beyond the limit, which are necessary for life in the body, for example, or which interfere with the spiritual development of a person.

The person understands that this thing is stopping him. Nevertheless, he is ready to accept the fact that his spiritual development will stop, he is ready to exchange it for these pleasures. This is his free choice, to which he has every right. No one will condemn him for this under any circumstances. You need to understand that a person's choice is free and holy, but any action inevitably has corresponding consequences.

If a spiritually developed person sees that the behavior of destructive people interferes with the work he is doing, he must prevent it. Naturally, without negative emotional reactions. Trying with love, with patience, with understanding is not only to explain to this destructive person the correct positions, but simply to find out the reason why he behaves this way. Sit down, talk and explain to him that his behavior is destructive, first of all, for himself.

A highly developed Spirit needs to explain:

“I’m not angry with you, I’m not offended by you. But your behavior prevents me from bringing this Light to others. Sorry. I do not have the opportunity to give you material resources in the amount that you need. Only because there are other people who are no worse than you, and to whom I should pay my attention.”

All this must be explained without negative feelings, from the position of a sound and sober mind.

Timecode: 14:11, #43 Skype conference of contactee Irina Podzorova with ufologist Maxim Bronevsky (part 4).

Raom Tiyan - representative of the planet Burhad, specialist in energy interactions in the environment;

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien life forms.

February 2020

September 6, 2023

What does a negative Rh factor mean in humans?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/chto-oznachaet-otricatelnyj-rezus-faktor-u-chelove

The primates from which we evolved according to Darwin's theory have only a positive Rh factor. They do not have a negative Rh factor. What does a negative Rh factor mean in humans on Earth? Doesn't this speak about his alien nature or some other things?

Rh factor is a certain protein that is part of the blood. It may be absent or present. Most earthlings, like those ancestors from whom hybridization resulted, have this factor in their blood. We have not conducted such studies, but our scientists have suggested that this mutation occurred even before the war (https://t.me/cassiopeia_publish/145), thanks to which a person was born with a missing factor, and he began to pass it on to inheritance . Some of our assumptions suggest that the mutations were point-like in different areas of the Earth. And some say there was only one.

The aliens who were on Earth (Burkhadians, Tumesoutians) do not have this factor in their blood at all. They don't have that kind of protein. This was only the case with your earthly primate. There are assumptions that such a mutation occurred from mixed marriages with the Tumesoutians and Burkhadians. It’s not that the absence of this Rh factor was inherited, but that it could affect the DNA. This is just one of the assumptions. There are also many theories about spontaneous mutation. There is a fact that this factor is absent among the Tumesoutians and the Burkhadians, because they did not evolve from terrestrial primates.

September 14, 2023

Purpose. Criteria for assessing a person’s fulfillment of his purpose

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/prednaznachenie-kriterii-ocenki-vypolneniya-chelov

The purpose of a person is those spiritual tasks and lessons that the Spirit intended for himself or planned for himself before incarnation. This is information that Spirit needs to learn in this life; these are the karmic knots that need to be untied; various blocks that need to be dissolved that prevent the Spirit from realizing itself as the Divine Light.

Globally, the purpose is to increase the level, increase the spiritual level and make oneself like God, God the Creator. Full expression of creativity. The ability to love, create and rejoice, to be happy. This, one might say, is a global destination for all Spirits.

Why these particular destinations? Because it is in accordance with the will and purpose of our Heavenly Father, who is the Absolute Spiritual Mind. This is what he wants for his children, that is, for all of us. The Russian word “destination” even speaks about this, because the word “destination” comes from the verb “appoint”. To assign means to choose a task for yourself. But the preposition “pre” comes from the word “forward”. This means that destiny is choosing a task for yourself in advance, just before incarnation.

Fulfilling your destiny, completing a task will be accompanied by the construction of a series of events that helps to increase the level of happiness, the level of Love and, in general, all the light energies around a person. In a simple way: dreams come true easily, bright, harmonious personalities are attracted to this person, obstacles are removed from his path, any (at first glance random) cataclysms, catastrophes that a person can get into.

A person is given strength to fulfill his life's task. The more he does it, the more strength he is given. He further increases his spiritual level and feels that he is in the right place. This internal spiritual feeling of self-confidence that “I am doing exactly what I’m doing” is necessarily connected with Love. It’s just that confidence without Love turns into pride, and confidence combined with Love is a sign of fulfilling one’s destiny. If you are not sure that this is your purpose, then either you are not fulfilling it, or not fully fulfilling it, or you are not confident in yourself at all. You need to look to see if there are blocks.

The easiest way to know if you are fulfilling your purpose is to ask your Higher Self, your inner Light.

Timecode: 02:59, #477 ALL ABOUT PURPOSE. Webinar with Irina Podzorova.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

August, 2022

September 20, 2023

Suffering. Happiness

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/stradanie-schaste

There are people on Earth who strive for suffering. But they strive for suffering for a reason, but in order to punish themselves for something with their suffering (they have such blocks, for example, self-blame). Show yourself your defenselessness, show others your defenselessness, your pain, so that they give love, the energy of love. The ultimate goal of the desire for suffering is still to increase the level of happiness, even if only through the opposite energy.

What is happiness? Happiness is not just a feeling, a temporary emotion. Happiness is the same Divine Energy, which is found with God as Love, as truth, as life. This is basic Divine Energy.

When the Spirit was born in the Divine Light, it was born, among other things, from happiness, from the energy of happiness, from the energy of Love, from the energy of the Divine Mind. All energies took part in the birth of the Spirit. Happiness is not just some kind of emotional joy, it is a state of absolute harmony. What is called harmony and happiness are one and the same. This is a state of absolute harmony and peace with yourself, with people and with God.

The Spirit, when it is in the Spiritual world, it is on that spiritual level that is closer or further from the Kingdom of Heaven, as from the Source of Divine Light, from the world, as it is called in Esler, the world of the Divine presence, which is beyond the world of disembodied Spirits. The higher the level, the greater the level of happiness, namely causeless, as well as unconditional Love.

The spirit, when it is at high levels, desires an even greater level of happiness, because it strives to merge with the Father into one consciousness. And if the Spirit is at low levels, it suffers, firstly, from the fact that it has not completed its tasks, and secondly, from the fact that it is disconnected from the Divine Light. He feels it not as Light, but as fire. But the fire is not the one (like the earthly one) that is visible, but the fire that surrounds his spiritual body. And, naturally, he wants to get out of this state and, therefore, increase his level of happiness.

Timecode: 12:39, #477 ALL ABOUT PURPOSE. Webinar with Irina Podzorova.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

August, 2022

September 23, 2023

Spiritual development after 50 years

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/duhovnoe-razvitie-posle-50-let Spiritual tasks never imply the appearance or change of any material values. Spiritual tasks are raising the spiritual level. The spiritual level can be increased at any age, every day, simply by developing Love, the desire to help others and forgive, understand, develop mercy in oneself, naturally, depending on the level.

There is simply such a task - knowledge of the Universe, knowledge of the Universe for Love for it. You can begin to simultaneously develop your mind, taking in information from the environment about the Universe, about your body, about the stars, for example, about nature, about history, whatever interests you. And at the same time, thank the Creator of the worlds for creating all this. In the sphere of feelings, in the sphere of the spiritual heart, develop Love.

This is the most optimal way - to develop knowledge about the world around us in the sphere of the mind, and to develop Love in the sphere of feelings. In the sphere of emotions, you need to work on your negative emotions, dissolve the blocks that have accumulated previously. Negative blocks are converted into Light. And, naturally, in the sphere of the spiritual heart, communicate with your Higher Self.

You can start doing this at any age, and it is never too late. There are known cases where a person significantly increased his spiritual level and awareness in just a few days.

Timecode: 09:43, #477 ALL ABOUT PURPOSE. Webinar with Irina Podzorova.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

August, 2022

September 28, 2023

The Spirit of Sigmund Freud on Love for an Unloved Thing

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/o-lyubvi-k-nelyubimomu-delu

It is possible to love anything if you develop Love in yourself. Love itself does not come.

In order for Love to come to a cause, it is necessary to determine its meaning, its purpose as important not only for the person himself, but also for all of humanity, that is, for society. Until you compare your personal benefit with the public benefit, you will not be able to explain to yourself the meaning of what you are doing. But Love appears as the highest level of consciousness in the performance of one or another action.

If you don't like something, but for some reason you do it anyway, this is a reason to ask yourself a few questions. The first one is: why did you agree to this action? And the second question: do you have a choice to do what you love (only this) and not do what you don’t love?

From the experience of my life on Earth, I will tell you that it is impossible to always choose only what you love and not choose what you do not love, especially in modern society. All the same, there will be an action, a deed for which it will be necessary to develop Love.

The development of Love for different spheres of activity, for different spheres of society is a necessary evolutionary process for every Soul. If you don’t like something, this is a sign that you should communicate mentally with your mentors, with your Higher Self, in order to find out why this was sent to you, why such a chain of events took place that led you to this matter. It is very easy to do a job that you love, but if you have a job that you don’t love, this is not a reason to immediately give it up so as not to experience inconvenience, this is only self-deception. If you have not learned Love in this matter and refuse so as not to cause inconvenience to yourself, this is self-deception, this is a refusal to develop.

Timecode: 23:11, #474 Communicating with the Spirit of Sigmund Freud: a look at psychology from the Spiritual World. True freedom of the Spirit.

The spirit of Sigmund Freud (Freud).

July 2022

October 7, 2023

Cosmohealing - energy prevention of body diseases

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kosmohiling-ehnergeticheskaya-profilaktika-zabolev

Cosmohealing helps in healing almost all diseases of the physical body and disorders in the energy sphere, provided that the spiritual causes of the diseases that lead to a decrease in the vibrations of the etheric body and the appearance of disorders on the physical level are realized.

If this awareness was not there, representatives of MMS can temporarily support a person, fill his etheric, astral and mental structures with the Light of their love, their own energy, their positive attitude towards life. But if a person then does not change his attitude towards the world and his illness, this energy will dissipate and it will not last long.

In our Galaxy, this method of healing, or rather not even healing, is healing for you, but for us, the prevention of diseases of the physical body, its disorders of various organs, is quite developed. Energy healing, including at a distance, is considered by many civilizations of the Galaxy to be more promising than the chemical method. It is considered more perfect, since those initial stages of the disease and disorders that have not yet manifested themselves on the physical level are eliminated. A lot of children, for example, in the civilizations of the Galaxy use this method. Parents and children use this method. It is considered the most developed system of assistance to the embodied Spirit.

During the session, work takes place on the etheric level with the etheric matrices of internal organs. If necessary, the work takes place at the astral level, that is, a representative of the Intergalactic Medical Service (IMS) can fill a person's astral body with his feelings and emotions, if, of course, they are similar in vibrations. At the mental level, at the causal level and at the spiritual level, work also takes place in the form of hints.

A person is adjusted to the harmony of all chakras, all energy centers, so that he can more easily configure his spiritual channel for communication with the disembodied part of the Spirit. This is what you call the Atman level. At this level, there is no automatic attunement of a person to the Higher Self, but only assistance in connecting with it. And if the person himself desires it and strives for it.

Trust is important here, openness, love and complete acceptance of what will happen to you are important here. The inclusion of destructive emotions: fear, mistrust, suspicion and doubt prevents us from fully helping you, as it charges your auric field with energy that is incompatible with us.

In addition, fears can attract destructive plasmoids that feed on energy charged not with trust and love, but with fears and suspicions. How are they destructive? They are destructive in that, having received food in the form of your energy, they will provoke you again to release these negative emotions, helping you create your own blocks on the etheric-astral level, not paying attention to the fact that these blocks contribute to the appearance of diseases in the physical body. They are not interested at all. Even if they know about it, it doesn't interest them.

If you experience positive emotions of trust, openness, love, you charge your life force with these emotions, which continuously emanates from you even in the process of breathing and generating heat, and charge this life force with highly vibrational, highly spiritual plasmoid civilizations. And with this you help us, humanoids, to also complete the process of your healing.

Is it possible to force someone else to undergo sessions?

This will not give anything, even if you manage to persuade them, they will do it for your sake, and not for their own sake, it will not give any lasting positive effect. On the contrary, this can only negatively set them up for spiritual development in general. There should only be the person’s own will. All you can do is offer it to them. Further, you should not put any pressure on a person's free will, because this lowers your own vibrations.

Reasons for physical activity during a Cosmohealing session

It happens that energy does not flow freely through the channels of the etheric body, it stagnates due to certain blocks, and not only in the chakras, but simply in the etheric body there are some blocks that can be created by you yourself, by your interactions with subtle civilizations in past. Some kind of bindings, your own thought forms that you have long forgotten, and various programs of your mental body. All this can remain in your etheric body. When curators and MMS specialists begin to cleanse your etheric body with their energy, their vitality, for cleansing they direct energy through the channels of the etheric body, of which there are a lot.

Sometimes this process takes place calmly, and sometimes with a certain type of nervous activity, a person’s temperament and the type of his etheric body, this process is accompanied by muscle contraction. This is an absolutely normal phenomenon, a reaction to the impact on its energy. Your body may begin to make various movements of the limbs, breathing movements, head, turn, and so on.

In order for this healing process to be successful, it is necessary not to interfere with the movements of the physical body, but at the same time, position yourself so that nothing interferes with its movements. Naturally, if such phenomena occur to you, then at the time of treatment it is better to be in the room alone or with that person who understands what is happening, so that you do not have any impulse to restrain yourself.

The task of MMS is not only to help in the treatment of physical illnesses and to alleviate mental illnesses: depression, various kinds of psychoses, neuroses, mental disorders, mental pathologies, but also help in connecting with your Higher Self. Curators can help you on the path to the Light, they can give you information, can give you answers to questions about your life situations. To be your teachers and at the same time your students too, because we actually learn a lot from you too.

Video on the topic: #247 Answers to questions from the Cosmohealing chat. Health sessions of the Intergalactic Service.

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world;

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations;

Laatar is a representative of the Pleiades star cluster, a specialist of the Intergalactic Medical Service (hereinafter referred to as IMS).

April 2021

October 8, 2023

Constructive response to negativity. The spiritual essence of theft

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/konstruktivnaya-reakciya-na-negativ-duhovnaya-sut

There is no negative experience, there is only a reaction - negative or positive. Negative experience is negative only in the perception of a certain person. And if we look from the point of view of the Universe, from the point of view of the Universe, the Spiritual world, and especially God, we see that any experience is neutral. He is called to develop the Spirit, that is, to develop some qualities in himself in the mind, in the spiritual heart, in the energies of the Spirit, or to raise his vibrations, that is, to take low qualities and transform them into high ones.

The theft experience can be perceived in different ways. If you have a negative attitude, it means first: to show pity for yourself that you suffered, and second: to show resentment towards the one who did this. This is a destructive path that leads to the creation of blocks. Why? Because what happened cannot be undone. You can, of course, cancel it, for example, catch this thief, but this can be done with other emotions. These emotions themselves destroy the aura, destroy the body more than this damage that the thief created.

What constructive reaction will there be in this case, what constructive understanding, if we look from the point of view of the Spiritual world? One Spirit incarnate took something from another without his desire to give it back, that is, he showed violence.

Anyone who has shown violence, aggression in order to fulfill his goals, he has actually lowered his vibrations. And the already formed bloc certainly led him to this. Because of this block, he does not feel connected to the Higher Self. If he felt connected to the Higher Self, he would feel oneness with everything that exists. And for him to steal from another person would be the same as stealing from himself. Precisely because he had already isolated himself from the Higher Self with his blocks, which had already been created in him much earlier, he stopped feeling unity with all people in the spirit of the Divine Light, and committed this crime.

Crime means he has violated the Divine Law because he does not feel it in his heart. For those who do not feel the Law in their hearts, there is a state law, which, to one degree or another, depending on the awareness of the legislators, reflects the Divine Law.

A conscious Spirit who has been stolen, he understands perfectly well that the thief's separation from the Higher Self leads to suffering, leads to illnesses - not only physical, but also spiritual, mental, spiritual illnesses, lowering of vibrations. And that with each act of theft, he strengthens his block, convinces himself that it is possible to do this, that it is good. He lulls his conscience. And conscience is also a type of communication with the Higher Self. It moves further and further away from the Higher Self, strengthening this wall more and more firmly.

For example, an Eslerite in this situation would feel compassion for the thief as a Spirit, since he has Love for everyone, including Love for the Spirit that is embodied in this thief. The reaction would manifest itself in him as compassion, empathy and a desire to help get out of these vibrations.

How can he help in this case, if he was stolen, how can he help? True Love tells him that if he does not stop (if this is, of course, possible), the action of this thief in any way, as is customary in his state, then he will strengthen this Spirit that it is possible to do this. This will further reduce its vibrations.

He will do all the necessary actions: if this happens in your world, he will write a statement to the police (if, of course, the damage to him is significant). In order not to punish the thief, but at least to show him that he committed a crime, he moved away from God. If the victim does not do this, then the thief may commit a greater crime next time. Because he will convince himself that since society does not react to his such action, it means that it is part of the norm for him. This will no longer be Love for the Spirit, this will not be true Love. True Love will be helping this Spirit.

There should be no impunity, but at the same time there should be no internal resentment. Even if he wrote a statement, and even if the criminal is tried.

The victim works on himself. If he doesn't know who did it, he simply sends the Light of his Love and forgives:

"I forgive you, I send you the Light of my Love."

The person who steals loses a certain amount of his life force, equivalent to the value of what was stolen. He leaves it, it is sent to the owner of this thing. And since this all happens at the energy level, he then feels a strong loss of strength.

It is actually impossible to steal anything in the Universe - neither money nor things. You cannot lure someone out by deception - what you call "fraud", "quackery". There are scammers who do not steal directly, but introduce themselves as some people or a person who knows something, is able, or has some skills. And the person himself gives them the money because he trusts them, and his trust is abused. This is also a type of theft. But in fact, this money that he gave, he gave it away, but acquired the vital energy of this person. If he forgives him and sends him the Light of Love, then he will take this vital energy into himself. If he is offended, he will push her away.

But the thief will lose it in any case, equivalent to the embezzled amount. Money is a type of energy, it is a type of material energy that is equivalent to human labor, in this case. Any labor, any work in our material world is valued in monetary terms. Energy is wasted on this work. This energy is equivalent to what he stole directly (for example, theft), secret theft or open theft (in case of abuse of trust, when a person himself gives money, thinking that it is for a service, but receives nothing). For a thief, or a swindler, or a charlatan, a deceiver in terms of money, this can manifest itself not only in the loss of vitality, but also, for example, in the loss of physical energy, that is, in the form of health. It can happen in the form of loss of finances: they may steal from him, or something may break.

And not only him. If he has children under 14 years of age who are energetically connected to him, he shares this damage equally with them. They are in the same aura with him until he is 14 years old. For example, they may get sick or lose something. If a person realizes why this happened and returns this damage, then the fact that he realized this and asked for forgiveness, and forgave himself, and returned the damage - this is then returned to him even more as an increase for his awareness. God amplifies this positive energy he has put in. God, through his Angels, through his Higher Self, strengthens this energy to an even greater equivalent, and even more is returned to him. Why? Because He loves us all.

In the Universe, in the Universe, nothing can be stolen, nothing can be acquired for oneself without exchanging one's energy. The fact that a person thinks: " I will steal, and I will have more, and he will have less " is an illusion. Everything you do, you do in the face of God, in the face of your curators, mentors from the Spiritual World, in the face of all plasmoid civilizations. You do this in front of everyone, there is nothing secret. You can only assume that no one knows about it, but this is not true.

Timecode: 47:06, #480 Spiritual development of aliens. Preparation of the Spirit for incarnation. Earthly and alien psychology.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms;

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a sociologist, a specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world.

March, 2022

October 20, 2023

How to help a person who drinks alcohol overcome addiction. Archangel Metatron

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kak-pomoch-cheloveku-kotoryj-pyot-alkogol-preodole

A person who wants to help his neighbor stop drinking alcohol needs to harmonize within himself. First, talk to your Higher Self, calm down, forgive this person. And find out for yourself whose goal it is for him to stop drinking alcohol, yours or his? This is the first thing to do.

If your goal, but it does not coincide with his goal, then you must honestly admit that you cannot help him without his desire. And if this goal coincides with his goal, that is, he also wants to quit alcohol, but cannot, then you can help him. The greatest help that can be from you is to help him connect with his Higher Self, and find out the reasons (blocks) that caused him to block the Divine Light in his spiritual heart, and his body's active desire to enjoy alcohol. This already caused biochemical changes in his brain.

You need to understand that this person may sincerely want to quit alcohol, but may not believe that this is possible. He may become depressed because without alcohol he may feel physically ill (like an illness), because he has changed his biochemical metabolism, and he may not believe that returning to normal life without alcohol is possible for him. Although he may want to stop drinking.

Just as the Spirit tuned its body and rearranged its metabolism so that it worked normally with the presence of alcohol, a restructuring in the opposite direction is gradually possible, it is always possible. It is necessary to tell a person the truth that this restructuring of his body will occur gradually. As the natural filters of his body, his blood, lymphatic system and the endoplasmic reticulum of each of his cells are cleansed of those enzymes that contributed to the processing of alcohol, he will be freed from his mental attraction to it.

If a person made it clear that the goal of quitting alcohol is not his, he said clearly and clearly that he does not want to leave it, the loved one who is next to him must admit that this is his full right to this life. Give him freedom of choice, but at the same time give him the opportunity to experience all the consequences of his choice, and not experience them for him.

Timecode: 19:25, #465 Live broadcast with Archangel Metatron. Part 3.

Archangel Metatron is the Head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Milky Way Galaxy, Hierarch of the Spiritual World.

June, 2022

October 22, 2023

At what age does a person begin to influence his spiritual level?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/s-kakogo-vozrasta-chelovek-nachinaet-vliyat-na-svo

As a person grows and develops, he begins to influence his level of spiritual development. He begins to either increase it, or decrease it, or remain at his level. It depends on the choice of the person.

At what age do you think a person can start making choices?

At the age when he goes to school, then he will already be quite developed in logical thinking. It is believed that logical thinking develops when a person can learn to read, write, and communicate with peers. That is, from about the age of 7, but this is individual (from 5-8 years).

On average, we take 7 years, a psychologically healthy, mentally child who does not lag behind in his development, he can already make choices and influence his level.

What choice can he make? Not only whether he should eat candy or an apple. He can make a choice about what to do in certain circumstances. If he sees a tasty apple on the desk of his classmate, his classmate, he can already make a choice: take it without asking or not.

Remember yourself, at what age were you able to make such a choice? At 3 years old you can't make such a choice; such a child will take it if he wants, because he believes that everything belongs to him. But at the age of 7, understanding begins.

At three years old, a child can take his mother's passport and start drawing on it. But at seven years old, a child is unlikely to do this; he can already make a choice.

According to information from the lecture of the "School of Contactees" course at the retreat of the "Cassiopeia" project in Ufa.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

August, 2023

October 25, 2023

Why raise your vibration level? What difference does it make what vibration level a person is at?

---

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/zachem-povyshat-svoj-uroven-vibracij

Indeed, a very good question. What difference can it make if you feel bad or good? What difference does it make in what you experience? Probably, in order to compare two states, you need to try both, because not only on Earth, but also in the Universe and in the Spiritual world, everything is known in comparison.

That is why God came up with, created many different civilizations, the Universe, the Anti-Universe (https://t.me/cassiopeia_publish/54), various Galaxies, subtle and dense material worlds so that there was great diversity, so that we could compare life there, nature , vibrations.

In order to decide why you need to change vibrations and whether you need to change them at all, you must understand whether you are satisfied with the current level of vibration and not only at the moment. You need to understand that you can leave this body you are in now forever at any time.

You took this physical body only for a while; you composed it from the elements of the surrounding nature, which were provided to you by the Spirits of the Earth elements in order to undergo experience in this incarnation. But when you leave this incarnation, you will give this body back to the elements of nature so that they can decompose it into atoms for other bodies. Other Spirits must also come here for incarnations.

Therefore, to understand whether you should change your vibrations, imagine that in a minute, in an hour you will leave this body forever. Will this level of vibration suit you over a fairly long period of time, because in the Spiritual world any time feels like eternity.

There is a subjective concept of time, but it is very different from ours, which is counted by the clock, because nothing changes there. There the person will constantly be in the state that he achieved at the time of parting with the body.

October 28, 2023

Space Purifiers - people who carry the light of Divine Love

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ochistiteli-prostranstva-lyudi-nesushchie-svet

The word “space” does not mean physical space, but the astral atmosphere - this is the noosphere of the planet, where people’s thoughts, feelings and emotions gather. The noosphere generates physical space, but is higher in vibration.

Space purifiers are people who create high-vibration thoughts and feelings that go into the noosphere of the planet and, gathering there, form egregors.

The law used here is that a high vibrational thought is more powerful and can suppress a low vibrational one, because more energy is spent on creating a high vibrational thought.

It is a well-known fact that creating high vibrational states is more difficult than low vibrational states, even from an energetic point of view. Therefore, the path of spiritual development of beings embodied in matter is more complex than the path of spiritual degradation. What is needed here is love, patience, and their manifestation requires energy and a powerfully directed will.

❗The spiritual and moral level of the space purifier must meet the criteria of Christ’s Sermon on the Mount:

✓First, the attitude towards other people as we want their attitude towards ourselves; ✓Secondly, the memory that in their dignity before God all people are equal, no matter where they are, at least at the lower levels, including social existence, and at high levels. We are all children of God, no matter where a person is socially.

The space purifier must understand that the Light of love that he gives to people should not be dosed depending on the social, material, and other levels of those people in whose company he is.

Christ expressed this through the understandable image of a candle, that when it is lit, it is placed on the table in front of everyone, and it cannot hide. If one person sees a candle, then everyone else sees it. If in the material world a person begins to hide his Light from at least one person, then he hides it from everyone.

Space purifiers who spread Light around themselves and cleanse space from low-vibration energies have a measure of responsibility, since the Higher Teachers from the Spiritual World give them a greater flow of energies. The greater the flow of energy given, the greater the responsibility for its use. If a person degrades and begins to think negatively, then this flow can be directed towards the destruction of himself and the people around him. It is important to realize that the more a person is given, the greater the measure of responsibility.

Timecode: 39:14, #37 Agni yoga from the original source. Roerich, Blavatsky, Spirit. How to work with thoughts and raise vibrations.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

January, 2020

November 9, 2023

Can clues come in a dream, and how to decipher them?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/mogut-li-podskazki-prihodit-vo-sne-i-kak-ih-rasshi

Yes, naturally, hints for a person can come in a dream. In a dream, you come into contact with your Higher Self, with your curators. They can tell you, send you some image, send you to that part of the Time Tape, which, for example, is located in one of the options for your future. But it may materialize or not depending on your choice and, naturally, the influence of the people around you. Because it happens that someone makes a different choice, and on Earth everything goes differently than in a dream.

How to decipher dreams? You can rely on any dream book that you feel is true. But always check what you read there with the inner feeling in your heart. Because the dream book is written for everyone. This is a book that gives a general interpretation. And you are an individual person. And therefore, there may be nuances for you that are not taken into account in the dream book. The person who compiled it didn't know you personally. For you, some image may have individual meaning. So you can only rely on the information. And you only need to fully believe in your heart.

November 10, 2023

Causes of epilepsy

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/prichiny-ehpilepsii

What is called epilepsy has a completely different etiology. What we outwardly see as epilepsy may be a manifestation of hereditary changes in brain proteins, which provoke the appearance of foci of neuroimpulses in the brain, causing muscle contraction, loss of consciousness and everything else.

But this may even be a manifestation of contacts of some images with some form of mind. In any case, a person needs to look at what gave birth to this in him. May be a manifestation of intoxication, because seizures occur for many reasons. This may be an infection with a parasite, the same echinococcus. An hydatid cyst in the brain can cause seizures.

There is very strong energy from plasmoids from the center of the Galaxy. For them it is very high-vibration, not in the sense of spiritual vibrations, but in the sense of material ones. It happens that such energy is incompatible with the human body. When contacting such creatures, unpleasant feelings, unpleasant sensations in the body, burning, trembling, and epileptic attacks may also occur.

In this case, we are talking about a disharmonized connection with the plasmoid world. There are special techniques for restoring this harmonization. Without restoring harmonization along this link, it will be impossible to interrupt it. That is, first we restore a harmonious exchange so that a person more or less, at least 70 percent, assimilates this energy that suits him, no matter what it is.

These plasmoids simply share the same emotions that they have. If they feed on emotions of aggression, then in return they will give the same to him, simply because they have no other. This aggression or fears will intensify, but his physical manifestations will stop.

If this is a child, maybe he does not speak, then it is advisable for parents to get in touch with them. Mom or dad needs to reach their Higher Self. Talk to the child's Higher Self and harmonize the bindings using special methods. You can also use special essential oils.

It happens that when contact begins, electromagnetic signals arise in the brain, disrupting consciousness and causing convulsive attacks of various kinds. The energy of the aura of the etheric body is excited. Doctors usually call this an aura.

If a patient with some types of epilepsy, an adult is also a contact with plasmoids, if at the same time he loses consciousness, and his physical body is in a state of sleep, but only it begins to move, since these impulses spread throughout the body. These are impulses of such energy with which it is incompatible or poorly compatible. The spirit of this sick person is not in the human body, he already goes to the Astral level, he communicates with them there. But since the body is in a state of oppression, that is, it begins to emit pathological signals (various hormones), then when the astral body returns to the physical, what they were talking about is forgotten.

Since this contact occurs without the will of the person himself, he does not understand what is happening. He does not understand why he attracted these entities, and even more so he does not conduct a conscious dialogue with them. He cannot cause this contact himself; it comes to him at any moment. We call this unconscious contact, it is at the level of his sensations. When the plasmoid wanted to "eat", it came and ate. Night, day, it doesn't interest him. Or not to eat, but just to communicate, took him to the Astral in this way.

For humanoids, such methods are prohibited. It is these methods of withdrawal to the Astral, with the loss of consciousness of the physical body of a person who does not know how to do it himself, these methods are prohibited, for example, for representatives of the Interstellar Union. I (editor's note MidgasCaus), as a specialist, signed a special agreement, where I promised to abandon in my work the inhumane method of contact, including withdrawal through the Astral.

It happens that with some humanoids there is such contact: the body shakes, twitches. This is usually due to energy incompatibility, but unlike plasmoids, they usually remember the contact and what they talked about. They can enter into such contact themselves. When a person asks to repeat this contact, he repeats. Both contact and movement, everything will be the same.

Timecode: 28:02, #333 Autism in a child_Why autists are born_ Special children_cerebral palsy_Asperger's syndrome_epilepsy_ASD

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a specialist in biology, psychology, and alien life forms.

August, 2021

November 19, 2023

Animal Soul (Eromes)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/zhivotnaya-dusha-ehromes

A soul that can only incarnate in the bodies of animals, insects, birds, reptiles, etc., that is, in irrational beings in whose bodies the nervous system is not intended for the manifestation of consciousness.

Plasmoids are responsible for the embodiment of animal souls. It is they who collect their souls, their bodies from the elements and monitor the number of incarnations of a particular soul. The body of a cat, for example, is the body of a mammal into which a single animal soul is incarnated. There are animals that have a group animal soul, and there is a single animal soul.

A single animal soul of the type found in a cat can be incarnated in any animal, not only in the cat family, but in all carnivores. She is a fairly universal type of soul. The number of incarnations for types of this soul can start from 50 and above. Usually they have from 50 to 200 there.

Plasmoids collect souls and send them to different incarnations to maintain the planet's biosphere. If these are domestic cats, then in order to communicate with people through this body and this soul, in order to fill them with energy. And at the same time, of course, hunting mice and so on is important, this is one of the goals. Another goal is to maintain a person. An animal does not have a Higher Self, some part remains disembodied, but it cannot communicate with it, like a person, it has a different type of mind.

If a pet gets sick, but not so sick as to die or leave incarnation, but in such a way that it requires care, then it has taken over the energy of its owners.

The animal accepts the energy of its owners, it is also intended for this purpose, in order to manifest some problems on itself. Shows like a mirror. The animal soul has a very great ability to absorb energy.

If the owner's tumors disappear, but the animal's tumors appear, this does not mean that he directly passed them on, like in a relay race. Physically, no. Energetic traces of these diseases remained in his energy, in his aura, and they were reflected in the animal that lives with him and loves him. The animal soul can also love. She has a kind of spiritual heart, it can also love, strive and sacrifice itself for the sake of Love. All this is present in any animal, because it is created by the same intelligent spirits, like you and me, but from their soul, from their energies. They put Love into it too.

And in this, the Earth is also a unique planet. Not everywhere there are pets of this type that are constantly next to a person in his home and communicate with him.

November 21, 2023

Aromatherapy. Essential oils are natural healers for all occasions

---

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/aromaterapiya-ehfirnye-masla-prirodnye-lekari-na-v

All the plants that exist on Earth were there, but not in the form in which they are now. Many have been selected by people themselves. But when representatives of other civilizations arrived on Earth, they also experimented with the genes of various plants in order to breed species with the desired properties. This especially affected the cereal family.

When people began to live on earth, they began to grow ancient wheat, barley and others from field plants. This is a wild plant of the grass family, somewhat similar to bluegrass. Something similar, only the ear is different. This type of bluegrass underwent targeted genetic mutation, and the seeds of wheat, barley and other various plants were obtained. One can, of course, figuratively say that they were brought from other planets. But this only means that it was not they that were imported, but the ideas for their creation; the material was on Earth.

All plant changes were in contact with plasmoids and under their control. They created a plant Soul for those plant seeds that had altered properties. It was in council with them. Specialists of the Interstellar Union, before making changes to the genotype of any body occupied by a living Soul, first create a general council with the creators of this living Soul - plant or animal, so that everything goes harmoniously.

MidgasKaus about methods of treating earthly man

Aromatherapy is a branch of herbal medicine. Its peculiarity is due to the fact that plant aromas and special essential oils are used. Substances that have a strong odor are collected in a liquid such as plant concentrate, and are used more through the respiratory system. Although aromatherapy involves the use of essential oils internally, the name itself suggests that it is the inhalation of aromas. Aroma is a certain pleasant smell. Aromatherapy is healing through the air, through breathing.

Each person is individual, and the approach of Eslerian medicine is not to treat a single organ, but to bring the entire body into harmony. Aromatherapy, physiotherapy, and herbal medicine can be used. If we are talking about earthly people, sometimes pharmaceuticals are used, that is, those drugs that contain concentrates of certain chemicals. We call them “drugs chemically purified from impurities.”

In some cases, you can get by with essential oils alone. Especially in cases of functional disorders, as well as diseases such as acute conditions of the gastrointestinal tract, respiratory tract, respiratory system, and exacerbation of chronic diseases in this area. But each person is individual, for some this is suitable, for others they need support with other drugs.

I see great prospects in the use of essential oils in psychology, psychotherapy and even psychiatry. Because using them, spraying them in rooms where patients of this profile are located, will contribute to emotional calm and harmonization of all their spiritual states.

Essential oils and mental states

If these are depressive symptoms, then it is good to use citrus and eucalyptus oils. Oils of orange, lemon, grapefruit, tangerine, eucalyptus are antidepressants and improve mood.

If we are talking about psychotic conditions that cause hallucinations and delusions, distortion of thinking due to inharmonious contact with any entity outside the dense physical world, on the subtle or spiritual plane, then lavender oil will help very well. It harmonizes contact with plasmoid worlds, reduces the intensity of fear and anxiety.

The essential energy of lavender, including tea made from it, and the spraying of oil harmonizes, improves the contact and conductivity of the essential energies of plasma civilizations through the human body. There will be more control of contact, less fear and more awareness. This does not cancel spiritual work, it is an auxiliary method. It helps a person with his spiritual work with himself, dissolving blocks and talking with the Higher Self. If you also use the aroma of lavender, then all this will happen faster.

If these are negative entities of the Spiritual world, that is, disembodied Spirits from demonic levels, it is good to use the oil of myrrh, frankincense, sandalwood, as well as wormwood, tansy, and yarrow. This contributes to the fact that a person develops vibrations that are poorly suited to these demonic worlds. This also does not cancel spiritual work, but, as in the case of lavender, helps to more quickly complete the lesson of this contact.

It is also very good to use essential oils for contact with the Higher Self, for meditative states, and astral travel. For example, in yoga and meditation halls it is very good to diffuse jasmine oil. This contributes to the appearance in a person's etheric field of such vibrations that promote the opening of the 7th chakra and tune in to the perception of very high-vibration plasmoid worlds and higher regions of the Spiritual world.

Essential oils and chakras. Harmonic correspondence

In fact, each chakra has several suitable essential oils. Moreover, the same oil affects not just one chakra, but also several. I'll name the main ones. I know that people are looking for a certain remedy, directing their faith that it will help them in opening some chakra. This factor will additionally act as a setting for this oil.

To cleanse and open the first chakra, it is good to massage the whole body, especially the feet with ylang-ylang oil. Bergamot oil is also suitable. The soles of the feet are in contact with the ground, and the energy of plasmoid terrestrial civilizations comes from the ground into the middle of the feet. In the middle of the foot, like in the palm, there is a mini-chakra - an energy center. On the feet there are two channels in two legs, and on the subtle etheric plane it is one large funnel. When you massage your feet with this oil, the work of the first chakra is activated, all its petals, all the structures that are in the first chakra begin to open.

During a massage, a person should relax and not think about anything in particular - relax his mind. Those memories and thoughts that will come to him about unpleasant events, if there are blocks in this chakra, it is necessary to let them go and send Love there.

I want to dwell on one point in more detail. What does activation with essential oil mean – opening the chakras? This is not an automatic discovery, but a bringing to mind of a person those situations that may have blocked this chakra. To feel this, you need to mentally distract yourself from everyday affairs. Even if a person massages himself, he should relax and clear his mind. That memory that comes to mind - it can come suddenly - you need to turn your attention to it and direct the Light of Love there. You can also concentrate mentally on the coccyx area - imagine the Light there. This will also increase the impact.

Citrus fruits suit the second chakra. They have an antidepressant effect. The second chakra is responsible for emotions, and its activation brings a feeling of joy and optimism. Use essential oils of grapefruit, tangerine, and orange.

Lemon oil is more for the third chakra, its activating moment. The third chakra is lemon and eucalyptus.

The fourth chakra is lavender. She is also approaching the sixth. Myrrh oil – to activate the fourth and seventh at the same time. Each oil can affect several chakras.

As for the fifth chakra, different oils can be used here - thyme, basil, coriander and other spices.

The sixth chakra is more suitable for coniferous oils: cedar, juniper, pine, that is, woody scents. And the seventh chakra contains smells of a special group, as you call them, “noble” (which are sprayed near temples). Or camphor - these are incense, myrrh, sandalwood. All sandalwood scented oils activate the seventh chakra.

Thyme, which I named for the fifth chakra, was a seasoning in ancient times. It was used as a spice. And coriander oil too. In general, all spicy oils.

Each chakra has a specific vibration. Chakra is an energy center manifested through the human body, which reflects the spiritual qualities of the embodied part of the Spirit. Each chakra simultaneously exists in the etheric field and in the place of the physical body onto which this part of the etheric body is projected. And there, in the physical body, certain vibrations occur. Vibrations can be physical and they can be ethereal.

Each essential oil also has the physical vibrations of the herbs from which it is made, and the subtle ethereal energies that are concentrated in a given plant. Each type of oil corresponds in vibration to a chakra. This means that according to the law of harmonization, the difference between the vibrations of the oil and the chakra is a multiple so that the oil can raise the vibrations. This is called "harmonic matching".

Essential oils increase the vibration of the essential body. We have physical, etheric (subtle) and spiritual vibrations. An increase in etheric vibrations contributes to an increase in spiritual vibrations during spiritual work. They help, like they give a push.

Why did I now name several oils for each chakra? In order to increase spiritual vibrations, it is very important that the aroma of the oil is subjectively pleasant to a person, so that he can experience joy and not experience discomfort.

You can inhale it in moments when you are upset or tired about something to increase your resource. You can use oils for the purposes for which you were diagnosed: inhale the aroma, add to the bath. Some oils can be taken orally in small doses.

The emergence of knowledge about aromatherapy on Earth

It happened that people took from their own experience. A healer who treated people noticed that when they inhaled certain odors, the person felt better. And he passed all this on to his students. And it happened that I received it mentally from my curators, from plasmoid civilizations, from the Spiritual World, from alien civilizations - through contact. It even happened that a person received this information from his Higher Self, as the experience of past lives, as memories. But the memories are not about the past life itself, but about the fact that the aroma of this grass or flowers can help with something.

Excessive amounts of oil can cause irritation or even burns to tissues. Some people may also experience allergic reactions. This comes from the fact that each oil is an antiseptic and anti-parasitic substance. If a person has a large number of microbes and parasites in the blood, then they can be irritated by the introduction of oil and cause swelling or a rash. That is, they can come out of a person. In this case, care must be taken to avoid causing serious complications.

Caution is also required for those who are allergic to the plants from which these oils are extracted. Allergic reactions can be caused both by improper functioning of the liver and (as I already said) by infection in large quantities by various microbes and parasites and the reaction of these organisms. They can also be caused by psychosomatic reasons, that is, experiences that caused energy blocks that the person forgot about. But now his body reacts to the smell of the plant that was present during this experience in a negative way. This also happens.

Essential oils on Esler

We have factories that also extract essence from our flowers, from plants growing on the surface of the soil and in water bodies. “Essence” is translated from Latin as “the essence of the flower.” And here we call it “alfruzim” - it can be translated into Russian as “essence”.

We have plants similar to terrestrial species. They are similar in that they have chlorophyll, which processes sunlight into certain substances. There are also similar cycles of existence, but the forms of plants themselves are different. They also have a leaf, a root, a flower, but different forms. For example, a tree is a white trunk, leaves grow on it without branches. There are also trees in which the upper part of the trunk is green and the lower part is white.

We use them to adjust our mental states. When we experience some emotions, we inhale essential oils, and then, already in other conditions, inhaling them, we can remember this emotion. Also, to harmonize the upbringing of children, oils are sprayed in children's rooms and classrooms: to enhance brain function, activate and simply for a good mood, to increase vibrations.

We don't have medical use, we have prevention. Essential oils are used in food as additives in order to maintain a constant level of certain substances in the body. It's like your spices.

Healing with essential oils

It all depends on what exactly the person will be treated for, and how the spiritual causes of the disease will be eliminated, and whether this will be done.

I believe that it would be very good to use atomization of certain essential oils using an aroma lamp to make children more emotionally balanced, cheerful, and joyful. I have already talked about essential oils that improve your mood, for example, the aroma of orange. The aromas of mint, dill, coriander and lavender also work well for children in small quantities.

It is very good to use rose oil for rejuvenation. It helps regenerate tissue, promotes faster renewal of skin cells and cleanses dead epidermal cells.

What is anti-aging effect? This is a rapid and complete regeneration because the top skin cells that make up the epidermis are constantly dying and being replaced by new ones. If the skin has changed in some areas, but not in others, this causes stretching of the skin and loss of elasticity. To ensure that this process goes harmoniously and there is no overextension, it is very good to use rose essential oil. And not just rub, but massage.

If the rejuvenating effect is meant as a psychological one, then in order to feel like a child, it is very good to inhale vanilla essential oil. It activates childhood memories.

Geranium oil helps establish contact between a woman and her children and understand the emotional processes of children. If she has difficulties communicating with children, then it will be very good to reflect, meditate, send Love to the children, while simultaneously spraying geranium oil in the room. This will help soften the energy and manifest maternal energies.

During menopause, geranium oil can also help (it stabilizes hormonal levels), as well as oils that belong to the second chakra. If menopause has already begun, then breathing exercises and moderate ingestion of basil oil, including the use of basil herb itself, help harmonize this condition.

Aroma oils for men

For men in a special period of life (they also have menopause), ginger oil will help very well, as well as using it in food.

Essential oils of patchouli, ylang-ylang, ginger, juniper belong to the first chakra, where the kundalini energy is located. These oils help awaken sexual energy, which serves to enhance sexual desire, prolong the duration of sexual intercourse and at the same time enhance pleasant sensations and pleasure. The sensitivity of receptors to energies that appear during sexual intercourse increases.

Cleansing the body with oils. Treatment of ARVI, influenza

Anise, juniper, thuja, cypress, sea buckthorn, eucalyptus and fir oils have cleansing properties (sea buckthorn oil, for example, even removes radionuclides from the body).

For effective cleansing, you can combine them: one used for inhalation, and the other for oral administration. For example, if eucalyptus, cypress, and juniper oils can be used for inhalation, then the softer sea buckthorn oil can be taken orally.

You can mix essential oils for different purposes. For example, if you have symptoms of acute respiratory infections or flu, inflammation in the upper respiratory tract: lacrimation, runny nose, sore throat and malaise, it is very good to use a combination of antiviral oils that simultaneously have an anti-inflammatory effect. Their physical substances suppress the proliferation of viruses, and their etheric energy restores cells that have suffered from inflammation.

In this case, it is also very good to use a baby cream as a base for massage, which has neutral, hypoallergenic properties (there are no chemicals added to it, as in creams for adults). Take a tablespoon of baby cream and add five drops of eucalyptus and fir essential oils to it. Stir everything and lubricate the chest from the throat and below, as well as the opposite area from the back.

This cream will help the essential oil penetrate the skin. And at the same time, when you begin to lubricate, you will inhale the aroma, and beneficial substances will penetrate the nasopharynx. You can additionally lubricate the wings of the nose with eucalyptus and fir oil. You need to be careful with lubricating the nasal passages themselves: for some sensitive people this can cause a burn. Here it is better to use softer pine oil.

Antifungal effect of essential oils

Tea tree, thyme, and clove oils have antifungal properties. Clove oil also has the property of dissolving the shells of helminth eggs, that is, destroying not only the adult forms of various worms that live in the human intestines, but also the larvae that are in his blood and eggs. Not every anthelmintic drug has this.

They can be combined with each other. Their effect is superior to that of disinfectants. Including, they act not only on fungi. You need to understand that fungi do not appear on their own; they come to the place where bacteria have worked. Fungi can only feed on tissues in which there is no life, those cells that have already died. They “come to the feast” last.

But with a decrease in immunity, a certain type of fungus (shows) may appear on the skin, hands, and nails, which exist in symbiosis with bacteria. Thyme oil is good because it simultaneously acts against bacteria and fungi. For example, did you know that just a five percent solution of thyme oil destroys typhus bacteria in 5 minutes? Thyme oil is also very effective against tubercle bacilli. Simply by inhaling its aroma, you can suppress the development of tuberculosis in the lungs.

Clove and tea tree oils are also very strong antiseptics, almost equal, against fungi and against bacteria. Thus, the effect of undiluted tea tree oil on pathogenic bacteria is stronger than the effect of carbolic acid.

And, for example, lavender oil works well against bacteria - staphylococci, streptococci, Pseudomonas aeruginosa. It should be taken orally drop by drop, diluted in milk to avoid irritation of the gastrointestinal tract: it contains very strong alkaline substances. Instead of milk, you can dilute it in sunflower or olive oil and drink it. It can also be diluted in water, but only if the person does not have gastrointestinal irritation. Lavender oil removes anaerobic flora, even those that cause gangrene, and which have adapted to antibiotics. Lavender oil also has an anti-burn effect - it promotes skin regeneration after burns, including sunburn. If you have skin irritation after sun exposure or tanning, you can add a few drops of lavender oil to your cream.

Essential oils and hair

Wood oils have a good effect on hair. Burdock oil too. It belongs to fatty oils, obtained from burdock seeds, but, like essential oils, it also carries the vibration of the plant from which it is obtained. Even sunflower oil carries the vibration of its plant. It is obtained from sunflower seeds - there is a lot of fat there, because the seeds retain fat well. Still, it contains etheric vibrations, like any other oil.

Wood oils have a good effect on hair growth, because the essential energy of the tree promotes rapid growth of the trunk. This property turns into oil, and when applied to the scalp, it helps strengthen the essential matrices of the hair follicles, from which hair is then formed. By analogy, hair becomes as strong as trees. Not like tree trunks, but if you look at a hair under a microscope, it will be like a tree trunk, and the energy will be like a tree trunk. For example, cypress, thuja, pine, eucalyptus, juniper.

Aroma oils and the cardiovascular system

Ginger oil prevents the development of blood clots and dilates blood vessels. Orange and lavender oils slightly reduce blood pressure. Eucalyptus, lemon and other stimulating oils can increase blood pressure. Also, substances contained in the oil of ginger, cloves, and nutmeg can react with very low density cholesterol, which has already settled on the surface of the blood vessels, transform it into another form and cleanse the blood vessels. Cinnamon oil can also contribute to this, especially in the area of large vessels - where the elbows are, in the neck, groin folds, and on the back of the head. These molecules enter the body through the skin. Etheric energies come into contact with the etheric matrices of the organs upon contact and even upon inhalation. But upon contact, more contact occurs, a larger amount of ethereal energy enters the human body.

Aroma oils and human energy blocks

The reason a person doesn't like butter may be simple. Humans have associative memory. In childhood, a child’s sense of smell is stronger than that of an adult: while he does not have a fixation on the visual perception of information, he is fixated on the olfactory receptors. The child can even distinguish his mother by smell. As an adult, he does not feel this. The child perceives all smells acutely, and he associates them with certain phenomena, such a picture of the World.

If in childhood something happened to a person that caused an energy block, and at that time he felt some kind of smell, then this smell in adulthood will cause activation of the block and unpleasant memories.

He may not realize this, he may simply say that he doesn’t like the smell itself, and he cannot explain to himself why he doesn’t like it. There may even be a reaction on the physical plane, such as nausea. He may not track his emotions and thoughts because many people are not used to tracking their internal state.

I come across this when I come into contact with people and see that many are fixated on the external. This was surprising for me, because at Esler everyone is taught to first listen to their inner state. I was very surprised what was wrong on Earth. That is, if you don’t like cinnamon, then perhaps (as one of the options) the mother scolded the child, and at that time she was baking cinnamon rolls. And this smell was recorded as a sign that he would be scolded. But he doesn't remember this. To remember, if you don’t like the smell, invite him to ask his Higher Self what block is associated with it.

If he does not move away from these thoughts, but asks the Higher Self: for what reason do I not like this smell? And ideas will come to him about what to work with. You can smell different oils, and if a person says that he doesn’t like the smell, then ask: “What does it remind you of?”

The mechanism of the influence of essential oils during meditation

When people inhale the aroma of oil, the effect through the olfactory nerve goes to the part of the brain that is next to the area through which emotions are manifested. We can say that these areas of the brain are supplied with blood through the same network of blood vessels. Therefore, through various smells you can easily influence, as I already said, your emotional state.

How to strengthen this? Fix yourself when you are in a state of meditation and communication with the Higher Self, when a person has an opening of the heart, a spiritual flight. The state of connection with the Higher Self is always subjectively not just pleasant, it causes a feeling of happiness. A person does not feel his physical body or feels it differently. He begins to merge with the Supreme Self and realizes that he is an eternal being who is always loved by God. This is a wonderful condition.

In this state, it is good to use jasmine oil, or frankincense oil, or any other oil you like, to activate the seventh chakra. Then, when you spray this oil before meditation, you will quickly enter this state, because it will remind you of it from associative memory.

If a person sets himself up to meditate through mantras, then repeating the mantra will bring his energy to the desired state.

Video on the topic: #492 Aroma diagnostics. Essential oils are natural healers for all occasions and for spiritual development.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

September 2022

November 22, 2023

The Spirit of Sigmund Freud on Freedom and Responsibility

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/duh-zigmunda-frejda-o-svobode-i-otvetstvennosti

True freedom is only inside, in your heart. True freedom, like true Love, is always together, nearby. Freedom is a certain feeling not of permissiveness, but a feeling of unity with God and at the same time a feeling of responsibility for the actions that you perform. This is a feeling of the need to follow your path of development along with a sense of responsibility, with an understanding of the consequences that your path will bring.

Why are they afraid of freedom and why are they afraid of responsibility? Because many people are pleasure-seeking people by nature. They love to receive what pleases them, to have fun, calling it good. And they can call the consequences that this path may bring (suffering) evil and turn away from it, turn away. Therefore, responsibility scares them.

Freedom of those drives that they have, for example, freedom, instinctive desires, as I already said, for example, to reproduce. A man has a desire to connect with a woman. This brings him pleasure, but a woman is also a living person who has needs not only for pleasure, but for a certain attitude towards her, in a certain way of life. Therefore, a man who wants to connect with her can understand that she will have high hopes for him as her life partner, and this already imposes responsibility on him not only for himself, but also for her. This may cause him fear and a desire to simply use it as an instrument of pleasure if he is afraid of responsibility. In this a man is not free, he becomes a slave to his desires.

And there is an expression “servant of God”. I say again that a servant of God is precisely a servant of God’s Love. He belongs completely to God's Love, he no longer belongs to his desire. This desire turns from a vicious one into the energy of Divine Love, which strives to unselfishly, unconditionally give your loved one what you have. And this is the responsibility.

Timecode: 52:40, #474 Communicating with the Spirit by Sigmund Freud: a look at psychology from the Spiritual World. True freedom of the Spirit.

The spirit of Sigmund Freud (Freud).

July 2022

November 26, 2023

The structure of the human aura in simple words

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/struktura-aury-cheloveka-prostymi-slovami

The aura of an earthly type person consists of the following structures:

The first - in your language is called Ether or Prana - is the vital force that the physical body releases from the chemical reactions that occur during the breakdown of food substances into simple substances, joining oxygen.

The second - you call it the Astral shell, it is responsible for emotional and volitional structures. Emotions mean the energy for the Spirit's reaction to a particular event in the external or internal world. Will is understood as the energy of the Spirit, which is directed by it to achieve a particular goal.

The next level is mental, the mental field, it contains information from the intellectual and logical structures of your consciousness. Consciousness refers to the energy of the Spirit, which is aimed at perceiving the external and internal world.

The next level in your language is called Causal - it contains information that contains images that are inaccessible to you in your normal state of consciousness, but which make up your past experience. In your psychology this is called the subconscious or the contents of the unconscious.

The next level is what you call Buddhi or Pure Mind, it contains information that is also inaccessible to you in your normal state of consciousness, but unlike the previous level, it was not produced by the Spirit while he was in this body. That is, this is information that has not passed through the brain of this body. To put it simply, this is information about your previous incarnations and about life in the Spiritual World between them.

And the last level, which you call Atman or Atmas, is what you call Superconsciousness, Higher Self, conscience, intuition - these are all manifestations of the pure Light of love that is in each of you, this is a state of indistinguishability from God as Spirit. The ability to enter this state constitutes the last seventh layer of your aura.

Timecode: 03:10, #14 Contactor with extraterrestrial civilizations Irina Podzorova: answers to questions in VK (part 1).

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

September, 2019

November 29, 2023

Advice for Working with High Status, Low Vibration Disembodied Spirits

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/sovet-po-rabote-s-vysokostatusnymi-nizkovibracionn

Usually this is level 5, demons, in our terminology. Sixth – Archons – rulers of demons. Well, as they usually call demon princes. Or as they are called in the Bible, Cosmocrators, World Rulers.

It must be remembered that in order to stop the influence of one or another entity on a person, you must first disconnect its energy structure from the person's energy structure. But to do this, you need to understand where it is connected. That is, what reason caused such attention from the demonic world to this particular person.

There must be something in the person himself: the thought forms produced, thoughts, even if he does not show anything negative, either in words or actions, this does not mean that he cannot keep it in himself.

And here it is important to understand that if the person to whom the demon is connected seems to be the height of good manners, friendliness, etc., you need to remember that he may be so outwardly, but at the same time he can hide his true feelings and accumulate low vibrational energies in your astral body.

And when a person accumulates low-vibration energies, he does not allow them to come out, that is, he considers it bad manners, rudeness, but at the same time he does not work with them - they accumulate in his energy center, for example, in the fourth energy center or in the second... It depends on what it is against. For example, his struggle is directed against the world, or against himself.

Self-condemnation happens very often, self-accusation by the way, and the feeling of guilt, self-flagellation is the reason for the presence of demons. Because these are low vibrational states.

As for healing with words: yes, of course, this is possible. Healing with the word comes in different forms. But it can only be truly effective if it is a person who has come to be healed, if he fully understands and accepts what is happening. And if he trusts the guide at all.

Certain words form a certain thought form. It is launched towards the human field, but if the energy of the conductor is alien to the person, and if he himself does not believe that this is possible, he, as it were, pushes it away with his consciousness. According to the law of freedom of choice, which God gave us, nothing alien to a person can invade his biofield, his energy field and change his body.

Even if, from God's point of view, this will be beneficial, but the person himself repels it, then it still will not enter his field, because this is the law of freedom of choice.

LiShioni is a specialist in astral interactions, planet Shimor.

April 2020

December 4, 2023

Transmigration Agreement. The difference between transmigration and possession

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/dogovor-o-transmigracii-otlichie-transmigracii-ot

Usually the Spirits draw up an "agreement" on how long the owner uses the body and how long the curator uses it. If the curator completely occupies the body, this will not give the contactee the opportunity to develop through matter - such an agreement is usually not drawn up.

To put it simply, this is renting a body, just like renting an apartment, but the owner still retains basic rights. Everything is provided for by the "contract". In addition, the curator will not be able to constantly exist in the body without leaving it. Because this is someone else's body, which needs to be given the opportunity to adapt, to bring itself into a state of harmony.

“Contracts” are completely different. The spirit, which is the owner of the body, can generally say:

“I want to be in the Spiritual World, and you will give me, say, ten days a month so that I can complete my task. The rest of the time you can control my body, and I will be in the Spiritual world without interrupting the life thread, so that you can live in my body and complete your task, because you could not do this for some reason in your past life . I love you so much that I give you most of my time.”

But the fact is that the body of the Spirit itself will not be able to hold the curator in this way for a long time, since it will need long periods of rest in order to be in harmony, not to have any diseases or abnormalities, and to be adequately used to fulfill the task of life. Usually the curator understands this very well, so he himself will not exceed these deadlines, otherwise the physical body will be incapacitated and become ill due to a violation of the etheric matrices.

I want to emphasize once again that specifically transmigration is more typical for Spirits of the angelic plane or the middle level, who know how to negotiate. Disembodied Spirits from demonic levels are most often very selfish, very cruel, and the idea of negotiating something with their contactee does not occur to them in their spiritual mind, they simply inhabit him - and this is already called obsession .

Obsession is when the contactee has attracted a certain Spirit with his vibrations - and they no longer negotiate with him, but simply force him out, kick him out, so to speak, into the street. Of course, the owner is still connected to his body with a vital thread, but it can be very difficult for him to get rid of the uninvited guest due to the fact that he himself attracted him with his vibrations, and due to the fact that most often the will of the contactee is suppressed.

If this is precisely transmigration, then the Spirit himself will know exactly who he is, where he came from, why he came for this transmigration, and what are the goals and objectives of his continuation of life in the material world without his own body, which died. Usually these are very important tasks that were not solved due to some, for example, violent actions, cataclysms, serious injuries, and so on, which led to the exit from incarnation earlier than the deadline set by oneself.

This often happens to those who had tasks, the implementation of which greatly influenced the noosphere of the entire planet, the development of the entire civilization. In this case, if for some reason the Spirit left the incarnation before the time appointed by himself in the Spiritual World or at his own time, but without fully completing his task, then he could find a contactee, agree with him in the Astral Plane that he would occupy him body, and be sure to give something in return according to the law of exchange: some information, help, and so on. Occupying a body just like that ("I haven't completed my task, and you will give me your body") - usually Consulting Angels will not agree to this, because this is more like the same egoism of demonic levels.

In return, they receive, for example, help in their spiritual development (in the form of information, various energies), some kind of gift (the gift of healing, clairvoyance) or some other help. The spirit, naturally, cannot pay for this rent with money, it does not have any, but it can provide its spiritual skills, information, and so on.

If for some reason the contactee wants to repress the memories of the period of being outside the body, he can forget about them. This experience will remain only in the subconscious. This depends on his awareness and the time spent in the Astral. He may remember it quite clearly, or he may remember it as a dream.

Transmigration occurs not only on Earth, but in all worlds in general and even at different levels of density. I only studied the phenomenon itself.

Timecode: 21:14, #507 TRANSMIGRATION - the phenomenon of "renting" a person's body or split personality. Interesting facts, risks.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

October 2022

December 11, 2023

Definition of emotions. Basic human instincts

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/opredelenie-ehmocij-osnovnye-instinkty-cheloveka

Emotion is an energetic reaction to information perceived from the outside, or events occurring within the spiritual field, that is, in the field of memories. This is energy aimed at changing the external and internal environment. All living beings, both rational and irrational, have emotions. They are required. This reaction stems from the very understanding of biological life as a chain of reactions to changes in external and internal conditions.

The material world is very plastic and changeable. Any living creature that is in the material world, in order to survive, produce offspring and occupy a certain niche in its social sphere, must respond to changes in the environment. Only for the animal Soul the emotional life will always be based on the instinctive mind, and for rational Spirits, including man, it is based on his mind of the immortal Spirit. Spiritual mind and instinctive mind, or their combinations.

Humans, like animals, have instincts that originated and were inherited from your animal ancestors. The five basic instincts are: conservation, reproduction, power (leadership), herd and hedonistic (pleasure). These instincts predominate in man, in the child, while he is being brought up to preserve his body. As long as he accumulates information from his parents, from the outside world about the new world where he has incarnated. Since he has incarnated in a new place, and his memory of new lives is blocked so as not to interfere with adaptation, he can only be guided by the instinctive mind and the information that his close environment gives him.

For any human child, the most important instinct - self-preservation - is aimed at following their parents and recognizing them as the highest authority. Only they are the guarantee of security, and only from them all perceived information at an early age, without any criticism, fits into memory cells and then determines many of the feelings or conscious attitudes of an already adult person to the world around him. It is these mental attitudes that form complex feelings, not emotions, but feelings.

Feelings are an attitude towards something, but it cannot be adequately expressed in words, something without which a person cannot imagine himself. This is a collection of mental attitudes to color feelings in relationships. It is these mental attitudes and these feelings, desires suppressed, for example, in childhood, which are still in the subconscious in the unconscious part of memory, that determine the reactions that arise in a person when certain changes occur.

The problem is that your civilization in schools does not teach you to correctly recognize your emotions, name them and work with them. Because of this, teenagers experience emotional blocks. These negative blocks emit negative energy on a spiritual level and attract similar vibrational spiritual and subtle beings who are parasites because they love to feed on these energies. These are low-vibration, we call them “destructive,” plasmoid civilizations. They feed on emotional energies, low in vibration, and are far from the Light: resentment, irritation, anger, anger, fear and similar states. Destructive plasmoids like human energy, which is released during emotional outbursts. There are also “constructive” plasmoids, which, on the contrary, charge with Light energy.

#266 Managing emotions. How to get rid of irritation_ Effective technique for working with installations

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

March 10, 2021.

December 22, 2023

The most important exercise according to Archangel Michael

---

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/samoe-vazhnoe-uprazhnenie-po-mneniyu-arhangela-mih

The most important exercise for you now is communication with your Light, with your Higher Self. It is advisable to do this every day. Not just so that the Higher Self, the disembodied part of the Spirit, answers your questions and helps you in your material life. This is in order to merge with its energies and begin to realize oneself as a Spirit in a body that goes through its life tasks here, its lessons and helps others with this.

The more you merge with the Higher Self, the more your feeling of Love will grow, as a feeling of unity with all the people around you and with the entire world around you. If this is in your heart, your Spirit, your Higher Self, your cosmic superconsciousness will find words through you on how to convey this to other people in the easiest and most harmonious form for them, so that they can hear you and also begin to communicate with their Higher Self .

Communication with your Higher Self is a condition for instilling in the heart of every person a state called the Kingdom of Heaven. At the same time, the highest Spiritual world begins to reign in your heart, control your heart and spread to the material world. When such people become at least 70% of the adult population on the planet, then any wars and any mass crimes on Earth will be impossible, because the remaining 30% of low-vibration Spirits will not be able to change the bright direction of the thoughts of everyone else.

I want to emphasize once again that communication with your Higher Self is communication with that part of God in you that makes up 70% of your divine essence. This is much more important for your development than communication with any civilizations and curators. It is no coincidence that contact with any curators from any civilization is possible only through the Higher Self: until you learn to consciously communicate with yourself, consciously carry out all the spiritual advice of the Higher Self, there is no point in becoming someone else's contactee.

Every thought of every person affects your overall future in some way, so be mindful of your thoughts and desires.

Timecode: 42:38, #466 Live. Answers to questions with Archangel Michael.

Archangel Michael is the guardian of the Christian egregor, the patron and curator of the Earth in the Spiritual world, one of the Higher Hierarchs of Light.

July 2022

January 3

Etheric energies of the human etheric field

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ehfirnye-ehnergii-ehfirnogo-polya-cheloveka

The human etheric field consists of ten etheric energies. Each of them has its own purpose and origin:

1. Torsion energy - Fourth level of density.

It makes up the outer protective shell of the biofield, similar to a shell. The function of this protective shell is to protect the etheric field from external negative etheric fields.

The torsion field is formed in humans from the ninth to the seventeenth week of pregnancy by representatives of plasmoid civilizations. This energy is part of the vital thread that connects the soul with the body throughout the incarnation.

Anger, resentment and fear in a pregnant woman during the formation of the torsion field disrupt this process, which leads to an innate weakness of etheric protection.

This is manifested in the easier influence of negative feelings and emotions of other people on the psychological state of a person, the rapid loss of vital energy due to his own emotions, feelings and thoughts directed at an external source and easier access to it by both destructive plasmoid civilizations and the thought forms of people , in the form of wishes of evil and negative magical programs.

The torsion field is strengthened by a person’s faith in his own strength, in Divine Love for himself, and is weakened by fear, despondency and self-doubt.

2. Lepton energy - Seventh level of density.

It is the main etheric energy of a person, which permeates and charges all aura fields formed from the fusion of the soul with the physical body. The astral, mental and subtler bodies are surrounded by a lepton shell throughout a person's life, which allows them to constantly exchange energy with each other and with the physical body.

Lepton energy is part of the vital thread that connects the soul with the body throughout the incarnation.

This ethereal field is formed by the Earth's plasmoids along with the torsion field, from the ninth to the seventeenth week of pregnancy.

Negative emotions in a pregnant woman during this period can slow down the formation of the leptonic field in her child, which during childhood and adolescence can cause difficulties with social adaptation in the form of social phobia and alienation.

Parents can help such children until they reach the age of 14, dissolving their negative blocks and strengthening social ties.

An adult can also strengthen his lepton field if he forgives all people and begins to see the soul in everyone, and not just the physical body.

Anger and condemnation weaken the lepton field.

3. Prana - Tenth level of density.

This etheric energy is the main substance for the formation of etheric matrices of the internal organs of the physical body. It enters the etheric matrices of all organic cells, in different proportions with other types of etheric energies.

It is part of the life thread that connects the soul with the body throughout the incarnation.

It is formed in utero, partly from the etheric fields of the parents, partly with the help of plasmoid civilizations from the first to the seventh week of pregnancy.
Negative thoughts, feelings and emotions of the child's parents during this period can cause a disruption in the structure of the etheric matrices of internal organs, which subsequently leads to congenital physical and mental diseases and developmental defects.

Etheric matrices consisting of prana can be healed by various etheric and spiritual energies and thought forms, but if their damage has reached the physical level, then in addition to eliminating the spiritual cause of this and working with the etheric matrices of physical organs, treatment with physical methods is also required, always individual depending on the type of disease and its causes.

4. Prithivi - Thirteenth level of density.

Ethereal energy of the Earth element.

It is part of the etheric matrices of bones, joints, muscles and connective tissue, and is a substance for the formation of the Muladhara chakra.

It is formed in the first two weeks after conception, from the Prithivi energy of the parents, with the help of plasmoid civilizations of the Earth elements.

If the parents' Muladhara chakras were weak or blocked during this period, they do not have enough Prithivi energy, which can lead to the formation of a damaged Muladhara rudiment in the child.

This leads to his lack of interest in the physical body and its needs.

Restoring the integrity and energetic filling of all chakras is possible by dissolving negative blocks in them and special energy practices to activate the chakras, as well as by working with energy flows, egregors and contacts with positive curators and mentors from any worlds and levels of density.

5. Apana - Sixteenth level of density.

Ethereal energy of the element of Water.

It is part of the etheric matrices of the reproductive and excretory organs, and is a substance for the formation of the Svadhisthana chakra.

It is formed in the first two weeks after conception, from the Apana energy of the parents, with the help of plasmoid civilizations of the Water element.

If the parents' Svadhisthana chakras were weak or blocked during this period, they do not have enough Apana energy, which can lead to the formation of a damaged Svadhisthana rudiment in the child.

This leads to difficulty recognizing and expressing emotions and to deterioration of control over them by the mind.

6. Samana - Eighteenth level of density.

It is part of the essential matrices of the digestive and hematopoietic organs. It is the basis for the formation of the Manipur chakra.

It is formed from the second to third week after conception, from the energy of Samana of the parents, with the help of plasmoid civilizations.

If the parents' Manipura chakras were weak or blocked during this period, they do not have enough Samana energy, which can lead to the formation of a damaged Manipura rudiment in the child. This leads to an innate weakness in the manifestation of willpower and self-doubt.

7. Udana - Twentieth level of density.

Energy of the element of Air.

It is part of the etheric matrices of the circulatory and respiratory organs. It forms the basis of the etheric crystal of the Anahata chakra.

It is formed from the third to fourth week after conception, from the energy of the Udana of the parents, with the help of plasmoid civilizations of the Air element.

If the parents' Anahata chakras were weak or blocked during this period, they do not have enough Udana energy, which can lead to the formation of a damaged Anahata rudiment in the child.

This leads to the difficulty of recognizing one's true feelings and desires, as well as to a violation of the control of the spiritual mind over the instinctive nature of a person.

8. Kundalini - Twenty-second level of density.

Energy of the element of Fire.

Contained in all chakras and serves as a conductor of all other energies between the chakras. Kundalini energy in the form of balls is embedded in the centers of all seven chakras and is the substance for the formation of the etheric channel inside the spine and etheric channels in other parts of the body.

The largest reserve of Kundalini energy in humans is concentrated in the Manipura chakra.

The Kundalini field is formed in the first day after conception from the Kundalini of the parents, with the help of plasmoid civilizations of the element of Fire.

If at a given period the parents did not have enough Kundalini energy, this leads to Kundalini weakness in the child, which can cause intrauterine growth retardation or disruption of the formation of all chakras and energy channels, which will lead to reduced sensitivity to etheric and spiritual energies.

9. Akasha - Twenty-sixth level of density.

It is part of the etheric matrices of the nervous system organs: the brain, spinal cord, nerve plexuses and individual neurons.

It is a substance for the formation of the Vishuddhi, Ajna and Sahasrara chakras.
With the help of Akashic energy, a person can charge space with his thought forms and invest an individual energy charge into objects of the material world.

The Akash field is formed from the fifth to seventh week of pregnancy from the Akash of the parents, with the help of plasmoid civilizations.

Any negativity from parents at this time can disrupt the formation of the Akashic field, which will lead to a slowdown in the formation of speech and memory in the child.

10. Ojas - Thirty-fourth level of density.

It is the basis for the formation of the etheric shell of a spiritual channel that connects the soul with its disembodied part. Forms the most subtle structures of the Sahasrara chakra and participates in the formation of etheric matrices of the highest structures of the cerebral cortex.

Forms a veil of the astral plane for earthly humanoids.

It is formed from the 21st to the 28th week of intrauterine development by Guardian Angels and Human Consultants, with the help of plasmoid civilizations.
Negative emotions and feelings in a pregnant woman during this period can cause a violation of the veil of the astral plane and the structure of the spiritual channel in her child.

This can lead to difficulties for a person to communicate with his Higher Self in childhood, adolescence and adulthood and deprive him of natural protection from attacks from the astral world, which causes childhood fears and hysterics.

Restoring the integrity and energetic filling of all chakras is possible by dissolving negative blocks in them and special energy practices to activate the chakras, as well as by working with energy flows, egregors and contacts with positive curators and mentors from any worlds and levels of density.

Restoring the chakras of children under 14 years of age is possible by healing and activating the corresponding chakras of both parents, if they are incarnate.

If a person is over 14 years old, it is only possible for him to work independently to cleanse his aura and increase the vibrations of each chakra.

Restoring the astral veil in a child under 14 years of age or one's own in a person older than this age is possible only after establishing regular conscious contact with the Higher Self, with the condition of trusting him, as well as developing love for oneself, for God and for the whole world.

MidgasCaus, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien civilizations, planet Esler.

Lee Shioni, specialist in astral interactions, planet Shimor.

January 2024

January 10

The universal law of energy exchange. Generic task

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vselenskij-zakon-ehnergoobmena-rodovaya-zadacha

Each Spirit, when incarnated, passes through the generic egregor and takes on the generic task. Some call it ancestral karma.

The generic task is the action and the quality of energy that the Guardians of the generic egregor offer the Spirit to build into the egregor in the incarnation in which it goes. To put it simply, this is what the genus offers to do for itself in return for the protection of the ancestral egregor that accompanies a person, especially in childhood.

The ancestral egregor releases a certain energy in order to store, protect, treat, and heal all members of the genus, especially small children. For this energy, the Guardians of the egregor, I would say in your earthly language, ask for an energy equivalent, as if compensation. Because there is a universal law of energy exchange: if something arrives in one place, then this place gives something of its own in return. Such an energy exchange.

Any Spirit is a system open to energy exchange with the environment. If he is given energy in any form, this automatically causes him the need to give this energy in any other form. If the Spirit does not have this need, but only needs to receive, then the Spirit lowers its vibrations and enters the system, when it itself becomes only a center for receiving energy of any form. It stops its development and becomes, in your opinion, a parasitic system: it cannot raise its vibrations.

There is the same turn, a skew in the other direction, if the Spirit only gives, but does not want to accept anything, rejects the energies coming from the Universe. He only gives his energies to others in any form. But at the same time, he rejects the energy equivalent that the Universe offers him through different people and events. With his free will, he simply does not accept his life, himself. By this, he also lowers his vibrations, begins to destroy himself, becomes a system that renounces itself, self-love. This means that his Love for others gradually changes to its opposite. He lowers his vibrations and can no longer love.

So it is in the generic egregor: The spirit that came to incarnation through the generic egregor is endowed with a certain energy that helps him in childhood, growing up, adaptation in the family, in this family. In return, according to the laws of energy exchange, he promises the Guardians of the egregor to fulfill the ancestral task. This can come in completely different forms.

If the generic egregor itself is in the so-called stage of generic degradation, when a lot of negative energies have accumulated there from previous generations, then this is manifested by a decrease in the vibrations of the entire egregor and more frequent illnesses in the family. Completely diverse, but they are more associated not with the physical sphere, but with various addictions, mental illnesses, the attraction of negatively minded plasmoids, I would say so. Destructive plasmoid civilizations with a negative generic egregor can form an alliance.

And when the Spirit incarnates, there are still Guardians there who want to cleanse this egregor from degradation by any means. And when the Spirit agrees to this incarnation, he sees what kind of egregor it is, naturally, he thinks about everything, how much it will correspond to his tasks of incarnation, he analyzes everything. At his subjective moment, he is also shown the choice of his parents (father and mother).

By the way, there is a kind of father, and there is a kind of mother - these are 2 egregors. Dad and mom, when they give birth to a child, this family, as soon as a man and a woman unite, they already form their own mini egregor. At first it is built into these two egregors of the parents, and when a child is born and then he gives birth to his own, a larger egregor is formed. It occurs as the budding of some egregors from others.

If the Spirit decides to go to an egregor, where there are many problems, to this genus, it means that he takes on such a mission - to cleanse this egregor. Usually the generic task here is associated with the projection into the egregor, that is, into the noosphere, into the Astral - certain thoughts, feelings, desires, which are not enough there to be pure. To displace some negativity with a certain bright quality.

Timecode: 26:22, #517 Hellinger constellations, family psychology. Psychodrama, self-knowledge. Generic egregor, abortion.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

December 2022

January 11

Development of a degraded generic egregor. "Excluded" from the family https://blog.cassiopeia.center/razvitie-degradirovavshego-rodovogo-ehgregora-iskl

If problems arise in the generic egregor, then you can find out from your Higher Self what needs to be done to cleanse the egregor for this particular person. Of course, the whole family needs this. It will be very difficult for a person if the rest of the family continues to project negativity. But he can talk about this in a correct, understandable form for people: how you can not only get rid of problems, but also cleanse your family so that Spirits are attracted who will receive a more positive, brighter experience on Earth.

If there is a very strong degradation of the ancestral egregor, this will already affect the noosphere of the Earth, or certain areas of the Earth where this genus lives. If this already integrates into certain negative plasmoid civilizations, cooperates with them, and influences other people, other egregors, then the Consulting Angels may decide not to send anyone else to incarnate into this genus. Not immediately, but gradually there will be fewer Spirits willing to incarnate into this genus, and then the Consulting Angels themselves will close the possibility of procreation in various ways. It turns out that those who are born do not continue the family line. Dead-end branches.

That egregor that was left without procreation, when its last representative comes out of incarnation, will simply remain without replenishment of the material plane and will gradually dissipate. This will be helped by certain civilizations, whoever wants, Angels. If it is very negative, then perhaps destructive civilizations will first take out all the negative energy from it, so that all the rest will be scattered in the Spiritual World.

"Excluded" from the family. The connection between the generic and personal tasks of the Spirit

Those people who are in this family in incarnation are called the word “generation”. These are the ones who are living now. But the ancestral egregor consists not only of their energy, but also of the energy of all previous generations. The part that is incarnated is called a generation, and those Spirits who were previously in this egregor and left the incarnation, they also invested their energies into it. And some of them become Guardians of this egregor while they are not in embodiment. They keep this egregor, if, of course, they want to take care of it when they are in the Spiritual world.

And for some it happens that, even after incarnation, their Higher Self is busy taking care of its egregor. And even, sometimes, not about one, but about several egregors in which the Spirit was incarnated. He becomes the Guardian. Usually through phantoms. This is more typical, of course, for Angels who have a very high degree of Love, as an understanding of responsibility not only for themselves, but also for the well-being of others.

This is already an angelic consciousness, they become like God, because he takes care of everyone. He creates conditions with his laws, energies, the support of everyone with Light - absolutely all Spirits, no matter what level they are at. Becoming like God, the Angel begins to feel Love not just as a pleasant feeling that gives him pleasure, pleasure, but as a certain responsibility and desire to help unselfishly, as God does.

But I want to emphasize once again about the law of energy exchange: if the Spirit helps selflessly, without expecting anything in return, this does not mean that God, through the Universe and other people, will not return to this Spirit its Light of Love in the form of another energy. Because the Spirit is, as I already said, an open system for energy exchange. He gives unselfishly, and they also give unselfishly to him. This is how the exchange goes.

If someone is excluded from the clan, then he is excluded only in people’s thoughts, but he is not excluded from the clan egregor itself, he has his own thoughts, feelings, emotions about his relatives. He, thinking about them, is already included in the generic egregor.

It happens that a person excludes himself from it, interrupting the connection with the generic egregor for various reasons: he stops thinking about it in general, about his family, does not fulfill his generic task in any way, leaves, for example, to another country, locality, does not maintain relations with relatives, does not help them in any way, does not accept help from them, simply forgets... Let's consider this person. If he doesn't think about his family at all, doesn't send his thoughts there, then the egregor itself is not only disconnected from it, the person himself closes the channel to his ancestral egregor. But at any moment he can open it if he turns his thoughts to his family and ancestors.

The fact is that such a disconnection from the egregor, when the person himself does it by his own will, can often be accompanied by failure to fulfill his generic task, because the person does not consider it necessary to develop in himself these qualities that are necessary for the egregor. If he refuses to fulfill his tribal task, this will necessarily affect the fulfillment of his Spiritual task, his personal task of incarnation, for which he came here. This very often makes his path difficult, and trials begin to bring him back.

It is difficult for such a person to follow the path of spiritual development, to raise his vibrations, he will be constantly reminded that he has a clan, a family. He will be reminded of this under various circumstances if a person does not know how or does not want to communicate with his Higher Self. If he knows how and constantly, regularly communicates, then the Higher Self itself or the Curators, Guardians, including his Guardian Angel, who keeps constant connection with the Guardians of the egregor, they will definitely remind you of this if he forgets about his task before the birth. Fulfilling the generic task contributes to a successful combination of circumstances for fulfilling the personal spiritual task of the entire incarnation.

Timecode: 33:34, #517 Hellinger constellations, family psychology. Psychodrama, self-knowledge. Generic egregor, abortion.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

December 2022

13th of January

The first hours of the incarnation of the Spirit. Consequences of abortion https://blog.cassiopeia.center/pervye-chasy-voploshcheniya-duha-posledstviya-abor

Each intelligent Spirit, when it goes for incarnation, is endowed by consulting Angels with a certain pranic energy: a type of etheric energy that is taken from the material world. One might say, it moves to the Astral before incarnation, the border area between the world of disembodied Spirits and the material world, into a specially created space, which in your opinion is called “The Hall for vesting Spirits with vital energy for the adoption of a material body.” Into such a bright space, that part of the Spirit that is separated for incarnation moves. For earthlings it is 30%, as the beam goes.

Then this ray is dressed with vital Prana, a certain type of ether, which becomes its first vital energy. She will help him connect with the body. This happens to any intelligent Spirit. Then the Angel Guides will guide him into the material world, where he will watch his future parents at the moment when they conceive his body. But the Spirit that watches them is already called the Soul, that is, 30% of the Spirit, clothed with this Prana and called the Soul.

Passing through the generic egregor, the Spirit is endowed with the vital force of the egregor itself. This, one might say, is the second layer of the future etheric body. Then he observes his parents from the Astral at the energetic level: he sees their emotions, desires and feelings. When the cells of mom and dad connect, and the first cell of his future body appears, which, naturally, carries all the genetic characteristics and etheric matrices of the cells of a woman and a man, because each cell has an etheric matrix at a subtle level, at this moment the Spirit enters your life force and part of the pranic shell, like a ray, into your first cell.

And from this moment the incarnation begins. The cell is alive, it begins to divide. The Spirit itself is still outside this cell, it is in the Astral, but it actively helps the cells divide, promotes, there is a word - synergy. It shows synergy in cooperating with energy by forming new layers of the etheric matrix every day around the future body, within the woman's body. Any thought, feeling, desire of a parent, especially a mother, and a father too, but to a lesser extent, because it happens in a woman's body, affects this etheric matrix.

Consequences of abortion on a subtle material level

What happens if he is disincarnated when his future body is within her body. They will disincarnate – this will not necessarily mean that the Spirit itself will be taken out of incarnation. In this case, to disincarnate means to interrupt the vital activity of the body in some way. Because of which the first energy that entered will leave the body and return back to this Soul. He himself may be outside the body. I remind you that the Soul enters the body in the seventh week of pregnancy. But even before 7 weeks of pregnancy, it is nearby, and energy is still present in these cells.

So, regardless of whether the Soul itself was in the body or not, this is called disembodiment. Because in the first case, the Soul itself comes out, and in the second case, that energy comes out, those ethereal matrices that he has already created, which he begins to create in the very first hours after conception. In this he is also helped by plasmoids of four elements: Earth, Water, Air, Fire. They come to this Soul in the Astral and help it form special bioenergy channels, connections between its future biofield, which is called the etheric field, and the biosphere of the planet.

Many entities participate in the conception and birth of a child, and each contributes its energy to form its etheric field. In the event that all this is interrupted, the energy returns to the woman. If this is interrupted by force, suddenly, the will of another person intervenes and interrupts the incarnation that has begun, then the ethereal energy that leaves the woman's womb, let's say so, returns to the Soul. But she doesn't just come out because she was suddenly taken out of there, she comes out quickly and incorrectly, that is, inharmoniously, while breaking the etheric matrices of the woman herself at the genetic level, the matrices of her very DNA. Subsequently, she will pass on this damage to her children if she is not cleansed of the energy of bloodshed (ed. note: cleansing the energy structure is possible through the practice of merging with the Higher Self) .

Timecode: 51:02, #517 Hellinger constellations, family psychology. Psychodrama, self-knowledge. Generic egregor, abortion.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

December 2022

January 15

The relationship between the etheric matrix and the human physical body

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vzaimosvyaz-ehfirnoj-matricy-s-fizicheskim-telom

Life force is not static. It constantly flows in and around the body. In your teachings it is usually called the “etheric body”. We have an ethereal field. The etheric body, the etheric field, some call it the “etheric matrix”, etc. The pattern of movement of this energy, its speed, etc. The higher spheres of man are controlled by his Spirit.

Now the causes of diseases are being specified as much as possible. They lie in the disruption of etheric matrices, which, in turn, are generated by certain processes in the higher - for materialists - areas of consciousness.

What does it mean? This means that in human consciousness, or, as we say: in the Spirit, there are various mental processes. These are certain attitudes, thoughts, feelings, emotions, desires, etc. You believe that these formations exist in the stream of your consciousness, but do not affect the physical body in any way or have only a slight effect.

Yes, they cannot influence on their own. They are on the spiritual level. But, due to their influence on the etheric matrix, they, in a certain direction and in an inharmonious state, break it, and it begins to damage the physical body.

Where the etheric matrix is broken, cells begin to fail. The cell fails. It may occur in the eyes, throat, heart, or genitals. Depends on the location where the violation has accumulated.

This disorder, which breaks the body, we call, speaking in Russian, negative energy. This is energy that destroys. It is generated by consciousness, the Spirit of man. This affects the life energy in the matrix, which destroys the physical body. You only see the consequence.

This does not appear immediately. It may appear unnoticed at first. At first everything will be fine with your health. There will be disharmonious disturbances in the Spirit. We call them "blocks", energy is blocked. Then everything will come out on the physical plane in “weak” places. The block that a person has created in energy, in the etheric matrix, goes to the weakest point and begins to break it. Other parts of the body, with a healthier etheric matrix, resist the negative block more successfully and fail much more slowly or not at all.

Timecode: 49:20, #500 Healthy vision. The integrity of the human etheric matrix. The brain of earthlings and aliens.

Lirinimash – representative of the Galactic Federation of Light, planet Futissa, constellation Pleiades; a specialist in the study of earthly people, their physiology, the pathology of their organisms and energy methods of restoring people’s physical bodies;

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien life forms and space civilizations.

October 2022

January 16

Physical processes in glaucoma

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/fizicheskie-processy-pri-glaukome

The vitreous humor in the eye may undergo changes. It may become denser and more heterogeneous, causing it to lose its ability to absorb liquid. This fluid contains many nutrients, including antibodies, which protect and nourish the cells found in the eye. There are a lot of them there. Very important - there are many species. Not all cells can be connected to blood vessels. Some must be nourished and eliminate waste products using a fluid that is very similar in composition to your blood plasma, without red blood cells and other formed elements. It contains antibodies that protect, for example, from viruses.

Normally, in a state of harmony, all the fluid that is produced by special blood cells is supplied to each cell for nutrition and removal of toxic substances. Then it is excreted not only through the tubules, but also through the vitreous body. It consists of certain substances, the structure of which is like jelly. Depending on a variety of factors, it may become denser and more impermeable to this liquid. It begins to accumulate, has nowhere to go, presses back on the wall, what you call the “retina”. A network of blood vessels is visible if you look into the eyes. This is only the first half.

Your scientists are already well aware of damage to the optic nerve due to glaucoma. Sometimes it can occur with normal eye pressure numbers for another person. Vision can remain normal for a long time and the optic nerve intact at high levels of intraocular pressure. You attribute this to the individual sensitivity of the optic disc to pressure.

Now let’s think about what the optic disc consists of, and for what reason it is not protected from pressure as much as necessary. After all, the evolutionary mechanism must assume the presence of pressure in those places where it can arise. What does a nerve actually consist of? It is clear from neurons, axons, surrounded by a protein-lipid membrane of a certain structure. And for what reason does he not withstand the pressure?

It is known that, for example, branches of the ternary nerve pass through various places in the skull, which sometimes pass through.

With certain changes in either the bone or nervous structure, or a nearby organ that can put pressure on a nerve, this nerve can be compressed quite strongly. Up to a certain limit, no sensations arise. Only with the addition of an inflammatory process, or something else, some kind of injury, can neuritis of the ternary nerve occur.

A nerve that passes through narrow openings and experiences constant pressure even stronger than a nerve that is pressed by water does not experience problems transmitting signals. On the contrary, if the pressure on the nerve increases, it can lead to pain. What is pain? This is a signal that is very quickly sent to the brain that some organic structures are being destroyed.

Pain is an electrical signal. It even passes through a very compressed nerve. Nothing interferes. Even pressure doesn't stop it from passing. Then the question arises. How does the electrical signal of pain differ from the electrical signal that originates in the neurons of the retina and is collected along small nerves to the main optic nerve to convey information about what is seen? How might these two signals differ? One from pressure, it passes freely, but the second does not? Nothing. If you look at nature, both signals are electrical.

Both signals are generated by a certain energy in the neuron itself. Essentially, they are no different. Moreover, the pressure of the vitreous body does not lead to the fact that the soft tissues around the optic nerve head bend back and thereby reduce the pressure. There is no elasticity phenomenon occurring here, and the question immediately arises: for what reason does such a phenomenon exist?

Theoretically, with such a process, from the side of the vitreous body, from the side of the optic nerve head, from the side of the underlying tissues, the tissues could simply bend back under pressure due to their elastic properties and thereby protect the head nerve head from pressure. Also the characteristics of the nerve, which, by the way, is subject to pressure over a very limited area of its length.

With glaucoma, it is clear that not only this area is affected, but the damage, that is, the death of certain neurons, spreads further than the pressure. We can say that the vessels do not carry blood. Due to oxygen starvation and lack of nutrients, neurons die. But, many capillaries and small vessels approach the retina from the other side, just from the side where no liquid can squeeze them. So, the matter is completely different.

What's the matter? Everything that you see, everything that doctors see, they describe as it is. Medicine is mainly a descriptive science: saw - described. I saw an increase in eye pressure and described it. I saw damage to the optic nerve and described it. I saw the symptoms and described them. From the three different phenomena that you saw, you formed a clinical picture. I began to draw up a treatment protocol in order to, if possible, remove the causes of the clinical picture.

But it is impossible to relieve symptoms without knowing the exact etiology of the picture. Each symptom needs to be dealt with separately. This is the goal of therapy.

There are processes that do not occur in the physical body. Earthly medicine cannot establish them due to the lack of certain instruments and diagnostic methods.

What are these processes? It is these processes that affect the structures of the eye, which the doctor or diagnostician considers as physical consequences. He sees, for example, a crater - the consequences of a bombing. He doesn't see the bombing itself, because the plane has already taken off. So it is here. There is insufficient effect on physical structures in the form of a decrease in the production of intraocular fluid or an increase in the permeability of the tubules and vitreous body. This is a temporary effect. Moreover, it affects other organs. These substances are absorbed into the blood and affect various structures of the body, including the brain, heart and liver.

The main processes do not take place in the physical body. In the physical body you see only their consequences in the form of increased pressure and damage to the optic nerve. You can describe for a long time: how affected it is, to what extent, etc.

Defeat is the fading of the functions of the optic nerve due to the fact that the neuron loses its vitality and no longer transmits signals. One neuron, then another neuron, along the chain.

Spiritual Causes of Diseases

Now we can talk about helping people with whom this happened: whether it was discovered at the initial stage or later. We take eye diseases in general. Even a banal stye or conjunctivitis is a problem that signals disturbances in the etheric matrices, and therefore an inharmonious Spirit.

If this cause is not removed, it is almost impossible to physically cure without eliminating the energetic spiritual cause; it will return in a different form if the person himself does not eliminate it. It is possible to help a person at any stage.

There were cases when eliminating the spiritual cause of the disease, working on one's energy, almost completely restored the cells of the physical body. That is, the optic nerve again gained the ability and ability to conduct signals. And the posterior visual cortex of the brain, although not immediately, completely regained the ability to receive and interpret these signals into visual symbols and transmit them to the Spirit, consciousness.

In order to restore everything, you need to be ready to work on yourself, as on a person as a whole. Not only over the physical body, but also over your internal contents.

If it happens that vision is very weakened or lost (we are talking about an acquired form), it is important for a person to understand that a restructuring of his entire consciousness, all his life attitudes, all his memory, feelings, etc. is necessary. So that he can restore his spiritual energies and help the etheric matrices recover. When energy flows through them, correct, normal biochemical processes will begin. In the eye, if there is pressure, the retina acquires normal elasticity and deviates, preventing the vessels from being compressed.

You must first identify the causes through the Higher Self, try to eliminate them, dissolve the blocks, and so on, whatever you find. And then, after a period of adaptation of the etheric and physical body to spiritual changes, if necessary, you can contact specialists to prescribe treatment for the physical body.

Timecode: 30:24, #500 Healthy vision. The integrity of the human etheric matrix. The brain of earthlings and aliens.

Lirinimash – representative of the Galactic Federation of Light, planet Futissa, constellation Pleiades; a specialist in the study of earthly people, their physiology, the pathology of their organisms and energy methods of restoring people's physical bodies;

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien life forms and space civilizations.

October 2022

January 18

Contact and purity of the spiritual heart

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kontaktyorstvo-i-chistota-duhovnogo-serdca

The purer the spiritual heart, the purer the contact. Pure contact also occurs if the contactee has the skill to impartially relate to any person, to any people and to any action, regardless of personal emotional negative reactions, regardless of personal emotions as an earthly person.

If the contactee can treat absolutely all people, all countries and rulers impartially, then he will carry out the conduct cleanly. To do this, it is necessary to remember every moment and learn from experience that each Spirit is incarnated on Earth only temporarily, regardless of what role it plays on Earth.

In the Spiritual world we will all meet, look into each other's eyes. Many will look into each other's eyes when they find themselves on the same or similar levels, even if on Earth these roles were hostile to each other.

(Archangel Michael through Irina Podzorova)

January 23

Irina Podzorova on the difference between contact and schizophrenia https://blog.cassiopeia.center/irina-podzorova-ob-otlichii-kontakta-ot-shizofreni

According to the law of similarity, each contactee is approached by a curator closest to him in vibration. I recently talked with a psychiatrist (my friend), and she said that indeed, among schizophrenics, most often there are people who are negatively disposed (this may be hidden negativity) towards the people around them or towards themselves. That is, with some kind of emotional disturbances: with resentment, with anger, fear, that is, with low-frequency emotions. It is not surprising that they, having some increased sensitivity to the spiritual world, but at the same time having low vibrations, attract such curators who then begin to control them. For example, sending voices that people cannot get rid of. That is, in any case, this already goes over the Personality.

This contact gets out of control, and then the relatives or the person himself turn to doctors. And since our medicine is materialistic, they do not consider any possible plasmoids or humanoids, and use methods of treatment that temporarily calm a person and cause vibrations in his brain that are incompatible with different types of spiritual beings. But this is all temporary while the drug takes effect. And as soon as it is removed from the body, these vibrations will again attract a similar entity and everything will be anew.

Therefore, among schizophrenics it is believed that this disease cannot be cured forever without medication. And that a person can live and work only with the use of treatment. This person is a contactee, but his contact is unconscious and he is in contact with low-vibration entities. These could be plasmoids or entities from the spiritual world, and if he is in contact with a humanoid, then he perceives it incorrectly, as some kind of violence. And then he wants to get rid of it, complains to everyone that they interfere with his life, and feels negative towards his curators. This does not allow him to leave the state of these low-frequency vibrations. And those low entities that are on his channel (if they have such a structure that allows them to feed on this low-frequency energy), then they themselves begin to provoke him to this negativity in order to bring him to these emotions and receive food.

A person, although schizophrenic, still eats, moves, breathes... From this, any person produces life energy, which is released from the body (in the form of heat). But this energy, released from the body, is already charged with our thoughts, emotions, feelings on the subtle plane. High vibrational beings will find it difficult to be around this person because they will feel negativity from him. In the astral world this is very strongly felt. It sometimes feels like you were burned by nettles or boiling water was poured on you...

Medicines don't really help them, they don't raise their vibration. This requires comprehensive work both with such a person himself and with his environment. But only if the person himself is interested in raising his vibrations. That is, in getting rid of fears, even if it will be difficult for him to do this at the first stage of recovery. In getting rid of grievances, from anger, even if he is angry with someone. If he is not ready to forgive the person who offended him, then working with him will either not bring any effect at all, or the effect will be temporary.

In any case, it is possible to explain to such a person on a level accessible to him (if he is capable) that he has contact with beings, and not the production of his brain. He has a question about what they want from him, etc. Then it is better to immediately bring him into contact with the higher self; this usually works, since such people are quite sensitive. Unless of course there is a lot of negativity in them. And if there is, then you can repeat with them the mood “I am the universe,” for example.

I AM THE UNIVERSE. THE UNIVERSE IS ME.

THE POWER OF THE UNIVERSE IS MY POWER. AND MY SPIRIT IS PART OF THE STREAM OF EXISTENCE OF THE CREATOR OF ALL WORLDS.

HIS POWER WILL BE DIRECTED FOR THE GOOD OF ALL BEINGS RESIDING IN ALL WORLDS AND PLANS OF EXISTENCE.

REALITY WILL REMAIN IN TRUTH, AND LIES IN THE ILLUSION OF PERCEPTION WILL ALWAYS DISAPPEAR .

This is a MOOD for high vibrations, which on the planet Esler is read once a year by all its inhabitants at the same time. When transitioning to a new annual cycle (New Year in our opinion). This is a translation into Russian from Esler's. Translated by MidcasCaus. For a person, it increases vibrations.

You can also try to clean this person using your own methods. Energy, for example, or put him under the channel of cosmoenergetics, reiki... Work with him and arrange for him contact with his higher self. And already in this contact, ask whose contactee he is and how to balance the contact so that it does not cause harm. Then look at the situation.

Can Orthodox prayers help?

If a person doesn’t just pronounce them on paper, but sincerely believes in it, then yes. Any prayer is an appeal to God through an egregor. God hears us even when we pray in our own words. But when we pray according to the rules of some religion, we turn, as it were, with double power: to God himself and to God through the egregor.

If we ask God himself to save us from this entity (in the case of schizophrenia, for example), then he may not fulfill this request for the reason that he allowed this entity to appear so that a person could learn some lesson. So that he stops being afraid, for example, of this entity, and becomes stronger. Or learned to forgive.. So that he could see his problem at all.

Every negative has its positive. It was for the sake of this positive lesson that God could allow this situation to happen. God will reveal to man that the reason is in himself. That he himself attracts the essence. But if a person does not agree with this, if he did not agree to change, then God will not force it to change, because he gave him freedom of choice.

Timecode: 05:40, #69 Contact or schizophrenia: conversation with contactee Irina Podzorova.

Irina Podzorova is a contactor with extraterrestrial civilizations.

April 2020

The 25th of January

Life on Earth and in the Universe. General principles. Why is memory erased during incarnation?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/zhizn-na-zemle-i-vo-vselennoj-obshchie-principy-po

The basic laws of life of dense material bodies are universal, one might say, for the entire Universe. That is, for that part of the Universe that is made up of the dense material Universe. But this is only a small part of the entire volume of the Universe.

The peculiarity of the existence of dense material bodies is density, a certain volume, shape, etc. What are the features of the existence of embodied spirits in these bodies? Well, firstly, it is always an adaptation to the type of body that developed as a result of natural evolution, or as a result of artificial hybridization, i.e. brought by other civilizations.

In the Galaxy there are many creatures of dense material humanoids that appeared naturally through the evolution of the animal world. By natural evolution I do not mean a blind law of nature here, since according to the teachings of the Interstellar Union, any law, even the law of evolution, has its own legislator.

Briefly about the features of the embodied Spirit in a dense material body

The first is adaptation to this body, the second is the control of its instinctive nature, that is, it has instincts of every organ, every cell.

Each cell is also its own separate living organism, which also lives its own life, included in life - one might say, a kind of group intelligence of individual organs. And all this together makes up the instinct of the body, and the Spirit has its own instinctive energy, which, connecting with this program in the genes of this body, constitutes a certain unity, which is called the instinctive program.

In the interpretation from the archangel Raphael of the book of “Revelations” in the 12th chapter it is written that “ the woman stands clothed with the sun, and under her feet the moon ,” and then there Michael and his angel begin to fight the dragon, which they call Satan, and they cast him to the ground ... There we are not talking about a real person in this particular verse, we are talking rather about some spiritual phenomenon.

The word “Woman clothed with the sun” there refers to the soul.

And this soul, why is it clothed with the sun - the sun is always a symbol of light, a symbol of Christ, that is, that higher Self that exists, that God that is in you. When you connect with your higher self, you will feel that there is nothing there but light.

That is why it is written that your soul is clothed in light, that is, in the sun.

Everything was given at the level of consciousness of the contactee John the Theologian, who perceived this information directly from the astral body of Christ.

Despite the fact that Christ is now on Burkhad in a physical body, his Spirit still seems to continue to be next to the Father, i.e. in this merger. That's why he said, “My father and I are one ,” because he continues to be spiritually in this state.

His astral body can also come to Earth, that is, he flies. He also makes astral travel, like the rest of us. On Burkhad he leaves the physical. And he can come into contact with his followers, in this case with John the Theologian, who was his apostle on Earth, he knew very well that he was his disciple in incarnation, in his life on Earth, so he revealed to him the revelation that There is.

And under this dragon... I can talk on this topic endlessly, he told him very deep things, that is, Jesus to John. He said very deep things about our nature, about human nature. And he said this in an accessible form at the level of consciousness of this contactee. That is, at the level of consciousness of a person of the first century, who did not study modern psychology, genetics, astronomy, etc.

He had his own pictures of the world, and Jesus fit into it so organically and said it so that there was not a single incomprehensible word and he said everything in the language of symbols, that these symbols can have multiple meanings and each interpretation contains one of the facets of truth.

Well, I (ed. MidgasKaus) took the meaning of these interpretations from those archangels who directly communicate with Christ. They also communicate with Irina and, among other things, help decipher this symbolic language.

The dragon that is indicated there, its seven heads, ten horns, etc., indicates the instinctive power of your body and your Spirit. Some kind of unity of instincts. What you call animal nature. This is in no way a bad energy, it is not from the devil, it is given from God, and it is important for it that the Spirit does not degrade, but for it to develop, it is important to manage it correctly.

If you are riding a horse, and if you don't control it, it can carry you into the abyss. But this does not mean that the horse is bad, the horse is good, because on it you will reach your goal faster than on foot. Well, in this case, the rider on the horse is you, your Spirit. That is, your Spirit is you.

Each Spirit adapts to the body in which it is incarnated. Firstly, to its receptors - in the first months of fetal development (pregnancy is for mammals), there are also oviparous forms of living organisms, including intelligent ones. There are those who used development in the Paras, the same Daraals, for example. In any case, their fruit also develops in the apparatus, and the Spirit enters there. There are no obstacles for the Spirit; it makes no difference to it whether it passes through metal or body tissue. In any case, it will come true.

During fetal development, adaptation occurs to the body's receptors, to its nervous system. This is not an easy process and takes some time. After birth, the body’s receptors adapt to the existing environment.

Let's take a human example, but this applies to any humanoid civilization.

As soon as a child is born, he is bombarded by a world of smells, sounds, images flashing before his eyes, which cannot yet see far. And all this is intensively processed and stored in the temporary memory of the brain, that is, the one from which the Spirit then takes at the level of chemical connections in the brain. But this, naturally, is not the entire memory of the Spirit. For this purpose, they block the Spirit's memory of past incarnations so that it does not interfere with its adaptation.

Let me give you this example: if in a past life the Spirit was embodied in a reptilian, and he will remember this life, then later, when he is born as a human, but he will have a memory of life on the planet of reptilians in the appropriate environment, then when dad and mom take into his arms, he will simply be frightened by the sight of them. Because they should be like reptilians for him. This will make it very difficult to adapt. That is why mentors block memory before each incarnation. I say this because... For Christianity, one of the main objections to reincarnation is the lack of memory. But it is absent for a reason, but for the purposes and fulfillment of tasks of the Spirit.

The second is adaptation to instincts, when a child begins to grow, he adapts to the environment and his body. A person learns to walk, talk, look, pick up something, and control his body. Learns to understand what pain, pleasure, etc. are. In different forms. And at the same time he learns social connections - what mom and dad are, what is possible and not possible, and begins to form his own habits and concepts. This is a very useful function of the body so that when it grows up, it can continue to grow and develop.

This is the most useful stage of childhood, when the most basic concepts are laid down, before seven, before school age. The entire nervous system is developing intensively, and these concepts are being stored in the memory of the Spirit - what is good, what is bad, taking someone else's is not good, punishment may follow for this, if you did something bad, they will hurt you. The most primary concepts are at the hot-cold level. And all this will then influence subsequent experience.

Timecode: 01:17, #85 Conference of contactee Irina Podzorova with engineer from Finland Zebuniso Heikkinen (part 1).

MidgasKaus from the planet Esler is a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

May, 2020

January 27

What happens to the soul after death

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/chto-proiskhodit-s-dushoj-posle-smerti

If we talk about an earthling, his life span has already been determined before his incarnation. Naturally, it changes depending on the passage of lessons on Earth. It can be either extended or shortened, depending on how much it degrades or improves. But, nevertheless, the date of its final separation from the physical body, if it is natural, that is, it is not caused by force, becomes known in advance in the Spiritual world.

In the material world, shortly before the death of a person's physical body, the so-called Spirit Guides from level 21, also called Angel Guides, come. Their task is to guide the human Soul, separated from the body, into the Spiritual world. To guide her through the Astral and further to the level that she reached during her lifetime.

The usual practice is that Spirit Guides, one or two, depending on the Soul that leaves the body (it can relate to death differently) come to the material world and wait for the separation of the Soul, being directly near the physical body. So, even if there is no one physically near the dying person, in the Spiritual world those High Spirits are always waiting for him, who are always ready to help if anything happens. Even if a person dies who has degraded, for example, to the level of a demon, that is, he will belong to levels from 1 to 6, they will still come to meet him. Naturally, those demons who helped him degrade can also come, they can also come to their friend. However, Spirit Guides are always present.

When the Soul is finally separated from the body, the Spirit Guides meet it. It can be in a different state there, naturally, depending on the attitude towards death and how prepared the person is. The fact is that when the Soul leaves the body, its thought forms begin to form the surrounding reality around it, astral images. She may begin to see, for example, her deceased relatives or something else. Spirit Guides turn to the Soul.

If they see that the soul does not perceive them, they can take on an image that is close to them in order to still guide the Soul to that level, calm it down, and say that nothing special is happening. To guide her to the level of the Spiritual world that she has reached. If it's level 1 to 21, they do it. If it is a level above 21, they only take it to level 21, and then it will go on its own. Because it is impossible for the Spirit, which is at some level, to rise higher until it reaches it precisely in the material world.

As soon as the Soul was taken to the spiritual level where it is located, the rules are explained to it. That is, how can she live there, what can she do. And initially, the Soul that left the body still has the vital force that it took. Until your approximately 40 days after death, the Spirit is united with the life force.

Gradually this vital force dissipates from her. Usually within a few days. This is always individual, of course. But the average period is from 3 to 7 days, earthly, after the final separation from the body. Firstly, the thread of vital force is immediately interrupted, that is, it is impossible to return to the body. Usually within an hour after death, the thread of life force is severed. And from this moment the decomposition of those substances that were in the body begins. Those microbes that were in the body, they decompose this body into elements. With the goal that these molecules, these atoms, enter the environment for further construction. In the future, precisely because the life threads are broken, the Soul can no longer return to the physical body, although sometimes, when people are afraid of death, they try to do this, they try to return, but this is impossible.

The soul may try to return, especially since it is surrounded by relatives whom it feels sorry for, for example, who do not yet want to let it go. If relatives suffer greatly, then through this suffering they highlight the emotions of grief, the desire to see her, the emotions of non-acceptance of her death. Naturally, all emotions go into the Spiritual world. And since they themselves are alive, these relatives, then these emotions are reinforced and charged with their vitality. When they go into the Spiritual world, they partially remain in the Astral body, but a lot goes into the Spiritual world. And since they are charged with the image of this Soul that has left, then these emotions, charged with vital force, go to this Soul. Here it already depends on the evolutionary level of the Soul itself; it can accept this as its nourishment, its food. On an emotional level, it will look like she likes that they think of her this way, that she is remembered, and she will begin, for example, to want to continue to replenish her vitality. Moreover, she will lose it every day and around the 40th day, this is all very individual, but approximately, on average, at the 40th day, the Soul has already completely wasted its vitality and becomes a Spirit.

Thus, they begin to create a communication channel. And here everything depends on the development of the Soul itself, on its attitude to the situation... If it is ready to accept this channel, it can even further provoke thoughts about itself, it can come to them in the Astral, through a dream, and so on. Somehow provoke further action. Why might she want this? The fact is that the life of the Spirit without vital force is unnatural. Still, the Spirit is comfortable being surrounded by life force. She can live in the Spiritual World, but she will often visit the Astral World, and may remain in the Astral World.

The guides will come, she will simply refuse to go with them. But according to the laws of the Spiritual world, no one has the right to force, compel, and so on. They can only offer it to her, explaining everything as it is. Angel Guides, from time to time, can, of course, appear and they, most likely, will do so, will appear before this Soul. They will explain the consequences of such behavior, that she may degrade, and so on. The only way out here is for it to move on and develop. The only way to help this Soul here will be to block this channel, because otherwise you can finally tune it into parasitism with your life force.

In the future, this same connection cannot always exist, or relatives, they may get sick from this, because they lose vitality. Or, they will still go about their business and forget about this Soul. It will not be easy for her to rebuild her internal script. That is, she will have to work on this later in incarnation. If you truly feel sorry for your departed relatives, then you should not contribute to their degradation. You must, if this has already happened, and you feel that this channel has been created, you need to block it, because in this way you will, on the contrary, contribute to the development of the Soul. She will then move on and solve her problems.

Timecode: 18:44, #29 (transcription) The spiritual world and life after death: Irina Podzorova and Ivan Ektal (part 1).

MidgasKaus from the planet Esler is a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

November, 2019

January 29

The Spirit of Michael Newton on the completion of the incarnation

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/duh-majkla-nyutona-o-zavershenii-voploshcheniya

I knew a few days in advance, I felt that I was leaving this world, but I was absolutely not afraid, because I already knew that I would be met by my spiritual family, my spiritual brothers, with whom I may have spent more than one incarnation.

I've heard this hundreds of times, and now I wanted to see it for myself. And I knew that I already had an old, weak body, so I was not afraid. I closed my eyes and didn’t even feel suffocation or pain, but felt lightness and expansion, as if I was becoming a cloud. And it seemed to me that I occupied the entire room and turned into light steam. Imagine a room filled with steam, and I thought it was me.

If I didn't have this knowledge that I acquired, I might have thought that I was hallucinating or that I was going crazy, and I would have been scared. Because people are usually afraid of strange sensations in their body or in their head. They begin to think that they are going crazy, that they are hallucinating, which means they need help, otherwise they may harm themselves. People have such thoughts.

I was no longer afraid, but felt expansion, lightness, and then I stopped feeling my body altogether. I tried to open my eyes, but I didn't feel like I had them at all, so I just started looking in front of me with what I then thought were my eyes closed.

At first it was dark, a gray fog, then it began to dissipate, and there was more and more white Light. But I didn't feel either my arms or my legs. At first I was just a rarefied space, I was the Light itself, I felt like the eternal Light. And I understood, the thought came to me that I was dying, leaving this life, but I did not have any note of fear. I observed myself in the same way as I observed my patients who talked about the transition to the Spiritual world. I even thought: "Well, well, let's see what happens next, how similar it will be to what I've already heard . "

It was similar to some stories. But people told different stories: some were met by Angels, some by their relatives, some even rose alone, and only when they were already flying high did they meet the first living being. When I saw the Light around me, I felt like a huge ball. I began to look around to see my body or the world around me in this Light, but I saw nothing. I felt the presence of someone nearby, began to look at this point in space and saw three tall young men, completely in white clothes, coming out of the white Light towards me. They greeted me, I thought. Their lips did not move, but I clearly heard the greeting in my mind. I asked:

"Are you my spiritual family?"

They said:

"We congratulate you on the rise of your Soul to the level of an Angel."

That is, they felt my level.

"We welcome you"

- said one, and the second said, also without moving his lips:

"We welcome you to the World of Light, our brother in the Light of Divine Love."

And then I realized how important was the Love that I showed to every person I met on my life's path, no matter what their character and behavior. This Love truly elevates, lifts into the Higher worlds.

And then we moved to the 20th level, and I felt all the completeness of happiness and the meaning of my existence that I could only dream of while in my physical body. I sometimes felt echoes of this state, but they quickly passed, being replaced by the bustle of everyday life. And it's there forever.

Timecode: 1:05:00, #524 Live with the spirit of Michael Newton.

The spirit of Michael Newton - hypnotherapist, writer.

December 2022

February 6

About the reality of the space around us. Balance of material and spiritual https://blog.cassiopeia.center/nasha-materialnaya-vselennaya-v-kotoroj-my-sejchas

Our material Universe, in which we now live, is real and unreal at the same time. What does it mean?

It is real from the point of view of our direct experience, which we perceive through the receptors of those physical bodies or subtle bodies in which all Spirits are embodied. It is unreal from that point of view if you look at the material world as a creation of itself, because, in fact, it is an absolute reality.

What is absolute reality? This is what really exists and there is nothing other than this phenomenon. If you look at reality from this position, it becomes clear that only the Spiritual world, the spiritual Light, which actually exists in all Spirits, has real reality. And not only in all Spirits. The material world that we see does not constitute the whole of reality, but one of its infinitely small facets of the real reality of the Spiritual world. Embodied Spirits have such a peculiarity of perception that if they live more by the interests of their body, their flesh, that is, if you look from an esoteric point of view, by the work of the three lower energy centers, then for them the material world becomes completely real, and the Spiritual world, to Unfortunately, it becomes an illusion.

The word “chakra” is a symbol, a designation of some spiritual reality of the structure of our common spiritual structure, of which the Spirit in general, any intelligent born Spirit, consists. And if a person (and we are talking here and now specifically about an earthly person and I am answering you as a representative of the Earth) lives, to a greater extent, in the interests of satisfying the instincts of his body, then he tunes the vibrations of his Spirit to the vibrations of his body completely. And for him the perception changes in the sense that he, even as Spirit, begins to consider himself a product of matter. You call this worldview materialism.

There is another paradox, which lies in the fact that if a person begins, to a greater extent, to live in the interests of his Spirit, fully realizing himself as a spiritual being, and the body is only his temporary instrument, then the more he lives the life of the Spirit, and performs for the body only the necessary functions for his survival and for the birth of the same Spirits and nothing more, the more he begins to realize the spiritual reality as a real reality, and the material world as either an illusion, or, most often, only a reflection of the real reality of the Spiritual world.

Modern man, the earthling, has, as you know, projections of seven chakras, that is, seven energy centers, manifested in his body. Three of them are the lowest. When I say the word “lower”, this does not mean that they are worse than the highest, they are low vibration, that is, lower in vibration. Three of them are higher in vibration, high vibration. When a person’s thinking is at a certain vibration, of certain energy centers, then he adapts his worldview to these vibrations. And, naturally, by rebuilding his worldview, his entire behavior is automatically rebuilt. In the state of manifested incarnation here on Earth, it is possible to balance the three upper energy centers and the three lower energy centers through the center, and our center is in the fourth energy center.

If balance is found there, if the fourth energy center is fully developed correctly, if there are no negative vibrations associated with misunderstanding of manifestations of love and acceptance, understanding and forgiveness, then balance is automatically built. It's similar to how you used to have those scales that had to reach balance with equal weight. And they had a balance at one point. This point is reached in the fourth energy center. If it is correctly developed, then the balance, as you said, of the spiritual and material is built correctly. And not only is it built correctly, but a person acquires correct, true priorities, which express him not as a material being, but as a spiritual being that uses matter in the interests of his spiritual development.

But if the fourth energy center is not balanced, if there is a rejection of at least something, even material, even spiritual, and even with elements of condemnation, resentment and the like, then the balance will not be built and something will prevail. And this predominance of one is, in fact, harmful to spiritual development.

Spiritual development can also be destructive. That is, both materialism and a misunderstanding of spiritual development. Just as excessive materialism does not allow one to set true priorities and look at things from a spiritual point of view, so going into spirituality, condemning matter in any of its forms, makes a person a religious fanatic. In fact, there is nothing good about this either. If you are a true believer who follows the path of love, then this is very well expressed in the word “Bhakti”, that is, you already have it all. This is balancing along the fourth energy center.

Not only is love developing there, you are also being cleansed of all negative vibrations. And sincere forgiveness of everyone and forgiveness of yourself, and building such a position that you do not rise above others, but also do not humiliate yourself, that is, keep a balance. I want to emphasize that this is, naturally, not only in your religion, it is in all earthly religions, but it is only expressed in different words, taking into account the mentality and faith of the Teacher and those who followed him (parampara).

Timecode: 01:55, #33 God, Krishna, soul, reincarnation, aliens.

MidgasKaus from the planet Esler is a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

December 2019

February 7

Causes of the spread of the disease “celiac enteropathy”

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/prichiny-rasprostraneniya-zabolevaniya-glyutenovay

Mead says it's an allergy to the unusual. Due to the fact that farmers use herbicides and pesticides when growing wheat. They also began to add a lot of bleaching agents to premium flour. Many antifungals are added to your grain to prevent ergot, smut and other fungal diseases.

The body is already accustomed to reacting pathologically to those foods that contain gluten. Because he received this substance along with another that was alien to him. Like poison, or something. Therefore, the incidence is growing every year. Unformed immunity, the immune system cannot recognize all this and cleanse itself.

The finished product already contains all these additives, and not only in bread. You have a lot of artificial additives. This was not the case in ancient times. Therefore, when earthlings ate bread, they ate bread. When they ate meat, they ate this substance. And now they eat cookies and instead of flour, gluten, they introduce a complex of chemicals that the liver needs to somehow remove. And if an adult without allergic reactions, stomach and liver problems copes with this without problems, then the child’s body is disoriented, because they break down the enzymes that are produced to digest starch and gluten, in this case amylase, protease, etc. But there are substances that remain and do not go away. The program in the DNA of the liver does not know where to put it all, and intoxication begins. And then the body can begin to react to anything in this way.

And the psychological state of the child also plays an important role in this. Because for a child who rejects his parents or feels rejected by them, it will all start easier, as if the immune reaction was launched incorrectly. You have a combination of these factors. And then it is very difficult to return the body to normal production of those enzymes that will absorb these substances.

Timecode: 27:50, 124 Broadcast topic: Psychosomatics of diseases: subconscious, immunity, spirituality, positive thinking. How does the virus work?

MidgasKaus from the planet Esler is a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien life forms.

August, 2020

February 9th

Is it possible to restore damaged teeth or grow new ones?

---

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/mozhno-li-vosstanovit-isporchennye-ili-vyrastit

For Russia and for all countries where they consume large amounts of fast carbohydrates, this is a big problem. The fact is that your teeth, as separate organs, are adapted to a certain type of nutrition. Now they are undergoing evolutionary development, adapting to the changes that have occurred in the food industry over the past two hundred years.

The tissues themselves change slowly under the influence of the environment, but in any case, they suffer from a changed diet, to which our teeth are not adapted. Teeth suffer, firstly, from the large amount of sugar consumed in our century. It is known that 150-200 years ago, not to mention more ancient times, when the genes responsible for these very teeth were formed, the consumption of sweets and sugar was forty times less than what the average person now consumes in childhood. Secondly, there was more roughage food, not as refined as it is now. It had to be actively chewed and, as a result, there was more blood circulation and nutrition of these tissues.

In ancient times, people were exposed to other diseases. These were infectious diseases. People died in wars when their teeth had not yet decayed. That's why the skeletons and skulls you find have all or most of the teeth present.

For example, in the 16th century, a person 40-45 years old was already considered a person of quite respectable age. Naturally, the time of youth was different then. The time of birth of children for a girl of 13-14 years old was quite normal. She could easily get married and have a child. This is what happened, for example, with the Mother of God, who gave birth to Christ at the age of 14. Then it was clear to everyone that she was already an adult girl who could get married.

As for today's realities, the condition of your teeth largely depends on nutrition. As I already said, large consumption of sweets and refined carbohydrates in general creates an acid-base environment in the oral cavity in which bacteria actively develop, releasing pigments that destroy your teeth. Some of the calcium, phosphorus and other substances in tooth enamel are used by them for nutrition. And since they are needed to feed dozens of species of bacteria and protozoa, they will all release the enzyme onto the surface of your teeth. By creating microcracks and holes, the substance they need goes into a soluble form and is absorbed. This is their way of eating.

What can you do here? Unlike other bones (arms, legs, ribs), the cells of which tend to divide. Although slowly, with difficulty, requiring large reserves of the body, they have this property. Thanks to this, fractures heal. And sometimes it is even impossible to distinguish where this fracture was - these bones knit together so well. Especially in a young body, which is actively regenerating due to a high level of metabolism. But when it comes to teeth, it’s more complicated.

Earthlings have a change of teeth; this mechanism appeared because the first milk teeth are not adapted for adult life. They are adapted for softer foods. That is why nature has provided a mechanism for changing these teeth. It's in your DNA. Nature programmed molars for constant use. The tissues of the jaw no longer have reserves to replace lost teeth. The rudiments of molars are already present under the baby teeth of children. There is room for cells to grow and divide, and all this happens quite quickly. And when an adult loses his molar, a new one does not grow in its place, since this is not provided for by DNA. Some of your animals have this function written into their DNA and their teeth can regenerate.

Is it possible to change the DNA program?

Here we are already entering the realm of speculation. Because at the moment your bodies and your Planet are in such a vibrational state in which your nature manifests itself in this way. But with an increase in the level of your general awareness, the purification of the noosphere of the Planet, with a quantum transition to a new vibrational level, your bodies will gradually change. Including those etheric shells that surround each DNA helix.

Each cell and each DNA strand is surrounded by a special etheric shell. They also have their own vibrations and they can also be changed. But they can be changed only by increasing the vibrations of the aura and its astral and mental layers. This influence cannot be immediate. Changes will occur over generations, gradually passing on their DNA to their offspring, who in turn continue to develop and increase the vibrations of their Spirit, and through this automatically their body.

Timecode: 7:43, #98 The secret of the human DNA chain. Lifespan, causes of aging, Schumann resonance.

MidgasKaus from the planet Esler is a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien life forms.

June, 2020

12th of February

Ethereal Bloodshed Damage

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ehfirnye-povrezhdeniya-ot-krovoprolitiya

This is relevant not only in the case of termination of pregnancy, the killing of a certain fetus, but also in the case of murder, the deliberate deprivation of the life of any sentient being. Precisely the one who possesses the immortal Spirit. Not the animal Soul, there are slightly different energies.

A Spirit that removes another Spirit from the embodiment in any way, even if it is at a distance, even if the killer is not nearby, still this energy through the Astral will damage his etheric field. This is not a punishment, but a certain consequence of such a decision, which he will then have to pass on to his children. This ethereal damage is called "ethereal bloodshed damage." This is not necessarily from blood; you can kill with poison, for example, but still take you out of incarnation. Even in this case, the killer's etheric field is damaged. There is an article about the consequences of murder.

The more directly killed by this person, the more damaged his etheric field is. This can cause different consequences. Also, if there was a person who ordered the murder and there was a perpetrator, then the etheric field is damaged in both, they both participated in it. If a person ordered a murder, he will not stand aside. Moreover, for the doctor who directly performed the abortion, killed the child’s body and interrupted the incarnation, the etheric field is also damaged.

These are all the damages that (if both a man and a woman want to conceive a child through their cells, which contain etheric matrices) people will pass on to their unborn child. This will affect him in different ways. It can lead to the degradation of the generic egregor (it acts somewhat similarly), it can lead to some tendency towards aggression of this Spirit that is being born. The vibrations of his developing brain will already be prone to mood swings through hormonal imbalances. For example, he will have an innately elevated level of stress hormone, or he will have difficulty keeping his vibration high, harder than without this damage.

There are also consequences of falling into some kind of addiction, mental, and sometimes even physical illness. They can manifest themselves both in the person himself with damaged etheric matrices, and in his offspring. This is passed on until the 7th generation, but gradually fades away if there are no more killings. Moreover, the tendency to aggression and solving problems by force, including through murder, is also transmitted through this etheric matrix. The Spirit that incarnates will be prone to the same violation.

On some planets of the Interstellar Union, which came to this knowledge through their spiritual practices and contacts, there were even such laws even before joining the Interstellar Union that if there was some kind of murderer, he was forbidden by a special law to give birth to children, so as not to spread this damage.

There was a planet where a similar law was adopted. There was a war there, and the male representatives were at war. In their absence, women passed a law not to bear children from those who were at war. And when they arrived, all the women refused to have sex with them. And they entered into contact only with those about whom there was reliable information that he had not been in the war.

By this they moved their civilization to abandon wars. Because no one agreed to go to war for political goals during subsequent calls from the governments of certain states. Because women refused to procreate with them. There was such a planet.

This affects the etheric level of DNA, which is also passed on to the offspring. There is a cleansing technique. Even after the war with the Selbetians, where Ashtar Sheran was, the Burkhadians who won this war, they also participated in the disincarnation of intelligent Spirits. Among other things, there were weapons on ships that were used on other ships. A ball of plasma turned on, which surrounded the ship, burning its energy protection. Energy was released in the area of \u200b\u200bthe vacuum where the ship was located. He crumbled along with all the humanoids that were there. Their bodies instantly evaporated and passed into an ionic state, like a cloud.

How many of them there were on that ship, 20 or 200, it didn't matter anymore. Of course, this could be configured automatically, but the fact is that the automatic combat systems needed to give orders, to direct weapons of destruction against the Selbetites in a certain way.

Among other things, Ashtar Sheran participated in this; he also disembodied the Spirits, representatives of Selbet. There was no longer any way to stop the destruction of the planets. Because there were repeated calls for them to move on to negotiations, to find a compromise, but they turned off the means of communication and continued their work. Therefore, we were forced to undergo disincarnation, with regret, with Love, without any hatred.

But since these were intelligent Spirits embodied in bodies, during their destruction, disincarnation, naturally, their etheric energy damaged the etheric matrices of the warriors of the Interstellar Union and the Galactic Federation of Light. Ashtar Sheran and many Burkhadians who later decided to have children underwent a system of psychological and spiritual cleansing from these conditions. Even those who decided not to give birth to children, not to embody, did it for themselves, so that their etheric field was completely healthy. So that no damage comes out.

Because if warriors and soldiers are not cleansed of the energies of murder and bloodshed, then this violation can reach the level of the brain, damage the etheric matrix of the brain, and they will begin to develop mental disorders, such as delusions of persecution, aggression, and this will lead to a complete blockage of their lives and goals. All these pictures of war will appear before them in consciousness and in dreams, they will not be able to get away from it, because the etheric body is damaged. It is polluted by these energies.

There is a special technique for cleansing the energy of murder 👇

Practice “Cleansing from the energies of murder” to restore the etheric body https://youtu.be/V3r3ycwR9sI?si=FTcYLXojp27ZYnuW

Service content. Meditation on the harmonization of the Earth's energy between different countries and the removal of aggression from the egregors of these countries "Union with the ray of Christ Consciousness" https://cassiopeia.center/tpost/uecbphbgf1-meditatsiya-soyuz-s-luchom-christosoznani Timecode: 59:54, #517 Hellinger constellations, family psychology. Psychodrama, self-knowledge. Generic egregor, abortion.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

December 2022

February, 15

How to increase your level of awareness

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kak-povysit-uroven-osoznannosti

Awareness is the Spirit's ability to work with its emotional states, to honestly analyze events around itself and relationships with others, and assess the degree of spiritual development that occurs with this Spirit. Awareness can only be increased through experience. It cannot be increased in any artificial way, which will be connected with the fact that a person does something and his level of awareness will definitely increase. It is largely impossible to do this by any artificial or ritual means.

Vibrations are an energetic characteristic of a person's aura, which helps him tune in to the spiritual world, to contact his Higher Self. The more the level of vibrations increases, the more the level of awareness grows. For this, on Esler, on Shimora and on Burkhad, there is one most effective method - this is communication with your Higher Essence. As I already said, it is called on Earth "The Higher Self" and it can replace the usual ritual prayer, any ritual, mantra or any other action that people perform to contact the spiritual world.

What prayer is is a conversation with God in that form of address, in the form of one person addressing another. Mantra is a similar form, but it is no longer in the form of address, but in sound vibrations. That is, the implementation of sound vibrations, tuning either one or another egregor, or a spiritual essence, or a plasmoid civilization. You can effectively increase your awareness only by working with your emotions, with your etheric, astral, mental and other shells in the aura. That is, analyze their state, the state of energy centers, which are projections on the physical body of certain spiritual qualities.

There are many descriptions of these spiritual qualities in your religious, esoteric literature, which were written by embodied Spirits from higher spiritual levels, contactees, and so on. I will give only general advice: to increase your personal level of awareness, free yourself from low vibrational states that are caused by fears, anxieties, resentments, doubts and all other negative emotions and feelings. This is the first condition.

The second condition is the acquisition of knowledge about the spiritual world. In your case, this is possible through the spiritual systems that exist in your society. Starting from religious and esoteric systems and ending with your own spiritual experience, which is carried out in the process of life, in the process of contacts with various curators, in the process of astral travel and so on.

And the third is the development of positive qualities, positive energy. This is a set of those energies that correspond to Divine qualities. You all know that Divine qualities are light, goodness, life, love, which can now be named in dozens of words. But I'm sure everyone understands what we're talking about. Because in reality, innate qualities are embedded in the Spirit of every person, in the Soul of every person, which are called “natural moral Law”. And according to this natural moral Law, any person perfectly understands what good is, what good is and what its absence is.

Development of positive and transformation of negative qualities into positive ones, by converting the energy previously released to create negative emotional-etheric blocks in the human aura. This increases a person's level of awareness. And further specification can be done from the standpoint of individual counseling . A person, being at one level or another, having himself wished to increase his level of awareness, either does it independently using one or another of the methods listed above, or, if he believes that he needs an adviser on this path, a spiritual teacher, so to speak, he turns to to whomever he wishes.

The student always finds his Teacher by vibrations. Speaking in more general terms, any student of any esoteric school or just an authority can only be approached by someone who matches his vibrations. To put it in earthly language, he won’t like the other one. It will not suit his level of perception. And here there will be an individual question for everyone, how exactly this particular person can increase the level of awareness. But I have already outlined the general path.

Timecode: 41:00, #105 Conference of contactees with extraterrestrial civilizations in St. Petersburg, June 12, 2020 (Part 2).

MidgasKaus from the planet Esler is a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien life forms.

June, 2020

February 17

About blood groups. What does blue blood mean?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/o-gruppah-krovi-chto-znachit-golubyh-krovej

The Rh factor is just one of many genes of the primate whose body participated in your creation. As you can see, there are many other genes in your body from this primate that are not turned off. And if there is no Rh factor in your blood, this does not mean that other genes are not turned on. This only indicates a mutational change in DNA that has been inherited. In reality, blood formation is still ongoing. Those mutations are possible that will lead to the identification of people with 5.6 blood groups.

What is blood type? These are certain sets of proteins that are found in blood plasma and erythrocytes, as well as in platelets and leukocytes, in its formed elements. What are proteins and where do they come from? Proteins are the building materials of cells that are taken from the environment when a person eats. Why are they like this for one person, and completely different for another? A cell fragment such as DNA is responsible for this. Absolutely all the proteins that make up your hair, your skin, your blood and generally all the structures of your body are biochemically encoded there.

If group 1 does not contain the proteins that are in 2 and 3, then it is called 1, 2 and 3. And the fourth contains those proteins that are in 2 and 3. Why is it encoded this way? Because initially people were with the most common blood type 1. And only then, in the process of mutation, later, switched-off DNA sections appeared. This happens for completely different reasons, which can form either during cell division, intrauterine development, or even before the conception of this organism. Various factors can act, ranging from diseases to the effects of poisons and even increased solar radiation.

About the blue blood clans. Underneath this image lies a very real basis: in ancient times, many government families that were in power were indeed either the children of aliens or their descendants. This is very common in Russia. Since you are an Aryan race, you had very common contacts with the Shimorians, whose skin color and blood color are somewhat bluish, since it contains a lot of organic copper compounds.

In ancient times, many leaders of the Aryan, and then Slavic and European tribes were descendants of marriages between Shimorians and earthlings. This is where the concept of blue blood comes from. Nowadays blood types have dissipated, since mixing still occurs within families. And if there are only family ties, then mutations are inevitable due to the fact that similar DNA carries suppressed genes for various diseases. A well-known case of hemophilia in royal families.

Timecode: 1:07:43, #105 Conference of contactees with extraterrestrial civilizations in St. Petersburg, June 12, 2020 (Part 2)

MidgasKaus from the planet Esler is a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien life forms.

June, 2020

February 22

The purpose of the Soul's incarnation on our planet

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/cel-voploshcheniya-dushi-na-planete-zemlya

Can the Soul incarnate in other civilizations, or does it only have a human nature?

Incarnations are possible both on Earth and on any other planet. Incarnations may alternate. Several may take place on Earth, several in another world, on another planet. And, naturally, incarnations are possible in subtle-material civilizations, plasmoid civilizations, of which there may even be more simply due to a greater number of density levels. There are tens of times more such civilizations than dense material ones. They also embody the same intelligent Spirits that we do. Each of us was incarnated in plasmoid civilizations .

Many Spirits wanted to incarnate on your planet. Since through hybridization a unique creature was created with a unique set of properties and energies, with the combination of genes of an earthly primate and Selbetians, Burkhadians and Tumesoutians. The purpose of the Spirits who come to your planet is to adapt to this body, to this environment, to this world and to use all this for their spiritual development and the spiritual development of the people around them. That is, this allows you to develop those qualities that are very difficult or take a very long time to develop in other worlds. In this respect, your planet is unique.

For example, incarnations on Burkhad and incarnations on Esler, and incarnations in plasmoid worlds, they also allow you to develop some qualities that are difficult or impossible to develop on Earth. I want to remind you that incarnations on any planet during one or another period of its existence at one time or another are also not accidental. You could well have incarnated in the past or future of the Earth. But since you have incarnated here and now, it means you need to go through your lessons, your tasks in this particular time, in this particular society, in this particular environment.

Mentors of the spiritual world, who are consultants of the 22nd level of the spiritual world, Consulting Angels, they always advise the Soul to incarnate in one or another world to gain the missing qualities. What qualities are most suitable for developing on your planet? There are actually many of them, but the most important ones are the development of love, the fight against xenophobia, the fight against intolerance, humility, patience, the development of hard work and the ability to live in this society, remaining the spiritual being that came here. Despite the materialism of your society, remain that spiritual being who remembers its Light. This develops faith, self-confidence, faith in this Light and awareness of the perception of this Light.

Timecode: 10:00, #105 Conference of contactees with extraterrestrial civilizations in St. Petersburg, June 12, 2020 (Part 2)

Tiar is a specialist in creating mental images for setting up channels for earthlings, a specialist in mental contacts, planet Tumesout.

June, 2020

February 27

MidgasKaus about the power of love energy

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/midgaskaus-o-sile-ehnergii-lyubvi

Each embodied spirit, as has been said many times, is light, part of the light. Any part of the world is light itself. The same light that loves itself and loves others. It's just that the part of him that is embodied can have a distorted understanding of love, both his own and that of others.

If you show by your own example your love, selfless love, highest love. Not the one that demands something in return, but the light that is visible. Then those people who surround this person, and their Spirit, their Higher Self, which looks through these people at the world around them, will remember that they are also like this in their essence. They also recognize this light in themselves.

But there is a small nuance here. Those habits that have already formed in people are habits at the level of the mind, on the mental plane. And at the level of the astral and etheric body, negative low-vibration formations can form, which are called energy blocks, larvae, pseudo-intelligent entities that the embodied spirit can create in its aura.

After all, as we have already said, the Spirit is endowed with all the qualities of God, including the creation of living beings. Plasmoids realize this in the form of creating animal souls. And we, embodied Spirits, are in the creation of our thought forms. If they are positive, if they are filled with light, they become our helpers, one might say, they charge objects, they charge the space around us and help. And, if they are negative, if they are saturated with low vibrational states of anger, fear, resentment, then they become larvae. But they are created by us, they are not immortal.

They have something like a pseudo-intelligence, very similar to robots, it's just not an electronic device, but an energy one. And, like any energy being, it strives to fulfill, firstly, the desire of its owner, and secondly, to prolong its existence. They can prolong their existence only due to the same energy that created them.

Therefore, if a person has these formations and there are many of them already in his aura, as soon as his spirit begins to recognize itself as light, then a struggle will begin in him. The struggle between the light and these larvae, which will begin to decompose into the same light. But, possessing a pseudo-mind, they will begin to cling to this pseudo-life, and send a person into his mind, into his thoughts and ideas, old attitudes, grievances, wounds, fears, so that he releases more energy.

There is nothing stronger than the energy of love in the Universe, because it created everything and it supports everything, everything is based on it. And, in any case, if a person continues to cling to the light, feel himself to be the light, continue to manifest himself as the light, despite the temporary aggravation of his internal struggle, then the larvae will go away and dissolve. A person will become the same as the one who sets an example for him.

Timecode: 1:00:25, #78 Kabbalah. Questions from a representative of the Kabbalah Academy. History of mankind.

MidgasKaus from the planet Esler is a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien life forms.

May, 2020

March 3

Can Spirit plan an incarnation to lower the vibration?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/mozhet-li-duh-zaplanirovat-voploshchenie-dlya-poni

When the Spirit is in the Spiritual World, he feels there at the level where he is. In general, the amount of Light in the entire Spiritual world, the amount of Divine Light is the same, it's just that the Spirit feels this or that amount of Spiritual Light depending on its vibrations, on how much it has prepared itself to perceive this Light. And here there is already a difference: the more the Spirit feels the Divine Light at its level, the more happy it is from love and from understanding and awareness that it exists; and the higher the level, the more causeless happiness simply from the fact that you exist, and the greater the desire to share this happiness.

Therefore, if the Spirit is at some level, it always strives to raise it in order to experience more love and show more love in itself, because when you are in the Spiritual world, you cannot plan to lower your level just because of that the reason that a decrease in level is understood in the Spiritual world as a decrease in the happiness and love in which he is at the moment.

The Spirit chooses incarnation together with its consulting angels, who will not agree to lower it, they will simply deny it incarnation, since such a goal will bring disharmony to the material world, the purpose of which is to help the Spirit rise to God, and not vice versa.

Timecode: 35:12, #494 The image of happiness on Earth and among aliens. The ruler's code and the laws of society. Spiritual evolution

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

September 2022

March 20

Emotions of the rapist and the victim

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ehmocii-nasilnika-i-zhertvy

Speaking about rape, I can say that it, like any other action in the material world, is not accidental. There are a complex of reasons. Two Spirits who met for some reason were attracted to each other. The one who committed the violence could not and did not want to cope with his instinctive nature. Sexual desire is mostly an instinctive desire.

This contact is not about spiritual love. Here we are talking about satisfying the desires of the body or satisfying one's egoistic aspirations, but not about spiritual love for this woman as a Spirit. We are talking about attraction to her body. Often, a man who has raped a woman, after the violence, immediately develops hostility towards this woman, anger, even hatred.

In the beginning he had an attraction. He, wanting to make contact, is refused, and this begins to anger him. He wants to get what he wants and is angry that she is preventing him. The rapist has an attitude in sex that he is a consumer, he is obliged to provide. I'm speaking in the most general terms now, of course. She refuses, and this angers him.

After the violence, the anger may intensify to the point that he does not want to see her, and sometimes even wants to destroy her. Many rapists hate the victim who did not resist more. They can explain that the woman herself attracted him and deceived him, that she did not want to make contact, and made him guilty. If she didn't resist, she might make him even more furious. Such a submissive woman.

Responsibility of the parties in case of rape

How responsible is a woman herself? We don't use the word "guilty" because guilt is a feeling that seeks punishment. And responsibility is a feeling that seeks not punishment, but the possibility of circumventing similar situations.

In our psychology, the feeling of guilt is not used, as if a woman is to blame for something, but the feeling of responsibility is used. The word "guilty" is also not used to refer to a rapist. If he committed violence, what could be his punishment? Punishment for violence is revenge against it. This will not help raise his vibration.

He needs help so that he can dissolve his block of fear and anger, which is closely intertwined with his sexual desire, with instincts. Otherwise, he will repeat this if he is not helped. Here we use the word "responsibility". He is responsible for this, and how responsible she is - it all depends on the circumstances.

If the rape happened in some place where she could attract the attention of people, and he attacked her, and she did not try to resist, then her responsibility increases. With active resistance, it is very difficult for a man to carry out his plans, of course, if he does not hit her or tie her up. If he holds it, it will be very difficult to accomplish his plans.

With active resistance and struggle, a man in a state of sexual arousal is very vulnerable, and it is very easy to interrupt his arousal. Of course, if there is active resistance.

If there were circumstances such as threats to use weapons, then, of course, the responsibility lies more with the man, because under the fear of death, her instinct of self-preservation was activated, and she went for it.

Having a child after rape

It is also very important to mention that a woman can become pregnant as a result of rape. There are such cases. It is as a result of rape, from a man whom she sees for the first time and who will later be sent to prison. Many women have a question: what to do with pregnancy, what to do with the child?

The answer in the Interstellar Union is clear. This is a living Spirit and, firstly, he is not responsible for the actions of his father, and secondly, as I already said, any Spirit chooses its parents. This means that he chose, based on vibrations, precisely these two parents through whom he can incarnate: dad and mom.

If he no longer had the opportunity to incarnate, he can bring them together, arrange a meeting for them in just this way. The conception of a living Soul is not accidental. At any conception, there is a Spirit who is waiting for the female and male cells to merge. Only then does he introduce the energy of his Soul into the first cell of his body.

He could incarnate through this mother, but he could not through her man, who did not match the vibrations. This could happen. In the Spiritual world, he is looking for mentors, curators of that person, his father, from whom he can incarnate and somehow builds a chain of events in the material world. By influencing people's thoughts, etc., he brings them both to the meeting place. This is a perennial combination. It has been waiting for its implementation for many years.

Timecode: 16:38, #499 Psychology of violence, childhood trauma. Guilt and responsibility - what's the difference? The Power of Forgiveness

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

October 2022

March 21

MidgasCaus about the problems of earthly medicine

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/midgaskaus-o-problemah-zemnoj-mediciny

I believe that the problem with your medicine is that they do not sufficiently deal with spiritual causes and their identification. They simply look at illness as a human condition that needs to be eliminated by any means. They simply look at the body, but do not look at the reasons that led to this. But the Spirit is the reason for what happens to the body. Every child here knows this. Injuries and physical illnesses that are received have not only physical causes, but also spiritual ones.

For example, a person walked in the cold without a hat, became hypothermic, and developed otitis media. There was a wind blow, local hypothermia, and his own microflora became active. You already know that human blood is not sterile. There are many different organisms there, and the microflora is activated under certain conditions. It would seem that otitis media, hypothermia - what spiritual reason could there be? Purely physical. It needs to be removed. But no! The spiritual reason is that he saw the weather, he saw it as a danger to the health of his body. But he neglected this - this is a lack of care for the body. This is already a spiritual reason - his relationship to the body. If this spiritual cause is not eliminated, he will find himself in these and similar situations many times, undermining the health of his body. The capabilities of the immune system and the body's ability to adapt are very great, but not endless. And that’s why we don’t have problems with addiction to various substances.

We absolutely do not need this, because with us every Spirit, every child can enter a meditative state and communicate with the Higher Self, we teach him. Can exchange energies with it, enter the Light, merge with the Light, leave the body, communicate with plasmoids, communicate with Angels. You don't need to take anything to do this. This is all in the person himself. To be in a good mood, to feel the energies, to see different beings. All this can be done without any interference in the body at the chemical level.

The relationship between the level of development of medicine and awareness

This is the plan for the development of your civilization. For changes to happen quickly, within 3-5 years, it is necessary for at least 60% of the adult population to be conscious. Those. with such convictions that they are not bodies, but Spirits! The remaining 40% will not be able to resist them.

If you look at the planet in general, by egregors, today this percentage is around 11%. Just 10 years ago this figure was 7%. The more spiritual knowledge spreads, the more people awaken to communicating with their Higher Self , the more they will pass this on to others, including their children, and the faster it will grow - exponentially. Then mass wars and a large number of crimes will no longer be possible.

There are many contactees who create their own spiritual projects. There they work with people and carry this information through the awareness of another contactee, but it has in common that God is Light, God is love. Of course, this will be in the terminology of another contactee, through his level of awareness and through his vocabulary.

This is not considered interference in the path of your civilization, because the listeners have no contactees without physical evidence! This is decided by the people themselves. There must be a non-violent way here. Civilization itself must make a free choice.

The future has many options. If information about this spreads quickly enough, if many people believe it as true and want to not only believe, but check and talk with their Higher Self , they will feel this Light and be convinced of it. Their lives will improve, their relationships with others will improve, there will be more meaning in life, and a higher level of happiness. They will realize that this is what they were looking for. As many have already understood.

Timecode: 43:20, #482 Healthcare system on the planets of the Interstellar Union. Memory erasing technology.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms;

August, 2022

April 16

MidgasCaus recommendations for psychotherapists and psychiatrists

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/rekomendacii-midgaskausa-psihoterapevtam-i-psihiat

Through the Spirit you can influence the body, and through the body you can influence the Spirit. Whether a person will maintain these changes is a completely different matter. But he will be able to retain them after communication with the Higher Self, and after any psychotherapeutic method, and even after pharmacological influence, which can also be used to influence the Spirit through the body. Whether he will maintain the changes on his own, without these influences, will depend on the person’s independent work on himself and on taking responsibility for his psychological, spiritual and physical state.

The first thing you should do is clarify. What do I recommend? There must be explanatory work, that is, it is necessary to first listen to the person and explain to him what is happening, in understandable terminology, but without distorting the truth. In the sense that, for example, do not transfer any responsibility or blame for what is happening to other people.

For example, if a person comes to you, as a psychiatrist or psychotherapist, and says that an evil neighbor is trying to harass the patient with witchcraft, then it is not recommended to tell him that he needs to protect himself from her, needs to move somewhere, or something else. then do it. This will only strengthen the person in the opinion that he is a victim of an attack on himself and a violation of his personal boundaries. It is necessary to restore his personal boundaries, increase his self-confidence, dissolve the blocks of fear, guilt, anger, resentment that attract to him, perhaps, magical influences or plasmoid civilizations of a destructive nature. And after this the person will not feel any attacks.

Interlocutor: For us and big psychiatry, of course, such words... It is much easier and more common to act pharmacologically, to extinguish this fear.

This is, of course, possible, I also studied your various medications, starting from phenazepam and ending with more modern ones. And I want to say that the question arises here: will a person retain these vibrations, this state, without this pharmacological effect?

If the pharmacological effect is lifelong, then other internal organs inevitably begin to suffer, because you do not know how to deliver these substances precisely to those cells where they should have their effect. This does not arise out of malicious intent, but because your medicine is at such a level of development at the moment. As soon as you fulfill all the conditions and join the Interstellar Union, if the inhabitants of your planet want it in an open vote, then, naturally, all medical technologies will be provided to the Earth along with the best specialists who will integrate them into your earthly reality.

Timecode: 43:53, #515 Psychotypes according to Anuashvili - two portraits of one person. Nanotechnologies of alien medicine.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

November 2022

April 18th

Pedophilia, causes, types. Eliminating pathology through the Higher Self https://blog.cassiopeia.center/pedofiliya-prichiny-tipy-ustranenie-patologii-cher

Pedophilia has several causes. This is a pathology, a psychological deviation. Pedophilia can be real, true, and it can be situational in people who are sociopaths. How are they different from each other? (The sociopath rejects society, has a negative attitude towards it, does not accept something) How are two pedophiles different?

A true pedophile will not experience sexual attraction to an adult. He can experience sexual desire only at the sight of a naked child's body. Examining a child’s body or performing sexual acts with it, or any actions or movements that replace it.

Many pedophiles have a fear of being caught, identified, and they try not to leave traces (let alone injuries) on the child, which could land them behind bars. True pedophiles cannot have sexual desire, for example, for their own wife. Even if they are married, they experience impotence or delayed erection. Only at that moment when they can mentally imagine that a child of a certain age lies in the wife’s place is attraction possible. You can imagine, of course, but when he looks, he sees an adult woman. This will be difficult to do.

Therefore, most often such people are not limited to ideas and fantasies. They have a strong sexual constitution, a lot of sexual energy, and they may try to commit a crime. They are very rarely limited to their fantasies.

There are times when he understands that this is bad, that he will not only go to prison, but can cripple a person’s life, ruin it, cause psychological or physical trauma. Because of this, they may fight with themselves. In life they will have a desire and they will try to suppress it.

Most often, pedophilia is a consequence of a block that arose in childhood and was associated with fear of sexual relations. It could have formed at the moment when someone attacked it for such a purpose. As he grew up, he began to subconsciously experience fear of connecting with an adult. With a child he does not feel fear because the child cannot harm him, be it a girl or a boy. The child's sexual image cannot harm him, so he is attracted to it. There is such an option for forming blocks.

The second is the reverse type of formation of a pathological attraction to children. When a child experienced sexual arousal at a certain age and was caught in this state by parents or other authoritative adults. In this case, he develops shame, rejection of his body and a feeling of guilt. When he grows up, he may experience attraction not to an adult, but only to a child’s body, to the body of another child, he projects his body onto it. There is this type of true pedophilia.

With regard to sociopathy, which manifests itself as pedophilia, such a pedophile may experience arousal when in contact with adult women and may not experience arousal when seeing children. But in situations caused by alcohol, drugs, or pathological intoxication, brain injuries, psychological trauma, blocks, anger, even towards the wife, etc., situational moments, agitation may occur.

A psychotype such as a sociopath, who has a grumbling attitude towards God and the world, seeing a child, may want to take out his anger on him. This is reminiscent of sadism. They differ. If a true pedophile tries not to harm the child, but, on the contrary, to win him over so that he himself may experience desire and excitement. A child can feel this; he has sexual energy, a sexual instinct.

Sexual instinct, like others, is present in people from birth to death, only it manifests itself differently at different ages. A sociopath, a so-called sadist, will not win over a child, because his goal is different - not to obtain sexual satisfaction, but to cause torture. He attacks, beats and rapes, enjoying the torment of the victim and imagining that he is doing this to his offender. By the way, he may imagine this subconsciously, not remember who offended him.

All the pathologies that I have listed can be easily eliminated in contact with a person's Higher Self and if he wishes to work with it. You can connect it with the Higher Self and find out the reason for the attraction. The Higher Self will talk about this, return him to that moment in life when it was formed, what happened then. You need to untie this knot, untie the situation, forgive, let go, fill it with Light and, of course, accept your body as it is, recognize it as the divine Temple of Love, which brings harmony, purity, love and happiness, and not destruction. They need to forgive themselves, make peace with themselves, because they have a feeling of guilt and it lowers the vibration.

After the session, when he dissolves all the blocks, his original sexual desire is restored, as intended by God, for a woman, without any sadistic inclinations.

Timecode: 40:46, #499 Psychology of violence, childhood trauma. Guilt and responsibility - what's the difference? The Power of Forgiveness

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

October 2022

April 27

Consequences of eating meat in large quantities

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/posledstviya-upotreblenie-myasa-v-bolshih-koliches

Question. Are there fear hormones from slaughtered animals in meat and its products, and what energy do they provide?

Yes, there are fear hormones. Fear hormones are adrenaline, norepinephrine, cortisol, which are produced in your body and not only when you are afraid, but also when you are irritable, despondent, etc. They are produced by your adrenal glands, enter directly into the blood and have an effect on the body: in small quantities it stimulates, and in large quantities it lowers immunity, causing problems with joints, muscles, heart, etc.

What happens to the hormones that enter through the digestive tract? Hormones are protein substances. As you know, such substances, including hormones, in Earth's medical medicines are administered mainly by the parenteral route, that is, bypassing the gastrointestinal tract. The fact is that pepsin and hydrochloric acid in the stomach, trypsin and chymotrypsin in the pancreas effectively decompose any protein into amino acids. The same thing will happen with the hormone that came to you through the digestive tract.

Let's take meat. Adrenaline, which was contained in the blood and tissues of the animal, will be decomposed into amino acids, absorbed through the villi of the small intestine, will go to the liver and will be used for the synthesis of your proteins. If you eat a piece of beef, the proteins contained in the meat of this animal cannot become yours, since your DNA is different. Your proteins and the cow's proteins are not the same. The body must come up with something to transfer them into yours.

DNA produces enzymes that break down other people's proteins into their component parts, from which they build yours: it will be hemoglobin, adrenaline or skin protein. And if you eat beef liver, then the proteins included in the liver. If you eat fish, its protein composition is even more different from yours than protein from a cow. The plant protein of lentils is even more different from yours in the structure and structure of the proteins. All of this must be recycled.

Eating large quantities of meat, more than 5% of a diet that includes both fish and meat, what you call living life forms , automatically reduces the consumption of plant foods, which also contain the substances you need. Why are you cutting back? Because meat is an energy-rich and high-calorie product. If you eat a lot of meat, you won't want to eat anything else.

The second point: your pepsin, chymotrypsin and trypsin may not be enough to digest such an amount of meat. Unprocessed, it will enter the large intestine, where the necessary microflora lives, which will feed on this meat, decomposing it, which will result in hydrogen sulfide, blood acidosis, constipation and the like. These problems can be easily solved if they have started recently.

Eating large amounts of meat leads to increased sensitivity to colds, muscle weakness, headaches, lowers immunity, etc. Reason: microbes living in the intestines digest protein products that have arrived there, for which your enzymes are not enough, suppressing intestinal motility with special enzymes so that protein foods: meat, milk, plant products (peas, soy, etc.) remain in the lumen longer intestines. Thus, the microbes feed on it longer. This leads to atony, constipation, bloating and intoxication.

They love to eat deliciously what you bought with your money. Adaptive mechanism.

Timecode: 56:02, #193 Conference with an obstetrician-gynecologist. Alzheimer's and Parkinson's diseases. Women Health.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien civilizations.

January 2021

CASSIOPEIA 26- Irina Podzorova- Religion and worldview-1

Information transmitted by our space friends through Irina Podzorova, a contactee with extraterrestrial civilizations.

t.me/cassiopeia_publish
https://blog.cassiopeia.center/+religiya-i-mirovozzrenie

February 4, 2022

Interpretation of the canonical books of the Bible by representatives of the Interstellar Union. Chapter 1 (part 1)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/8bhWrcmMK3H

According to them, the Bible is a collection of books written by ancient contactees and their disciples, mainly in the territory of modern Israel.

We begin the interpretation of the first chapter of the book of Genesis, which was written by Moses, a contactee of the planet Tumesout, which participated in our creation, who lived on Earth about four thousand years ago.

The text of the Bible in Russian will be given in the Synodal translation.

This is what is written at the beginning of the first chapter of this book:

> 1. In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth.
> 2. The earth was formless and empty, and darkness was over the deep, and the Spirit of God hovered over the waters.

Explanation:

The word “earth” here refers to the dense material world, and the word “sky” refers to the spiritual world.

> “At the beginning (of creation) God created the heavens (all of us, spirits) and the earth (dense matter).”

It meant that the earth can be touched with your hands, but the sky (air space) cannot. These images of matter and spirit were quite accessible to the understanding of Moses and the ancient Jews.

Let's continue...

> “The earth (the material world) was (at the beginning of its creation) formless (did not have the usual form of galaxies consisting of stars and planets) and empty (matter then was not in the form of atoms and molecules familiar to us, but in the form of energies concentrated at one point, that is, the space was still empty).
> And darkness (was) over the abyss (nothing in space yet shone or reflected light). And the Spirit of God (the form of manifestation of God in the material world) rushed (moved around, representing the future universe in detail) over the water (water is a symbol of matter in the form of energies collected at one point. For Moses it was a very simple image: water as something intermediate in density between earth and sky, here denotes energies without atoms and molecules).

Further in the book of Genesis it is written:

> 3 And God said, Let there be light. And there was light.
> 4 And God saw the light that it was good, and God separated the light from the darkness.
> 5 And God called the light day and the darkness night. And there was evening and there was morning: one day.
> 6 And God said, Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it separate water from water.
> 7 And God made the firmament, and separated the waters that were under the firmament from the waters that were above the firmament. And so it became.
> 8 And God called the expanse heaven. And there was evening and there was morning: the second day.

Explanation:

Light is the first appearance of photons and electrons, that is, the Big Bang, from which the universe we are familiar with began to exist. Separation of light from darkness - photons and electrons existed separately from neutrons and protons, which gathered into one sphere, inside which the first atoms began to form.

The words about day and night were told to Moses so that he would understand that we are talking about the presence of light (photons and electrons or energy of the first level) and its absence (protons and neutrons or energy of the second level).
The word "day" in the first chapter of Genesis refers to periods of any length.

The solid in the middle of the water, separating water from water, is the free energy of the vacuum, which in ancient times was called akasha, then ether, and now a torsion field. It is located between (in the middle) material and astral energies and separates them, does not allow them to mix.

Water above the firmament - astral energies.
The water under the firmament is material energies.

God called the firmament the sky - here it is emphasized that the free energy of the vacuum is as imperceptible to the physical body as the spiritual world.

Go ahead:

> 9 And God said, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered into one place, and let the dry land appear. And so it became. [And the waters under the sky gathered into their places, and dry land appeared.]
> 10 And God called the dry land earth, and the meeting of the waters he called seas. And God saw that it was good.
> 11 And God said, “Let the earth bring forth grass, grass yielding seed [after its kind and after its likeness, and] a fruitful tree bearing fruit according to its kind, in which is its seed on the earth.” And so it became.
> 12 And the earth brought forth grass, grass yielding seed according to its kind [and likeness], and a tree [fruitful] bearing fruit, in which is its seed according to its kind [on the earth]. And God saw that it was good.

13 And there was evening, and there was morning: the third day.

Explanation:

The energy of the material world (water under the sky) was concentrated (collected) after the Big Bang and from it the familiar atoms of chemical elements (land) appeared, which formed the first dust clouds on the site of future galaxies.

The chemical elements collected in grains of dust were called matter (earth). These dust particles gathered together, stuck together, and inside the resulting lumps the temperature and pressure increased (that is, energy appeared, which is called “collections of waters”).

Chemical reactions took place inside some of the lumps, which led to the appearance of the first organic substances (called here “greens”). From organic substances, with the help of the Divine energy residing in each atom, the first microorganisms were collected: viruses (herbs that sow seeds) and bacteria (trees that bear fruits with seeds inside). The difference in size between a virus and a bacterium was clearly shown to Moses by giving the example of a blade of grass and a tree.

The difference between the large, hard fruit and the small, soft seed indicated, in a way that Moses could understand, the absence of spores in viruses and their presence in bacteria.

Thus, it turns out that the first microbiological life arose in lumps of dust even before the emergence of stars and planets. Therefore, it is not surprising that microbes are present in meteorites and comets.

This implies a fairly high degree of probability of the widespread distribution of life in the universe.

Text from the book of Genesis:

> 14 And God said, Let there be lights in the expanse of the heaven to separate the day from the night, and for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and for years;
> 15 And let them be lights in the expanse of the heaven to give light on the earth. And so it became.
> 16 And God made two great lights: the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night, and the stars;
> 17 And God set them in the firmament of the heaven to give light on the earth, > 18 And to rule the day and the night, and to separate the light from the darkness. And God saw that it was good.
> 19 And there was evening and there was morning: the fourth day.

Explanation:

The luminaries in the firmament are the first stars and planets in space.

The greater luminary is the general name for stars.
Managing the day is emitting light from yourself.

The lesser luminary is the common name for the planets.
Control of the night - the absence of emission of light.

Stars - all the luminaries for Moses were called stars.

God placed them in the firmament of heaven - he separated them into their orbits in space, creating the physical laws of their movement relative to each other.

Shine on the earth - illuminate the material world.

To control day and night - to serve intelligent beings as a basis for accurately counting periods of time.

Separating light from darkness is to serve as a source of energy for the material world and a condition for maintaining life in organic bodies.
Light is a symbol of life.
Darkness is a symbol of lifeless matter.

To be continued...

February 2020

February 7, 2022

Interpretation of the canonical books of the Bible by representatives of the Interstellar Union. Chapter 1 (part 2)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/dPwxlG93XC3

We continue the previous article on deciphering the first chapter of the book of Genesis, which was written by the ancient leader of the Jewish people Moses. He took this information from representatives of the planet Tumesout, being their contactee and the main ideologist of his people in the process of forming their national and religious egregors.

Text from the book of Genesis:

> 20 And God said, Let the water bring forth living things; and let the birds fly over the earth, across the firmament of heaven.
> 21 And God created the great fish and every living creature that moves, which the waters brought forth, according to their kinds, and every winged bird according to its kind. And God saw that it was good.
> 22 And God blessed them, saying, Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the waters of the seas, and let birds multiply on the earth.
> 23 And there was evening, and there was morning: the fifth day.
> 24 And God said, Let the earth produce living creatures according to their kinds, cattle and creeping things and wild beasts of the earth after their kinds. And so it became.
> 25 And God made the beasts of the earth according to their kinds, and the cattle according to their kinds, and every creeping thing that creeps on the earth according to > their kinds. And God saw that it was good.

At this place, the messengers of the Interstellar Union began to tell Moses about the origin and development of life on Earth. All biological forms of life, from plants, viruses, bacteria and protozoa to mammals, as a kind of pinnacle of organic life, originated from two sources.

The most diverse bodies in size, shape and function arose through directed evolution. The factor connecting molecules into cells, and cells into organs and organisms, was the Divine Mind, controlling each atom of matter as the most dense part of Its Energy.

And animal souls, suitable for incarnation into different types of bodies, were created and are being created by representatives of Plasmoid civilizations, where intelligent spirits born by God before His creation of the material world are incarnated.

In these biblical verses, plasmoids are designated by the words “water” and “earth,” since representatives of these very elements most often took part in the creation of animal souls on Earth.

Such actions of plasmoids allow them to realize their Divine creative potential in creating energies for animal souls, becoming like God, who gave birth to them.

Soul animals come in different types: plant souls, group animals, and solitary animals. Moreover, in different species of plants and animals the structure and energy of souls are unique.

Animal souls are mortal, although they are subject to reincarnation. Only intelligent incarnated spirits are able to increase the number and quality of reincarnations for them, showing concern for their vital activity and investing their energy of love and tenderness into their auras.

Text from the book of Genesis:

> 26 And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness, and let them have dominion over the fish of the > sea, and over the birds of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that moves on the earth.

> 27 And God created man in His own image, in the image of God He created him; male and female he created them.
> 28 And God blessed them, and God said to them, Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the earth and subdue it, and have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the air and over every living thing that moves on the earth.

Here Moses is briefly told about the creation of man on Earth and that he was created in the external image and internal likeness of his heavenly creators. It was also emphasized that people, as incarnate intelligent spirits, are called to multiply on Earth, control the elements and all types of animals and plants, because they are children of God and His full representatives on Earth.

Text from the book of Genesis:

> 29 And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb yielding seed that is on all the earth, and every tree that has fruit yielding seed; - This will be food for you;
> 30 And to every beast of the earth, and to every bird of the air, and to every thing that creeps on the earth, in which there is life, I have given every green herb for food. And so it became.

This refers to a period in the history of the Earth when predatory animals, insects, parasites and similar forms of biological bodies did not exist. This happened because the plasmoid civilizations of our planet at that time did not produce animal souls capable of taking the lives of other animals for food.

This was their agreement with the plasmoids of the Solar System, due to the need to quickly populate the entire Earth with animals, which would be extremely difficult to do in conditions of predation, parasitism and infectious pathologies. Future predators consumed animal protein from the corpses of dead animals and from microorganisms processed in their bodies.

Our creators also initially inserted into humans more genes from representatives of Burkhad, strict vegetarians, leaving him with genes from primates for the synthesis of digestive enzymes that digest proteins and fats of milk and bird eggs.

These genes allowed ancient people to live long and successfully adapt to the atmosphere and biosphere of the Earth, which existed before the war with the Selbetians.

Twelve thousand years ago, a lot changed on our planet, which will be discussed in other articles...

February 2020

February 8, 2022

Features of translating the books of the New Testament from Greek into Russian. Metanoia

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/D-mboxhKng5
Hello dear friends. At the request of my interstellar friends, I decided to write my next article on the very complex and controversial topic of the correct interpretation of the canonical books of the New Testament, on which depends the true understanding of the mission of Christ on Earth and the faithful following of the path that every Christian follows, seeing an example before him the selfless Love of Christ.
As you know, religious and mystical literature is most often written in its own special language, incomprehensible to the uninitiated. This happens not because of the malice or incompetence of its authors, but because of the inability to adequately convey one's inner spiritual experience to those who have not experienced it.
In the case of the New Testament, known in Russia mainly in the Synodal Translation, carried out by ministers of the Orthodox Church at the end of the nineteenth century, the situation surrounding its interpretation and understanding is further complicated by the fact that the ancient Greek language itself, in which it was written, is unknown to the majority of Russians, as well as the mores and customs of the society in which its authors lived and worked.

Now we live in another country, in another time, in a world radically different from the Roman Empire of the first century AD, therefore many words and expressions common to ancient Christians are completely incomprehensible to many of our contemporaries and compatriots.
This state of affairs is further aggravated by the translation, although correct in meaning, but without the necessary explanations. This brought and still brings a lot of misunderstanding and discord between people in the Church and in Russia as a whole.
One example of the features of this translation is the term “repentance,” which is a translation of the Greek word “metanoia,” which in Greek means “change of mind.” When Christ and the Apostles uttered this word, they did not at all assume the need to ask God for forgiveness for a specific offense. Here is a typical text from chapter 17 of the Acts of the Apostles:
"Οὖῶ μὲν Ведь он итак times times of ignorance незнания хеперидён обозревший ὁ ὀὸς Бог тъе нън now now commands people to people everywhere всех everywhere повсюду метаноезн каяться".
Of course, a change of mind, that is, a change in a person’s attitude towards himself, towards his words, thoughts and deeds, may be accompanied by a request for forgiveness, but the request itself is not the main thing here, the main thing is a revolution in consciousness, after which the whole past life is seen through the prism The love of our Heavenly Father.
At the same time, a person considers all his past actions, feelings and thoughts from the position of his new consciousness, a new state of mind and heart. What he previously considered the norm, the unshakable truth, is subject to comprehensive analysis and criticism. That which contradicts the concepts of Love and Light is recognized as sin, evil, error, illusion, delusion, etc.
In the Russian translation of the New Testament, the original meaning of this word was lost, and the word “repentance” that replaced it emphasizes the feeling of guilt before God and the desire to ask for forgiveness for sin, even if it was not realized as an act leading away from the path to God. This can lead to an understanding of God not as a loving Father, but as a resentful and evil despot who requires forgiveness for sins before Him in order to avoid punishment.
But in fact, God does not need our humiliated pleas for forgiveness and a sincere understanding of sin as an action that lowers our own vibrations to the level where adequate perception of Divine Energy becomes difficult or even impossible. For rapid progress on the spiritual path, a person should not fear God, but fear being left without God, leaving Him, becoming unable to see the Light of His Love. This is the true meaning of the Fear of God.

Another concept that I would like to touch upon in this article is the Greek word “amartia”, which is translated into Russian as “sin”. Here is an example of this use in Romans 6 by the Apostle Paul:
"For the wages of sin is death, death,
The gift of God is the gift of God, life eternal, eternal life in Christ, Jesus Christ, our Lord, our Lord.
The original meaning of the word “amartya” is “mistake, blunder.” It does not at all imply a feeling of guilt before God or punishment from Him in the form of obligatory suffering. We, as His children, as future Gods in the process of growth, are not immune from mistakes, from misunderstandings of His commandments, from false paths that lead into darkness instead of Light.
But this does not make us either enemies of God or less loved by Him. The word “death” used here by the Apostle Paul does not mean the punishment for sin, but its natural consequence, in the form of a decrease in the vibrations of the spirit and the closing of his heart from the feeling of the presence of God as the Source of his life and the existence of the entire universe.
This is possible if sin becomes the norm for us, that is, if instead of analyzing our behavior and recognizing mistakes, experiencing a change of mind (metanoia), we prefer to see these sins and shortcomings in other people rather than in ourselves.
Then these sins become sinful passions, which we are unable to resist, and we no longer want to, walking like obedient slaves, led by our negative emotions, evil desires and negative thought forms.
And finally, I would like to examine the relationship of the New Testament to esoteric teachings.
By esotericism I mean a collection of teachings about the spiritual world and practices for conscious communication with it. This is present in any religion, since religion, unlike science, is precisely concerned with the practice of communicating with the spiritual world and with the creatures living in it. Christianity is no exception here.
The specialists of the interstellar union, forming the Christian egregor, transmitted through their telepathic contactees information about sacred rituals, sacraments and divine services, during which the communication of believers with the spiritual world took place.
The rituals themselves are actions in the physical world, with the goal of directing one’s life energy, charged with the necessary emotions and thought forms, into the spiritual world, to feed egregors or spiritual entities embodied in plasmoid worlds.

But despite the obvious need for esotericism in any religion, many Orthodox priests, and after them ordinary believers, deny any significant role of esotericism in the formation of the canons of the Church and its religious practice.
Moreover, modern Christianity is rather critical of any esoteric practices, citing the texts of the New Testament, where, in their opinion, they are prohibited. However, this is not quite true…
The Greek text of the New Testament mentions four types of esoteric practices that have survived to this day, and only one of them is clearly prohibited for Christians.
But first things first: Apostle Matthew, describing the early childhood of Jesus Christ, tells in his Gospel about the visit of the Baby and His Parents by some people who are called in the Russian translation “magi from the east.” But in the original Greek in this place, in the second chapter of the Gospel of Matthew, the word “magi” is written:
"In the days of Herod Herod the 3588 king, behold, 2400 magicians, magicians from the east came to Jerusalem"
This was the name given to people who practiced astrology, numerology, healing, contacts with the spiritual world and other esoteric practices. Nowhere in the New Testament are such activities prohibited or condemned, which is confirmed by the fact that an Angel appeared to the magicians who came to Jesus in a dream. This speaks of the opportunity for magicians to communicate not just with the spiritual world, but with its highest region - the Levels of Angels.
The book of the Acts of the Apostles mentions an episode with a girl, a servant of the ancient Greek cult of Python - one of the plasmoids - spirits of nature deified by people. She followed Apostle Paul and his assistants through the streets of the city for many days and, being in contact with a plasmoid who liked Christian teaching, constantly shouted that the Apostles serve the true God.
Despite the obvious contact of the girl with the plasmoid, the Apostle Paul stopped all this only after many days, when he was already tired of listening to the screams of the girl-medium through whom Python spoke.
This testifies to the Apostle’s rather favorable attitude towards the esoteric practice of contact mediums.
This is not surprising, because the Apostle Paul himself was an experienced astral traveler and even visited his disciples in the astral plane in another city, as he himself wrote about in chapter 5 of 1 Corinthians:
"I am with you, because I am absent in body, but present, but in spirit, in spirit, I have already made a decision as to how 5613 is present"
Therefore, there is no talk of any condemnation of meditative states and astral travel in the New Testament.

Are all forms of occult practices then allowed for Christians? This is certainly not true. The only one of them condemned and decisively prohibited in the New Testament.
Here is the text from chapter 5 of the Apostle Paul's letter to the Galatians:
"These are the works of the flesh, flesh, flesh, that which is fornication, fornication, impurity, impurity, impurity, lasciviousness, idolatry, druggies, sorcery, enmity, enmity, strife, jealousy, jealousy, anger, rage , anger, rivalries, divisions, divisions, heresies, heresies"
As you can see, in this place the practice called “sorcery” in the Russian translation, and “pharmakeia” in the Greek original, falls under an explicit ban. What was meant by this word in ancient times and why was this activity prohibited for Christians?
It turns out that this word meant the darkest area of esotericism, aimed at causing evil to people, with the aim of punishing or eliminating those undesirable. A variety of methods were used for this: from black magic rituals to the use of poisonous herbs, mushrooms and animals.
This profession was quite in demand and prestigious in the ancient world, especially in elite circles, where there was a constant struggle for power and influence. There were quite expensive books on the art of pharmacology, which set out recipes for lethal mixtures and methods of using them in sufficient detail so that no one would doubt the naturalness of the victim’s death.
Naturally, such activities are incompatible with the Christian way of life, but this has nothing to do with real esotericism, the goal of which is no different from the goal of any religion, including Christianity - to discover within oneself the Source of the infinite Light of Love and merge with Him into one whole.
January, 2020
February 9, 2022

Message from MirahKaunta (Archangel Gabriel)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/OK8PPbL1HKh

Recently, in the noosphere of the Earth, the confrontation between ideas of a materialistic and idealistic orientation has been intensifying.

This is a completely natural process, which is a sign of a change of eras, which inevitably follows the quantum transition, in the active phase of which your planet is now.

The new world that you are waiting for will have to be built by you and your children and grandchildren. The result of your creative activity will depend on your awareness, independence, courage and, of course, on the measure of love that you put into every thought, every word and action in the conditions of objective reality in which you find yourself thanks to a series of your choices and the help of your bright Mentors.

Don't expect that the old system of meanings that has filled earthly egregors in recent centuries will give up quickly and without a fight.

It is still strong, very smart and organized, but its time is passing, and subconsciously realizing this, adherents of this system fall into unaccountable fear, impotent anger, or seek to use parodic humor to devalue new knowledge and energies primarily in front of themselves.

Do not be deceived by their imaginary self-confidence, do not be frightened by verbal aggression and do not be embarrassed by their arrogant tone, do not be offended by those who accuse you of lies, charlatanism, pseudoscience and threaten you with all kinds of punishments, earthly and heavenly.

This happens to them from despondency, powerlessness, their own grievances and fears and unwillingness to part with them due to the fact that they consider negative personality traits, negative thoughts and emotions to be their parts, not being able to separate their self-awareness from feelings, desires, thoughts and emotions .

Many of them sincerely call violence against others and depriving someone of free will love; it hurts them inside when you debunk such illusions and misconceptions with your own light of unconditional love, and even lead others, thereby convincing such people of their complete failure.

Send them the light of your love and move on, learn to sympathize with those who get angry and show aggression, and do not imitate them, otherwise you will devalue all your spiritual achievements and lower your vibration level even more than people who, in their unconsciousness, insult and humiliate you and threaten you with punishment.

Accept them as your teachers of patience, compassion and love and thank them for the lessons they give you, helping you to cleanse yourself of the remnants of proud, arrogant and aggressive mental and karmic attitudes, with which it is impossible to build a more perfect world than it is now.

The ideas of materialism are a thing of the past from philosophy, from social consciousness and from science.

More and more honest-minded scientists are beginning to pose questions to themselves and their colleagues about the true origin of the world and their own soul, about the ways of its development and about other worlds, the ideas about the existence of which their short-sighted colleagues arrogantly call “pseudoscientific nonsense.”

Such phrases in statements show, first of all, the limiting beliefs of their own minds, because of which they voluntarily abandon interest in the unknown, which is the main driving force of any truly scientific knowledge, the goal of which is to reveal the unknown secrets of nature and the laws of the universe, and not to form scientific dogmas, the infallibility of which must be sacredly believed.

Scientific methods of understanding reality are inseparable from the soul of the scientist who applies them, therefore the results of any study or series of studies from which scientific theories are built are more or less subjective.

This means that scientific theories are always colored by the personal attitude of their authors to reality, to themselves and to God. The purer the spiritual heart of a scientist is from all kinds of negativity, the closer to the true reality of the Universe will be his mental model, built by interpreting the results of scientific observation together with the creative principle of the mind.

Can everything in the universe be proven? Of course everything, but using different methods. Evidence can be external or materialistic and internal or spiritual.

Each type of evidence is good in its place and absolutely useless and even harmful if used unconsciously.

The law of scientific evidence is:

> “Only that which corresponds to the perception of the one seeking the evidence can be proven.”

This means that the level of evidence that intelligent beings consider sufficient to accept an idea as truth or part of the truth depends on the type of perception of the intelligent being and on its level of spiritual development.

Anyone who is able to perceive the world only through the receptors of the material body will consider as proven only what he perceives himself or what was perceived and how the perceived information was interpreted by individuals authoritative for him.

This type of evidence is called materialistic or external because it is aimed at the world external to the rational being itself.

But this is not the only possible way of evidence. For people whose perception is not limited by the receptors of the material body, the proof will be their own internal intuitive confidence in the truth and usefulness of the ideas that they accept and integrate into their picture of the world.

This method is also completely scientific and confirmed by practice; it is called the internal or spiritual evidence-based method, which is also actively used in understanding the world, especially in the field of the humanities.

The reasons for the confrontation between the three main concepts: scientific, esoteric and religious in the public consciousness of the earthly race lie in the state of the spiritual hearts and energy vibrations of the majority of earthlings.

And although the situation in this area is still far from stable, there has been a clear acceleration of the spiritual progress of your civilization, which is facilitated by the appearance in the information space of ideas of an interstellar union, as well as their criticism and active discussion of the relevance and morality of information coming through contactees with civilizations of various levels and systems worldview.

This is a natural stage of social evolution and a personal lesson of love for everyone who is incarnated on Earth at this wonderful, albeit difficult time. Remember that the Creative forces of the Universe and the bright essences of the spiritual world can help you only if you yourself strive for light, for love, for understanding and for help to those who need it and freely desire to receive it from each of you.

Mirah Count, political scientist and religious scholar, specialist in the creation of religious and philosophical egregors in the worlds of young races.

May, 2021

February 11, 2022

General recommendations for handling the body of a deceased person

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/4G1bQH_Wd-4

These spiritual tips can significantly speed up and facilitate the switching of the soul's consciousness from the physical body to the etheric, astral and mental, which is important for the evolution of the immortal spirit and its rapid adaptation to the world of Eternal Divine

Light, already forgotten for it.

1. After the physical death of a person, it is necessary to wash his body with clean water and essential oils to remove negative energy from the residual etheric matrices of all body organs.

For every liter of body wash water, add 7 drops of 100% frankincense essential oil.

Light three wax candles and an aroma lamp with 100% lavender essential oil in this room.

The ablution itself must begin with the head and end with the soles of the feet.

Throughout the ritual, read prayers or mantras, or in your own words address the spirit of the deceased person with bright words of calm and love.

2. After ablution, you must thoroughly dry your body and dress it in clean new clothes. If this is not possible, you must wrap the body in a large piece of white natural fabric.

3. Used water after ablution must be poured into a place where there are no roads or plants growing nearby.

All sheets and towels, as well as the container that contained water, must be destroyed by burning or burying in a place where people rarely go.

When pouring this water into the ground, it is advisable to ask the spirits of the earth out loud or mentally in your own words to transform the energy of decomposition into the energy of creation.

4. The clothes that the person was wearing at the time of death and his bed linen, if he died in his bed, must be burned.

The rest of the bedding should be thoroughly cleaned with soap and water and a brush and dried in direct sunlight to ensure safety for further use.

5. After the funeral, it is necessary to do a general cleaning in the house where the deceased lived using water with a small amount of salt.

Candles should be lit during cleaning.

It is also advisable to burn incense or sandalwood there, especially in the former room of the deceased person.

This will protect the house from visits by negatively minded plasmoids, which may be attracted by the grief and melancholy of its relatives.

6. All relatives of a deceased person need to mentally calm his soul and send her the light of their love, mentally imagining his image.

If the deceased person was a sincere follower of a religious tradition, then his relatives need to invite a minister of his religion to perform the necessary rituals.

This must be done to harmonize and calm the soul of the deceased, even if the relatives themselves adhere to a different religion or do not adhere to any.

7. After the funeral, all relatives and friends of the deceased person are categorically not recommended to condemn the deceased person for his bad deeds, grieve over his fate and quarrel among themselves over the property he left on Earth or for other selfish reasons.

These simple rules are especially important in the first forty days after the death of the physical body, when the soul adapts to the World of Eternity.

8. If you find the remains of a deceased person, treat them with due respect. Mentally send the light of love to the soul that lived in this body.

It is strictly not recommended to take into your home or sell any of the things that were near the remains, much less the remains themselves.

This can lead to both the formation of a necrotic connection to the spirit of the deceased, and to the creation of a communication channel (binding) with destructive plasmoids that will use your energy field for negative energy exchange.

Archangel Raphael is the coordinator of healing egregors in the Milky Way galaxy, the manager of Christian and esoteric egregors on planet Earth.

February 2021

February 12, 2022

How to identify destructive “connections” among contactees

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/-qkLzavhuA6

Every person is a participant in energy exchange in the Universe. Some destructive forces in your world, taking advantage of people’s ignorance in matters of energy exchange, create negative images of “reptilians”, “greys”, “insectoids”, and other creatures alien to many earthlings, who supposedly only yearn to feed on the vital force of earthlings, from which the latter health is impaired, the line of fate deteriorates, luck disappears and other negative consequences occur.

Is it really? Let's look at this issue in more detail from a physical, energetic and spiritual point of view:

In the Universe, there are types of plasmoid civilizations that feed on the negative energies of spirits embodied in the third level of density. These civilizations are called parasitic. They constitute approximately 16-17 percent of the total number of plasmoid civilizations in the Milky Way Galaxy. On Earth this percentage is higher, approximately 34-35%.

Representatives of these civilizations are involved in energy exchange with people at low frequencies, which causes an increase in all negative qualities in a person and a withdrawal from the tasks of his life on Earth, with an inevitable decrease in the spiritual level compared to the one at which the spirit was before incarnation.

What are the methods of searching for contactees and connecting to them among destructive civilizations?

There are several of them:

Creating an image of an enemy to provoke and enhance fear and anger - the main emotions that make negative energy exchange possible.
Reptilians, insectoids, “grays,” demons, demons, dark magicians and sorcerers, as well as the governments of your planet, which are supposedly slowly killing their own citizens with epidemics, chemtrails, GMO products, vaccinations, and 5G technology, are perfect objects of fear and anger for modern earthlings. and other methods.

Removing responsibility from yourself for your body condition, destiny and relationships. Adherents of the cults of negative plasmoids constantly claim that external forces are to blame for all the ills of humanity, allegedly conspiring with the governments of all states on the planet.

They also preach the removal of personal responsibility from a person for all negative events in his life and health problems and shift this responsibility to external evil forces (reptilians, “grays,” insectoids, demons, sorcerers and the plasmoids themselves), who allegedly forcibly seized control mind, feed on a person’s energy potential and fraudulently entered into a contract with his soul, according to which it becomes a slave to these evil forces for many incarnations.

Creating a negative image of world religions and their leaders. This is done so that contactees of negative plasmoids do not seek help and protection for themselves in large religious egregors if they feel really bad. The teachings initiated by negative plasmoids claim that all the leaders of world religions had the goal of seizing power over people and controlling them exclusively for mercantile purposes.

At the same time, the role of large religious egregors in increasing the vibrations of the entire noosphere of the Earth and of individual people, purely and in the light of Love, fulfilling all the commandments of these religions is downplayed or completely ignored.

Creating and strengthening people's suspicion of the world, of their own mind, of intuition, of conscience and spiritual heart.
The purpose of negative plasmoids is to sow in the minds of people the idea that the world around is dangerous and unfair, that a person needs constant protection from all the negativity that surrounds him like a dense wall. They need this in order to generate distrust of God, our Heavenly Father, and dissatisfaction with the world He created. Often, adherents of dark plasmoid cults argue that it is dangerous to trust your own mind or spiritual heart, in the form of intuitive insights and the voice of conscience. There is also a widespread idea that a person's mind can create illusions for him, regardless of his consciousness and vibrational state, and that this leads away from the path of knowing the true Light in himself. All this information is disseminated by supporters of negative plasmoids with the goal of sowing distrust in people, fear of believing in themselves and going their own way, and unwillingness to accept and love themselves as they are. If a person accepts the idea of his own inferiority as the truth, then it becomes very easy for dark entities to control him, because he rejects himself, his thoughts and feelings, weakens his will and fights with faith and imagination, considering them not allies, but enemies on the path to to the world Such a person is not confident in himself, easily becomes despondent and becomes a donor of low-vibration plasmoids, receiving in return from them only his own enhanced negativity.

Creating an image of a person's own impurity and cultivating in him a feeling of guilt for natural needs.
Fans of negative teachings created by destructive plasmoid civilizations often call for cleansing your body of waste and toxins, following a variety of diets, not in order to improve the health of the physical body, but to increase your spiritual vibrations.

They inspire their adherents that there is some spiritually unclean food or drink, usually tasty for people and causing them pleasant sensations, the use of which makes it difficult or impossible to communicate with Light Beings, including God.

With such statements, contactees with negative plasmoids cultivate in themselves and in their followers a constant feeling of guilt and their own uncleanness for every bite of forbidden food and sip of forbidden drink. A big role in this is also played by the irritation and anger of people who accepted these ideas towards their relatives and friends who consume “unclean” food and drinks in their presence. These negative emotions also create blocks in the auras of such people and allow their handlers to carry out negative energy exchanges with them.

Propaganda of ideas about the imminent end of the world or catastrophes on Earth that will cause the death of a large number of people. Fear for your life and the life of your children is associated with the instinct of self-preservation, invested by God in every person, so that he values his physical life no less than his spiritual one.

Therefore, ideas that evoke fear of the imminent death of man or earthly civilization have always been popular among destructive plasmoids.
Unlike warnings about negative events from Light Spirits, information from negative entities is always categorical that this event will certainly occur in the near future and almost no one will be able to escape from it.

If you come across similar signs in a video or text from any contactor, esotericist, healer, regressologist, psychologist, preacher or clergyman of any rank in any world religion, then this is a serious reason to think about the true goals of this person and the entities behind him, no matter what They didn’t call themselves light.

It would be ideal if each of you asked your own Higher Self about such a spiritual teacher and his real goals, because it is the best spiritual mentor for each of you, at your level of evolutionary development.

The physical body of a person is at the same time a dense part of the energies of the immortal rational spirit and its tool for interacting with the densely material world and achieving its goals in it, and an energy station for processing physical energies into etheric and further into spiritual. The first energy center of man, called Muladhara, is responsible for all the functions of the physical body as a whole and for its contact with the densely material world and with the planet on which the spirit is embodied.

If its work is disrupted, proper energy exchange with the physical world and harmonious processing of physical energies into etheric, astral and mental will be difficult or completely impossible. This leads to chronic weakness, apathy, laziness and long-term depression that is resistant to drug therapy.

Blocks in the first energy center consist of fear of the world and premature or painful death, and these fears very quickly form blocks in the seventh energy center, called Sahasrara, on the frequency of which pure, undistorted contact with the Higher Self, with your curators and with God the Father depends Heavenly.

Therefore, cultivating fears of any phenomena in the world violates the state of the first and seventh energy centers of a person if he accepts these ideas as truth. And this, in turn, will prevent him from correctly carrying out energy exchange with the physical world and consciously communicating with his higher self, which means completely fulfilling his task of incarnation and increasing his spiritual level.

Archangel Michael is the curator of earthly civilization in the spiritual world, the guardian of the Christian egregor.

Li Shioni - specialist in astral interaction, planet Shimor.

MidgasCaus - biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations, planet Esler.

Erwin is a plasmoid of density level 37, the Betelgeuse star system in the constellation Orion, Guardian of the Order of Frostfire Mages.

06/29/2021

February 14, 2022

Symbolism of "144,000 righteous"

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/z0lKySN7gM9

Interpretation of the Revelation of John the Theologian (Apocalypse).

The number “1” is a symbol of God, the Sun, creative energy.

The number “4” is a symbol of the material world, a square.

“1” – “God”, 44 – “manifested in matter”, is repeated twice, because it is manifested in matter in the physical body of a person and in the surrounding nature in the form of activity.

“0” is a symbol of infinity, repeated three times, as a manifestation of the trinity of God (God the Father, God the Son and the Holy Spirit), Divine infinity.

So "144000" means:

> "God manifested in matter by his infinite power."

In this case, the righteous are people who realized the infinite Divine manifestation in themselves, their matter, their body, and manifested it on other matter through their deeds. That is, people who have achieved realization, the goal of their incarnation, have become like God.

June, 2021

February 16, 2022

The principle “From each according to his ability, to each according to his needs”

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/beV_pucsqOw

This is an attempt to transfer the experience of existence in the spiritual world to the material world.

“ From each according to his ability ” means the contribution to the common cause of the evolutionary development of all spirits, which each spirit makes, so that this development occurs evenly, consistently for all parts of the universe. The desire for development and for increasing complexity of any systems and spheres of the mind is characteristic of any spirit, since any spirit is a part of God, who has invested in it the desire for itself, as for development. Development is understood as complication and the acquisition of qualities that were not developed.

“ To each according to his needs ” means God’s response through the entire universe to support the spirit. He gives the ability with his energy to support the ability of the spirit, feed it with energy and give it the opportunity for development. This means “to each according to his needs,” but not according to the needs recognized by the egoistic false ego, but according to the spiritual needs that are visible in the true Light of God of each, since God sees the spiritual Heart of each spirit.

This does not work in the material world. In no world, no matter how perfect and moral, can this law be implemented due to the fact that matter itself is inert. Those abilities that are manifested by the spirit must be brought into matter. Abilities do not immediately appear, but needs are always there.

May, 2021

February 20, 2022

What is spiritual death and what are its signs? Can the Spirit die and rise to life again?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/pL_OB76_cq2

These are fundamental questions, the answers to which determine the understanding of the spiritual path and God, Who created the laws of the physical and spiritual worlds.

Each spirit receives answers to these questions based on his own or someone else's spiritual experience, which he disseminates in the form of oral or written information.
More than 2,500 years ago, in the territory of modern Israel, a man was born who was named Yechezkel, which translated from Hebrew means "strengthening of God." This name turned out to be prophetic: for 20 years this man brought his people a message from God Yahweh, who chose him as His prophet, servant and messenger, or in the language of the 21st century, a contactee.
This was a difficult historical period for the Israeli people, when they lost their state independence and were taken into captivity by the king of Babylonia, Nebuchadnezzar II, who defeated him in the war.
During these sorrowful years, Yechezkel became a guiding star for the people, comforting and encouraging all the captive brothers and sisters and revealing to them the spiritual meaning of the ordeal that befell them.
In one of his sermons, he said words that shocked his already despondent listeners.
"The soul that sins shall die"
- he said (book of the prophet Ezekiel, chapter 18, verse 4), but many did not understand what Yahweh, his curator from the planet Tumesout, who was God for the Jews, meant. Some felt that this contradicted the idea of the immortality of the soul and were confused. However, this is not at all true.
The soul (Hebrew "nefesh") here refers to the embodied part of the spirit (Hebrew "ruach"). As you know, the Intelligent Spirit is embodied in the body of an earthling by 30%, and most of it (Hebrew "neshamah") is located in the Spiritual world.
The embodied part of the Rational Spirit acquires the ability to change the vibrations (qualities) of the Spirit as a whole, that is, both the embodied and non-embodied parts, but this change in vibrations becomes final only after the parting of the embodied part (soul) with the body and its exit from incarnation.
In what direction can the vibrations (qualities) of the Spirit change? What transformations are the properties of the spirit subject to during incarnation?
This is possible only in two directions: increasing vibrations, that is, bringing one's qualities closer to the Divine, which have the vibration of the infinite frequency of the Absolute, and lowering vibrations or removing spiritual qualities from the Divine.
These changes entail consequences that the biblical texts call eternal life and eternal death.
God, the Creator of the universe, is the Source of eternal life, and moving away from Him, that is, leaving His qualities, is the cause of eternal death, as the absence of being in a state of eternal life. But the word “eternal” here does not mean a very long or endless time, but a stay outside of time and space, in the spiritual world.

Sin is mental, astral, etheric or physical energy aimed at reducing the vibrations of the spirit, at removing it from God as the Source of life and, accordingly, leading it to a state of spiritual death.
Spiritual death does not mean the cessation of the existence of the spirit, but shows the state of its merger with low mental and astral vibrations generated and nurtured by itself, incompatible with the Divine Light of Love.
Thus, it is clear that the words “the soul that sins will die” do not mean the killing of a sinful soul by God, but a natural consequence of a decrease in vibrations, removal from Divine qualities, and therefore from the Source of Life.
Sin is a spiritual disease, and just as a physical disease can result in the death of the physical body, so a spiritual disease can lead to spiritual death.
And in a state of spiritual death, the Reasonable Spirit does not see the Divine Light in itself and in others, and does not know how to love and forgive. He considers trusting someone without evidence and doing good selflessly to be a mistake and dangerous stupidity.
It is very difficult for a deceased Spirit who is in embodiment to imagine that there is something beyond the perception of the receptors of his body and the measuring scales of instruments invented by him to confirm the model of reality he created, which he hastily accepts as true reality.
The deceased Spirit very often considers himself a manifestation or function of the body, and not its owner and manager, and falling into horror at the thought of the death of his body along with himself, he begins to invent activities, entertainment and pleasures designed to distract him and others from such painful experiences.
If in a society the number of spiritually dead incarnated intelligent beings exceeds 40%, then a chain reaction begins in the construction of destructive political economic systems and their struggle among themselves with the involvement of various civil, scientific and religious structures.
Only the Spirit himself can come out of the state of spiritual death, having believed in the existence of God and the Spiritual world, in the immortality of himself and in his unity with other people and with God in the Light of His eternal love. Faith will give rise to a desire in him to cleanse himself of negative blocks that prevent him from being in the Light, and a message to change negative mental attitudes that lead to the formation of negative blocks.

People who have already passed this path can help in this by talking about their experiences and teaching people to determine the spiritual causes of their illnesses, fears, misfortunes and addictions through communication with their own disembodied part in the spiritual world, which in the language of esoteric concepts is called the Higher Self.
MidgasCaus, biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien life forms, planet Esler.
Mirrah Count, political scientist, sociologist and religious scholar, Guardian of the Christian egregor, known as Archangel Gabriel, planet Burkhad.
April 2021
February 23, 2022

Protection from energetic and physical aggression

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/N5ooU4Gx-do

The degree of protection from energetic influences for any person, no matter what he does, depends on the degree of his trust in the divine world and the feeling that he is already protected at all levels.

Protection from physical influences can also only come from an Almighty being, from God.

Here there is already a question of the value for the world of the information that a person brings into this world. With the physical removal of the body, the Spirit leaves the incarnation. If the task of transferring the necessary knowledge to the physical world is not completed, the Spirit has the right to incarnate in this world again, or to become the curator of someone who understands its topic.

Indeed, in your world there are destructive entities, destructive forces that can remove high-vibration light entities from embodiment.

Here it is important for each person to be aware of the importance of what he is conveying and to fully realize that he can appear before the Heavenly Father at any moment, being taken out of incarnation. You just need to be prepared for this, you don't need to be afraid of it, which means this life span is determined in the Spiritual world.

Zaliathar, futurologist, specialist in healing practices, the study of the spiritual world and timeline studies.
Planet Raom-Li, Pleiades star cluster

July 2021

Timecode: #308, 08:50

> In runic magic, protection is sometimes placed. If someone starts to attack, then this runic formation begins to fight against this person. Does this cause harm to the one who put up such protection?

This protection is delivered in the form of a thought form. You call it magic, we unofficially call it the physics of the astral world .

For you this is esoteric science, for us it is the science of how you can act in the astral world . This is the closest to the material and Spiritual world.

If the protection is created not just for protection, but to repel negative influences, then it is the same evil as that which was caused by that person. This defense is in the form of an attack.

An example of a safe defense in the form of a thought form:

> "Let the destructive energy that was sent to me be transformed into light, go to its creator and increase awareness in him."

Glarkh Protis, leading economist of the external economic sector of the interstellar union, planet Burkhad

February 2022

February 28, 2022

Urgent message from Archangel Michael https://blog.cassiopeia.center/oAnwIwycRRx

My dear embodied souls!

At a very difficult time for all of you, I convey this message to reveal the reasons for what is happening and to manifest a path out of the spiritual crisis created by many people, exploding your hearts from within and infecting your minds at a speed many times greater than any epidemic.

These explosions are reflected by wars in all physical spaces of the Earth, equally dear to Me, and spiritual infection manifests itself in numerous earthly diseases, slowly eating your bodies and sending fear into your souls.

Each intelligent Spirit , as a beloved Child of God, owning a part of the Divine Energy, can choose its own path when coming into the material world. The path of creation and the path of destruction are equally open to us, and our common Heavenly Father has given everything for their full implementation.

He did this not because he desired evil and destruction, but because the Freedom of rational Spirits is the main value for Him. Without freedom there can be no real development, no true happiness, no true love.

To take away our freedom means to take away a part of Yourself and turn Your children into soulless robots acting according to expediency programs. The Creator of the Universe will never agree to this. Even if we all leave Him into the darkness of hatred, despondency and narcissism, God will remain Himself, Absolute Love, every second sending us His gifts for life and development.

Every person on Earth constantly makes choices not only through action, but also through inaction. And any choice is free, but causes consequences corresponding to the choice.

These consequences are a necessary element in constructing reality according to our creative plans. If these consequences cause suffering, then they are only a tool for recognizing one's actions as inharmonious with the Divine Energies and the Will of the Heavenly Father. God is infinitely happy in love and everything that falls out of the field of Love also falls out of the field of Happiness and begins to suffer.

If mockery of religion and corruption in the highest echelons of power flourishes in the state, then popular anger grows, which at any moment can break out onto the physical plane with an explosion of bloody revolution and unbridled violence against those who are committed to the old order and devoted to the Fatherland and its power. This happened in Russia a little over a century ago.

If godlessness is justified in a state and its ruler, with the connivance of the people, commits the death penalty for beliefs and belief in a different image than is revered in the state, then there is a high probability of an attack on such a country by other states with a similar ideology, but presented to the people in different images. This happened in Russia eighty years ago.

And if a state takes the lives of its fellow citizens for the right to own a territory donated free of charge by another state and the whole world calmly looks at this, helping with its military technologies to destroy the population of a rebellious territory, then there will be a country whose ruler has not forgotten the Law of God and its representatives will protect those killed in plain sight the entire world of people, through military intervention in a country that publicly executed many people for the sake of the territory and resources located on it.

This is what is happening now on Earth, a planet no less dear to my heart than all the worlds of the many galaxies in the Universe.

To return to peace, all participants in the fratricidal military conflict need to take responsibility for the critical situation that has arisen and sit down at the negotiating table. The main book on this table should not be the law of any earthly country, but the words of the Great Spiritual Teacher Jesus Christ, written in the heart of everyone:

> “If anyone sues you to take your shirt, give him your outer garment too.”

This law speaks of the priority of the spiritual light of love over material things. He says that the largest territory with the richest natural resources is not worth the life of even one person, like a beloved Child of God.

Until this truth is imprinted in the heart of every person, it will not be in the hearts of earthly politicians, which means the death of your children, fathers, mothers, wives and husbands for the greed and love of money of those in power on Earth will continue. It's your choice and be happy with it.

We will all meet in the spiritual world and while staying here the murdered will look into the eyes of their killers. All together we will sit down at the negotiating table, at the head of which will sit the Heavenly Father. Everyone will tell him about their military victories and defeats. And the last word will remain with Him. And I am only a witness of His Will and a messenger of His Love, I appeal to all people of the Earth: reconcile with each other in love and be happy here and now .

Archangel Michael, the Highest Hierarch of the Spiritual World, the Lord of the Cycles of Incarnations at all levels of density of the planet Earth, the manager of the Christian egregor.

February 2022

March 5, 2022

Time of the spring equinox.

Unified calendar of ancient peoples. Men's Day, Women's Day and "Week of Ancestors"

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/8PaxA4aa2Bv

Ancient people have long noticed the starting point from which the day begins to increase - this is the day of the vernal equinox. On today's calendar this is approximately March 21-22.

In ancient times, the calendar was more lunar, which was divided into 12 months of 28 days. Each month had additional days, which were according to the solar calendar. The starting point of this calendar, New Year, was at the end of March.

That calendar, which was lunar-solar, had 360 days. Those days that remained until the end of the year were added each time to the end of the year before the New Year around March 21 and constituted the so-called " Week of Ancestors ."

These were the days when ancient people said goodbye to the old, built a new reality through special ceremonies, special rituals of communication with the spirits of ancestors, with high-vibration plasmoid civilizations, with their souls, etc.

If we now look at the modern calendar, we will see that approximately two weeks before the "ancient New Year" we have March 8th. If we count back another 2 weeks, it will fall on the 20th of February, when we celebrate Men's Day.

It is no coincidence that the holidays are structured this way. The fact is that in ancient times, as I was told, at the end of each year there were "weekends", which were then called " week ".

" WEEK " was the name given to the first day of the week, when they did NOT do anything in the field, in the forest, or while hunting, but gathered for rituals.

Then, after the adoption of Christianity, this day began to be called “ Sunday ”.

The week itself was called “ septenary ”, i.e. seven days.

The first day of that week, which was dedicated to men, was about a month before the New Year. There was a different calendar then.

“ Men's Week ” was considered the day of men, which is now reflected as February 23. At that time, it was a day of honoring warriors, a day of initiation of boys who were entering adolescence into the male customs of their tribe, their admission into the egregor of “men,” if we use modern language.

After a week, which corresponds approximately to modern 10 days, there was “ Woman’s Week ” - woman’s day.

“ Woman’s Week ” is a day that was dedicated to feminine energies, to all mothers, daughters - all women of the tribe. Rituals were held for pregnant women, for young girls, etc.

A week after this women's day, the week before the New Year began, which was mentioned above, which was dedicated to the ancestors.

It went something like this: men's week, women's week, then a week dedicated to the ancestors, and only after that the New Year's Eve.

On the modern calendar this is projected as Defenders of the Fatherland Day, International Women's Day on March 8, and the celebration of March 21 has been preserved, for example, among the Arab peoples and Central Asian peoples. This is a reflection of our ancient egregor of our noosphere of the earth, even among those people who do not understand the true origin of these holidays.

Regarding the meaning of numbers 8.03 according to the numerology of the Interstellar Union (from the point of view of other civilizations this may be different):

> 8 is the energy of Uranus, responsible for contact with other worlds, with the spiritual world, with the subtle world, with your Higher Self, contact with that world that is not visible with ordinary physical eyes;
>
> 3 is the energy of Mars, the energy of activity, courage.

Taken together, this carries the message for women to actively contact their Spiritual world and teach this to their children and their men.

March, 2021

March 11, 2022

Reasons for frequent disagreements between contactees

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/6a06q9pwTBs
This article examines the reasons for frequent disagreements between contactees of plasmoid (thin-material) and humanoid (dense-material) civilizations.
In part, these contradictions are explained by different forms of presentation and processing of information, characteristic of different types of consciousness possessed by spirits embodied in subtle or dense material bodies.
Plasmoids living in higher vibrational bodies that do not have a certain rigidly fixed shape, organs of vision, hearing, etc., not to mention such purely physical functions of bodies as nutrition and reproduction (as in people through sex), have a very special psychology and worldview, dissimilar to humanoid (including human) types of characters and beliefs.
Of course, there are different personalities among plasmoids, just like among humanoids, but I am now writing about a general trend.

The lack of nutrition with organic substances and special forms of reproduction not associated with the physical body make it a very difficult task for plasmoids to calmly, adequately perceive and explain these processes in people, and the increased vibrations of their bodies, compared to dense material ones, allow them to feel more enjoying their existence and the Light of God in themselves and around (they consider themselves part of God).
This can provoke calls from plasmoids to limit food intake, fasting, lack of sex life (for some of them this is a meaningless loss of energy), etc.
It is also worth remembering the fact that the souls of animals are created by plasmoids from their own energy, and then embodied by them in the bodies of animals, which is why many plasmoid civilizations insist on a vegetarian diet for people.
It is very painful and scary for many plasmoids when people living in dense bodies completely incomprehensible to them kill and eat animals whose souls they quite sincerely consider their children.
Also, many plasmoids are characterized by the perception of the Earth as a plane covered with a solid dome, which is caused by their lack of the type of vision that is familiar to us and the use of a special type of energy vision for orientation in space, with the help of which it is impossible to see the dense material world in any clear and detailed way (these are flat earth versions).
Almost all the ancient peoples of the Earth, who existed even before the global war 12,000 years ago, and who arose immediately after it, lived among almost wild nature, next to plasmoids that work with the elements and are responsible for the energy well-being of individual forests, fields, rivers, human dwellings and etc.
People at that time had greater sensitivity to the manifestations of the spiritual and subtle worlds, due to the heightened instinct of self-preservation, the mythological picture of the world and constant energetic interaction with the natural environment.
People especially gifted in this regard more often than others came into contact with plasmoids, often mistaking them for gods, and on the basis of this they formed the first religious cults on Earth, based on belief in the spirits of nature (animism), in their origin from animals (totemism) and in changing material reality by influencing it with the power of one's mind and personal energy (magic)…. (the Inquisition fought precisely against contactees).
Plasmoid civilizations also created those animal souls that were embodied in our primate ancestors even before their hybridization with aliens from other planets (Burkhad-Selbet-Tumisout), so they rightfully consider themselves, to some extent, our ancestors.
Some plasmoids are quite calm about killing animals and are even able to feed on the released vital force of animals and humans, which are released in the process of killing them.

Thus, many cults with animal and human sacrifices arose on Earth... (these energies were used to maintain some plasmoid civilizations).
From all of the above, we can identify several signs of religious and philosophical systems on Earth, characteristic of the psychology of plasmoids and, with a high degree of probability, created by their earthly contactees, whom we call witches, sorcerers and shamans.
These are the signs:
Denial of the dense material values of the world and body (food, clothing, money, entertainment, sexual intercourse, etc.).
Frequent preaching endorsing strict fasts, self-flagellation and other forms of extreme asceticism.
Preaching vegetarianism or, on the contrary, making sacrifices to the gods of living beings, especially through burning or slow death from wounds, since such methods of killing them cause a greater outflow of the victim's vitality.
Declaration of the dense material world as an illusion, a game of the gods, a staging, etc.
Stories about a flat Earth, a solid dome above it, about an underground civilization that exists next to us, etc.
Hostility or even disgust towards the physical body, treating it as a "prison" for the soul, allegations of violent incarnations, etc.
Explicit or hidden struggle against religions brought to Earth by contactees of humanoid civilizations (Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Vaishnavism, etc.).
Declaring the sacred scriptures of these religions as meaningless texts or texts that have lost their original meaning.
Stories about nutrition with prana, light, spatial energies and other non-physical processes and phenomena.
The perception of many forms of communication between people only from the point of view of energy exchange between them, which leads to the formation of fears of the use of one's own energy by some alien, evil creatures.
These features of the worldview of plasmoids, together with the incorrect interpretation of their information by individual contactees, leads to the fact that the gap of misunderstanding between us continues to expand.
I hope that after reading this article, many people will be able to take a fresh look at their more ancient neighbors on the planet, invisible, but no less real, with a new look, a look of Love and Understanding.
And they will definitely answer us in kind, because according to the law of energy resonance, we cannot receive energy from processes or entities that are very different in vibration from our own.
February 2020

March 21, 2022

Interpretation of some words and names

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/drbrt3t2AZg

Together with Irina we develop imaginative thinking. The syllables of the proto-language, which was used by plasmoids to communicate with people, are presented. For interpretation, the name indicated on the birth certificate is taken.

* Please note that this is a “literal” translation without literary adaptation.

Australia: Australia - Creators stand under the sun loving the Absolute

Agathon: A ga fo n - To the Absolute the path with clear energy

Adam: And yes m - the Absolute gave thoughts

Adamgazy: A da m gazy - The Absolute gave thoughts about an amazing path

Adelina: But what about - the Absolute acting through love is located

Adolf: A do l f - The Absolute created power over people

Aisa: A and sa - the Absolute, embodied to save (help)

Aigul: Aygul - The Absolute, manifested in sound for people

Aidar: Ayda r - Absolute embodied with the gift of separation

Aisa: Aisa is the Absolute, embodied for help.

Aysılu: Aysılu is the Absolute manifested in the power of the world

Alevtina: A le in ti na - Source from the earth inside for the development of objects

Alexander: A le ksan dr - The Absolute on earth strives to save (help) with cruel (evil) energies

Alexey: And le to this - this Absolute strives towards the earth

Alena: A le na - the Absolute on earth in the object

Alikber: A li k be r - Loves the Absolute, strives to separate from the animal (instinctive)

Alina: And li na - Absolutely loving objects

Alice: And li sa - Love saves the Absolute

Alisher: A li she r - Absolute love protects from divisions

Alla: All la - High harmony

Alley: Alley ya - High above the ground, the manifestation of the Absolute

Alon: Al he - Tall he

Albert: Al be r t - Tall animal sharing with the body

Altreya: Al tre y i - High vibrations manifested from the Absolute

Alya: A la - Absolute harmony

Amelia: What if I - Absolute place of love for the Absolute

Anastasia: And na stasia - She has the state of the Source of objects

Anatoly: And that’s why - From the Absolute in this object love is embodied

Angelina: An ge li na - She loves objects on planet Earth

England: England - It helps to love the Absolute

Andrey: Andre y - Limitation of cruelty (anger) shows

Angelica: Is it Anzheka - She lives with love in her soul

Angelita: Isn’t she the same - She lives with the love of space

Anna: An na - Demarcating (arranging) objects

Annushka: An nushka - She is needed for the sign of the soul

Anton: Anto n - Delimits this energy

Antonin: Anto ni n - She doesn’t have this energy

Anyuta: And nu that - Absolutely necessary for space

Ariana: A ri a na - the Absolute image in the Absolute object

Arina: And ri na - the image of the Absolute is located

Arcturus: Ar ktu r - A man who strives to divide the darkness

Arsen: Ar sen - This energetic man

Artem: Artem - A man with a weak thought

Artemy: Art te mi y - Man is weakly united in manifestation

Arthur: Art tu r - The man who divides the darkness Astral: Astra al - High light vibration

Aurelia: Have I - fallen from the Absolute but continuously loves the Absolute

Aurika: A u ri ka - The image of the soul fell from the Absolute

Auria: A uri I - From the Absolute fell into the image of the Absolute

Ashtar: Ash ta r - Separated from the plasmoid space

Bazhena: Ba zhe na - Large living object

Bekir: Be ki r - Separates the hands (paws) of animals

White: White - Animal beloved by the incarnate)

Bibigor: Bi bi go r - Raises and separates animals and beasts

God: God - Supreme Grace

Bogdan: God - the Supreme Helper gives energy

Boris: Bo ri s - Connected with in the highest way

Vadim: Va di m - Creates orders with thought

Valentina: Valentina - Creates energy on earth for the development of objects

Valeria: Val le ri ya - Creates the image of the Absolute on earth

Barbara: Var ra ra - Creates separation from what was created by the sun

Varangians: Varangians - Create solar power

Vasily: Va si li th - Creations are embodied by the power of love

Vasilisa: Va si li sa - Creates help (salvation) with the power of love

Venus: Ve ne ra - There is no sun for knowledge

Faith: Faith - Knowledge of the sun

Veronika: Ve ro ni ka - Our soul recognizes forms

Vika: Vika - Sees souls

Victor: Viktor - This one has a visible desire for division

Victor: Viktor - He sees this desire for division

Victoria: Vi tori I - Sees this aspiration to the image of the Absolute

Viola: Vi o la - Sees everyone harmonious

Violetta: Vi o letta - Sees the whole earth as a material place

Vitaly: Vitaly - Sees the embodiment of love in the space

Vladimir: In la di mir - Inside there is harmony uniting and gluing together the divided

Vladislav: In la di with la in - Inside there is harmony that unites and connects internal integrity

Voronezh: Voro ne - Flow in the form is not wide

Supreme: You with shi th - Visible connection for noticing manifestations

Vyacheslav: Vya che s la v - Reasonably creates unity from harmony within Gabit: Gabit - Path of the animal body

Gabriel: Ga in ri il - The inner path to the high image

Gala/Gala: Ga la/Ga la - The path of harmony (healing)

Galaxy: Gal la k ti ka - The path of harmony for souls striving for development.

Galatea: Gala te ya - The path of healing the weak with the Absolute

Galina: Ga li na - The path of love for objects

Georgiy: Georgiy - Earthly man incarnate in the country

Germany: Germany - Land (country) of division giving birth; Niya is the ending of nouns derived from verbs

Hitler: Hitler - Rules firmly the earth by division (division)

Gihor: Gi hor - protects the Earth (country) from divisions

Gleb: Gleb - Help for the land in strengthening

Gordey: Gordey - Rise and separate from actions in incarnation

Gregory: Grigoriy - From destruction the image in incarnation rises

Guzaliya: Gu for li I - The sound is cut off from the love of the Absolute Guzel: Gu ze l - Sounds (screams) loudly at people)

Gulnara: Gul na ra - Sounds like a solar object to people

Gulya: Gu la - Sound of harmony (healing)

David: Yes vi d - The gift of seeing (inspecting) houses (dwellings)

Dana: Yes to - Gives items

Daniel: Yes or no - The gift is not high

Daniela: Yes ni e la - Dara no strange to heal

Daria: Yes, I am a Gift separated from the Absolute

Dasi: Da si - Gift of strength

Devi: De vi - Makes visible

Delyasha: De la sha - A person acting on earth

Denis: No way - No action to connect

James: James - Incarnate lives in the house with thoughts of unity

Joe: Joe - The house is solid (solid)

Julieta: Julieta - A house full of people is missing from the place

Diana: Diana - Unity with the Absolute is Dilyara: Di la ra - Works with the harmony of the sun

Dinara: Di na ra - Union is with the sun

Dmitry: Dmitry - The house unites vibrations

Dominica: Do mi ni ka - Creates associations without a soul

Road : Road - Created path shape

Leisure: Do su g - Create better mercy (help)

Eve: E va - Absence (end) of creation

Evgeny: Evgeniy - There is no evil on planet Earth

Evgenia: Evgeniya - E in ge - The earthly is missing inside; Niya is the ending of a noun that comes from a verb

Evdokia: Ev do ki ya - Evil was created by the hand of the Absolute

Ekaterina: Ekaterina - There are no weak appeals of objects in the soul

Elena: Elena - Objects are absent on Earth (means that you are mentally often absent from Earth)

Elizabeth: Is there any truth - There is no love in the cut off knowledge of space

Zhanna: Zhanna - Reducing energy is

Zhenya: Zhenya - Living object

Cruelty: Cruelty - Life stops defensive state

Covenant: For the Vet - Carved knowledge on solid

Zarina: Zarina - Cuts out images of objects

Zahar: Zahar - Cut off from the spirit and separated

Sound: Sound - It goes deep into the holes (This is about the ears)

Zeinab: Zey na b - Here is the embodiment of hardness

Earth: Earth - Here there is harmony of thoughts

Zemfira: Zem fi ra - Here the thoughts are pure and sunny

Zeta: Zeta - Here is space (space)

Zina: Zina - Dark (excessive/large) object

Zlata: Zlata - Flaws (holes) heals in space

Zoya: Zoya - Noticeable Absolute

Zulfiya: Zul fi ya - A strong person with absolute purity

Ivan: And va n - Creative energy embodied

Igor: And gor - Shows ascension and removal

Isobella: I zo bella - The manifestation of a noticeably animal in a person is harmonious

Ildar: Il da r - The high gift separates

Ilsiyar: Il si yar - High strength of a person

Ilya: And am I the Embodiment of the Absolute in man?

Inga: Inga - Limits the path

Indra: Indra - Limiter of evil (cruelty)

Inna: In on - Delimits objects

Internet: Internet - Borders are fragile, there are no divisions in the material world

Information: Information - Information - Clear (noticeable) boundaries create separate; Tsiya is a Latin demonstrative ending. Meaning "this, this"

Ira: Ira - Incarnate (manifested) sun

Iraida: Both ra and da - The embodiment of the sun is a manifested gift

Irina: And ri na - Manifesting images into objects

Irisha: And risha - Manifested image of a person

Jesus: And su s - Incarnated for better connection

Jens: Jens - Limited fusion appears

Yeshua : Y e shu a - Manifested negation of the fear of the Absolute

Yoga: Yoga - the path to the Supreme for everyone

Yonten: Yon ten - The embodiment of weak energy

Kamchatka: Kamchatka - In the soul of thoughts there is a vessel about body and soul

Katarina: Katarina - Souls in space figurative object

Katya: Katya - Mental space

Kira: Kira - Hand of the Sun

Kiril: Ki ri l - In the hand there is an image of people (Artist)

Klim: K li m - Strives for love in thoughts

Space : Ko s mo s - Secure connection flowing together

Kostya: Kostya - Steadfast Defender

Krivichi: Kri vi chi - Holiness is visible in the mind

Christina: Christina - Holy state of the object

Ksenia: Ksenia - K-se - She is the aspiring one; Niya is the ending of a noun derived from a verb

Lavrentiy: Lavrentiy - Harmony within continuous energy development manifests

Lada: La da - Gives healing

Ladoga: La do ga - Harmoniously created path

Larisa: La ri sa - Harmony of images for help (salvation)

Larita: La ri ta - Harmonious image of space

Leila: Le y la - Manifestation of harmony on earth

Lenar: Le na r - The object is separated from the ground

Leon: Leon - Earthly he

Lera: Lera - Earth's sun

Lydia: Li di ya - Loves to unite with the Absolute

Lisa: Li for - Love cut

Lilith: Li li t - Loves the love of the body

Lily: Am I - Favorite love of the Absolute

Liniza: Li is not cut off from love

Liscioni: Li shi o ni - Love is noticeable, but everyone is not

Leah: Am I - Love of the Absolute

Louise: Lou and for - The embodied light is cut off

Moon: Luna - Light object

Love: Love is the highest light within

Lyudmila: Lu d mi la - Light in the house that unites and heals

Lyana: La na - Harmony is located

Magiza: Magi za - Gives birth to lands (countries) cut (surveyor)

Maya: Maya - Born embodiment of the Absolute

Makar: Ma kar - Gives birth to the souls of separation

MaksemelYan: Ma k se me l Yan - This gives birth to the desire to unite people

Maxim: Ma k si m - Born to strive for the power of thoughts

Margarita: Mar gar ita - Gives birth to separation (removal) from the movement of images of places (spaces)

Marina: Ma ri na - Giving birth to images of objects

Maria: Mari I - Giving birth to the image of the Absolute (Source of everything)

Mark: Mark - Gives birth to the desire for division

Matvey: Ma t vey - Born in the body of knowledge to embody

Matryona: Ma tre na - The birth of vibrations is located

Mahbuba: Ma x bu ba - Gives birth to a big impulse to the breath

Masha: Ma sha - Who gives birth to people

Midgard: Midgard - Union of houses on the path of separation from houses (that is, some kind of separate settlement)

Midgaskaus: Mi d ga s ka us - Uniting with home by merging with the eternal (primordial) soul

Milyausha: Mi la u sha - Unites low people with harmony

Miriam: Miri am - One image of death

Miron: Miro n - Unites forms of energy

Miroslav: Miro s la v - A single form of connection with harmony within Miroslava: Peace with la va - Creates a single form of connection with harmony

MirrahKaunt: Mir rah Kaunt - Unites those separated by solar breath; His soul is strong

Michael: Mi ha il - United with a high spirit

Michelle: Miche l - Unites and supports people

Moses: Mo and this - He is manifested in water

Wise: Mu dre l - Little anger towards the Absolute

Muhammad: Mu ha m me d - The little soul united the houses with a thought

Nadezhda: Nadezhda - The object of action gives expansion (distribution)

Nazar: Na za r - Objects are cut and separated

Nazariy: Na zari y - Carves images onto objects and reveals them

Nailya: Na and la - Embodied harmony is found

Naomi: Na o mi - One with all objects

Nastya: Nastya - The object is persistent

Natalia: Am I the right one - Absolute love is in space

Natalya: Na ta li I - The Absolute is located in the space of people

Natalya: Na ta lya - Objects in space harmonize (heals)

Nathanael: Na ta na el - There is a tall object in space

Heaven: Not besa - There is no salvation for animals (preservation in the spiritual world)

Sky: No more - No higher

Neva: Not va - No creation (human it seems)

Neli: Isn't there - No love

Nelly: No l la - There is no harmony in a person

Nika: No ka - No soul

Nikita: Ni ki ta - No hands for space (place)

Nikolai: Nico la y - There is no protection and harmony in incarnation

Nina: Neither on - Missing objects

Nurayim: Nu ra y im - It’s hard for the sun to manifest itself in death

Nyura: Nyu ra - Needed by the sun

Nyusha: Nyu sha - The right person

Vegetable garden: About the city - Round raised shape near the house

Odarka: O dar ka - Gives everyone the separation of the soul

Oksana: Ok sa na - Open assistance in the facility

Olga: Olga - High Path

Oleg: Oh leg - He has mercy on everyone on earth

Olesya: O lesya - Saves everyone on earth

Olga: Olga - High Path

Father: O te ts - attracts all the weak

Pavel: Pa ve l - Believes in the knowledge of people

Peter: Petr - Light vibration

Polina: Poli na - External love is Putin: Path in - Path - Lightness of the body; In is the ending of the surname that he stands for.

Rada: Ra yes - Solar gift

Radmila: Ra d mi la - Unites homes harmoniously with the sun

Radomira: Ra to the world - created by the Sun, uniting solar

Joy: Joy - Solar creative state

Radu: Ra du - the Sun is subtle (subtle)

Raisa: Ra and sa - the Sun, embodied for help

Ramadas: Rama da s - With the sun born by the gift of union

Raphael: Ra fa el - The sun is very high

Rashad: Rasha d - Sunny man in the house

Regina: Regina - Continuously located in the country

Rinat: Ri na t - Image of a material object

Robert: Robert - The form is separated from the animal by the body Robot: Robo t - Higher body form)

Rose : Rose - Shape with slits

Roman: Roman - Form born of energy

Russia: Russia - Form of unity in it

Rudolf: Ru do l f - An instrument that creates power for people

Ruslan: Ru s la n - A tool for connecting with harmonious energy

Ruslana: Ru s la na - A tool for connecting with the harmony of objects

Russian language: Russian language k - Ru-s - Connected with instruments (Doubling the consonant is artificial, due to the peculiarities of pronunciation); Ki is an adjective ending; Languages k - Union of loved ones

Saana: Saa na - Help of the Absolute is located

Samantha: Samanta - Helps to create energy in space.

Samira: Sami ra - Helps to unite with the sun

Sanraya: San raya - Helps the energies of the sun to manifest from the Absolute

Safinaz: Sa fi na z - Helps clean holes in objects

Sasha: Sasha - Saves people

Svetlana: Sve t la na - Unity with the knowledge of matter heals objects

Severin: Severin - Place of knowledge of separation; The ending "in" is a modified "he"

Severina: Se veri na - This one knows the images of objects

Seraphim: Sera fi ma - This solar frequency gives birth

Sergey: Sergey - This one is manifested separately from the planet Earth (This divider of the earth is embodied)

Serik: Seri k - This is an image of aspiration

Word: With word - Communication contains and distributes

Sun: Sun - attractive energy collected for people

Sofia: So fi ya - The purity of the Absolute is collected

Thank you: With pa si bo - I connect with hope (faith) with a higher power

Stanislav: Sta ni s la v - A state without merging with harmony within Stapanida: Sta pa ni da - The state of faith is not a gift

Stas: Sta s - Connection status

Stella: Stella - The human condition is harmony

Stepan: Stepan - State of hope and energy

Stefania: Stefaniya - Stefa - State of similarity (being similar to someone); Niya is the ending of a noun derived from a verb

Stesha: Stesha - Steadfast person

Seif: Se and f - This is manifested (embodied) for power

Taisiya: Ta and si - The power of the Absolute is manifested in space

Taisiya: This and that - She is the manifested space

Tamara: Ta ma ra - Space born of the sun (or In a sunny place)

Tamaris: Ta mar ri s - In space gives birth to an image of unity

Tamil: Ta mi la - Space unites and heals

Tamiel: Ta mi el - Spaces are united by high

Tatyana: That's me on - In material space from the Absolute object

Body: Telo - Fragile (weak) vessel

Timofey: Timofey - Development in water is a sign of development

Timur: Timur - Develops a small division

Tinaezdis: Ti na ez di s - Development of the object far in labor connection

Tinos: Ti no s - Unity needs to be developed

Tonya: Tonya - This is an object

Ulyana: Ulya na - High Absolute in the object

Faina: Fa and na - A very manifested object

Fania: Fania - Fa- very, excessively; Niya is the ending of nouns derived from a verb.

Farid: Far ri d - Many images in the house

Fatma: Fat ma - Illumination of matter gives birth

Fevronia: Fe v ronia - Tenderness within the form; Niya is the ending of nouns derived from verbs

Felitsata: Fe litsa ta - The sign of love is contained in space

Philip: Fi li p - Pure love nourishes

France : France - The power of solar energy in it

Chingiz: Ching gi z - Intelligent energy in the earth's hole

Miracle: Chu do - Rumor creates

Sheran: Sheran - Defender of Solar Energy

Evelina: E veli na - Strange knowledge about love is found

Edward: E du ar d - Strange thin man of the house

Eivor: Hey vor - Strange manifestations spread separately

Eleanor: E leo no ra - Stranger on earth than anyone else but needed by the sun

Elvira: El vi ra - The high sees the sun

Elsa: El for - Cut off from the high

Elmira: El mira - High association solar

Emilia: E mi li ya - An unusual union with the love of the Absolute

Erica: Eri ka - Strange (incomprehensible) image of the soul

Yuvati: Yu va ti - Low creates development

Julian: Yu li an - He has the lowest love

Yulia: I am the lowest (or descending) love of the Absolute

Yuri: Yuri - Inferior image

Yakov: I'm in - Absolute protection inside

Yana: I'm on - Absolute object

Yaroslav: I ro s la v - Absolute form that unites harmony within Yasuhiro: Ya su hi ro - The Absolute is better manifested through the hands

March 25, 2022

Ethereal Elemental Power

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ehfirnaya-sila-stihij
The formation and development of the human physical body is a natural dynamic process that begins with conception and ends with the moment of biological death.
This process is subject to the laws of material evolution and is influenced by many factors, but the main creator of the body is always the Spirit, as its owner and at the same time its part, without which the body almost immediately undergoes inevitable entropy.
The creation of a physical body is the transfer of the spiritual qualities of a rational entity through the etheric plane to the physical. The etheric plane of existence is known to you as prana, chi or life force. It supports the existence of all material worlds at all levels of density and manifestation.

Etheric energy is quite rightly called ethereal matter and ethereal substance, for any material particle and energy wave is always surrounded by this universal universal force. In fact, any matter is one of the forms of manifestation of this force, strictly specific to the world at one or another level of density.
The ether itself, in all its diversity, is a manifestation of the Divine energy of life, which fills the entire universe with its loving and endlessly radiant breath. In the spiritual world, the energy of life imparts its presence to all entities living there directly from its radiance, which is differently visible and perceived at each spiritual level, depending on the ability of its inhabitants to perceive.
The spirit that goes for incarnation is endowed by God with a certain amount of etheric energy, sufficient for incarnation, the formation of a body and maintaining itself in the material world. This supply of vitality can be either replenished or spent during the incarnation, which affects the quality of life of the spirit and many of its capabilities.
The universe is structured in such a way that eight less dense worlds create a ninth, more dense one, and all of them sequentially receive energies from each other from the Divine Plane, transmit them from top to bottom, densifying them more and more. Thus, God gives us the opportunity to create more and more dense worlds for our own future incarnation.
Anisya Lyubimova. Heart of the Ocean (left). Ball (right)
The denser the material world, the greater the resistance of the environment the spirit embodied there must overcome in order to recognize behind the Cover of matter and in it itself the Divine light of love shining in it.
Cognition of Divine Energies in different conditions makes the children of God more and more like God the Father Himself, which increases the level of our strength, love and happiness. The growth of these three qualities is inseparable from each other, just as sunlight is inseparable from solar heat and the shape of the sun as a ball.
The first, second and third levels of matter density are characterized by the condensation of ethereal energies into special individual particles called atoms. To form each atom, four ethereal forces must combine, which on Earth are called elemental forces. The subtlest of the four etheric forces is perceived by man as a burning fire. She lights up the stars and supports any combustion as a continuous process.
This is the elemental power of fire, the manifestation of the Light of God.

The second most subtle etheric force is very volatile and changeable. She mixes everything, creating chaos out of harmony, and harmony out of chaos. This is the elemental power of air, it manifests the Divine mind.
The third etheric force has the ability to purify and renew, it nourishes everyone with everything necessary and takes away everything unnecessary and destructive, gradually dissolving it in itself and returning it to God in the form of light energies. This elemental power of water is a manifestation of Divine purity.
The fourth ethereal force is the densest and heaviest. It holds everything else together, builds any structure and protects it from destruction. This is the elemental power of the Earth - a manifestation of Divine protection.
God emits from His Essence an infinite variety of energies, each of which can be His name, but all the names and all the words of all the worlds of the universe in total cannot reflect even a millionth part of the Divine energies and qualities unimaginable to us.
Love, reason, purity and protection of God, converted by His Creative Will into the ethereal forces of the elements, are for us, His children, the material for creating the physical or densely material Universe, at the first, second and third levels of manifestation of matter, which on Earth are called levels density.
Archangel Uriel, the Highest Hierarch of the Divine Light, the guardian of all the Angels of Nature, the Lord of the Ray of Divine Light, creating matter at all levels of manifestation.
Archangel Metatron, head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Spiritual World of the Milky Way Galaxy, ruler of the Jewish and Christian egregors on planet Earth.
August, 2021
March 31, 2022

About love. Channeling with the representative of the planet Esler

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ZFpglOX86UM

Friends from the planet Esler transmitted information via a telepathic channel that concerns each of us.

Love is a great force that changes the material world. When it is not enough, its place is taken by other energies that destroy the structure of the Spirit , for they separate it from the Source of Life in the Divine Mind and the Light of His Love.

Only God can teach people true knowledge, the purpose of which is happiness in a single will with Him and unity of consciousness in the desire to achieve the fusion of the energy of the born Spirit and the Energy of Divine Love.

Any religion is always an interpretation of primordial knowledge that has passed through the perception of embodied Spirits from a variety of spiritual levels, with a variety of goals and life tasks.

In one egregor these energies are held only by the original ideological image of a particular religious teaching.

Religion is an excellent tool in your world for growth in Love and development of the spiritual mind, but this requires a correct perception of all the features of religious teachings, more or less distorted by the perception of those people who took on the mission of conveying the teaching to uninitiated people.

For the correct perception of religions, which brings benefit and not harm, remember that true Love cannot bear hatred towards other forms of consciousness, perception and ideas that do not correspond to the usual way of life.

Light drives away darkness, but does not create it. Likewise, Love drives away condemnation, envy, resentment, revenge and other destructive forms of behavior of embodied and non-incarnate spirits.

Earthly forms of Love are also necessary and important for all of you, provided that your animal nature is subordinated to the spiritual and begins to serve it, and not vice versa.

By earthly forms of Love we mean love for material energy in different types and forms and love for sensual pleasures, necessary for the body, according to instinctive programs.

Appreciate the energy of Love, in any forms and forms that come to you, do not drive it away and do not humiliate it either in yourself or in others, and then it will lead you to the Light, which is the Holiness of the spirit, and to greater and greater perfection, whose name is The Infinite God, one of whose manifestations is the world you see and hear.

Pras-Hiontu, cultural scientist, psychologist and religious scholar, planet Esler.

February 2020

April 1, 2022

God's April Fool's Joke. Meeting Irina and Maxim Rusan. Answers to 12 main questions

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/8fCmAD_RxbL
Three years have passed since this fateful meeting. Exactly three years ago, on April 1 (probably GOD himself joked like that) Maxim sent 12 questions to the village of Povorino to contactor with extraterrestrial civilizations Irina Podzorova, who subsequently changed more than one fate.
Foreword by the author – Maxim Rusan
I had no idea how these questions would affect my entire, and not only my, future life. This was the first acquaintance with Irina, which was decisive in the fate of many people and the entire CASSIOPEA project. At that time I was running an interesting children's project. My cameraman was invited to film a crazy woman who communicates with aliens in the village of Povorino. I, studying to be a psychologist and interested in esotericism, decided to formulate 12 questions that would explain to me her level of madness.

When I heard the answers to the 12 questions asked of her and Kirkhiton, I couldn't believe my ears. I knew the answers to these questions for myself, but when I heard Irina's answers, I immediately realized that this was a gift of fate for our entire planet! I heard inside myself:
"This cannot be, she even revealed something in me that I myself did not fully understand..."
And the most important question arose in my head:
"Why hasn't anyone been interested in her yet?.."
After her answers to the camera, I realized that I couldn't hesitate, and the time had come.
The next morning, I personally visited her with my friend and cameraman and asked other questions on camera. There we met MidgasKaus from the planet Esler, and he diagnosed everyone.
For a long time I could not come to my senses, not understanding where I was being "conned", and how could I tell everything about something that many doctors cannot even determine???
All the way back to Voronezh I was tormented by a question in my head:
"How is this even possible and is this even possible?.."
To be honest, I also had thoughts that I had found someone who would simply make us rich with her gift! But, having learned everything more deeply and started communicating with our creators, I realized that WEALTH is not what many people dream of and look for in life.
My friend on the way back said that this was nonsense, and she accidentally guessed everything, that she was a charlatan, like everyone else. It was very difficult to really believe, bordering on the impossible. I myself, talking later with Irina and our Interstellar friends, doubted all this for some time.
MidgasCaus, talking to me, said that this is normal, everything has its time, and that's what faith is needed for. At that time, I also didn't fully understand what he was talking about... But maybe I'll talk about it and show it later in new videos, if you're interested!
Question 1: Why was our race created on Earth?
Question 2: With the help of which cosmic races were we created?
Our race on Earth was created by three civilizations. The planet was discovered 5 million years ago by astronauts from the planet Tumesout (I speak all the names in Daraal because I am a Daraal contactee), which is located in the constellation Orion (the star Pi) at a distance of just over 1000 light years from Earth.
Kirchiton and I were there too, with physical contact in September 2018. I have these notes, I kept a diary, I can provide all the materials on the planet Tumesout.

The inhabitants of Tumesout look like people of Slavic appearance, only they are giants. They are usually between 5 and 8 meters tall. They are much taller than Kirchiton and, especially, me.
On our planet, when the Tumesoutians discovered it, there was life, there were animals, but there were no intelligent people.
The Tumesoutians have a goal - to spread intelligent life throughout the galaxy, they consider this their mission. And their closest partners in this mission are aliens from the planet Burkhad. It is located in the constellation Cygnus (670 light years from the Sun). Burkhad is the most important planet now in the Interstellar Union, which includes 116 planets (including Daraal, Esler, Tashig, Tumesout, etc.).
Having seen our animals, namely the ancient primates (similar to our monkeys, but larger), the Burkhadians and Tumesoutians decided to do experiments with these primates, combining their genetic material with theirs in order to breed an intelligent creature.
The author of the drawing is Irina Borisova
Why did they decide to do this? Because it was connected with their religious worldview. Their ideas about God do not conflict with science (unlike our order). They believe that God created the material world to embody the intelligent Spirits he created and achieve his goals.
In the spiritual world we can only dream, create some images, and we can achieve goals only in the material world. According to their ideas, intelligent Spirits, including me and you, we were all created before the creation of the material world, we just don't remember this.
The material world was created on the planets gradually. Galaxies were formed. On the planets on which life was possible, evolution took place, but not randomly, but directed by His Divine spirit, combining in a certain way so that organic matter was obtained.
There was the first cell and so on, but not by chance - this is called the directed evolution of the development of life. Then animals emerged and began to develop on some planets. Their central nervous system developed.
The fact is that the rational Spirit cannot incarnate in everyone. He needs a certain development of the brain so that the Spirit can act through him (talk, for example, think, think). A rational Spirit cannot incarnate into a cat or a dog, because it cannot speak or think. In the Daraal language, the intelligent Spirit is called "limis".
And so, when the animals living there on the planets reached such a threshold of development that they could be incarnated, the limis incarnated. For the first time this happened not in our Universe, not in our Galaxy. Then in ours, including on the planet Tumesout several hundred million years ago. This was the beginning of their civilization. They began to develop, multiply, technical development began, they went into space, and made various discoveries. And then interstellar flights began.

And then 5 million years ago the Tumesoutians discovered our planet. And they decided that if there are primates on Earth whose development is quite a bit lacking to incarnate a rational Spirit, then they can be helped by giving genetic material to breed hybrids, so that as many limis spirits as possible can incarnate in the spiritual world. They consider this their mission.
Then the Tumesoutians and Burkhadians were joined by a third civilization from the constellation Canes Venatici - the planet Selbet. If the inhabitants of Burkhad and Tumesout are similar to people (that is, anthropomorphic, humanoid, to call it in Russian, because humanoid civilizations are sometimes humanoid, but sometimes not), then the inhabitants of Selbet are cold-blooded, similar to our lizards, only they walk on two legs. These are oviparous reptiles. Selbet also decided to participate in this hybrid breeding experiment.
They initially had disputes among themselves, because the Selbetians wanted intelligent reptilians to be created on Earth from our animals. But the Burkhadians and Tumesoutians were against it, partly because of poor gene compatibility. There was a debate about whose genes we should have more of. Then experiments began, and about 3 million years ago the first people appeared. The intelligent Limis Spirits incarnated in them. Unlike primates, people no longer had hair, they were upright, without a tail, and so on.
Millions of years later, the Tumesout people came into contact with Moses (a biblical character), he really existed, he was a contactee. The Tumesoutians told him in simple mythological form what was happening. They had contact on the mountain on which the alien ship was landing, all this is described in the Bible in the Old Testament. He, of course, could not understand much, because he did not know that space and other planets existed. There was no such technical development then, so for him everyone who descended from the sky seemed to be Gods. The aliens did not convince him of this, believing that it was easier to give knowledge to primitive, undeveloped people in a mythological form.
They told Moses how man was created. The Bible says that
And the Lord God formed man from the dust of the ground, and he breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living soul.
Knowledge is encrypted here. The dust of the earth is the genetic material of primates. Ashes represent undeveloped life. He blew in the breath of life - a combination of genetic materials.
We don’t have much Selbet genetic material, it’s true. But in genetic diseases such as ichthyosis (scales in humans), these genes are expressed.

Question 3: How many civilizations were there on Earth before humanity, and where did the previous one go?
They explained it to me this way: civilization was originally human, but the Earth itself and the solar system were structured differently. There was no Moon, which was then a planet between Mars and Earth. The Earth was a little closer to the Sun, and there was a single continent on it. The base of our creators was where the Mediterranean Sea is now, closer to the shores of Turkey, in the modern geographical sense.
In the solar system, Venus and Mars had oxygen and water, they were suitable for the life of our people. Our creators decided 200 thousand years ago, when people on Earth multiplied, to transport some people to these two planets, build cities for them in order to populate the solar system with people. This was consistent with their mission - the spread of intelligent life in space. About 20 thousand people were transported to Venus and Mars. Cities were built, the necessary plants were planted, and people lived there for many millennia.
But 12 thousand years ago on the planet Selbet, in their political structure, humanoids came to power who were opposed to Burkhad. And their war began. There were contradictions about people too. Selbet believed that we were created incorrectly, that the hybrids turned out to be too aggressive, difficult to control, and that we should be destroyed so that there would be no problems from us in the future. Earth, Mars and Venus were then considered the colonies of Burkhad. People were undeveloped then, the aliens helped us, gave us knowledge, but did not do our development for us, believing that people should develop themselves. Then the Selbetites attacked our planet, Mars and Venus.
Selbet, of course, was expelled from the Interstellar Union due to the attack on these planets. The exception according to the rules is valid until the end of the war and the punishment of all those responsible. But Selbet did not stop and used serious weapons on the Earth that change the orbits of the planets. As a result, a single continent on Earth split, many people died, floods, volcanic eruptions, and earthquakes began.
The Earth began to move away from the Sun and, with its attraction, acquired a satellite - the Moon. The moon almost fell to Earth, but the Burkhadians were able to prevent it. During this war, the Burkhadians and Tumesoutians had to fight off the reptilians and at the same time remove those who survived from the Earth, because the living conditions on Earth had become unbearable due to climatic conditions. All this became part of the mythology called the Flood. The death of Atlantis, etc. - yes, these were all cities that existed at that time and were in contact with aliens, giving them knowledge.
The Burkhadians first took the survivors to Mars, but the reptilians destroyed everyone there. They managed to take people out of Venus before the Selbetites used chemical weapons there, spraying gases. The survivors were sent closer to the core of the Galaxy, to the planet Disara. They still live there. They are already flying between the stars, joining the Interstellar Union, and even arriving on Earth. They are very similar to us, and if you give them different clothes, then on the street you will not be able to distinguish him from our person.

And even before the war there were Burkhadian bases on the Moon, because it was the closest planet to Earth. And the surviving people from Earth were transported to bases on the Moon. There were transparent, glass-like domes. In mythology, these actions are also described as Noah's Ark. But this ship did not float on water, but this was a mythological form of describing a spaceship. And he was not alone; several ships were then able to save several thousand people and animals. Many animals died like dinosaurs. Previously, people and dinosaurs lived side by side, together, there was no such separation. Our people perceived this war as the actions of evil Gods. Then paganism was developed with the concepts of good and evil Gods. When all this calmed down on Earth, it was cleaned a little from radiation with special devices and people were resettled back. But the planet already had different climatic conditions, winter appeared, and earlier there were even tropical plants at the poles. The Moon appeared in the sky, which was not there before. Since then, they decided to leave our civilization without special care for its independent development. Flights to Earth stopped, but it was decided to look for contactees.
Question 4: Was there a planet Phaethon?
It was a planet between Mars and Jupiter. There were alien bases there too. But the Selbetites used such weapons that the Phaeton fell into pieces. Our Earth could also expect this, but Burkhad repelled the attack of the reptilians, and many Burkhadians died.
Question 5: How to become a contactee? Conditions for choosing a contactee.
That is, how do aliens choose those with whom contact is possible? There are certain conditions for contactees. Kirchiton told me that when I left contact with him, I wrote down all these conditions. It was told specifically about Daraal. Their contactees all have physical contact, they are taken to different planets.
Personal desire. No one will persuade a person; he must want to become a contactee himself.
No fear of UFOs and aliens. There should be no mistrust.
The desire to understand the world.
Lack of conscious aggression directed against sentient beings. Aggression in this case is possible only with defense. If a person deliberately wants to harm someone, his energy changes.

The desire to fly into space.
No fears or phobias. Even if a person is afraid of a spider or a mouse, he will not be suitable for contact, since in his subconscious there is already a fear of alien life forms.
Absence of religious fanaticism in any form and the habit of imposing one's opinion on others.
Tolerance of the opinions and beliefs of others.
Intolerance for crimes against life and health, as well as the sexual integrity of other beings.
Absence of sexual perversions - pedophilia, necrophilia, bestiality, sadism and masochism. The energy changes from sexual union in such forms.
Normal sexual orientation. With such violations, something happens, they say, to the aura, and it becomes weakened.
The absence of physical diseases that prevent a flight into space with aliens (hypertension, arrhythmias, previous strokes and heart attacks, heart, liver, kidney failure, poor hearing and vision, epilepsy, diabetes, oncology, allergies and reduced immunity.
Question 6: How to develop superpowers: clairaudience, clairvoyance, claircognizance, telepathy, telekinesis and others?
Clairvoyance, hearing, seeing are considered forms of contact with life forms. If we are talking about seeing the future, then this is contact with angels, good spirits, because only God can know the future. In ancient times, such people were called prophets.
But telepathy (transfer of thoughts at a distance) is something else. Here I have a telepathic connection with MidgasKaus from the planet Esler. It became possible because a chip was inserted into me, which changes my brain waves upon contact to perceive his thoughts and transmit my own. I couldn't do it without the chip.
Telekinesis is associated with human energy. Hence the phenomenon of poltergeists. This is precisely telekinesis that is unconscious to humans. That is, a person has vital energy that comes out during stress; its excess is especially noticeable in children and adolescents. This energy, when released, can suppress gravity in some object, and it will fly up. To have conscious telekinesis, you must concentrate your thoughts so that you are 100 percent sure of success. Only faith gives such energy, or rather the opportunity for this energy to come out of you.
Humans are capable of both telekinesis and levitation. The only thing stopping them is their lack of belief in this possibility.
Question 7: Who is the Devil?
Aliens have a different faith than Christians. When Christianity was formed, it was also with the help of aliens, or rather, their contactees.

Thus, Christ's physical father was from the planet Burkhad, and his mother was a physical contactee. She was given genetic material, and so she gave birth to Christ. When Christ died, the Burkhadians took him onto the ship and restored his body. In the description of those events, it was the ascension of Christ, he was taken away by a cloud.
During the formation of the Christian faith, the Devil was set as a symbol of evil in the Universe. The serpent, the dragon fought with the Archangel Michael - this is a symbol of the war of the Selbetites, who wanted to destroy the human race. They still don't treat us well. I was on Selbet, they took me there.
There are also demons - evil Spirits, that is, limis who do evil and enjoy it. They are both embodied and not.
In the spiritual world there is a waiting list for incarnations. And some demons do not want to wait their turn and choose people with weak wills and forcefully occupy their body. Does this violate God's law? Yes.
Question 8: How to communicate with your own soul?
They have slightly different terminology, I'll explain now. Their soul is the Spirit, that is, it is us embodied in the body. And angels and demons are Spirits not embodied in a body. But, unlike Orthodoxy, angels and demons can also incarnate here. That is, they believe in the reincarnation of the soul.
The soul is the Spirit united with the life force that connects it to the body. After death, the soul of a person or any humanoid comes out and for about 40 days it stays with this soul energy. But gradually her vital energy, due to the death of the body, dissipates. And then she becomes the Spirit.
And the Spirit itself consists of three parts (the trinity is a symbol of everything in the world): mind, heart (the essence of the soul) and energy. Each of these parts, in turn, also consists of three parts. The mind is thinking, imagination and memory. Heart – feelings, desires, instincts. Energy - consciousness, emotions and will.
Will is the energy needed to perform actions. Feelings are different from emotions.
Feelings are an attitude towards something, expressed in a wordless form, and emotions are simply a reaction, the energy that is needed for the spirit to react to a change in a particular situation (external or internal).
Consciousness is the energy of thinking that is needed to perceive the world and oneself.
Question 9: Does each person have their own non-physical mentors for growth and development, and how to communicate with them?
Of course have. What is called a guardian angel in religion are Spirits from a certain level of development. When we go for incarnation, we are usually given such a companion, a mentor from the highest level. Even demons are given such mentors. He needs even more care than we, who have taken on some responsibility.

In general, there are 24 spiritual levels in the spiritual world. 1 to 6 are demons. 7-8 – nature spirits, plasmoid civilizations, elemental spirits. From 9 to 16 - ordinary spirits who do both good and evil, so to speak. From 17 to 24 - good spirits, in our terminology called angels.
Every person has guardian angels, not only the baptized. Sometimes the Spirit does not have an angel, this is when his higher mentors decided that he should try to live unaccompanied.
Usually communication with mentors occurs mentally. For example, a person had a good thought. He doesn't realize where this thought comes from. Mentors try not to show themselves so that a person develops independently, without relying too much on them. They believe that independence is the best condition for development.
You can communicate with mentors telepathically or spiritually. Although a spiritualistic session is considered an inferior contact, since the information transmitted by a medium during a spiritualistic session with the help of material objects will be greatly distorted by the consciousness of the medium.
Question 10: Is there Fate?
There is no predetermined fate for every person. Destiny is the way. But a person “makes” this destiny for himself by making a choice. Life in itself is neither good nor evil. It is a container of good and evil, depending on what we ourselves turn it into. Every Spirit faces God's judgment after leaving the body.
A trial is a kind of analysis of life. There it will no longer be possible to say that I was controlled, it is not my fault. You will realize that you made the choice yourself. And what kind of destiny you have built for yourself depends on your inner desires, aspirations, the amount of good and evil, and upbringing. There are people who were born in bad families (alcoholics, etc.), but were able to get out of them and were able to become good. And there are counter examples. And this is a person’s choice, and his destiny. Fate depends on choice.
In order to answer the following questions, Irina needed to contact Kirchiton (planet Daraal). This took a few minutes. After making contact, Irina relayed Kirchiton’s words that she was his first contactee, about whom so many people had learned. He has many contacts, but everyone prefers not to talk about their contacts, knowing that they will not be believed.
Question 11: Can a person change the past and future, control time?
If we mean a time machine, then there is no such technology. Such experiments are carried out in the Interstellar Union. There have been some successes in moving objects, but to move a living person into the past, you need to transfer him into some kind of wave form and send him back in the course of time. Such experiments are underway, but earthlings are still far from this.

There is only one way to get into the past without a physical body - this is astral travel, for this you need to leave the body and want to get to the desired period of time. And you will really get there, you will watch the events, but you will not be able to influence anything, you will be such a ghost there, because the vibrations of the astral body are different than the vibrations of the material world, they do not influence each other.
We can only change the memory of our past. But by changing the memory of the past, we change the present, and therefore the future. In general, time is only our perception in the material body. And time as such does not exist. This is our countdown to eternity. We have invented time periods for the convenience of living in the material world. In eternity, everything happens simultaneously, the present, the future, and the past. God, when creating us, already knew what would happen next to us; for him, time does not exist.
When I go into the astral plane, I catch the feeling that I have always been, am and will exist. That I will not die and have always lived. These sensations bring joy.
But in the material body we do not feel this, since our consciousness is distracted by this world in order to act in it. We do not pay attention to the fact that in our subconscious there is contact with our mind. The memory of life in the spiritual world and of past incarnations is blocked. We would not be able to live here, remembering our past lives in other worlds. We would then be living our past lives.
Question 12: What is the maximum level of energy that a person can achieve under earthly conditions without destroying his physical body?
This energy level is largely individual. For example, during my mental contact with Kirchiton, which you just observed, the flows of energy that enter me begin to move my body, so the question of not destroying the physical body arises.
How to achieve maximum energy levels? It depends on the body. We replenish our energy with the help of chemical reactions occurring in it. Due to the slow oxidation of food substances with oxygen. Oxygen reacts with various substances, and vital energy is released in the cells. To achieve maximum energy levels, you need to take care of your body: eat healthy and varied, and eat in moderation.
It is important that there is no oxygen starvation of tissues. What reduces oxygen levels? Food additives - sodium nitrate, carbon monoxide, for example, react with hemoglobin and interfere with the flow of oxygen. Parasites and various infections are also negative.
You can engage in different energy practices. But these practices are not suitable for everyone, since you need to believe in all this, first of all. Energy always follows thought. In medicine this is called self-hypnosis. But in fact, this is an order to your energy. There are healers who supposedly heal with spells. But in fact, it is you, believing in him, who gives the order to your energy and directs it to increase immunity.

Maksim Rusan's afterword:
These were the 12 questions that have now completely changed my entire life on this planet. I am grateful to fate for this gift. Now our teachers are our creators. And I thank God for giving us such an opportunity to know all this, study and convey this knowledge to all people who want it!
April 2, 2022

The indestructibility of our world at the moment of the death of the Universe

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/_fRE2xydyxN

In the reality of the Spiritual world, when the Universe dies, the world does not perish, is not destroyed. It’s just that the vibrations of those energies that now make up atoms increase, pass into the subtle-material worlds, and the subtle-material worlds, raising their vibrations, pass into the Spiritual world. Only the Spiritual world remains.

The material world disappears for observers from the material world, which is why they say “the death of the Universe.” But nothing from the Spiritual world can perish, because everything is the energy of the Spiritual world, and it is indestructible. This is simply the return of allocated energy to the Spiritual World to create the material world.

Then a cycle of rest passes, and the material Universe arises again in order. First, the subtle worlds: the 59th density level, then the 58th, then the 57th, and so on until the first.

Timecode: #326, 18:45

Hakur, keeper of the Vedic egregor, Spiritual world.

MidgasCaus, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien civilizations, planet Esler.

September 2021

April 3, 2022

Description of spirit levels

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kdj3asSMlEg
After the final separation of the spirit from the material body, it first finds itself in the astral world, which is a kind of vestibule or “waiting room” for disembodied spirits. Usually he is met there by Guide Angels, who, together with his own Guardian Angel, explain to him what happened and escort him to his eternal home - the world of disembodied spirits. It is located a little further from the astral world from manifested matter in terms of the level of its vibrations, being the next dimension of the spiritual world.
The world of disembodied spirits is divided into 24 levels, a detailed description of which will be given below. It is there that all spirits await their turn for incarnation and their life is no less bright, rich and interesting than life in bodies in the material world.
Why do we come here again and again? To manifest the accumulated experience, to radiate our energy, to show feelings, to share thoughts, and to gain new experience that allows us to become closer to That Source of Life, the Power of Which we so clearly feel in the spiritual world, where we are no longer distracted by the needs of material bodies.
The world of disembodied spirits consists of twenty-four levels. The spirits that live above are perceived by us from here as living on the twenty-fourth, because further for us there is simply Light, not divided into separate spiritual entities.
1 Bhoots are the lowest vibrational spirits. They closed their Light so much with greed, lust and envy that they completely forgot about the existence of God, suppressed their rational mind, closed their hearts from all goodness and rejoice only in one thing - when other entities experience pain and mental anguish. Then they feel that they are not the only ones who feel so bad and temporarily calm down from chronic dissatisfaction with everything and from the more or less constant mania of persecution inherent in them.

2 Rakshasas are spirits who are so filled with the energies of anger, hatred and vindictiveness that they direct all their activities towards violence against others, believing that this is the best way to protect and promote their ideas. They forget about the freedom of choice given by God to others and recognize the right to it only for themselves. They easily enter into any form of conflict, sincerely believing that the good goal in their understanding justifies any means.
3 Asuras are spirits who, due to their pride and arrogance, do not see the needs of other people. All their activities are aimed at satisfying their various desires, the fulfillment of which replaces them with the joy of being in God's Love. In the heat of their passions, they do not pay attention to the manifestation of Light in themselves, through intuition and the voice of conscience.
4 Demons are spirits who are so absorbed in the pleasures they receive through the material body that they forget about the law of conservation of energies. They want to endlessly enjoy various material energies and become very irritated when an obstacle comes in their way, even if it is living people. They often do not comply with God’s law about waiting in line for incarnation and inhabit the bodies of incarnated spirits that match their vibrations.
5 Demons are spirits who are so disillusioned with life in the material world that they come to completely deny its value and accuse God of creating it and maintaining it with His Energy. The degree and reasons for this denial are different for everyone; what remains common is visible asceticism and religiosity, combined with a sharp condemnation of dissenters and with a certain disgust towards any form of matter or material activity.
6 Archons are spirits with beliefs and actions similar to demons, but differing from them in a special character structure, slightly higher vibrations and a sense of inspiration and sincerity with which they commit evil deeds. Thanks to well-developed strategic thinking and glimpses of intuition that sometimes become available at this level, they become leaders among other evil spirits, like the well-known Lucifer from the biblical descriptions, who now lives on the sixth level. These leaders form unique societies from demons, based on strict obedience and veneration of leaders, with fairly harsh punishments for disobedience and apostasy. These societies are in many ways reminiscent of military brigades, totalitarian sects and bandit groups in the world of disembodied spirits.
7 Elementals are spirits that strive to incarnate in plasmoid worlds responsible for certain natural elements. They emerged from the world of demons and devoted their energy to controlling nature and creating animal souls. Their own power still attracts them to the point that they may ignore the needs of their family, oppose society as a whole, and be unwilling to sincerely turn to God. But they have already moved away from demonic egoism and now, by creating animal souls and controlling them, they are learning to selflessly love someone other than themselves.

8 Jinns - these spirits are very similar to elementals, but unlike them they have a broader outlook, greater outward focus, greater organizational abilities and friendliness.

They also strive to incarnate in subtle worlds, but unlike elementals, they often do this not in plasmoids that control the elements, but in their immediate leaders, who look after certain places in the material world: fields, forests, reservoirs, houses, etc. . They also take part in the creation of animal souls and help the elementals control natural elements.

9 Disciples are spirits who learn to direct their attention and energy to other individuals around them. They incarnate in order to learn from their own, often bitter experience, the moral laws of the society where they are born. Often these are skeptics who do not believe in anything or anyone except their own eyes and ears, and they usually believe that it is impossible to deceive their senses.

Life debunks this delusion of theirs, sometimes quite harshly, and it is very important at this level not to become embittered by the blows of fate and not to fall even lower, which happens when everything that happens is completely accepted as the will of God.

10 Warriors are spirits whose main goal is to restore justice as they understand it. Indifference to the suffering of others and to their own allows them to achieve fairly high vibrations, but the implementation of their plans is often associated with the condemnation of dissidents and the use of violent methods of influence.

Unlike rakshasas, warriors fight not for their ideas, not for the selfish advancement of their power, but for ideas that they sincerely and passionately consider socially useful. These are rebels and revolutionaries, burning with a dream of social well-being, but losing sight of the law of similarity, according to which negativity, even manifested for good purposes, can only give rise to another negativity.

11 Consumers are spirits who have learned the beauty of the material world in receiving various sensual pleasures and who spend their energy working for money that can give them things that are pleasant to them.

Unlike demons, they will not transgress moral standards, much less the laws of the society where they live, but their hearts are occupied with the desire for material wealth, and their minds are occupied with thoughts of how to acquire them and what to spend them on for greater pleasure. Busy with such worries from morning to evening, they often have neither the time nor the desire to think about their spiritual development, much less make any efforts in this direction.

12 Builders are spirits whose main goal is to create comfortable living conditions for themselves and their loved ones in the material world. They are ready to work hard for this, both physically and mentally, but often consider matter, if not the only reality, then the most important condition for mental peace and harmony, which they call happiness. Spiritual quests are often incomprehensible and boring to them, although they most often do not condemn all this in other people, but the joy of a job well done is closer to them than from music or a book read, and even more so from prayer or meditation.
13 Aesthetes are spirits who begin to understand that the level of happiness does not depend on material well-being. Many of them still doubt this, but feeling a surge of Light in their soul from works of art, they can be moved to tears or fall into an enthusiastic state completely incomprehensible to consumer spirits who watch, read and listen to the same thing, but do not experience such diversity and depth of emotions. For aesthetes, the pleasure from literature, music, painting and other manifestations of the creativity of other people exceeds the pleasure from pleasures received through the body.
14 Explorers are spirits who see joy in knowing the laws of the material world in all its diversity. They can know nature or society, or themselves, they can see God behind all this, but they also want to know Him and sort out His laws and energies. They are not always able to check harmony with algebra, so such spirits often cannot understand the difference between faith and knowledge, but still their innate logic and analytics help them feel that the world is much more complex than it seems to them.
15 Inventors are spirits for whom the highest happiness lies in creativity, in creating something that has not yet existed. It doesn’t matter what it is: new recipes for pies, perpetual motion machines or programs of political parties. The main thing for them is to make other spirits happy with the truth that has been revealed to them and is useful, which they sacredly believe in for everyone and at all times. Inventors passionately share their Light with everyone they meet and are very upset when they are not understood. True, with experience, wisdom comes to them that it is impossible to prove to a person truths that he is not ready to comprehend, and when readiness comes, the need for proof for him disappears.
16 Seekers are spirits whose task is to find a way to the world of good spirits, to the world of angels, where the Light shines much brighter than in the world of average spirits. Seekers see reflections of this Light everywhere. The main thing for them is not to fall into dogmatism and not to limit their thinking. They have already outgrown such experiences and now see good beginnings in all religions and spiritual teachings. A characteristic feature of Seekers is dissatisfaction with their spiritual development and a constant striving for perfection.

Many of them already feel that all books about spiritual development, all religious scriptures will not bring any benefit if they do not see and recognize the Light in themselves. But their hearts often tremble before the great mystery of existence, while vaguely realizing that darkness is unrecognized Light, and evil is misdirected good.
17 Angels of nature are spirits whose service in the spiritual world is to teach fine-material plasmoid civilizations the correct, in the Light of God, control of natural elements, the birth of animal souls and the assembly of their energies into one whole. They also often incarnate in the worlds of plasmoids in order to guide them on the true path and often incarnate in the worlds of humanoids in order to more fully feel natural energies and learn to work with them.
18 Guardian angels are spirits whose main mission in the spiritual world is to care for embodied spirits from various levels. The Light of Love, which they realize, allows them to tolerate, forgive and protect even the most ungrateful and evil spirits.
The guardian can sincerely and lovingly take care of the demon, rejoicing at the slightest sprouts of goodness in his soul and, more importantly, he is able to understand and forgive if the demon suddenly tramples these sprouts and throws them to his benefactor. Every incarnated spirit who, during incarnation, wished to have him, has a Guardian Angel. One embodied spirit can have several Guardian Angels, and a Guardian Angel, especially an experienced one, can also have several wards.
The task of the Angels is to protect their wards from evil spirits, drive away bad thoughts and instill good and bright images that help them go to God.
19 Angels-prophets are spirits whose main task is to convey the Word of God, His laws to the minds and hearts of all spirits. The word "prophet" here means a messenger of God's will, not a seer. We must remember that the future has many options, so it is impossible to accurately predict what will happen next. Any, even the most negative, forecast is a reason for reflection and attempts to move events into a more constructive direction.
The task of the Prophets is to teach embodied and non-incarnate spirits of that true spiritual, selfless Love that shines in them with infinite Light and spreads to everyone who falls into their field.
20 Healing angels are spirits whose work in the spiritual world is to heal other spirits, incarnate and non-incarnate. The word “healing” is understood by them in the broadest sense of the word, as restoration of the integrity of the body, energy, consciousness, etc.

Healers do not tolerate any disorder or chaos; it gives them almost physical pain and the desire to bring everything into line with the understanding of the world order that they have achieved at the moment. Also, spirits from this level feel very well the pain of others, both physical and mental.
21 Angel guides are spirits whose task in the spiritual world is to meet spirits who have forever left their material bodies and accompany them through the astral plane to the world of disembodied spirits, to the level they reached during their life in the body. Also, the task of the Guides is to accompany the spirits, whose turn to incarnate has come, into the material world and help in connecting with the future body.
Guides very often walk through the astral plane, meet with different spiritual beings who are at different levels of spiritual and intellectual development, therefore they have flexible thinking, a consciousness capable of adapting to different circumstances, they can quickly navigate the environment and find a common language with a wide variety of intelligent beings .
22 Consulting angels are spirits whose main task is to help other spirits in selecting the best conditions for incarnation for spiritual development. They have well-developed symbolic thinking, knowledge of all the intricacies of karmic psychology, the laws of existence in material worlds of different densities, and have access to Divine knowledge about each spirit that turns to them for help in selecting an incarnation.
They must take into account many factors that contribute to the development of specific spirits in the Light of Love in themselves and correlate them with astrological and numerological data in the material world, adequate to the description of the spirit that is embodied and its tasks, for its recognition by individuals prepared for this.
23 Arhats are spirits who, while living in the spiritual world, help to form and develop high-vibration egregors in the material world. They understand the importance of the right ideology for the development of social and family relationships that contribute to the spiritual growth of all those who incarnate in this family and in this society. For them, any law written on paper or other material media will have no meaning if it is not reflected in the minds and hearts of intelligent beings. Arhats are the creators of reality, inspirers and ideologists of political, religious and informal folk communities, whose goal is to carry the Light of God in a form that is close and understandable to them at this stage of their development.
24 Devas are spirits who have fully realized their potential and united their energy with the Divine. There is nothing in them anymore except

Love and the potential to degrade as their vibrations decrease. This possibility is embedded in all intelligent spirits without exception, as a necessary condition for freedom and personal responsibility, in which we can spiritually grow and improve, learning the unconditional Love of our Heavenly Father, so that He can completely calmly give us His abilities for creation and change in the future. material worlds.
This possibility is realized at the 24th level of the material world, upon reaching which spirits see before them an endless stage of greater and greater merging with the Divine Light. The spirits that incarnate into the material world from this level consciously misunderstand and reject others in order for everyone to discover the Light shining in their souls. Devas have almost no other feelings other than Love, which generates faith, hope, patience, mercy and many other manifestations.
Every spirit living on a lower level cannot visit a spirit living on a higher level until it reaches it in its consciousness, but a spirit living on a higher level can, if desired, come to a spirit on a lower level if it lowers its vibrations.
This is what the Hierarchy of the world of disembodied spirits looks like from the point of view of researchers of the spiritual world of the interstellar union.
January, 2020
April 8, 2022

Situation on Earth (August 2019)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/DqBSZ5hjJag

Many people ask about the reasons for what is now happening on Earth, and our friends from Esler transmitted to me via a telepathic channel the answer to your general question.

The evolution of consciousness on planet Earth depends on the influence of the egregors you create. Your power structures are interested in more and more degradation of the population in order to be able to freely distribute the planet's resources according to their needs, which will never end.

You cannot change this order of things, since it was created over many centuries; generations of people, living in it, formed images in the noosphere that corresponded to it and set earthlings to a certain line of behavior characteristic of you.

Gradual changes in your political and economic situation are possible only by changing the original images in the noosphere, in all the main egregors, of which the majority of earthlings are participants.

We see only one way to this: the coming to power on your planet of high-vibration embodied Spirits who have developed strategic thinking and sufficient determination, courage and toughness to implement ideas that are unpopular for elite circles, more or less the same for most countries of your world .

But it is quite difficult for such people to reach the highest levels of power, because they have a low level of inclusion of instinctive programs, which are also responsible for the desire for power.

Your planet is not yet attractive for the incarnation of Spirits from higher levels, and if some of them do incarnate, it is only with the goal of developing patience and the ability to overcome difficulties.

To attract such Spirits to incarnate in your world, it is necessary to cleanse the noosphere of the Earth from all forms and types of negative energy, which manifests itself mainly in vibrations of hatred, greed and lust, which are extremely unpleasant for highly spiritual beings.

It is very difficult for the Pure Light of Love to penetrate the astral atmosphere of your planet and cleanse it of destructive energies. Reduce violence and you will gradually lead the planet to shared prosperity.

The message was conveyed by Par-Marus, a political scientist, economist and historian from the planet Esler.

August, 2019

April 11, 2022

Creation of an earthling. Interpretation of some chapters from the book of Genesis. Initial gene composition

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/RPTYnD_cHR0

While discussing your questions and reasoning in a group with Mead, I received his advice to write about what happened three million years ago that forever changed the path of our civilization, which ultimately led to what everyone sees around them every day. Kirkhiton and Mead told me a lot about this, so it was easy for me to write this article. I present it to your attention.

Five million years ago, a huge spaceship from the planet Tumesout, looking like a huge gray metallic pyramid, landed on our planet. The arriving aliens, of whom there were sixty-five on that first expedition, studied the flora and fauna of the Earth, but did not find intelligent creatures here.

The richness and diversity of life forms on our planet amazed them and they decided to create an intelligent creature through hybridization - combining their genetic material and the genetic material of terrestrial animals suitable for these purposes. Having studied in detail the animal world of our planet, Tumesout biologists and geneticists selected for experiments representatives of a group of primates similar to modern chimpanzees.

Having reported the newly discovered planet and the start of experiments to the Interstellar Union, the aliens from Tumesout began to work on creating a new intelligent being. Soon they were joined by representatives of two more planets: Burkhad and Selbet.

Dasha Davidenko. History of our civilization

Three million years ago, the first representatives of our species were created. Outwardly, they resembled modern people of the Caucasian race, but their height was about four meters, since the genes of the tall Tumesoutians turned out to be dominant over the genes of the other participants in hybridization.

In the DNA of originally created people, the percentages of genetic material involved were as follows:

Terrestrial primates - 45%

Gods - 35%
Tumesoutki - 15%
Selbet residents - 5%
Unfortunately, such a small percentage of participation of Selbet genetic material did not suit their representatives. Unlike the Burkhadians and Tumesoutians, who were anthropomorphs, they belonged to the reptilian types of humanoids, so it seemed fair to them that a different distribution of the percentage of genetic information in the newly created hybrid would be fair, for example, they would be satisfied with the option of an equal distribution of genes of all four races (including earthly primates) in the DNA future people.
But scientists Burkhad and Tumesout convincingly showed their colleagues from Selbet that a hybrid with such a ratio of genes in chromosomes would not be viable in the conditions of our planet. Then the Selbetians proposed to create intelligent hybrids from representatives of the class of reptiles that were found in abundance on Earth, combining their genetic material with their own and partially with the genetic material of the Burkhadians and Tumesoutians.
But the latter did not agree to this, arguing that a developing civilization should belong to the same type of humanoids, in order to avoid conflicts based on racial and type differences.
Having failed to reach an agreement with the representatives of Burkhad and Tumesout, the Selbet people formed a conspiracy within their group that arrived on Earth and tried to destroy the newly created group of people.
This attempt is described in detail by Moses in the second and third chapters of his book of Genesis. The representative of Tumesout, who conveyed this information to him, presented the events in a mythological form that was understandable to people at a low level of scientific and technological development.
This is what is written in verses 15-17 of the second chapter of the book of Genesis:
“The Lord God took the man and put him in the Garden of Eden to cultivate it and keep it. And the Lord God commanded the man, saying, Of every tree of the garden thou shalt eat, but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil thou shalt not eat of it, for in the day that thou eatest of it thou shalt die.”
It says here that representatives of the planet Tumesout (Yah-veh in Hebrew, which was translated into Russian as “Lord”), one of those who came from heaven (Elohim in the original text, and in Russian translation “God”), settled created people (Hebrew Adam can mean either an individual person or all representatives of our species) in the “Garden of Eden” - this is the name of a large alien base where man was created. Representatives of all three races that created us were constantly there, and the first people grew up and learned life there. The base was indeed surrounded by a huge garden, more like a forest, where different types of plants were found. Moreover, the climate prevailing on Earth at that time allowed them to bloom and bear fruit all year round.

The tree of the knowledge of good and evil is a Tumesout plant “Ho-rol”, necessary for activating the mental and intuitive activity of the inhabitants of this planet. They bred it through genetic engineering specifically for this purpose and constantly carried its seeds with them in order to always have access to fresh fruits.

Due to the peculiarities of metabolism in the bodies of earthlings, the fruits of Khorol were fatally poisonous to us, and the aliens, whose responsibilities included caring for the born hybrids and their upbringing, told them many times about the danger of eating these fruits. No one could have imagined that earthlings, who had idolized their creators since childhood, could disobey them, and even less did it occur to anyone that Selbet’s representatives had already drawn up an insidious plan and would soon attempt to destroy the people they had created with such difficulty.

Maire Pyykko. Watercolor. Betrayal. Size 37 x 28 cm (left). Our creators. Size 34 x 31 cm (right)

Here is the text of verses 1-6 of the third chapter of the book of Genesis:

“The serpent was more cunning than all the beasts of the field that the Lord God created. And the serpent said to the woman: Did God truly say: You shall not eat from any tree in the garden?

And the woman said to the serpent: We can eat fruit from the trees, only from the fruit of the tree that is in the middle of the garden, God said, do not eat it or touch it, lest you die.

And the serpent said to the woman: No, you will not die, but God knows that on the day that you eat of them, your eyes will be opened, and you will be like gods, knowing good and evil.

And the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes and desirable because it gave knowledge; and she took of its fruit and ate; And she gave it also to her husband, and he ate.”

The representative of the planet Selbet is named here as a snake, due to the fact that he belonged to the reptilian race, that is, he was very similar in biological properties to terrestrial reptiles. The words “he was more cunning than all the beasts of the field that the Lord God created” is an explanation to Moses of how the snake, known to him from his life experience, can talk, and the peculiarities of the meaning of the phrase “created the beasts of the field” (Hebrew “asa hai sadah”) speak of that we are not talking here about the creation of the entire earth's fauna, but about the preparation of animals for a specific purpose in one area of the Earth, in a separate country or region. Thus, there was an attempt to kill the newly created people by one of their creators. Fortunately, the people who were poisoned by the fruits of Khorol were discovered in time and their lives were saved, but this event disrupted the relationship between people and representatives of Burkhad and Tumesout, who, although they still remained gods for our distant ancestors, no longer evoked the same love, trust and understanding.

Realizing this, our creators evicted the created people from their base, giving them the opportunity to live and develop on their own. But despite this, they still did not leave people completely without their care, establishing contact with individual earthlings, they conveyed to them information about the correct social structure, moral values, about God and the spiritual world, and much more.
April 15, 2022

Structure of the Universe. Who is God?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/eH5OswkMj56
Everything that exists in objective or subjective reality is called the Universe. It is heterogeneous in its internal vibrations and purpose. Its Source, which continuously radiates energy to maintain its existence and development, is the Eternal and Infinite Absolute Supermind, Who has millions of billions of names in all worlds and at all levels of the Universe.
Not one of these names, nor all of them together are capable of describing even a small part of the qualities of the One who created everything and gave birth to an unimaginable number of spirits, His children, unimaginable for the understanding of earthly man, putting in them a ray of His Light, a Spark of Flame, the ability to Love, to Create and Dream...
In Russian, this Superperfect Being is called God and in the future this word will be understood only as the Source of everything that is, was and will be, the Beginningless Beginning, the Causeless Cause, the Omniscient, Omnipotent and Omnipresent Our Heavenly Father.
He continuously radiates from Himself the Light of True Love, which, gradually lowering in its vibrations, creates and supports everything that we see, hear, touch and smell around us and billions of other worlds that are inaccessible to the perception of the receptors of our earthly bodies.

In total, in the Universe there are 59 levels of matter density and 108 levels of the spiritual world, accessible to the perception of spirits at that stage of development that is characteristic of the universe visible to us. These levels are located like this, if you look from the point of view of a gradual decrease in vibrations:
1. Divine Peace, Kingdom of Heaven.
2. The world of disembodied spirits, which consists of 24 levels:
24-17 - Angel levels
16-9 - levels of medium spirits
8-7 - levels of elemental and nature spirits
6-1 - demon levels
3. The astral world, which at the level of our Galaxy has 84 floors, but only part of them is reflected in the noosphere of each planet, which depends on the level of awareness and development of the energy structures of intelligent beings living there. For example, in the astral atmosphere of the Earth, seven floors of the astral world are manifested, on Burkhad nine, on Esler twelve, and on Daraal twenty-four.
4. The subtle material world, which in our Galaxy consists of matter of fifty-six levels of density. At these levels live civilizations of the plasmoid type, whose representatives do not have physical dense material bodies, but have subtle material bodies consisting not of substances, but of energies.
On Earth they are called spirits of the elements and nature, brownies, goblins, mermaids, spirits of the Sun, stars, etc. They live both in the atmospheres of planets and in their soil, the cores of planets, the chromospheres of stars and in the emptiness of outer space that seems to us.
5. Physical world or dense material. It is at the third level of matter density, which includes solid, liquid and gaseous states. This world is known to all of us, many people are accustomed to consider it real and present, but this is only a small part of the Universe, which in turn is an infinitesimal portion of the manifested energy of the Limitless Source of Reality.
Thus, everything that we perceive with the receptors of our bodies and our bodies themselves are forms of the Light of Divine Love in the form in which spirits embodied in the physical world can perceive it, and the rational spirits themselves are streams of thought images of God, autonomous to some extent from His Consciousness and consciousness of each other.
We, being in the spiritual world, in infinite Unity with God, decide to show our love and gratitude to Him, for which we lower our vibrations and create a physical body for incarnation. The body is a densely material, infinitely small part of ourselves, just like the Universe is a small portion of the energies of God manifested for us. God is Spirit, and the Universe is His body, and similarly, we are also spirits, His children, and our bodies are a small portion of our energies.

We can incarnate in any worlds, both subtle and dense, in bodies whose nervous system is suitable for our conscious manifestation.
The Universe is infinite, just as God is infinite, who created it and continues to support it with His Energy of Love, which can be perceived by intelligent spirits in the form of a special Spiritual Light, giving us Love and Wisdom and Strength for its rational, and therefore Divine, manifestation. It is through this Light that we communicate with God, in all religions and confessions, as well as outside them.
The Spirit of Light, or as it is more familiar to the Russian language, the Holy Spirit always lives in all of us, but is shown only when a person's vibrations rise sufficiently. This happens not because God disdains low vibrations, but because He respects the freedom of choice of each of His children, which He Himself laid in us, as proof of His selfless and boundless love for all of us.
With sincere Love for each of you, your Irina Podzorova.
April 19, 2022

Interpretation of the first six verses of Psalm 50

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-pervyh-shesti-stihov-50-psalma

To the head of the choir. Psalm of David, when the prophet Nathan came to him, after David entered Bathsheba.

Have mercy on me, O God, according to Your great mercy, and according to the multitude of Your mercies, blot out my iniquities.

Wash me from my iniquity many times, and cleanse me from my sin, for I acknowledge my iniquities, and my sin is always before me.

> You, You alone, have I sinned and done evil in Your sight, so that You are righteous in Your judgment and pure in Your judgment.

The fiftieth psalm conveys the prayer of the Israeli king David for his return to the Divine Light after the evil deed he committed, which is written about in detail in the 12th chapter of the second book of Kings. For this reason, the first words of this psalm are the words “Have mercy on me, O God.” A request for mercy is a request for the return of Grace, so let's look at what God's Grace is and for what reasons we can lose the sense of its presence.

The Grace of God is the spiritual Energy of His Holy Unconditional Love, which all intelligent spirits need as the Source of Eternal Happiness and the Highest meaning of their existence. Our Heavenly Father continuously radiates this Energy in a luminous stream into the spiritual and material worlds. It is intended for absolutely all of His children, incarnate and non-incarnate.

This Energy has the highest vibrations in the Universe and for this reason it can be correctly and harmoniously absorbed only by those intelligent spirits who correspond to It in the frequency of vibrations of their spiritual hearts. Any decrease in spiritual vibrations caused by a negative thought, feeling or action causes more or less significant disturbances in the acceptance and assimilation of the Energy of Divine Grace or makes adaptation to It completely impossible.

The rational spirit subjectively feels a decrease in the spiritual Light of Harmony, Faith, Happiness and Love, which brings him suffering from the mismatch of his vibrations with the Source of Eternal Spiritual Energy and Infinite Unconditional Love.

Thus we see that asking God for mercy was a pure and open expression of David's intention to unite with the Pure Beginning Light of God.

David's second request was to blot out his iniquities. And this request is quite logical, because lawlessness, like violations of the Law of Divine Love, made it impossible for his spirit to merge with the Energy of Divine Love.

David asked God to blot out his iniquities with His bounty. What is it? With this word, the ancient translators of the Book of Psalms translated the word “mercy” from Hebrew.

God's Mercy is His spiritual healing Energy, with the help of which He restores the spiritual channels of communication between Himself and us and cleanses our spiritual hearts of everything incompatible with His Love.

David's third request to God was to repeatedly wash him from iniquity and cleanse him from sin. This was necessary to completely eliminate all spiritual, energetic and physical consequences of violating Divine laws.

This action for the spirit is similar to washing the body in water, which is an elemental force that embodies the energy of Divine Purity and Holiness in the material world.

If the physical body is not washed regularly, it will become sick due to its own toxins and pathogenic microbes that are abundant in and around it. All people know about this and teach this to their children. But the purity of the soul is no less important for a person than the purity of the body. Spiritual cleansing is possible for a person through a conscious change in personal attitudes that lead to negative behavior and the dissolution of negative energy blocks.

All earthly religions have accumulated enough funds for the spiritual purification of their adherents who are in a state of contact with the corresponding religious egregor. But besides religious means of spiritual cleansing, there is another effective way for everyone to do this.

This is a conscious contact with your Higher Self, which does not contradict any bright religious idea and which allows you to consciously change negative mental attitudes to positive ones, as well as dissolve negative energy blocks that interfere with the spiritual, social and physical development of a person.

Cleansing from sin is a change in the nature of the spiritual heart and an increase in the vibrations of all human energy structures. In this case, the negative action loses all its imaginary charm for a person and appears before his gaze in its true form, which prompts him to refuse to repeat it. It often becomes unpleasant to even think about a previously loved sin, and this is a natural reaction of a pure soul to negativity, which can lower the vibrations of the spirit and remove it from the Life-giving Light of God.

Naturally, in order to radically change his inner nature, a person needs to realize exactly how his action, thought or feeling contradicts Unconditional Divine Love. We cannot correct our mistakes until we know what they are.

And this is exactly what King David speaks about in the fifth and sixth verses of the fiftieth psalm.

God's judgment for man is not the condemnation of his personality and not the deprivation of Divine Love. This is how events in life that are sudden for a person are figuratively named here, prompting him to realize the consequences of his actions and choose a brighter and wiser line of behavior. All people need to remember that although external events in this case are often quite negative in a person’s perception, they must be perceived as a manifestation of unconditional Divine Love.

Indeed, in this way our Heavenly Father protects incarnated spirits from a strong decrease in vibrations, and therefore from subsequent spiritual suffering due to being at the lower levels of the world of disembodied spirits.

God's judgment is pure and impartial, because His goal is not to humiliate and punish His child, but to call him back to the path of Love and Light.

The verdict of God is not the verdict of an earthly judge, most often personally unfamiliar with the one to whom he pronounces it, but an accurate analysis of the state of all the spiritual heart of a person and all the structures and parts of his essence with specific recommendations for returning the spirit, which has lowered its vibrations, to His Light Love. The embodied part of the spirit, called the soul or personality of a person, can always receive these recommendations from its higher self, as from its highest Divine part residing in the spiritual world.

Archangel Metatron, head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Spiritual World of the Milky Way Galaxy, ruler of the Jewish and Christian egregors on planet Earth.

*Archangel Metatron was embodied in King David, who was the author of the Psalter.

April 2022

April 29, 2022

Interpretation of Psalm 50 (verses 7-9)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-50-psalma-stihi-7-9

Let's talk about the interpretation of the rest of the fiftieth psalm. The interpretation of the first six verses of this psalm was previously transmitted by Archangel Metatron through contactee Irina.

All verses are given with the numbering generally accepted for the Russian Synodal translation of the book of Psalms.

Psalm 50:

7 Behold, I was conceived in iniquity, and my mother bore me in sin.

8 Behold, You have loved the truth in your heart, and You have shown me wisdom within me.

9 Sprinkle me with hyssop, and I will be clean; Wash me, and I will be whiter than snow.

> “7 Behold, I was conceived in iniquity, and my mother bore me in sin”:

The expression “ conceived in iniquity ” means that the parents of King David at the moment of conception of his body were not prepared according to spiritual laws for this great Sacrament of the birth of a new life.

The spiritual laws necessary for the harmonious conception of a child on Earth are simple: to be clean from negative emotions, thoughts and desires, in a sober mind and to connect with the body of a loved one in love, understanding and acceptance of each other in the Light of Divine Creative Wisdom.

If conception occurs without fulfilling these spiritual laws, then the spirit coming to incarnation feels the negativity of the parents and falls into fear, irritation and other destructive emotions, causing him stress from contact with a new world that does not love him and does not accept him. This gives rise to difficulties in adapting to the physical body and to the energy structures of both parents.

The words “ my mother gave birth to me in sin ” indicate that the birth of King David also took place in the negative emotions of his mother, and possibly the people around him. It must be remembered that the Aura of a newborn child is still relatively pure, very delicate and therefore susceptible to slight damage by negative energy directed at him. The flow of negative energy can create holes in the baby’s etheric body, which, in the absence of healing energy work, can subsequently lead to a variety of physical and mental illnesses and developmental defects.

> “8 Behold, You have loved the truth in your heart and have shown me wisdom within me”:

The word “ you ” is not in the original Hebrew of the eighth verse of this psalm. Here David is talking about himself. He says that he who loves the truth will see in his heart the hidden wisdom, which consists in the feeling of the purity of his spiritual heart, which is spoken of in the next, ninth verse.

> “9 Sprinkle me with hyssop, and I will be clean; Wash me, and I will be whiter than snow":

It is not at all accidental that hyssop is mentioned here: the symbol of this healing plant, which since ancient times has cleansed human bodies from many pathogenic microbes, fungi and other parasites, is used here as a designation of the cleansing and healing power of Divine Love from sin. All fields of the Aura of a person purified by Divine Grace truly become much whiter than snow.

Archangel Raphael, patron of healing esoteric and religious systems on planet Earth, curator of the Christian Egregor.

May 4, 2022

Interpretation of Psalm 50 (verses 10-12)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-50-psalma-stihi-10-12

All verses are given with the numbering generally accepted for the Russian Synodal translation of the book of Psalms.

Psalm 50:

10 Let me hear joy and gladness, and the bones broken by You will rejoice.

11 Turn away Your face from my sins and blot out all my iniquities.

12 Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me.

> “10 Let me hear joy and gladness, and the bones that have been broken by You will rejoice”:

In the tenth verse of the original Psalm written by David in Hebrew, the word " by you " is missing. David did not even think of blaming God for his troubles, because he knew how to take full responsibility for the condition of his body. Here we are talking about the fact that David heard from God the joyful news of his healing and restoration of his former status as an Angel, which he lost by committing the sin of killing his friend and warrior who fought for him and his country, for the sake of merging with a beautiful woman who, according to God, legally she was not his wife.

Because of this terrible sin, David experienced a constant feeling of guilt, eating away at his physical flesh, like rust eating away at iron. That is why he mentions here his bones, which were crushed by his own negativity, but not by God. After the cleansing of his spiritual heart, David felt his bones quicken and begin to rejoice with him. This is a truly real feeling, because every cell of the human body is filled with life and has its own instinctive mind, and therefore is capable of feeling joy, love, trust and any other feelings and emotions experienced by a person, including negative ones.

> “11 Turn away Your face from my sins and blot out all my iniquities”:

In the eleventh verse of the original of this psalm there is no phrase “ your face .” Here David asks God to remove the sin he has committed from his own eyes and blot it out of his memory. This request is not at all accidental; it shows David’s reluctance to return in thought to a traumatic mental experience for him. It can be very painful to realize one’s imperfection before a perfect God, so such a request is quite understandable and appropriate.

> “12 Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me”:

In this verse, David asks that his spiritual heart be cleansed and renewed, restoring the energies of perseverance, confidence, and purpose in his spirit. This request is not at all superfluous, given that any sin committed by a person contributes to the loss of faith in oneself, as an integral part of God and His beloved son. And if there is no faith in oneself, as in the Light, then it is easy for dark, destructive energies to capture a person’s heart again, because where there is no light, darkness reigns.

Archangel Raphael, patron of healing esoteric and religious systems on planet Earth, curator of the Christian Egregor.

May 7, 2022

Interpretation of Psalm 50 (verses 13-16)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-50-psalma-stihi-13-16

All verses are given with the numbering generally accepted for the Russian Synodal translation of the book of Psalms.

Psalm 50:

13 Cast me not away from Thy presence, and take not Thy Holy Spirit from me.

14 Restore to me the joy of Your salvation and strengthen me with the sovereign Spirit.

15 I will teach the wicked your ways, and the wicked will turn to you.

16 Deliver me from bloodshed, O God, God of my salvation, and my tongue will praise Your righteousness.

> “13 Cast me not away from Thy presence, and take not Thy Holy Spirit from me”:

Here David asks God to allow him to feel His presence despite the low vibrations. This request was important to him because he learned from experience how dark and scary it is to be unable to perceive the Divine light. Every intelligent spirit has this ability, but it can be lost due to a long stay in low vibrations.

Our All-Loving Heavenly Father does not reduce the flow of Light to any of His children. But each spirit, choosing a path that contradicts the ideas of Divine Love, itself reduces its ability to perceive the Divine Light as bliss and love. King David in this psalm asked God, no matter what, to leave him the ability to perceive His Energies undistorted, even if the high vibrations of divine love would cause him spiritual suffering if he lowered his vibrations again.

> “14 Restore to me the joy of Your salvation and strengthen me with the sovereign Spirit”:

In verse fourteen, David asks God to return him to the state of security and well-being that brought him joy and meaning in life, and also asks for a disembodied spirit to be sent to him from the angelic level of the spirit world for comfort and reinforcement. This expression is translated into Russian with the words: “ Confirm me with the sovereign Spirit .”

> “15 I will teach the wicked Your ways, and the wicked will turn to You”:

At this point in his prayer, David promises God to teach the criminals in his kingdom to find a way to return to Him. This is a very important promise, which shows the true regeneration of David's spiritual heart in the Light of divine love. After all, a person who has truly known the bliss of consciously being in the energies of God wants to show people who have not known this Light the way to it. This desire is as natural as the desire of a person who has a lot of food to share with the hungry.

> “16 Deliver me from bloodshed, O God, God of my salvation, and my tongue will praise Your righteousness”:

In this place, David reinforces his words with a promise to proclaim to the world the good deeds of God after removing the energetic consequences of killing a person. The fact is that when one intelligent being deliberately kills another intelligent being, seeking to destroy him out of hatred, jealousy, revenge or other destructive feelings, the etheric power of the killed intelligent being turns into a negatively charged energy ball, which is absorbed into the etheric field of the killer and damages the etheric matrices of the cells of the organs of the physical body, down to the genetic level.

This damage is then passed on to the killer’s children through his DNA, which causes the spirits incarnating through him to have various pathologies of the physical body and a tendency of the neural structures of the brain to more quickly and easily remember the negative behavior of the spirit. It was this energetic damage that David asked God to deliver himself from in the sixteenth verse of this psalm.

Archangel Raphael, patron of healing esoteric and religious systems on planet Earth, curator of the Christian Egregor.

May 11, 2022

Interpretation of Psalm 50 (verses 17-21)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-50-psalma-stihi-17-21

All verses are given with the numbering generally accepted for the Russian Synodal translation of the book of Psalms.

Psalm 50:

17 Lord! Open my mouth, and my mouth will declare Your praise:

18 For You do not desire sacrifice, I would give it; You do not favor burnt offerings.

19 The sacrifice to God is a broken spirit; You will not despise a contrite and humble heart, O God.

20 Bless Zion according to Your good pleasure; build up the walls of Jerusalem:

21 Then the sacrifices of righteousness, the wave offerings, and the burnt offerings will be acceptable to You; Then they will place bullocks on Your altar.

> “17 Lord! open my mouth, and my mouth will declare Your praise":

The address " Adonai ", which is translated here into Russian as " Lord ", in Hebrew means " Almighty, Lord ". This is exactly what David called God when he asked Him to help open the fifth energy center, which was responsible for speech, in order to tell people in the true Light of Love about the glory and power of God in hymns of praise, like the fiftieth psalm, which we are now examining.

> “18 For You do not desire sacrifice, I would give it; You do not favor burnt offerings. 19 The sacrifice to God is a broken spirit; You will not despise a broken and humble heart, O God”:

David feels in his spiritual heart that our Heavenly Father does not need a sacrifice in the form of animal flesh burned in the fire. This fact indicates that David, like many of his other contemporaries walking the path of enlightenment, perfectly understood that the animal sacrifices established by the law transmitted by God Yahweh to Moses on Mount Sinai and subsequently written down in the Torah were not intended for the Heavenly Father, but for the spirits of nature, who fed on the energy released from the flesh of animals burned on fire.

As gratitude for the energy received, nature spirits helped people survive in the wild, healed their wounds and illnesses, and protected them from other nature spirits hostile to them. Of course, all this was very important, but only Heavenly Father could restore peace in the soul and love in a person's heart. The spirits of nature, no matter how powerful they are, do not possess even a billionth of the Divine energies and the ability to realize them.

Emphasizing this important idea, David noted that a sacrifice for Heavenly Father can only be a spirit that recognizes His power, even through the experience of being in low vibrations that damage the spirit and body. In this case, negative energies are transformed into positive ones, and the experience of a person who has known darkness becomes beneficial for him in comprehending the Light and assessing the degree of his happiness in the flow of high and pure energies of the Creator of the worlds. Also, David, in the nineteenth verse of this psalm, emphasized an important idea: a person who comes to God in any condition will never be rejected by Him.

> "20 Bless Zion according to Your good pleasure; build up the walls of Jerusalem":

Here David switches to the symbolic language so well known to his contemporaries. Without such literary techniques, versification and songwriting would have been unthinkable in the eastern countries, to which Israel undoubtedly belongs.

By the symbol of Zion, the mountain on which Jerusalem stood, David understood the Divine world or the Kingdom of Heaven, and by Jerusalem the material world. Thus, in the twentieth verse of the fiftieth psalm, a request is conveyed in symbolic form to God to create new worlds in the material universe, taking the material for their creation from the energies of the Kingdom of Heaven. These energies in this text are called "benevolence", and new worlds in the Universe, as new facets of reality, are encrypted under the image of the " walls of Jerusalem ".

“21 Then the sacrifices of righteousness, the wave offerings, and the burnt offerings will be acceptable to You; Then they will place bullocks on Your altar":

The words “ then ” and “ will be ” were not in this verse. Here we are talking about the fact that the sacrifice of selfless faith and love is favorable for God, which is emphasized by the image of calves placed on the altar. The altar here is a symbol of sacrifice to God, and the calves, as images of the gods of ancient peoples responsible for wealth and fertility, symbolize material pleasures and acquisitions. Sacrificing them to God does not mean abandoning them.

This symbol indicates a person’s readiness to selflessly help other people with the help of the material means that he has thanks to the Will of God. Remember that it was our Heavenly Father who gave you the opportunity and strength to earn material resources, and He sent you to a world where there are many opportunities for both pleasure and suffering.

Gratitude to God for this unique experience should be manifested not only in your prayers, but also in real, kind and merciful deeds, for all the spirits incarnated next to you, no matter what nations they belong to and no matter what religious views they adhere to.

Archangel Raphael, patron of healing esoteric and religious systems on planet Earth, curator of the Christian Egregor.

May 18, 2022

Interpretation of the APOCALYPSE of John the Theologian or the book of Revelation of Jesus Christ (chapter 12, verses 1-3)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-apokalipsisa-ioanna-bogoslova-stihi-1-3

Dear friends, now we will touch on a very interesting and difficult topic for many to understand. This is the Decoding of the APOCALYPSE of John the Theologian, or the book of the Revelation of Jesus Christ, or simply Revelation. The word " apocalypse " is also used for other works of a similar nature in the literary genre of apocalyptic literature.

The Book of Revelation is the only apocalyptic book in the New Testament canon, although there are short apocalyptic passages in various places in the Gospels and Epistles.

In chapter 12 of the Revelation of John the Theologian, all stages of a person's spiritual growth are described in symbolic language and the consequences of passing all stages on the spiritual and physical levels are indicated.

Verse 1:

> 1 And a great sign appeared in heaven—a woman clothed with the sun; the moon is under her feet, and on her head is a crown of twelve stars.

The symbol of the Woman in the first and subsequent verses of this chapter should be understood as the human soul - as a spirit united with life force. In the reality of spiritual perception, she is always immersed in the Light of God (dressed in the sun) and always interacts with the astral world, leaving there every night from the physical body, which is here indicated by the symbol of the moon (astral world) under her feet (movement, exit).

The head of the soul is its Highest Unembodied Part, the Inner Light, its Super-Ego, which has twelve Divine Energies (a wreath of twelve stars). These are immortality, creativity, conscience, intuition, faith, mercy, humility, patience, generosity, joy, wisdom and love.

Verses 2-3:

> 2 She was with child, and cried out from the pains and pangs of birth.
>
> 3 And another sign appeared in heaven: behold, a great red dragon, with seven heads and ten horns, and on his heads seven crowns.

Here we are talking about the initial stage of spiritual growth, which is always accompanied by more or less noticeable stress or shock to the soul. This happens due to a change in the entire structure of the inner life of the soul, which, opening its spiritual eyes, sees itself for the first time in the Light of God, realizing its unity with Him and clearly seeing everything that prevents us from always feeling His infinite Love and the eternal Happiness of Existence in Him.

This brings mental pain due to fears and doubts arising from the inertia of human consciousness, which functions on the principle of slow adaptation to new conditions and states of consciousness. This function is an adaptive protective tool necessary for the survival and development of the embodied spirit in the material world.

The first serious test on the path of spiritual development is the balancing between the first and seventh energy centers of a person, that is, between his Higher Self, with the above-mentioned qualities, and the manifestation of the instinctive nature of the body in which the spirit is embodied.

The red dragon is precisely the symbol of human instinctive programs, manifested through the first energy center, which has a red etheric spectrum of perception . This is a useful energy that allows the spirit to act in the body through ten of its manifestations (indicated here by ten horns) in five multidirectional instinctive programs of earthly people.

They are the following desires and emotions:

The desire to live and the fear of death (manifestation of the instinct of self-preservation);

The desire to manage processes and the fear of external control (a manifestation of the instinct of power);

The desire to give birth to children and the fear of letting go and losing those already born (parental instinct);

The desire to be friends and the fear of loneliness (herd instinct);

The desire to enjoy and the fear of pain (hedonic instinct).

All these emotional states, arising frequently and leaving the control of the mind, illuminated by Divine Wisdom, give rise to energetic changes in the human aura and, being fixed on the mental plane, turn into feelings and unconscious aspirations and beliefs. There are seven main energy states and types of vibrations of the astral-mental fields that will lead the embodied rational spirit to degradation if it develops these negative qualities.

Here their symbols are the seven heads of the red dragon.

These are the following states:

The passion of gluttony - all a person's desires and forces are directed towards satisfying his food needs, far beyond his body's need for energy and nutrients, and often even despite the health of the body itself, and to the detriment of personal relationships and spiritual development. Food egoism is characteristic when, for the sake of enjoying food, a person ignores the feelings and desires of another - even the closest person.

Passion for fornication - a person's energy is aimed at satisfying his sexual desire using various methods, contrary not only to moral norms and feelings of selfless love, but also despite his health and spiritual well-being, as well as the health and well-being of those whom the person has chosen as objects for manifestation your passion.

Characterized by neglect of the feelings of a loved one for the sake of one's own pleasure through the corresponding receptors of the body. A person subject to this passion is prone to variability in sexual behavior, with disdain and rejection of previous partners, to whom he recently quite sincerely confessed his love. This occurs due to the adaptation of the receptors of the genital organs to the same stimuli, and the inevitable decrease in the level of sexual pleasure in a relationship with one partner.

The passion of the love of money - all human interests are aimed at acquiring material goods for various purposes, most often for the sake of sensual pleasures received through the body. For the sake of this, a person subject to this passion can calmly step over his own and others' dignity, and sometimes without paying attention to the health and even the lives of the people around him. Characteristic is materialism in perception and an attempt to look through the prism of material gain at relationships with friends, relatives and even the most beloved people.

Passion of anger - a person's energy is aimed at correcting the shortcomings of other people, and he ignores or completely denies his own imperfection and lack of true and selfless love. Restoring justice in his understanding is often accompanied by violence against another person, but this is always justified by the need to use force for the future good of the person to whom it is applied or other people. Moreover, it is characteristic that there is not only a lack of love for someone who does wrong, but also a lack of simple human sympathy towards him, and the manifestation of such sympathy by other people is regarded by an angry person as indulgence in his evil deeds and is also condemned.

The passion of sadness - a person's mind and his energy are aimed at criticizing and not accepting the circumstances where he finds himself and the people around him, as well as criticizing, blaming and not accepting himself for some action committed in the past. Instead of constructive ideas for getting out of a difficult situation, a person falls into self-pity, wanting confirmation from those around him of his disastrous state, and does not even want to try to follow the advice of people who sympathize with him to improve his situation, fearing the loss of the love of those who show compassion and understanding to him . At the same time, such a person often neglects his health, and sometimes his life, asking for help, but resisting when trying to actually provide it, which is often accompanied by accusations of people trying to help him of misunderstanding and lack of sympathy for him.

The passion of despondency is a conscious refusal of the rational spirit from its own development due to a lack of understanding of its benefits for itself. Such a person's energy is aimed at searching for temporary entertainment that takes away the unnecessary time of his earthly life. Often despondency is confused with sadness, but unlike it, despondency does not give rise to the need for consolation or a feeling of guilt, but is manifested by boredom from any manifestations of life around, longing for past people and events while ignoring what is happening in the present; reluctance to dream and make plans.

Such people strive to have an easy time in this incarnation, without straining their soul or body - and, since this is impossible, they often experience irritation, anger, resentment and sadness.

People subject to despondency often develop a special feeling of inner emptiness and uselessness of this world, and of themselves in it, which they take for the highest spiritual wisdom, rejecting the value of the material world as a gift created by God for the growth and development of all intelligent spirits.

Passion of pride - in this case, a person's energy, all his desires and thoughts are aimed at satisfying his needs for love, respect, honor, but at the same time the feelings of other people are ignored, and his desires and own importance are elevated to a kind of internal throne, where he should According to the Divine Law, there is only that Light that is the Source of everything and the Father of all intelligent spirits. A proud person is prone to criticism and judgment of others, but quickly loses self-control when these actions are directed at himself, even in the most gentle and affectionate manner.

Pride completely neglects the Unity of all rational spirits in God and always wants to take a dominant position among others, but not for the sake of helping others in their development, but to receive their attention, love and worship, without giving anything in return except condemnation, criticism and insults.

MidGaskaus from the planet Esler, the decoding was corrected with the help of Archangel Raphael.

May 25, 2022

Interpretation of the APOCALYPSE of John the Theologian or the book of Revelation of Jesus Christ (chapter 12, verses 4-6)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-apokalipsisa-ioanna-bogoslova-stihi-4-6

Continuation of the interpretation of the 12th chapter of the Revelation of John the Theologian.

Verse four:

> His tail carried away a third of the stars from the sky and threw them to the ground. This dragon stood before the woman who was about to give birth, so that when she gave birth, he would devour her baby.

The next stage of spiritual development is conscious contact with your Higher Self, with That Light, Which is the Source of all truths and the Endless flow of Joy and Love. Here the first contact with this primordial Light is symbolized through the symbol of the birth of a baby. The baby itself should be understood as the fruit of this merger with one's inner Light, in the form of Enlightenment, Wisdom and the Power to love and do good in the world. More details about this fruit of the soul and its Higher Self will be said later, but now we will dwell in more detail on the concept of the "dragon's tail" and the stars carried away from the sky by it.

The spirit is not fully embodied in material bodies of any density. In the spiritual world, at the level where he was waiting for incarnation, his disembodied part always remains. The percentage of spirits connecting with bodies of different degrees of density and different types is not the same. For earthlings, this is about 30%, which is indicated here under the symbol of " a third of the stars " that " fall " from the sky (from the spiritual world) into the material (to Earth), incarnating.

And the " tail of the dragon " in this case means that part of the vital energy and the energy of the desire to incarnate, which brings the spirit into the material world and helps to stay in the body. It is a vital thread connecting the spirit with the body, the energy for the formation of which comes from that type of originally given instinctive force called Kundalini.

It rises along the central etheric channel from the first energy center in the coccyx to the third energy center in the solar plexus, passes through the center of the third energy center and forms an energy thread, the main function of which is to return to the body the spirit that has left it in a dream or in conscious astral travel.

Before the first spiritual awakening, the experience of Light, the soul almost always feels a vague excitement, incomprehensible to itself, causeless anxiety and melancholy. All this is perceived by the instinctive part of a person as a threat to his safety, therefore this side of the spirit is activated and prepares to direct the energy of Light to fulfill its instinctive goals and desires. Here this is indicated through the symbol of a dragon preparing to eat the baby immediately after its birth.

There is nothing bad or unclean in this action of the "dragon"; it is simply a person's natural defensive reaction to a sudden change in life priorities.

Verse five:

> And she gave birth to a male child, who was to rule all nations with a rod of iron; and her child was caught up to God and His throne.

This speaks about the true purpose of our fruits of spiritual development: developing in ourselves the will to good deeds and determination. Their development is indicated here under the symbol of the “iron rod”, and by numerous people here we mean our desires, which need the care of the mind, illuminated by the Light of Divine wisdom.

The word “ποιμαίνειν”, which is translated in the Synodal translation as “ to shepherd ”, is also translated as “ to take care of, to care for ”, being in a state of unconditional Love and acceptance of everything that happens as Divine gifts.

After the birth of the first spiritual fruit, you can do different things: spend this energy searching for sensual pleasures, or by turning on the capabilities of the mental body, begin to study the hitherto unknown, or you can temporarily hide this first impression in the depths of your heart, being in the flow of love and happiness and continuing to live an ordinary life, passing the Light of Life through oneself, charging all matter with it and awakening other souls on their way to seeing and understanding this Light.

If the soul chooses the latter path: it sends its first fruit of the knowledge of God to Him as a voluntary sacrifice, hiding its impressions from people and continuing to selflessly serve the Light in every person, then this allows one to protect oneself from wasting Divine Energy on manifestations of instinctive nature. This choice and its consequences are indicated in the text as the raising (rapture) of the wife’s child to the Throne of God, which did not allow the red dragon to eat him.

Verse six:

> And the wife fled into the desert, where a place had been prepared for her by God, so that she could be fed there for one thousand two hundred and sixty days.

Here are indicated the consequences of the first awakening of the soul to spiritual life. Having realized that material reality is not the only one in the sphere of his existence and that it was created and supported by the One Source for all from the spiritual world, she acutely feels her loneliness among those people to whom such revelations are not yet available due to their unpreparedness for open communication with their Higher Light.

This causes alienation and hostility in the family, and a person who has experienced spiritual enlightenment becomes lonely among people. It is only later that the understanding will come that real loneliness does not exist, that next to every person there are always his curators and Mentors from the spiritual world, and God sees everyone everywhere and always, sees our thoughts and feelings even before they appear, and supports everyone with His Energy Love. In the meantime, the soul feels lonely and misunderstood by others. Here this state is described through the image of the Wife who fled into the desert.

This stage is a difficult but necessary test on the path of spiritual development. It allows you to psychologically, energetically and physically adapt to raising your spiritual vibrations in order to gain strength and confidence to act in the world, in the flow of Light. The time periods for passing this stage are very individual and depend on many conditions. The number one thousand two hundred and sixty here is symbolic and speaks of the necessary conditions for raising one’s vibrations during a period of spiritual loneliness.

Each number in this number denotes a specific image, and all the numbers together symbolize the action that is most optimal for the soul in this position.

Here are the meanings of the images encrypted in numbers:

1 - symbol of God

2 - symbol of connection
6 - symbol of love
0 - symbol of infinity.

Thus, the number 1260 denotes awareness of the connection with God through the development of His eternal love . The sum of all these numbers is nine, and this figure means achieving spiritual perfection in likeness to God . This means that with the correct passage of the period of spiritual loneliness without judging other people, without resentment, envy, claims and other low vibrational states, and with the constant development of Love for everyone, peace and harmony - it will end with a transition to a new vibrational level, where completely new ones await states and revelations.

This will be discussed in detail below, and you, dear readers, who are now going through this difficult period of spiritual desert, do not despair! You are not alone, and even if no one is near your body, then on the spiritual level your main friend and one of the Mentors from the spiritual world - the Guardian Angel - is always next to you.

He always hears you and sees your every feeling, and with him you can always share what you cannot tell to your closest friend or relative. Don't judge people who don't understand you and your spiritual quest. The time for their awakening has not yet come. Give them the Light of your unconditional Love, and you will significantly speed up the period of their knowledge of God - after all, the example of your life and peaceful behavior will forever remain in their memory.

MidGaskaus from the planet Esler, the decoding was corrected with the help of Archangel Raphael.

May 27, 2022

History of the Earth after the war 12,000 years ago. People, gods, races

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/istoriya-zemli-posle-vojny-12000-let-nazad-lyudi

After the war that occurred 12,000 years ago, people began to live and reproduce on Earth again. The height of people before the war was different and they were from 3 to 4 meters. After changed conditions (climate, habitat, oxygen, plant food, changes in animal and plant species, etc.), our creators had to make changes to the genotype and human height became from 1.5 to 2 meters.

Several hundred years after this, a group of people attempted to reach their creators on the Moon by building a spaceship using nuclear fuel, the secrets of which had been known since pre-war times and were passed down from generation to generation. The ship they built was imperfect, dangerous for earthlings and for the ecology of the planet, so our older star brothers decided to intervene and explain to people that the time for flying into the sky had not yet come, since there was still a lot of unknown on their native Earth (the myth about Tower of Babel).

They argued that people must first populate the Earth, learn to build cities, make perfect ships, and most importantly live in peace and harmony among themselves, and only then will they acquire the right to explore the Universe on ships, in cooperation with their creators. People agreed with the fairness of these proposals and asked those whom they considered Gods to help them explore the greatly changed planet and arrange life on it.

Leading psychologists and physiologists of the Interstellar Union decided to create several different ones from the previously single race of earthlings - with the goal, on the one hand, of adapting them to the climate that had become different in different parts of the globe, and on the other, to begin the fight against xenophobia - the main obstacle to joining the Interstellar Union for many young races. Thus, through small artificial genetic mutations, four main races were created from the formerly single race of earthlings, from the mixing of which the modern peoples gradually emerged.

People were settled on various continents, except for Antarctica, where it became too cold. A little later, aliens from different worlds began to fly to them and teach them various sciences, including plant growing, architecture, animal husbandry, the languages of their planets, astronomy, medicine, etc.

Plasmoid civilizations, coming into contact with some earthlings, passed on to them their special figurative-syllabic languages, which, mixed with the languages of many humanoid races, helped in the formation of the entire diversity of languages and dialects that we see now on Earth.

Vera Martynova. The history of the creation of our civilization

The territory of modern Indo-European territory at that time was inhabited predominantly by the white race, in whose genome there were the fewest changes compared to the original plan of our creators. This race quickly divided into various tribes, settling throughout the continent and migrating to neighboring ones, actively mixing there with representatives of other races and leaving numerous common offspring.

Ten thousand years ago, on the territory of modern Eurasia, there lived a large tribal community, individual representatives of which came into contact with both humanoids and plasmoids. However, the ancient people accepted both of them as Gods and created cults of their worship, imbued with magic, fetishism and totemism, as necessary elements of the mythological consciousness that prevailed at that time among our ancestors.

This type of consciousness is characteristic of life in nature without modern scientific knowledge, based on the predominance of the analytical component of thinking over the figurative one.

Cults based on mythological consciousness are most often polytheistic, that is, they involve the worship of various deities, nature spirits and ancestor spirits. Typically, such cults have a fairly developed priestly system, where the priests of one God, willingly or unwillingly, compete with the priests of other Gods for power over the flock, for the number of sacrifices and for attention to their Gods, including the transfer of vital energy to one or another egregor. For this reason, polytheistic religious systems are less viable and more prone to fragmentation into separate cults than monotheistic ones.

The vast majority of ancient polytheistic systems are characterized by similar images of gods and supernatural beings, which appeared on the basis of a similar picture of the world among different tribes and similar experiences of interaction with creatures from different worlds and planes of existence: humanoids, plasmoids and disembodied spirits.

There are five main religious images that are characteristic of any polytheistic religious system:

God the Thunderer (Zeus, Jupiter, Perun, Thor, Indra) - this image is based on the experience of observing alien spaceships, the flight of which often reminded our ancestors of the movement of thunderclouds with lightning.

God the Creator (Uranus, Rod, Brahma) is the image of the God who created the Universe and gave birth to all of us - immortal spirits.

The God of nature and agriculture (Veles, Demeter, Vidar, Vishnu) is the image of one of the deified earthly plasmoids, a fairly high level of density, who is the ruler and teacher of all types and forms of plasmoids of the elements and individual places of nature on Earth.

The God of the Sun and Light (Helios, Yarilo, Agni, Freyr, Ra, Aten) is the image of one of the deified cosmic stellar (often solar) plasmoids.

Also, as in the previous case, he was the image of the ruler and teacher of space plasmoids, who quite often came into contact with our ancestors. Now this is also not uncommon, but unfortunately, due to a materialistic society, modern people have much less knowledge about it. And ignorance gives rise to fear and rejection of contacts even with positively minded plasmoids, which causes them to have a corresponding reaction to people.

God of destruction and death (Hades, Saturn, Yama, Chernobog, Hel) - the image of the destructive aspect of nature, the impermanence of the material world and the image of everything that the mind of a person living in a dense body, in the physical world, considers to be pain, darkness, evil and destruction. Most often, these images depicted those manifestations of God the Creator that were denied by the consciousness of people, who by their nature always strive for pleasure and avoid suffering. Everything that interferes with this desire is usually demonized, denied and repressed into the darkest corners of the subconscious, where all our fears, doubts and other negative feelings and emotions originate.

Just as often, the images of the gods of death and destruction were understood as the inhabitants of the first six levels of the world of disembodied spirits (demons). And the reason for this is quite understandable for earthly consciousness...

It must be remembered that behind the images of all the numerous gods and spirits of nature of ancient and modern polytheistic cults there is always hidden one or another aspect, one of the manifestations of our Heavenly Father, most understandable to the consciousness of his fans who are at one or another level of spiritual development.

If you understand and realize this, then you will not even have the thought of condemning a person who adheres to a different form of religion than you - or does not adhere to any. After all, you will know that behind any image available for veneration and worship on Earth, there is always the One God, who created everything from His energies and gave birth to us not to clarify the Truth through dispute and struggle with each other, but to live in it, for merging with the Light of His Infinite Love, in which we are all one.

The information was conveyed by Kramp-Demer, a specialist in the ancient history of civilizations that were not included in the interstellar union, a historian and religious psychologist, planet Esler.

May 30, 2022

The concept of Manvantara and its formation

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ponyatie-manvantary-i-eyo-formirovanie

Manvantara is part of a cycle.

Manvantara is the manifestation of the Universe as opposed to the non-manifestation (Pralaya) of the Universe or, as you say, the Universe. By the word Universe, you usually mean the physical world. In the Spiritual world, the word Universe means all material worlds. There are 59 levels of density in this Manvantara, and all of them are included in the concept of the Universe or the Material World.

The first 3 levels of density are when there are substances that make up the physical worlds you see, physical energies. The first, second and third levels of density are what you call Cosmos, what you call the Universe, and in the Spiritual world, Cosmos and the Universe are all material worlds, including subtle ones. You can call it Spirit, because you do not have such instruments for determining very subtle states of matter, so for you it is Spirit.

It must be taken into account that the Universe is not only a physical world, it is also an ethereal or subtle world, it is a world between the physical and the Spiritual, or rather the worlds that our interstellar friends call plasmoid. Why in plural? Because there are a lot of these worlds, hundreds of thousands of millions of them, if you take into account all the Galaxies, then there are very, very many of these worlds.

So, the Universe manifests itself from the Spiritual Light coming from the Divine Kingdom, consistently unfolding in time and space. First, a very subtle material world appears. Spirits incarnate there. Incarnate means that they are clothed in a certain spiritual shell. The Spirit enters this very subtle material world and, as it were, puts on this matter, begins to form a world from its thoughts, that is, the Spirit begins to condense its thoughts and form a denser material world. But this denser material world is still far from physical. The rollout continues. There are 59 levels of density unfolding in this Manvantara.

The period that comes after Manvantara is called the period of Peace (Pralaya), when all energies pass into the Spiritual world from all material worlds. This happens in reverse order. First, the physical world disappears, it seems to disappear for physical vision, for physical senses, but all its energy, according to the law of physics on the conservation of energy, naturally does not disappear, it passes into the subtle worlds. Then, after analyzing the energy of the first 8 clusters of the material world, there remains, for example, only the 8th level of density, the 9th level of density, the 10th level of density.

Incarnations in the subtle material world continue.

After some time, and there is also time in the subtle worlds, it is simply perceived differently. So, at each level of density, time can be perceived as either longer or shorter, depending on the type of subtle body, but it is there. In any material world there is time.

Then the next 8 clusters of the material world leave the state of manifestation and remain from the 16th to the 59th. This happens until the entire material world disappears from manifestation, from existence in manifestation, and all its energies pass into the Spiritual world, from where they originally originated. Once this happens, there will be no Universe. There will be no material world. But there will be a Spiritual world, which always exists, it is eternal. All Spirits who have incarnated will move into the Spiritual World, to the level they reached in their last incarnation.

Then there is a period of Peace (Pralaya). It is impossible to correctly determine its time, since time in a linear sense does not exist in the Spiritual World. There is subjective time, which is determined by the speed of mental and emotional-volitional processes in each individual spiritual entity.

Further, as soon as the Spirits have a need to incarnate again, not with one or two Spirits, but with a common impulse that passes like a wave. A common impulse of all Spirits, addressed to God with a request to release energy. But a request - this is how you can say it in earthly language. In fact, this is a mental appeal, it is completely wordless. This is a general mental impulse with a request to allocate energy to create the material world. Energy is released, passing through the Spiritual world, through the world through all levels of non-embodied Spirits located in the Spiritual world, and forms, according to God's plan, the first of the Subtle Worlds.

Everything repeats itself from the beginning. But in each Manvantara there can be a different number of density levels and a different number of Earth years, that is, a different duration of the Earth's revolution around the Sun (not 365 days, as now) and a different length of the period of existence of both individual Galaxies and the entire Universe as a whole. Each Manvantara may have a different duration.

As for the duration of Peace (Pralaya), if we count by subjective time, it can be either a second or several million years - no one can determine this.

When the Manvantara begins to compress, all processes in the carriers of material energies at all levels of density begin to accelerate. Let's just say that the more lower density levels move into higher ones, the more this process accelerates.

When the material Universe emerges, before the physical plane has yet arisen, the flow of time energy flows quite slowly, because certain carriers that are present in each material body, which help consciousness to determine the flow of time, have not yet been formed. And in each type of material body these carriers are formed differently. The higher the density level, the slower, especially at high density levels, this flow of time is perceived.

Time is not just energy, like Light, for example.

Time is a flow of changes in material particles relative to each other, a flow of changes in their position in space, their sizes, and so on.

For example, the Earth revolves around the Sun, and this movement, which changes the position of certain surface points on the Earth relative to the Sun, is what you call a day. For example, you say “now is morning, now is day, now is evening, now is night.” For you, this is a different time, but from the Spiritual world, it is simply eternity. When we are out of embodiment, we do not measure time as you do.

Time is precisely the flow of changes caused by various energies. For example, at the physical level of density, as applied to the Earth, the flow of time is determined by the flow of sunlight, which falls on the surface of the Earth at different angles. And in subtle worlds, where there is no Sun in your understanding, light can be everywhere, there are other criteria and parameters for counting time.

Related video: #450 Live broadcast with Archangel Metatron. Part 2.

Archangel Metatron, head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Spiritual World of the Milky Way Galaxy, ruler of the Jewish and Christian egregors on planet Earth.

June 1, 2022

Interpretation of mythology. Chaos concept. Uranus and Gaia

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/traktovka-mifologii-ponyatie-haosa-urani-geya

According to Greek sources, which described the entire world from a spiritual point of view, the world emerged from the so-called Chaos. Chaos only later acquired the meaning of a disordered, inharmonious mass of something. Initially, Chaos had the meaning of unmanifested matter in the Spiritual world, i.e. unmanifest state of matter.

As we remember, the Universe goes through cycles of material existence outside of material phases, outside of time, as you call it, outside of the destruction of the Universe. But this is not destruction, but the return of all matter to the Spiritual world by increasing its vibrations gradually through subtle material planes and in the Spiritual world. Then this cycle repeats. According to the scientists of the Interstellar Union, who, in turn, received them from the Spiritual World, the number of such cycles is incalculable. That's what it's called – the cyclical time course of the Universe.

Chaos is a state of unmanifested matter in the Spiritual world. Simply put, that part of the spiritual energy that will then be used to create the material world, atoms and all things consisting of atoms.

When we read that "Chaos gave birth," "gave birth" is more of a myth for the people. For priests and philosophers this was the word "gave birth", was the cause. Those. this part of the Spiritual World, which was called Chaos, became manifested into Uranus, into Gaia, into beings who then gave birth to everyone else. But these beings were called beings only in the understanding of people, as images. In fact, in reality, this meant certain clumps of matter, which were then transformed into certain celestial bodies by plasmoid civilizations.

For example, Uranus was the name given to that part of the Chaos energy that went into the creation of almost all the stars, all the Galaxies, and the entire visible sky. Therefore, the god of the sky began to be called Uranus. One might say the Firmament of Heaven. Accordingly, Gaia is the part that gave birth to the Earth and all its civilizations, including plasmoid ones.

In the drawings of the ancient books of the priests who lived even before the modern Greeks, before those peoples who came to the place that is now called Greece (and there were books and drawings there too), there was a drawing: Uranus in the form of a man embraces the Earth in the form of a girl. This was a natural consequence of the fertility cult, which depended on magical rituals that increased the fertility of the earth through the energy of human life released at the time of sexual intercourse. This drawing also indicated that the Firmament embraces the Earth, which at that time was considered not a planet, but a large living creature on whose body all people live. And she - the goddess - is in the arms of the sky. People watched as the firmament, as if with its arms, embraced the Earth.

Accordingly, rain was considered an act of a man-Heaven and a woman-Earth, from which fruits then grow. This is what was written in ancient treatises. The sky fertilizes the Earth with rain.

The sun was considered the heart of Heaven and at the same time the heart of the Earth, which simultaneously burns with the fires of love and desires. During the day, during daylight hours, it was visible in the sky - these were the feelings of Uranus. And at night it was not believed that the Earth rotated. It was considered a ball, a kind of living creature, and when the Sun goes beyond the horizon, it goes into the Earth itself and passes inside it. And this is the heart of dense love, when the Earth also showed its feeling for Heaven, just like Heaven during the day.

Many have found evidence of this that water and Earth become warmer at night than during the day. This is the heat of the love of Earth-Gaia for Uranus. In fact, now we already know that the Earth and water give off the heat accumulated during the day, and at night it rises and evaporates. The ancients noticed this too.

Accordingly, night and day were personified by living beings. They had certain names, they gave birth to their children at night - the stars. Such were the myths.

12 titans - 6 men and 6 women were generated by Earth and Heaven. They denoted certain forces of nature, which were either from Heaven or from Earth, and were responsible for the ocean, mountains, and the Sun. This is, in your opinion, a collection of plasmoid civilizations. The solar disk was designated by one generic name.

Kronos stood for a number of plasmoid civilizations and later became the god of time. Previously, he was the god of space who divided him. According to your terminology, these were those plasmoid civilizations that live in the atmosphere, in space between spaces, thin-material civilizations.

Uranus, i.e. Nebo (in Greek it was called Ouranos) was very prolific. Just a few drops of his blood or seminal fluid could give birth to many children. All this, naturally, came from observing rain in ancient times.

When I say "in ancient times" I mean before the war 12,000 years ago. At that time it was not yet called Uranus, but in any case, many pre-war tribes believed that the marriage of Heaven and Earth gives birth to fruits. This was a very widespread belief on Earth in all parts of a single continent.

The thing is that after the war 12,000 years ago, when these tribes began to be born again, to fill themselves with meaning, telling myths, talking about the past, they naturally intertwined with the story of the war.

It so happens that in myth Uranus is endlessly fertile. When he gave birth to his children, he was afraid that they would overthrow him and take his place. But he could not not give birth to them. It was his nature to connect with Gaia and give birth, and at the same time be afraid.

According to myths, after his children were born, Uranus placed them back into his wife's womb. Expressions that send a person back to the female genital organ come from there. Those. he placed back into the womb of his wife his children, whom he himself had fathered. This caused Gaia and her children to suffer. Because one was overcrowded with children, and the second did not receive the opportunity of life. That is why Gaia supported Kronos in overthrowing her husband.

So where did this myth come from?

The thing is that when people began to live on Earth after the war, they perceived the sky itself as the place of residence of the Heavenly Father, not plasmoids, but specifically the Heavenly Father. And since life was hard for them after the war, they often died, they returned to the primitive level. The climate changed, there were many disasters, earthquakes continued, etc., people often lowered their vibrations, condemning this world.

Together with the low-vibration plasmoids that came into contact with them, people had some idea that God was giving birth to a free Spirit. They remembered this in their subconscious from their Higher Self. But because of envy of this free Spirit, God places it in the so-called “evil matter”.

This myth is the perception of a group of priests who wrote it down and passed it on to their children. There was such a perception of the Spirit that their father gave birth to them, but he threw them down to Earth, placed them in matter, in physical bodies.

Why was it written “into the womb”?

Because this idea is intertwined with the fact that the Earth is a mother. And the Earth was also a symbol of matter. This became intertwined in their minds that the Earth is the mother of Gaia, a symbol of matter in general. And so they managed to be returned to the womb. It’s as if they were born, and their father returns them.

From here came the ideas of the Orphics and some Pythagoreans, and the Gnostics, of course, much later, that the Earth is a place of punishment, and the body is a prison for the Soul. These are ideas not only among plasmoids; many people who are in a state of despondency, fear, and condemnation have such ideas. Even without the influence of plasmoid civilizations, they are attracted to such thoughts.

Let us remind you that thoughts in the Light of Divine Love, laughter and joy, acceptance of everything that happens in life as a Divine gift, faith, gratitude and good deeds for everyone around you, done unselfishly in a pure and joyful state of consciousness - this is the best way to raising your vibrations.

Video on the topic: #288 Myths of Ancient Greece and Rome. History of mythology. Who were the ancient Greek gods? The Legend of Cassiopeia.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien life forms;

Haraxes is a representative of the planet Burkhad, a history teacher.

June 3, 2022

The Roerichs and Blavatsky - the path of contactees

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/rerihi-i-blavatskaya-put-kontaktyorov

The Roerichs and Blavatsky were contactees of the planet Esler, the world from which I came. They were chosen because their energetic vibrations matched our planet Esler. Personally, I had no contact with them, since I was born later. This is the history of our planet, I studied it.

The energy vibrations of Elena Petrovna von Hahn, her maiden name, Elena Shaposhnikova, Nicholas Roerich and their two children corresponded to energy vibrations suitable for contacting us.

They corresponded because in many of their past incarnations they lived on this planet, and that is why they were chosen as contactees.

The first to be chosen was Elena Petrovna von Hahn. Since childhood, she had the ability to sense the Spiritual world. She told her parents and her two governesses about this. She said that she sees the Spirits of Nature around, hears their voices, that they call her to play. She was then about five or six years old.

Elena grew up and got married, but her family life did not work out. She left her husband, leaving his last name, and he insisted on returning to her. Relatives advised Elena to temporarily leave for another country so that he could forget about his wife. She went to the UK.

There she made contact with Esler's representatives. These were physical contacts, and then astral ones. I want to emphasize that in addition to Esler’s representatives, she was in contact with representatives of several plasmoid civilizations.

Then Elena went on a trip to Tibet. She communicated with contactees of other civilizations, as well as with representatives of our civilization, who performed the functions of clergy of various religions there.

She wrote down all the information transmitted to her on the world order, spiritual development, synthesis of religions, science, philosophy as she understood it, as she deciphered it.

Elena Petrovna was one of the most educated women of her time. She spoke several languages, knew how to play musical instruments, and had a good knowledge of the Christian and Buddhist religions, philosophy, Zoroastrianism and ancient Egyptian ideas. In all this she was looking for a single root, which she reflected in her works.

As for Helena Roerich: at first she was chosen from the whole family, a little later her husband and sons joined her when they grew up. For Helena Roerich this happened after her marriage to Nicholas. By that time, books by Helena Blavatsky had already been published, but not in Russian, and since Helena Ivanovna Roerich knew English, the couple became acquainted with this teaching.

She liked the books, and she decided to translate them into Russian, at the same time being carried away by this teaching - theosophy. After this acquaintance, she became ready to contact Esler's representatives. At first she had contacts on the astral level through spiritualistic seances, which she and her husband had been into for several years. They held special meetings because at that time the passion for spiritualism and spiritism was very widespread. They sought truth through these forms of communication.

Since our Esler representatives can adapt to spiritualistic, astral, mental contacts, they saw that her energies were suitable, and through these forms they began to interact with her, and later physical contact occurred. She told her husband about the contacts. He also approached contacts and began to meet, but less often.

Elena Ivanovna was the main contact; she was given information, which she wrote down. Our representative advised her to write down contacts and then distribute them in printed form to the population, which she did.

The Roerich family also traveled a lot and, with the permission of our government, they visited one of our bases in the mountains of Tibet. The bases of several civilizations were also located there. You could get inside through a cave. They were allowed physical access there and the ability to talk.

The purpose of the transmitted information was to present in a more understandable language for people of the late 19th and early 20th centuries the very ancient teaching about light, about fire, which has existed since the birth of your civilization in different forms and different types. It was scattered among various religious teachings, hidden behind external ritual forms. The same fire. And it was about this fire, it was about this light that our contactees spoke in order to give your people the idea that everything is one.

MidgasCaus - biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien life forms, planet Esler.

January, 2020

June 4, 2022

Interpretation of the APOCALYPSE of John the Theologian or the book of Revelation of Jesus Christ (chapter 12, verses 7-10)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-apokalipsisa-glava-12-stihi-7-10

Revelation of John the Evangelist, chapter 12, verses 7-10.

12:7 Verse seven:

> And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon, and the dragon and his angels fought against them.

The sky here refers to the spiritual world, the source of energy for the material. After passing through the previous stages of spiritual growth, the soul undergoes the first serious test, in which it is necessarily helped by its Mentors and Guardian Angel. They give her their energy and support her with words of love and understanding, which she perceives as bright thoughts from God. This is how it actually is, because non-incarnate Angels feel their complete merging with God, acting in His will and by His power.

The image of Archangel Michael here refers to the Higher Self , because the name " Michael " is translated from Hebrew " who is like God ” and this name emphasizes the inextricable, generic and energetic connection of the spirit with God.

The image of the dragon refers to the same instinctive nature of man as before, which can become both an instrument of sin and a means of growth and development of the spirit.

According to the angels (messengers) of Michael, all thoughts and feelings filled with the Light of Selfless Love are understood, and the angels (messengers) of the dragon are understood as destructive, that is, thought forms that destroy themselves and those around them, charged with negative emotions and feelings.

12:8 Verse eight:

> But they did not resist, and there was no longer a place for them in heaven.

Here it is said about the result of the spiritual struggle, in the case of choosing Light. Without struggle there can be no improvement, either physical or spiritual, because a change in matter is always accompanied by the inertia of the spirit and vice versa: a change in the spirit embodied in matter is always accompanied by the inertia of matter. This is a useful mechanism for harmonizing both of them with each other. For many people, this is perceived as a struggle due to the feeling of resistance of one of their natures to the other, generated by inertia.

If the spirit chooses the brightest path possible for its manifestation, then a clear division appears between the instinctive and spiritual forms of consciousness of behavior.

This manifests itself in the form of an understanding of what is good and evil for a person at a given level of his development. There is no longer any place left for low-vibration thoughts and feelings in the inner, spiritual world, in the treasury of the soul, in its mental field; they cannot withstand the powerful flow of Divine Light, and there is no place for them in the human heart.

12:9 Verse nine:

> And the great dragon was cast out, that ancient serpent, called the devil and Satan, who deceives the whole world, he was cast out to the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

The logical result of the above-described state is the feeling of a decrease in the vibrations of one's instinctive part, since it is suppressed by a higher vibrational spiritual nature. The lowering of the vibrations of a part of human energy is called here the " overthrow (fall) of the dragon ."

Some really call him " the devil and Satan ", because the entities that do not act in the Light of God and for this are called darkness, can work with a person only through manifestations of his instinctive nature - since the spirit, being in its Light and in the flow of Love of the Creator, is always able to discern Truth, which for him is indistinguishable from Love.

The word " devil " is translated into Russian as " slanderer ". This is the name given to every spirit that slanderes God, claiming that His creations or His children are imperfect in some way. This spirit also slanderes God in itself, its inner light on other people - convincing them that they are bad, evil, deceitful, greedy, etc.

A person who judges others or himself always lowers his vibrations, so Love gradually leaves his heart, being replaced by destructive feelings.

The word " Satan " is translated as " adversary " - this is the name of every spirit that is accustomed to oppose (resist) any words and actions directed at it, due to the fear of change characteristic of the manifested instinct of self-preservation, in the form of denial of everything new - even kind and bright.

The word " universe " that is written here sounds in Greek as " Ecumene " - that is, the entire inhabited earth at the time of the writing of the New Testament. This word here refers to planet Earth. The Apostle John emphasized that the dragon - “ the instinctive part that has 7 passions ” - deceives the entire Universe (the inhabited world). Seduction here refers to the fact that many people are in a state of materialism, which gives the illusion of the priority of the material world over the spiritual.

When the spirit takes control of the instincts of the body and correctly sets goals, and also determines the tasks of its incarnation, then the energy of instinctive drives is directed to the activation of hormonal, immune and neurogenic processes in the human body, and his previous negative thoughts, emotions and feelings accumulated over his life , are transformed into that pure Light of Love, which gives life and heals everything around with its very presence.

12:10 Verse ten:

> And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven: Now has come salvation and power and the kingdom of our God and the power of His Christ, because the slanderer of our brethren is cast out, who slandered them before our God day and night.

This talks about the recognition of our spiritual achievements by our Consultant Angels, who helped us incarnate and by our Guardian Angel - that curator from the spiritual world that almost every person has. This recognition of a person’s merits and strengthening him on the path of development of the Spirit occurs every time a person overthrows and defeats the dragon within himself.

The voice of the Angels manifests itself in the soul with jubilation, delight, a feeling of inspiration and love for everything around us. This serves as confirmation that a person is on the true path and is a sign of approval of his actions, feelings and thoughts from the Higher Levels of the spiritual world.

The text lists the consequences of spiritual growth, the process of which was described above. This is the transition of the spirit to a new level of vibration (salvation), an increase by God in the energy potential given for incarnation (the power of God), voluntary recognition of the will of God as the basis of one's activities (the kingdom of God) and greater freedom for creativity and manifestation of oneself in this world (the power of Christ) , which can be translated as " freedom of Christ " (Greek "exousia").

Here the brothers of Angels are understood as spirits embodied in the material world, and under the image of the slanderer there is hidden a feeling of guilt before God, which comes from the awareness of one's imperfection before Him - due to the contradictions between the instinctive part of the spirit (the dragon) and the Higher Self (Michael). This awareness of one's own imperfection is the leading hidden or obvious feeling when turning to God and receiving a response from Him in any form - in that phase of spiritual growth when the first victory over one's own dragon is still ahead.

Of course, in the future, periods of aggravated feelings of guilt and sinfulness are inevitable, especially if the self-realized spirit again temporarily gives control of itself to the dragon, but never again is this feeling as sad and hopeless as during the period of spiritual blindness and deafness of the spirit.

MidgasCaus - specialist in biology and psychology, planet Esler.

The transcript was corrected with the help of Archangel Raphael.

May, 2020

June 15, 2022

Interpretation of the APOCALYPSE of John the Theologian or the book of Revelation of Jesus Christ (chapter 12, verses 11-12)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-apokalipsisa-glava-12-stihi-11-12

Revelation of John the Evangelist, chapter 12, verses 11-12:

> 12:11 They overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony, and did not love their own lives even to death.
>
> 12:12 Rejoice therefore, O heavens, and ye that dwell in them! Woe to those who live on land and sea! because the devil has come down to you in great rage, knowing that he has little time left.

This text describes in figurative form the consequences of spiritual growth for the spirit embodied in the dense physical form of an earthly person. The " blood of the Lamb " here refers to the energy of life that manifests itself through unconditional, pure, absolute love. This love is able to tolerate the shortcomings of others without judging, to give its warmth, its time, all of itself, without feeling like a victim of circumstances and without expecting anything in return.

This is how the love of a child for his mother, an animal for his owner, is manifested, the first pure, still reverent feeling of a young man for his girlfriend, combined with reverence, a desire to make happy, but at the same time with an amazing sense of his dignity and equality, arising from a deep understanding of his unity with your loved one.

The energy of love has many manifestations in the hearts of people of all ages, and it is very important to respect it both in yourself and in others - only then will it become a source of eternal happiness and following the path of truth into the infinite Light, one of the manifestations of which is the material world. Only through love and witnessing it to others can one defeat the dragon of instinctive feelings and passions in oneself, including the instinct of self-preservation, which in its full manifestation can completely suppress the spiritual nature with the fear of death of one's temporary physical body.

This fear keeps in slavish submission the embodied spirits who have not realized themselves as the Eternal Light of Love. It forces them to lower their vibrations at any mention of death and deprives them of their will in moments of difficult and dangerous situations, and the ability to take clear, organized and fruitful actions. The phrase " they did not love their souls even to death " speaks about this state . These words do not speak of neglect of physical life or dislike of oneself. They talk about victory over the instinctive part of the soul, one of the manifestations of which is the fear of death.

After first realizing his spiritual essence as the true reality of his existence, a person experiences joy and delight in connecting with his Higher Self in the spiritual world, here called " heaven ". However, the negative manifestations of the instinctive part of the soul, here called " the devil ", continue to influence the etheric and physical bodies, designated here under the symbols of "sea and earth".

This happens because low vibrations, generated by a distorted understanding of one's feelings, emotions and instincts, cause blockages of energies in the etheric field of a person's aura, which, in the absence of awareness and work on their transformation into high vibrations of Light and Love, cause disturbances in the physical body.

It is the low-vibration strong energies that are called here " the rage of the devil ," which is ready to destroy everyone around and even oneself for the sake of preserving the picture of the world that is familiar to oneself and one's favorite ideals. This is the rage and anger of the instinctive part of the soul, defending its right to life in a state of inertia and rejection of unusual or unwanted forms of appearance, character, behavior and other qualities of living beings, natural phenomena and society - or oneself.

But if the development of love in the soul continues, then the inner devil really has little time left to rule over its temporary manifestations - ethereal and physical. Indeed, with increasing awareness of the perception of oneself and the world around, with the growth of one's vibrations, all blocks in the etheric-astral fields dissolve, and the energy spent on their creation and maintenance will be directed to strengthening the health of the physical body, extending its lifespan and working on materialization in the physical reality of your bright dreams, desires and feelings. This is how the dense material world is transformed into a high-vibration space while completely preserving its nature.

MidgasCaus - specialist in biology and psychology, planet Esler.

The transcript was corrected with the help of Archangel Raphael.

May, 2020

June 15, 2022

Who is God as perceived by Christ?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kto-takoj-bog-v-vospriyatii-hrista

Dear Jesus, please tell me how you could describe for us in words, maybe not so realistically, but nevertheless, our Creator - the Creator of all things? Who is the Creator for you, and how could you generally describe Him?

To describe it in very simple words, this is my own thought about Existence, changed in the Absolute. All that you can think about Him is that you can think (only) about some of His qualities. Any word you can use to call God - you name (only) one of His energies, but even I do not know all of them. It's not that (I) don't know, but that I can't grasp it with my mind, although my experience and my energy vibrations can simultaneously hold many things in different Galaxies and solve different problems in both the spiritual and material worlds. But even I cannot capture even a tenth of His energies. When you look at some object, you see a small particle of His energies. When you look at a mountain, it is a small particle of His energy; when you look at the Sun, it is a larger particle of His energy. But on the scale of the Divine Mind this difference is insignificant. When you look at your body, it is also a particle of your energy, and when you focus on your thought, it is a particle of Himself. The Creator of all that exists is you, elevated to the Absolute. You have an understanding of "exponentiation". If all qualities are multiplied, turned into Light and raised to the absolute degree, this will be the Creator of all that exists.

Jesus Christ is the head of the Christian religious egregor on Earth (and not only), the Firstborn "son" of the Creator (the first Spirit to begin an individual existence, separated from the Creator).

April 2021

June 17, 2022

Mantras "OM" and "Amen"

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/mantry-om-i-amin

Any mantra, prayer in any language has its own energy component. This energy component consists, if you say it out loud, of sound waves that travel through space through the air.

The sound wave is perceived as vibrations of the atoms of the substance that makes up the gas in the air, then passes to the subtle material level. Sound energy is always charged with the feelings, emotions and thoughts of the person speaking. If he read it with faith and love, then the mantra/prayer will have light power; if he read it just like that, then it is just a sound that will dissipate in space, like the sound of a bell, which has no meaning.

Therefore, the Apostle Paul said these words:

> “If I speak in the tongues of men and of angels, but do not have love, then I am a ringing brass and a clanging cymbal.”

As for the mantra “OM”, “Amen” and “OM” come from the same word, which has become a root in many modern languages. This word was still in the Proto-Indo-European language . "Om" and "Am" consist of two letters. Many letters were made up of runes, and runes could represent combinations of words. The syllables “Om, Am, Im” originally denoted such a concept as Divine Mind .

If there is a vowel before the letter “m”, then this word denotes reason, meaning, thought .

If you look at the word “Amen b ”, you will see that there is a soft sign at the end. In the past there was no soft sign, but it was not placed by chance. There is no word “Amin” that could be decomposed into Am and I. At the end there is a soft sign that shows us that we need to decompose differently. The syllable “Am”, then the letter “i”, then separately the letter “n”. If we decipher everything in the modern sense, then the word “Amen” meant at that time

"Divine Mind manifested in energy."

The word "Om", with which many mantras began, meant an appeal to the Divine Mind, one of the weak reflections of which was the human mind that pronounces this mantra.

Timecode: 57:56, #446 Live broadcast with Archangel Metatron. Part 1

Archangel Metatron is the head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Spiritual World of the Milky Way Galaxy, the ruler of the Jewish and Christian egregors on planet Earth.

May, 2022

June 22, 2022

Interpretation of the APOCALYPSE of John the Theologian or the book of Revelation of Jesus Christ (chapter 12, verses 13-14)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-apokalipsisa-glava-12-stihi-13-14

Revelation of John the Evangelist, chapter 12, verses 13-14:

> 12:13 When the dragon saw that he was cast out to the earth, he began to pursue the woman, who had given birth to a male child.
>
> 12:14 And the woman was given two wings of a great eagle, that she might fly into the wilderness to her place from the face of the serpent, and there be fed for a time, and times, and half a time.

These verses talk about the next stages of the path of spiritual development that every incarnated spirit goes through after the first experience of Enlightenment or spiritual revelation.

Any energy and emotional upsurge is inevitably followed by a decline, both in emotions and in vitality. This allows the body to gain energy, and the spirit to evaluate and rationalize the received experience of Light, that is, to harmonize it with the reality of the world manifested in matter.

Here we describe in figurative form the action of the instinctive area of our spirit, which we receive from plasmoid civilizations that control natural processes on a particular planet.

All intelligent spirits who have gone through at least one incarnation in dense material worlds on any planet have instincts. They testify to the experience of living in bodies that developed from animal life forms in the process of evolution.

Embedded instincts are a fairly powerful potential source of energy, which by its nature tends to expand and fill the entire spiritual heart of the embodied entity. If the spirit embodied in the human body lives almost exclusively by the needs of the body and its pleasures, then instincts very easily seize control over it and encourage it to live and develop in the material world, without consciously perceiving the Energy of the Source of Everything in the spiritual worlds.

But after the first experience of merging a person with his inner Light, everything changes: the awakened mind of the spirit finds itself in the center of its spiritual heart and displaces the instinctive force from there to the periphery, into the unconscious part of the psyche, which in this text is figuratively described through the overthrow of the dragon to the ground.

The earth here refers to the human body - the densest part of the embodied spirit.

But instinctive nature, due to its inertia, again and again makes attempts to regain power over the spirit, which manifests itself in various, often negative, desires, feelings and emotions, which is spoken of in symbolic form in these verses of the Revelation of John the Theologian.

Let's look at these symbols in more detail: the dragon is understood as our instinctive nature, the wife is the embodied soul, and the spirit is the spiritual fruit of love for everyone and the Light.

So, the instinctive force expelled from the central region of the spiritual heart begins to pursue with its memories, fears, anger and other low-vibrational states the soul (wife) with a man (spiritual fruit), but if the soul sincerely asks for help and protection from God, then it will feel freedom and joy.

God gives the soul the opportunity to spread its wings, one of which is symbolized by Absolute Trust in God, and the second by Absolute Selfless Love. Only on such wings can the soul fly away from the uncontrolled manifestations of its instinctive nature.

The desert symbolizes the complete spiritual loneliness of people who sincerely strive for spiritual development in the Pure Light of Truth. Often such people are incomprehensible and even strange to their family and friends, and everything strange and incomprehensible causes rejection and irritation in many, due to an exaggerated and misdirected instinct of self-preservation.

The expression “a time, times and half a time” denotes a strictly individual period of the first decline in spiritual inspiration, which usually follows a person’s awakening to spiritual life. The very concept of “time” for the spiritual world is very speculative and approximate; it reflects the flow of individual perception by each intelligent spiritual entity of its thoughts, feelings and states.

There are only three periods of the streams of perception in this endless river of eternity: “time”, “times” and “half-time”. They denote the gradual immersion of the embodied part of the spirit in the vibrations of the spiritual world, in the Light of one’s own Higher Self.

In the first period, the spirit is still configured to perceive linear time as a series of changes flowing with it from the past to the future, bypassing the present. This is the simultaneous presence of consciousness at two vibration frequencies at once: the material world and the spiritual.

The second period is characterized by a complete disconnection from the sensations of linear time and the material world. This is merging with your inner Light and dissolving in it, while maintaining self-awareness. The linear time of the material world is perceived in this state as a continuous tape of the past, present and future, which is outside its field of perception. This state in the flow of the Creator's Light is accurately conveyed here by the word "times," which emphasizes the continuous perception of the current flow of time in the dynamics of spirit consciousness.

The third period is called here "half-time". This means focusing the spirit's attention on a specific segment of the time line in the material world from which it came out in its consciousness. This state is characterized by the perception of individual fragments of linear time. Often they are perceived all together and at the same time, which, in the absence of proper experience and training, can cause disorganization of consciousness, which is accompanied by a negative emotional reaction.

A decrease in vibrations in the flow of Light almost immediately causes a disconnection from the spiritual channel and the return of the consciousness of the embodied part of the spirit to the normal state of perception of oneself, one's body and the material world.

Fear here serves as a protective mechanism of the self-preservation instinct against new unusual states of consciousness.

If the third period of connection with the Higher Self is experienced with complete trust and love, without a decrease in vibrations, then the return to the normal state of consciousness occurs gradually, while maintaining access to the spiritual channel at any time.

John the Theologian emphasizes the meaning of the spirit being in these three streams of communication with the Higher Self - the nourishment of the soul. And this is a true spiritual law for all intelligent spirits, because just as a body without physical food first gets sick and then dies, so a spirit without the Light of Divine Love first develops vices and negative qualities in itself, and then reduces its vibrations, moving away from God, as Source of Life.

This state of rejection from our Heavenly Father and Creator of the entire Universe is called "spiritual death" in the Christian egregor.

Archangel Michael is the guardian of the Christian egregor, a disembodied spirit from the 24th level, the main curator of the Earth in the spiritual world.

June 29, 2022

Interpretation of the APOCALYPSE of John the Theologian or the book of Revelation of Jesus Christ (chapter 12, verses 15-17)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-apokalipsisa-glava-12-stihi-15-17

The twelfth chapter of the Revelation of John the Theologian ends with the following verses:

> 12:15 And the serpent sent water like a river out of his mouth after the woman, that he might carry her away with the river.
>
> 12:16 But the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up the river which the dragon sent out of his mouth.
>
> 12:17 And the dragon was angry with the woman, and went to make war with the rest of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus Christ.

This talks about the next stage of adaptation of a person with an awakened spirit to the reality of the material world around him and the energies of his own body.

The success of a person's spiritual development in earthly incarnation depends on the correct passage of this stage.

The symbol of the serpent here refers to the instinctive nature of the spirit, which seeks to manifest its energy in the material world, which is characteristic of all types of material and spiritual energies, inclined by their nature to constantly expand themselves in the world.

This occurs due to the origin of all energies from the Divine Mind of our Heavenly Father, who is omnipresent.

One of the instinctive energies of a person is called sexual energy or libido.

It allows us to give birth to our own kind on Earth and helps us show love to our spouse through the physical body. Libido is one of the creative Divine Energies, the conscious management of which will allow you to feel like a god and see the people around you in the united Light of the Creator's Love.

But before managing this energy, a person needs to harmonize it with his spiritual energies, which come to him from God through the Higher Self.

To achieve this result, you need to give your body the opportunity to freely express this energy, consciously directing it only for good, only for creation, for the development and strengthening of creative abilities and strengthening contact with the Higher Self and with all light curators and mentors.

This text from the Revelation of John the Theologian examines precisely this moment.

Here water is understood as the flow of sexual energy directed by the instinctive part of a person into the conscious part of his soul. This is done because of the natural tendency of any energy to expand endlessly and does not carry any malicious intent or attempt to reduce spiritual vibrations.

With an incorrect reaction to this energy, suppressed sexual desire arises, which causes a constant desire for bodily pleasures, and due to the delay in the implementation of such desires, recognized as natural needs, hidden anger or sadness and despondency arise, depending on the type of personality and general character structure .

The correct reaction to the manifestation of libido is respect for this energy as a form of love of the Creator and its mental direction for creative purposes, that is, for a gentle and patient attitude towards loved ones, for enjoying all manifestations of the material world and gratitude for them to the Creator of the worlds and for the development of the spiritual love for yourself, for God and for all people.

During such practice, the body comes to the aid of the soul and absorbs all the libido energy sent by the instinctive principle and transforms it into the energy of growth and development of all organs of the body, into the energy of immunity and cleansing of toxins and into the energy of youth and harmony of all hormonal systems of the body among themselves.

Having not received the usual outlet through the realization of sexual desire, the libido energy begins to be excited even more and causes corresponding images and thoughts in the human mind, which is conveyed here by the words “the snake was angry with his wife,” and the mental images created by instinct begin to fight in the human mind with those values and moral installations that limit libidinal energy to at least some extent.

John the Theologian conveyed this as the struggle of the serpent with the rest of the offspring of the soul (the seed of the woman), who have the testimony of Jesus Christ (that is, spiritual love) in themselves and preserve the commandments of God about the inadmissibility of showing their instincts to the detriment of spiritual development and love for God and for others.

The inability to properly manage libido energy and a lack of understanding of its nature and true value leads to the emergence of many diseases of the earthly race, both physical and mental, and also causes family quarrels, discord, divorces and other tragedies.

All this leads to the destabilization of society, to a deterioration in the overall indicators of physical, mental and genetic health in the human population and, ultimately, to a decrease in the general vibrations of the noosphere of planet Earth, which makes it impossible for your world to join the interstellar union.

Only you yourself can radically change the situation by disseminating the true knowledge about the energy of libido, laid down by your spiritual teachers in all the Holy Scriptures of earthly religions and mystical movements.

Mirrah Count is a political scientist and religious psychologist, a specialist in the formation of religious and political egregors in third-density worlds that are not included in the interstellar union and are at any level of social, scientific and technical development, the planet Burkhad.

August, 2020

July 8, 2022

Interpretation of the APOCALYPSE of John the Theologian or the book of Revelation of Jesus Christ (chapter 13, verses 1-2)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-apokalipsisa-glava-13-stihi-1-2

Interpretation of the Revelation of John the Theologian, chapter 13, verses 1-2:

Rev.13:1 And I stood on the sand of the sea, and I saw a beast come up out of the sea, having seven heads and ten horns: on his horns were ten crowns, and on his heads were names of blasphemy.

Rev.13:2 The beast which I saw was like a leopard; His legs are like those of a bear, and his mouth is like the mouth of a lion; and the dragon gave him his strength and his throne and great authority.

Interpretation:

This chapter begins with a description of one of the astral travels of John the Theologian. All his visions occurred while his spirit was in the Christian egregor, next to his curators from the spiritual world. On this journey, he was shown one of the possible scenarios for the future of earthly civilization.

The symbol of the sea in the Bible, especially in the visions of the prophets, most often denotes the worlds of thin-material (plasmoid) civilizations. The analogy here is quite clear: if we look at planet Earth from the outside, we can see that it consists of three spheres, “shells” or spaces: the hydrosphere (ocean), lithosphere (land) and atmosphere (air, visible firmament).

Similarly, the Universe consists of a spiritual world (which is symbolized in the Bible by Heaven), a subtle material world (which is symbolized by sea or water, as an intermediate state of matter) and a dense material world (which is symbolized by earth or dry land, as the densest and heaviest “shell” of the planet).

So, the Apostle John, being in the astral body, looked from the astral world to the subtle world (in the text this state is designated “sand of the sea”) and the Guardian Angels of the Christian egregor showed him one of the negative options for the development of events on Earth.

What did he see? Before him appeared a huge animal with seven heads and ten horns, with a wreath (diadem) on each of the horns.

Since this animal came out of the sea, it has nothing to do with real animals or people, but denotes destructive types of fine-material (plasmoid) civilizations.

The seven heads of the animal symbolize the ability of each plasmoid civilization to create a subtle-energy communication channel (“binding”) at the level of any of the seven energy centers (chakras) of a person, depending on the type of vibrations of its world and the individual characteristics of the person’s aura.

It is also not surprising that the symbolism of horns is used to designate plasmoid civilizations, because horns are the most ancient symbol of subtle creatures that have come into contact with shamans, priests and sorcerers since the most ancient times of humanity. People deified their subtle mentors, worshiped them, prayed and made sacrifices.

In the ancient mythology of earthly peoples, a whole pantheon of horned gods and goddesses is known, depicted in the images in which they were remembered by their ancient contactees and their descendants...

The attraction of plasmoids to such images is also quite understandable, because during astral contacts with earthlings they often took the form of animals living next to humans, because they created their souls and often fed on the energy of their bodies, sacrificed by people to their ancient gods.

The number ten always symbolizes in the visions of the biblical prophets that spiritual Light that creates the material worlds, that is, the Divine Energies manifested in action. This is the number of creativity, inspiration and beauty, and also signifies sunlight. In this text, it emphasizes the divine beauty and creative abilities of even types of plasmoid civilizations that are destructive to people. This is also not surprising, because they incarnate the same eternal, rational and free spirits like us, called to be like God, but for various reasons they ceased to correctly perceive His Light and Love and created idols from themselves for themselves and for people, their deifying.

The tiaras (wreaths) on the animal's horns precisely symbolize the energies of human love, worship and admiration directed at representatives of many plasmoid civilizations.

The blasphemous names written on the heads of the animal symbolize seven types of negative energies, which can become the energetic basis for creating channels-links of destructive subtle-material civilizations to each of the seven human energy centers.

The basis of energy blocks in the chakras

Fear of death, fear of losing a loved one.

Lust, jealousy, greed.

Anxiety, doubts and self-doubt.

Resentment, envy, anger.

Suppressed irritation, doubts about the path of life.

Sadness, despondency, fear of spiritual development, fear of the unknown.

Lack of faith in God, pride, arrogance.

All other features of the animal also indicate the nature of destructive plasmoid civilizations, which can have a negative impact on the fate of humanity and individuals.

The resemblance to a leopard (panther in the original) means the hidden aggression and cunning of these creatures. Representatives of the cat family are beautiful and graceful, their soft fur and gentle purring can create the appearance of their harmlessness and peacefulness, but people are well aware of their sharp teeth and claws, as well as their ruthlessness and cruelty during hunting.

Representatives of destructive plasmoid civilizations can also appear before their contactees in the image of good and bright beings, defenders of truth and Light, but their true essence is well recognized by their actions and speeches, which are far from Divine Love for all Beings and humility, a sign of real strength and a sense of self dignity.

The bear in ancient mythology signified power and brute force aimed at changing the world around us in one’s own interests. Relying on the legs of a bear means that to promote their ideas around the world, destructive plasmoids easily use violence and suppression of dissenters, up to and including energy attacks or even inciting their contactees to physical aggression.

In the ideas of the ancient peoples of the Earth, the lion almost always signified royal power.

The image of a lion's mouth on an animal symbolizes the peculiarity of the information transmitted by destructive plasmoid civilizations to their contactees.

This feature is that it contains confidence and inflexibility, characteristic more of political directives and instructions than of religious and philosophical doctrines, most often transmitted by representatives of the Angelic Levels of the spiritual world, as well as the creative forces of the Cosmos and the Subtle World. This similarity between the ideas of destructive plasmoids and political manifestos and calls is further enhanced by the tendency of such subtle entities to criticize government and religious structures and their actions, which finds a warm response in the souls of those people who are treated unfairly in this world and who have not received an upbringing since childhood in the spirit of love, forgiveness and patience.

Many people with this type of character and beliefs allow destructive plasmoids to quickly gain their supporters and form strong egregors in the astral sphere of the planet.

This poses a danger to the entire earthly civilization, but we must remember that in the Divine Reality there is nothing stronger than Love and Light. And for destructive plasmoid civilizations and often acting in their interests, and with them for demons, the opportunity for such actions is given by people themselves.

And this is well shown in the last sentence of the text proposed for interpretation.

It is the dragon (the instinctive power of the human soul) that gives the animal (destructive plasmoid civilizations) the life force of a person, the throne in his soul (the ability for their energies and bindings to be in the aura) and power over his will.

As soon as the consciousness of such a contactee comes into conscious contact with his Higher Self, his spiritual mind will gain power over his instinctive nature and the ability to interrupt all channels of communication with plasmoid civilizations and negative entities.

Archangel Raphael is a disembodied spirit, the guardian of the Christian egregor.

Li Shioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the study of the astral world and its interaction with the material.

September, 2020

July 13, 2022

Interpretation of the APOCALYPSE of John the Theologian or the book of Revelation of Jesus Christ (chapter 13, verses 3-5)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-apokalipsisa-glava-13-stihi-3-5

Interpretation on Revelation of John the Theologian, chapter 13, verses 3-5:

> Rev.13:3 And I saw that one of his heads was as if mortally wounded, but the mortal wound was healed. And all the earth marveled as they watched the beast, and they worshiped the dragon, who had given power to the beast,
>
> Rev. 13:4 And they worshiped the beast, saying, Who is like this beast? and who can fight him?
>
> Rev.13:5 And a mouth was given to him speaking great things and blasphemies, and authority was given to him to continue for forty-two months.

This text raises a very important topic - the restoration of negative plasmoid channels (“bindings”) after their elimination.

Understanding the nature of this process is especially important for the inhabitants of your planet, because the special DNA structure characteristic of your race determines the easy formation of conditioned reflexes and limiting programs written in biochemical language into the neural network of the brain and influencing the behavior of the intelligent Spirit.

Thanks to this feature, an intelligent spiritual entity that incarnates on Earth has the opportunity to accumulate many positive qualities for future incarnations and life in the spiritual world.

But with initially negative attitudes in a person's subconscious, his body can turn from an ally on the path to spiritual perfection into an enemy...

So, in the analyzed text we see a description of the healing of the " head of the beast " and the further actions of this mysterious creature. As mentioned earlier, the book of Revelation of John the Theologian is written in the language of allegories and metaphors, which is typical for the mystical literature of that time.

The decipherment was known only to a limited circle of ancient Christians, whose consciousness was ready for such information.

The word " earth " here refers to the physical body of a person, and the image of the head of an animal is understood as a connection to the negative plasmoid worlds.

When a person increases his energetic vibrations, the attachments to low-vibration plasmoid worlds are cut off and the flow of human vital energy, which parasitic species of plasmoids may have been feeding on for a long time, is blocked.

Naturally, many of them cannot come to terms with this and send bad thoughts into the mental field of their former victim.

If a person is not careful in his thoughts and does not dissolve negativity in the light of love, he will again lower his vibrations and his former curators will quickly restore the connections, making them even stronger and more energy-saturated to prevent a repeat break.

This process is here indicated by the healing of the mortal wound of the beast.

Restoring a negative attachment greatly affects the state of the physical body. In the text we see this behind the words “ and the whole earth was surprised .”

The earth is a symbol of the physical body, and the verb “ to be surprised ” just means a sharp change in vibration, by analogy with the emotion of surprise that arises as a reaction to a sudden event and sharply changes the radiation of the astral body.

The word “ following ” was not in the original Greek of this text; it originally looked like this:

> "And the whole earth was amazed by the beast"

Here it is clearly seen that the “ surprise of the earth ” (change in body vibrations) followed “ the beast ,” which means the vibrations of the human body are approaching the vibrations of its subtle-material curators.

This is a mandatory and mutual adaptation process between humans and plasmoids, allowing them to live in close connection and more or less harmoniously interact with each other.

Worship of the earth (body) by the dragon, and then by the beast, means the subordination of the physical and energetic structures of a person to his own instinctive programs and new energies, feelings and thoughts of plasmoids - parasites.

This manifests itself in the form of causeless anxiety, panic attacks, nightmares and a feeling of the unreality of the world around us or the alienness of one’s body.

The question is “ who is like this beast and who can fight with it?” “- this is a sign of admiration for the intelligent plasmoids that glow brightly in the astral plane.

They often evoke feelings of fear and self-worship.

Sometimes their veneration by contactees can reach the level of deification, which reduces a person's vibrations and fences Him off from the Divine Light.

The consequences of restoring communication with low-vibration plasmoid worlds are manifested primarily in the speech of such a contactee.

He begins to speak solemnly and at the same time with slight irritation and condemnation of those who do not agree with his ideas.

The text of Revelation says this:

> "And a mouth was given to him (the contactee) speaking proudly and blasphemously"...

In the original Greek, in place of the word " proudly " there is the word " megala ", the usual translation of which is " big, huge, great ," which emphasizes the significance of the speech of such a person.

Although his words contain a huge meaning, due to the peculiarities of their worldview, plasmoids - parasites very often treat the physical body and all its natural needs (hunger, sleep, sex) with contempt. For this reason, contactees with them often condemn their body and natural instincts, not seeing and not accepting the Divine Light in them.

Rejecting the energy of God in the body and in any material actions, such people do not accept God Himself, which is called " blasphemy " in the text of Revelation.

The symbol of the month (Moon) in mystical biblical texts refers to the astral world and the astral field of man, and the number 42, according to the laws of numerology, means connection with the material world and love for it.

4 - symbol of the material world,

2 - connection symbol, and the sum of these numbers (6) is a symbol of love

Thus, the words “ Given to him (man) the power to act for forty-two months ” indicate the possibility for such a contactee to remain with a negative channel to plasmoids as long as love for something in the material world remains in his heart, exceeding the love for God , to the development of your spirit and to the happiness of other people.

Plasmoids - parasites can attach a attachment to the aura of only those people who have a strong attraction to material things and pleasures, combined with hidden self-condemnation of such desires and open condemnation of people like themselves, in order to protect themselves as much as possible from suspicion of this.

Condemnation is a form of protecting one’s illusory attitudes and ideas about the world, which comes from fear of the wrath of God and the reluctance to develop in oneself love and acceptance of the world as the Absolute Mind created it.

Togul Prime is a specialist in the study of parasitic plasmoid civilizations, resonant in frequencies with anthropomorphic types of humanoids, planet Tikht.

Archangel Raphael is the curator of the galactic medical service, the mentor of healers of the Milky Way Galaxy and the Guardian of the Christian egregor and the egregor of healing systems on planet Earth.

October, 2020

July 15, 2022

Wang about the quantum transition on Earth until 2024

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vanga-o-kvantovom-perekhode-na-zemle

Now, at this time, in this stream of time, one of the phases of obligatory events is happening in your world, which are revealed during the transition to another level of awareness of the entire civilization. You call this a " quantum transition ". A very accurate name. Quanta raise their vibrations and move to another level. The physical body itself and all the physical nature surrounding it remain physical, but at a different level of vibration. The body cannot move alone without the nature surrounding it, because it is part of nature.

I looked at the probabilities of events from my life, when I was incarnated on Earth. I saw just the probability of events when people die from epidemics, from hunger, from wars with each other, from civil wars, unrest. This was visible from the Spiritual world. Now this is partially beginning to materialize. Therefore, I, together with Zaliatar, came to Irina and told her about this.

One of the active phases of the quantum transition has now begun. All contradictions on Earth have intensified. All disasters, epidemics, and so on are a sign that your civilization is not learning a spiritual lesson. But there is only one spiritual lesson - the development of Love and tolerance for oneself, for all people .

And that disease, that microorganism that periodically torments many earthlings, Zaliatar explained to me in scientific language what this microorganism is, I saw its mutations on a spiritual level. He explained to me what mutations are. I want to say that the mutations that occur in this microorganism are only a consequence of negative energies that emanate from your Souls: condemnation, fear, anger, distrust of yourself, distrust of God, the world, etc.

Your scientists would have long ago received the answer to what medicine to defeat this disease; this remedy exists. But the Spiritual world does not give them the opportunity to give this answer. Receiving an answer will not allow you to go through this lesson yourself, to unite with each other with your high pure vibrations in this situation for the people when they are in distress. And defeat this disease ourselves.

In the Time Tape it is clear that by the new year 2024, those Spirits who could not remove the blocks from their Souls, negative beliefs that prevent them from remaining in the new reality that will be after 2024, will leave their incarnation. This is a quantum transition. And this virus, microorganism, and many diseases in general, including cancer, are a symbol of the fact that a person (if many people are sick, then the whole civilization) has a low level of awareness of reality.

Now the task of all earthlings is to unite in order to survive and continue the development of their civilization.

It is necessary to forgive, firstly, yourself, your neighbors, everyone who has offended you, be it your boss or your rulers - forgive everyone. Send the Light of Love to everyone. Forgive yourself for all negative feelings.

Related video: #355 Live broadcast. Communication with the Spirit of Vanga.

The Spirit of Vanga is a disembodied Spirit, embodied on Earth by the Bulgarian soothsayer Vanga (Vangelia).

October, 2021

July 19, 2022

Interpretation of Psalm 22. Metatron

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-22-psalma

When I was incarnated in the body of the Israeli King David, one of the manifestations of my Divine abilities was poetry and musical creativity. Based on the spiritual songs I created, the book of Psalms was later compiled, which in the modern Bible is called the Psalter.

In this article I wish to tell you the true meaning of the twenty-second psalm from this book.

I created it back in those years of King David's life, when I lived in the house of my physical father Jesse and was doing housework, caring for the numerous large and small livestock in our farmstead.

At that time, I loved to contemplate natural landscapes, seeing in them the beauty of the Divine Spirit manifested in matter.

Even then I was a contactee with Yahweh, an alien from the planet Tumesout, but I perceived Him as my God, for I felt that His Spirit was always One with the Spirit of the Heavenly Father.

The meaning of the twenty-second psalm is very simple: it is an expression of feelings from friendship with Yahweh and merging with the natural elements, which for me even then were manifestations of Divine energies, and therefore the forces of the Soul of Yahweh, my beloved friend and mentor.

The original text of this psalm made no mention of the shepherd or enemies. Hebrew is a language rich in words that are identical in spelling, but with different meanings, so the accuracy of translation from Hebrew into other languages depends not so much on a good knowledge of both languages, but on the presence of spiritual intuition and purity of contact with the Spark of God within oneself.

In this interpretation, I will explain to you the meaning of the words that I myself intended when writing it.

The numbering of verses is given according to the Synodal translation.

1. THE LORD IS MY SHEPHERD; AND I WILL NOT NEED ANYTHING.

The word translated here as "Shepherd" has two meanings: "shepherd" and "close friend." This is not surprising, given the reverent attitude of the Jewish people towards livestock, which served as a symbol of wealth and prosperity.

I used this word to mean "close friend", expressing my feelings towards Yahweh. I never felt Him rising above me or trying to control my will, so I could not put the meaning of “shepherd” into this word.

The verb, which is translated into Russian as “I will not need,” was written in the present tense, not in the future. Thus, in the first verse of the twenty-second Psalm it was written:

"Yahweh is my close friend and I do not need anything."

In these words I put a feeling of gratitude to God for what I had at that moment in time. Although I then lived in a poor family and worked hard, my Heavenly Father was always nearby, and the feeling of His presence was so clear and bright that it gave no place in my heart to feelings of envy and grumbling about fate because of my material and social situation.

Even then it was clear to me: if a person keeps his spiritual heart pure, then it generates high vibrations, from being in which the Spirit feels eternal unconditional happiness, which does not depend on any material acquisitions and cannot be overshadowed by losses.

2. HE MAKES ME LET ME IN GOLDEN PADDLES AND LEADS ME TO THE STILL WATERS.

The word translated here as “pasture” has a second meaning: “house, dwelling.” The ancient Jews often lived on pastures, next to their livestock, in small huts, hence the merging of the meanings of these words.

The word translated "grass" means "good green grass," and the word translated "rest" means "to lie down, to rest."

The word “He” was not in the text of this verse.

The expression “leads me to still waters” did not exist in this place either. I wrote an expression that can be correctly translated into Russian as “I go to water as to a place of peace.”

Thus, the second verse of Psalm 23, when translated into Russian, would look like this:

“(I) rest on the green grass and go to the water as a place of peace.”

In these words, in addition to the obvious admiration for nature, there is a second subtext. Green grass is a symbol of the opening of the fourth energy center, which manifests the spiritual heart through the physical body of the embodied immortal entity.

Remembering that its full disclosure is impossible without filling the spiritual heart with love, you will easily see the meaning of the water symbol. It means here the spiritual purity of the heart.

Thus, the hidden meaning of this verse shows that a person with an open heart energy center is in a state of spiritual purity, peace and harmony.

3. SUPPORTS MY SOUL, DIRECTS ME ON THE PATH OF RIGHTEOUSNESS FOR HIS NAME'S SAKE.

The word that is rendered in the Synodal translation as "reinforces" in Hebrew has always meant "to bring back."

So a more correct translation of this verse would be:

“My Soul returns and leads me along the path of righteousness (justice, fidelity, honesty).”

Here I talked about how, after being in wonderful spiritual states, my soul returned to the body again and led me, as a whole person, along the path of righteousness. Righteousness is the pursuit of holiness, and holiness is the highest realization of Divine light possible for people on Earth.

It is very important for each person to understand that he is both a body and a Soul at the same time, but the Soul has priority over the body, because all the atoms in physical space were formed from spiritual energies, descending gradually through subtle planes into the physical Universe.

4. IF I WALK THROUGH THE VALLEY OF THE SHADOW OF DEATH, I WILL FEAR NO EVIL, FOR YOU ARE WITH ME; YOUR ROD AND YOUR STAFF - THEY COMFORT ME.

The valleys of the shadow of death in Israel were called wetlands, of which there were quite a lot in this area in ancient times. These were lowlands that were often filled with fog in the early morning, making navigation difficult and creating the danger of falling into a deep quagmire and drowning. Therefore, it was believed that the shadow of death often wanders through such places, looking for a new victim.

Moving through the swamps without a reliable staff was deadly. The staff carefully examined the area of the ground on which it was necessary to place the foot. A deep quagmire is often deceptive:

trouble can be hidden under the green carpet of young grass.

I knew this very well when I was in the incarnation of David, because hundreds of times I had to walk through the swamps, looking for suitable pasture for goats and sheep. Therefore, at this point I mentioned that it is safe to walk in the swamp only with a cane.

There were no words “because You are with me.” God sees every person in any space and moment of time, because His energies are everywhere, but this is not a reason not to take care of your own safety. Each embodied Spirit is responsible for its own body, as for a part of its own being. I understood this in that life already at the age of ten and therefore believed in the protection and mercy of God, but I did not forget to take a strong staff with me when I went to the swamp.

5. YOU HAVE PREPARED A MEAL BEFORE ME IN THE SIGHT OF MY ENEMIES; HE ANOINTED MY HEAD WITH OIL; MY CUP IS FULL.

“Enemy” is how the word was translated, which most often denoted an unfree bound person, that is, a prisoner who was in prison.

And the word that is translated in the Synodal version as “prepared” is most often translated into Russian as “arranged, laid out.”

"Anointed with oil" is written in Hebrew with an expression that can be translated as "full of fat." Fatty food was considered at that time the best, nutritious and expensive, so this is how I expressed my intention to feed the hungry not just with food, but with the most valuable food I had.

The last words of this verse in Hebrew are translated into Russian as “the cup is overflowing on the head.” This refers to the full degree of filling with Divine energy of the seventh energy center, which looks like an etheric bowl at the top of the head.

Thus, the fifth verse of the twenty-second psalm, translated in a semantic way into Russian, looks like this:

“I spread food full of fat before the oppressed, and my cup on my head overflowed.”

Here I meant the importance of active charity. When you with all your heart unselfishly desire to feed the hungry, remembering that they are children of the same Heavenly Father whom you love, you attract a huge stream of Divine Grace from the Spiritual World. By doing this, you yourself bring your Enlightenment and merging with the Light of Love closer in this life, using for this the material means that the Creator of the Universe and your Heavenly Father gave you.

6. SO LET GOODNESS AND MERCY FOLLOW ME ALL THE DAYS OF MY LIFE, AND I WILL BE IN THE HOUSE OF THE LORD MANY DAYS.

The meaning of the words of this verse can also be conveyed more correctly. For example, like this:

"Good mercy pursues me throughout the days of my life. I will dwell in the family of Yahweh long."

Here I said that the kindness and mercy of people followed me wherever I was, because from childhood I was under the protection of Yahweh and spiritually lived in His Highest Angelic Family. My entire subsequent life in the body of David was confirmation of these words. Despite the many dangers and misadventures that arose on my way, and despite my common origin in the flesh, God elevated me to the royal throne of one of the great states of that time for almost fifty earthly years.

Archangel Metatron is the head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Spiritual World of the Milky Way Galaxy, the ruler of the Jewish and Christian egregors on planet Earth.

*Archangel Metatron was embodied in King David, who was the author of the Psalter.

July 20, 2022

"Your father is the devil." How is an idol different from God? Trade in temples https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vash-otec-dyavol-chem-idol-otlichaetsya-ot-boga

I told the Jews, “Your father is the devil,” because their vibrations corresponded to hatred, malice, and rejection, which were incompatible with the egregor that I built as Yahweh.

I know this idea that as if I called Yahweh the devil, it turns out that I called myself. I'll explain now.

This conversation took place right after one event (he just showed me a temple, you call it a synagogue, a courtyard filled with animals for sacrifices) and I came there because I often taught people in the temple of Yahweh. I was admitted there as a preacher, since at that time I was also studying to become a rabbi. There were these, as you call them, not courses, but from a priest, from a rabbi, from a teacher, you receive a kind of “initiation.” I received it when I was not yet twenty years old, before baptism.

I came once again to the temple of Yahweh - to the synagogue, and saw that there was a holiday when animal sacrifices were being prepared, the law about which was described to me by Moses and written down by him in the book of Leviticus.

When I arrived there, I saw that in the temple itself, where prayer should take place, the law was being violated: animals were sold that, with their screams and stomping in place, interfere with prayer, and I also saw that in the synagogue there was a special currency, namely temple money , and in order for a believer to be able to buy a lamb, kid or dove for sacrifice, it was necessary to buy it from merchants. They exchanged their money there, which they brought.

I saw and felt the mental atmosphere of this temple. The fact is that money exchangers deceive ordinary believers with the knowledge of the priests and put the wrong money on the scales for them. There were already coins, but they were also weighed on the scales, and all this together gave me the feeling that I had to cleanse this place of these energies.

I looked around, took several ropes lying on the floor, with which I drove the bulls to the exit of the temple, and reminded the priests that the animals should not be inside. Then I approached those who were changing money and said that they should be outside the temple, since only believers in a state of prayer should be here, and not the clinking of coins and these negative thoughts of people who understand that they have been deceived. They were simply afraid to say that they were given too little.

I said:

> "Cleanse the space of my Father's temple."

Why did I say " my Father " and not me? Because I do not separate myself from Him. But they said that I had no right to do this, and then I overturned the tables with their coins, as I felt cleansing energy at that moment.

I did not want to harm these people, but I felt that this space needed to be cleansed of the negative energies that they brought here. And after the guards came running and the senior priests came, I began to tell them from their scriptures those laws that were supposed to be fulfilled in the temple, which they violated. And then they saw that I was not breaking the law, but fulfilling it.

This all happened in front of the people. They understood that they showed their ignorance and non-compliance with the law in front of the people and pretended that they agreed with me, but they harbored resentment and evil within themselves and even then decided to take revenge on me.

And when they asked me why I allowed myself to restore order in this way, I told them that my Father's house should not turn into a house of trade.

I considered and still consider this very important: the space where believers devote themselves to prayer, reflection about God, about their Father, should be free from the energies of the financial egregor. These are egregors that have slightly different vibrations. They can be nearby, but they should not interfere with their energies, distract from thoughts about God, the Spiritual world and cause any unpleasant associations with their life experience.

There must be a temple in the temple. And the house of goods, or trade, or store should be nearby. I told them that this cannot happen in my Father's house, and only then did we start talking about the fact that they are the children of Abraham, therefore they do his works. And in this context, I told them that their father is the devil.

Now tell me, if Yahweh considered the devil, would I call his house the synagogue the house of my Father? I told them about the image that they created for themselves in the place of Yahweh, such an idol, one might say.

How is an idol different from the living God?

It is created by imagination. Some image created by the imagination in the mind and heart of a person, which does not even prescribe any laws of the Spiritual world according to which the vibrations of the Spirit can increase. He simply says that if you have broken the law, then you must make a certain sacrifice to my priests and by this you will be cleansed, not by changing yourself, but by sacrifice.

And this kind of idol, in which there is the energy of both a financial egregor, and a sense of superiority, etc., they created in their hearts, inside the Jewish egregor, such an image of God. And in them, of course, in their minds. And it was this image that I called the devil.

And he continued:

> “He was a murderer from the beginning and did not stand in the truth, for there is no truth in him.”

Why did I call him that? That person, whom I called the devil , did not stand in the truth, although he was very close to me, and we were, in your opinion, spiritual brothers. But he could not resist this truth, he descended in his vibrations, and became a devil. And this image that these priests formed, to whom I said “ your father is the devil ,” this image also led to destruction, to a decrease in vibrations, because it did not allow spiritual development, but simply allowed one to pretend to be pious and calmed the person’s heart by the fact that he leads a righteous religious life.

At the same time, changes not only in behavior, but in these mental attitudes, which led to destruction, to crimes against oneself and loved ones in the absence of love in all forms. It was a religion of self-justification and covering up one’s low vibrational states with the image of God. This was a diabolical idea, because it did not allow us to see the true God, who calls to love, to Light, to self-awareness and to true metanoia, repentance , and, therefore, correction of one’s actions in the Light of God.

Naturally, my beloved son David knew that > sacrifice to God - the Spirit is crushed; God will not despise a broken and humble heart.

This indicated that a thousand years before these priests, David understood that the most important sacrifice is metanoia.

Jesus Christ is the leader, the head of the Christian religious egregor on Earth and not only, the Firstborn Son of God, our Elder Brother.

May, 2021

July 21, 2022

Interpretation of the APOCALYPSE of John the Theologian or the book of Revelation of Jesus Christ (chapter 13, verses 6-10)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-apokalipsisa-glava-13-stih-6-10

Revelation of John the Evangelist, chapter 13, verses 6-10.

> 13:6 And he opened his mouth to blaspheme God, to blaspheme his name, and his habitation, and them that dwell in heaven.
>
> 13:7 And it was given unto him to make war with the saints, and to overcome them; and authority was given to him over every tribe and people and tongue and nation.
>
> 13:8 And all that dwell on the earth will worship him, whose names were not written in the book of life of the Lamb, which was slain from the foundation of the world.
>
> 13:9 He who has an ear, let him hear.
>
> 13:10 He who leads into captivity will himself go into captivity; whoever kills with the sword must himself be killed with the sword. Here is the patience and faith of the saints.

This text describes the qualities and actions of people in contact with low vibrational plasmoid civilizations and disembodied spirits from demonic levels. Very often such contacts are combined in one person.

The first sign of a conscious or unconscious conductor of destructive entities is condemnation and censure (“ blasphemy ”) in oral and written speech of the actions and character of God and all Enlightened Spirits (living in heaven). The word " name " in the New Testament denotes not just the name or nickname of someone, but the nature of the entity, its vibration and all its actions and energies.

A person who “ blasphemes the name of God ” is one who condemns Him for any action and one who condemns any of His children who bear His Light as an image of the fullness of His perfections.

Condemnation is the assumption of the authority of God, whose Judgment always occurs not over the sinned spirit, but over its specific negative qualities and manifestations.

The purpose of God’s judgment is to cleanse His particle from illusions, awaken the Light in it and fill it with Himself as happiness and love, and the purpose of the condemnation of man is to cut off the spirit born of God from communication and from His love.

But by cutting off any living being from oneself, or not accepting something in the world or in oneself, a person turns away from the Divine Light, becoming unable to correctly perceive Its energies.

And then he becomes an easy prey for destructive entities, whether they are embodied in some world or not. In this case, such entities become teachers for him, showing his own spiritual state and the spiritual level to which the spirit of a person who directs Divine Energies to destroy some part of the Divine Universe corresponds.

Therefore, it is written that destructive entities will be given the opportunity to wage war with the saints and defeat them.

By “ saints ” here we mean bright feelings and desires and thoughts about light and love.

Every rational spirit is given freedom of choice, thanks to which spiritual darkness and ignorance can defeat the Light in the spiritual heart of a person and take possession of it until the end of the incarnation.

The words “ power was given to him over every tribe, people, tongue and tribe ” mean the four main forces of the etheric field of the aura, into the creation and maintenance of which creative plasmoid civilizations of the elements of nature invest their energy:

> Apana is the etheric energy that creates the etheric matrices of the digestive and excretory organs in the human body. It is created by the embodied spirit from the energies of Water plasmoids.
>
> Prana is the etheric energy that creates the etheric matrices of the respiratory and circulatory organs. It is created by an embodied spirit from the energies of Air plasmoids.
>
> Rupa is an etheric energy that creates etheric matrices of the organs of movement, perception and reaction to the external environment. It is created by the embodied spirit from the energies of the Earth's plasmoids.
>
> Kundalini is an etheric energy that creates the etheric matrices of reproductive organs and immune defense. Created by an embodied spirit from the energies of Fire plasmoids.

All these energies are located in the human etheric body. They are given to the embodied spirit for the life of the body and are completely at its disposal.

A person has the right to give power over his ethereal forces to spirits embodied in a body of a different density, connected to the aura through energy channels created by the energies of subtle-material civilizations. This process is accompanied by the outflow of a person’s vitality and the filling of his etheric field with the energies of supervising entities.

Their energies can differ significantly from human ones, which is why changes are possible in the etheric matrices of physical organs, leading to mutations, failures and pathologies at the cellular level, in case of contact with negatively minded representatives of plasmoid civilizations, or healing and harmonization of the etheric matrices of physical organs , which leads to restoration of metabolism and acceleration of regeneration of organs of the dense body, in case of contact with high-vibration and spiritually light curators in subtle-material bodies.

The worship of the beast living on earth is understood as the destruction of systems and structures of the human physical body, due to a decrease in the vibrations of the spirit that has come into contact with a negatively tuned plasmoid entity.

The Lamb is a symbol of the unconditional energy of Divine love, and its book of life denotes the existence of this love in the field of Light.

Consequently, the body of a person, in whose spiritual heart there is no unconditional love, will be destroyed by its own energy blocks, and contact with a parasitic plasmoid entity is only a consequence of the vibrations of its energy fields, attracting entities corresponding to its internal state.

The Lamb (Divine Love) was really slain (gave part of His Energy) to create the material world.

The Original Spirit, known on Earth as Christ, is the most complete realized embodiment of Divine Love for our Universe.

The Book of Life is vibrations of Light, Spiritual Warmth, Unity, Joy and Love; in order to get into its records, that is, to raise your vibrations to this level, you need to become like God in His qualities.

But for the low-vibration plasmoids themselves, there are consequences of destructive contacts with humans.

They captivate the mind of the contactee with their ideas due to low selfish goals (“ leading to captivity ”) and themselves fall into the power of the energies of the contactee and the people around him.

The energies of earthlings can be so incompatible with the subtle bodies of plasmoids that it is even possible to remove them from incarnation.

The words " who kills with the sword " in this text mean the instillation of ideas in the contactee, the acceptance of which as truth leads to the blocking of his spiritual channel, due to the formation in the mental body of a mental attitude that distorts the perception of reality. Often this is done by parasitic plasmoid civilizations in order to complicate or make it impossible for their contactee to communicate with his Higher Self , with Angels and with representatives of any bright creative civilizations of the Universe.

But by depriving a person of the ability to contact curators from the angelic world, the person who did this lowers his vibrations and cuts himself off from the flow of life in God, which is indicated here by the words " he himself (the beast) must be killed with the sword ."

A person with a blocked spiritual channel can easily forget about his task, about the spiritual world, about God and about himself as a rational immortal entity. In this case, he will begin to accept himself as a physical body, forget about eternal existence and will set goals that meet the various needs of his body or the desires of loved ones.

And only patience with temporary difficulties without grumbling against God and faith, as a sense of the existence of the spiritual world and real communication with it, can protect a person from destructive contacts with any kind of Spiritual Entities.

MidgasCaus - specialist in biology and psychology, planet Esler.

Archangel Michael is a disembodied spirit, the main Hierarch of the Spiritual Dimensions of planet Earth, the guardian of the Christian egregor.

July 23, 2022

Interpretation of the first six verses of the thirty-ninth sura of the Koran https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-pervyh-shesti-ayatov-39-sury-korana

1. THE SCRIPTURE HAS BEEN SENT FROM ALLAH, THE MIGHTY, THE WISE.

My position in the spiritual world is Archangel, and my spiritual name is Jebrail.

In the first verse of the thirty-ninth sura of the Koran, I conveyed to the Prophet Muhammad that the teaching that I brought to people was taken from Allah.

Allah is the name of God, the Creator of the Universe, which was given in Arabic to form a new religious egregor, carrying the idea of monotheism on the Arabian Peninsula in the seventh century of the Christian era.

I, as Archangel Deva, located at the twenty-fourth level of the world of non-embodied spirits, am in constant contact with the Supermind of God and without distortion I transmit information from Him to embodied and non-embodied spiritual entities, at any level of development, using words that are most understandable to them and , at the same time, accurately reflect spiritual truths.

2. WE HAVE SENT TO YOU THE SCRIPTURE IN TRUTH.

WORSHIP ALLAH BY PURIFYING YOUR FAITH BEFORE HIM.

By the word “we” I meant the entire group of space researchers and our spiritual mentors and curators who were developing religious teachings for the creation of the Islamic egregor.

It was we who contributed to the Qur'an, called Scripture here, to appear on Earth as a physical book. And in this sense, we sent down the Koran, that is, we lowered this information from the spiritual planes of existence into the material world.

Worship of Allah is recognition of Him as the Creator of the universe and gratitude to Him for the opportunity to live and develop our highest qualities in all His worlds.

Worship of God is a form of love for Him, because gratitude in this feeling is combined with sincere reverence for the Divine Light and humble acceptance of all manifestations of this world and events that occur in people's lives as experiences useful for the development of wisdom and love.

Purification of faith is the removal of the energy of doubt about the reality of the Divine presence in the heart of every person and in the space around him. Doubts close the spiritual channel of communication with one’s true spiritual nature, and therefore make it difficult or completely impossible to complete the tasks of incarnation.

3. TRULY, PURE FAITH CAN BE DEVOTED TO ALLAH ALONE.

AND THOSE WHO TOOK OTHER PATRONS AND HELPERS INSTEAD OF HIM, SAY:

"WE WORSHIP THEM ONLY SO THAT THEY WILL BRING US CLOSER TO ALLAH AS CLOSER POSSIBLE."

ALLAH WILL JUDGE THEM ON WHERE THEY DIFFERED IN OPINION.

TRULY, ALLAH DOES NOT GUIDE THOSE WHO LYE AND DO NOT BELIEVE.

This statement was made by me to develop the idea of monotheism in the minds of people. People who are accustomed to living in a pagan system often begin to look for intermediaries between themselves and God in other people, in Angels, in plasmoids (genies) or in aliens.

Because of this, the energy of such people who are in a religious egregor is directed not at love for God as the Source of everything that exists, but at love for those beings whom they represent as intermediaries between themselves and the Creator of the universe.

This, in turn, leads to the fact that God is understood not as a great Loving and Merciful Being, ready to accept into Himself any person who does good and bright deeds, but as a cruel tyrant, whom special intermediaries must first appease in order for him to accept a person.

This understanding greatly distorts the image of God and lowers the vibration of the spirit that believes in it. But no one can judge people who do this. Only God can reveal their hearts and true intentions, so I told the Prophet Muhammad that Allah will judge those people who differ in their opinions about Him.

Next, I explained to the Prophet Muhammad that liars and non-believers in God follow their own path, which they have chosen themselves, and Allah is not responsible for the consequences of their lies and unbelief, because He no longer leads them on the direct path to Himself.

4. IF ALLAH WANTED TO HAVE CHILDREN, HE WOULD CHOOSE WHOM HE WOULD WANT FROM HIS CREATIONS. BLESSED IS HE! HE IS ALLAH, THE ONLY, ALMIGHTY.

It was very important to convey to the Arabs of that historical period when it was decided to create the religion of Islam for them that there is One God, the Creator of everything that exists in the universe.

Before this, the Arab peoples adhered to pagan beliefs in which the gods gave birth to each other and ruled the world together. To emphasize the uniqueness of the Beginningless Source of everything that exists, it was said here that God the Creator Allah Himself chooses His children from His creations.

Intelligent spirits were called creations of Allah in order to minimize the likelihood of worshiping any other persons as Allah, which would easily lead the Islamic egregor to return to polytheism.

In Christianity, rational spirits are considered children of God, born by Him, and not created. But there is no contradiction in this, it's just that the One Spiritual Truth is expressed in different images, depending on the characteristics of the egregors of the peoples where these two religious teachings were preached.

We should not forget that in Israel, by the time Christianity was preached, there was already a two-thousand-year experience of monotheism, in the form of veneration of Yahweh as the Only God, which did not exist on the Arabian Peninsula at the time of the beginning of the preaching activity of the Prophet Muhammad. For this reason, the ancient Jews had less danger of deviating from monotheism due to the understanding that all spirits are born of God and have His nature than the Arabs, who were brought up from childhood in the traditions of worshiping many gods.

5. HE CREATED THE HEAVENS AND THE EARTH IN TRUTH.

HE COVERS THE DAY WITH NIGHT AND COVERS THE NIGHT WITH DAY.

HE SUBJECT THE SUN AND THE MOON.

THEY ARE ALL MOVING TO THE APPOINTED DATE.

TRULY HE IS MIGHTY, FORGIVE.

Here God Allah is called the only Creator of the entire universe. And this is really so, because He is the Source of all forms and types of energies from which the earth (the image of the material world) and the sky (the image of the spiritual world) are formed.

Of course, representatives of thin-material plasmoid civilizations take part in the creation of material worlds of all levels of density.

In Islam these creatures are called jinn. They create material worlds from the energies of the spiritual world coming from the Divine Source and fill these worlds with various ethereal structures, densifying them down to the particles of the physical world, from which all the galaxies, stars and planets of the world visible to you are composed. But this does not mean that subtle beings are independent creators, creating something from their energy.

A man who builds a house takes material for it from nature, and although he can be called a creator, God provided everything he needed from His Source.

The situation is exactly the same with representatives of plasmoid worlds, only at other density levels. It’s just that their ancient contactees, not realizing all the specifics of their activities, often deified them, which subsequently led to the emergence of polytheistic cults.

6. HE CREATED YOU FROM ONE MAN.

HE MADE OUT OF HIM A WIFE FOR HIM AND SENT DOWN FOR YOU FROM THE FELLOW EIGHT ANIMALS IN PAIRS.

HE CREATES YOU IN YOUR MOTHERS' WOMB:

ONE CREATION APPEARS AFTER ANOTHER IN THREE DARKS.

THIS IS ALLAH, YOUR LORD.

HE HAS THE POWER.

THERE IS NO GOD BUT HIM.

HOW AWAY ARE YOU ALL FROM THE TRUTH!

It tells about the details of the creation of the bodies of the first people. It is emphasized that at the beginning one person was created as the genetic carrier of the human race and he was male, and subsequently, by changing the male chromosome set, the body of an earthly woman was created.

The eight animals discussed here are the camel, the cow, the sheep and the goat. This meant males and females of these animals, which is why it is indicated that there were eight of them. They were of greatest importance for the pastoral peoples of the Arab region, therefore this text mentions only them as sent by Allah for the benefit of people.

The following describes how human conception occurs.

When reading the Koran, it is necessary to constantly remember that this book was given to scattered Arab tribes at the stage of social and scientific development at which they were in the seventh century of the Christian era. Therefore, a simplified and short description of the sacrament that occurs at the conception of every earthly person is quite understandable.

“Three darknesses” here mean three types of etheric energies that form etheric matrices, and subsequently the physical organs of the child in the womb: this is the prana of the embodied soul, the total etheric energy of the spirits of the four elements embodied in subtle bodies, and the etheric power of the mother herself.

These energies, harmoniously combining with each other, form the primary etheric field of the embryo, consisting of etheric matrices of individual organs, containing information about which part of the physical genome to include for the biosynthesis of proteins and lipoproteins that form each cell of the dense body and neurohumoral connections of various organs and systems organisms with each other.

This process is described here in words:

“One creation (physical organs) appears after another in three darknesses (ethereal energies)”

Further, the text emphasizes that Allah is the one God for Muslims and it is He who has power over all spiritual and material processes in the Universe.

The phrase “How far you are turned away from the truth” was written by the Prophet Muhammad himself, outraged by the fact that his compatriots were reluctant to accept the preaching of monotheism.

Apshatarim - religious scholar, psychologist and sociologist, specialist in the creation of religious and philosophical egregors in alien communities with a high level of violence, planet Tumesout.

August, 2022

July 25, 2022

Levitation in the life of Jesus. Walking on water. Apostle Peter https://blog.cassiopeia.center/levitaciya-v-zhizni-iisusa-hozhdenie-po-vode

Levitation is for people to direct their force to suppress the Earth's gravity. Gravity attracts the physical body with a certain force, and the vital force of a person, which is released by him every second of time, is stronger than the force with which the Earth attracts his body.

I want to especially emphasize: it does not surpass all of the Earth’s gravity, but precisely that part of the gravity that attracts his body. And in order for this superiority of your life force to lift you above the Earth, you only need to direct it.

To do this, you need to visualize how your life force pushes you away from the Earth. For this visualization to work, you need to imagine it, and doubts that the result will be achieved dispel your life force in space and do not allow it to push you away from the Earth, that is, to shield you, your body from gravity.

Faith is such a force that helps you visualize and fulfill your intentions in any space and time.

Since overcoming the gravity of Burkhad and any other planet requires a certain amount of my energy, which can be spent on a completely different matter, for example, on changing the vibrations of earthlings, I am usually content with flying in the astral plane, and this is quite enough for me.

How the Apostle Peter walked on water

In the evening, after talking with people, we parted with my students. They went on a boat to fish: they also had fishing at night. And they wanted to land on the other side of the lake in the morning. And I decided to stay alone in order to meet with the captain of the Burkhad ship. And Mirakh Count was there too.

Naturally, I told them that I wanted to be left alone, since at that point in time they were not psychologically ready for contacts. He said that I wanted to stay alone and pray to the Father.

They sailed away and I actually prayed to the Father, then the ship came down, we had contact for about two hours. I was moved to Burkhad, there I talked with one of the contact specialists of the commission, and then I was returned to Earth, and with my ray of the mental mental field, which I isolated from my aura, I found the place where my students were, like a radar. Radar is a reflection of this ability (Mirah Count suggests).

I mentally calculated the point where my students were and saw that while I was gone, the wind had risen and large waves had arisen. And I went to the boat on the sea. Why didn't I fly? I didn't want to just waste my energy, because in order to walk, you need to suppress gravity less. I was wearing white clothes.

As you understand, when the wind rises and a thunderstorm begins, practically nothing is visible: no stars, no moon, no lanterns in the sea either, so the students saw me in another flash of lightning when I came quite close, about ten meters.

One of them, I think I heard Jacob's voice, shouted that a ghost was coming. Why did they say that? They called a type of plasmoid a ghost. Why did he shout that particular thing? Because for them it was an unusual and, possibly, dangerous phenomenon, since one could expect anything from some Spirits of Nature, especially in the middle of the sea in a storm.

Hastening to calm them down, I said:

"Be cheerful and brave, it's me, don't be afraid of anything."

After this, I heard short negotiations, from which I sensed distrust and interest. And the Apostle Peter, calling me a teacher, said:

"If it is you, command me to come to you on the water."

I scanned his mental field and saw that if I told him: "Go," he would also imagine how he would do it, visualize it, and he would release energy sufficient to take several steps. At this time I was already about five meters away. I told him: "Go," and I controlled his mental, psychological state.

What happened when he left? When he got up, I watched him. When I told him: “Go,” he completely believed that it was possible, because he knew that I was God and could not tell a lie. And when he did this, his energy, his life force, went down through the first energy center, through his legs, and formed enough strength, protection so that he could stand on the water. And when he stood on it, he really had no doubts.

He went, at first he saw only me. When he walked three meters, at first he had such a consciousness that he did not hear the sound of the waves, and then he heard, looked and saw that he was standing on the water without any support to which he was accustomed, and the instinct of self-preservation told him that he was in danger. He couldn't switch from that instinct to the fact that he had done it.

That is, instinct temporarily displaced from him for a few seconds the memory that he himself did it. Frightened, because fear is a loss of faith, he dissipated the energy that was holding him and began to drown. He didn't reach me two meters. I approached him and asked why he doubted.

After I got into the boat, and they all questioned me in surprise, I told them the law of faith and about the power of the Earth, which you can so suppress with your strength, and during these conversations they did not even notice how we sailed to the other shore. For them, this time passed unnoticed.

Timecode: 12:41, #261 Second meeting with the phantom of Jesus Christ!

Jesus Christ is the leader, the head of the Christian religious egregor on Earth and not only, the Firstborn Son of God, our Elder Brother.

May, 2021

July 26, 2022

Kalachakra of the Universe

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kalachakra-o-vselennyh

The Universe is a collection of Galaxies that are in free space, if we take its dense phase. Subtle phases, the subtle plane of existence, also consists of its own types of Galaxies, but they are subtle, from subtle energies (more relevant to substances, but this is the type of energy for you).

Why are there many Universes with different types of matter?

You can find many reasons for the existence of different Universes. I feel that this is for the diversity of forms of life manifested from the Spiritual world. The very energy of the Divine Light, which builds this matter of different types, this Light itself has infinite variety. He strives for an infinitely varied experience. Therefore, different types of Universes are generated, where Spirits from the Spiritual World incarnate.

July 27, 2022

Interpretation of the APOCALYPSE of John the Theologian or the book of Revelation of Jesus Christ (chapter 13, verses 11-15)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-apokalipsisa-glava-13-stihi-11-15

Interpretation of the book of Revelation of John the Theologian. Chapter 13, verses 11-15:

> Rev.13:11 And I saw another beast come up out of the earth; he had two horns like a lamb and spoke like a dragon.
>
> Rev. 13:12 He acts before him with all the power of the first beast, and causes the whole earth and those who dwell on it to worship the first beast, whose mortal wound was healed;
>
> Rev. 13:13 And he does great signs, so that he brings down fire from heaven to earth before men.
>
> Rev. 13:14 And by the miracles which it was given him to do before the beast, he deceives them that dwell on the earth, saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make an image of the beast, which had the wound of the sword, and liveth.

> Rev. 13:15 And it was given to him to put breath into the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast would both speak and act, so that everyone who would not worship the image of the beast would be killed.

The beast rising from the earth is a symbol of the totality of egregors of the Earth's noosphere, as a certain community of different teachings, understandings and worldviews.
The energy of egregors really rises from the earth, that is, it comes to the Spiritual world from the material.

Two Horns, similar to the horns of a lamb, are the qualities of faith and wisdom embedded in egregors as energy and mind, respectively. Each egregor is similar in structure to a rational spirit, that is, it contains energy (the life force of the participants), information (an analogue of the mind) and relationships, desires and dreams (an analogue of the spiritual heart). In the final stages of the Earth's inharmonious transition to a different level of vibration, all earthly egregors begin to lose feelings of love, joy and gratitude, because people emit them less and less. Then the energies of faith and information components begin to predominate in the egregors.

With a lack of unconditional love, they begin to carry passions and aspirations taken from the instinctive parts of people's souls, that is, fears, suspicions, anger towards dissidents and a sense of superiority over them. All this is indicated here by the words " he (the beast) spoke like a dragon (the instinctive part of the soul) ."

Naturally, such cumulative radiations of egregors facilitate access to their participants of low-vibration plasmoid entities, designated here under the words " first beast ".

Participants in egregors charged with negative vibrations are already predisposed to more quickly creating attachments to parasitic plasmoid civilizations, which is described in the text under the words:
" he (the set of negative egregors) forces the entire earth (body) and those living on it (embodied spirits) to worship (give energy) to the first beast (parasitic plasmoid civilizations) ."

The image of fire descending to the earth in front of people is understood as the spiritual healing and transforming Light of God, the Creator of the worlds.

Egregors, overflowing with the negative energies of people, do not lose their direct purpose - to be their protection and helpers in healing. Any egregor is kind and bright for his follower, who sincerely believes in him, sends the light of his love to the egregorial ideal and tries to follow its moral standards.

This phenomenon is named by the Greek word "σημεῖα", which translated means " sign, sign ". John the Theologian wrote this word here to emphasize that any help received by a believer from those spiritual entities in whom he believes and prays is for him a sign of the presence in him and throughout the world of the Divine Light, which manifests itself through all human communities and egregors, even if at first glance they seem to be the height of imperfection.
This is how God turns any evil into good, because they do not exist without each other, as long as there is the possibility of choosing the path of development or the path of degradation.

The image of a beast that has a wound from a sword and is alive is understood as a stream of thought images that have a homogeneous vibration with parasitic plasmoid civilizations. It is the creation of such a flow in the unconscious sphere of the human soul that makes possible the existence of an attachment to such civilizations after the initial attachment, which became possible due to a decrease in the level of human vibrations.

This unconscious flow of negative thought forms is created on the basis of an already created negative energy block in one of the energy centers; it strengthens this block, accelerates damage to the etheric and physical structures of a person, and also affects the way of his thoughts and the entirety of his emotional and sensory sphere.

Such a person is more prone to despondency, to unreasonable fears, to outbursts of aggression on minor occasions and similar, often involuntary, dysphoric states.

It is possible to get out of this state only by dissolving the initial block, transforming the flow of negative thought forms (the image of the beast) into the radiance of pure unconditional love for yourself, for God, for the world and for all beings united in this Light with God and with each other.

Low vibrational entities can also act through light egregors, including religious ones, if the person in the egregor does not have the purity of the spiritual heart and cannot distinguish the sources of thoughts and desires that come to his consciousness as if from nowhere. This is what is said in the text under the words " by the miracles that he (the egregor) was given (by God) to perform in front of the beast (in the presence of destructive Plasmoids), he (the spiritual entity speaking on behalf of the egregor) deceives (lies about his origin and goals) living on earth (embodied spirits) ."

To recognize this lie, it is enough to know and feel the Truth, which lies in the light of love for all rational spirits, for God, for nature and for ourselves.

Only staying in your own Light and its constant increase and spread is the most reliable protection against attacks of destructive entities from all levels and planes of the Universe.

If a rational spirit makes a choice towards the absence of Light, neglect of Love, rejection of faith and hope, then it falls into its inner darkness. This is well described through the image of imparting spirit to the image of the beast within the spiritual heart. By itself, a destructive plasmoid or demon is powerless against all rational spirits, because God has endowed us with the freedom of choice to be under the Cover of His Love.

But if we endow the image of the beast with spirit, that is, we believe destructive thoughts, desires and feelings, if we accept them as a guide to action, then we voluntarily leave Divine protection in order to learn the lessons of existence in low-vibration states.

In this case, such an experience of killing all bright impulses, calls of conscience and pure desires in oneself is necessary for comparison with Divine Truth and Love, which is why the Light shines many times brighter after returning to it, making the spirits who have gone through this infinitely happy and always striving to carry Truth and Love into the darkest corners of the infinitely diverse and beautiful Divine Universe.

Archangel Raphael is a disembodied spirit, the guardian of the Christian egregor.

Li Shioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the study of the astral world and its interaction with the material.

July 31, 2022

The role of astrology in human life

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/rol-astrologii-v-zhizni-cheloveka

Astrology is an ancient teaching about the influence of stars and planets on your character, on your destiny, on your behavior.

This teaching reflects the real processes occurring in the Spiritual world of man. Where the processes lie is that when the Spirit chooses the time and place of incarnation, the place, time, and parents are specifically calculated by the Consulting Spirits of the Spiritual World, whom you call Angels.

And they also take into account the position of the planets and take into account numerological characteristics. But they do this not for control, but so that people who know astrological charts can study the characteristics of the astrological and numerological born Spirit and understand who incarnated and for what purposes. That is, in very simple language, one of the functions of planets and stars is not only the life of intelligent beings on them, but also the creation of a special image for recognizing the one who has incarnated.

MidgasCaus is a representative of the Interstellar Union, planet Esler.

August 10, 2022

Interpretation of the APOCALYPSE of John the Theologian or the book of Revelation of Jesus Christ (chapter 13, verses 16-18)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-apokalipsisa-glava-13-stihi-16-18

Interpretation of the Revelation of John the Theologian, chapter 13, verses 16-18:

> Rev. 13:16 And he will cause everyone, small and great, rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark on their right hand or on their foreheads,
>
> Rev. 13:17 and that no one may buy or sell except he who has the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name.
>
> Rev.13:18 Here is wisdom. He who has intelligence, count the number of the beast, for it is a human number; its number is six hundred and sixty-six.

This text shows simple and very important truths in images understandable to a resident of the first century of the Christian era on Earth.

The interpreters of the Book of Revelation, in the most diverse Christian denominations, who operate with images and ideas of a materialistic mind, are leading away from them with all their might. It is precisely such people who see in this description a terrible political power that has established an inhuman totalitarian regime on Earth.

But we are talking here about a completely different, much more terrible phenomenon for the spirit.

The word “ he ” here means the totality of egregors of the earthly noosphere, in which the financial egregor of your world plays a large role. The economic sector of social activity in one form or another exists in all humanoid worlds. In itself, it is an absolutely neutral tool for the training and development of spiritual entities, like any material object or phenomenon.

But in a world with a large number of incarnated spirits who have forgotten their spiritual nature, everything is different. In it, it is not matter that serves the spiritual development and prosperity of Divine Life and Wisdom, but the immortal spirit itself, the child of the Absolute Light, becomes a humble servant of matter, which has taken the place of Divine Love and Grace in his consciousness.

As soon as the idol of materialism takes a central place in a person’s heart, his will blocks the channel of communication with the spiritual world, and conscious communication with any spiritual entity, and even with his own disembodied part of the spirit, becomes difficult or completely impossible. Because of this, the mind is guided not by the Truth in the Divine Light, but by its own illusory ideas about the world, about itself and about God.

The rest of the inner world of a person is also distorted, which is why the part of the spirit embodied in it reduces its vibrations and the spirit falls under the laws of karmic responsibility, which generates the wheel of samsara, as a necessary lesson for realizing oneself in the light of God and developing unconditional Love, forever joining the Divine Energies.

In a state of such darkness, a person primarily acts based on his material interests, neglecting the aspirations of the spirit, which he does not recognize as separate from the needs of the body.

All feelings, thoughts, words and deeds of such people are subordinated to a single goal - to collect as many different material benefits around themselves as possible, in a vain attempt to replace with them spiritual experiences and experience of communication with the Divine Light, which they deny or are not aware of.

Egregors are created by the mental images and emotions of materialistically minded people, with the potential of materialism embedded in them, which is passed on from generation to generation, gradually intensifying. As a result, egregorial energies and the guardian spirits behind them have a great, although invisible to most people, influence on the life of the entire planet.

The words “ mark of the beast ” in this text mean the belonging of the spirit, its similarity in vibrations to the entire set of low-vibration egregorial systems that contribute to spiritual degradation, fencing a person from the Light of divine love.

“ Great and small ” are spirits who came into earthly incarnation from various levels of the spiritual world.

“ Rich and poor ” are people full of vitality and almost exhausted, sick people who spend a colossal amount of vital energy on accumulating and retaining negative blocks in the body.

“ Free and slaves ” are people with an inner feeling of freedom from stereotypes and captivity of their thoughts and emotions and people who are in slavery to their negative emotions and instinctive programs.

Every person who accepts matter in any manifestation as God, allows the program of materialism into the mind, thereby closing his sixth energy center. This condition is called " forehead mark " in this text. It is in this area that the physical projection of the sixth energy center is located, which for a person following the path of spiritual development is called the “ third eye ”. It allows you to perceive the spiritual world and consciously interact with its inhabitants.

A person who mistook matter for God, and temporary life in the body for the eternal life of the spirit, may not be a materialist who denies the benefits of energetic and spiritual development, but in his practical affairs he can only seek material gain, justifying himself before God, people and his own conscience , manifested from the Higher Self, by various programs of one's mind, placed at the service of the spirit, which submitted to matter instead of controlling it. This condition is called here " mark on the right hand ."

The right hand is a symbol of practical affairs in the material world.

Thus, in the world of victorious materialism, the leading role is played by the degree of involvement in the financial egregor, and people who are not high in its socio-economic hierarchy face material and professional difficulties, which is in every possible way reinforced by the political and economic elites, in order to remain at the top of the consumption pyramid, taking advantage of the benefits of being there.

This is described by the words "no one will be able to buy or sell without the mark of the beast (which we talked about) or his name (meaning money, because the names of all currencies in the world are the names of the patron spirits of the financial egregor) or the numbers of his name (meaning virtual money, without real physical media)."

To carry out financial transactions (buying and selling), it is not necessary to have the " mark of the beast ," which is clearly shown by the words " or " in the 17th verse of the 13th chapter of the Revelation of John the Theologian, which means a person can freely have money and spend it without accepting this mark. This is quite possible if a person is in a state of awareness of himself as the Eternal Spirit and accepting everything that happens to him as lessons for the development of Love.

Calculating the number of the beast (the energy vibration of the totality of earthly egregors) is really not difficult for those who have a spiritual mind and understand the meaning of the energy vibrations of numbers.

The number six and the planet Venus symbolize Love and pleasure, and repeated three times they indicate the manifestation of this vibration in all human structures: material, energetic and spiritual. The sum of three numbers six is nine, which indicates the manifestation of spiritual intelligence in the material world in various ways and means.

Thus, the direction of all egregors of the earthly noosphere is love for all things and states that earthlings want to have and what they strive to enjoy. This pleasure is a manifestation of the Absolute Happiness of the Creator of our Reality, Who created all the energies of the Universe in order to provide His beloved children with all the means to independently achieve the Joy, Light, Harmony and Love in which He Himself resides.

MidgasCaus - specialist in biology and psychology, planet Esler.

Archangel Michael is a disembodied spirit, the main Hierarch of the Spiritual Dimensions of planet Earth, the guardian of the Christian egregor.

January 2021

August 21, 2022

The concept of the “Holy Trinity”: God the Father, God the Son, Holy Spirit. Energy of the number "3"

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ponyatie-svyataya-troica

The word "Trinity" does not appear in the Bible. The word “Trinity” first appeared, was used, and recorded in writing around the end of the 2nd century in the written literature of ancient Christians. It was first included in the documents of the first church at the First Ecumenical Council, which gathered to examine various Christian dogmas and distinguish one thought from another. In general, the very concept of the Trinity was introduced for the purposes of apologetics, that is, the defense of My teaching from various distortions. For example, from the distortion that is now known to you in the form of Arianism.

Teacher Arius said that I, My Soul, My Spirit, appeared later than the Heavenly Father. That is, that He did not give birth to Me, but created Me. And in order to distinguish his teaching from the Christian one, the concept of the “Trinity” was introduced. Let me remind you what it originally meant:

The Trinity is a symbol, a description of spiritual reality in our three-dimensional world. It includes God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Spirit.

How are these parts different, or, as they say in Christian language, the hypostases of the Trinity?

God the Father is the beginningless beginning of everything, the source of all matter and all Spirits, a living, intelligent, infinitely bright being that consists of the energy of absolute Love. But, in addition to energy, he has his essence, which also contains reason, a spiritual heart, energy, that is, He is similar to the human Soul, in general to any rational Spirit , only, of course, infinitely more. Not larger in size, but in capabilities, in energies, in the very structure of the essence, which is not a born Spirit, but the parent of Spirits.

God the Son - this is how they designated the spiritual essence that was born first. That's what it's called - the Firstborn Son. They denoted My essence. But, after My incarnation on Earth, I told people that the concept of “Son of God” includes not only I alone, but also everyone, because I conveyed a prayer that I invited people to pray, to turn to the Father, as I address - “Father My", "Our Father". Everyone who addresses himself with the words “Our Father” is a son or daughter of God. That is, “Son of God” - this hypostasis of the Trinity means all born Spirits.

Holy Spirit - He can be understood in different meanings, but His original meaning is God the Father, manifested through matter of any energy, in any presence in the Universe. That is, God the Father - this is considered in the Spiritual world, more precisely outside of all worlds, outside the Spiritual world, the material world, in the place that you call in Christianity the “Kingdom of Heaven”. God the Father exists there, and His manifestation in the material world or in the Spiritual world is called the “Holy Spirit.” That is, this, one might say, is the incarnation of God the Father in the world he created.

Therefore, in Christianity, the difference between the Holy Spirit and the Son of God is that the Son of God is born from God the Father, and the Holy Spirit comes from God the Father and is not born. “Coming out” is simply the transfer of an image, i.e. that he “descends” (was the original word). It was simply the embodiment of the image that He is not born, but manifests.

At the same time, later in Christian literature, “the Holy Spirit” began to mean different things. For example, the Holy Spirit very often refers to the disembodied part of a person himself, what you call the “Higher Self.” Because the word “Spirit” is “Spiritual Self”, and from the word “Holy”, that is, “light”, that is, that part of the Light that is not embodied. As Irina was told on the planet Raom-Li , this is sometimes called the “Spiritual Self”.

Also in some Christian books the “Holy Spirit” can be called an Angel. I have come across such understandings. And when we call “the Holy Spirit,” this does not mean that the first hypostasis of the Trinity, that is, God the Father, that He is not a Spirit, or that He is not a saint. He is also a Spirit, and He is also a saint, but He, His essence, is beyond the boundaries of all worlds. And the “Holy Spirit” is already carrying His energy into the world, so to speak.

As for the creators of earthlings. Yes, indeed, some representatives of those planets that created you , your bodies in the past, transfer the understanding of the “Trinity” to the three alien races of your creators (your bodies). In particular, for example, this is how representatives of the planet Tumesout understand this issue. But in general, the understanding of “trinity” appeared much earlier than the creation of earthlings.

For example, any person or any humanoid that existed before a person consists of a body, an incarnate part (or as you call it, “Soul”), and a disembodied part, which you call “Spirit”. Here is also the embodiment of the number “3”. Just as you know, even according to the earthly doctrine of physical elements, an atom consists of protons, neutrons and electrons. And according to the teachings of the Interstellar Union, an atom consists of three levels of energy . Here, too, the trinity of nature is manifested.

This trinity can also be seen in various substances, in various material properties. For example, the physical world consists of three levels of density - solid, liquid, gaseous. And so on. Even in each of your cells, there are three types of ribonucleic acid: transport, messenger and ribosomal. This is also the embodiment of the characteristics of the number “3”.

Why is this happening? Because the number “3” carries energy. Each number carries a certain energy wave. The number “3” carries within itself an energetic wave of activity, that is, the activity of the manifestation of the Divine Light through force, through the emergence of something new. And the most important essence of the number “3” is the energy of movement of any kind.

Therefore, it is not at all accidental, of course, that there were three alien genetic materials in your race, that is, three races created you. But do not forget about the fourth ancestor, which is your earthly primate, and who is also the product of the creation of many, many generations of subtle-material entities.

Timecode: 03:44, #340 Fourth meeting with the phantom of Jesus Christ! Answers to questions from Cassiopeia subscribers. Part 1

Jesus Christ is the leader, the head of the Christian religious egregor on Earth and not only, the Firstborn Son of God, our Elder Brother.

September 2021

August 26, 2022

Message from Christ (Christ Knowledge)

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/poslanie-ot-hrista

The Firstborn Son of God calls out to people and the Heavenly Father raises His voice.

The Universal Logos resides on mountain tops, along roads and in ocean spaces. He calls you on the outskirts of cities and at the entrance to the doors of your houses.

People, I call you and My request is addressed to the inhabitants of the Earth:

Reckless ones, gain understanding, arrogant ones, learn meekness!

Listen to Me, because I will say the main speech in your life, the flow of Light from My lips will bring you healing, My tongue will bring forth the truth, because dishonesty is disgusting to Me.

Every word of Mine is filled with the law of Divine justice, in which there is no evil or deception.

My speech is clear to the wise and understandable to those who find Love.

First accept My wisdom, and then touch the silver, for it reflects your souls like a mirror.

Know Me within you and you will find the best gold, because My Light shines brighter than all the precious metals and crystals of the universe.

Nothing material can stand next to My Love, because it does not exist without it.

I am the Logos of the Universe, I live inseparably with Our Father and am looking for opportunities to be with each of you always.

The fear of God is the rejection of evil ways. I have rejected pride, arrogance, selfishness and rancor forever.

There is help and purity in Me, I impart spiritual intelligence and the power of eternal love.

The rulers of your world rule with Me and the legislators carry My truth, for which your society is ready.

All your superiors are with Me in soul, if they have not deviated from the law of love, all material resources are distributed by My hand and all earthly judges sign the verdict in union with My Power. I am omnipotent and omniscient and every speck of dust in the air is supported by the energy of My Soul.

I fill those who love Me with Love, I will be found by everyone who strives for Me.

The great wealth and glory of the entire universe are under My control, the eternal abodes of all the spiritual worlds are under My supervision and under My protection.

My Light shines brighter than all the stars of the universe and the benefits from My love are greater than from the gold and silver of all the worlds.

I walk the path of Truth, following the footsteps of everyone who is lost, in order to find him and hug him to My Loving Heart. I fill the soul of everyone in whom love lives with Me.

The Creator, Our Heavenly Father, for the first time saw His reflection in Me and It was so beautiful that from an impulse of endless spiritual delight you were all born, and immediately became both My brothers and children, because My Mind is inseparable from the Mind of the Father and My will is eternal one with His will.

We were with you in the light before the appearance of the first material energy, so subtle that it is imperceptible to your bodies and incomprehensible to your minds.

You were born when there was no space, stars, planets and everything that is familiar to you, when not a single atom emitted or absorbed energy, when not a single ray of light pierced space, when the clock did not count out a single moment of the existence of the universe.

You and I saw how our Father drew boundaries between the vast worlds of future beings in subtle bodies, we saw how He determined the boundaries of all galaxies, how He wrote laws for the spirits of the air on the energy matrices of their worlds. He taught us to incarnate in order to create universal elemental forces to form the world that is now entrusted to you, as the wise stewards of space, on which we all worked together, glorifying the One who gave us knowledge, energy and His Love and Who is rightly called the Creator Universe.

We are His helpers, but the glory that is destined for Him belongs to us, for we are one with Him when we live in the light of love.

We are magnificent artists, architects and authors of all star systems and all the diversity of natural landscapes on all planets of the universe.

We rejoiced endlessly, playing with atoms and molecules and creating living creatures from them, which became larger and more intelligent until they acquired the ability to accommodate us in their former bodies.

My joy was with that brother of Mine who was the first of us to incarnate in a body made of substances and was able to appreciate our work and the love of the Father through the senses of his dense body. His unusually short incarnation brought him an even greater knowledge of love, because he acquired the opportunity to give his Light to all nature, all natural spirits and thank the Father for the beautiful world and perfect body.

Happy are those who keep love in their hearts! Only she will teach you when there is no mentor nearby and give you strength when you have to pass the test for even greater self-knowledge and the discovery of the endless potential of love.

Happy are those who hear Me within themselves, they are cheerful and every day full of strength to accomplish good deeds in My Light.

Whoever has found Me has found life in light and truth, he will enter into the Grace of God and will remain in it forever.

And the one who leaves Me loses love and harms himself; he begins to love death, darkness and destruction, for he has hated the path of Light. But I love him like a brother and wish true happiness for his troubled spirit.

Received the message: Contactor - Irina Podzorova 06/08/2021

August 27, 2022

Juna's Appeal from the Spiritual World

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/obrashchenie-dzhuny-iz-duhovnogo-mira

I want to reach out to every person. I want to tell you from the height of experience where I am now. I have already passed the threshold that you call “death,” and you are still in incarnation. Being a little further along the axis of development from you, know that you will also be where I am.

Before getting there, I wish every person to seriously think, while still on Earth, about whether you are fulfilling your task of incarnation. The question is very serious.

Each of you did not come here to live, work and give birth to children, and then go to the Spiritual world and thus leave a memory on Earth. Even if the memory remains on Earth, but you do not complete your task, this will not help you much.

Memory on Earth is not the main thing. Living for the sake of memory on Earth is the same material illusion as living for the sake of wealth. These things are of the same order. Therefore, while you are still here, in this body, in incarnation, think: why did you come here, ask your Higher Self , communicate with your Guardian Angel, pray to God, forgive your enemies, your enemies, forgive yourself and do not complain on God, no matter what. No matter how terrible the suffering may be in this world, it is temporary.

Eternity begins in the Spiritual world. It is very painful to realize that you did not accomplish what you wanted. Therefore, I ask you to appreciate every day, every moment of being in the world that I left.

I spent my last incarnation stupidly and mediocrely. Even though I helped many people, I couldn't cope with myself. I wish you could make it better. Therefore, remember, if your eyes are open, if your legs can walk, if your body can move, you can change everything in yourself - only in yourself, not in others. Whatever you want.

There is no need to waste the time given to you for spiritual development on some material pleasures that you won't remember tomorrow. Time is very valuable and very short. It will pass faster than you think. Life is never enough, even if there is a lot of it.

Related video: #442 Live broadcast with the spirit of Juna

May, 2022

August 30, 2022

Responsibility of the Jewish people for the crucifixion of Jesus Christ. The reason for the persecution of the Jewish people https://blog.cassiopeia.center/otvetstvennost-evrejskogo-naroda

He (Jesus) now showed me a crowd that was not just screaming in an unknown language, but people were simply yelling, a lot of people, there were women and children. Probably two hundred people. There are women there and even teenagers. And men, young men with beards. And they all shout: "Crucify him on the cross."

One is the loudest, like a priest, in expensive clothes, and he shouts a few words. This comes out loudest:

“May his blood remain forever on us and our children.”

These were not just words. This is according to the teaching that you punish “Kabbalah”, with a magical element. It was a transfer of energy.

What does it mean: “ Let the blood be on us and on our children?” »

According to the law of the Torah and Kabbalah, this meant that if I am guilty of something before them, it means that they are cleared of guilt for murder. And if I am innocent before them, then not only the guilt for the murder seemed to be imprinted on their Souls, not guilt, but, as it were, negative energy. But also, if I was innocent, then the crime that they attributed to me and for which they executed me, it also, as if in an energetic sense, was imprinted on their Souls. Not in the sense that they will be responsible for him, but in the sense that they lowered their vibrations. They seemed to take on this responsibility.

And when they said: “His blood is on us,” it was such a fair statement, one might say, because they believed that I was guilty. This means that they will be clean from this guilt, murder. They sincerely believed that I was guilty and worthy of the death penalty. When they added: “And on our children,” then they sent this energy, as it were, to their egregor. “On our children”, i.e. this man, he didn't say, "On my children." He thereby sent energy to the egregor, i.e. It’s as if he took responsibility for himself, so that through him they say: “Crucify him,” the whole people and all his children, one might say.

Since all the people and all the children naturally did not say this, they have no personal responsibility for the crucifixion. They are not responsible for this crucifixion. But since this energy got into the egregor, it was not by chance that these words that this person said ended up in the Gospel; they might not have gotten there. The words that this man said were printed and written in that Gospel, which was included in the canon, and it had already spread to different countries as Christianity spread.

People from other nations who had already accepted Christianity after the Apostle Paul, his disciples, which spread to all nations after the preachers of the truth, translated My words into the languages of all nations. These books, the Gospel, became available to all peoples. And among other things, they read the words: “His blood be on us and on our children.” And when people read this, some of them developed hostility, or even hatred, towards the people who took upon themselves such courage, such a mission - to kill Me. Not just to execute Me, but in this way, to crucify Me on the cross.

This is what gave rise to hostility and hatred, which made them see the descendants of Jews, who were not personally guilty of the crime that was then committed, as enemies. Sometimes, this vision of the enemy reached the point that Jews began to be seen as a symbol of all existing social evil, social injustice, which were not committed by Jews at all. Somehow such ideas, such images, such symbols were created that if this cause of evil was expelled or destroyed, then the entire people would live in happiness and prosperity.

Such societies, such egregors, were formed that embodied this idea on the physical level. This is the karmic consequence of these words that he said. It has echoed through the millennia in the hearts of many people. Of course, he didn’t know that it would respond like this. He didn't know at all that I was innocent. He was sincerely convinced that I was leading to rebellion, etc., he had his own ideas. However, this example shows how the word of each of you can reverberate through the millennia.

There are such karmic consequences, but they are not from the guilt itself, but from these words that are imprinted in the egregor.

#341 FOURTH meeting with the phantom of Jesus Christ! Answers to questions from Cassiopeia subscribers. Part 2.

Jesus Christ is the leader, the head of the Christian religious egregor on Earth and not only, the Firstborn Son of God, our Elder Brother.

September 2021

August 31, 2022

Who is buried in India in a grave with the inscription "Jesus of Nazareth" https://blog.cassiopeia.center/iisus-iz-nazareta

I have been to India three times. The last time I lived there was about two months. I was fifteen years old then. I communicated with representatives of traditions, then there were Buddhist religious egregors. On one of the days of my stay in India, I lived with an Indian family, whose members were contacts with Burkhad.

Once, when the saucer arrived, I visited Buddhist religious monasteries in Ladakh and lived there for several days. I walked through the highlands and visited a mountain lake. They showed me their ancient books, I treated their sick, taught them how to heal, passed on my experience, told them that I had come from the stars. They still perceived it as the incarnation of God, they called (me) the Supreme Spirit. They also called me the word “tau”, it’s like a “stubborn” Spirit.

I lived in India for about two months, and there I met with representatives of various castes, with high Brahmins, with lower castes. Moreover, I could not explain to them that they are equal. They pretended to believe me, but in my heart I saw that this teaching was incomprehensible to them, and the majority of them rejected it. Mainly not because of the division of the upper castes, but because of the fear that they will not be accepted, rejected by other representatives of their people. I showed them that it was written in their religious books.

Who is buried in India in a tomb with the inscription "Jesus of Nazareth" in the city of Srinagar in the state of Kashmir?

It shows a man without a beard, quite young in appearance. Yusipy. He belonged to the Islamic egregor. There was a second man there, who, like a scientist with a telescope, looks into the sky.

Perhaps there was a similar name, and since he was a religious man, he recalled my deeds, which all Indians in Kashmir had long known about from their Saint Thomas. But this person who ended up in the colony could have been much later, for example in the twelfth century. The second was even later, around the fourteenth century.

It was Islam, not a Christian egregor. This man was of a fairly high Spiritual level, and after death he went to the 23rd Spiritual level, and the Angel servants of this level are all perceived as Light, perhaps that’s why, based on the similarity of the name, they decided that this was my grave.

I know that there are seven graves on Earth that are called the graves of Christ. Some of them are in Jerusalem, some in Judea, one in Japan, and even in Turkey. In all these cases, people were buried there who were righteous, who were one Spirit with me, either by similarity of names, or by my contactees. They did not all belong to the Christian religious egregor. This is what happened in the case of Yusipius.

Timecode: 1:00:46, #241 FIRST meeting with the phantom of Jesus Christ! Answers to questions from Cassiopeia subscribers!

Jesus Christ is the head of the Christian religious egregor on Earth (and not only), the Firstborn “son” of the Creator (the first Spirit to begin an individual existence, separated from the Creator).

April 2021

September 8, 2022

Why does God create worlds?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/zachem-bog-sozdayot-miry

If God hears everything, knows everything, then why create worlds, planets, what is all this for? Why, if there is a part of God in every being, he is absolute, knows everything? Why does God need all our incarnations?

The world was created because of love. So that God, the Heavenly Father, can give his love to all worlds and spaces. In order to have someone to give it to, he created material worlds.

He first gave birth to children, carriers of his love, then created material worlds so that they could manifest it in material worlds and build their own worlds, densifying them more and more until it finally comes to the physical world.

The denser the matter, the greater the distance in vibration from the spiritual world, the more matter can influence the spirit, drawing the spirit's attention to itself. This can lead to oblivion of the divine light.

But this is not in order to put some tests on the spirit, but so that through the material world, through more and more dense forms of the material world, it realizes the same light of God that is everywhere.

For example, in the physical world we see Galaxies, we see stars, we see other luminous objects that remind us of the light of God in this physical dense world. We see from our planets how the stars form a constellation, showing us that it is better for intelligent spirits to stick together in order to create some kind of business.

How the stars are gathered into a constellation so that, for example, the path of travelers can be read from them. These are the analogies that arise when looking at the material world.

Why is the sun at the center of the solar system? Our star is located at the center of our system in order to give spirits living at the third level of density in the physical world an understanding that God is at the center of everything. The sun is the visible manifestation of divine light in the physical world.

Opening the textbook, one might say, an analogue of your natural history for 1st grade, we call it "Study of the Physical World," and already in this textbook it is written (imagine that you have this written):

> The Sun is the visible manifestation of divine spiritual Light in the physical world.

Every child here knows about this.

LiShioni is a specialist in astral interactions, planet Shimor.

August, 2022

September 9, 2022

LiSioni about the Universe inside us

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/lishioni-o-vselennoj-vnutri-nas

LiShioni, an inhabitant of the planet Shimor, who is a specialist in the study of the astral world on his planet, decided to tell us about his vision of the path of spiritual development.

Expand your mind to the limits of the Universe. Let infinity be your border.

Each immortal spirit is an entire boundless Universe, without realizing it. When he enters his inner space, he begins to realize his limitlessness and becomes acquainted with the stars and constellations of his inner cosmos.

He becomes different, comprehends wisdom in the Light and understands that he no longer needs to humiliate himself in front of someone in order to receive material benefits, because he is limitless and self-sufficient, he shines.

This radiance begins to break through from within and everyone around understands that the person has changed. For many, this causes anxiety and fear of losing their usual picture of the world, and then other particles of the infinite Light, who have composed a terrible fairy tale for themselves and have built themselves a cramped and dark cage for many incarnations, begin to spend the time of their lives returning the Light that awakened within themselves back into the darkness of limitations, into the swamp of fears, bewilderment and distrust of the flow of Life, which is the Light that carries everyone towards itself.

When the boundless Universe, full of secrets and mysteries, takes on the form of a small “I” and, worst of all, believes in it and begins to live like a small “I”, many problems begin related to greed, jealousy, small needs inherent in a consciousness limited by boundaries everyday life.

But as soon as you discover the Universe within yourself, the world will become brighter and warmer, for yourself and for everyone around you.

Stop looking for miracles somewhere, go to the mirror and smile at yourself.
You are the greatest miracle in the entire Universe and your real problem is only that you have forgotten that you are one.

You look for miracles all over the world, go to places of power, go to gurus and spiritual guides only because you have forgotten your true nature. Every morning, go to the mirror, smile at yourself and say out loud that you are the Light of true Love and with Love and gratitude accept all manifestations of this material world, which is actually one of the small facets that reflect your immortal, infinite, true essence.

Look yourself in the eyes, and then turn to the world with a direct and open look of Love, understanding and acceptance of everything that happens.
A day that begins with such a look cannot pass as usual, with problems, quarrels, misunderstandings and mistrust. The entire Universe will turn towards happiness and love emanating from the point in space where you will be.

Walk down the street in a state of Light and you will see how your energy enters others and charges them with joy and kindness. People who were in your reality at that moment begin to accept this state and smile with you.

Imagine how easy it is to change the world just by feeling the joy within yourself and not being afraid to express it. People who are at too low vibrational frequencies will be irritated by your Light for no reason and they will think badly of you, without knowing anything about you.

But their thoughts are completely unimportant for the Light in you; all that matters to it is that people around you smile and the world is filled with Light and the beauty of their happy faces.

Every time you feel sad and judge the world and yourself, then you spin your Universe towards more and more negativity. There is no future, because it is changeable.

And there is great pleasure in this. The pleasure of realizing that at any moment you can stop your reality, say “stop” to negative events, and, as if by waving a magic wand, change your present and future life, changing only your attitude towards it.

The entire world around us begins with thoughts about it. If they are negative, then don't be surprised if you constantly get problems.

Pull yourself together, trust God and walk through life with Him. Rejoice and enjoy it and don't look for meaning in it - there simply isn't any. The whole meaning of life is to live it enjoying all the manifestations of the world around us.

Rejoice in the first rays of the sun that penetrate your body, filling you with light and warming you. Allow yourself, as in childhood, to lie down on the grass and begin to admire the clouds, imagining what they look like, which develops the intuitive principle in you, opening the way to inner vision.

Go to the park and watch how the autumn leaves fall, how the golden foliage becomes a carpet under your feet. Touch it with joy and recognize this matter as part of yourself. It is important to let yourself go, to become a child again, free and carefree. The state of a sage is the state of a child, pure and open to the world.

LiShioni is a specialist in astral interactions, planet Shimor.

March, 2020

September 13, 2022

Are all rulers human? Why are the rulers of the Earth allowed to cause harm and suffering to earthlings?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vse-li-praviteli-yavlyayutsya-lyudmi

From a genetic point of view, in all countries known to us, people who were born earthly creatures come to power.

The spirits embodied in these people can naturally be incarnated from other planets, just like your own.

The origin of all bodies is earthly, the origin of all Spirits is unearthly.

We all come from the Spiritual world. And before that, we all had different experiences of incarnation in different worlds.

For example, Raom Tiyan had incarnations on Earth. Some of you, my dears, had incarnations on his planet - Burkhad .

Where the Spirits of your rulers were incarnated can only be examined with their consent, with the help of their Spiritual mentors.

Rulers are allowed to cause suffering because everyone has freedom of choice. Each Spirit knows about its tasks of incarnation before the moment of birth.

The spirit incarnates in a certain period of time in history when the population of the Earth has not yet reached a certain level of consciousness. This means that he needs such experience - the experience of finding himself, the Light.

There are many branches of religion and teachings on Earth. Everyone can make their own choice and everyone should learn to take responsibility for their choice.

When a ruler commits an evil act, this leads to a lowering of his own vibrations and the fact that after death, having entered the Spiritual World, his mentors will inform him that he has not completed the necessary lessons.

Your main task is to increase the level of awareness in yourself, the level of love and grace. Because, despite all the difficulties that you go through in the material world, by doing this you purify your Spirit and prepare it for being in the Spiritual World.

Timecode: 30:09, #74 Live broadcast with contactee Irina Podzorova. Is Christ risen? The universe is infinite?

Raom Tiyan is a representative of the planet Burhad, a specialist in energy interactions in the material world.

April 2020

September 17, 2022

Yeti asks people a question

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/jeti-zadayot-vopros-lyudyam

> For what reason do most of you hide your Divine power in your brain and use it not to prolong life, not for health, not to connect with nature for the sake of harmony, but to destroy yourself and those around you? This power is given by God, as you call it, the Creator.

> For what reason might you create a negative thought form in which you have a vivid image of your own death or the death of someone with whom you disagree? This is destruction.

Yeti - 15,000 people whose tribes are located in remote places on Earth where there are no people. Humanity has common ancestors with them.

After the war 12,000 years ago, the yeti remained on Earth, survived a 3-year period of restoration of the planet, radiation, and underwent mutation, as a result of which they began to give birth to children with hypertrichosis.

They did not want to join the artificial environment of civilization; they preferred to remain in nature.

September 23, 2022

Recommendations for a sense of unity from Archangel Michael https://blog.cassiopeia.center/rekomendacii-dlya-oshchushcheniya-edinstva

Dear friends in the material world! I want to appeal to each of you with the wish to find within yourself the Light of love and happiness, which will give you the strength to develop, to fulfill your life task, despite those temporary material circumstances that can be very complex and difficult, for your material body and for your mind.

Remember that the lifespan of each person, compared to eternal existence in the Spiritual world, is like the burning time of one match compared to the lifetime of the Sun. Each of you is the Sun of the Spirit.

Those events that are happening on the physical plane now are initiated by a common collective choice recorded in the egregors of your Planet. In order to change events in a brighter direction, it is necessary right now for each of you to begin to radiate the Light of love in your words, in your actions, in your thoughts and emotions to every person, no matter what country he lives in and no matter what language he speaks. .

If you believe that the actions of a person or group of people are unjust, leave them to the judgment of the Lord God, who knows everyone's heart. You are not judges, you are children of God, who loves everyone equally. Condemnation, in any kind of choice of another person's life path, is already your choice, which causes the same circumstances as in the life of the person whom you condemned.

This is a Spiritual law that allows you to feel the unity of your Spirit with the Spirits of all the people who are next to you on Earth. In one generation there are Spirits who, in the overwhelming majority of cases, were already familiar with each other in the Spiritual world or in past incarnations.

Learn to recognize the Divine Light in any person. Learn to see in any person your teacher, and not an object of condemnation. Learn to see in the events that are now happening around you not a source of pain and suffering, but an opportunity to move to a higher level of Spiritual development.

Learn to see military actions, not as an opportunity for death and destruction of temporary material buildings, but as an opportunity for a lesson for the entire earthly civilization as a whole and for each individual representative to value the lives of other people as their own.

Without passing this lesson, the spiritual evolution of any civilization on any planet, at any level of density, is impossible. Remember this and, instead of judgment, send the Light of your love to aggressive and cruel people. They need it even more than those who already have love within them.

Thank you for your attention to this project, to our contactees, guides of Light and healers in this project.

I send you the Light of my Spiritual Heart. I love you.

Timecode: 1:04:04, #466 Live. Answers to questions with Archangel Michael.

Archangel Michael is the Highest Hierarch of the Spiritual World, the Lord of the Cycles of Incarnations at all levels of density of the planet Earth, the manager of the Christian egregor.

July 2022

September 29, 2022

What is the Voynich manuscript?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/chto-predstavlyaet-soboj-manuskript-vojnicha

This is a medieval book that was written by contactees - both with plasmoid civilizations, and with the Spiritual World, and with humanoid civilizations. But the contact information there was transmitted in a code that was known to its creators. This book was written not by one author, but by several. Moreover, there are also several ciphers.

The information was about various plants, entities, levels of plasmoid worlds, the Spiritual World - everything that the curators gave.

For what reason was it written in code and the drawings were encrypted? At the time of its creation, there was still a strong influence of the Inquisition, and so that there was no danger of this text being read by those people who could persecute these contactees, it was decided to encrypt this knowledge.

September 29, 2022

Mary Magdalene about the resurrection of Christ

I was one of the first to see him. But I was not alone. At that time I was with his mother. He was resurrected, that is, he restored his body. As we already know, he got help. They were then considered Angels. Now you call them aliens - people from other stars in physical bodies.

At that time, we sincerely believed that these were Angels from God. They glowed and were dressed in white clothes. We saw them too. Their skin was so white that it glowed in the sun. We called them "Angels".

When we were near the cave, we first saw that there was no one there. His mother and I thought that the soldiers stole him so that people would not worship him. We were upset and cried.

Suddenly I heard footsteps from behind. When I turned around, I saw the Light that came from Jesus. It was not physical light, it illuminated my Soul. It seemed to me that the Sun began to shine brighter. I couldn't believe my eyes.

I thought it was someone else, a very similar person. I asked:

> "Who are you? Why are you walking here? And where have you divided the body of Jesus?"

But at the same time, my heart knew it was him. When I asked, I already knew the answer.

He said:

> "It's me".

I wanted to get up and hug him. But he stopped me and told me not to touch him yet. He was in a changed body. Later, when we communicated with his Spirit, he explained that the changed body for the first few days was so high-vibrational that he should not touch people.

When his mother approached him, they were talking at a distance.

After a few days, the vibrations of his body adapted to the vibrations of space, and he was able to touch people. He was with us for forty days. He didn't just appear and disappear. He could stay with us for a long time: sit in the same room, tell us something. Then they took him away: he rose into the air and was carried away by a white cloud.

Timecode: 22:29, #400 Live broadcast with the Spirit of Mary Magdalene.

Phantom of the Spirit of Mary Magdalene.

January 2022

October 2, 2022

A wish to the yeti people

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/pozhelanie-lyudyam-ot-jeti

Dear people, my neighbors on the planet, my brothers and sisters in flesh and blood. Not by family connection, but by common human nature, by genetics. Family ties here are not in our blood, but in our common nature.

I want to address you with wishes and gratitude for inviting me to this event, which you called “Live on the Internet”, for your questions, for your interest in my tribe, in our people, in their life, to our passions and to our abilities.

I want to wish you the revelation of Divine energy within yourself. What you call the Divine potential of each Spirit, which, among other things, is inherent in the cells of the body; combining material and spiritual nature in order to create from oneself a perfect and independent being that can exist regardless of natural and artificial conditions.

He desires the fulfillment of the potential in our Divine nature.

October 7, 2022

What do the sacraments of Unction and Communion give?

Like the funeral rite, the sacraments of the church have meaning only for Christians. For those who sincerely and with all their soul belong to the Christian faith. That is, he sincerely recognizes Christ as God, recognizes his words as Truth, and recognizes the Christian church as an organization that is led by the spirit of Christ. This is the one who is a Christian.

It is for such a person that the sacrament of Unction allows a person to cleanse himself of negative astral and mental vibrations that are generated by his bad thoughts, negative, low-vibration feelings that he is aware of, and even from those that he himself does not remember.

The Sacrament of Communion for living people - its meaning lies in the fact that it not only cleanses all layers of a person's aura from negative energetic vibrations due to what a person accepts at the energetic level - he actually accepts not bread and wine, but the body and blood of Christ. Because it is precisely this program that is embedded in the ritual of Transfiguration - the transformation of bread and wine into the body and blood of Christ.

On the energetic level - yes, they really become the body and really the blood of Christ - due to the fact that Christ is still in the body that Mary gave birth to, that is, the representative of the Earth. And from the fact that a person "accepts the blood and body of Christ", he is not only cleansed of all types of negative vibrations, but the vibrations of his physical body also change. Thanks to which the instincts of his body, his animal nature - it no longer influences the spirit as much as before.

This only happens if Communion is received with faith, with sincere desire, with faith in Christ and after the appropriate preparation that your spiritual leaders in the Christian church tell you.

As for Communion before death, any Christian considers death a very important stage in his life. And naturally, before death, in order to cleanse yourself of all negative feelings and all negative thoughts and unite with the body of Christ, that is, become a part of it - every Christian strives for this. If before death, with proper preparation and with feeling, a person takes communion, then practically he finds himself in the higher strata, the highest levels of the spiritual world.

Do I need to go to church to receive communion?

The fact is that the church is not only an organization on Earth, it is also a certain egregor; only those who feel in their hearts that there is Divine grace there should go there.

If a person sincerely feels that Divine grace exists in another religious denomination, religion, it is better for him to go there and walk that path, and he will also come to God.

All religions on Earth are filled with the same Spirit of love for God, love for one's neighbor and for oneself, but those details in different religions that have been created over centuries, or even millennia, fill the egregors with certain vibrations that are suitable for different people.

If you believe that only the Orthodox Church has truth, you may well go there. If at the same time you condemn other denominations or religions in your Soul or out loud, you will nullify all your good efforts.

Timecode: 41:07, #36 Mirach Count from planet Burhad. A disciple of Jesus Christ.

Mirah Count is a political scientist and religious scholar, a specialist in the creation of religious and philosophical egregors in the worlds of young races.

January, 2020

October 11, 2022

What is the Grail? Last Supper

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/chto-takoe-graal-tajnaya-vecherya

The Grail is the cup from which the disciples of Jesus Christ received their first communion at the Last Supper. Why was it called the Last Supper? Because other people were not allowed into the room where this sacrament took place. There they performed what today researchers call a ritual, and in church religions a sacrament, i.e. This is a ritual of connecting two worlds - Spiritual and Material.

The establishment of the order of this sacrament was before the Last Supper. No one was allowed there except the disciples of Jesus Christ. This bowl has actually survived to this day.

This Chalice was with Mary the Mother of God, she kept it. And after her soul parted with her body, and after her son Jesus took her body to Burkhad, the cup remained with her children. It was passed down from generation to generation. But it was passed down not among descendants, but among believers.

And now the bowl is located somewhere in Turkey, Asia Minor, and its energies can be felt in this place. It exists now.

Timecodes: 48:05 #131 Kirlian effect. Aura. Religion. Conference by Irina Podzorova with Sofia Blank and Michael Melikhov.

2:16:07 #206 Second meeting with the Mother of God. Unique dialogues with Zoom participants and an Orthodox priest.

MidgasKaus from the planet Esler - biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations;

LiShioni from the planet Shimor is a specialist in the astral world and its interaction with the material world.

August, 2020

Mirakh Count is a representative of the planet Burkhad, a disciple of Jesus Christ, the keeper of the Christian egregor.
February 2021

October 13, 2022

Briefly about cremation and burial. Organ transplantation

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/korotko-o-kremacii-i-zahoronenii

It all depends on the traditions of the country. The fact is that organs do not die all at once, they die in a certain sequence. Some Souls can be held by the fact that there is a body left on Earth that still releases energy for some time until all the organs decompose, and if it is burned, all this ends immediately.

Each country has its own traditions, there is the formation of its own egregors, there is the formation of a certain structure. If the laws of this country allow, of course, you have the right to dispose of your body in any way.

If an organ of a deceased person is transplanted into another body, then while there, it will be fueled by another vital energy, and the influence of the spirit will be cut off.

The organ of the deceased, entering another physical body with its vital energy, begins to exchange blood and various energies on the physical and subtle material level with this body. As soon as this organ begins to be nourished by another, alien life energy, the connection with this Spirit is completely severed.

Timecode: 43:24, #20 Contactor with extraterrestrial civilizations Irina Podzorova: meeting in Voronezh (part 3) Incarnation

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

Lynn Kruos is a representative of the planet Disaru, a specialist in organic chemistry and bioecology.

October, 2019

October 14, 2022

What does the term “transition of the Earth into the fifth dimension” mean?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/perekhod-zemli-v-pyatoe-izmerenie

This term refers to the transformation of the earth’s noosphere, that is, that part of the astral atmosphere where your egregors, your thoughts and feelings, on which the ideology of your society depends, are located.

The transformation consists in the fact that these egregors are cleansed of negative vibrations: anger, envy, jealousy, lust and other low-vibration states, which subsequently affect the minds and feelings of all your earthly people, especially young people, children who do not yet have an established worldview. Instead of these negative vibrations, others develop, which bring with them patience, love, faith, mercy and other high-vibration states. And indeed, this is a transition to a new reality, it is completely unusual for you, and when this happens, it will be a completely different world for you.

When did this transition begin? Well, if you look from a global point of view, this was the main purpose of the incarnation of Christ on Earth, because with his teaching, his blood and body (as I already explained) he changes the vibrations in people, in their minds. And already minds, already spirits, embodied in these bodies, thanks to new thoughts, can create a new reality around themselves, changing matter in this world accordingly.

Therefore, speaking globally, this transition began with his appearance on Earth, since this was the main purpose of his incarnation - the transition.

How long will it last? A lot depends on you, on your choice. Of course, the entire Interstellar Union wants it to end as quickly and painlessly as possible for you - this largely depends not even on your rulers, but on each of you individually, since the bright feelings and thoughts of each of you are already changing reality in the direction that will lead the entire civilization to life in divine light.

Timecode: 45:00, #36 Mirach Count from planet Burhad. Disciple Jesus Christ

Mirah Count is a political scientist and religious scholar, a specialist in the creation of religious and philosophical egregors in the worlds of young races.

January, 2020

October 16, 2022

Hell is a rejection of Love

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ad-ehto-otverzhenie-ot-lyubvi

This is not a place, this is a state. Hell is a symbol of the suffering that occurs without God. This is a state of spiritual death, staying in low vibrational states of hatred, anger, resentment, condemnation. Man himself creates hell for himself already on Earth.

The state of hell is a mismatch, an imbalance of the vibrations of the human spirit and the vibrations of Divine energies, which are so different that when high vibrations come into contact with lower vibrations, the lower vibrations experience a complete imbalance of their own essence, which is expressed in sensations of burning, pain and other unpleasant painful feelings.

October 21, 2022

Living and dead water

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/zhivaya-i-myortvaya-voda

The symbol of living and dead water is commonly found in scriptures, myths and fairy tales. SKAZ is the transfer of information, a story, KA is the soul. This means that a fairy tale is a story for the soul. Certain legends were passed down from generation to generation, connecting them with an information chain. In those days, they replaced modern libraries and even entire scientific universities.

Previously, specially trained magicians were engaged in compiling tales and retelling them to younger generations.

Water was a symbol of various energies, not only the energies of the water element, but also all elements, for example, the etheric energy of man, that is, the etheric field. If the earth was a symbol of the dense material world, the sky was a symbol of the Spiritual world, then water, located between them in density, was a symbol of subtle material civilizations as well.

Living and dead water, as two different types of energy, could lead a person to different energy states: either to an increase in his vitality, vitality, an increase in the etheric field, or to a decrease in his vitality and energy, to filling him with negative energy from plasmoid civilizations.

This often meant contact with plasmoid civilizations, which could either fill it with living water, that is, their life-giving energy, or fill it with dead water, that is, that which led the body to various disorders, to suppression of activity, decreased immunity, causing, as Now they say in medicine, tissue necrosis is some kind of death.

The fact is that the human body already consists of about 8-10% of dead cells. These are skin, intestinal, and bone cells that change. So your bodies are already partially made up of dead tissue. And in general, the word “dead” meant a decrease in energy, “alive” meant an increase in energy, namely the life force in the etheric field. Living and dead water are symbols of various energetic influences that led to either an increase or decrease in vitality.

Timecode: 35:54, #194 Unique properties of water. Cleaning methods, effects on the body, Elemental spirits. How to charge water?

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

January 2021

November 4, 2022

How do plasmoids reproduce?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kak-razmnozhayutsya-plazmoidy

Irina : it varies. They have no gender like ours. They can only take the form of a man, woman or child. They do not have similar physical bodies with sexual characteristics. Their bodies look like multifaceted crystals and geometric shapes, for example, a ball, a pyramid, a cone with a ball inside, a complex multifaceted structure, a beam or column of light, a series of waves, a shapeless amoeba, of a wide variety of shapes and colors.

They can reproduce by division. Or, for example, when a plasmoid disintegrates and leaves incarnation, new spirits are already incarnated into its body (which disintegrates, relatively speaking, into 10-15 fragments). It happens that a plasmoid buds off its children from itself. And it happens when two, three or more plasmoids send out their rays and create a future body in these rays. All this depends on the type of plasmoids, their density, civilization, etc.

November 6, 2022

Is Islam the last religion? Who is Allah?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/islam-poslednyaya-religiya

Answered by Apshetarim, representative of the planet Tumesout, Angel Gabriel in Islam.

I, as the one who conveyed most of the words that later became the text, directly to Magomed, was his curator. Now I also remain in contact with him. Although he is now in the Spiritual world, and I am still embodied in the material world.

There is no direct word in the Koran that Islam has replaced all religions. It meant that on the Arabian Peninsula, to which the Interstellar Union sent me, including my mentors from the Spiritual World, that is, I had an agreement. There were many religions in the Arabian Peninsula before the birth of Mohammed, who himself was born into a religious family. These religions provided for the worship and veneration of many gods, Spirits of nature, and Spirits of ancestors. The Earth's traditional connection with the Spirits of Nature, which your ancestors revered as gods.

Religions were heterogeneous. It cannot be said that there was worship of many gods whose names were the same. These were heterogeneous cults in different areas, which became the cause of disagreements between different priests, shamans, between different cults and their followers.

For this reason, it was decided to unite the Arab peoples and the peoples who lived nearby under a single religion. It is for this reason that the Koran said that there is only one God - Allah, and whoever believes in him is submissive to him and follows his path.

I want to clarify right away who this is – Allah. By Allah is meant neither Mohammed nor his Spirit. By Allah I do not mean I, the one who brought this news. By Allah we mean only the Creator of the Universe, the Creator of all worlds. That is what he is called - the Creator of all worlds. By worlds we mean those civilizations that live near the stars, in your opinion, aliens, as well as various subtle civilizations, and all spiritual levels. This is the Creator of everything. He exists alone. He who is the cause of everything is One.

Islam replaced all religions, meaning it was supposed to replace only those where people worshiped many gods. These are polytheistic cults. This was one of the tasks of the new religion. As for religions before Islam that recognized one God, this is not condemned in the Koran and is not called upon to replace them with Islam. This is a human right.

Timecode: 06:46, #204 History of the religion Islam. What information did the Angel Gabriel convey to the Prophet Mohammed?

Apshetarim is a representative of the planet Tumesout, Angel Gabriel in Islam.

January 2021

November 19, 2022

The concepts of “Rule”, “Glory”, “Nav”, “Reality”

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/ponyatiya-prav-slav-nav-yav

How to understand such Slavic concepts as “Rule”, “Real”, “Nav”?

Let us first take the letter “B”; a soft sign next to it will only strengthen this concept. The image of this letter that was shown to me looks like a flower and the designation of a rune, but in fact it signified the entrance to the female womb. For the ancient Slavs, this was quite natural, since body parts associated with the most important functions of the body always carried the theme of symbolism when transmitting information in the form of images.

In fact, the letter “B” stood for the simple concept of internal, “within something.” Inside is something that has not yet been born. They were born precisely from the female womb, so the designation of this hole meant “what’s inside.” “Inner world” if it was said about spiritual topics, “inside something” if it was about material things.

Now we're watching RULE. Rune “PR” or “PRA”, “PRE”, “PRI”, “PRO” and so on. This was also a very ancient concept. The easiest way to convey its meaning is through a rune. The symbol for this rune looks something like the symbol for lightning. It meant “a quick, dramatic change, an intervention, a transition to a new level.” This type of energy, when it appeared, mixed everything up. He could create some kind of chaos, but he could, on the contrary, bring order. But this type of energy has always “worked” according to the will of God, that is, these are Divine energies that change some events.

You can convey the meaning as “the call of fate” or “the will of fate”, some fateful events. Again, it’s impossible to convey in one word. Ancient people had a very rich figurative language, and it is very difficult to convey it in modern words. In any case, “PRA” is the Divine energies of change. One might say, a fresh wind of change.

Such energy came not only from us, but from the Spiritual world, approximately like the Holy Spirit. You have an understanding of the Holy Spirit, who cleanses, helps, instructs. He makes changes, including in the form of raising vibrations. In the most general sense - changes to raise the vibrations of something. But since “B” meant “within,” the word “RIGHT” refers to the inner world. It is in the inner world of the Soul that the energy of holiness exists, energy that can change, increasing the vibrations that a person already carries into the outside world. Therefore, “RIGHT” meant a feeling of holiness, change, increasing vibrations within a person.

"GLORY." Again, “SL” was a universal designation of the concept of power, which was precisely given so that “PRA”, as an understanding of the Divine power of change, would manifest itself in the world. For a person, it is like a person's own willpower. "SL" denoted the power given for this change. Therefore, “GLORY” is the Power Within that a person received from the feeling of increasing vibration for changes in the material world.

"REALITY". I already talked about the letter “A”. The letter “I” also had a similar symbol, because “I” is a later pronunciation of the letter “A”. First there was “A”, and then “I”. They were simply divided in the Russian alphabet, one was placed in front, and the second behind everyone. Previously it was a single symbol. It denoted, like “A,” the beginning, birth, creation, fertility. And “REALITY” in this case meant creation, the birth of new fruits inside, this is precisely the ripening of those fruits that will then appear, be obvious.

"NAV" is a more general concept. As I already said, the syllable “NA” is what is on the surface. If we see the connection of what is on the surface and what is inside, that is, “NAV”, then these syllables denote the inner world, which does not exist in the material. One might say, this is how the world of the Spirit, astral, plasmoid, was designated. Contact with him is within. Plasmoids, of course, are external beings, but they can only be felt through your heart. Again, this is a very figurative, priestly language that used to denote these concepts.

Timecode: 56:59, #356 Slavic Gods and Runes. Veles about the myths of the ancient Slavs. Interpretation of Runes. Who is God Svarog?

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms;

LiShioni - representative of the planet Shimor, sociologist, specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world;

Veles is a representative of the subtle world of the 18th density level, a Slavic deity.

October, 2021

November 27, 2022

The book “Dimon” - philosophical and esoteric fiction of the Earth

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/filosofsko-ehzotericheskaya-fantastika-zemli

In the “MS Practices” chat, one woman wrote that she had not liked to read since childhood and asked to recommend a book in which she might feel interested. She told me that she reads esoteric literature, but somehow it didn’t go well with fiction since childhood.

I recommended one art book to her. Then she wrote in the chat:

“After work, I sat down to read the first chapter and went into the story, and came to my senses at the end of the fifth chapter at about two in the morning.”

She read the book, forgetting about everything, even about time. Then she wrote that she read it quickly enough and was grateful to me for helping her fall in love with reading fiction.

This is a fairly well-known book, its author is Alexander Torik, it is called “Dimon”. This is not an esoteric name. I'll tell you a little.

The cover says:

"Dimon", a fairy tale for children from 14 to 104 years old."

This book is in the form of a fairy tale, it will indeed be interesting for teenage children, and it was written for them, but this form of spiritual fiction will be very interesting for adults.

Its author, Alexander Torik, is an Archpriest of the Orthodox Church. He graduated from the Seminary and serves as a senior priest in the Orthodox Church, confesses and administers communion. In addition to this activity, he writes books for children and young people in the form of so-called “Orthodox fiction.” Alexander Torik also has a more famous book called “Father Flavian”, it is more philosophical and consists of two parts.

The book "Dimon" will be of interest to everyone. She talks about one young guy, 16-17 years old. About how he, an ordinary schoolboy, fell in love with a girl. This girl, having had an accident, fell into a coma and ended up in the hospital. How much he worried about her is described at the beginning of the book.

And then the boy met an Orthodox monk on the street, who, seeing that he was upset about something, offered to share it with him. And when the boy told him about this girl, the monk invited him to his closet, as the author describes it, and offered this option for helping the girl. He said:

“Lie down on my trestle bed, and I will kneel down and pray to God for you so that your Guardian Angel will come and help your Soul leave your body. And you, together with your Guardian Angel, were able to go to the Spiritual World, where the girl’s Soul is located. Her body cannot wake up because she simply forgot the way. And you will bring her back. But in order for you to find her, you are given a Guardian Angel. On your way you will meet different entities called demons, they will offer you various temptations and pleasures so that you stay there. Remember, the items that they will offer you will be like real, real things for you. If you forget about the girl and get carried away, then both your body and hers will perish. You won’t be able to help her, and you yourself won’t come back, you’ll forget about this world.”

And then it describes how he agreed, lay down on the bed, and his first sensations of leaving the body, how he saw his body from the side and the entire surrounding space.

His Guardian Angel appeared to him and they became acquainted. Holding hands, they flew up. The following describes how they rose through the levels. At each level they were met by demons who did not look scary, they looked like ordinary people. Despite their features, they were, on the contrary, very charming and smiled a lot. They offered him something to do at their level, for example, a tasty meal, and some even offered him drugs (pills or injections). They talked about the benefits, praising and luring “you try this, and then go there.”

The point is that they provoked moments of his distraction from the goal, from the right path, he thought:

“I’ll just spend a few minutes now, and then I’ll move on,”

- it was tempting for him. But the struggle had already begun within him. He thought that “they told me that this is dangerous, then I won’t help the girl.” Such a struggle was going on within him. I was surprised that the Guardian Angel stood nearby, listened to the proposals of these demons, but never told the boy what to do, did not prompt him.

And after he passed the next temptation, and they rose higher, the boy asked:

“Why didn’t you tell me what to do? I would really like to stay there and I could forget about it.”

And the Angel answered him:

“We are generally forbidden to influence a person’s choice; you had to make it yourself.”

This woman (from the chat) downloaded the book, and she was so carried away by it that she forgot about the time. I won’t tell you how the book ends. Find out for yourself how the story ends. The book is very kind, it is not written in the same form as sometimes Orthodox texts for children, when they “read morals.” This is an unusually good story, where “morals are not read”, where the reader himself is left to choose how to think.

Timecode: 14:59, #417 Where to start on the Spiritual path? Practice of increasing the vibrations of planet Earth from Archangel Gabriel (part 3).

With love to you, Irina Podzorova.

November 2021

November 28, 2022

Spiritual interpretation of the Lord's Prayer

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/duhovnoe-tolkovanie-molitvy-otche-nash

The curator of MidgasCaus gave us a detailed spiritual interpretation of the fundamental prayer “Our Father” (Gospel of Matthew, Chapter 6), which was spoken by Jesus Christ in the context of the Sermon on the Mount.

1. “Our Father”

Christ turned to God, the Father of all spirits. The word “our” emphasizes that he considers God not only his Father. If he were his only son, he would say “My father.” He knew that he was giving this prayer to many people to turn to God. He considered people his brothers, that he had a common Father with them.

2. "You are already in heaven"

The Slavic word “izhe” means “which”, “esi” from the word “is”, that is, “which is in heaven”. Heaven did not mean the physical sky, but the Spiritual world, as the source of the material. These words emphasized that the Spiritual world, the sky, is the place of residence of God, and the dense material world is only one of his manifested energies. The Divine essence itself is contained in the Spiritual world, “the Essence from which Divine energy emanates.”

3. “Hallowed be thy name”

The term “holiness” denoted the highest form of love, “to be holy” - to show the light of one’s soul. “Name” in the understanding of Christ is not just a set of letters; the word “name” in the Essene tradition denoted the personal vibrational characteristic of the essence. This is reflected in numerology, each person’s name contains a number, a personal vibration, a unique characteristic, an individual essence, an energy that does not repeat. The word “name” meant this unique Divine personality, its energy. The word “Yes” means “let”, this is the desire that the name of God be holy. That is, so that the essence of God is holy for the one who reads the prayer. This is a message of the highest forms of love, glorification, the light of love of the essence of God.

4. “Thy kingdom come”

All this was given naturally in the allegories and concepts of that time. The word “kingdom” meant a certain structure of power that establishes the order of government. When they talked about the Kingdom of God, they distinguished it from the kingdom of the earth. The Kingdom of God is the spiritual laws, peace and order that were created by the entire cosmos, the material world, and allowed these laws to manifest themselves harmoniously at any point in space, instant and time. That is, the Kingdom of God in a broad sense is his commandments, his love.

The commandments are a manifestation of Divine love, because besides love there is no other energy in God. Therefore, “Thy kingdom come” are the divine spiritual laws that God has in the Spiritual world. A person expresses his readiness to accept these laws and become, as it were, a subject of this kingdom, to enter the state of these energies of light. These are all the concepts of that time: “I become a subject of another kingdom, I submit to another king.” For the level of development of people of that time, this was understandable. In esoteric terms, this means “I wish to change my vibrations and enter into the energy of Divine light, develop in myself the vibrational characteristics of Divine light and open the Kingdom of God within me, open it in the material world.”

5. “Thy will be done as it is in heaven and on earth”

The earth, not like a planet, the word “earth” in the Bible often means the entire material world, as a prototype of dense matter compared to air. The earth is understood as the entire world of manifested energy of God in the form of matter at all levels of density. The words “thy will” are the fundamental concept of the will of God and the free will of the spirit.

The will of God is not just desire and aspiration, it is love, the energy of love aimed at a specific goal. That is, any movement of the Will of God is a movement of the energies of his love, aimed at fulfilling his goals. The free will of the spirit may differ from the Will of God, from love due to the fact that it can fall in vibrations, degrade and experience suffering. Suffering is not due to lower vibrations, but because Divine energy begins to act on him, which is in dissonance with his spiritual essence. This is Divine law. God cannot eliminate the suffering of a low vibrational spirit, because to do this he will have to remove the energy from it, which will destroy it.

Divine energy is everywhere, God is omnipresent. If God raises vibrations where he is, then God will already change and will not become love in his part, this is also impossible, because he is the very essence of love. For this reason, the spirit, descending in its vibrations, when its will begins to differ from the will of God, inevitably begins to experience spiritual suffering. Suffering is the spirit's perception of itself as deprived of certain energies to which, in its opinion, it should be attached.

“Yes” is a wish, the word “will be” - translation into Russian, could be translated as “restoration,” that is, “I want to be restored to your will, may there be restoration of your will in me.” That is, the spirit voluntarily wants to unite its will with the spirit of the Father, with the will of love. Since this is the free desire of the spirit itself, it is especially dear to our heavenly Father, like the love of a son or daughter.

“As in heaven, so on earth” is the will, which is a manifestation of his love for a specific purpose in the Spiritual world. At this level, in the world of disembodied spirits there is no energy other than the vibration of Divine love. “I ask that it also be manifested in the material world, including my body and my environment, so that it turns into the Spiritual world, so that it is filled with the same light.” This is called the spiritualization of the world, inspiration. “I breathe life, I breathe love into every atom of the material world, into my every word, into my every action, into every deed.”

6. “Give us this day our daily bread”

This means bread as food for the body, soul and spirit, and therefore essential. “Essential” is translated as “necessary,” but in the language that Christ spoke, this word meant “belonging to the essence.” That is, “integral from these spiritual essences,” one might say, spiritual bread, a certain amount of Divine energy that could manifest itself for the physical body in the form of food, for the etheric body in the form of vital energy, for the astral-mental body in the form of insight, joy.

“The energy that belongs to my essence, in which I live.” “Give us this day” was translated as a request to God, but it meant the affirmative form of the verb. “You give us energy for every day.” “Today” means today. “Every day, every period of time, every second you give us this energy, which I physically accept like bread.” This also meant Christ himself, who transforms part of his energy into spiritual bread, which comes through the Christian religious egregor into a piece of every gift of Christ, wherever the Eucharist is celebrated. This is spiritual bread, which increases vibrations when accepted with faith and instills in a person the vibrations of the energies of Christ, his feelings, his thoughts, his mood.

7. “And forgive us our debts, just as we forgive our debtors.”

“Debts” are karmic lessons, some actions that created a deficit of energies during interaction, that is, this is our karma. A certain amount of energy that the universe spent in order to neutralize some of our destructive actions. If a person commits destructive actions, this causes a decrease in vibrations and creates a deficiency of energies, in which case nature or another person must compensate for this energy. According to the terminology of that time, it was believed that any act not committed in the spirit of love, lowering the vibrations of the spirit, creates negative karma and lowers the level. To rise, you need to pay off this debt.

The form of exchange of monetary energy is a symbol of the exchange of energy between God and man. What can we owe to God? The fact is that we do not follow the path of his love. But we owe it not to God himself so that he does not get angry, but to God in ourselves, our Divine essence, which wants to develop and follow the path of light, and we plunge it into darkness with our actions. Every spirit wants to be happy, and true happiness is possible only in God. Therefore, the illusion of a different happiness can lead to the fact that we may lose happiness while we are in this state.

We ask you to leave debts, lessons, karmic consequences, but with a condition under which this becomes possible. “As we leave to our debtors” - there are debtors before us who have taken our strength, energy, and nervous part, and accordingly they are before us, as we are before God. They created negative karma for themselves because they influenced us not in the spirit of love. If we love, forgive and accept such people as they are, we will raise our vibrations, and this will help us leave our previous vibrations, go through metanoia and leave debts. This meant “we forgive our debts to the extent that we forgive our debtors.” The fundamental law was expressed “to the extent that I love my neighbor and forgive him, to the extent that I can be accepted by God, precisely as his beloved son.” A person who has a lot of condemnation, anger, hatred and resentment does not feel the love, the vibration of God. If he gets rid of them, he will feel.

8. "And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from the wicked"

The word “temptation” did not mean a test of faith, but a feeling that can be translated as despondency, a feeling of being abandoned by the light, by God. The spirit asks God never to leave him with his presence, despite the decrease in vibrations, so that he reminds of himself, does not leave the soul, reminds of himself through conscience and intuition. “Do not lead me into a state in which I will not feel you” - this is a sinful state. Self-soothing, a state of imaginary peace “Everything is fine with me, but I won’t think about the future, the Spiritual world, so as not to get scared.” In the expression “deliver us from evil” it was meant from evil, and not from evil, as from the essence. Continuation of the thought “don’t leave me in the darkness of my ignorance, oblivion of you, if I fall into it, but send through my mentors such words, such energy through which I can get to know you, even if I don’t want it, intervene in my life, even if I’m in a state of temporarily lowered vibrations, I don’t want to ask you about it. “

9. “For Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory”

“Yako” means “since.” This refers to his kingdom, power, laws. “There is” is translated as “really existing.” “Your spiritual laws, kingdom and power, energy that creates everything, and glory, infinite beauty and love, manifested in the form of glory, really exist, and everything else is their manifestation.”

10. “Father and Son and Holy Spirit”

Trinity in the spiritual sense: God the Father, God the Son, that is, his intelligent created Spirit, the Holy Spirit, as the manifestation of God in the material world. The Holy Spirit is, for example, the one who speaks through the apostle, this is the Higher Self, a particle of God. The Son is the incarnate part, the consciousness that recognizes itself as “I”, and the Holy Spirit is already the Spirit of light, the Higher Self of the son. When they say “In the name of the Father and the son” they mean that the kingdom, power, glory belong to God and his son, that is, the rational spirit - both the incarnate and non-incarnate parts.

11. “And now, and ever, and unto ages of ages”

“Now” means “the present moment”, “ever” means “all existing time”, “forever and ever” - “time that goes beyond the boundaries of the material world”. That is, “Reality exists both in time and outside of time.”

12. “Amen”

This word meant manifestation. The letter “A” is the first manifestation of the material world from the Divine, that is, creation, creation, beginning. The three-letter syllable “min”, “min”, “men”, “man” roughly denotes the mind in its active form. In some areas of the world, this word meant a man or person. Initially, it was an active manifestation of the mind, like intellect, thinking. Hence the word “mantra”, which means “mind-cleansing”. “Amen” is the beginning of the mind, that is, “What I just said is some beginning of my understanding, my state of mind that I manifest.” Each prayer ended with this word, emphasizing that what is said in this prayer will be carried out in the future through a state of mind. That is, the end of prayer is only the beginning of life!

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

February 2021

December 3, 2022

Jesus, how to achieve unalienable Love for you?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kak-dostich-neotemlemoj-lyubvi-k-iisusu

If you feel that something is stopping you from loving me, it means you don't have enough love for yourself and your neighbor. It is impossible to achieve Love for a stranger, for God, or for an entity with which you have not personally communicated. It opens gradually.

Self-love develops first. Then it spills out on others. And then it manifests itself to God and to all beings, to the entire Universe. As the one whom I called my beloved disciple, who was very close to me on Earth, John the Theologian said (https://t.me/cassiopeia_publish/151):

"He who says that he loves God but hates his brother is a liar and there is no truth in him. And he who says that he walks in the Light, but hates his brother, is still in darkness."

* this means not only a believer, but any person in general.

December 15, 2022

Egyptian pyramids. Who and why built pyramids in different parts of the Earth

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/egipetskie-piramidy

Pyramids in various parts of the Earth were built by both aliens and earthlings, imitating the aliens. This can be distinguished by construction technology.

Earthlings built the pyramids using their own strength and with the help of animals, moving stone blocks over many kilometers simply by harnessing large numbers of oxen. All this needs to be looked at according to a specific pyramid and distinguished who did it. In ancient Egypt, there are known cases when entire blocks were cut out of sandstone using special hard bronze tools, since bronze is harder than copper. The blocks were first transported along the Nile River, transported on huge wooden long boats.

Many people died from such hard work, when they had to row up the river for a long time, and then carry the blocks to the right place. People were constantly being replaced due to the high mortality rate from harsh conditions. The rowers were not hired workers, but rather slaves who were captured during wars with other states. People were bought at slave markets, where the same Arab merchants brought them with caravans of slaves. During modern excavations, the remains of sand canyons were found, in which traces of dragging stone blocks were preserved. This is all left.

Some of the pyramids were built by alien civilizations in order to harmonize space - this is the main task of building pyramids.

They were built by representatives of Tumesout and its colonies, since they quite rightly believed and still believe that for an anthropomorphic race it is the pyramidal shape that contributes to better attraction of energy. A tetrahedral pyramid with a square base contributes to the accumulation of energy or what you now call ether, torsion fields, prana. Previously, it was called the vital force of space. This is the same energy that comes from the Spiritual world to maintain the material world. And certain shapes of rooms and objects can collect this energy and direct it, to a greater or lesser extent, to one or another area of space.

Do pyramids have healing properties? It all depends on how much you are ready to believe in the action itself. In any case, faith, trust and thoughts about it multiply the impact of this vital energy that you strengthen in yourself. But if a person does not believe, rejects the very fact of the existence of life energy, then he simply blocks this action, and therefore life energy.

Many pyramids were under water because they were built before the war. But there are also post-war ones - these are analogues of those pyramids that were built before the war by representatives of Tumesout and their assistants from other planets. This was a constructive repetition of their houses and ships, since they had a pyramidal shape, which better suits the energy of the Tumesout people and allows them to feel more harmonious in space, both energetically and physically. The triangular shape of the faces of the pyramids allows you to better sense the energies of space. You, earthlings, feel this too, being inside the pyramid. Even a not very sensitive person can feel an unusual state there.

The very structure of the pyramid acts on energies that are in space and which, in your opinion, are called ether. In the pyramids, the etheric and astral field of the person himself is enhanced. In pyramids, built in certain proportions and from certain materials, energies are collected that can even change the material properties of objects. This occurs due to the fact that the action of energy is directed towards the atoms of the elements that make up this object. For example, seed energy or what we call vitality may be enhanced. Seeds can germinate and grow faster because the energy of the pyramids enhances the life force that they initially have.

Pyramids can also act on water, creating in it chains of molecules with energy similar to that found in the pyramid itself. When drinking such water, the internal environment of the body itself will change. Ether creates pyramidal vortices. It is precisely such vortices that are created and intensified in the pyramid.

There are pyramids not only on Earth, but also on the Moon and Mars. They are located at a certain distance from each other and opposite when viewed along the same line. The people who built them in ancient times gathered around large pyramids. Moreover, people could gather around different pyramids at the same time, during a holiday, for example.

Looking from below at the top of the pyramid, people directed their thought forms there, and this strengthened their mental energy and gave birth to ethereal vortices throughout space. And if they were on the same line along the earth’s meridian, then this could cleanse the planet, saturate it with new energies, transmit new vibrations to it. That is, all this was used and is now being used on Tumesout, on some of its colonies and on other planets that want to influence their planet in this way. This strengthens the mental message: the more people gather around the pyramid and direct their gaze to its top, sending positive thought forms, the more likely the common desire will be realized.

It is very important with what thoughts they will be there - creative or destructive. If it is destructive, then a disruption of the Earth's energy fields may occur. Above the tops of the pyramids there are very often plasmoid portals, because these pyramids were not built by materialists, but by people who were in contact with these plasmoid civilizations. And therefore, the pyramids were built in those places where the plasmoids showed them their portal. And when people, looking at the pyramid, began to mentally call on the gods, the plasmoids felt this call and also sent their energy to enhance various actions.

Most often these were plasmoids of terrestrial forms, which were responsible for the core of the planet, for its magnetic field and for the atmosphere. What you call the spirits of the elements and places of nature.

When the pyramids and the sphinx were built, below, under them, the priests, together with representatives of Tumesout, whom they considered gods, actually built structures that were somewhat similar to your basements or caves. But not under the pyramids themselves, but a little to the side, in a passage similar to a mine in which artifacts from other planets were preserved. A spaceship, parts from it, books, and much more could have been left there. It was a long time ago. And to what extent the priests have still preserved these artifacts, whether they got to them after the Arabs came to power in Egypt - all this needs to be clarified now by visiting Egypt and these pyramids in the physical body.

Tengri is a representative of the solar plasmoid civilization of Ra, 24th density level. About the purpose of building the Egyptian pyramids:

Egyptian pyramids were built with the goal of becoming like the abodes of the gods who flew from the sky. The pyramidal shape was favorable for our presence in this space. It accumulated the energy necessary for the manifestation of the contactee abilities that the priests and their students had.

I, Ra Arius, and other plasmoids of the solar civilization made contact with them and said that they needed to build pyramids. Regarding the fact that the pyramids were built by thought forms, the plan not only of the pyramid, but of any structure, appears first in the mental plane. Then it descends to the material through real actions. These plans were formed through thought forms. This happens with every object that is embodied in material reality, first through human imagination, then through human desire, through human will and action. (55:50, #183)

Video on the topic: #142 Egyptian pyramids. Secret hall under the Sphinx. Who and why built pyramids in different parts of the Earth.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

September, 2020

December 19, 2022

Fear of God

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/strah-bozhij

The fear of God is a figurative expression that is more understandable to the spiritual heart and not to the mind. Our minds are accustomed to understanding the word “fear” as fear of someone or something that frightens us.

We remember that God is Love. God is the Highest energies of Love, Life, Light, who does not wish harm to anyone. This is reflected in all religions. Such fear as before a person, before God, is impossible. He does not want to be feared like some creature who does not love.

The expression “Fear of God” is understood as an individual emotional feeling for each person of fear of lowering one’s vibrations, namely, of leaving this Divine Light of Love. More simply, more figuratively speaking, the fear of God is the fear of being left without the presence of God, of becoming unable to feel it, the fear of sinning, that is, of committing some kind of sin, some kind of bad deed.

For example, a person has a thought - to be rude, hit, steal. This thought is a temptation. A person is afraid to do this, but not because God or someone will punish him. No one may see him at this moment. And he is not afraid of physical punishment, on Earth. But a person may think that by doing this he will lower his vibrations, sin, and God will turn away from him, or he will turn away from God, fall into darkness, under low vibrations. The fear of losing God's presence in your Soul, in your spiritual heart - this is the fear of God.

December 21, 2022

Who is Santa Claus?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kto-takoj-ded-moroz

The image of Santa Claus is taken from contacts with subtle-material civilizations. It was the Spirit who was responsible for governing certain seasons. He is still responsible for this. In ancient times, people communicated with plasmoids, who were responsible not only for territories and elements, but also for the duration and cyclicity of natural phenomena.

There was the Spirit of Winter, the Spirit of Spring, the Spirit of Summer, the Spirit of Autumn - these were separate spirits. The Spirit of Winter had several assistants, not as is customary now. This spirit had a name - Frost, because... With his arrival, frost began. When cold weather set in, he helped plants, animals and insects survive this period correctly. Quite simply, he told the plants when to shed their leaves. He managed this process, monitored it and gave tasks to the group souls of insects so that they would hide.

There was an idea that the Spirit Frost does not live in a separate space of the plasmoid world, but far in the North, where reindeer live and ride sleighs. Among the peoples, a legend has developed about the Spirit as an earthly person who lives in another area, in the North, and the deer is a symbol of the northern regions. The image of a sleigh flying across the sky is a symbol of fast movement.

Timecode: 01:00:15, #180 Levels of subtle and dense material worlds. The structure of the Universe.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

December, 2020

December 22, 2022

Tisul princess. Mysteries of burial history

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tisulskaya-princessa

Information was requested from the Interstellar Union regarding this time period when she could have been buried. This was a representative of earthly civilization, a DNA test could be done, but she was a ruler, lived about 850-900 thousand years ago, and due to the fact that after her death she was placed in a special embalming balm, the atoms of the tissue of her body acquired the property of losing isotopes so much that the method of analyzing her DNA, based on isotopic measurements in tissues, pushed back her age by millions of years.

She lived before the war 12 thousand years ago and even before the period when people began to move to Venus and Mars, then there were cities on Earth, states, but they had not yet fought, people followed the path of development without wars. And she was the ruler of one such state and she was then buried.

At that time, there were knowledgeable people who could add antiseptic solutions that prevented the body from decomposing and removed those internal organs from which decomposition occurred and where the most germs were, for example. The priests and physicians of antiquity knew all this. They had open contact with representatives of extraterrestrial civilization, so many contactees, who later became rulers or priests, asked the aliens about health, about the physical body, and they were given knowledge that a microworld exists, why the body decomposes, etc. Based on this, they developed chemicals that could preserve fabrics without rotting.

Video on the topic: #116 Tisul princess. Mysteries of the burial history.

#531 Live broadcast with the embodied spirit of the Tisul Princess.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

July 2020

December 29, 2022

Message from Michael Newton

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/poslanie-ot-majkla-nyutona

The Earth in the form of development and in the form in which it is now is a planet for those spirits who decided to try to incarnate here and come to the truths themselves without prompting in childhood, without training in childhood, in order to go the path to the spiritual to the world through the lessons of material consumption, material creation, material creativity, gradually discover in your material body, and then throughout your entire material life, that bud of the flower of the spirit, which is known to us all under the name of absolute love. Only absolute love gives birth to peace in the soul.

Earth is such a specific planet, which is some kind of test for higher spirits, a test of their faith, their love in those conditions in which there is no longer tenderness, gentleness and love from everyone around. For spirits from the lower and middle levels who incarnate here, this is an opportunity to go through those lessons of life in matter, gradually learning to love yourself, your family, arrange your reality so as to be happy in it, and only then consciously come to the level of spiritual comprehension of reality.

December 31, 2022

Epiphany water and its effect

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kreshchenskaya-voda-i-eyo-dejstvie

Epiphany is a great Christian holiday, which was established in honor of the baptism of the Lord Jesus Christ in the waters of the Jordan. As you know, at this time in January the weather in Israel is completely different. Christ did not plunge into an ice hole at baptism. This is the only day when, at the beginning of the astronomical day, the egregor of Christianity releases such energy into the material world that, acting on the ethereal matrices of water molecules, fills them with Light, the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of Light.

Etheric matrices are precisely the clichés by which atoms are built. Just as we fill our life force with emotions and feelings, so the Holy Spirit fills the etheric matrices of molecules and atoms with his feelings. And these are feelings of Love, happiness and, naturally, desire for God.

How does this water affect people? It doesn’t work like magic, like a panacea - take a few sips, put everything together right away and live as you want. No. She energetically begins to cleanse a person, showing him his blocks and problems.

Some people told me that when they drank Epiphany water, or when they took a bath, they, on the contrary, began to have some problems. They spoke:

> “I swam or drank some water and, on the contrary, I got sick or started having some problems.”

This doesn't mean the water is bad. This means that the Holy Spirit, who is in this water, energetically shows a person his problems and cleanses him. In fact, water has power only when a person believes in God, prays and tries to live holy. Otherwise, the Soul repels the Light, and the person does not accept it.

Timecode: 18:50, #397 Live. Answers to questions from viewers of the Cassiopeia YouTube channel.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a sociologist, a specialist in the astral world and its interaction with the material world.

January 2022

January 1, 2023

Why do people guess?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/dlya-chego-lyudi-gadayut

People tell fortunes at Christmas, at Epiphany, and on other days - in order to find out their future or find out at least a hint of it. This is usually done out of fear of it; out of fear that something will go wrong. Of course, there are a variety of cases: just out of interest, curiosity, and so on. But I'm talking about a more common reason...

I cannot prohibit or condemn anything here. I can only say that if you do this, you must understand why you are doing it. And I want to remind you once again that the future has many options, and if fortune telling already first causes fear in a person of a negative forecast and can subsequently prompt him to take some action to avoid a negative future, then this is used for evil. And if such techniques are used to study oneself, for example (all this is subject to analysis), then this can bring a positive effect.

January 2, 2023

Jesus on the quantum transition. Awareness through personal action

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/iisus-o-kvantovom-perekhode

All the teachings about my love and about my mission, about the love of the Heavenly Father and about the tools for raising one's vibrations have long been given to the world in every detail. You have numerous theological works, religious books, both ancient and modern authors of different religious movements. These works contain very deep, correct spiritual thoughts and theories. There is no shortage of information. There is a shortage of listeners.

For what reason does this happen? For the reason that your civilization is currently going through a stage of materialism, from which flow your ideas about the priority of the material over the spiritual, and all your other negative structures, negative egregors grow from this idea.

This stage of materialism is necessary for you, for your planet, so that the civilization that exists on Earth can understand the value of spiritual priorities over material ones.

Now the moment is coming, which you call the quantum transition. This is a transition to a new level of consciousness. At this level of consciousness, the quantum fields of your bodies will be changed so that you and the children born to you can feel the Spiritual world more. Many of you have already felt the changes occurring at the level of consciousness. Many began to feel contact with invisible entities, some began to have strange dreams, others felt the presence of Light in life. This is all a consequence of the quantum transition process.

What can you do to make yourself heard by many? In this world there are many who talk about spirituality, but very few who listen. We need to move from the category of those who speak to the category of those who act . Only this can ignite Light in the hearts of those for whom loud words about enlightenment are just unsubstantiated nonsense. For such people, the priority is the truth only in the real matter.

True Divine love is always active, it is not just a pleasant feeling, it is always a physical action.

When a person who does not believe in the Light, in God, sees around him people who selflessly do real good deeds, spending their material, time and power resources on this, then his heart, covered with a crust of ice of alienation, will open, and he will want to listen to the sermon about the Light.

If a person is in need, and you disinterestedly, free of charge, help him in word, deed or thought, he will be inclined to hear your words. Otherwise, they will be an empty phrase for him.

It happens that a man who feeds the hungry and clothes the poor leads more people than the brightest active preacher who spends his time only trying to increase his business.

56:12, #283 Third conversation with Jesus Christ - questions from participants from the audience during a retreat in Belarus.

Jesus Christ is the head of the Christian religious egregor on Earth, the Firstborn Son of God, our elder Brother.

June, 2021

January 4, 2023

What is evil for?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/dlya-chego-nuzhno-zlo

Evil, as the action of Spirits in the world, is necessary for the manifestation of that freedom that is originally inherent in all Spirits. For example, a mother, torturing her own child, by this torture demonstrates her free will not to be in the light, God, truth, but to be in its opposite. The right was originally given to all Spirits, because love, like light, can only be free. Before incarnation, the Spirit is given a life program, but it does not include death from the evil actions of other Spirits.

In other words, the murderer's action cannot be justified by the fact that this program was created by the soul of the murdered person in some way. This is truly his personal evil . Why this happened precisely to the soul that was nearby at the moment the person plunged into negativity is, of course, not an accident. The soul of the murdered person must also learn a lesson in forgiveness, acceptance of what has already happened in the spiritual world. But this does not mean at all that such a program was created.

For example, this happens with the souls of unborn children. They had a clear life program, they thought about it for a long time, became embodied, but they were not even allowed to be born by those parents who were responsible for their birth. In this case, the program is simply interrupted and the Spirit goes back to the queue for incarnation. Another important aspect in this matter is that when a person dies a natural death, he “passes away” according to his program. That is, he comes to the spiritual world already ready for the transition.

When he dies a violent death, it is when he is not ready. This is why the MS strongly opposes the death penalty in any of its manifestations, since this can bring even more harm to the Spirit, which has become an evil demon, killing, for example, many people. The motive of revenge in these cases is unacceptable, since revenge for the murder committed will not bring the Spirit of the killer to awareness. Revenge will lead to the entry of an unprepared Spirit into the spiritual world and its greater degradation, which does not meet the general goal of the evolution of all Spirits of the entire spiritual world.

Therefore, murder is always evil, it always does not correspond to the program. And it cannot be justified by anything, not even by choice. That is, it cannot be said that if a person killed someone, then it was planned that way by the program, and the killer carried it out. In this case, there is no one to judge, you need to judge the one who created this program.

Timecode: 44:13, #26 Contactor with extraterrestrial civilizations Irina Podzorova: answers to questions on VK. What is truth?

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

November, 2019

January 7, 2023

The story of the birth of Jesus Christ from the Virgin Mary

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/istoriya-rozhdeniya-iisusa-hrista-ot-bogorodicy

I was 14 years old then, and I was not yet fully aware of my Spiritual nature, that is, what we agreed on in the spiritual world. I spent almost my entire childhood, from the age of three and a half, in the temple, surrounded by priests, Levites, and the high priest, who loved me very much, taught me to read and showed me books that were usually hidden for others. He trusted me, although at that time revealing such a teaching to women was the height of strange behavior, absurdity.

He himself was a contactee, and his Angels, his curators, revealed to him that I could do this. Therefore, I have also been in contact since childhood. Mainly in contact with the Spiritual world. But, nevertheless, I was not so clearly aware of my nature so as not to be surprised when a representative of the planet Burkhad appeared.

I remember this day as now, it was physical contact. This happened at sunset in one of the premises of the temple on the outskirts of the city, around which there was a garden. A ship from Burkhad descended into the clearing of the garden and came towards me. At first I saw him in the window and was surprised that a very tall man with white skin in a shiny suit was walking. Then he knocked with the code that only I and the priests knew. They had a certain code, and the one who comes and knocks like that is not a stranger. I was even more surprised: how does this stranger know this code?

However, I opened the door for him. He entered and a conversation took place, which was transmitted by Luke, you can read in his “Gospel”. He told me:

> "Rejoice, the Lord is with you"

- or rather, he said: “ Always with you .” I answered him:

> "Yes, that is right. I never doubted it."

He said that I was chosen to give birth to Christ. Naturally, I knew about Christ from the Holy Scriptures - Mashiach, and Christ is his Greek name.

> “You need to give birth to the Moshiach according to all the laws, God chose you.”

I told him that I was 14 years old and asked:

> “How can I give birth to anyone if I don’t have a husband?”

Although, according to Jewish laws, according to the Talmud, I was supposed to get married soon and live on his support, since they could not keep me in the temple indefinitely. Girls, unlike male priests, had to get married.

At that time I knew Joseph, but I was not engaged to him, he did not officially submit a petition that he wanted to marry me, he did not submit a request to the priests to take me to him, so I said so to his guest, whose name was Mirach Count. And then he said that this would happen without a man, that the Holy Spirit would come upon me, and a child would appear in my womb.

I understood that the Holy Spirit is the power of the Divine mind that animates everything. And so it immediately became clear to me what he was talking about. I gave my consent, and the physical contact for conception itself took place a little later - after a couple of weeks. He said that I needed to mentally prepare myself, to talk to Christ himself in the Astral Plane.

The final preparations for this procedure had to be for my body, I mean physiological features. After about 2 weeks, at the appointed place, I made contact myself - it was not far from a mountain near Jerusalem. There a ship picked me up, and for the first time I saw not only Mirakh Kaunta, but also other Burkhadians.

I was treated very respectfully. I was told that the father by birth (I later realized that they were talking about genetics), the true father of my son's physical body, would be an alien from the stars, they immediately explained - from the planet Burkhad. I asked:

> "Why is this necessary? Why am I from our world, and my father from another?

They answered me that there was no father suitable for the incarnation of his Spirit, so such a decision was made. I said:

> "Indeed, I am the servant of the Lord, and it will be done to me according to your word."

That is, I perceived Mirakh Count as a messenger, as an Angel of God, who brought me stories about His will.

Then they showed me a device, thanks to which I became pregnant without contact with a man, i.e. I had no physical contact with Representative Burhad. This is a device that looks like a ball, and from it there is a spiral, first purple, and at the end it turns white. This shines on the lower abdomen. This ball contains vibrations of Burkhadian DNA in energetic form, which were transmitted through an energy beam to the DNA of my egg. Thanks to this, she accepted the property of Burkhadian DNA, and the conception of a boy became possible.

The Spirit of Jesus Christ was nearby at that moment, in the astral world. When he introduced his life force, the first cell of his body, I felt it. He was constantly in contact with me and told me what he was doing.

It's good that the priests prepared me for contacts with astral beings. They told me how to stop my mental flows, how to make contact, etc. Then I was returned to Earth, and almost immediately after that Joseph filed a petition to take me as his wife. I told him about the contact almost immediately and what happened. He reacted favorably to this. And then, when it turned out that I was pregnant, he was a little suspicious about it, but not because he didn't believe me when I told him how it all happened. He simply said that the people who surrounded us would not believe in this contact and would consider me a traitor. Even if he has not yet taken me into his house, but has already announced that he wants to do this, it would be treason.

Therefore, I need to be sent to another city where no one knows me. He said:

> "Otherwise, I will expose you to the death penalty for this action,"

- in Israel at that time there was such a law. But Mirach Count came to Joseph and explained that he should accept me and my child as his own so that there would be no consequences for me, and he said where he was from, confirming my words. When Joseph woke up, he came to me and said that he already believed this, but now he had finally decided on it.

When the pregnancy was already long, the ruler of that country announced that he would count the population, so everyone had to come to the city where they were from - it was easier for them to count. By that time, Joseph and I had already become friends, but since I was pregnant, I did not become intimate with him. He was 22 years older than me.

Then we came to the city where my ancestors, my family, came from - Bethlehem. And there I felt that labor was approaching. We had no friends in the city where we could stay, and we were not able to check into a hotel, but not because Joseph did not have the money for it, but because we arrived very late, when there were no more places.

Many were simply located on the street, in nature. But he gave the money, and the owners of one of the animal premises agreed to let us in there. And since it was not customary for a woman to give birth to a child on the street, Joseph paid twice as much of our money as the premises cost. This money was enough for less than a day, but he did it so that I could be in the room.

Then I gave birth to Christ. And here there was already the appearance of Angels in the Spiritual plane, spaceships also appeared that belonged to the Burkhad race and the race of the Pleiadian colonies. Several ships appeared over Jerusalem as a sign that Jesus Christ was born, this was seen by the inhabitants of Jerusalem, who were just on the field. They accepted this as the appearance of Angels in the sky.

Some came to me because in Hebrew these aliens said that Christ was born, and even indicated where exactly. People came to me to look at me and get to know me.

Then there was a story when we were already at Joseph’s house. Magicians came from the territory of northwestern Iran. Now Iran is there, but then it was northern Persia. Three magicians came from there and said that they had learned about the birth of Christ from their Chronicles and brought money and gifts. And then they said that the local king Herod asked them about us, about my son Christ. At first Joseph and I did not attach any importance to this, but that same night Mirakh Count came to Joseph again in his astral body and told him to urgently take me away from this city, because Herod’s plans turned out to be very dark.

We moved. We had several donkeys that carried us and our things. We joined the caravan, since it was dangerous to travel together because of robbers, especially with an infant. Together with the caravan we went to Egypt. And then we learned from other people who came to Egypt that a few days after we left, soldiers came on horses and killed many small children about the age of my son. This surprised us greatly, upset us, and surprised us. It was also surprising that the other people of this city did not even revolt after they innocently killed children in place of the one whom Herod suspected would overthrow him.

Then, when the news came that Herod had died, we returned from Egypt. But we didn't hear about it right away, since it took time for news to spread during that period of history. Therefore, when we returned to our city - Nazareth, another king was already ruling there. And from that time on we lived peacefully and were not subjected to any persecution. The entire childhood of Christ was calm.

20:11, #187 The long-awaited meeting with the Mother of God - the physical mother of Jesus.

The Mother of God is in Christianity the earthly mother of Jesus Christ, one of the most revered personalities and the greatest of Christian saints;

Mirakh Count (Archangel Gabriel) – Archangel.

December, 2020

January 8, 2023

Why are lower entities allowed to scare people?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/pochemu-nizhnim-sushchnostyam-razreshayut-pugat

It is impossible to frighten a Spirit that has united with its Light, with its Higher Self. He always perceives any Spirit, in any form, as a Divine child, even if it is a demon and an evil Spirit who has left the path of development. It will evoke in him not fear, but compassion and a desire to help. Love gives rise to a feeling of unity, a feeling of trust in God, a feeling of one's personal immortality and belonging to the world of God. Therefore, they cannot be scared.

If some Spirits appear before people-hermits, this happens because when they became hermits, they increased their sensitivity to the Subtle World, to the Spiritual World and, therefore, the spirits that are around them can appear to them. If these are dark Spirits, perhaps they are asking for help, advice and love.

January 11, 2023

The concept of “An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth” in Holy Scripture. Torah. Yahweh

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/oko-za-oko-zub-za-zub

Holy Scripture is divided into 2 large sections: the Old Testament and the New Testament. The words “ an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth ” were written in the Old Testament, and in its most ancient part, which is called the Torah, i.e. These are the laws that were conveyed to Moses by an alien being who arrived on a ship from the planet Tumesout, and whom everyone began to call Yahweh.

Yahweh is one of the incarnations of Christ. The purpose of these laws was to form a unified state of Israel as a political community, as a religious community of monotheism, i.e. egregor of their religious community, and as a separate independent country.

Every country must have its own laws, including legal ones. Since in Ancient Israel, when they began to transmit these laws to the ancient Jews through Moses, through Aaron, his brother, they were faced with the fact that they adopted the legal norms that the Jews had at that time from Ancient Egypt, which is not surprising: They were enslaved and enslaved for 400 years.

But Egyptian legal norms did not meet the standards that they should have for Israel. These rules of Egyptian law depended on who harmed whom. If we talk about “an eye for an eye”: if in a fight or intentionally one person injured the eye of another, then according to Egyptian laws, if a superior injured a inferior, he could pay a fine. If a person below him on the social ladder injured his eye, they could even kill him, i.e. not “an eye for an eye,” but to kill.

Therefore, in order to introduce an element of fair retribution, Yahweh decided to give such a law so as not to repay with greater action for what he had caused. If Yahweh had not told the ancient Jews that for a gouged out eye or inflicted wound one should be fined or put in prison, etc., then they simply would not have understood him. They did not have the kind of society that we have today.

Now people would call it revenge. At that time it was understood a little differently. This was called fair retribution. The problem there was precisely that, according to the legal norms of the emerging state of Israel, no more was done to the criminal than he did, because in the Egyptian laws that they adopted, there were such norms. This is later, many thousands of years after Moses, 2000 years after the beginning of the formation of Christianity, people live on Earth, in the modern world, which was formed, among other things, under the influence of these two religions.

It is wrong to try to transfer modern legal or moral norms to a time that was completely different. And the people here were completely different then. If you carefully read the Bible, for example, about the acts of Abraham and the acts of other contactees whom Yahweh chose to form a new people from them, read about their personalities, what they did, what deeds they performed, then you will see that even they, who were chosen as contactees, vibrationally suitable for this purpose, did not meet modern standards.

For example, Abraham, and this is a well-known fact, when he came with his wife to Egypt, out of fear that he would be killed for the beauty of his wife, he asked his wife not to say that he was her husband, that is, in fact, for his He betrayed his wife's honor with his life, to put it bluntly.

And this is the moral quality the person was a contactee. This only speaks of the fact that at that time and in that place there were no higher vibration ones. This means that we can already judge the general level of morality at that time.

About not transferring the laws of that time to the present. The fact is that any society on any planet, an emerging society, goes through stages of development very similar to the stages of human development from childhood to adolescence and then to old age. And transferring the laws of a society that is already transitioning to maturity into a young one that is just being formed is the same as an adult starting to behave like a child, including exhibiting all those qualities that he has long gotten rid of.

For example, many children are not taught to take care of themselves and keep their bodies clean. If we think rationally, if we strive for development, we cannot transfer these norms to our adult lives and be, like children, in need of this care.

If an adult goes back to this stage and needs to be cleaned up after him, etc., and he cannot take care of himself, then this will be degradation for him. In the same way as for society: if they try to transfer these old laws, which have already become obsolete, to a new society.

Timecode: 28:42, #62 Archangel Michael. Answers to questions in the VK group on the topic of Christianity (part 1)

Archangel Michael is a representative of the Christian spiritual egregor, the patron and curator of the Earth in the Spiritual world, one of the Higher Hierarchs of Light.

April 2020

January 13, 2023

What is the Resurrection of the Dead in the Bible? Will the dead rise from their graves at the Second Coming of Jesus Christ? What kind of body will be given at the Resurrection of the Dead?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/chto-takoe-voskreshenie-umershih-v-biblii

These questions are very relevant for resolving disagreements between Christians and people of other beliefs. It is known that one of the most important arguments against reincarnation or reincarnation of the soul is based on the belief in the bodily resurrection of the dead.

Several New Testament texts directly speak of the resurrection of the dead at the sound of the trumpet of the Archangels, who will descend to Earth along with Christ at the Second Coming. What does this mean?

As is often the case in texts on a spiritual theme, there is a hidden reality behind the vivid images, which is understandable only to those who have gone through the awakening of the Spirit. The rest will take these texts literally, expecting instantly restored physical bodies rising from their graves, greeting with an enthusiastic cry Jesus Christ descending from Heaven in the host of Archangels.

In fact, this image has nothing to do with the physical resurrection of the body. Any body is given to the spirit once and after the end of the incarnation it breaks down into elements that are used for the urgent needs of nature, including for creating the bodies of other people. This process is led by many plasmoid civilizations, whose task is to control the cycle of elements in nature.

So what does this image mean then? Who is resurrected and when and why is it needed?

Hidden under the symbols of the process of bodily resurrection is a description of the spiritual transformation of man, which is central to all Christian teaching and practice. This description is not encrypted by chance, but with the goal of protecting the emerging Christian egregor from controlling people who have not achieved the full spiritual realization necessary for this activity.

Ancient Bishops tested their disciples for their readiness to take their place by asking them in private the true meaning of the Resurrection of the Dead. Then it was believed that only one who placed the bright image of Jesus Christ in the center of the spiritual heart could comprehend it, and therefore was worthy to perform the Sacraments and preach the Word of God to the people.

What exactly lies behind these images and what is their true meaning?

Here is a famous text from the fourth chapter of the first letter to the Thessalonians of St. Apostle Paul:

> “For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, then God will bring with Him those who sleep in Jesus.”

The word “ dead ” here does not mean people who are physically dead, but those who died spiritually, who poisoned their minds with sinful poison, killed the brightest feelings in their hearts and strangled their conscience, which calls it to turn to the light of love and truth.

The souls of such people resemble a scorched desert. Often only sinful passions and vices are alive in them, closely connected with instincts, which in the absence of spiritual reason and bright feelings acquire a huge influence on human behavior. This state of spirit is called spiritual death, but not in the sense of destruction, but in the sense of voluntary rejection of God, who gives Eternal Life.

No one can destroy a spirit, but its presence in the world of disembodied spirits in a state of spiritual death is possible only at demonic levels.
Thus, this text says that participants of the Christian egregor, who have low vibrations, get a chance to come, with the help of Christ, to a state of spiritual Resurrection, just as Christ was resurrected in body after his death on the cross.

Spiritual resurrection is the awakening of immortal intelligent spirits sleeping in the sleep of sin to conscious life in God.

This is the return to the Heavenly Father of those of His children who have forgotten about Him due to concentration only on the material world.

Jesus Christ, having gone through physical death and returning His body to incorruptible life, is ready to help in the spiritual awakening of every person who loves Him. The Death and Resurrection of Christ reminds everyone of the renewal and healing of human nature. This is a great help in finding life in God for souls who, due to everyday vanity and the pursuit of material goods, have forgotten about their Divine nature.

A little later in the same chapter it is written:

> “For the Lord himself will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel and the trumpet of God, and the dead in Christ will rise first.”

Annunciation is the voice of the Archangel, that is, the appeal of the Consultant Angel to a person with a call to return to the light of unconditional love.

At the moment of spiritual resurrection, a person’s consciousness rises up the spiritual channel, which is indicated in the text through the image of God’s trumpet.

> “Then we who are alive and remain will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and so we will always be with the Lord.”

Here we are talking about the general meeting of all believers in Christ in the Christian egregor, which is indicated in the image of clouds. The word " Candlemas " means a meeting; here we are talking about the meeting of all believers with Jesus Christ and with each other in the spiritual world, which is indicated through the symbol of air.

> “May the God of peace himself sanctify you completely, and may your spirit and soul and body be preserved completely without blemish at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.”

Here the Apostle Paul prays to God for the preservation of Divine purity in people who have already gone through spiritual resurrection. Particular emphasis is placed on the integrity and harmony of man, who consists of the spirit (Higher Self), soul (the embodied part of the spirit) and the physical body.

The Greek word "παρουσίαν", which is translated here as " coming ", also means " presence ". Thus, in this text, the Apostle Paul asks God to preserve divine grace in all the energy structures of his friends and disciples, so that they will always be in the state of the presence of Jesus Christ as the Divine Teacher.

The process of spiritual resurrection is described in even more detail by the Apostle Paul in chapter 15 of his first letter to the Corinthians:

> “At the resurrection of the dead, it is sown in corruption and raised in incorruption.
>
> It is sown in humiliation, raised in glory; sown in weakness, raised in strength; the spiritual body is sown, the spiritual body is raised.
>
> There is a spiritual body, there is a spiritual body."

Corruption and incorruption in this text have no relation to physical corruption, that is, the decomposition of the physical body. The Greek word "φθορὰ", which is translated as " corruption ", here denotes the extreme degree of moral and spiritual degradation, and incorruption is being in a state of Divine Purity. In a similar way, other changes in the spiritual heart of a person are described here during the transformation and healing of his nature.

For example, humiliation is despondency, and glory is the radiance of Divine love. Weakness is spiritual weakness and laziness, and strength is the Divine energy of activity and determination.

And the words that the spiritual arises from the spiritual body mean the process of merging the human soul with the Higher Self into a single spiritual Essence. In this state, a person begins to perceive himself as a rational, immortal spirit with his own tasks in this world.

The process of resurrection, as a spiritual renewal and healing of human nature, is not instantaneous. In the New Testament, this term is denoted by the Greek word "σωτηρία", which is translated into Russian as " salvation ". This is a necessary stage in the quantum transition of the entire earthly civilization to a new reality, where matter will become more obedient to the spirit for the purposes of creation, love and prosperity. This is very clear from the detailed description of this process given by the Apostle Paul in the first seven verses of the second chapter of the letter to the Ephesians:

> “And you, dead in your trespasses and sins, in which you once walked, according to the course of this world, according to the will of the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that is now at work in the sons of disobedience, among whom we all once walked according to our fleshly lusts, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and thoughts, and were by nature children of wrath, like others, God, rich in mercy, according to His great love with which He loved us and made us alive with Christ, who were dead in trespasses; by grace you were saved and raised up with Him, and seated him in the heavenly places in Christ Jesus, that in the coming ages he might show forth the exceeding riches of his grace in kindness toward us in Christ Jesus."

The original text did not contain the words “by the will of the prince of the power of the air”, it was written there:

> "You, dead because of your sins and crimes, in which you lived in the era of this Cosmos, with the chief of the power of the spirits of the air, now acting in the disobedient sons"

The chief of the air spirit force is one of the Sylphs, spirits of the air element, who controls a large number of Sylphs in a certain territory. The Apostle Paul emphasized in this text that the spirits of the element of air, when coming into contact with people, often send them thoughts about freedom and the desire to find it. This is indicated as their action in sons being disobedient to their parents.

It is further explained here that the spiritual mind, having submitted to carnal lusts (instinctive desires), cannot fulfill its task of incarnation and obediently falls asleep. Only emotions remain for defense and attack, and for this reason such people are called children of anger.

From the rest of this text it is clear that resurrection occurs to a person not after physical death, but during his lifetime. Grace is the eternal energy of unconditional divine love, it breathes life into a person (revitalizes), and also renews and heals human nature (resurrects).

The words " seated in heaven in Christ Jesus " mean the inclusion of a person who believes in Christ, in the Christian religious egregor, which is in heaven, that is, in the highest regions of the spiritual world.

The words " to show forth in the coming ages the exceeding riches of His grace " signify the goal of the perfect renewal and healing of human nature.
This goal is to show all people the Light of Divine Love, manifested through awakened (spiritually resurrected) people, so that everyone can take advantage of their example and awaken to life in the Light of Eternal Love, that is, to Eternal Life.

Mirrah Count, specialist in the creation and study of religious egregors, sociologist and political scientist, planet Burkhad.

January 2022

January 14, 2023

How to raise your vibrations?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kak-povyshat-svoi-vibracii

Remember the state you are in now. This is the highest frequency available at the moment. Remember that it is not the highest frequency that is possible for you. Mentally connect with your Higher Self, call on it every day, for example, in the morning and ask to fill it with light.

In the evening, be sure to analyze who you met with, whether you had any negative moments, and shine the light there. Don't fall asleep with negativity directed at anyone, including yourself. If you fall asleep, go to the astral plane, there it will all be processed in such a way that it will become stronger in the subconscious memory.

Positive personality traits, like negative ones, tend to strengthen after sleep. The body falls asleep, the brain begins to recover. When consciousness goes to the astral plane, energy is no longer directed through the brain to this world, and it begins to recover more intensively, restore its energy in the mitochondria and accumulate substances that will be needed in the morning.

The spirit at this time does not need sleep like the physical body. He goes to the astral plane and gains experience there in processing the information that has accumulated in him during the day.

January 18, 2023

Ancient civilizations. Atlantis, Lemuria, Hyperborea

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/atlantida-lemuriya-giperboreya

The mind of the incarnate Spirit is accustomed to dividing everything into three; this applies to both earthly researchers and scientists of the Galaxy who study earthly history. Therefore, the Earth was conditionally divided into three regions: northern, middle and southern. Hyperborea is the northern belt, Lemuria is the southern, and Atlantis is between them. The capital of the Earth was located in the equatorial region.

The names of these three belts were transferred to the largest cities in each region. Atlantis appeared first. The first man was created 3 million years ago, and the first settlement near the base - Eden, on the site of the future Atlantis, appeared about 2.5 million years ago.

Later, almost simultaneously, Hyperborea and Lemuria arose. Hyperborea - a little earlier, its age was about 1.5 million years, and about 1 million or 900 thousand years - the age of Lemuria. Initially, these were settlements, on the basis of which cities later arose. The population gradually grew, and they began to build cities, houses, temples, water pipelines, roads between them, etc.

They spoke the same language, which at first was simplified Tumesout. Then he adapted to earthly reality, people began to come into contact with representatives of plasmoids and began to speak in syllables. This is how they developed a syllabic language. It began to differ greatly from Tumesout already 3-4 thousand years after the first people settled on Earth.

In earlier stages, people from different regions of the Earth understood each other. There may have been different dialects, but they were no more different than the dialect of northern Germany from the southern one. In any case, people understood each other. And the names of the same thing, with different combinations of letters, appeared later. It was a single language for the people.

There was also a language that was isolated initially; it was sacred. Each group of priests, in each city and settlement, had its own secret language from the plasmoids. It was more syllabic. In everyday life, it was more convenient for people to communicate in simple words, and priests wrote books with special runes. They put a syllable into each rune. Each syllable was figurative; they encrypted into it not only the object itself, but also some of its quality.

For example, as in the syllable “ra”, which meant the Sun, since the plasmoids that came from solar civilizations had a vibration perceived by the human brain as “rrrr, rrrro, rrrrr, rrrra”. This “ra” came to mean the Sun. At the same time, it began to mean for the priests not only the Sun, but also light, the deity of the Sun, that is, more abstract concepts.

The syllable “sha” originally denoted a fast running animal, and then it began to denote a person too, since he could run quickly on two legs. "Sha" is something that moves quickly. When the syllable “sha” was pronounced, it was an impulse to move. "Sha" meant "man".

The syllable “du” was understood as a “subtle body”, “invisible”, intangible by physical organs. Therefore, the addition of the syllables “du-sha” meant “the invisible in man.”

The syllable “ga” meant “road”, “path”. Not just a road on earth, but as an abstract path, movement towards something. The combination of three syllables “ra-du-ga” meant “ an invisible road to the Sun ” or a thin one, consisting of light.

So you can take virtually any word, where each letter had its own meaning. The word “Dawn” meant “ border for the Sun ”; they did not yet have the concept of a horizon, but only the border beyond which the Sun becomes invisible.

Fire was used for cooking at that time. For lighting, either fire or stones were used, for example, in caves. They accumulated solar energy using stones on which a film was applied, like dust. It contained an alloy of substances, which was transferred by representatives of the Interstellar Union, because earthlings did not yet have electricity. This was transmitted a long time ago. To conserve solar energy, people laid out small stones in circles and applied a film to them. When the sun hit the stones, the energy was stored and used in the form of light. They did not need heat, since the climate was comfortable.

Earthlings mainly used animals for transportation. The aliens traveled on “plates”.

500-600 thousand years ago there was a period of active development of these regions of the Earth - Atlantis, Hyperborea and Lemuria, when scientists of the Interstellar Union actively collaborated with representatives of the Earth in the construction of various aircraft. But they could not include them in the Interstellar Union, since there were, albeit minor, contradictions - military conflicts between the inhabitants of the Earth.

All this created the ground for new waves of indignation among Selbet scientists who participated in the creation of earthly creatures.

In the Interstellar Union, the prevailing opinion was that civilization should develop in its own way, that there was no need to rush into space until earthlings got to know their planet, until they went through all the stages of the development of civilization and came to understand the value of their planet, as well as accept each other. friend as they are. And only then can we give them some kind of aircraft.

Other scientists of the Interstellar Union talked about the possibility of providing aircraft, but not those that fly into space, but for moving in the Earth's atmosphere. There were joint projects when aliens built on Earth not airplanes, but platforms based on antigravity.

The aliens demonstrated flights, showing how to control such mechanisms, something like a balloon, an airship, anti-motor aircraft. They showed how to move over a fire, heat, over hot air.

Sometimes earthlings could be given an anti-gravity platform. Usually they ended up with rulers, priests, and contactees who moved on these platforms. Burkhad also has platforms that lift into the air.

In those days, people were no longer technically, but spiritually developed. They had a "subtle" psyche, they could see visions. For example, they could look into a rock crystal ball and see distant events. They endowed and charged the ball with their psychic energy and ordered themselves to look through it. They evoked an image of the right place, there was such a psychic ability.

Or they could communicate with each other mentally, at the level of mental images. They did not need means of communication in the form of mobile phones or the Internet. But not everyone had such abilities, but certain groups of people who, in your opinion, were taught this at school.

In order for you to do this, like your ancient ancestors, you need to change the entire education system. Since childhood, they communicated with nature, although they lived in cities. People traveled, communicated with the river, with the mountain, with the trees. They learned to distinguish their thoughts from those that came to them from the outside, they learned to recognize images, to build images.

They had more opportunities for energy development. But even this did not save them from conflicts between individual cities, which turned into armed clashes. Representatives of the Interstellar Union intervened in all this more and reconciled the warring parties.

In addition to the fact that they were more sensitive, many went into the astral plane, into the Spiritual world, communicated with their mentors, with Angels, etc.

Video on the topic: #256 Ancient civilizations. Atlantis. Lemuria. Hyperborea. Myth or reality.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

Raom Tiyan is a representative of the planet Burhad, a specialist in energy interactions in the environment.

April 2021

January 26, 2023

Religions. Their task and relevance in time

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/dlya-chego-byli-dany-religii

There are 7 billion inhabitants on your planet, who, naturally, are at completely different levels of development, spiritual, moral, social and intellectual. I cannot say that the religions that currently exist are outdated for everyone, but I also cannot say that they are of the same value to everyone - people have very different levels of development.

Different religions, different nationalities, different languages were introduced into your society with the help of some representatives of the Pleiades and other civilizations, including plasmoid ones. So that you, having in your genetics 4 different genotypes, 4 different energies, that is, three from other planets and one from your animal primate, can, having also various teachings, political and economic systems, nationalities and languages, learn, pass a lesson in fighting your own pride, xenophobia, fears and rejection of what you don't understand.

Well, speaking globally, this is a fight against your instinctive manifestation, self-defense, self-preservation instinct, herd instinct and many other instincts, which, according to their program, reject everything incomprehensible, considering it unnecessary. It is this function of religion that has been preserved in full, since your civilization, as a whole, has not yet fully learned this lesson. You have not yet completed the lesson on developing that tolerance, understanding and acceptance of incomprehensible, alien ideas that are called upon to pass. This is the first thing.

The second is the purpose of religion: to give your materialistic-minded world in a simple, understandable and convenient form the concept of the spiritual world. And if there were no religion, your civilization would develop in a different direction, more materialistic and unspiritual than it is now. And any society of rational beings, which are a combination of spiritual and material natures (each person is both a spiritual and a material being at the same time), will not exist without religion. Religion will be in demand in one form or another. If by religion we mean the doctrine of the spiritual world.

As for religion, as a system of dogmas and canons that protect it from the penetration of ideas alien to it, we need to understand the evolutionary meaning of the development of this mechanism. It lies in the fact that in one of the areas of the spiritual world, which is called the astral world, there is an energy-informational formation called an egregor. Any egregor is created from thoughts and feelings that are similar in their vibrations. If this egregor is large enough, that is, a lot of people produce energy for it, then, one might say, personality qualities awaken in him. He does not become a fully living intelligent being, but only becomes a thought form that can manifest some programs.

Since people on Earth are “charged” with instinctive programs of self-preservation, then, by charging any of their egregors in the noosphere of the Earth, they fill this energy with the instinct of self-preservation. This is inevitable because you are this way by nature. And that is why the egregor, becoming large enough, begins, in plain language, to protect itself from the penetration of alien ideas in order to remain in existence. This is instinct. And it was created by you in any religious egregor, and this can manifest itself in different ways.

In some religious teachings, this may be manifested by the canons that there is only one religious direction, pleasing to God. In other religious directions, it may be emphasized that all religious directions are pleasing to God, but one of them develops the most, for example, increases vibrations. Still other religious teachings may believe that in general only one religion has the right to exist, and all others must be destroyed, since they are harmful. This depends on many factors, on the participants of one or another egregor and on the manifestation of this egregor through the consciousness of each person who enters it.

And the perception of religious ideas, as well as any moral, cultural and scientific ideas in general, it very much depends on a specific individual, since, even reading the same book, very simple in subject matter, each person will perceive it in his own way and make up his own opinion. And even more so, this is very clearly visible when it comes to such complex texts as religious ones. That is, if, for example, the same Bible or Koran or Vedas are read by ten different people, they will have completely different conclusions, and they largely depend on the spiritual experience of the person who reads these books.

You must always remember that these texts were and are often written down by people whom you now call contactees. In your history there could be contactees with both humanoid civilizations of antiquity and with plasmoid civilizations, that is, subtle-material civilizations, as well as contactees with the spiritual world. But most often, contactees formed relationships with three sources at the same time. Why? Because each contactee is a person whose sensitivity to the manifestations of the astral world is naturally or artificially increased, through which there is a connection with astral bodies or with subtle beings located around him, but not detected by your ordinary senses of the physical body. We can say that in reality each of you is a contactee. Why? Because each of you is not only a body. The body itself cannot be a contactee. He has receptors that perceive only the material world. But you are not only the body. Each of you is also a spirit, and the spirit has its own “receptors” that perceive the spiritual world and subtle-material civilizations.

That is why a rational spirit, embodied or non-incarnate, cannot help but be a contactee. But contact occurs at completely different levels of awareness. What is mindfulness? This is the understanding that thoughts, feelings, mental images are something external to the person, who is able to display them in speech, for example, either written or oral. And awareness is really different for everyone, it also depends on many factors, and I think we will talk about this further, since I feel from the energy that this issue is of interest to many who have gathered here.

Know that everyone who is here is not here by chance, there are no accidents. Everything that seems like an accident to your earthly eyes was planned by our mentors in the spiritual world even before our incarnation. And everything has only one goal - increasing the level of awareness, raising one's vibrations and developing in oneself that only energy that supports the whole world and allows us to be happy - this is the energy of love. It is perceived in the spiritual world as a bright white light. The light that you now see with your material eyes is only a reflection, a weak semblance of the light that creates us all every second and supports our existence.

Timecode: 45:43, #104 Conference of contactees with extraterrestrial civilizations in St. Petersburg, June 12, 2020 (Part 1)

Raom-Tian, specialist in energy interactions in the environment, planet Burhad.

June, 2020

February 9, 2023

The role of rulers in the life of the people. Is a fight necessary?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/smena-vlasti-v-obshchestve

The government is a group of representatives of the people, which was formed as a consequence. Those who are in power are ordinary people, there is no need to fight them. It is better to turn your attention to the ideas that brought this government to power, that is, to ideology. The reason for the appearance of these particular people lies in the egregors and ideology of your society, which were formed long before their birth.

To fight ideology, you must first understand what its main idea (on Earth) is at the moment.

The main ideas in society that lead to rulers who humiliate your dignity and pass unjust laws are materialism of perception. This means that you and your mutual mental energies bring to power precisely such materialists who direct all their consciousness, all their strength to ensuring their own material well-being, and not the well-being of you and your world. This is a consequence of materialism. This means that materialistic ideas need to be changed.

Until society changes them, all the riots and all the revolutions will not last long, because the same materialists will still come to power. The ideology itself will lead them there. It cannot be any other way, this is the law of the Universe, the law of God. When you change the materialism of perception to the spirituality of perception, by which I mean the recognition of the material world as only a small part of the Spiritual, when you recognize it not as your imagination, which concerns no one, but as a direct flow influencing the entire material world, when not only a few recognize this, and not even 20-30, but at least 60-70 people out of a hundred, that is, when they become the majority, then these egregors will begin to change. But this process is not instantaneous. Several earthly months must pass. At least 90 days of these thoughts of most people, then the egregors will begin to change and be cleansed.

Thus, low vibrational rulers will leave if they cannot adapt to these changes and become high vibrational. They can be displaced in different ways, even very rigidly. This happens in different ways, depending on the karma of that ruler.

> Maxim: So, by condemning the government, we only further support the possibility of its existence?

Condemnation is energy aimed at humiliating another. The one who condemns places himself, as it were, above the one whom he condemns. He doesn't try to understand it, but tries to remake it to fit his picture of the world. At the same time, remake it not just neutrally, but becoming higher than it. You can also say that it passes judgment. Often they do not talk about a person's actions, but about the fact that he is this way by nature. Judgment is an action and it releases energy.

Condemnation is generated by a variety of negative emotions: anger, fear, despondency. Mainly with anger, of course, and irritation. Irritation and anger, being negative emotions directed at the ruler, end up as a result in the political egregore of this country. And the egregor, i.e. thoughts form the image of the future such a ruler. Even if the current ruler is removed, the energy of anger itself will not go away. She can, of course, leave, but it takes time. And if people do not change and continue to condemn power structures, then this egregor will only strengthen.

This is very similar to the formation of a larva, only in the egregorial sense. And this egregorial larva, which can be called an egregorial phantom, for example, attracts exactly the kind of low-vibration entity that was condemned to the place of the ruler. Because the vibrations of his egregor are low. Such an egregor will simply hinder the High Spirit who wants to come in his place. These are well-known energy policy laws. Many residents of the Galaxy believe that energy laws of management should be studied in those institutes on Earth where your political scientists and deputies are taught. How else? We study this in families.

34:13, #133 Live broadcast 08/30/2020. Life on planet Burkhad. Materialism and spirituality. What is a miracle?

Raom Tiyan is a specialist in energy interactions in the material world, planet Burkhad.

August, 2020

February 15, 2023

Contactees: believers and atheists

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/veruyushchie-kontaktyory-i-kontaktyory-ateisty

Many people ask whether religious people and atheists are suitable for contact? If yes, which religion?

It’s not even about religion, but about the aspiration of the Soul towards the Light. Of course, religion, ideally, helps to strive for the Light, this is its purpose, calling. But, knowing the formalism of earthly ideas that are brought up starting from school, and even earlier, when a child is often graded not for knowledge, but simply for a lesson learned correctly, I understand perfectly well that religion can become the same formal way, a way of earning money. for yourself a warm place in Heaven, and not a means of rebirth in the Spirit.

To avoid this, remember one saying, which in my translation from Shimor sounds like this:

> “Seek not the blessing, but seek the one who blesses.”

This is one of the spiritual laws of our philosophy. I would not call it a religion, it is like a path to the Light, to God. Yes, this is a religion, but it is not accompanied by rituals, we do not waste energy on it, we mentally connect with God. For some people, in this period of their development, rituals are necessary; they help to tune in to the Light. For example, lighting candles in the Orthodox Church helps many people “ignite” the Light in their Soul. Or the smoke of incense that rises in the church helps many to feel the fragrance of the Holy Spirit, which spreads like energy, like a cloud. This is how the thinking of earthly people is structured due to the peculiarities of their brain.

Naturally, God welcomes everything that leads to the Light. Here I do not mean that he does not welcome what does not lead to the Light, this is the choice of any Spirit. It's about God supporting it with his energy. It can manifest itself in any religion, or outside it. It can manifest itself in the water of Baptism, in an icon, in a statue of Buddha, and in anything: God is omnipresent.

Timecode: 07:23, #265 How to tune in to contact and become a contactee of a certain civilization

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world.

January 2021

February 19, 2023

Shiva

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/shiva

Many people are known by this name. The word “shiva” itself comes from the proto-language of mankind, from the pre-Vedic, pre-Slavic period, which was widespread on earth a very, very long time ago.

The hissing sounds “zh” and “sh” are very similar and were often replaced by one another in different areas. So the word "shiva", which later turned into a name, also has a variant as the word "zhiva".

“Living” was the name given to the universal life force in nature, of which all the souls of living beings are composed. The meaning is similar to the modern concept of "prana" or "ether". That is, it is the all-pervading divine force from which everything consists.

February 23, 2023

Causes of earthquakes in Turkey and Syria 2023

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/prichiny-zemletryasenij-v-turcii-i-sirii-2023

The earth is not only an object on which there is a biosphere, that is, the sphere of life - microorganisms, plants, animals. Earth is a world where there is an intelligent civilization, that is, a society of intelligent beings with bodies in which intelligent spirits are embodied. And if there is such a society on any planet, then on this planet there is not only a biosphere, but also a noosphere is added - another shell of the Earth. This shell is energetic, subtle and at the same time astral, that is, the noosphere is a collection of subtle and astral structures that envelop the Earth (or any other planet where there is intelligent life), create a shell, certain clouds (the Russian word cloud comes from the verb to envelop).

The influence of thoughts and emotions on the planet

In the noosphere, various structures are distinguished, which consist of emotions, thoughts, feelings, desires of people, that is, of energy clots containing a record of the mental processes of these intelligent beings. The noosphere does not include emotions, feelings, desires of animal souls. Animal souls have a mind, but it is instinctive and cannot connect to the noosphere and influence its charge, because human and animal mental processes have different energy structures. The noosphere can only be influenced by the charge of intelligent spirits, and not only the spirits of people, but also all spirits embodied on Earth.

On Earth, as on any other planet, there are 59 levels of matter density, and spirits are embodied at each of these levels. Thus, only 1/17th of all spirits are embodied in the physical world that you see. Any intelligent spirit influences the noosphere of the Earth, but the denser the matter in which the spirit is embodied, the greater the influence this spirit has on the noosphere of the Earth, because its subtle feelings, desires and thoughts, passing through a dense body, are charged with more energy. Dense matter, since it is compacted subtle matter, contains more potential energy, which is invested into it by thinner structures.

For example, each atom contains a lot of subtle energy. Thus, people, as spirits, embodied in a physical body on Earth, have a very great influence on the noosphere, as well as on the totality of all subtle civilizations, because their energies are very strong and dense. But subtle-material civilizations also have a certain power, especially when they unite together to solve some problem. All processes of nature depend on subtle-material civilizations.

If the development of the physical inhabitants of the planet and the subtle-material inhabitants of the planet is disharmonious and does not go in one direction, this can cause various natural disasters and natural disasters on this planet, depending on its geological, energetic, biosphere structure. These can be different disasters. Shifts of the earth's crust are more typical for the Earth, since as a result of a war 12 thousand years ago, a single continent was split into many fragments of the earth's crust. These fragments of the Earth's crust float in a more plastic and fluid environment, which you call the upper layer of the mantle. This is not the core of the Earth yet, it is still far away, but it is already quite hot there, the substance is very dense, and it can float under the weight of the continents, oscillate and spread out like batter. All these processes that occur in the earth's crust, mantle and in the earth's core are controlled by plasmoid civilizations through the creation of certain movements in the earth's crust, the creation of various rocks, minerals, and so on.

What is happening now not only in Turkey, but throughout the world is a direct consequence of the fact that for more than a year (about a year and a half) there has been a decrease in the vibrations of the Earth's noosphere due to aggressive outbursts of aggression, fear, and despondency into the noosphere, which have gripped the entire world. This has led to the fact that subtle civilizations, which are responsible for the harmonious existence of nature and the earth's crust as well, have entered a state of irritation, disharmony, fear and anger. To get rid of this condition, they provoke these movements of the earth's crust, which can cause earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, tsunamis in order to dump this negative energy and cleanse the noosphere.

Timecode: 09:34, #537 Causes of earthquakes in Turkey and Syria 2023.

Archangel Michael is the Highest Hierarch of the Spiritual World, curator of planet Earth, ruler of the Christian egregor.

February 2023

February 26, 2023

Asking God for forgiveness

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/prosba-k-bogu-o-proshchenii

The terminology that is accepted in the Christian church, in the Christian religious egregor, is a description in images of a real spiritual process.

When they tell you: " Ask God for forgiveness ," this in no way means that God is angry with you, offended or loves you less. When they say: " Ask forgiveness from God for your sins ," they mean the image of a child who asks for forgiveness from his father for destroying the world that his father is building, breaking the laws that his father established in his home - this a clear image for the type of civilizations to which yours belongs.

People are embodied Spirits, 30% of your Divine Self is in you, the rest is in the Spiritual world, and you call it the Higher Self. And if you, as an embodied part, do not fulfill the tasks of your incarnation, your Spirit, that is, the disembodied part, begins to decrease its level. By doing this, you close your spiritual channel through which you communicate with your free choice.

Therefore, to ask God for forgiveness in this case, to say: " Forgive me, Father ," is to turn, first of all, to your Divine Self, that is, to the part of God that exists in the Spiritual world, in order to open your spiritual channel.

If a request for forgiveness is combined with despondency, with sadness, with the false opinion that God does not accept you, that you are too low from him on the spiritual stage of development - this is false, demonic sadness, it leads only to darkness and destruction.

To ask for forgiveness from God means to admit the error of the path that leads into darkness, and a real true request for forgiveness is always combined with faith in God's mercy, in the fact that God will accept you, cleanse you and fill you with his love.

Timecode: 38:22, #283 Third conversation with Jesus Christ - questions from participants from the audience during the retreat in Belarus

Jesus Christ is the head of the Christian religious egregor on Earth, the Firstborn Son of God, our elder Brother.

June, 2021

February 27, 2023

What does the phrase "bear the cross of Jesus Christ" mean? Sacrifice of Christ

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/nesti-krest-iisusa-hrista

Raom Tiyan, as a resident of Burkhad, where Jesus Christ now lives, often sees on the "television" that they have in every home how sometimes Jesus gives sermons that are accessible to everyone. He talks about many things that he spoke about on Earth and in other worlds where he incarnated. What did he mean when he gave commandments to his disciples and said:

> “Take up the cross and follow me, and anyone who does not do this cannot be my disciple.”

At that time, he already knew all the options for his future, like the first-born Spirit, to whom God revealed this. And as the firstborn son of God, he knew the option that would come true - about crucifixion and the fact that he himself would carry his own cross for his crucifixion. He gave this commandment to his disciples in figurative form.

On Burkhad, humanoids are taught from early childhood to interpret the meaning of images. The image of the Cross was directly related to the image of the crucifixion on Golgotha and its sacrifice. Jesus made his sacrifice only out of motives of his Love. Completely voluntary. Nobody forced or asked him to do this. He himself volunteered to do this to help people raise their vibrations. It was for this reason that he decided to undergo certain tests. Without the cross on which he was crucified, there would not have been this sacrifice and there would have been no raising of vibrations in the way he intended.

When he spoke about this to his disciples:

> “Whoever wants to be my disciple, let him take up his cross and follow me.”

He meant that these words would be read in the future by those who would already know about his crucifixion and the motive for which he did it. He meant that if you want to love unconditionally, and this always means sacrificing yourself, then do not demand benefit, return or payment in return for this love. This means that a person feels like a Source. Sacrifice not only for people, but also for God. He selflessly gives his Love to every embodied Spirit, as a part of the God in whom he believes and of which he is a part.

For the physical part of the being, the meaning of this sacrifice is that at the same time he does not engage in his own affairs, which could fully satisfy the desires of his physical body, but simply spends time on unconditional Love in his various actions. But at the same time, his physical body makes some sacrifice. And here the Cross is no longer just a symbol of sacrifice, but a symbol of the fact that a person goes through his own path of doubt, anxiety, renunciation of selfish goals for the sake of the main goal, for the sake of unconditional, selfless Love, Light, Happiness, joy and radiating this to the entire world around him. This is the path of Love, the Heart, which is known in all religions.

And here we cannot do without those doubts and anxieties that accompany a person when he wants to leave this path and return to the path of materialistic perceptions and material life. This means “ carrying your cross ,” that is, not giving up the state of bestowal.

We must also remember that the cross has four endings - four Elements. The cross was a pagan altar. Jesus gave his energies to all plasmoid civilizations - Water, Air, Earth and Fire. The phrase “ to bear the cross ” also means to carry and transmit this Love to all the Elements, in all directions, to all the peoples of the Earth.

Timecode: 47:58, #173 Free topic: answers to questions. Secret government, predictions of the future.

Raom Tiyan is a representative of the planet Burhad, a specialist in energy interactions in the material world.

November, 2020

February 28, 2023

Plasmoid worlds

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/plazmoidnye-miry

There are tens of times more plasmoid worlds than humanoid ones. According to rough estimates, about 90 billion spirits on Earth are embodied in them. As you can see, there are much more of them than in material density.

The worlds themselves are not dangerous. It's just that among plasmoid creatures there are creatures with different goals. They themselves do not pose any danger; rather, it is the person's reaction to them that is dangerous. Plasmoids themselves, by their nature, feed on energy in order to live and develop. Some of them can switch to feeding on the life force of the people of the Earth. But here you need to understand that even if the plasmoids do not consume it, this energy still leaves you, this is a normal energy exchange with the environment.

We constantly breathe, digest food, we maintain homeostasis in the body, which involves continuous energy exchange. This energy, which comes out of us anyway, can be absorbed by certain types of plasmoids. Those. even if they do not assimilate it, and it comes out of us, it will simply dissipate in space. If our emotions and feelings emit low vibrational energy, which is different from the energy of joy, love, gratitude (i.e. the energy of fear, anger, jealousy, envy, etc.), then this energy will charge our life force for, conditionally speaking, evil plasmoids who also experience these feelings. Like attracts like.

Their world is no more dangerous than living among people, among whom there are also different individuals. If you live next to a person who insults or humiliates you, then this is also a low vibrational Spirit. And living with him may pose some danger to your nervous system, if he is not some kind of criminal (there are different situations), but with your adequate reaction and the correct attitude towards the behavior of this person, like the plasmoid, such people are not of any danger to you present.

Timecode: 11:30, #155 Plasmoid civilizations and the Antiverse.

LiShioni is a specialist in the astral world and its interaction with the material world, planet Shimor.

October, 2020

March 2, 2023

About circumcision of boys

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/pro-obrezanie-malchikov

In addition to Islam, this is also affected in Judaism. The very first circumcision was done precisely in the monotheistic religion - Judaism. But Islam adopted everything later, due to the later appearance and flow from Judaism. In this regard, they have a similar ritual.

The egregor of Islam and the egregor of Judaism were mainly formed by the civilization of Tumesout (this was precisely their project) with the support of Burkhad. Even before making contact with Abraham, the Tumesoutians studied the religious cults that existed at that time among the peoples surrounding Abraham. At that time, about 5000 years ago, cults related to the worship of plasmoid civilizations dominated on Earth. They were closely connected with nature. Among other things, there was a so-called fertility cult. This cult ordered its ancient earthlings to treat the genitals (both male and female) with religious respect, because this was required by the magical ritual.

This idea of fertility in a man in relation to a woman giving birth to children, according to the laws of the magical idea of the world (which replaced the scientific one at that time), was transferred to nature. That a man could “fertilize” nature, the earth, with his power, so that it would produce more fruit. I want to remind you that it was an agricultural culture, basically. And all this was transferred by analogy.

When the Tumesoutians studied this cult, they decided that for the new religion they needed to create a new ritual for initiating boys into the new religion, but based it on the old ideas about the most sacred organ for a man. Naturally, at that time it really was a penis, because... life came from there. For ancient people it was a symbol of life. All this was preserved, for example, in the ideas of the ancient Indians about the lingam, etc.

At the time when the egregor was being formed, circumcision of the boy symbolized the dedication of part of this sacred organ to God, so that this ritual would sanctify a person in the new religion and allow him to form a new egregor. This was decided by the Tumesoutians. And when, several thousand years later, they began to form the egregor of Islam, they followed the same path with the Arabs, who, by the way, descended from Abraham, through Ishmael and other peoples in Arabia.

Timecode: 13:25, #173 Free topic: answers to questions. Secret government, predictions of the future.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations;

Shan-Toris is a representative of the planet Disaru, a researcher of outer space and vacuum energy, and a physicist.

November, 2020

March 28, 2023

Raom Tiyan about the simulated reality of the Universe

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/raom-tijan-o-simulyativnoj-realnosti-vselennoj

What you call a “simulation computer program,” “game,” “set of experience” is a description of reality that corresponds to the vocabulary and spirit of the content of the consciousness of those who describe it. That is, any action, if desired, can be called a game. Even a game can be called work if you wish. Any work can be called a game. It depends on how an outside observer feels about it. You can say: “Our life is a game.” You can say: “Our life is a series of different actions, work, development.” But the only thing we cannot say from our position is that this is a pointless waste of energy. Because there is nothing meaningless in the Universe. Everything has its own meaning.

It happens that people try to explain new facts in the familiar technical terminology to which they are accustomed. What is a computer program? This is a certain created information product in virtual space or on computer media, which is quite real and at the same time has no density. But at the same time he is real. Unlike a computer program, the material dense world is dense. That is, I would compare it here, rather, with a computer. And with the program I would compare the information that is in this world, that is, the Spiritual world.

If you look at what “really” means, you must first decide on a starting point. “Really” for whom? From what position? From the point of view of the material world? From the point of view of the subtle world or from the point of view of the Spiritual world, or the Divine source? If you look at how everything exists in reality, what is reality? Reality is that truth which is the energy of God. And from the point of view of this truth, all other worlds and all other manifestations of energies in these worlds, and the energies of matter are just different levels of density of the same truth and Light. So, from God’s point of view, nothing exists except Him and His energy.

As far as I understand, the “Architect of the Universe” is that high-vibration plasmoid that participated in the creation of planetary systems. They can live for millions of years. Starting from the 45-46th density level and ending with the 56th density level in plasmoid worlds.

I am used to looking not at the words themselves, but at their meaning, at what they express. Artificial intelligence. Is intelligence in the sense of reason, like a chain of logical operations? Or is it in the sense of just a library of knowledge, some accumulated experience?

If we look at the Spirit as an intelligent entity, it is also “artificial intelligence” because it is born of its Father.

I believe that such terms can lead a person to disorientation. Because when reading ancient religious, mystical books and not finding familiar terms in them, this can repel a person and make one think about their primitiveness, although they say the same thing.

Timecode: 24:23, #251 Universe: space exploration by earthlings, virtual reality, new technologies.

Raom Tiyan is a representative from the planet Burhad, a specialist in energy interactions in the environment of the material world.

December, 2020

April 3, 2023

The effect of radiation on humans. About the spirit

(egregor) of the Japanese nation. Support of contactees by governments of other countries

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vliyanie-radiacii-na-cheloveka-o-duhe-yaponii

Radiation in small doses, like radioactive energy, can cause a number of mutations in the developing cells of the future organism (still in the womb), which can cause changes in metabolism. In some cases, such mutations - changes turn out to be beneficial for the body.

As for the technological leap in Japan, completely different factors were at work. Here the factor of the Spirit itself was at work, that is, the egregor of the Japanese nation, which was in a hurry to restore its positive image in the face of other nations, which had been significantly shaken by the support of Nazi Germany. And that is why many of the Japanese recognized and recognize the bombing of these cities by the American military as correct.

As for the technological leap, their love for electronics played a role here. In general, in Japan there are many contacts with the Interstellar Union. They pay a lot of attention to this at the state level; they support projects to study the experience of altered states of consciousness and contacts with various entities. Funds are allocated for this at the government level. They are actively interested in this topic and support research.

The Japanese are in many ways more open to new things, including their government circles, and tend to learn from everything that happens around them. This is thanks to their upbringing in a certain spirit, in which a large place is still given to Shintoism and Buddhism. And these religions say that man came into this world to develop and learn his lesson. That everything that happens is not accidental.

There are similar countries, for example, Brazil, Uruguay, and some countries in South America, where contactees are also being actively studied, including through government programs. In these countries, contactees are treated with great care and respect for their rights.

Some rulers who have existed recently and exist now already understand perfectly well that not everything in this world can be proven by materialistic methods. Not the entire Earth had the experience of such a materialistic perception of reality, as is, for example, noticeable after the works of Karl Marx and his associates, known to all countries.

As for Russia, this initiative depends both on the contactees themselves who are in the country, and on the readiness of your government, military and scientific circles to engage in dialogue. Not a monologue that encourages contactees to give them meaningless evidence, but a dialogue. In which representatives of these scientific and government circles will expand their worldview and go to their own Light, the Higher Self, after which the need for proof of anything will no longer be necessary for them.

Timecode: 36:10, #258 Increasing awareness and vibrations of the Earth's noosphere. Support for contactees by governments of other countries.

Raom Tiyan - representative of the planet Burhad, specialist in energy interactions in the environment;

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

April 2021

April 7, 2023

Lucifer

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/lyucifer

This is a real spiritual personality. It should be noted here that it is not only this Spirit who calls himself by the name Lucifer. There are many other Spirits, many entities that also call themselves that. Moreover, this word (means) - Bringer of Light.

Just like there are many people on Earth, for example, with the name Nikolai or even Magomed. And some of them may be criminals, while others may be kings. Likewise, among Spirits there are many spiritual entities with the same names, but completely different vibrations.

It is said about this essence in the Koran. What he said:

> “I am created from Fire. Therefore I will not worship him who is made of earth.”

What is meant here is its decrease in vibration. At first he was very high - 24th spiritual level. He was equal with God. Like now Jesus Christ, Archangel Michael, Archangel Gabriel, Gabriel, he was at the highest level, but he also went into incarnation.

When he, like all of us Spirits, went into incarnation, in one of the incarnations on the planet Selbet, from the 24th level he dropped in his vibrations to the 18th. Then, from the 18th level, he incarnated again on the planet Selbet and participated in the creation of people. He was embodied in one of the Selbetites who were at the base where the first people were almost poisoned.

This 18th level angel lowered his vibrations in this way. He hated the children of God, and therefore God himself. In one incarnation, he dropped straight to the 6th level.

After the incarnation there was a conversation. Each Spirit has a conversation about incarnation with God. And, indeed, there was a conversation about why he did this to the earthlings, that is, he tried to destroy them. The reason turned out to be that when he was incarnated among the Selbet people, he really believed that they were inferior to him, because they were made from earthly animals, and he considered himself a higher divine being. Fire means Light. That is, he is like Light. He believed that if he despised them, he would remain the same Light. He believed that contempt, pride, and hatred could not defeat the Light, even if he experienced these emotions. This was his mistake, his “sin”. And even when this Selbet man, in whom Iblis or Lucifer was embodied, was sent to the planet of criminals, even there he did not realize the reason for this sin. He did not repent, did not return to God.

He remained at this 6th level until leaving the incarnation. Moreover, he still remains at level 6. According to the Interstellar Union, he did not go into incarnation again, although he has every right to do so, but only at his own request.

Related video: #259 Iblis. Lucifer. Bringer of Light. Demon Lord. What kind of spiritual person is this?

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

April 2021

April 11, 2023

The beginning and end of the Universe. The Big Bang Theory

From the Spiritual World one can see both the beginning and the end of the Universe. At the "end" the atom begins to become less dense, and energies leave it. The Apostle Peter wrote a very precise expression. Without knowing all the details, he wrote poems about the pack. Those elements that consist of different elements will disintegrate, and the energies will still remain in the subtle world.

The emergence of the dense material Universe really looked like an explosion. It's not for nothing that they say "big bang". He was not at a single point, but he was throughout the space of almost all Galaxies. That is, luminous plasma and interstellar gas appeared, which began to form stars and planets.

When there is an exit from the dense state, it is like a reflection on the waves of water, it disappears. Written:

> "The earth and everything on it will burn up"

- but this is just an expression, nothing will burn. Everything will simply be illuminated with white light, which will be in our perception as light, but it will be like an instant. And then there will be no more dense matter.

There will already be a 4th level of density. We, all Spirits who are in the Spiritual World, will have the opportunity to incarnate into the 4th level of density. Then the 4th one will also disappear. It will be the 5th. And so all these levels will disappear, and all the Divine energy that made up the dense material world will return to God, to his Divine essence. Along the way, these worlds will become less dense. He will, as it were, "return" her to himself. Then all matter will completely disappear, all levels of density. Only God will remain, and only Spirits will remain, that is, us.

Each Spirit will remain at the level it reached during its last incarnation. If this is a low level, then he will be in a state of burning, Gehenna, because there will be nothing but God, and he is not compatible with him in vibration, he is lower, so the environment around him will reject him.

This is still happening now, but in a less pronounced form, because there is still a world where you can incarnate and correct your mistakes. And then it won't happen anymore. There won't be time there either. We will feel our subjective time there, but time as a period of events in the material world will no longer exist.

Eternity or one moment will pass, no one knows, only God knows about it, and the Universe will begin to appear again. The next cycle will begin.

First, fine-material worlds will appear, then denser ones. And as soon as the first worlds appear, which consist of matter, even the most subtle, we already have the possibility of incarnation. We can get out of the state where we were, at what level. If it is high vibration, it is a feeling of endless merging and happiness. If these are low vibrations, then vice versa.

Let's get out of there and already have the opportunity to incarnate. At first, of course, those who are in low vibrations will be the first to incarnate, because the suffering they will experience will push them to incarnate in order to raise their vibrations. Then we will incarnate after them to help them come to the Light.

Further, the worlds will become more and more dense, because the denser the matter, the faster one can learn the lessons of improvement in it.

We have the densest 3rd density where we live. We have three densities of states of matter: solid, liquid, gaseous. Here you can go through your lessons very quickly, because it is very difficult for those who are embodied in 3rd density to see and feel the Spiritual world. More difficult than for those in higher densities. If it’s more difficult, it means we need to work harder for it, call on God more, love more, learn Love. And if we spend more effort and energy on it, we can evaluate the result more. We can appreciate this light of Love more only after we have been in darkness. And this is the meaning of the existence of all worlds.

Timecode: 03:16, #264 Is the Universe infinite? The cyclical development of the Universe. The Big Bang Theory and the end of the world.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien life forms.

April 2021

Information transmitted by our space friends through Irina Podzorova, a contactee with extraterrestrial civilizations.

t.me/cassiopeia_publish
https://blog.cassiopeia.center/+religiya-i-mirovozzrenie https://blog.cassiopeia.center/+astral
April 12, 2023

The reason for the appearance of Christ on Earth

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/prichina-yavleniya-hrista-na-zemlyu

About five thousand years ago, it finally became clear to our cosmic creators that our civilization had reached a dead end.

Endless wars, bloody religious cults, debauchery and disregard for the path of development of the spirit in oneself, as part of the infinite Divine Mind and the ray of Light of Love, have finally shown that on our planet the cult of brute force and the superiority of sensual pleasures over the development of spiritual purity and perfection reigns.

This state of affairs did not suit our creators at all, because in the ethical system of their civilization the idea of spiritual evolution, as the only source of limitless perfection and true happiness, has an advantage.

Many representatives of these higher civilizations of our Galaxy achieved the highest spiritual perfection, could remember all their incarnations and communicate with God in their spirit, hearing His answers and feeling themselves as an endless vibration of His Energy.

Among all the spirits born of God, One always stood out. He was born earlier than others and took part in the creation of the material world.

Since those ancient times, He has always been one with God, His Father, in everything: in will, in thoughts, in feelings and in moral standards. This first-born Spirit of God on Earth is known under the name “Jesus Christ”...

He always came to the aid of those cosmic civilizations that had turned away from the path of spiritual development and were heading towards their destruction. Incarnating among them, Christ showed the way to His Father. Almost everywhere He met with a good reception and He managed to create a religion leading everyone to spiritual perfection.

But this is not how He was met on Earth...

Christ paid attention to our planet a long time ago. But the people here were so low in vibration that He could not find a woman who could embody His perfect Spirit without harming herself.

Christ was born on Tumesout, the planet that has the most opportunities for the formation of religions in undeveloped worlds. Having arrived on Earth as part of the next expedition, in the body of a Tumesoutian, He decided to create the conditions for His incarnation here.

This happened about five thousand years ago.

Having carefully studied the egregors of all earthly tribes, Christ realized that not one of them is suitable for incarnating the spirit into a woman capable of incarnating Him. He had to create this people himself, both physically and spiritually.

Now this people is known as the Jewish people. It was from him that Christ came into being in the flesh.

But five thousand years ago this people did not yet exist. Christ, living in the body of the Tumesoutian, Uach-Feurge, found on Earth a man who was destined to become the first representative and ancestor of the Jewish people, and came into contact with him. His name was Avra, which in the language of that area meant “divine perfection.”

The history of the creation and existence of the Jewish people is described in detail in the Tanakh, better known to Russian people under the name “Old Testament”.

The Jews called the newcomers from heaven Elohim and considered them gods.

June, 2019

April 15, 2023

A brief history of the origin of earthly civilization

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kratkaya-istoriya-proiskhozhdeniya-zemnoj-civiliza

Our planet was discovered by aliens from the planet Tumesout five million years ago. There were no people here then. The Tumetsoutians studied the flora and fauna of the Earth, explored other planets in the solar system and decided to try to create an intelligent creature from animals that were abundant on Earth through genetic engineering.

For this purpose, representatives of the order of primates, similar to modern chimpanzees, came up. The aliens studied them in detail and began to experiment, introducing their genetic material into their cells. Soon they were joined by aliens from two more planets: Burkhad and Selbet.

Three million years ago man was created. The civilizations of Burkhad (constellation Cygnus), Tumesout (constellation Orion) and Selbet (constellation Canes Venatici) are considered our creators.

The author of the drawing is Elena Timofeeva. The history of the creation of our civilization 3-5 million years ago

Soon after the creation of the first people, a dispute began between them about our future fate. The Selbetians, representatives of the reptilian civilization, having not reached agreement with the other two races on the issue of the participation of their genetic material in our creation and on some others, tried to destroy the people created with such difficulty by cunning. Fortunately, they didn't succeed.

Then people began to reproduce, and about 200,000 years ago, aliens decided to settle them throughout the solar system. Then its structure was different: the Earth was closer to the Sun, there was no winter here, Venus did not have such a dense poisonous atmosphere, photosynthetic bacteria were sprayed there, which over several decades created an oxygen atmosphere, with the help of special technologies they created reservoirs there, planted forests, etc. Thanks to all this, Venus has become a real sister of the Earth. 20,000 people from Earth were resettled there. Mars was also closer to the Sun, but there was a change of seasons, and the climate was colder. Reservoirs and oxygen were already there. Having built a large base on Mars, 20,000 people were brought there from Earth.
Everything was fine until the moment another major disagreement occurred between the Selbetians, Burkhadians and Tumesoutians. This happened 12,000 years ago and led to a global war in the solar system, during which the Selbetians used serious weapons that changed the orbits of the planets.
Because of these weapons, the structure of the solar system and the Earth became modern. Many people died: almost the entire population on Mars was destroyed. The inhabitants of Venus were taken to the planet Disara, located near the core of the Galaxy. Of the inhabitants of the Earth, about three thousand people were saved.
After the catastrophe, the appearance of the Earth and the conditions on it changed greatly: the Earth acquired the Moon, began to be located further from the Sun, the angle of inclination of the Earth's axis changed, a single continent split into pieces, many cities and islands sank, winter appeared, etc.
The aliens brought the surviving people to Earth and they began to multiply and build cities. Aliens from different planets often contacted them, but ancient people mistook them for gods or demons.
June, 2019
April 17, 2023

Curse, damage, signs. Sign about a black cat

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/proklyatie-porcha-primety-primeta-o-chernoj-koshke

Curses, damage and omens are things of different natures. A curse is a conscious desire to destroy either the physical body, or the Soul, or the connection of the Soul with God, that is, separation from something, from life most often. This is the concept of excommunication, which is pronounced out loud or mentally, with the full desire for it to come true. This is a very strong thought form, charged with anger and resentment. It was created by man himself.

Damage is a negative mental program, a certain structure created at the mental level with astral substructures embedded in it. This is such a complex astral, mental program, charged with vital force, aimed at harm, at negativity and strengthened by similar desires of representatives of subtle civilizations who are the curators of this person who practices this magic. This is already a magical program. She is already together with these plasmoids, which help the magician in this. They may have some common goals.

Signs are some observations of people who have been observing some process for several years or decades, or centuries, and have identified a certain pattern that is being fulfilled there. But it can be expressed, since people often, especially in ancient times, thought figuratively, this can often be expressed in figurative form, and also this event could have happened a long time ago, this series of events, and in the present modern world lose relevance.

Signs about black cats

The sign was not only about the fact that she would cross the road. There were also special beliefs about people who have black cats and black cats. The original origin of this sign dates back to the very ancient civilization of Ancient Egypt. There was a plasmoid called Bastata, who was then the cat goddess Bastet. She appeared to people in the form of a black cat with green eyes. Some magicians began to worship her, make sacrifices, and so on. Then, at the moment when Christianity fought against pagan cults, all this turned into a bad omen.

Timecode: 01:13:25, 280 Live. Discord in CASSIOPEIA. Answers to chat questions Cassiopeia - Ukraine.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien life forms;

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world.

May, 2021

April 20, 2023

Continuation of the history of the Earth and the solar system

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/prodolzhenie-istorii-zemli-i-solnechnoj-sistemy

Three million years ago, almost immediately after the creation of people, the inhabitants of the planet Selbet, who took part in the creation of our bodies and placed 5% of their genetic information in our genotype, attempted to destroy the first people. Fortunately, it did not succeed, thanks to the vigilance and scientific knowledge of the other two races of our creators - Burkhad and Tumesout.

After such a treacherous act by representatives of one of the most developed reptilian races in the Galaxy, which, by the will of God, did not bring serious consequences for the very recently created people, a period began on Earth, which in ancient sources is called the Golden Age.

Aliens from other planets communicated with earthlings openly, passed on to them their experience in solving spiritual and material problems, and helped build cities, observatories, scientific and cultural buildings. They installed 12 main and 36 smaller spatial portals in different places of a single continent for instantaneous teleportation of physical bodies within the Earth and to other planets.

Meanwhile, the Interstellar Union decided to resettle some earthlings on the neighboring planets Venus and Mars to expand living space and accelerate social evolution. Thanks to slightly different orbits than now, periods of rotation around their axis, angles of inclination of the rotation axis, magnetic field strength and other characteristics of these planets, liquid water and a dense but transparent atmosphere existed on them, containing oxygen in sufficient quantities for earthlings.

The Burkhadians, together with their assistants - their colonists from the planet Futissa, located in the Pleiades cluster, began settling the earth's flora and fauna, with the genetic code changed in accordance with the new conditions, on Venus and Mars, building cities, roads and infrastructure necessary for the first settlers. About 200,000 years ago, 20,000 people each from Earth were moved to Venus and Mars.

The Golden Age continued for many millennia on Earth and neighboring planets, but twelve thousand years ago a major conflict occurred between the inhabitants of the planets Burkhad and Selbet, based on contradictions in understanding the issue of the distribution of reptilian and anthropomorphic races in the Galaxy. This conflict led to a global war in the solar system, during which the Selbetians used serious weapons that changed the orbits of the planets, which is why the structure of the solar system and the Earth became modern.

The huge cigar-shaped ships of Selbet, from the distance of the orbit of Mars, but in a different plane of the ecliptic, fired a salvo of 40 huge white balls at our planet. Some flew past, but most still reached their target and fell to Earth. When they touched soil or water, they disappeared, and in their place huge cracks in the ground and huge waves appeared in reservoirs. The Selbet ships quickly approached our planet and one of them fired a huge bright purple lightning at it, which blinded many people, looking anxiously into the sky, and when this unusual flame went out, it became noticeable that the Earth, swaying, was moving away from the Sun, like a kicked ball...

Almost all the inhabitants on Mars were destroyed, but the inhabitants of Venus were taken to the planet Disara, located near the core of the Galaxy.

Now this planet is inhabited by a civilization that is our direct descendants, located at a different level of awareness and part of the Interstellar Union. Of the people of the Earth, the Burkhadians and Tumesoutians managed to save about three thousand people.

After the catastrophe, the appearance of the Earth and the conditions on it changed greatly: the Earth acquired the Moon, began to be located further from the Sun, the angle of inclination of the Earth's axis changed, a single continent split into pieces, many cities and islands sank, winter appeared, etc. The surviving people were brought back to Earth, but due to their general distrust of aliens from the sky, which arose as a result of the war, it was decided to limit contacts with them only to informational ones, in order to form positive egregors and teach the moral standards of the Interstellar Union through religious figures, messiahs, prophets and other contactors with extraterrestrial civilizations.

Within a few generations, stories about war, resettlement, aliens, etc. have become overgrown with legends and entered the mythology of the first people who survived the global catastrophe, thanks to our creators from Burkhad and Tumesout.

These two planets created the Interstellar Union about 15 million years ago, together with four other space civilizations: Shimor from the constellation Andromeda, Lusdupar from the Pleiades cluster, Raomis from the constellation Lyra and Etes-Mior, located at that time in the Sirius star system, and about 10 000 years ago, which finally left our Galaxy, not counting nine small bases located in space on huge spherical ships of golden color.

These six planets formed the primary Interstellar Union of our Galaxy.

Irina Podzorova together with her friend - MidgasKaus from the planet Esler.

August, 2019

April 25, 2023

Sai Baba on the unification of spiritual teachings

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/sai-baba-ob-obedinenii-duhovnyh-uchenij

During my incarnation on Earth, I did not say anything new. Just like now they don't say anything new through Irina and other contactees. We always talked about Love .

Love is probably the most mentioned word in your books, in books all over the world, and even more so in religious books. What you call religious books is that literature that mainly writes about spirituality, about the spiritual path of development. Probably many spiritual people, prophets, mentors, teachers said the following phrase:

> "Technical development without spiritual development will lead earthlings to a dead end."

This means that now all contactees are called to carry the same idea, that everyone needs to unite in Love. Be it the Cassiopeia movement, be it my movement, any social movement that brings the Light of Love, they can unite, but they should do this only if they feel the Light in it. Not a violent action, but a single Light.

I am now addressing all my followers through contactee Irina. I spoke with its curators, spoke with Archangel Michael, who was also my mentor. He is also a mentor to the Cassiopeia Project and many of the participants in the Cassiopeia Project.

I want to tell you that the Light that is broadcast through "Cassiopeia" is, in essence, no different from the one that I broadcast. Albeit in a different, more modern, more esoteric or more scientific (for each perception it is individual) shell. The shell may be different, but the call is the same.

Know yourself, know your divinity, and then you will get a leap upward.

We call this “Enlightenment”. What does it mean to get out of the wheel of birth and death? Acquire moksha, the so-called liberation and purification. This does not mean that you will never incarnate. You can incarnate if you want, at any time. This is not forbidden to any Angel, any demon, or anyone. This is a matter of will and desire of any Spirit.

But what does it mean to get out of the wheel of birth and death? This means getting rid of the cycle of meaningless reincarnations in which there is no Light. Who will be in suffering because you wasted your incarnation. If you always remember Love in at least one of your incarnations, it will be easier and easier for you to remember this in your new incarnation, when you will be a different person.

Your Spirit, your Higher Self will remain the same. It is especially important when in meditation you imagine yourself in all your lives on the Time Line, past and future, and send yourself Light. In this way you increase your ability to awaken in all your lives, past and future.

Timecode: 01:04:42, #413 Conference at a retreat in Abkhazia with the Spirit of Sathya Sai Baba from the Spiritual World.

The Spirit of Sathya Sai Baba is a representative of the Spiritual world, an Angel, prepares Spirits for incarnation, draws up a program for them for incarnation and is their spiritual mentor.

February 2022

April 29, 2023

Sathya Sai Baba about animal karma and the meaning of their existence

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/satya-sai-baba-o-karme-zhivotnyh-i-smysle-ih-sushc

In the classical understanding (karma as responsibility, as a result of the free choice of the Spirit, Soul), karma does not exist in animals. They have no free choice. Their Soul operates according to the programs laid down by its creator.

For the behavior of an animal, karmic responsibility is borne, the karmic consequences are its creators, firstly, and secondly, those who are next to them from reasonable, freely choosing individuals, and who influence its behavior. For example, let's take dogs. If its programs, its instincts are adjusted in such a way that it becomes capable of being aggressive and attacking a person, then the dog itself does not bear any responsibility for this.

Her Soul is tuned in such a way as to become aggressive. If she is specially trained in this way, then the person is responsible for this. Because he changes her program. Soul Animals, they are simply unrequited. And in this sense they are not responsible.

It is impossible to hold an animal accountable. It does not have the ability to evaluate its behavior by moral standards. This can only be done by the Divine Spirit, which by nature has within itself a spark of God, which is called freedom of choice. Not just a mind that chooses between instincts (animals have this too). But besides reason, we also need freedom. A person has it. Therefore, people build their own lives and are responsible for their own consequences.

Animal Souls are very diverse. But many animals of the Soul are reincarnated up to several dozen times. Moreover, when they are reincarnated, they feel themselves immortal. They do not understand that they are mortals, because they are generally deprived of such a category of understanding as death.

Even when an animal is born and lives, it does not understand that its existence will end. It feels itself eternal. And he doesn’t understand that his body’s existence will end. Many animals, having seen the death of another living creature, cannot distinguish it from a living, but sleeping one. They may not leave the deceased owner for a long time until they are convinced that he does not care about them, does not feed them, and so on. They believe that he is in a state of sleep.

For them there is no death as such. They cannot believe with your tongue that he will not return again. To understand that the body will end its existence, you need to separate yourself from the body. Separate your self from your physical body. They can't do this. For them, the body is them. But despite this, they can also travel in the Astral when their body is asleep.

However, whether it was one incarnation or several dozen, in the end, the energy that was invested in them by the creators, the plasmoids, dissipates. At the same time, the animal Soul, which was in the Astral, falls asleep. She does not go to the next incarnation, but simply falls asleep (a state of quiet peace, dissolution).

We say “dissolves in nature.” But his energies, which were embedded in him, go to the creation of other animal Souls and also etheric bodies, incarnating intelligent Spirits, that is, people. If we look from a spiritual point of view, then all energies are immortal. Not what they make up, but the energies themselves. Any quantum of energy, as our interstellar friends have already explained to you, cannot disappear.

From this point of view, animal Souls are immortal. But only if we look at them as separate energies. And if we look at their instinctive stream of consciousness, then it falls apart.

What's the point then? What is the meaning of the existence of not only animals, but also plant Souls, which are also Souls, Souls of microorganisms?

There are many types of Souls, they are also alive and can also not be reincarnated, but dissipate after the first incarnation. The meaning of existence of animals has one soul. The meaning of life for animals and plants is the evolution of that being that can contain an intelligent Spirit. Complications, like steps on a ladder. For this creature to arise, a large biosphere is needed that is capable of supporting each other's existence. Plants must support the existence of animals, animals - plants, microbes, and so on. All this must go in a circle, otherwise no evolution will happen.

You may ask, what if a rational being had already arisen (like the one in which the immortal Spirit incarnated, as happened on Earth)? It itself arose or with the help of alien intervention in the form of hybridization. This is where civilization arose and began.

Herds of animals no longer began to roam and simply use nature. An animal is different from a person. An animal simply uses the benefits of nature for itself, and a person is able to transform it. Civilization arose and the transformation of the planet began. Why then are animal and plant Souls needed on this planet, if the evolution of the next animal can lead to competition between the emerging civilization and the new one that may arise? Of course, if they arise in the same biosphere environment, in the same habitat. More civilized neighbors (if they have a low moral level of civilization) may well capture their still undeveloped in terms of civilization, but reasonable competitors.

As it happened, for example, in India, during their contacts with Great Britain. When a technically developed country simply made less developed countries its colonies. Although there were the same people there as in Great Britain itself, no one looked at it. What then is the point of animals' existence if evolution becomes difficult on this planet?

Man on Earth, since he lives in a physical body, is also part of the biosphere. The meaning of the existence of those animals that are next to a person in close proximity (both plant and animal Souls) is to support the life of this person and help him in his development, in his life. In what way, this will be decided by the person himself.

He will bear karmic responsibility for this in the form that people are called to treat any living creature with love. If you take something from nature, be it a flower, a tree or an animal to use for your own benefit, it will be more harmonious if, in gratitude for this, you send your Love to the Soul of the animal or plant and the Soul of the plasmoids that created it - this will be your development .

Those animals that live far from humans, in the wild, also support the entire biosphere. Maintaining the entire biosphere is important so that it can develop. Because if new animals of the Soul do not incarnate, then these animals will simply disappear and will not continue their species. And this contradicts the instinctive program that was previously invested in them.

Timecode: 45:27, #413 Conference at a retreat in Abkhazia with the Spirit of Sathya Sai Baba from the Spiritual World.

The Spirit of Sathya Sai Baba is a representative of the Spiritual world, an Angel, prepares Spirits for incarnation, draws up a program for them for incarnation and is their spiritual mentor.

February 2022

May 6, 2023

Archangel Michael about the help of the Spiritual world

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/arhangel-mihail-o-pomoshchi-duhovnogo-mira

Maxim: Tell me, please, people are asking: how do you from the Spiritual World help people pass these lessons, stop wars, complete lessons, let's say, do you even help do this, or do you just observe and watch?

Irina: We help by transmitting information about Divine unconditional Love to absolutely all Spirits who are temporarily on opposite sides of the barricades. We remind them of the need to radiate the Light of Divine Love. To do this, you need to forgive, understand, accept even the side that seems negative, which seems evil. This happens only because of a distorted understanding of the Universe, which is born from an understanding of justice outside the Light of Love. And by transmitting the same information through almost any religious egregor, through any political egregor to all peoples, to all participants in all religious egregors, we help to perceive this information. But how to use it is up to each Spirit to decide, and this is his right and his level of responsibility.

As for ending wars. It is possible to stop them on any planet (including on Earth) only if at least 70% of the Earth's population fully understand the value of the life of another person, no matter what nation he lives in and no matter what language he speaks, so the same way he realizes the value of his life. Until 70% of the Earth's population realizes this, the Earth's egregors will be filled with negativity, non-acceptance, and this will spill over onto the physical plane in the form of wars, epidemics and natural disasters.

If this lesson of the value of life is not learned, then these Spirits will return to the time when hostilities begin in their territories again and again, until these Spirits in themselves learn this lesson and fall in love with the divine that is in every Spirit, which they recognize as an enemy.

Archangel Michael is a representative of the Christian spiritual egregor, the patron and curator of the Earth in the Spiritual world, one of the Higher Hierarchs of Light.

May 9, 2023

Archangel Michael. The ultimate meaning of the development of the Spirit

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/konechnyj-smysl-razvitiya-duha

The final meaning of the development of the Spirit is determined for itself by the Spirit itself. For me personally, this is helping other Spirits in realizing themselves as God’s children, divine particles, creators of their reality. For you, the meaning of life, or the meaning of this incarnation, or the meaning of any other life may be completely different.

Meaning is what you define to complete the task of your embodiment. When you are in the Spiritual World, the meaning of your life in the Spiritual World is the task that is possible at the level where you will be. This varies depending on the level.

As for the Earth and incarnated Spirits, I, as the Curator of the Earth, who teaches Angel Consultants to correctly draw up incarnation programs for Spirits incarnating on Earth, I will tell you that those Spirits who pass through earthly reality, in any case, have one of their tasks to develop within yourself the Light of Unconditional Love through patience, acceptance, forgiveness, because here is a world where you have to do this (smiles).

Archangel Michael is a representative of the Christian spiritual egregor, the patron and curator of the Earth in the Spiritual world, one of the Higher Hierarchs of Light.

May 14, 2023

Origin and purpose of Stonehenge

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/proiskhozhdenie-i-prednaznachenie-stounhendzh

Stonehenge is one of many structures that were used to mark astronomical phenomena. In addition to these stones, there are also small mounds and pits. There were no stones in these pits. They were originally designed that way. This was a designation for astronomical phenomena and, in general, phenomena that occurred in the Universe. It was like a copy of the Universe made of stones.

As for the movement of these stones in space. The nearest quarry from where these stones were obtained is located quite far away, and in an area inconvenient for movement. According to experts from the Interstellar Union, those aliens who were in contact there could transfer an anti-gravity device to their contactee (leader or priest). At that time there was no such direct prohibition on the transfer of any alien devices, because there was no danger to contactees. And they could use this device.

There is such an anti-gravity device that is simply attached and held due to the fact that a vacuum is created there. And then you press a button, and an anti-gravity field is created, which, for example, is equal to or even slightly greater than the gravitational field that attracts the stone to the ground. The stone may even rise. All that remains is to take some strong rope and just move it. But, in any case, lifting a multi-ton stone with an anti-gravity device and simply moving it with this device still required a lot of strength. Although gravity was suppressed, all of its density and mass were preserved. You also had to be able to handle these devices. There were certain safety precautions that established where a person should stand. Careless handling could result in injury or injury.

In the Interstellar Union, all this is done by robots, there is no need for people. But we have no evidence that robots or the aliens themselves were somehow involved in this process. The most they could do was hand over an anti-gravity device. But we don't have such records to send a robot.

The Magi themselves, of course, will not build this. In any case, these were people attracted by the leaders. Local magicians are contactees. This serves as an example of how strong the religious idea is in the minds of people, that they spend colossal effort and material resources on the construction of buildings that, at first glance, would seem to be useless from a practical point of view.

Timecode: 18:32, #198 History of the ancient world. Mysteries of Stonehenge, underground cities, rock paintings (part 2).

Rigarius Rumi is a representative of the planet Tumesout, a specialist in the study of the ancient history of the 158th sector of the Galaxy, which includes Earth.

January 2021

May 17, 2023

Jesus on casting out demons

The energy that emanated from My field was a source of torment for those Spirits who were in a state of low vibrations. But this was not because I wanted it, but because it reminded them of who they were and where they had fallen from. This created a desire in their spiritual hearts to return to this state. But since they were enslaved by their various passions and vices, it was painful for them to think about it, so they preferred not to see it at all.

This is the essence of the torment of demons and destructive entities when they are visited by the Light. And on the energetic level, this is an unpleasant feeling, as if this essence is being turned inside out, that is, as if the skin is being removed from it, figuratively speaking, because the vibrations are incompatible. And thus it is purified. Since she herself does not want this cleansing (until she herself comes to the conclusion that she needs to work on it herself), then cleansing for her in her perception is destructive and causes her pain.

Sometimes people brought to Me their relatives, friends and even children, who contained low-vibration plasmoid entities or non-incarnate demons, and asked Me to take care of them. I want to say that I did not always “expel” them, that is, send them to my world. If I saw in the future, it was revealed to Me, that a person would be able to go to God, that he was ready to renounce those qualities of the Soul that made this destructive contact possible, then I did it. If I saw the opposite, I told the relatives that such an obsession was salvation for this person, because without it he could have fallen into an even worse state. There could be such a quality of the Soul, its manifestations, which, on the contrary, they inhibit.

If the person in whom these entities are located came on his own, then it is necessary to talk with these entities, curators, and tell the person who is next to him. This is the first part of the work. Then this person needs to find out from his Spirit, from his spiritual heart, his Light, the reason, that is, to recognize when it started and what was the immediate cause of the contact.

Why do you need to look for a reason? Because you humans are quite well protected from such intrusions at all energy levels. In order for this invasion of your will and your field to become possible, you need to open up yourself, quite strongly remove the divine protection. It is necessary to understand exactly how a person did this, through what destructive, destructive feelings, passions, and vices. Perhaps he himself does not notice them.

If this person was brought, then you need to talk to him. Explain to him that he is a rational immortal Spirit. If he is tormented by these entities that come (contact with the Spiritual world or the plasmoid world), then explain that this all exists, that he can be helped to get rid of this contact, stop it, only if this person himself changes inside, becomes different and will not be open to these entities.

That is, he can acquire protection only by, as you call it, an increase in vibrations. And here we will work with each individual individually, because if this person has attracted the entities with fear, then it is necessary not only to dissolve the block of fear, but to change the very mental attitude that led to this fear. This is all done through appealing to the “Higher Self”. You find out that this block, for example, of fear of something, has accumulated due to some kind of mental attitude. In this case, not only does the block dissolve, but the mental attitude also changes. And then this natural Divine protection is restored.

Even if his former “friends” (those who were with him, his low vibration curators, who were on the same frequency with him) come again, they will not have influence on him. He will communicate with them completely safely. They will not be able to harm him or possess him. He will simply answer that he is in the Light of God, and they will leave or pass on some information, but it will be safe for him. I also communicated with demons, but Lucifer himself came to Me, and he came to Me more than once, but I communicated with him safely for myself. I received the information and answered him with some words. He could not have any influence on Me. And to My apostles too. Many times, when I taught them to save people from the influence of demons, they also talked to him. After sessions of getting rid of demons, they came to them at night and tried to somehow intimidate them. It was safe for them.

If this is carried out somewhere at home by a person who is not part of the Christian egregor, but uses, for example, some kind of magical means, then this is also possible. Through some plasmoids they drive away other plasmoids. They call out the lighter ones and expel the darker, low-vibration ones. They may not explain the reason, but simply read the plot and perform the ritual.

As for the church, according to the rules, an exorcist cannot work until he receives permission from the bishop, who has direct dedication to this position, a fairly strong Christian egregor included, and therefore in direct contact with Me at the level of thoughts, mental. He must give permission to this exorcist, a man, but he must warn him that before the expulsion he must read a sermon in which all the reasons will be revealed.

There, of course, everything will be explained not with the word “vibrations”, but in Christian language. That is, what sins, what passions, vices led to this state. Of course, each exorcist will translate this in his own way, based on his vocabulary. But at the end of the sermon, he is obliged to say that if you do not change your life, do not change your Soul, do not come to true repentance, and this, as you remember, is a change in the Soul, its turn towards the Light, this is the opening of your heart to Me, as Love. If you do not change your Soul in this direction, your demons, your demons, will return to you in even greater numbers. According to the rules, he is obliged to say this. If he does not say this, then this is a violation.

Timecode: 17:55, #340 Fourth meeting with the phantom of Jesus Christ! Answers to questions from Cassiopeia subscribers. Part 1

Jesus Christ is the head of the Christian religious egregor on Earth, the Firstborn Son of God, our elder Brother.

September 2021

May 21, 2023

Consciousness and matter. Analysis from Raom Tiyan via Irina Podzorova

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/soznanie-i-materiya

Alexander : At one time I studied Agni Yoga, the teachings of Blavatsky, and Theosophy in general. There is such an understanding in ancient knowledge, in ancient books, that consciousness exists in the Universe initially at the level with matter. And when the Universe arose, consciousness influenced this chaos of the material world and ordered matter in a certain way so that the current ordered Universe arose. Accordingly, I have the following question: what experiments can you advise modern scientists to conduct so that these experiments clearly show that human consciousness is capable of influencing matter? This will prove that at the moment of the emergence of the Universe, consciousness also created the entire Universe.

Irina : Why do scientists need an experiment for this? Do you see this object (shows a pen)?

Alexander : Yes, I see.

Irina : What came at the beginning: this object or the thought about it in the mind?

Alexander : At first, of course, there was an idea to take this item.

Irina : No, was he always there or did he appear at some point?

Alexander : No, at first it was the idea to create a pen. First there was an idea, like an eidos, as Plato said , and then the pen.

Irina : Why then would scientists prove this if all the objects around them were first in the form of thoughts? And this is already an impact of consciousness on matter, if they took a substance from the surrounding nature and assembled something like this, for example? Why prove the obvious?

Alexander : From your point of view, from the point of view of your science, this is already obvious, but from the point of view of modern science, it is not obvious.

Irina : How is it not obvious? Where did this pen come from then?

Alexander : It’s just that modern scientists deny the existence of consciousness as such.

Irina : Who created it then? Who?

Alexander : It’s just that most modern scientists are still materialists, and believe that consciousness cannot exist independently of the body.

Irina : You yourself just said that this pen was in the form of an idea. Don't your scientists know?

Alexander : No, they know, but they still need some elements, they need some evidence.

Irina : Why isn’t this an experiment? She wasn't there, but she appeared? How can you conduct an experiment? For example, you can only write a letter when you come up with one. Is such an experiment possible?

Alexander : I understand.

Irina : Is it possible to conduct an experiment so that a letter from you will appear before you come up with it?

Alexander : I understood your bewilderment, in principle, yes.

Irina : Could a letter appear from you, for example, to Irina or your mother, which you did not write?

Alexander : No.

Irina : By itself, can it appear from letters? For example, there will be a keyboard, your cat will walk across it, and he will randomly pass in such a way that a letter will be written to your mother from your consciousness. Could this be? Can you believe it?

Alexander : Well, no. First a thought, first an idea, and then...

Irina : Really (Raom Tiyan is surprised) your scientists don’t know this?

Alexander : I see. By the way, they saw that my cat was walking next to me, right?

Irina : There's energy there somewhere. They just said something funny to me now. Imagine an experiment. Let's do an experiment. You will leave the keyboard. Usually cats love to be near the computer. Some say they are attracted to the warmth and lie down on the keyboard or table nearby. But they are also attracted to certain electromagnetic waves that they see, feel, and enjoy being around. Can you believe this experiment that a letter can appear without your consciousness, but simply from the influence of a cat?

Alexander : No, of course.

Irina : You can’t. How could scientists believe that, as you just said, the Universe could have arisen without an idea? What is more complex: writing or the Universe?

Alexander : Of course, the Universe.

Irina : How could it arise? Tell me, how can you believe this?

Alexander : I understand your bewilderment.

Irina : He simply asks you: how can you believe this? Can you give him an answer?

Alexander : I am inclined to the point of view that the basis of the entire Universe, in its emergence and creation, initially lay certain information processes that are aware of themselves. And these information processes already guided the creation of the entire Universe and ordered matter. I am deeply convinced of this, but I just want to conduct some experiments in the future to somehow prove it.

Irina : Why prove the obvious?

Alexander : See, for you this is obvious, but for modern science it is not obvious.

Irina : But look, you write a letter to your mother, and suddenly your father will say: “You still need to prove that it was he who wrote it, and not the cat.” Will you be required to prove this?

Alexander : No, of course. I understand.

Irina : It’s funny, I can’t, Raom Tiyan, I made you laugh!

Alexander : By the way, about the cat, they saw it very well. Because I’m talking to you, but my cat is walking around here, wanting to come out, I’m constantly distracted by him.

Irina : They felt his energy. Mead also adds that, on the contrary, let those scientists conduct experiments when matter arises or is ordered without the emergence of consciousness.

Timecode: 49:11, #420 The Unknown Universe. Science and magic. Astrophysics, subtle world, Kozyrev’s mirrors, Akashic Chronicles.

Raom Tiyan is a representative of the planet Burhad, a specialist in energy interactions in the environment.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

May 23, 2023

Who are the “dark” ones relative to the light ones?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/kto-takie-tyomnye-otnositelno-svetlyh

There are such Souls that incarnate in plasmoid civilizations and switch to parasitism. These are low vibration civilizations that are parasitic in nature for organic beings. They can feed on the negative energies of people and even animals; they can, for example, cause fear in them by feeding on their energies. In your opinion, these are selfishly minded Souls.

A selfishly minded person in a dense body will try to ensure that his desires prevail over the desires of everyone. He will do this with material means. He will try to achieve power not in order to help the development of society, but in order to gain some benefit for himself, even if it causes negative consequences in his country.

They do this because they have lost contact with the source of Light and Love. Now they are looking for a replacement for them in the worship of the masses of people and in the enormous opportunities that material acquisitions give them. They can easily commit some kind of criminal act if it means they will benefit. They can easily slander, for example, their colleague in front of their boss in order to take his place, even if it is not true.

This is also a Spirit that emits negative energies, it’s just in a dense body. And if such a Spirit is in a subtle body, then it has other methods. He suppresses the will of other Spirits, extracting energy from them if it suits them in vibration (i.e. similar to his own).

For example, if this Spirit experiences fears of any creatures, then it loses the ability to feed on pure divine energy at its density level, because the energy of fear begins to approach it. He begins to look for similar people. The same thing happens with the energies of despondency, hatred and anger.

The accumulated experience of such a Spirit influences the formed character. He can escape these negative manifestations if he makes that choice.

🎥 02:02, #351 The legacy of Carlos Castaneda. Practice shifting the assemblage point. Contact with plasmoids. The teachings of magicians

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms;

Erwin is a plasmoid of the 37th density level from the Betelgeuse system, Guardian of the Order of Ice Fire Mages.

September 2021

June 7, 2023

Message from Archangel Michael

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/poslanie-arhangela-mihaila

Dear friends in the material world, I want to address you with the wish that each of you find within yourself the Light of Love and happiness, which will give you the strength to develop, to fulfill your life task, despite temporary material circumstances that may be complex and difficult for your material body and your mind.

Remember that the life of each person (the lifespan of each person) compared to eternal existence in the Spiritual world is like the burning time of one match compared to the lifetime of the Sun. You are (each of you) the Sun of Spirit.

Those events that are happening on the physical plane now are initiated by a common collective choice recorded in the egregors of your planet. To change events in a brighter direction, it is necessary for each of you right now to radiate the Light of Love in your words, in your actions, in your thoughts and emotions.

For every person (no matter what country they live in, no matter what language they speak), if you believe that the actions of a person or group of people are unjust, leave the judgment to the Lord God, who knows everyone's heart.

You are not judges, you are children of God, who loves everyone equally.

Condemning any kind of choice of another person, his life path, is a choice that causes the same circumstances as in the life of the person whom you condemned. This is a spiritual law that allows you to feel the unity of your Spirit with the Spirits of all the people who are near you. On Earth, in one generation, there are Spirits who (in the overwhelming majority of cases) were already familiar with each other in the Spiritual World and in past incarnations.

Learn to recognize the divine Light in any person, learn to see in any person your teacher, and not an object of condemnation. Learn to see in the events that happen around you not the possibility of pain and suffering, but the opportunity to move to a higher level of spiritual development.

Learn to see military action not as an opportunity for death and the destruction of temporary material buildings, but as an opportunity for a lesson for the entire earthly civilization (and each of its individual representatives) to value the lives of other people as their own.

Without passing this lesson, the spiritual evolution of any civilization on any planet and any level of density is impossible. Remember this. Instead of judging aggressive, cruel people, send the Light of your Love. They need it even more than those who already have Love within them.
Thank you for your attention to this project, to our contactees, guides of Light and healers in this project. I send you the Light of my spiritual heart, I love you.

Related video: #466 Live broadcast. Answers to questions with Archangel Michael.

Archangel Michael is a representative of the Christian spiritual egregor, the patron and curator of the Earth in the Spiritual world, one of the Higher Hierarchs of Light.

July 2022

June 18, 2023

The best protection against demonic entities

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/luchshaya-zashchita-ot-sushchnostej

The best protection against low-vibration entities is complete confidence in divine protection, in yourself as a part of God, faith in the correctness of your development path, the absence of doubts, fears, negative feelings, anger, envy, aggression, resentment and other destructive emotions that are formed as a result negative mental attitudes in the field of the person himself. Doors for negative entities are opened from within by the person himself.

God has given each of you good protection, which is called the astral veil. This is some border energy between the material and spiritual worlds. The veil of the astral plane can be broken by the actions of the person himself, which are aimed at contacting the spiritual world without cleansing the spiritual heart from negative feelings, desires, and without cleansing the mind from negative thoughts.

Prayer raises vibrations if a person prays consciously, wanting the words of the prayer that he says to be fulfilled in his life. You can pray in your own words, ask God, as your Father, for protection and patronage, but do it without fear.

If you admit your powerlessness over negative entities, you separate yourself from God and stop feeling part of him. This separation causes God to "take away" his grace and protection from you because you don't trust him, and then you are free to go through the lesson with these entities on your own without his protection.

June 20, 2023

Evidence that the Earth is round

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/dokazatelstva-togo-chto-zemlya-kruglaya

There are people who believe that the only reality for them is the reality of the perception of the Earth by plasmoids, who see the surface of the planet as a plane. They no longer pay attention to their organs of perception. For them this belief is of greater importance than their senses. They are looking for information that contradicts human perception.

All your science is built on observation of the surrounding world, including the Earth. But there is no need for an argument here either. We can say that if it were flat, then a surface would be needed on which the Earth would be located, and it would have been found long ago. And if it were flat, there would be no time zones.

Now, for example, it may be evening, but somewhere it may be morning. If the Earth were flat, the Sun would be visible from any point. And the ball hides it. If a person says that the Sun is not visible because it is very far away, then you can go out with him when the Sun is, for example, at sunset, so that there is an open horizon. Sit next to him, ask him and say:

> “The sun is setting. See, it's going down. If it moved away from us, it would simply decrease and turn into a point. It's coming. We see half of it first. It doesn't turn into a dot. It is clear that it is going down somewhere. You can only go down by the bulge.”

Timecode: 12:50, #395 Contactor Anastasia and Vladimir Megre.

Technocracy or life in the settlements of family estates?

Largis Crispin is a representative of the planet Esler, a specialist in sociology, neurobiology and the study of the behavior of intelligent beings of alien civilizations. Anastasia's curator from the Siberian taiga.

January 2022

June 25, 2023

Interpretation of the Ten Biblical Commandments

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-desyati-biblejskih-zapovedej

The Prophet Moses received the Ten Commandments of the Torah from Yahweh, a space alien from the constellation Orion, who came into contact with the prophet three thousand years ago, prompting him to lead part of the Jewish people out of Egyptian captivity, where they had been at that time for more than four hundred years.

These commandments, in a form simple and understandable to ancient people, contained eternal spiritual laws, the same for all worlds and planets in all Galaxies.

This article provides an interpretation of the Ten Commandments taking into account the current state of the Earth's noosphere.

First commandment

Synodal translation:

> "I am the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land > of Egypt, out of the house of slavery

> You shall have no other gods before Me."

Interlinear translation from Hebrew:

> “I am Yahweh God, who brought out of Egypt, from the house of slaves.
> You will not have foreign gods before you."

Cosmic law:

ALWAYS LOVE AND THANK THE INFINITE SOURCE OF TRUTH, LIFE AND LOVE TO BE WITH HIM ETERNALLY IN INBREAKABLE UNITY.

This commandment emphasizes the importance of recognizing God, the Source of all that exists, as the Ruler of the Universe and as your Heavenly Father.
Egypt is a symbol of the state of the world, which has forgotten about God and lives in slavish submission to negative feelings, vicious passions and other spiritual illnesses characteristic of humanity.

God leads every person who believes Him out of slavery to sins and vices, giving us the opportunity to freely create in the light of love. To accept this help from Heavenly Father, you need to realize that He is the Only Source of all life.

Violation of this commandment is manifested in accepting the Universe or part of it as the Source Himself, or in endowing the Spirit, born of God, with the fullness of the power of Himself. For example, accepting matter as the eternal source of existence of the Universe leads to materialism, and accepting even a very bright and true spiritual teacher as God Himself or His only prophet leads to pride and religious fanaticism.

Second Commandment

Synodal translation:

> “You shall not make for yourself any graven image or any likeness of anything that is in the sky above or on the earth below or that is in the water under the earth.
> Do not worship them or serve them.
> I am the Lord your God, a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children to the third and fourth generation of those who hate Me, and showing mercy to a thousand generations of those who love Me and keep My commandments."

Interlinear translation from Hebrew:

> “Thou shalt not make an idol out of all the images which are in the heavens above, which are in the earth below, which are in the waters under the earth.
> Do not worship or serve them, for I am Yahweh the God of Power, a Jealous One, bringing the guilt of the fathers on the descendants to the third and fourth generation of those who hate, and showing mercy to a thousand generations of those who love and keep the commandments.”

Second cosmic law:

ALWAYS CONSIDER THE TRUTH OF GOD AS THE HIGHEST AUTHORITY FOR THE MIND AND THE LOVE OF GOD AS THE HIGHEST IDEAL FOR THE HEART.

Meaning of the second commandment:

The words “idol” and “image” here mean an object that occupies a central place in the spiritual heart of man instead of God.

The upper heavens are the Spiritual world, the lower earth is the physical world, and the water below the Earth is the worlds of plasmoids.

This commandment calls not to worship or serve as God any intelligent spirit, no matter what talents he may possess.

Worship of God as the Heavenly Father is expressed in recognizing Him as the Source of the Universe, in gratitude and trust in Him. These actions attract grace to a person, as the highest form of Divine Energy that we can feel in this world.

The words “I am the Lord your jealous God” mean the special love and care of the Heavenly Father for each person as a beloved being. The word “Jealous” here does not mean a Creature experiencing jealousy, but a Person who is very diligent and zealous about any work.

Further in this text we talk about generic karma, the harmonization of which is a generic task for every spirit embodied in a physical body. “The guilt of the fathers” is negative karma accumulated by many generations of ancestors, part of which is taken for awareness and purification by the spirits that incarnate through this egregor.

“Mercy to a thousand generations” is a stream of Divine grace directed to that ancestral egregor, where all generations live in a world of prosperity and love with each other.

Third Commandment

Synodal translation:

> “You shall not take the name of the Lord your God in vain, for the Lord will not leave unpunished the one who takes His name in vain.”

Interlinear translation from Hebrew:

> “Do not bear the Name of Yahweh God falsely, for the one who bears His Name falsely will not be liberated by Yahweh.”

Third cosmic law:

ALWAYS ACT IN THE WILL OF YOUR HEART, AWARE OF YOUR RESPONSIBILITY FOR YOUR OWN REALITY.

The meaning of the third commandment:

This commandment is not about pronouncing the name of God with the lips, but about feigned hypocritical behavior, when a person, overwhelmed by passions and vices, shows himself to other people as a believer, loving and virtuous person, but at the same time continues to cause evil and harm to the people around him and to myself.

The third commandment is violated by those who come to religion or esoteric teaching not in order to find God in themselves and themselves in God, but in order to cover up and justify their selfishness, greed, hatred, despondency and many other passions and vices with religious or esoteric teaching.

To be liberated by Yahweh means to receive enlightenment and awaken the spark of holy fire in your heart. This path is closed to those who themselves are closed to change, showing people only the outer side of religiosity, but not caring about cleansing their Spiritual heart.

Fourth Commandment

Synodal translation:

> Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy; six days thou shalt work and do all thy work, but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God: on it thou shalt not do any work, neither thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, nor thy manservant, nor thy maidservant, nor thy livestock, nor thy stranger. who is in your dwellings; For in six days the Lord created heaven and earth, the sea and everything in them, and rested on the seventh day; Therefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day and sanctified it.

Interlinear translation:

> “Remember the Sabbath days and keep them holy.
> Work and do things for six days.
> The seventh day is the Saturday of Yahweh God.
> You shall not do any work, you, your sons and daughters, your male and female servants, your animals, your foreigners who are at the gates.
> For for six periods Yahweh made the heavens, the earth and the sea and all things, and stopped on the seventh day, thus Yahweh blessed the Sabbath days for holiness."

Fourth cosmic law:

ALWAYS DEVOTE TO COMMUNICATION WITH GOD IN THE SILENCE OF YOUR SPIRITUAL HEART ONE SEVENTH OF THE TIME WHEN YOUR BODY IS AWAKE.

The meaning of the fourth commandment:

With the help of this commandment, the rhythm of life of the Jews was established, following which they worked and rested for many millennia. But Saturday (Shabbat) is not just a day off. This is a day of remembrance of the creation of the Universe and gratitude to God for all His gifts. On the last day of the week, all the fruits of the week’s work were sanctified by prayer and blessed by God.

Using this method, harmony was achieved between the material and spiritual worlds. The reason for the special status of the seventh day is that God separated from Himself the energies for the creation of the world during the six periods of time described in the first chapter of the book of Genesis. Thus began our Manvantara - a great era of the existence of the material world, in which every intelligent immortal Spirit can become closer to God through a series of reincarnations.

This commandment is violated by those who neglect the opportunity to communicate with God, spending the entire time of incarnation exclusively on earthly desires and feelings. This breeds ignorance and reluctance to grow and develop spiritually.
The recommendation not to do work on Shabbat came from Yahweh’s desire for people to devote one day only to Heavenly Father, without being distracted by anything else.

Fifth Commandment

Synodal translation:

> Honor your father and your mother, so that your days may be long in the land that the Lord your God is giving you.

Interlinear translation:

> Honor your father and mother so that the days on Earth, which Yahweh God gives, may be long.

Fifth cosmic law:

ALWAYS LOVE AND THANK YOUR PARENTS AND GRANDPARENTS, BECAUSE THE BODY IN WHICH YOU LIVE CAME FROM THEM.

Meaning of the fifth commandment:

This commandment speaks of the importance of respectful attitude towards parents, who gave the opportunity to incarnate and live on Earth. The word “parents” at that time meant all ancestors.

The ancestral (family) egregor is created by many generations of people and over a long period of existence gains great strength. Honoring parents, that is, respect and gratitude for them, helping them with their needs and tolerance for their shortcomings feeds the ancestral egregor with light energy, and positive contact with it gives a person additional strength and protection from dangers. When a person’s own supply of vitality, given for incarnation, runs out, the ancestral egregor is able to replenish it until the soul completes all life’s tasks. This prolongs the days of earthly life in such cases, of course, if a person strives to follow the path of Light and Love.

Sixth Commandment

Don't kill.

The meaning of this commandment in the Synodal Translation and in the Interlinear Translation is the same.

Sixth cosmic law:

ALWAYS RECOGNIZE THE LIFE OF A SENTIENT BEING AS WELL AS YOUR OWN.

Interpretation:

In the Hebrew language (Hebrew) there are four words that can be translated into Russian as “to kill, to take life.” The meaning of these words is as follows:

1. “Ratseh” - The murder of a person due to personal hostility (malice, resentment, hatred), revenge, jealousy, suspicion and profit.

2. "Nakah" - Killing a person in war.

3. "Mus" - Killing a person during the death penalty.

4. "Shahet" - Killing an animal for food or sacrifice.

The sixth commandment clearly prohibited only the first type of murder, since it deprived a person of incarnation not because he somehow violated the Divine law or was involved in karmic egregorial processes, but because of the evil will of the killer, who, because of his rejection of the person or thirst for profit, killed him body.

The other three types of murder were permitted in the Torah and even prescribed in special cases. Therefore, there is no contradiction between the commandment “thou shalt not kill” and the commandments about the death penalty or about the correct conduct of war, described in one of the books of the Torah.

Seventh Commandment

> Don't commit adultery.

Seventh cosmic law:

ALWAYS RECOGNIZE THE LOVE SENT TO YOU BY OTHERS IN ANY FORM AND THANK YOU FOR IT WITH YOUR LOVE.

This law reflects the need to honor the love of other people as Divine energy directed towards you. Bodily (sexual) love is one of the forms of Divine Love and its respect presupposes fidelity between people who love each other.

Eighth Commandment

> Do not steal.

Eighth cosmic law:

ALWAYS RESPECT THE RIGHT OF OTHERS TO OWN AND CONTROL MATERIAL OBJECTS AS YOUR OWN.

This cosmic law teaches you to treat the property of another person in the same way as your own property. All intelligent beings in the Universe are spiritual relatives, therefore a stolen thing or service from another person causes an outflow of one’s own life energy.

Ninth Commandment

> Do not bear false witness against your neighbor.

Interlinear translation from Hebrew:

> Do not testify against your neighbor with false evidence.

Ninth Cosmic Law:

ALWAYS TELL THE TRUTH ABOUT THE ACTIONS OF OTHER SENTIENT BEINGS.

This law emphasizes the importance of truth in communicating with each other. Deliberate deception undermines people's trust and creates an illusory reality, the consequences of which negatively affect the life of any person.

Tenth Commandment

> Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house; You shall not covet your neighbor’s wife, nor his male servant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his donkey, nor anything that is your neighbor’s.

Interlinear translation from Hebrew:

> Do not covet your neighbor's house, do not covet your neighbor's wife, or a manservant, a female slave, an ox, a donkey, or anything that your neighbor has.

Tenth Cosmic Law:

ALWAYS CREATE ONLY YOUR REALITY AND DEVELOP YOUR TALENTS REGARDLESS OF THE REALITY AND TALENTS OF THE PEOPLE AROUND YOU.

This law emphasizes the uniqueness and value of each soul to God. Instead of looking at how other people have arranged your life and berating yourself for not working out the way they do, create your reality the way you want it to be, using your own unique talents given to you by God during incarnation.

Mirrah Count - sociologist and psychologist, planet Burhad.

Archangel Metatron is the Highest Hierarch of the karmic council of the Milky Way Galaxy.

June, 2023

June 27, 2023

The meaning of the parable about the demon Cratia

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/smysl-pritchi-o-demone-kratii
The parable depicts real events in figurative form. What happened for many centuries is told in the parable as if it happened to the same people. Social processes and the formation of the monetary system on Earth were shown there. This parable also shows: one who becomes a slave to his negative lusts, passions, begins to use money for his own satisfaction, without thinking about the spiritual, becomes a slave to money.
The main point is that previously the slave worked, afraid of being beaten by the owner, and when people were freed from slavery, they became slaves of money. If a person has become a slave of money, then he works even more than the slave in ancient times, but not because of physical beatings, but in order to achieve his goal, to satisfy his material desires.
Just as a slave did not have time to pay attention to his spiritual development, so an outwardly free person often does not leave himself time for this: he either works or rests. All his thoughts, even during rest, are occupied with work in order to earn as much as possible. He has no time left for spiritual development, for talking with himself, for raising children in the spirit of Love. He brushes off his children when they ask questions because they keep him from thinking about work.
Excerpt from the parable of V.N. Maigret
The demon Cratius means “democracy,” but democracy itself is not from demons, and in this system it is very easy to create a cult of consumption of things.
Many Spirits become slaves of egregors, with such an attitude towards the material world, and they live the same way as under the slave system.

Timecode: 04:48, #395 Contactor Anastasia and Vladimir Megre. Technocracy or life in the settlements of family estates?
Largis Crispin is a representative of the planet Esler, a specialist in sociology, neurobiology and the study of the behavior of intelligent beings of alien civilizations. Anastasia's curator from the Siberian taiga.
January 2022
July 4, 2023

Mirrah Count about egregors and their development. Esoteric egregor. Creation of a scientific egregor

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/mirrah-kaunt-ob-ehgregorah-i-ih-razvitii-ehzoteric

Religious egregors are energetically formed. We can roughly say that this is a collective entity created by your (and not only yours) thought forms and many, many of your ancestors. The real relationship of the Interstellar Union to religious egregors is, naturally, contact with the guardians of the egregors.

Each egregor, including religious ones, has its own guardians from the Spiritual world. There are patrons in plasmoid worlds, and there are patrons in humanoid worlds. The keepers of egregors themselves can incarnate into people in order to develop their egregors, in order to bring some of their teachings there.

In religious egregors, these are Spirits of angelic levels who, through the egregor, contact believers, send them thoughts about spiritual development in the language of this religion, heal them, heal them, protect them, and give them information.

To unite all religions it is necessary to agree on a common terminology as the basis of any philosophy. The new teaching about spiritual development, which will develop on Earth, will still manifest its egregor. Egregor appears wherever there are more than three people. There are also where there are two, there is also an egregor, but it is a mini egregor. As soon as there are more than three people, the power of this egregor begins to grow exponentially.

In order for there to be no egregors, it is necessary that everyone believes in his idea, in the image of God that is in him, alone, so that he does not tell anyone about his faith, so that he does not share with anyone, so that he did not unite. This is impossible on Earth. You are social beings.

The egregorial system is the system through which everyone has to act: both you and us. It, of course, has its advantages and disadvantages. Our business and your business, as bright Spirits embodied on this planet, are to turn all the shortcomings that exist into advantages. And enhance the dignity. But completely removing the idea of egregoriality is fundamentally wrong, because it is impossible. There will be just a new egregor.

You all know what happens when a new egregor arises. If this egregor is on a spiritual topic, which you call religious, then any spiritual egregor in your society is recognized as religious, because your religion talks about spirituality. Not science, not politics, but a religious egregor. An esoteric egregor (the one that speaks of spiritual development) is also a type of religious egregor.

The egregor of “Cassiopeia” is part of a larger esoteric egregor. And the esoteric egregor is one of the religious egregors. It is not political, not sports, not scientific, but religious, because people are not engaged in understanding the material world, not in managing others, but in spiritual development.

When a new egregor appears, participants in the previous ones naturally perceive its appearance as an opportunity for their supporters to leave. Everyone perceives this differently, but for a sincerely believing person in something, one might say, it is mentally painful to see the choice of his friend and his former colleague in the egregor as leaving him. It is a natural instinct of self-preservation and an instinct to protect one's community. This is included in the egregor in the sense that the egregors are determined to fight the new egregor for influence on people. You consider this a negative manifestation and try to fight it.

There are scientists in the Interstellar Union who study egregors. I am one of those who studies egregors, their influence on the material world, their correct construction. I am studying how to build it correctly in the Light of God, so that later there will be no problems with its manifestation or with its active expansion into the material world, the capture of other egregors.

What kind of egregor needs to be created for our scientists with the goal of a smooth and harmonious transition from a purely material to a spiritual perception of the world

I am ready to help any representative of “Cassiopeia” or any other teaching with this. Get in touch to create such an egregor. To do this, a person needs to speak two languages equally well: in the language of science, using its terminology, understanding this terminology, and in the language of esotericism. Be ready to become a pioneer among scientists who regard esotericism as a harmless hobby, at best. Some esotericists, with their exorbitant greed and whipping up fears, created such an image of this teaching among earthly scientific circles, which will have to be cleared of all untrue understandings for a long time.

I have contact on a mental level with quite prominent scientists and know their mentality well, their attitude to esotericism, to magic, for example, to contacting. I know well the reasons for this attitude. If, dear friends, there is a person among you who has the opportunity to share esoteric knowledge with scientific circles, and scientific knowledge with esotericists, this will be the one who unites. This person must have several qualities.

The first is the selfless, endless courage it takes to sail a very small boat against a big current.

The second is great nervous stability, you call it “stress resistance”. Because you will have to go through many verbal attacks, possibly slander and insults. If at the same time you lower your vibrations, then your whole business will be destroyed. You will further compromise the esotericism.

To create an egregor for scientists, so that they can cognize the Spiritual world, it is necessary to go to them, it is necessary to communicate with them in their environment. They won't come to you. They don't need it at the moment. The answers that they found for themselves in the material world suit them. Those who are not satisfied with these answers will come to you. But this is not the general mass of scientists.

This also requires an understanding of science. Each science has its own terminology. For example, in physics it will be one terminology, in biology – another, in medicine – a third (medicine is also a science for them), in philosophy – a fourth, in philology – a fifth. You need to understand your science, freely operate with these terms and understand their meanings, what it means, what is behind, for example, the term - atom, molecules. When you talk to scientists in their language, you must ensure that they understand you.

The third condition is that you must know esotericism well and be constantly in contact with your Higher Self, because without this contact it is very difficult to unite anything at all. Uniting can only be done in the spirit of Love, which sees the path to unity, and this is the flow of the Higher Self (if there are any).

For example, Irina could become like this, but not only does she not have a higher education, but she does not have any opportunity to enter the scientific community. Or rather, she has the opportunity, but she does not have appropriate confirmation of her knowledge, her words will not be authoritative. Here we need a person who has walked this path.

We are ready to answer any questions about your science, we are ready to harmonize with our picture of the world. There needs to be a mutual desire to make contact and understand each other; we can compare. This usually occurs when the materialistic and idealistic models of knowledge come into contact. This happens in the Spirit, in the form of friendly, good discussions, when those with different points of view express them and look for common points of contact, while in no case moving on to assessing the individual. In such discussions, there must be a third party observer who will not be involved in this and will be neutral. He won't support either side's ideas, at least not at this point.

It is necessary to monitor the progress of such discussions and when trying to get personal, for example, when accusing the interlocutor of stupidity, lying, or some other negative qualities, without wasting time, exclude this interlocutor from this discussion. He shouldn't be there anymore. By doing this, he will lower the vibrations of everyone, and everyone will lose the desire for flight of thought that they had.

The basis of any scientific discussion, any scientific knowledge is the high vibrations of those who understand the world. Any science without a high spiritual level can be harmful. Without studying spiritual possibilities and without studying your heart, any science can greatly lower vibrations and be dangerous for the whole world.

Timecode: 01:56, #411 Egregors on Earth. Types of egregors. Parenting. Contactor Irina Podzorova (part 2).

Mirrah Count (Archangel Gabriel) - representative of the planet Burkhad, keeper of the Christian egregor, disciple of Jesus Christ, specialist in political science, ideology and the study of the influence of spiritual egregors on the material world.

February 2022

July 8, 2023

Do you know who God is? Describe Him in as much detail as possible.

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/znaete-li-vy-kto-takoj-bog

God is everything you can imagine and much more. It is called differently in different religions, in different languages and on different planets. Everything that you can imagine is absolute, perfect, bright, good in the outside world or in yourself - this will be God.

We understand it as the Source of everything that exists, which created this world and continues to support it. Because He is outside of time, and if you look from His point of view, the creation of the world continues endlessly. Also, from his point of view, the birth of us as Spirits continues endlessly. For him, the past, present and future are at the same time.

As for the character of God, in your earthly terms, it can be described as absolute, bright, selfless Love. Because Love is the highest, strongest and brightest energy of the Universe that can be cognized. Only she is capable of creating worlds, only she is capable of giving birth to life, only she is capable of giving birth to intelligence in living beings.

Love is experienced by us, as intelligent Spirits, as inner Light. When I say the word Light, I do not mean a stream of photons. I mean that mental spiritual Light that everyone who entered into the presence of God in himself experienced.

God is Spirit. What does Spirit mean? This means that he is beyond the material world. And, at the same time, it fills every atom of the material world with its power. He is everywhere. What does it mean: he is omnipresent? You have heard the expression of your earthly religion that God is the Holy Spirit. The word holy, as I have repeatedly said, means the Spirit of Light, the Light Spirit.

And again we return to the fact that the Light of Divine Love is the Source of everything and it is He who we call God. 💜🕊️
-
MidgasCaus, video 64

August 9, 2023

Rules of constructive war

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/pravila-konstruktivnoj-vojny

Wars, military operations with the goal of disincarnating as many inhabitants of some other tribe as possible, have been on Earth almost always, at different times with different frequency, as noted by various alien researchers who flew to Earth.

Including when Krishna arrived and a series of wars began, one of which is known as the Battle of Kurukshetra. But it was actually not one war. She was one of many at that time between different tribes on Earth, which also involved aliens in the sense that the contactees took from them some object at their contacts that would allow them to build cities, for example, carve the same pyramids, and directed these weapons on your enemies. The story is already known, you were told it at a conference on the Egyptian pyramids.

Indeed, many specialists of the Interstellar Union at this time were refused to work further on Earth for transferring technology to earthlings, who used them to kill other tribes, and some ended up on the planet of criminals, although they were not directly involved in these actions.

Krishna at that time, in addition to the Bhagavad Gita, in which he talked with Arjuna about the laws of the Universe and the Spiritual world, also spoke before and after the war with various scientists of that time, in your opinion, like magicians, priests. He talked to them and conveyed to them various laws that people were supposed to use for their growth and development. But when he was asked: “How should we fight?” - At first he answered them that the warriors should stop. But when he saw how much negativity accumulates in the noosphere of the Earth from the fact that there is discord in families (the husband hates his wife, the wife is jealous of her husband), that is, some negative emotions that fall into the noosphere of the Earth in peacetime, it all accumulates there and then he reaches the physical level, he realized that it is impossible at this stage of development to completely stop wars. Each person's awareness should be high. Then he gave the rules for constructive war, in which a warrior will not greatly influence his karma, his vibrations.

Krishna on the rules of constructive war

One of the main rules of this constructive war according to the laws of God, if you can talk about it that way. At that time it was so - Krishna was God for them, he was a being who descended from heaven, from a high spiritual level, naturally, who also realized himself as one with God, like Jesus.

He gave these rules. If you want to fight, two armies from two cities or from two countries must fight (so as not to spoil your karma) precisely between each other. Go out into an open field, take up arms, first try to come to an agreement among yourself, reconcile by arranging negotiations. If this doesn’t work out, then fight against each other on the field. And going into a city and fighting in a city where there are civilians has a very negative effect on karma, because when a soldier fights in his own or someone else’s city, he attracts danger from enemy soldiers to civilians. If he went out to fight, to defend this city beyond its borders and is already defending there, this did not negatively affect his karma. And if he is in the city, the enemy attacks him, and he begins to defend himself, does not go outside the city, which means he poses the danger that they will destroy everyone.

Similar rules for waging war were already used by the Jews and Israelis at the moment when they left Egypt and went to reclaim the promised land, the land of Palestine. There was a time when other nations took it away while the Jews were in slavery. Yahweh, who, by the way, was incarnated by Christ on Tumesout, with the help of Moses, led them out of Egypt and sent them to his land. And since other peoples already lived there and were not going to cede to them the land that they already considered theirs, it was necessary to conquer it back.

Initially, Yahweh settled them in this land. He sent Abraham, the first Jew, to this land. Due to the absence of this people on this land. While he was in slavery, it was captured by other tribes who had lived there for 400 years. Even under these conditions, there were still rules of war.

Yahweh conveyed to Moses and Aaron the rules of warfare, one might say, in God's light. First, approach the city and offer it to surrender, that is, to vacate this place, or to come under the protection of the Jewish people, or to go to another land. It was proposed not to attack immediately, but to try to negotiate peacefully, to say:

> “Abraham, our ancestor lived here, God gave him this land, and now he is bringing us back here.”

For the ancients, this was an argument; they all believed in gods. If they don’t listen, then fight. And then there were rules according to which, for example, it was forbidden to show excessive cruelty. You can read in the Torah, it’s all written there.

Karma

What is karma? This is the totality of all vibrations in the spiritual heart at the moment of exit from incarnation. If during the war a soldier on either side did not feel hatred for his enemy, forgave him, but fought simply out of necessity, which he perceived as good, but at the same time did not have hatred, he went to a higher level. If at the same time he fought and had hatred, then upon his disincarnation he went to a low level.

Hatred is precisely the feeling when you don’t want to see some creature or person. That is, it’s like crossing it out of God’s plan for the Universe.

If this feeling was not there, if there was forgiveness, understanding even of the position of the enemy, understanding that he is fighting, for example, with you, because the ruler sent him, and if he does not go, he will be killed, from this position he fought - this brought a higher level. This was especially important before the battle, because they could disincarnate in any battle. And at the moment of disincarnation, what feelings he had in his heart, he went to that spiritual level.

00:20, #447 Warrior's karma and the rules of constructive war. The value of life. Alien technology in Dr. Egypt.

MidgasKaus - representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms

May, 2022

August 13, 2023

Perception of information from the "Absolute". Supreme Intelligences

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vospriyatie-informacii-ot-absolyuta-vysshie-razumy

> The Creator of our Universe, the Prime Creator, the Absolute Himself comes out to communicate with contactees in physical bodies?

He makes contact from the spiritual world. That is, through a person's own spirit, through his Higher Self, through that piece that is God, through his piece, which is in everyone: in a plasmoid, in a humanoid, even in a demon. It's just that it is not realized or is realized incorrectly, distorted, and in any case it is a contact with God.

When a person asks questions to the Higher Self and receives answers from it, it is like receiving an answer from God, because the Higher Self is not separate from God in the spiritual world. It is separated only in our consciousness, just like the dense material world. It is, in fact, not separated from the spiritual, because it constitutes the unity of the universe. He is separated only in the perception of this three-dimensional world or in the perception of a being, for example, from the 16th dimension.

The 16th level of density, for example, will be a different perception of God and people, and oneself, but, in any case, there will also be duality there, but it will be less conscious. When you see clearly plasmoid information and what the contactee calls the Absolute, God, then you need to understand what the contactee called in his language of perception this being, as he feels it. So he feels him as God in vibrations, since he is much higher than him in vibrations, and he calls him God, the Absolute, Light, the Higher Mind, the Cosmic Mind, there are many names, or simply the Higher Powers.

Higher powers generally refer to any... What is power? This is the energy that is manifested by some kind of personality. That is, power can generally be demonstrated by any person, at any level of development, but why the Highest? Because it is beyond the understanding of the level of the contactee himself, and here you already need to understand that what is the Higher Mind for this contactee, for you it can already be equal to you.

Regarding the word “Absolute”, one should never forget that contact is a two-way matter, what the curator conveyed to the contactee is then perceived by the contactee at his level and passed on to others. It's always a two-way process. When the contactee comes from the words “The Absolute has contacted me” or “God has contacted me,” you always need to look at the information that is being transmitted, because that God and that Absolute who created all the worlds will always speak in understandable form for the dimension in which it transmits.

Timecode: 05:59, #96 Evidence of communication with aliens. What does direct intervention threaten us with?

MidgasKaus from the planet Esler - biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations;

Raom Tiyan from the planet Burkhad is a specialist in energy interactions in the material world.

June, 2020

August 17, 2023

The emergence and development of the material Universe

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vozniknovenie-i-razvitie-materialnoj-vselennoj

The reason for the emergence of the material Universe, this being, can be called God, can be called the Absolute, can be called the Supreme Mind, well, let's use the Russian word God. This is the First Cause of everything. The first cause means that it itself has no cause. We were all born from it first. But there is no time there, there is the Spiritual world. They were born by encapsulating self-awareness from the Divine Light (this is very simplified). Then we all lived in eternity, that is, without incarnating anywhere. Then God, as our Father, decided to invent worlds for us where we can express ourselves and develop.

Our world now, our Universe is divided into 59 levels of density. We live in the physical world - this is the third level of density. There are 56 more “subtle” worlds above us; they are literally everywhere. On Earth, for example, there are 8 billion people, and there are 15 times more plasmoids: per person, perhaps, there are 12-15 plasmoids (only terrestrial ones, at different density levels). Humanity believes that we are the only intelligent earthlings. In fact, there are many other civilizations that live at other density levels. They are also full-fledged earthlings who are embodied here, intelligent Spirits (this is not about animals, but about intelligent Spirits who have their own tasks).

You may ask: “Why so many?” Because in order to create the Souls of animals, plants, microorganisms, plasmoids are needed. They create their Souls, they monitor their incarnations (they also have a certain number of incarnations, albeit finite). They create the entire biosphere of the planet.

Where there is no intelligent life, plasmoids contribute (it would seem at first glance) to natural mutations, so that intelligent life arises through evolution, into which they themselves can then incarnate.

Further, in these 59 density levels there are 6048 material energies (total in all density levels). Of these, 9 are just the energies of the physical Universe; they precisely make up atoms. Just imagine, out of 6048, only 9 are physical. Therefore, the physical Universe makes up about 7-8% of the entire material Universe, everything else takes up the volume of the so-called “dark matter”. Again, this is part of those plasmoid worlds that can be observed due to their, for example, gravitational influences and so on.

At first there was a subtle-material Universe. First there was the Spiritual World, then the 59th level of density, then the 58th, and it began to become denser. Nothing will arise on its own. Those Spirits, which we also were, embodied in a new plane and condensed the matter of their plane, and it no longer became the 59th, but part of it descended to the 58th, 57th and further, until all 59 were created.

Long before the emergence of the physical Universe, there were subtle planes where we all lived. There were no stars or anything else, we were just in subtle worlds. A star is already a compaction. In order for a hydrogen atom to arise, the energies from the subtle plane of which it consists need to be condensed. This is also done by plasmoids, the so-called Spirits of the Elements, which in earthly language we call Spirits of Fire, Spirits of Water, Spirits of Air, Spirits of Earth.

Timecode: 30:58, #459 Irina Podzorova. Earthly mind and extraterrestrial mind. Illusory foundations for mutual interest.

Raom Tiyan is a representative of the planet Burhad, a specialist in energy interactions in the environment of the material world;

LiShioni - representative of the planet Shimor, sociologist, specialist in the astral world and its interaction with the material world;

MidgasCaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

June, 2020

August 24, 2023

The essence of unconditional love

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/sut-bezuslovnoj-lyubvi

Love cannot be revealed without its practical implementation in favor of those people who are close to you.

The first thing you need to do is to understand that those people who are directly next to you, that is, your loved ones, are your best teachers of Love. You can train on them how to do this in order to love them with active, practical unconditional love.

What is unconditional? It is often called sacrificial. Why is it called that? Because if it is unconditional, it does not require anything in return. And this is to some extent a sacrifice: of your energy, of your time. But only such actions can develop unconditional Love and raise your vibrations.

The first thing you need to do for this is to generally admit that this is necessary for you. Answer yourself the question: “Why is it necessary?” The answer here will be simple: because God gave you life, gave you the opportunity to live on this planet, also unconditionally. He gives you the light of the Sun, the warmth of the Sun, the opportunity to live here, to exist. Gave you land to grow plants and animals. He also gave this to you unconditionally. For this He does not require any gratitude or payment. Just like you are his son or daughter, being in the material world, if you want to be like God (have the highest vibrations), then you must develop this Love in yourself.

How to do it? The simplest method is to ask yourself: “How would I like to be loved, what would I need?” And give this to your loved ones without any, not even self-interest, but simply without even expecting anything in return, just as God does not expect anything from us. He gave everything and seemed to forget about it. It’s not that you don’t demand, you don’t even expect gratitude, no matter how people act.

August 29, 2023

Description of the way of life in the Spiritual world

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/opisanie-obraza-zhizni-v-duhovnom-mire

The state of the Spirit in the Spiritual World is the same as in the previous incarnation. His psychoenergetic state and beliefs remain the same. He will think there, but will not change in his vibrations. The spirit is in a state of eternity.

When the Spirit finds itself at the level it reached during incarnation, it finds itself surrounded by Spirits of similar levels. He will not meet creatures that differ greatly in beliefs, concepts about life, and so on. He will meet his brothers, similar in energy and vibration, who will always understand and accept him. This is the first one.

Secondly, in the Spiritual world everything depends on the will of the Spirit. He can mentally create a house and live in it. Can create clothes and other things for himself. He comes up with it at the level of thought forms. This is similar to unconscious astral travel in a dream. He remembers his past life in the body and the astral world around him begins to change. Only in the Spiritual world does this happen consciously. He doesn’t just see, not understanding what it is and where it came from, but he himself begins to think what a house should be like, the embodiment of my dreams, for example. Should he be alone or with other Spirits, it is also entirely his will.

Food preferences remain the same as they were in the physical world. If he was attached to different taste sensations, then he would come up with a table, food that he loved. The most interesting thing is that when he eats, the food will be quite dense for him, because he created it from thought forms. He will really feel her taste. He doesn’t need to buy food, he’ll come up with an idea and it will appear.

In the Spiritual World there is no need for cars, planes, or helicopters. Spirits either fly or instantly move - teleport. It depends on their desire and skills in managing their spiritual body. In the Spiritual World, they learn this for about one earthly year, and they become very proficient in controlling their spiritual essence.

A spirit of a high level of development from the 17th to the 24th level, an Angel, according to its vibrations, will not want to sit idle, creating thought forms. He will want to participate in bringing light, serving God and serving others. This is his natural nature of love. They turn to Spirit-Angels from the 22nd level, consultants or their spiritual mentor with a request to provide them with a certain activity. Each Spirit from the 17th to the 24th level has its own responsibilities. For example, the Angel of Nature, a Spirit of the 17th level, is sent to plasmoid civilizations and teaches the Spirits embodied there to control the elements according to the laws of God. Guardian Angel, Spirit of the 18th level, protects Spirits from various embodied entities. And so on. All actions of free will depend on awareness.

Timecode: 32:45, #114 The human soul: life after death, God's judgment and the Higher Self. What happens in the afterlife?

LiShioni from the planet Shimor is a specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world.

July 2020

August 31, 2023

The process of evolution of physical bodies

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/process-ehvolyucii-fizicheskih-tel

Evolution occurs through micromutations, which cause, for example, a different type of metabolism. Or, for example, a change in some organ. Of course, this does not happen quickly, not in a jerk, but slowly, subsequently becoming entrenched in the offspring.

Why do such offspring replace the original species from which the animal evolved? Because they turn out to be better adapted to the environment for some reason. This is how improvement occurs. But the reverse process also happens. The so-called degradation.

Everything happens as it is described in your books on evolution, but not by itself. This is a planned action, a plan of the plasmoids. They know what Souls to create, what instincts to put into them, in order to cause certain changes in the physical bodies of these animals or plants, say, through some other behavior.

How can this be done with the help of intelligent beings? You probably know that from the same plant, which was in the wild, through reasonable selective selection, dozens or even hundreds of varieties have been obtained that are completely different from their original appearance. There are people who have studied the laws of nature, they see how to propagate these plants. There are such examples with animals. For example, the simplest example of evolution is a comparison, if we take central Russia, of the same wolves (their appearance) and the numerous breeds of dogs that emerged from them through gradual change with the help of the intervention of the human mind.

Of course, this was not a quick process. But, nevertheless, if we take two dogs of completely different breeds, they can be of different sizes, colors, with different shapes of ears, heads, limbs, eyes, and so on. And if a person does not know that these are dogs, he may even make a mistake and say that these are different animals, although they have common genes. You can get offspring from them by crossing these breeds. And if evolution takes a little longer, then they can be changed so that they will no longer be able to interbreed and will completely diverge.

Of course, if we look at how this became possible (from a biological point of view), we will see a series of so-called mutations, which were then inherited by the offspring of these individuals. This happens regularly not only in animals.

Even in humans, so-called micromutations occur, some of which are larger, others smaller. They occur due to the fact that during cell division, including sex cells, it is impossible to copy genetic information one hundred percent many times. Some changes still happen.

If people have small mutations, then they are invisible in the population. And if there were larger ones, then they could give rise, for example, to a blood group. That is, a certain protein that some people have in their blood, and some people don't. It all started with certain mutations. And not just one gene, but a group of genes.

And if this mutation is invisible in people, special tests can determine its presence. Thus, you have what is called a "genetic map." Your scientists are studying the "genetic map of the world": from the mutations that have accumulated in an individual person, we can tell what people he belongs to and who his ancestors are. A certain number of genes in a particular chromosome locus is counted. If this person is descended from a person who already received this mutation, for example, five hundred years ago, it will be visible. Thus, genetic maps of the world have been compiled, showing how peoples settled.

Micromutations in humans occur approximately once every 25 years. Larger ones occur much less frequently. They happen once every five hundred years. This can all be seen in a detailed chromosome analysis. And this is also a type of evolution, although it does not affect appearance, but it does affect genetics. These changes occur through the evolutionary path of micromutations, which gradually accumulate.

Timecode: 22:05, #495 The origin of life on Earth. Biological evolution, human hybridization. About the era of dinosaurs.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

September 2022

September 11, 2023

Archangel Metatron about God

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/arhangel-metatron-o-boge

I am a Spirit, in your terminology, from the 24th level of the Spiritual world. This is the level when the consciousness of the Spirit merges with the will of God, merges with the mind of God, I feel His information, which you call secret, just like my memory. That is, I read His thoughts as if in my memory, like an open book. Of course, there are those things that only He knows. It is in His spiritual heart. God, as a Spirit, also has a spiritual heart and memory. When you merge in consciousness with His Spirit, you merge in your memory with His, that is, you gain access to information, but only to that which is His will.

I saw the Face of God in the Spiritual world at the level of perception of His energies, because He is the Spirit, and He can take on any image. This Face looks like the face of a man (shows), quite young, by the way, which, if viewed from the Earth, occupies the entire sky. His eyes are like huge hollows, approximately blue. You can see the Face throughout the entire Galaxy, but it will only be a projection. You can simply communicate with the Light, since any Face is an image that takes on that part of His energies (Divine energies) that is allocated by it for communication with its part or, as you say, with its child.

You can see it with your spiritual eyes, with the eyes of your spiritual heart. Physically one can see only those His energies that are at the physical level of manifestation in Divine reality.

Timecode: 09:13, #446 Live broadcast with Archangel Metatron. Part 1.

Archangel Metatron is the Head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Milky Way Galaxy, Hierarch of the Spiritual World.

May, 2022

September 12, 2023

Archangel Metatron on sacred geometry and the Timeline

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/arhangel-metatron-o-sakralnoj-geometrii-i-lente-vr

Sacred geometry is an image drawn through the perception, through the brain of a particular person, of certain energy forms. Perhaps the energy lines of the room where he is, perhaps some subtle structures, perhaps some energies that are in his own aura, that is, this must be looked at separately, for example, the chakras.

The Time Ribbon (again the word “Ribbon”, one might say the River of Time) is a flow of time energies directed from the past to the future, the vision of which, the image of which is reflected on the border of the astral world and the World of disembodied Spirits. And there is another reflection of the Time Tape on the border of the subtle material world and the Astral. They are like two reflections. And, indeed, a person who has seen some images from the Timeline can depict this in sacred geometry, but in the form of flowers, images, geometric shapes.

About Metatron's Cube

It’s like a volumetric cube, but there are two more cubes in it, and they are connected to each other by lines, in one there is a second, and in the second there is a third, that is, a volumetric one.

Metatron's Cube represents the four sides. The four sides of the cube represent the four elements that create the material world. And three cubes, nested one inside the other, denote the three levels of energies that make up the physical atom. This is its original meaning.

The image of Metatron's Cube denotes the creation of material physical reality from spiritual reality, through the influence of subtle beings and energies.

Timecode: 49:43, #446 Live broadcast with Archangel Metatron. Part 1.

Archangel Metatron is the Head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Milky Way Galaxy, Hierarch of the Spiritual World.

May, 2022

September 21, 2023

Appeal of the Mother of God to all earthlings

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/obrashchenie-bogorodicy-ko-vsem-zemlyanam

I love each of you as my child - Jesus Christ. When you pray to me and I send you my help, I feel that I do this with maternal care, so I think this is the main reason why in most Christian denominations I am considered the Virgin Mary, that is, having one son. I really had physical children, and this fact can be established even from the canonical “Gospels” if read in the original Greek. But the Christian egregor, his Angels and the incarnate Angels, who became bishops and teachers, truly felt that I was the mother of each of them. And for this reason they considered that I was the Spiritual Mother.

Indeed, regardless of the fact that I had physical children, each of you, and not only Christians, but earthlings in general and not only, are a child for me. After I gave birth to the firstborn son of the Creator of the Universe, who also participated in the creation of the Universe, and having given birth to his embodied part in his body, I feel like I truly gave birth to God. And since I gave birth to God, and God gave birth to each of you, then I automatically become your mother, so I want to encourage you to develop the Love that I now have for each of you.

Believe me, I saw my son’s entire journey from the palace of Pontius Pilate to the place of crucifixion: how he carried his cross and how they beat him. I know what resentment is, what pain is when your child is killed, but, nevertheless, I didn’t just forgive - I even treated them all with Love the same way he did.

Yes, I know that it is almost impossible for a person who does not believe in the Spiritual world to treat this with Love. Since I believed in the Spiritual world, I knew this highest goal - my son explained to me why he was doing this: so that people would believe in him, in his Love, in his sacrifice, he went to the end, until his death, so that people would become like him in this Love. And this, undoubtedly, increased their vibrations, since for more than 2,000 years his egregor has existed and not only his, but our common egregor, which, despite all the difficulties that I described in my story, is still a powerful stimulus for the spiritual development in the Light of Love of all those who truly love it and all who sincerely wish to develop spiritually.

Timecode: 2:23:57, #187 The long-awaited meeting with the Mother of God - the physical mother of Jesus!

The Mother of God is in Christianity the earthly mother of Jesus Christ, one of the most revered personalities and the greatest of Christian saints.

December, 2020

September 22, 2023

Jesus Christ about his ordinary day. Phantoms of Jesus

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/iisus-hristos-o-svoyom-obychnom-dne-fantomy-iisusa

I was born 749 years after the founding of Rome. It was autumn, approximately translated into your calendar, taking into account leap years, the displacement of the earth's axis, it will be September 22, 749 after the founding of Rome.

I live on a separate island on the planet Burhad. On my island there is a forest of plants that you would call conifers, but they have flowers. Plants like cypresses, flowers like white water lilies. I love walking through this garden-forest, both a forest and a garden, because it is cultivated. I love connecting with nature through this place. I love to communicate with the sun (the sun of Burkhad), with the Spirits who live in this area, the Spirits of the Pikran system, the Solar system.

Since the sacrament of the Eucharist occurs around the clock on Earth, then around the clock, according to the law of energy exchange, the energies of earthlings come to me, including distorted energies of the etheric field, reflecting signals distorted by physical diseases and various etheric blocks, if any, astral and mental energy formations that exist, and I send them my energies to increase their vibrations.

If a person is connected with low-vibration plasmoids, then the energy of this plasmoid world also comes to me, and I perceive their vibrations. Accordingly speaking, I feel the lifestyle of this person. For example, he has depression, he constantly thinks about some mistake of his or about his unhappy life, all these pictures float in front of me, I sympathize very much - I am in such contact.

And only once every two, two and a half earthly months, students from different planets come to me upon request, usually from six to twenty-five people, to whom I answer their questions and give individual advice on their spiritual improvement.

I love to communicate with nature, I love to watch plants, animals (shows something like our deer, only smaller, like a baby, without horns, it has bright orange fur that for some reason glows). I love to make astral trips to the Spiritual world, communicate with the Archangels, answer their questions about managing the Christian religious egregor.

I feel the same way with my phantoms. I can identify about ten million phantoms with a certain autonomy of existence. I can do more, but for this I will need to remove some of the energy from them.

What's the difference between phantoms? The Phantom has a charge of my Soul of approximately ten to fifteen percent. The astral body has a charge from all my subtle bodies and the physical body of about maybe 30%. The vital force charge percentages of my phantoms may vary depending on the purposes of use and purpose.

I have many contactees, not only on Earth, but also in other worlds, who receive information and energy, including for healing, transformation, and spiritual guidance. I follow information on phantoms - this is my favorite thing, and I can also communicate through the subconscious of any person who loves me and sincerely tries to follow the path of Light, and does not consciously commit actions that reduce his vibrations.

Video on the topic: #241 Meeting with the phantom of Jesus Christ.

Jesus Christ is the head of the Christian religious egregor on Earth, the Firstborn Son of God, our elder Brother.

April 2021

October 5, 2023

Time

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vremya

This is the ability to materially change.

➡ A way to measure changes occurring in space. Space change parameter.

➡ Method of counting the intervals of Eternity. Exists only in our perception during our incarnation.

➡ A tool for living in the material world. For convenience, time periods are selected, for example, a revolution around the Sun is a year, a revolution of the Earth around its axis is a day.

➡ Divine energy that moves space. From the point of view of the physics of the Interstellar Union, time is energy, which is the cause of the formation of space and all its particles. But by itself, without space, without the material world, time does not exist as a physical phenomenon. Each planet that orbits a single Star, a double Star, a triple Star (there are even planets that orbit a five-part Star system) - they have completely different time patterns, which depend on their historical past, which, in turn, depends on the time of revolution of their planet around each, for example, from the Suns, around the revolution of their satellites, and so on.

➡ Invaluable divine energy that can be aimed either at development or degradation.

➡ A flow of energy that is directed both forward and backward. There is a Timeline. There are variations of events along the Timeline.

➡ Not just the energy of Light, but the flow of changes in material particles relative to each other, the flow of changes in their position in space and their sizes. This is precisely change, a flow of changes caused by various energies.

➡ From the point of view of the Spiritual world, time does not exist at all, because there are no changes there. In the material world, there are continuous changes in those energy particles that enter it. It is impossible to stop these particular changes, since the chain of events that is formed from the change in these particles (its stopping or acceleration) can affect many entities embodied here. Not just on people. And therefore, it is impossible for an individual spirit to influence objective time. But it is possible to speed up or slow down your subjective time by simply going into a state of eternity. When you go into a state of spirit, you find yourself outside of time. And when you find yourself outside of time, then that period of material time that is unpleasant to you for some reason simply passes unnoticed.

➡ Time for plasmoid civilizations is a kind of fractal wave that is superimposed on space and causes vortices in it that create atoms.

October 9, 2023

Crystal skulls from Lubaantun. Ritual with crystal skulls https://blog.cassiopeia.center/hrustalnye-cherepa-iz-lubaantuna-ritual-s-hrustaln

A similar image of human skulls after the death of a revered priest in ancient times, after his funeral, after his remains turned into a skeleton, was measured and then a cast was made from the material: from clay, plaster, which was. Then they gave it to the craftsmen who carved the stones, since crystal is a hard mineral. These were transparent images of crystal skulls of real-life priests.
The created skull was placed opposite the real one, while summoning a certain spiritual entity, curators, who helped the energy of the life force of this priest, preserved in his skull, pass into the crystal skull. It was believed that there was the highest energy center and the center of communication with the Spiritual world, what you call chakras. All this energy turned into a crystal image. What the master did based on the skull, if you measure it, you will see that they are slightly different. A real bone skull was placed “face to face” with a crystal skull, candles and certain lamps were lit, and incense was burned. A ritual was performed during which the life force from the skull, which contained the brain, flowed and was recorded in the crystalline structures of this crystal. Crystal, like any mineral, has the ability to record information on the etheric plane, life force. Any vital force of a living being carries information about his thoughts, emotions, and Soul. Soul information is important.

Why crystal and not another mineral? The transparency of the crystal allowed the priest's students and his admirers to look at the skull, and, peering into it, enter an altered state of consciousness, come into contact with the Spiritual world. Images appeared.
Information is stored there, and anyone can come into contact who will have a homogeneous vibration with his Spirit, the vibration of his Soul embedded in him. This does not mean that his Spirit is captured, he can reincarnate. Here is part of his vital energy. The spirit could go for reincarnation or not want to communicate with them. Then someone from the plasmoid civilization or some other Spirit could come out.
They also saw how you see the skull, and I see at the energy level that rays of vital energy diverge from the center of the skull, and these rays completely repeat the crystalline structure of each cluster of molecules. This is especially clearly visible when you look not from the side, but from the front. The strong life energy of a light person and a powerful priest in the skull in the middle. It could have been a woman.
Timecode: 38:09, #285 Artifacts_related to paleocontacts_Unique archaeological finds in Peru.
Raom Tiyan is a representative from the planet Burhad, a specialist in energy interactions in the environment of the material world.
Layrihosh Milet is a representative of the planet Burhad, an expert on the history of the creation of the earth's race and interaction with it.
June, 2021
October 13, 2023

The spiritual reason for the creation of the world from

LiSioni

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/duhovnaya-prichina-sozdaniya-mira-ot-lishioni

The world was created because of Love. So that God, the Heavenly Father, can give his Love to all worlds and spaces. In order to have someone to give it to, he created material worlds. But first he gave birth to his children - carriers of his Love - and then created material worlds so that they could manifest it in material worlds and build their own worlds, densifying them more and more. Until it finally comes to the physical world.

The denser the matter, the greater the distance in vibration from the Spiritual world, the more matter can influence the Spirit, drawing the Spirit's attention to itself. This can lead to oblivion of the Divine Light. But this is not in order to create some tests for the Spirit, but so that through the material world, through more and more dense forms of the material world, it realizes the same Light of God that is everywhere.

For example, in the physical world we see Galaxies, stars, and other luminous objects that remind us of the Light of God in this physical dense world. And we see from our planets how the stars form constellations, showing us that it is better for intelligent Spirits to stick together in order to create some kind of business, how the stars gather into constellations so that, for example, the path of a traveler can be read from them.

These are simply the analogies that arise when looking at the material world. Just as light is structured in the form of stars, which are the centers of their star systems, so the Sun is the center of the solar system.

Why is the Sun at the center of the solar system? In order to give the Spirits living at the third level of density in the physical world an understanding that God is at the center of everything. The Sun is the visible manifestation of Divine Light in the physical world.

You even open the textbook, one might say, of our "Natural Studies" for the first grade - an analogue of your “Natural Studies” (we call it “Study of the Physical World”). And already in this textbook it is written - imagine that for your children in natural history textbooks it will be written: “The Sun is a visible manifestation of the Divine-Spiritual Light in the physical world”...

A materialist is a Spirit who has completely limited his perception only to the material world and explains various spiritual phenomena by the phenomena of the material world, changes in the matter of his body and the world around him. A materialist, seeing perhaps one tenth of a percent of the real world, considers this one tenth of a percent to be the only reality. The true meaning of the word "materialist" is a person who has the fear of expanding his perception.

Usually this fear arises for a reason, but it is a defense mechanism that appears as a result of those choices in past incarnations that led to a decrease in vibrations. In past lives this was associated with self-flagellation and feelings of guilt. And until the Spirit forgives itself for this and works it out within itself, it will not allow itself to expand the boundaries of its perception beyond the boundaries of the physical world.

The conditions for personal happiness for each of you who read this publication, and the conditions for Love for you, are only the happiness that you will find in yourself, and the Love that you will spread to those around you. The more Love and happiness, kindness and joy you spread in the world around you, the more the same energies from the Universe, from the world, will be attracted to you.

I know that many, when they begin to follow the spiritual path, on the contrary, their temptations intensify, the darkness thickens around them. But this is not because you are doing something wrong, but because your mentors, seeing that you have taken the path of raising your vibrations, create such events and send you the lessons that you need to go through to move to the next stage. And when you cross over, it will be what in Christianity is called the Resurrection, the Resurrection of your Spirit to life in God, transformation, and in esotericism - “a small quantum transition of your body and consciousness to another level of reality.” And I wish each of you to experience enlightenment in the Light of Love, I send you the Light of my Love!

Timecode: 41:18, #484 Regressive Hypnosis. Reincarnation, healing of psychological trauma, fullness of life.

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the astral world and its interaction with the material world.

August, 2022

October 15, 2023

Interpretation of the images of the four horsemen of the Apocalypse from Archangel Michael https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tolkovanie-obrazov-chetyryoh-vsadnikov-apokalipsis

Interpretation of the first eight verses of the sixth chapter of the book “Apocalypse” by Apostle John the Theologian.

In the first eight verses of the sixth chapter of the book “Apocalypse” by John the Theologian, descriptions are given of four types of people following the path of spiritual development and the karmic consequences of their choice.

Verse 1

> AND I SAW THE LAMB OPEN THE FIRST OF THE SEVEN SEALS AND HEARD ONE OF THE FOUR ANIMALS SPEAKING WITH A THUNDER VOICE, COME

AND SEE.

Christ, in the form of a Lamb, revealed to John the Theologian the first sacred secret under the guise of a Seal, previously hidden from his mind. The four animals symbolize the four material elements, the energies of which make up the physical world.

Verse 2

I LOOKED AND BEHOLD A WHITE HORSE, AND HAD A RIDER ON HIM, HAVING A BOW AND A CROWN WAS GIVEN TO HIM, HE CAME OUT AS VICTORIOUS, AND TO VICTORY.

A horse rider is a symbol of the human soul in the body. The different colors of horses show the dominant color of a person’s aura, which is a visual manifestation of his spiritual qualities.

A white horse is an image of a person who is in constant contact with the disembodied part of his own spirit. In the physical world, white is the result of the fusion of the seven colors of the rainbow, and in the spiritual world it symbolizes the totality of all the potential Divine qualities of the eternal spirit.

The bow in the hands of the rider is a symbol of the flying thought of the spirit, capable of creating reality. The arrow is an image of thought itself, and the bowstring is an image of the energy of will. The greater the percentage of the spirit’s energy is manifested through the will, the faster and more energetically saturated its thought. It’s the same in the physical world: the stronger the bowstring, the farther and faster the arrow flies and the greater the effect it produces when it reaches the target.

The crown on the horseman's head is a symbol of the fully opened seventh energy center. This is a sign of a large and pure spiritual channel that connects a person’s soul with his Higher Self.

Thus, the symbol of a rider on a white horse here means a person who has conquered his animal nature, that is, emerged from the state of blind service to matter and became its conscious master. He defeated his negative qualities and numerous temptations of dark entities, therefore he is deservedly called Victorious.

Verses 3-4

> AND WHEN HE REMOVED THE SECOND SEAL, I HEARD THE SECOND ANIMALS SAYING "COME AND SEE"
> AND ANOTHER HORSE CAME OUT, A RED HORSE, AND TO HIM SITTING ON HIM IT WAS GIVEN TO TAKE PEACE FROM THE EARTH, SO THAT THEY MAY KILL ONE ANOTHER, AND A GREAT SWORD WAS GIVEN TO HIM.

In place of the words “red horse” in the original Greek of the book it is written “red horse”. This color in the aura shows that the first chakra is activated more than the others.

In this state, a person lives primarily by instinctive programs, and his spiritual mind is in a state of a special kind of sleep, because he is forced to spend his enormous potential on the conscious manifestation of instinctive desires and the search for eliminating obstacles to their complete and uncontrolled materialization.

Such a person voluntarily becomes like an animal, but naturally his rational soul does not acquire the qualities of an animal soul from this. Despite any negative actions, sparks of the Eternal Light of the Higher Self still break through the thick curtains of illusion and excite the Mind.

If a person, despite this, continues to develop in himself only instinctive animal needs, then he begins to suppress conscience, as the voice of God, not only in himself, but also in those people nearby who live according to the laws of Love and Light, so that they were not an example of fortitude for him, reminding him of his weakness.

This state gives rise to anger and rage, which are indicated by a large sword in the hand of a rider on a red horse.

Such emotions, in turn, finally displace peacefulness and mercy from the spiritual heart, and a person begins to accumulate aggressive energy in the etheric and astral fields. Sooner or later, this will definitely manifest itself in a person's environment: in the family, in the work team, when communicating with friends, etc.

God allows human anger to be expressed even if it leads to the killing of another person. This is how the Universe works, because the Children of God can learn love and responsibility only by experiencing the consequences of any of their actions committed in a state of freedom of choice.

That is why it is said here that the rider on the red horse, that is, a person with hypertrophied animal instincts, is given the power to take the world from the Earth and kill other people.

Verses 5-6

> AND WHEN HE REMOVED THE THIRD SEAL, I HEARD THE THIRD ANIMAL SAYING "COME AND SEE."
> I LOOKED AND BEHOLD A BLACK HORSE AND HAD A RIDER ON HIM, HAVING A MEASURE IN HIS SOUL.
> AND I HEARD A VOICE AMONG THE FOUR ANIMALS, SAYING: "A QINIX OF WHEAT FOR A DENARIUS, AND THREE QINIXES OF BARLEY FOR A DENARIUS.
> ELEYA AND VINA DO NOT HARM.

A black horse is a symbol of the aura of a person who has become despondent. This condition causes a severe energy deficiency, which is manifested by the absence of colors in the aura. The etheric body of a person who is in sadness and despondency has a gray or black color and low density.

The word translated "measure" in this verse in Greek has the basic meaning of "yoke." A horseman holding a yoke in his hand symbolizes a person who is in slavery to the passion of despondency.

Often people with depression really need help, because the main sign of this condition is a lack of belief in the possibility of getting out of it, and later, a reluctance to do so.

The condition described in this text depresses a person so much that he often feels a lack of positive emotions and feelings that previously manifested themselves completely freely.

A symbol of this state is the description of the exchange of a certain amount of wheat and barley for a specific amount of money. A hinix is a measure of volume equal to approximately a Russian liter, and a denarius is an amount equivalent to the value of four grams of silver. A worker received this payment for a whole day of hard physical labor.

Wheat serves in this text as a symbol of love, barley as a symbol of faith, and the denarius as a symbol of the energy of the Universe directed to man in the form of all the energies of the environment.

In such simple images, understandable to ancient people, it is said that a person in despondency finds it very difficult to love and believe. To put it in more understandable terms, in order to evoke the same love for one hour or the same faith for three hours in the heart of a person experiencing sadness and despondency, he needs to work for twelve hours (from sunrise to sunset), remembering the same love and faith.

Oil in this text serves as a symbol of joy from the fulfillment of spiritual needs, and wine as a symbol of joy from the fulfillment of physical needs. It is indicated here that the oil and wine are not damaged, which means that a depressed person is able to receive temporary joy, for example, from reading an interesting book or from delicious food, but he cannot feel happiness in its entirety until he raises his vibrations.

Joy is always temporary and cannot fully replace true eternal happiness. After the calming of bright, joyful emotions, the darkness of despondency becomes even thicker and hopeless, an energy deficit increases, due to which it can be very difficult to obtain even temporary joy from the same object.

Verses 7-8

> AND WHEN HE REMOVED THE FOURTH SEAL, I HEARD THE VOICE OF THE FOURTH ANIMALT SAYING, "COME AND SEE."
> I LOOKED AND BEHOLD A PALE HORSE AND HAD A HORSEMAN ON HIM, WHOSE NAME IS DEATH AND HELL FOLLOWED HIM. POWER WAS GIVEN TO HIM OVER A FOURTH OF THE EARTH - TO KILL WITH THE SWORD, AND WITH FAMINE AND PETROL, THE Beasts Of The Earth.

In place of the words "pale horse" in the original Greek it is written "green horse". A rider on a green horse symbolizes a person who is unsure of himself, indecisive, subject to fears and doubts. Self-love and trust in God have died in him, so he radiates into the world the energy of spiritual death, which is indicated by the name of the rider “death.”

Hell here refers to a collection of low vibrational spiritual entities, embodied at different levels of density and non-incarnated. They follow such a person wherever he goes because his vibrations of doubt and fear are very attractive to them, because they too have lost self-love and trust in God.

Fears and doubts have the power (opportunity) to deprive people of the feeling of Eternal Life, because of which they feel not like children of God, but like soulless cogs in a lifeless universe that exists without any meaning.
This state is designated here as the killing of people by the fourth horseman.

The symbol of earth here means the material world. The fourth part of the earth is four material clusters out of twenty, that is, the first twelve levels of density. It is in them that spirits are embodied, subject to fears and doubts. Specifically, this is your physical cluster and the next two, which include plasmoid civilizations from the fourth to ninth density levels.

The vast majority (more than 90%) of all parasitic plasmoid civilizations live among the subtle-material creatures of these levels.

The sword here is a symbol of aggression, and hunger is a symbol of despondency. Pestilence is an epidemic. This text reveals the reasons for this phenomenon: some plasmoids from the fourth to ninth density levels cannot withstand a large flow of negative energy from the physical world and give rise to the souls of “earthly beasts” - animals, insects and microorganisms that can attack a person and cause various diseases in him and even physical death.

Archangel Michael, Spiritual patron of the Earth, guardian of the Christian egregor.

October 2023

October 19, 2023

Mirakh Count's recommendations to the international community on resolving the Palestinian-Israeli conflict

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/rekomendacii-po-razresheniyu-palestino-izrailskogo

The peoples of all countries participating in the conflict are interested in its speedy resolution. It is the people, not the rulers. Because war always means hunger, devastation, destruction, tears and pain for all participants in the conflict. And all that is needed to resolve this conflict for many centuries is a meeting of all religious and political leaders of all countries, including authoritative representatives of the Arabs and Israel, as well as large states of the Earth, who will be mediators.

At this meeting the issue will be resolved not about the land, which is already Israeli, but about those people who are suspended in the air. Neither Israel nor the Arabian countries accept them; they have been in a legal vacuum for many generations.

This situation arose due to the unforesighted decision of all participants in this conflict, carried out earlier. Now a fair solution can provide a solution to this conflict. And only the distribution of these residents across all countries can be fair, but the government of Israel, the governments of Arabian countries, and other helpers who are ready to help must be willing to provide them with some territory for free. After all, they have no money, they are refugees, and cannot buy anything. Just help at your own expense, naturally not at the expense of the people who already live in this territory, but at the expense of the state.

The first goal is to resolve the conflict, and the second goal is to create an image of a fair, religious, pious state where every Soul is valued. You just need to collect, count those people who remained on the territory of Israel, but outside the legal framework, and simply distribute them not only in Israel, of course, always taking into account their wishes. All this must be harmonious, all parties must participate in this and offer their help.

Only then will the mutual anger of people towards each other gradually decrease, because mutual aggression initially occurred over the issue of territories, only then did the issue of different religions arise. First, we need to solve the territorial issue and help those people and their children find their own housing, the opportunity to work, provide for themselves, provide medical care, and so on.

Timecode: 1:02:35, #299 Judaism. How did Moses receive the Torah? Who is Yahweh? Ten Commandments. Your God is my God. Channeling.

Mirakh Count - Archangel Gabriel - representative of the planet Burkhad, disciple of Jesus Christ, guardian of the Christian egregor.

July 2021

October 24, 2023

Wishes of Archangel Metatron to the rulers of planet Earth

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/pozhelaniya-arhangela-metatrona-pravitelyam-planet

My dear Divine Souls, you became rulers over your people only thanks to your angels and mentors, who allowed you to pass all the tests, of which there were quite a lot in your life before your most important position in which you are now. But this top position is not forever. You must understand that the measure of your responsibility is equal to the measure of your power. You are responsible not only for yourself, but also for every person who is embodied in the space over which your power is extended. You are responsible for his well-being, for the level of his vibration in the understanding that you have the power with your mental attitudes, carried out through your powerful orders, to both push society towards development and lead it into the pit of degradation. Both are your right. This right is inalienable, as is God's Love for each of you.

But the measure of responsibility that you have implies a greater likelihood of the formation of karmic knots if you choose a path outside the Light of God, which will be reflected in your Spiritual level and your possible future incarnations if you decide to incarnate again. Before you make any decision, even the most insignificant by the standards of your materialistic mind, look first into your heart. Ask yourself:

> "Would I like to be among this people as a simple citizen, not vested with power, if the ruler of this people were the same as me, who issues the same law that I want to issue now?"

If you issue an order that may affect the timing of the incarnation of other Spirits, which may contribute to the removal of your brothers and sisters from incarnation in other bodies, ask yourself the question of how you would feel in the place of the mother of that young man who will be taken out of incarnation by the soldiers, subject to your signature.

I wish you peace and Love, and the correct answer to the question you asked. Good luck to you!

1:03:50 #465 Live broadcast with Archangel Metatron. Part 3.

Archangel Metatron is the Head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Milky Way Galaxy, Hierarch of the Spiritual World.

June, 2022

October 29, 2023

Parting words from Jesus through Ilya Alexandrov. Word of God for participants of the first stream of the School of Contactors https://blog.cassiopeia.center/naputstvie-ot-iisusa-slovo-bozhe-dlya-uchastnikov

In every person/being who is aware of himself, there is a particle, a spark, a vibration of God. Among earthlings it is in a dormant state. This leads to the results that we see now in your reality.

The mere INTENT of a PERSON to turn to the light, to God can change everything that happens around, like the butterfly effect. I repeat, only INTENTION! Think about the effect it can have!

This great work that you are starting now is leading humanity to a different understanding of itself. Understanding and realizing oneself as a divine/spiritual essence - not only those grieving and suffering for the good or punishment of someone, but precisely a part integral and connected with everything that happens around, an invisible thread of divine energy, which you call the “Higher Self”.

Realizing yourself as a part, united with the Creator, turns the consciousness of many, including yours, upside down. It seems “irreducible” to grasp, understand and apply to life. You say:

> “And what will this awareness give me if I suffer and suffer, starve, and have no income?!”

I will fully accept and support you in these thoughts. Your growth will always be uncomfortable and difficult. You are the first who can pass through this veil of the material worldview. Being first is never easy.

Know that I am always with you, in each of you there is a piece of me, a piece of my love and understanding. I will be with you in every moment of doubt, fear and misunderstanding. You just need to turn your mind's eye to me - and I will hear you!

You have a great Mission - to awaken the divine spark in the hearts of other people. To bring divine light even to those places where they have never heard of it, where materiality and money are God...

Changing your vibrations will help all the “people you meet in the day”* become different. And may the power of God’s love be with you in all its manifestations! For the benefit of every soul, in all dimensions and spaces! May the Light of your hearts only increase!

I will guide you spiritually!

Your cathedral is not accidental. You have come together over many centuries and it is no coincidence that you merged here. In your unity the power of divine consciousness in your space is strengthened. This gives me the opportunity to speak through you and for you!

Let the one who listens hear, the one who looks, see my presence next to you and in each of you!

Good luck!

* - these words or phrases are conveyed EXACTLY as they were received from Jesus.

Jesus Christ is the head of the Christian religious egregor on Earth, the Firstborn Son of God, our elder Brother.

February 2021

October 31, 2023

Archangel Metatron on mirrors

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/arhangel-metatron-o-zerkalah

Is it true that mirrors are a gateway to another world?

They can be portals if a special thin ethereal matrix of the portal is installed in them, which can lead to another world in density. There are plasmoid civilizations that prefer mirrors for their portals, because they reflect not only objects, but also energies. And they use this property of reflection to strengthen the portal, that is, they spend less of their energy on its creation and on throwing the astral or subtle body that has fallen into this portal.

Why do we cover mirrors at funerals?

The custom appeared not because of who died, but because of the peculiar care of living relatives for themselves. Because someone who has lost a relative may be in a state of grief. And in this state they become accessible to low-vibration, parasitic plasmoids.

Since a mirror reflects not only objects, but also energies, if a person in such a state looks into the mirror, a negative plasmoid (which is nearby) can cause a vision in this mirror. It will be easy for him to reflect these energies so that through reflection they enter the eyes of a given person with the necessary frequency for him to see it. It is easier for a plasmoid to do this through a mirror than directly in the air. The custom appeared precisely because of the property of reflecting energy. To prevent plasmoids from frightening some people, this custom appeared.

If the plasmoid is in a room without mirrors or with a closed mirror together with a person in severe grief or sadness, it will be more difficult to scare him and carry out a negative energy exchange with him.

> Is it really possible, with the help of reflective elements, relatively speaking, metal mirrors, to change energies, reflect, retransform energies in space?

Not with the help of the energies themselves, but with the help of certain plasmoid civilizations, which are attracted to not just mirrors, but special forms of mirrors, special forms of premises. And plasmoid civilizations can create portals there. And these some plasmoids can influence space and those energies that you call time (that is, the flow of change in material particles), in this way.

A lot depends on who makes these mirrors and with what intention. And his intention, his purity of his Spiritual heart are visible in the Spiritual world and in all subtle worlds. This is how his manipulations are visible, his intention, why he does it. You can make a mirror this way and place it in a certain place. Plasmoid curators can also send this idea.

Timecode: 40:37, #465 Live broadcast with Archangel Metatron. Part 3.

Archangel Metatron is the Head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Milky Way Galaxy, Hierarch of the Spiritual World.

June, 2022

November 2, 2023

What did Moses do on Mount

Sinai?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/chto-delal-moisej-na-gore-sinaj

These forty days Moses was not only on the mountain, he traveled by ship to different planets. He was shown the Moon, bases in the solar system, the satellites of Saturn, Tumesout, Burkhad. And all this time he gained knowledge. Not only did Yahweh talk to him, but representatives of Burkhad also talked to him, explained to him the structure of the Universe, and also told him about plasmoid civilizations and their role for life on Earth. They told him about the Galaxy in a form that he could understand, and said that the stars you see are very large suns.

These commandments that were given to him, the ten main, very first commandments, from which all the others then proceeded, he considered sacred knowledge, not accessible to everyone. They took two stones, straight from the same mountain, and made them smooth. That is, they polished it with a special beam, which made the surface layer of molecules uniform so that there were no protrusions. And then, using a special beam that can cut stones, the Tumesout aliens turned it on at low power, first spoke the commandment to Moses in a voice and explained its meaning, because some words could be interpreted in different meanings, and then directed the beam at the stone. He hung in the air, held in an anti-gravity field, and a beam of bright purple color was aimed at him, which passed along the stone, and words were carved there.

Then they asked him if there were any questions. If he had no questions, they moved on to the next one; if he had questions, they answered him, there were three of them: Yahweh was there and two more representatives of Tumesout, his friends.

Moses saw a white light, like a curtain, Yahweh did not appear to him at that time, there was simply a voice that told him: “Come here,” he only saw when he was flying, the Burkhadians, representatives of Disaru, he contacted them like angels.

Yahweh in his physical body was 12 meters 88 centimeters. The average Tumesoutian was between four and eight meters tall, but Yhwach was much taller than average. He was taller than all the Tumesoutians who were nearby. There were 9-10 meters there, but there was no 12-meter one.

He had dark hair, huge dark blue eyes, and at the same time, when they look, the pupil dilates and they become dark. A straight nose, a straight chin, skin like a European, but a little darker, closer to brown.

The Oral Torah is given continuously. This is the Divine law that is laid down in the heart of everyone in the form of a natural moral law or the image of God that is in you. Why oral? Because it can be manifested in the material world through the mouth. But oral is only one side of this Torah.

The Torah of the universal law is still transmitted through hands, which manifests itself in the world through actions. Near Mount Sinai there were Jewish souls from various past and future, this is actually not just the case. This is a view from the Spiritual world. This is not a view from the material world, when we are here and now, but in the Spiritual world this happened outside of time, that is, in the Spiritual world it is happening now.

Every person can come into contact with a Jewish religious egregor. To tune in to this time and get to this mountain at the exact moment when the Torah was transmitted, that is, to be a direct witness, but he will see it not physically, but in energies, he will see not physical objects, but reflections of energy from real objects, because that this will happen in the Spiritual world. In any case, it will be natural, through his perception, but he will be present there, because the Spiritual world is embedded in the physical, just as the air permeates a room.

Therefore, around Mount Sinai and in it itself there is also a Spiritual world, it is embedded in it, and you can be present there, they are just different dimensions. This is precisely what was meant when it was stated that “ all the souls of the Jews were present .” It was meant that everyone can be present in this in the Spiritual body when they desire it and immerse themselves in the appropriate prayer to God and a state of contemplation.

Timecode: 47:45, #299 Judaism. How did Moses receive the Torah? Who is Yahweh? Ten Commandments. Your God is my God. Channeling.

Mirakh Count - Archangel Gabriel - representative of the planet Burkhad, disciple of Jesus Christ, guardian of the Christian egregor.

July 2021

November 6, 2023

MidgasCause about mindfulness. What does it mean to “bury your talent in the ground”?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/midgaskaus-ob-osoznannosti-chto-znachit-zakopat

Mindfulness involves understanding what your tasks are. This is communication with the Higher Self, this is communication with a part of God. God is the Creator of the entire Universe, no matter what He is called in other languages. Many different names: Absolute or Supreme Mind. For Russian people, the word God is more suitable. We are used to calling the Source of the entire Universe this way.

The Source of the entire Universe has Light, this ray is Spiritual Light. The one that illuminates all darkness and dissolves it in itself. Darkness is all evil, all imperfection. Having invested a piece of Himself in us, as in His children, He gave us His Divinity, His Divine nature.

In one parable, Jesus said that He gave every person one talent. Absolutely every person has talent. This talent is that Divine nature. But every person has a choice in this life, in this material world - using material tools, to multiply this talent and make of it two talents, five talents or as many as ten, i.e. increase your Divine nature. Or bury it in the ground.

There is such an expression, it was used by Jesus Christ - “ bury your talent in the ground .” What does this expression mean? This means spending the time of your incarnation and your Divine potential only on material activities. The earth here is a symbol of matter. Matter – it is in no way bad or evil. It is simply a tool in achieving spiritual goals. If the tool itself is taken as the goal, no awareness, no wisdom, and no development comes out of it. This understanding of this is, in my understanding, awareness.

In the material world: the higher the vibrations, the closer to gamma radiation - all-penetrating radiation that penetrates even the thickest walls. The closer to stellar radiation - X-ray radiation, gamma radiation, which we call “hard radiation”. Yes, it is dangerous for physical bodies, but it is also Divine energy. And since it has the highest vibrations, it generates all other radiations. By gradually lowering the vibrations of these electromagnetic waves, the entire visible world is born. Including light waves and others. These phenomena of the Spiritual world are called vibrations only in comparison, by analogy, by symbolism in comparison with the material world.

As for spiritual vibrations, these words refer to spiritual qualities or spiritual nature. Qualities, certain feelings, desires or emotions, i.e. spiritual processes that occur in our Spirit. Inside is no longer the body, but the Spirit. You need to understand that in the Spiritual world we are also not deprived of the ability to experience feelings, emotions or desires, but without a body. Non-embodied Spirits understand very well that they are also not devoid of feelings and emotions.

The standard, measurement in material vibrations is the so-called Hertz - one vibration per second. This will not work in Spiritual vibrations: there is no time there. What will we take as a standard? The highest Spiritual vibration is the one that gave birth to all the others, which is the primary source. So, the highest Spiritual vibration is called “Unconditional Divine Love.” Without Love there is no life. It is because of Love that we were all born from the primordial Spiritual Light. It was because of Love that all the worlds, all the Galaxies, all the aliens and everyone else appeared. If there were no Love, no one would have life.

It is with Unconditional Divine Love that it is necessary to compare all other feelings, all other desires, aspirations - what they are directed towards, and, naturally, emotions and thoughts. If we look at the Spiritual heart, the state of the Spiritual heart gives rise to thoughts. What the Spiritual heart is like, what it is filled with - such will be the thoughts of a person. If we are talking about which vibrations are high, these are those that are closer to Unconditional Divine Love.

What I am talking about now is Unconditional Divine Love. But love has many types. There is love for an individual. There is love for some thing. There is love for some phenomenon. There is love for oneself. And there is love for God. All these forms of love are a manifestation of one single energy of Love, simply directed towards one or another object. Remember yourself when you love.

Love is a state of unity with a loved being. If this is unconditional Love, this is unity without shades of exaltation, without a sense of belonging of this object to itself. There is love that is distorted by selfishness, a feeling of greed, when a person considers the loved one to be a part of them, but at the same time they do not consider themselves to be a part of this person. Real, true unconditional Love is a state when you completely feel equal to this person, with this person, and at the same time you feel one with him.

What is one? This means his joy is your joy, his pain is your pain. You are one whole being. This is unconditional Love for yourself, for your neighbor and for God. This is the same Divine Love that Jesus spoke about. One who is filled with such Love cannot be indifferent to the troubles of his neighbor. His feelings, his relationship to this suffering person will not be limited only to feelings. They will not be limited only to exclamations that this is unfair. If this is true Divine Love, it is always practical. Man necessarily manifests it in matter. He always saves and helps those who suffer. Because he feels his suffering as his own.

Video on the topic: #490 True love, awareness, spiritual vibrations. ALIENS ANSWERS. Cassiopeia – Irina Podzorova.

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

September 2022

November 7, 2023

Archangel Gabriel on the use of Christian egregor for witchcraft purposes

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/arhangel-gavriil-o-podklyuchenii-k-hristianskomu

The energy of the Christian religious egregor is aimed at Light, Love, reconciliation, humility, acceptance. Humility does not imply humiliation of a person, but acceptance. Not a feeling of humiliation and submission to any blows of fate, but acceptance of this world as it is.

As for the sorcerers who use it, they can try to join the Christian religious egregor in order to replenish their etheric energy forces from the huge reservoir of energies of this egregor, so every person can do this, but he must match the vibrations with this egregor. If the vibrations do not match, then no connection to the Christian religious egregor occurs.

The Christian religious egregor has a lot of Guardian Angels, there are a lot of light high-vibration plasmoids, Nature Spirits, Guardians. Connection does not occur to the egregor if there is any negativity in the spiritual heart of the sorcerer: envy, jealousy, pride, anger, resentment, fear.

If these feelings prevail in him, he will not be able to connect. But he will be able to connect to the black magic egregor - this is the lowest department of the esoteric egregor. Magic is also a type of esotericism, knowledge of the world through extrasensory experience. Magicians experience the world and influence it with their thoughts and energies, creating events. But low-vibration destructive plasmoid civilizations can connect to their energies, and disembodied Spirits from the first 6 demonic levels can also come. Sorcerers can connect to this egregor.

There's enough energy there. They take it for their rituals.

When they take energy for their rituals, energy as the driving force of this ritual, they have an energy debt to the guardians of this egregor. If debts do not arise before God and light entities, because it is given unconditionally, then dark, that is, low-vibration Spirits who have abandoned the Light, do not feel it in themselves voluntarily, are not so selfless and do not know how to love with unconditional love. They “write down” all debts.

Sorcerers can try to connect to the Christian religious egregor and perform various rituals. Anyone can enter an Orthodox church. The door is open to anyone. Any person entering a temple can hear a prayer, a psalm or see an icon that will affect his Spiritual heart, raise his vibrations, and he will want to give up his activity, which brought him negative experience.

The Christian temple has a high vibrational space. The actions of human sorcerers in it are absolutely safe. They will not be able to do anything if the person who is nearby does not attract the influence of this person through fear or irritation, in which case this can happen anywhere.

Timecode: 50:30, #486 Live broadcast with the main curator of the project - Archangel Gabriel (Mirah Count).

Mirakh Count (Archangel Gabriel) - representative of the planet Burkhad, sociopsychologist, political scientist, specialist in the construction of religious egregors in worlds where young civilizations exist, curator of the egregor “Cassiopeia”, keeper of the Christian egregor.

August, 2022

November 8, 2023

Revelation of John the Theologian. Interpretation of verses 9 to 17, chapter six https://blog.cassiopeia.center/otkrovenie-ioanna-bogoslova-tolkovanie-s-9-po-17

Verse 9

> AND WHEN HE OPENED THE FIFTH SEAL, I SAW UNDER THE ALTAR THE SOULS OF THOSE WHO WERE KILLED FOR THE WORD OF GOD AND FOR THE TESTIMONY THAT THEY HAD

Interpretation:

The altar (altar) is a symbol of the energy space in the egregor of Christianity, in which the vital energies of people who believe in Christ, who were taken out of incarnation because of their faith, are collected.

The souls of such people remain in the astral space of the Christian egregor for up to 40 days after physical death.

Verse 10

> AND THEY CRIED WITH A LOUD VOICE, SAYING HOW LONG, O LORD, HOLY AND TRUE, WILL YOU NOT JUDGE AND Avenge THEM DIVING ON THE EARTH FOR OUR BLOOD?

Interpretation:

The Apostle John the Theologian traveled in the astral body to the egregor of Christianity along with the Phantom of Jesus Christ. It was to Him that the souls of people killed for the Christian faith, who had recently emerged from incarnation, turned to him with a question.

If we translate their question into Russian more correctly, it will look like this:

> “Ruler of the world, Holy and True, until when do You not choose to protect the blood of our inhabitants on Earth?”

The souls of martyrs for the Christian faith ask Jesus Christ when He is going to protect their earthly relatives from persecution for their faith. The earthly relatives of each soul are called “our blood” in the text, because physical kinship is transmitted by blood.

This question is quite natural, because the souls of deceased people, before uniting with their higher selves, strongly identify themselves with their body, with their family, and are often very worried about the well-being of their earthly relatives who remained in incarnation.

Verse 11

> AND THEY WERE GIVEN TO EACH OF THEM WHITE CLOTHES AND IT WAS TOLD THEM THAT THEY WOULD REST FOR A LITTLE TIME YET, UNTIL THEIR COOPERATES AND THEIR BROTHERS, WHO WOULD BE KILLED LIKE THEM, WOULD COMPLETE THE NUMBER.

Interpretation:

White robes are the energy of Divine Grace, which consoles in sorrows and gives hope for a better future. It provides protection that feels like absolute safety at any point in space and time.

Jesus Christ directed this energy to souls who were worried about their neighbors on Earth and asked them to calm down, that is, to accept the peace of the Grace of God before meeting their beloved souls in the spiritual world.

The expression “will add to the number” speaks of the replenishment of the bright host of martyrs for the faith, whose blood at the dawn of Christianity led many people to faith in Christ thanks to the example of courage, faith and the ability to forgive and love enemies.

Verse 12

> AND WHEN HE OPENED THE SIXTH SEAL, I LOOKED AND BEHOLD A GREAT EARTHQUAKE HAPPENED AND THE SUN BECAME DARK AS SAILOR POLE AND THE MOON BECAME LIKE BLOOD.

Interpretation:

This describes the excitation of natural elements caused by the process of the Quantum Transition - a sudden, rapid increase in the vibrations of quanta in all atoms that make up the substance of the planet.

This is the result of entropy processes occurring in time and space of all material worlds.

A great earthquake is an abrupt increase in the vibrations of all the atoms that make up the Earth.

The Sun is a symbol of the Spiritual Light of the Higher Self.

The dimming of sunlight is a symbol of the difficulty in communicating with the higher self, which occurs due to negative emotions caused by massive social unrest and natural disasters that often occur during periods of active phases of the Quantum Transition.

The moon is a symbol of the astral world. The reddening of the moon indicates the filling of the astral atmosphere of the Earth, passing through an increase in vibrations of quantum fields, with the energies of the first energy center (chakra), which is red.

This means that most people during this period experience fear of the unknown future and melancholy in the unattractive present. This happens due to the discrepancy between the vibrations of earthly egregors, filled with negativity, and the vibrations of all material fields and substances, which increase as a result of the activation of the Quantum Transition.

Verse 13

> AND THE STARS OF HEAVEN FALLED TO THE EARTH, LIKE A FIG TREE, SHAKED BY THE WIND, DROP ITS ITS UNRIPE FIGURES.

Interpretation:

The heavenly stars here represent Light spirits from the Angelic levels. Their fall is their embodiment in the material world.

Many non-incarnated Angels strive to help their brothers and sisters living in material bodies during times of crisis caused by the activation of the next stage of the quantum transition and en masse come to incarnations before it begins in order to dispel negative vibrations in the astral plane with the light of love and understanding, help the process of quantum transition and bring from the spiritual world a message of joy and hope to those who, under the burden of material worries, have forgotten about eternal existence in the spiritual world.

Verse 14

> AND THE SKY HIDDEN, ROLLING UP LIKE A SCROLL; AND EVERY MOUNTAIN AND ISLAND MOVED FROM THEIR PLACES.

Interpretation:

In the original, this text looks slightly different:

> "And when the sky separated the rotating spiral, all the mountains and islands moved from their places"

The sky is a symbol of the spiritual world, in which the source of quantum waves is located. When the energy of Divine Holiness is released from the spiritual world into the material world, it passes through all levels of density, twisting material structural elements into a volumetric spiral.

When a wave of this energy reaches the space of the first three levels of density, the structural elements of physical matter (atoms and molecules), which are indicated in the text under the symbols of mountains and islands, move from their places, which means a change in their frequency characteristics, affecting the properties of matter.

Verses 15-17

AND THE KINGS OF THE EARTH, AND THE MIGHTY, AND THE RICH, AND THE LEADERS OF A THOUSAND,
AND THE MIGHTY, AND EVERY SLAVE AND EVERY FREE HAD HIDED INTO THE CAVES AND IN THE GORDS OF THE MOUNTAINS, AND THEY SAY TO THE MOUNTAINS AND STONES:
FALL ON US AND HIDE US FROM THE FACE OF HIM SIT ON THE THRONE AND FROM THE WRATH OF THE LAMB;
FOR THE GREAT DAY OF HIS WRATH HAS COME, AND WHO CAN STAND?

Interpretation:

Here we describe seven types of people who, for spiritual reasons formed by themselves in the past, cannot correctly and harmoniously accept Divine Energies, which are more and more clearly felt in material bodies with each stage of the Quantum Transition.

The kings of the earth are people who love power over people more than themselves, people and God. A disharmonized leadership instinct lowers a person's vibration and makes him capable of very cruel acts in order to achieve or retain power.

Nobles are people who are proud of their material and social achievements over those who do not have them. Pride drives love out of their hearts and lowers vibrations, because rational souls, blinded by this feeling, are not able to see the unity of all beings before God and in God.

Rich people are people who prioritize achieving material well-being, even at the cost of other people's suffering. Greed and love of money lowers spiritual vibrations and makes a person unable to feel like an immortal spiritual being, due to the subconscious fear of parting with material wealth when leaving incarnation. To calm fear, people convince themselves that this moment will not happen soon. This overlaps the feeling of the immortality of the spirit and the feeling of the reality of the spiritual world, which, in turn, forms the worldview of a materialistically thinking mind.

Thousand-leaders - this is how the leaders of detachments of warriors of a thousand people were called in Rimskaya. This name refers to people who are externally or internally at war with themselves, with the world around them and with God.
Their usual mental states are anger, resentment, hatred, judgment and rejection. All this does not allow Divine Love to enter the human heart, because it is closed to such a feeling, because it fears it or despises it, considering it weakness, humility, naivety and stupidity.

Strong people are people who are proud of their intelligence, abilities, level of spiritual development in front of other people or in front of themselves.
They mistake narcissism for self-love, but true self-love necessarily manifests itself in the form of love for all people, without exception, as children of God. Anyone who does not love and accept at least one person rejects the Divine principle in him and turns unconditional love into egoistic, that is, love based on the law of justice.

Of course, selfish love is higher in vibration than hatred, but lower in vibration than the unconditional love with which the Heavenly Father loves us all. Selfish love allows one to reach average spiritual levels, but becomes an obstacle when ascending to the Angelic levels.

Every slave is a person who has submitted to some vice or addiction and has become their slave. Slave psychology is based on fear of change and guilt. It is these arguments that a person in such a state presents to his higher self when it mentally calls on a person to change his life and abandon what prevents him from following the path of spiritual development.

A person with a dependent psyche most often understands that he is in trouble, but does not believe in his ability to overcome his negative qualities, which he himself created. In order not to admit this to himself and not to fall into a feeling of guilt even more, he often begins to blame someone else for his troubles and misfortunes.

The main sign of a slave is the fear of taking responsibility for his life. This fear and distrust of oneself is a form of distrust of God, therefore it lowers vibrations and separates us from His Light.

Every free person - here we mean a person who considers himself independent of God. This is a special form of pride when a person considers himself the measure of Truth, the Source of everything that exists and forgets about the existence of his neighbors next to him, or considers them his servants and slaves.

Such a person either does not believe in God at all, or considers Him to be his Servant and is even capable of being angry with God if something does not go as he planned.
This state differs from the feeling of Unity with God at the highest levels of the spiritual world by the lack of acceptance of the world as it is and the lack of love and mercy for all children of God, regardless of personal conflicts, misunderstandings, criticism and other manifestations of selfish human nature.

The image of such people fleeing to caves and mountain gorges shows their behavior when meeting the Divine Light. Gorges and mountains are an image of matter. A person who is not ready to see the Divine Light will experience fear of it, calling the Energy of Love Divine Wrath, even if God appears before him in the form of a harmless Lamb.

When meeting high vibrations, such people go deeper into their negative feelings and vices and become more carried away by material pursuits, trying to escape from the frightening and burning Energy of Unconditional Love.

That is why low-vibration disembodied spirits often strive to inhabit the bodies of embodied spirits that match their vibrations, in order to be distracted by material activities and not feel the vibrations of the Divine Light, which are more clearly felt in the spiritual world, and not to comply with the karmic circumstances of a new incarnation suggested by Angel Consultants, because, for reasons of illusory perception of reality, they consider them unacceptable for themselves.

Mirrah Count, specialist in the study of religious and philosophical egregors, sociologist, spiritual psychologist, planet Burkhad.

November 2023

November 11, 2023

Message from Archangel Gabriel - Mirakh Counta

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/poslanie-arhangela-gavriila-mirah-kaunta

My dear brothers and sisters, I convey to you the Light of my love! Remember that your Guardian Angels, messengers of God and bright Spirits are always next to you. They do not come to you when you do not want them, so as not to violate your freedom. They come closer to you when you pray to God, when you ask them for help, they send you their Light of love so that you are stronger, wiser, and so that you go through this path of life with benefit for yourself and for others.

I want to wish you that every day of your incarnation on Earth brings you not only the light of the Sun, but also the discovery of a new facet of the Divine Light in yourself and the ability to carry this Light to every soul you meet on your way, because it is precisely the shortage of light that is now observed on Earth, and you really need it during this important period of worldwide quantum or energetic transition into new vibrations.

Keep it within yourself and increase it, and then you will enter the joy of your Lord, that is, you will be in His energies.

November 15, 2023

The spiritual meaning of fairy tales. "Kolobok", "Geese-swans"

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/duhovnyj-smysl-skazok-kolobok-gusi-lebedi

The conditions of existence on Earth in the pre-war period are well characterized not by myths that appeared later, but by fairy tales. Tales that have been passed down from generation to generation in figurative form for a very long time. Tales about the communication of animals with humans, the communication of animals with each other - this is precisely contact with plasmoid civilizations.

The Dragon and the Serpent Gorynych, although he did not have three heads, is an image of three species living nearby. Baba Yaga, Koschey the Immortal, Ivan Tsarevich - this is a designation of various conflict situations between individual tribes, for example. One name can hide a whole tribe, although the fairy tale indicates that it was one person. For example, Baba Yaga could designate a certain category of the population - the image of women who were in contact with the plasmoids of the forest.

There are fairy tales that convey certain events in figurative form for children. If you remember the fairy tale “Kolobok”, this does not mean that he was baked in an oven and endowed with a Soul. This suggests that the owners came into contact with the Spirit who lived in the oven. Is it a coincidence that Kolobok is round and yellow? This is an Earth-type plasmoid that was a house spirit.

Plasmoid "children" often come into contact with humanoid children and their adult forms. They have a more developed investigative instinct, a more flexible energy structure, which they can easily adapt to contact.

The fact that he left and was eaten by an animal is an image of the fact that he went into the animal world, into the world of wild nature, among which plasmoids lived. A similar root word for “ate” is “absorbed,” as a symbol of accession. This means he joined the forest plasmoids.

The fairy tale “Geese-Swans” is also very ancient. Initially, flying animals and birds on horseback meant flying in the astral plane with plasmoid civilizations. But some people also used these images to designate alien ships, which was closer to them. They used a familiar term and told the children in a symbolic form that one boy came into contact with alien civilizations, with those who wanted to take him far away, but his sister hid him. They insisted on contact and chased after them. It is not necessary that they were physically chased. This was a symbol that they kept coming to him and trying to establish contact.

And the fact that the earth hid him, the water hid him, then this is the person who was nearby, he began to turn to the plasmoids of the earthly element so that they would protect him.

These are all real events that are conveyed in figurative form through fairy tales.

Timecodes: 01:17:00, #256; 07:37, #305

LiShioni is a representative of the planet Shimor, a specialist in the astral world and its interactions with the material world;

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

2021

November 18, 2023

The Matrona Spirit about her immobility and levels in the Spiritual World

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/duh-matrony-o-svoej-nepodvizhnosti-i-urovnyah-v-du

Once again, after visiting the temple, where I prayed to the Lord for the healing of the people who came to me (shows a line of people), I also asked to soften the hearts of my parents: they disapproved of my activities, not to mention the activities, but to the fact that people walk. This irritated them. And when I prayed, at that moment I allowed in my heart a feeling of pride towards my parents, that they could not - that through their prayers healing was not accomplished, but through mine it was.

I had such a thought, and instead of driving it away, I lingered on it - that they are not worthy to forbid me anything in my life, because they do not have such spiritual gifts. This thought just flashed by, but I lingered on it, and my heart liked it. But I didn't understand it then, didn't notice it, didn't realize it. And when I came home, came on my own feet, went to bed, I received consolation from the Holy Spirit. And the next morning I couldn't get up.

When I began to pray to God to get up, I fell into a state of unconsciousness, like a doze, and saw that Archangel Michael came down to me through the ceiling and said that you will have more humility when you need the care of other people. It is in the care of other people who will help you. That's how I lost the ability to move on my own. And people came to me. And if I needed to move somewhere, they carried me in their arms.

If this had not happened, there was a high probability that that thought would have sunk deeper into my heart and turned into a feeling of spiritual pride. Which would reset all my achievements, and I wouldn't be at level 21 now.

After leaving the incarnation, when I found out about this, connecting with my main part of the Light and talking with Heavenly Father (he showed me all the options for my life), with all my Soul and with spiritual tears I thanked Him for this mercy that He sent me in connection with deprivation of physical movement. Deprivation of physical movements helped me significantly increase my spiritual level: from the eighth level, from which I incarnated, I went to the 21st.

Timecode: 36:54, #483 Live broadcast with the Spirit of Matrona of Moscow.

Disembodied Spirit of the Holy Venerable Matrona of Moscow.

August, 2022

November 25, 2023

Archangel Gabriel on reacting to negativity and forgiveness

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/arhangel-gavriil-o-reakcii-na-negativ-i-proshcheni

It is necessary to respond with gratitude to the negativity of others. If you react to this negativity, it means that it shows you that there are some hidden blocks in your heart, resentments, irritations, fears that you have not worked through. With thanks. Thank this person mentally or out loud for the lesson. He is your teacher, and he was sent to you for a reason.

And, if you feel any anger, irritation and resentment, thank him for the lesson, for seeing this, because you are more interested in raising your vibrations than he is, and he helped you identify this. Whoever said something negative to you in words is not only your spiritual master, he is your spiritual doctor. He shows you your spiritual illness. And you, having thanked him, if you managed to say something in anger or irritation, ask for forgiveness.

The Russian word “forgiveness” is energetically saturated. Its true meaning is simplification. Forgiveness is leading to a simpler attitude - Love. To forgive means to simplify the relationship, to fill them with Love. Then, when you have reconciled with this person, and this must be done, if indignation has been caused in your heart. You are looking for the reasons why such an emotion worked in you. You ask this emotion: “What are you protecting me from? What is dangerous in these words that were said to me? And then you work with this block.

Timecode: 57:57, #486 Live broadcast with the main curator of the project - Archangel Gabriel (Mirah Count).

Mirakh Count (Archangel Gabriel) - representative of the planet

Burkhad, sociopsychologist, political scientist, specialist in the construction of religious egregors in worlds where young civilizations exist, curator of the egregor “Cassiopeia”, keeper of the Christian egregor.

August, 2022

November 28, 2023

"Technologies" of plasmoid civilizations. Features of plasmoid worlds. Moving Plasmoids

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/tekhnologii-plazmoidnyh-civilizacij-osobennosti-pl

Plasmoids can build themselves projections of spaceships, various cities, houses and other structures, but all this is in a subtle material sense, that is, they create forms that are familiar to themselves. Not all plasmoids do this. There are those who do not create any cities. They simply live in a space of Light or energetic vibrations. There are (those) who create for themselves mentally houses, palaces in a subtle material design. Usually these are those Spirits who have had many incarnations in humanoid worlds, and now project this experience onto their stay in plasmoid worlds. Usually they do not remember humanoid incarnations, but their subconscious desire to stay in such dwellings or in spaceships prompts them to create energy forms that are familiar to them.

The flight of plasmoids is different from the movement of humanoids. Since they consist of energy, there is no need to protect this energy body from cosmic radiation, because they feed on this radiation, unlike dense material bodies. There is no need to consume dense food products, water, or oxygen. They have a completely different form of life. A thin-material body does not require the creation of dense-material devices.

As for the subtle-material worlds in which ships of subtle-material energy form are created, they do not need them to move. They may perceive this not as a necessity, but as a more familiar movement through space. Many of the plasmoid civilizations believe that without a thin-material ship, movement is not as effective. They come up with their own reasons to embody the thought forms that arose in them during their stay in the dense material world. These are, one might say, their habits.

Plasmoids do not need any technical means in understanding the dense material world for movement, for life, for construction. All this already exists in their subtle-material body, in the subtle-material world in the form of energy.

Timecode: 10:44, #43 Skype conference of contactee Irina Podzorova with ufologist Maxim Bronevsky (part 4).

Raom Tiyan - representative of the planet Burhad, specialist in energy interactions in the environment;

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, specialist in alien life forms.

February 2020

November 30, 2023

The spirit of Sigmund Freud on the meaning of religion

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/duh-zigmunda-frejda-o-smysle-religii

At the present moment of my internal subjective time, in which I am now, my attitude towards religion as a social institution has changed for the better. I have already said that I previously saw behind all religious books some kind of sublimation of certain hidden desires. Or even hypocrisy, an attempt to cover up some of your base needs with the high meaning of serving God.

Currently, I believe that every person, even if he is in some kind of religion, in any case has a choice whether to develop in the religion where he is. Development (if we take Christianity) does not imply only knowledge of all rituals. It involves inner work if a person takes it seriously. If this is not just a game for him, but the work of his whole life, like science was for me.

There are many scientists who simply play with science. They are not passionate about science, but simply for the sake of achieving some benefits, they write various books and steal ideas from each other. This was then and is common now. They are not interested in the subject of research itself, they are interested in the prizes and regalia, and a certain position in society that this scientific degree gives. There are such people in science, and in politics, and in religion, as in any public institution, there are such hypocrites who are obsessed with what in ancient Christian texts (as in the Gospel) is called “possession by demons.”

From a psychological perspective, this is a special complex. What are demons? This is a special complex that lives in a person’s brain, which makes him strive for power, influence, and love of money in any way. And religion is no exception. But a person’s choice does not discredit religion itself, just as the presence of the scientists I just talked about does not discredit science itself.

Religion, a religious social institution, is impossible without those religious teachings, books, their interpretations and certain oral traditions, oral traditions that underlie this social institution. Therefore, if a person takes this seriously, he begins not only to read what is written in these books, but strives to fulfill it, to live according to them. If we take Christianity, then a person begins to live according to the commandments of Christ.

The very word “Christianity”. The name of any religion contains the supreme being whom they worship, whom they consider to be God, the supreme being. If Christianity, then this is Christ. This is not a patriarch, not the Pope, we don't call it papism or patriarchism, we call it Christianity . This means that the highest being in this religion is Christ, and if this is the highest being, then he has the highest religious authority for the believer.

If this is the highest religious authority, his spiritual advice, his spiritual commandments, a person begins not only to read, but also to apply them in his inner spiritual life. Not only in relation to others, in order to educate others how they should behave, but in relation to oneself, then this has the positive meaning of religion for this particular person.

And if he uses religion in order to achieve some of his goals that are far from what was commanded by the founder of this religion, the highest being of this religion, then this has a negative effect on the person. But not religion itself, but his understanding of religion.

Timecode: 46:20, #474 Communicating with the Spirit of Sigmund Freud: a look at psychology from the Spiritual World. True freedom of the Spirit.

The spirit of Sigmund Freud (Freud).

July 2022

December 2, 2023

Breath of the Universe

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/dyhanie-vselennoj

The Universe has its own breathing rhythm, it is called the breath of the Universe. In Hindu legends this is referred to as the breath of Brahma. The breath of Brahma, through which millions of worlds inhale and exhale. Brahma is understood here as the first matter from which, through the work of many plasmoids, denser worlds, including the physical one, were formed.

The breathing rhythm of the Universe constitutes entire epochs, or as they say on Earth - manvantara, into which the Spirit incarnates. And here, when we pay attention to the breathing of our body, we be sure to remember that our body is a small microanalogue of the Universe, that is, a microcosm, this is an analogue of the macrocosm.

Therefore, we remember that in our body there also exist millions of worlds, millions of planets, galaxies, only we call them cells and organs.

And just as God fills the Universe with his energy, so our Spirit fills this body with its consciousness. When we breathe, we always remember about the spiritual component, about the fact that we inhale not only oxygen, but also energy. Plus also the oxygen, nitrogen and other gases that we inhale, they also consist of energy.

In any case, we breathe in divine energies. Every breath we take is a divine gift for life in this body and for us to do good, create our future in the light of Love.

Timecode: 1:07:49, #441 BREATH of the Universe for healing the Soul and body. PRANAYAMA technique. How to awaken the consciousness of the Spirit?

MidgasKaus is a representative of the planet Esler, biologist, psychologist, microbiologist, specialist in alien life forms.

April 2022

December 5, 2023

Sigmund Freud's Spirit's Wishes for Psychologists

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/pozhelanie-duha-zigmunda-frejda-psihologam

Dear friends, I thank you all for working with people! I know from myself that this work is very difficult. It is associated with great nervous tension. Please remember about yourself, pay more attention to communication with your Soul, mental, physical and mental relaxation, rest. Remember that rest is also part of work, as part of your work process. Be sure to spend time with your families, your wives and children, and not just your patients, because the most important test of what you know in psychology awaits you in your family. Especially when communicating with children. And always look into the eyes of your children, into the eyes of your wife with an open, honest look. Also look into the eyes of your work colleagues and your patients. You have nothing to hide, you are part of this Universe, part of God, who knows everything about you.

And never be afraid of criticism. Don't run away from those people who express negative opinions about you. Always be able to consider in this criticism, discarding the person’s negative emotions, what positive things he wants to convey to you. Any critic is your teacher, sent by God so that you can become more perfect. Perfection is as infinite as Love. Therefore, even very high personalities, very high Spirits have many critics. Of course, you are not obligated to become what the critic wants, but it is not he who needs this (to change for the better), but you yourself.

I wish you good luck in your personal life and in your work. So that you all finish your incarnation better than I did. I am sure that you will succeed, because you now already feel in your heart that spiritual Light that I closed from myself in my life.

Timecode: 57:02, #474 Communicating with the Spirit of Sigmund Freud: a look at psychology from the Spiritual World. True freedom of the Spirit.

The spirit of Sigmund Freud (Freud).

July 2022

December 6, 2023

The influence of the wedding ceremony on the energies of the spouses. Connection of Souls. Exchange of rings

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vliyanie-obryada-venchaniya-na-ehnergii-suprugov

Wedding is a sacrament that is designed to invoke the energy of the Holy Spirit, i.e. a blessing for a lifetime that two loved ones will spend together. How does this affect you energetically? In any case, these two Spirits who have fallen in love with each other are given strength and energy so that they can love each other more, i.e. be loyal to each other, tolerate each other's shortcomings, do not judge, forgive. This power will be given to them to the extent that they are able to perceive it. Naturally, it is initially given by God to everyone, but here it is further intensified by the energy of the Christian egregor itself, which has gathered together the energies of all believers. This is a request for energy from the Christian egregor.

Do Souls Connect Forever? This does not happen because everyone knows that even the church is not against multiple spouses. The Apostle Paul wrote about this that “in the event of the death of one of the spouses, the remaining spouse has every right to get married or be married in the Lord ,” which means to get married again. But this does not mean that after the death of all their bodies, the three of them will live there, and they will have a triple family. Which Souls will remain with each other and which will separate - this depends on many factors. It depends on how they live their lives, what kind of relationships they will have with each other, on what spiritual level they will be - close or not, and on many other things, including the task that they will need to go through already in life. next incarnation. They may or may not incarnate together in the next incarnation - this depends on many reasons, and it is not necessary that they will be together at the wedding.

Possibility of marrying couples from different religious beliefs

If people of different Christian denominations get married, this does not in any way affect the sacrament of the wedding itself. All the same, two Souls unite, they truly love each other, since they came to this wedding. The only thing is that not all Christian priests can marry believers of different denominations, because due to the fact that the understanding of Christ of salvation is different in different denominations, they can refuse to marry in the church, especially if the denominations are very different.

For example, if an Orthodox and a Catholic are still married, such practices have already happened, then an Orthodox and a Jehovah's Witness are unlikely to marry, because the Orthodox priest will then have a question for the Jehovah's Witness: "How did you come to get married in the Orthodox Church if your faith does not allow you do this? Because Jehovah's Witnesses have a rather strict system of how to conduct the sacrament of marriage, and it does not involve a wedding in the Orthodox Church, i.e. These are different, very different Christian movements, and therefore any priest assumes the seriousness of faith in any parishioner, because he himself seriously believes. If he finds out that one of them is a Jehovah's Witness, he will be, to put it mildly, surprised that he came to get married in an Orthodox church, and he will have a natural question for him: "Shouldn't you convert to Orthodoxy, since you recognize our wedding?"

The ritual of exchanging rings between the newlyweds

This is symbolism based on the traditions of the country, the area of residence where the Christian Church exists. The ring is a symbol of life together, because the ring itself is like a circle, a sphere - this has always signified the power of sunlight. It was usually made from metals like gold and silver, which were dedicated to the Sun and Moon, etc. it is round in shape, it denotes the power of these luminaries, their energy. The symbolism of the rings denoted the power of life, because the Sun and Moon give strength and energy. The exchange of these rings meant an exchange - people trust each other with their lives - it is like a form of asking their partner for trust and showing their feelings in return.

Timecode: 40:53, #63 Archangel Michael. Answers to questions in the VK group on the topic of Christianity (part 2).

Archangel Michael is a representative of the Christian spiritual egregor, the patron and curator of the Earth in the Spiritual world, one of the Higher Hierarchs of Light.

April 2020

December 7, 2023

"The Last Judgment" - the discovery of the truth about life in the incarnation

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/strashnyj-sud-otkrytie-istiny-o-zhizni-v-voploshch

“The Book of Life”, “The Last Judgment” after death, the ordeal of the Soul - these are all understandable images for believers of the Christian denomination, which depict the analysis of their own life by the Spirit. This happens in union with mentors in the presence of God in the form that this Spirit is able to perceive. Contact with God after separation from the material body and breaking the connection with it occurs for absolutely all Spirits, no matter what level they are at, but each Spirit perceives this contact in the way that it is capable of perceiving it. And his mentors are next to him at this moment.

It is called “judgment” because there is an analysis of all the details of life in the body that he has done. There is an analysis not just of what he did, but of the reasons that led him to certain actions, and shows the consequences of these actions for himself and for the people around him.

“Court” is the concept of a Christian egregor. If you look at what is happening there, it cannot be called an earthly court: there is no accused, accuser, sentence, there is an analysis of what is, what happened, and what it led to. And they always give advice, i.e. after contact with God, the Spirit remains aware of what happened, and mentors help him figure out how, with the help of what incarnations, under what conditions, he can increase his level of awareness, the level of his vibrations and come to love for God, no matter what he was not level.

Mentors explain to him only if he asks them about it. If he doesn’t ask about this, doesn’t address it, but simply after contact with God, after this analysis, he doesn’t ask anything, he simply goes to the level that he reached during his life, and there he reflects on everything that was said, remembers again, again and again own life. This happens until he decides to incarnate again for various reasons, depending on his desires, aspirations, etc. Only then does he go again to the consultants of the Spiritual world, the Angels in your understanding, and together with him, taking into account the trial, the analysis that took place, they select the conditions for his incarnation. A lot of points are taken into account, including, as MidgasKaus has already told you, astrological, numerological characteristics for calculation by the specialists who are involved in this, so that they recognize who has incarnated.

Freeing itself from the body, leaving it forever, the Spirit finds itself in the Spiritual world, where everything is permeated with Light, and it naturally perceives it depending on the frequency and purity of its vibrations. The purer he is, the brighter he is, the closer he is to God in his inner qualities, the happier he is. And, conversely, what is called hell if he has developed low vibrations in himself, i.e. vices, vicious feelings and desires. All this is just the first reason. The second reason for hell may be that a person who is accustomed to fulfilling the passionate desires of his physical body and, receiving pleasure from them, receiving pleasure from them through the body, loses this opportunity, naturally, after losing the body, and the desires and passions themselves receive them remained. This already brings suffering due to the inability to satisfy this desire - this is also a kind of hell, and he did not learn to receive the love of God, to receive pleasure in any other way on Earth. This alone can create additional suffering.

The spirit, when it is in the Spiritual world, goes through what you call the “Last Judgment.” Why is it called “scary” for many of you? Because there the whole truth about your life and the consequences that this life has brought for you and your loved ones, or not so close people, is revealed. Many Spirits, when they see this truth, begin to regret what they did, but they understand that it is no longer possible to return to that life and live it differently, it has already passed. Now in the next life he needs to think about how to correct it, how to develop in himself those qualities that he did not develop in this life, especially if the Spirit spent this life acquiring some kind of material pleasures, and not on the growth of spiritual qualities. He understands that everything material has been taken away from him, even his body, but he didn’t have time to do anything, and this also causes additional suffering, and this is collectively called hell.

Timecode: 07:07, 38:22 #63 Archangel Michael. Answers to questions in the VK group on the topic of Christianity (part 2).

Archangel Michael is a representative of the Christian spiritual egregor, the patron and curator of the Earth in the Spiritual world, one of the Higher Hierarchs of Light.

April 2020

December 9, 2023

Totalitarianism as a reaction of the instinctive part of the soul to changes, to other paradigms of its existence

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/totalitarizm-kak-reakciya-instinktivnoj-chasti-dus

As one of the participants in the formation of that same Christian egregor from the very beginning of its formation until today, I cannot help but note the fact that totalitarianism is a reaction of society not to Christianity itself, but it is a reaction, one might say in esoteric language, of the instinctive part of their souls , what in Christianity is called the sinful nature of man, to collide with a completely different paradigm of his existence, which can be simply called “in the light of God.”

The whole point is that human consciousness is inert in its essence. What is inert? This means the mind of a person (through the brain), who from childhood, being brought up in one or another environment, absorbs and accepts the norms of behavior that exist around him. And he accepts them as true norms - for how to act. If he sees an example around him of everything that is happening, he sees an example in his family, he sees an example among his friends, and so on, then he accepts these very ideas as truth. And later, when he comes across the ideas that there should be freedom in the world, but for this freedom there should also be responsibility in the world to oneself, to society, to God, he begins to struggle, because a contradiction arises between what he considers truth and new ideas to be light.

Because of the human instinct of self-preservation, it is much more convenient to remain in previous positions than to change them to new ones, because he is already accustomed to the old ones. This is his habit. To change it to a new one, you need some courage, you need to step over yourself, over your beliefs, sometimes, and very often, over the norms of the society that continues to live in old concepts.

That is, you need to somehow step over your instinct of self-preservation, which naturally causes fear of change, and become a new person or, as the Apostle Paul correctly put it, “a new creation in Christ.” It is for this reason that totalitarianism became a reaction to Christianity.

But the whole point is that when there was no Christianity, there were polytheistic religions of various kinds - animism, totemism, shamanism, various more or less formalized religious cults with priests, for example. This did not save the people from totalitarianism, because, in any case, there was a slave system, there were wars, there was the destruction of dissidents, including Christians, by the forces of the Roman Empire, which continued to remain in its faith. This is one of the properties of human nature, which meets with aggressive suppression those new ideas that can change a person.

02:00, #107 How to overcome the animal nature during the period of spiritual growth. The practice of connecting with the Higher Self.

Mirakh Count (Archangel Gabriel) is a representative of the planet Burkhad, the guardian of the Christian egregor.

July 2020

December 12, 2023

Explanations of the Beatitudes of the Sermon on the Mount https://blog.cassiopeia.center/poyasneniya-zapovedej-blazhenstva-nagornoj-propove

The Sermon on the Mount begins with the so-called “ Nine Beatitudes .” The word “bliss” - this is how it was already translated into Russian; its translation from Greek means happiness. In other words, these instructions can be called the Commandments of Happiness. They talk about the stages of the spiritual path that every person needs to go through. That is, where does such a spiritual path begin and what paths does it take through the material world in order to get to the spiritual one.

The first commandment of them sounds like this:

> "Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."

Well, how can one who is poor in Spirit and still be blessed? We all strive for the richness of the Spirit, trying to enrich ourselves as much as possible. And then suddenly, in the very first commandment, it immediately says that blessed are the poor in the Spirit. Then what's the point?

It says here that until a person desires to find the Spirit within himself, to gain understanding and a sense of its immortality, to realize that he belongs to God, and he will not desire this as much as a beggar who only thinks about how would become rich, then he is not blessed. And bliss begins with the fact that a person begins to search for his spiritual path. That is, just as a beggar is looking for money, how much energy and time he spends on it, so a person who is looking for spirituality directs all his efforts in searching for the Spirit. In other words, blessed is the one who seeks spirituality and asks it from God, just like a beggar asks for money in order to survive.

This commandment speaks of the beginning of a spiritual path, because all spiritual seekers, esotericists and fans of various religious systems, in any case, began with the understanding that for complete happiness, only material wealth was not enough for them. Taking this path, they realized that they were missing something. How? A beggar, for example, realizes that he does not have enough money. But spiritual seekers understand that the entire material world is not able to satisfy their spiritual hunger, so they begin to search, spend their time and energy praying to God, studying their soul and looking for their spark, from which, later, a flame will ignite.

And further, there is a continuation - blessed are the poor in the Spirit, for theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven. Why is it theirs ? Because it talks about what the end of their quest will be if they go to the end.

What is the Kingdom of Heaven? These are the highest areas of the spiritual world, where the highest Angels, Archangels exist, where only Light, Love, Good exist, everyone feels each other, understands their thoughts, thus becoming for each other, as if, an open book.

The second commandment sounds a little scary to some because it goes like this:

“Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted.”

The words of this commandment, for some, sound a little frightening, since it seems, well, how can those who cry be blessed? Are those who cry “happy” ? At first glance, this doesn’t even sound very reassuring, right?

Now remember, here we are talking about the second stage of the spiritual path, which came after the search for spirituality. The man found something, he found a source of Light in himself, he began to reconsider his entire life, all his actions, but from the position of the Spirit. It was as if he suddenly took the side of God and began to look at himself through His eyes, that is, to analyze himself with the help of thoughts coming from the Divine Plan of Reality. As soon as he begins to look at himself through the eyes of God, he immediately notices that he did not always act as his conscience told him, or as Love showed him.

Each of us has a certain ray of love inside us , which is called conscience. It is he who always shows us how to act in order to come to something sublime, to the highest spiritual reality and become enlightened, in the literal sense of the word - a saint.

In any religion, there are so-called commandments that prescribe certain behavior for people and prohibit the opposite, negative behavior, so that a person does not leave the higher spiritual world for the lower one and become the opposite of God. And when a person begins to consider himself from a position of love and begins to ask: “Have I always acted as Love told me?”

Then those images and situations appear before his spiritual gaze when he behaved not at all in the way that unconditional love prescribes. And then, usually the person cries. This is already the second stage of the spiritual Path. It may follow immediately after the first, or years may pass between them. It depends on the individual person, on whether he will work on himself, trying to change himself, or whether he will leave his true self and direct all his energy outward, to expose the negative and change others. This also happens. After all, it is easier to change others. That is, this is also a stage of ascension in the Spirit. Each commandment means the next step.

The blessed weeper is understood in the sense that if he cries, then he begins to realize, for example, how much pain he brought to his loved ones, or how much he did not love himself, people or God. And after that he has regret. Where does it come from? Regret is not a feeling of guilt, in the sense that "everything is my fault and nothing can be fixed . " No. Although such a person still reproaches himself for some bad deeds, this feeling is full of hope for correction of the situation, for its change, and therefore for the love of God, which accepts and forgives even the least sinner.

The commandment continues: blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted . Through tears, their blocks, internal psychological, energy blocks, come out. This means that through tears, their internal psychological and energy blocks come out and thus the process of cleansing the Soul occurs, which, like a body, after bathing in water, washed with tears, is cleansed, renewed, and comforted.

Third commandment.

> "Blessed are the meek, for they will inherit the earth."

This is in Russian, and if you look at the English original, there will be a word that translates as affectionate, soft, good-natured, gentle . That is, they are blessed. That is, when a person was cleansed, his spiritual heart became softer. It is condescending to everyone, it does not condemn anyone.

A person begins to talk kindly to everyone, begins to do good to everyone. And suddenly it says, blessed are the meek, for they will inherit the earth . It would seem that all our material experience suggests the opposite. Because many people have experienced that the more you do good to people, the more tenderness you show towards them, the less inheritance you may have left. For obvious reasons: strong, daring people take more for themselves. They begin to see that the person is kind, affectionate, and gentle, and they begin to take advantage of his kindness. Many have gone through this experience, it is such a difficult experience. Both for the one who is used and for the one who uses it, this can be such a karmic knot.

There needs to be forgiveness and awareness and taking responsibility, there is a lot that needs to be done. And here suddenly it says " he will inherit the earth ." What is land? This is not a piece of land where a person will live. The word " earth " in the Gospel usually means an image of the material world. " Inherits " means "receives an inheritance."

Who receives the inheritance from the testator? The heirs are usually children. This was the case in ancient Israel, in ancient Greece, and in ancient Rome. In ancient Rome there was a law on inheritance at the time these commandments were written. Who owns the earth and the entire material world? Naturally, to the Creator. And why does he inherit the earth? Because people who have gone through the previous stages, they already feel like children of God. And since he is a child, that means he is an heir. What does this mean in a practical sense?

In a practical sense, this means that such a person experiences the entire material world as a gift from God, as his inheritance. After all, the inheritance in itself is not earned by a person, it is a gift to him from his parents. That is, he begins to perceive all material energies, his body, everything around him, his finances, all these trees, grass, sea, sun, all the elements as gifts from God, as gifts from his father, whom God gave him for joy. This means that he begins to be content with them, begins to thank God. And naturally he becomes a conscious heir. This means he manages his inheritance in such a way that it multiplies and purifies.

That is, he did not just come to this material world to use it and leave, leaving some dirt for his descendants. He begins to be a very prudent and economic manager of this inheritance. At the same time thanking God for him. It is clear what stage of the spiritual path and care for the material world. How does a person behave who feels like the heir to everything around him? He will not consider some territory, for example, intended to cause some harm there. That is, he will treat all of nature as his beautiful garden, look after every plant, every animal, he will love them, will take care of them, will remember the purpose of this biosphere.

Jesus always spoke in a language that the people could understand.

4. The next commandment is:

> "Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness, for they shall be satisfied."

To hunger comes to us from Church Slavonic, and it means to starve. Hunger is hunger. That is, here Jesus is talking about our primary needs, such as food and water. When a person experiences hunger and thirst, his thoughts constantly return to this topic.

It's just that those who are thirsty and hungry cannot be blessed, that is, happy in the spiritual sense, because all people experience this. So, something else is being said here. And here we see our truth.

If we take it apart, the original, which was written in Greek, we see the word " righteousness ." Righteousness is precisely living according to the commandments. This is life according to the commandments and not out of fear of punishment from God, but out of love for Him.

That is, they cannot live without it, they hunger and thirst for it. Here we are talking about the stage when a person strives to keep the commandments and avoids breaking them, just as a person strives to eat and drink and avoids hunger and thirst. Can you imagine such a person? That is, he constantly lives by this. We constantly eat and drink water. So this person constantly keeps the commandments.

And then there is such a promise, or a promise, as they say: for they will be satisfied . What will they get their fill of? This righteousness. That is, they will become righteous by constantly fulfilling the commandments. They will raise their vibrations and become on the level of the righteous, such righteous people. And righteousness, as you know, is already the constant fulfillment of the commandment. This is already half the way to holiness, that is, absolute enlightenment. When it doesn't even occur to a person to break something, he has a heart full of love.

As one contactee with Jesus also wrote, already in the 19th century: " The truth is one and it is everywhere ." If a person is full of love, he does not need any commandments.

5. The next commandment sounds like this.

> "Blessed are the merciful, for they will obtain mercy."

Mercy is also called mercy by another name. Mercy is more precise. The merciful are the merciful.

The Tsar usually issued a pardon. At the time when the criminal was being led to execution, he could be pardoned. Why could they pardon? Also out of compassion. Here we are talking about direct action, about canceling the action of a person's own karma. Here a righteous person ascends to the next level.

When his karma of past rebirths and this life begins to be nullified, that is, negative turns into positive, and they unite, they annihilate, and disappear. A person becomes completely clean from all the consequences of his actions.

Do you know how this is possible? Be merciful to everyone. This means having mercy even on those who are evil. That is, treat him with compassion. The word " mercy " itself in Greek sounds like "eleon"/"eleon"/"elion". If we read, the same word means olive oil .

Olive oil used to be used to lubricate wounds, dissolving various herbs in it, infusing various herbs on it, and treating wounds in the Mediterranean region of the Roman Empire. If a person is a sinner, he begins to sin somehow and does not follow the righteous path, because this righteous person who has already reached this stage can live completely next to him, completely with other people, with a completely different consciousness, with his own block. To those who have already worked through their blocks, the behavior of others already seems terrible. The same thing happens. Especially if his gaze is turned outside, and not inside the heart. He begins to watch how this one allowed something that I have not allowed myself for a long time... He begins to condemn. He takes the place of God, and punishes this person instead of God. Well, at least by condemnation.

Condemnation is negative energy directed against a specific person. But we must distinguish condemnation from criticism. Saying “he’s a liar” is judgmental. And if you say that this person is lying for the simple reason that he has certain arguments, this is criticism. This also needs to be distinguished. It’s also not worth turning a blind eye to some destructive actions of others. We just do it without judgment, with an understanding of why the person did it, and naturally, with a willingness to forgive. Understand that yes, he does this, but we forgive him because he acts as his soul tells him at this stage of development. This is how he hears his highest, this is how he hears his conscience or rejects it, this is natural for his level of development. We ourselves, either in this life or in past ones, could have been like this or even worse.

No one knows all their incarnations anymore, who they were, what levels they descended to. When we begin to condemn and say that this particular person is bad, and we are better than him, we begin to sink to his level, or even lower, because we take on the function of God.

Well, that is, it happens when a person, of course, is very emotional, and in a fit of his emotions he will say some kind of condemnation to another. But then he will immediately change his thoughts and forgive him. That's one thing. And it happens that a person holds a grudge in his heart for a long time, no longer in his emotions. This is vibration reduction.

That is, we understand that there are different situations here. But the next commandment speaks of the merciful. That is, when we see the shortcomings and sins of others, we clearly see that he is wrong. Somehow he says that in general this hurts us very painfully. Why, we ask, does he behave this way? But because his soul is sick, it is all covered with wounds from his past sins.

I (ed. Irina) like the words of the Apostle Peter, which are also in the Bible, where he compares the sinner with a very vivid image. He says a sinner is like a dog who licks a saw and gets drunk on the taste of his own blood . A very, very bright image. It is immediately clear what is being said here. That is, he does not notice how he hurts himself. Why does he get drunk from the taste of his own blood? Because the dog, of course, loves blood. And that's why she even drinks it and doesn't notice that she's harming herself. The sinner is also similar. That is, he damages his body, but intoxicated by temporary joy or his excitement from sin, he does not notice this pain that is present in him.

And when he begins to notice it, he does not want to heal his wounds, because he does not know how, or does not know how, or does not want, or is already used to doing this, and he begins to hurt others.

If we are not merciful to him, then in the form of this person, we begin with our tongue, for example, there, to say offensive words to him, or to write, or to say those words that hurt him even more. That is, we take the sword of our lips , there is an expression, and begin to chop with it. We begin to humiliate him, trying to make him understand his place and stop behaving like that.

Just as we don't want everything around us to be good, everyone to be kind, and we begin to force people to be the way we want, even if not everyone is ready. But this is not mercy, that is, we begin to wound, to inflict wounds even more. And what does his mercy do?

Here we see a wounded man, he screams in pain. And if we are merciful, we take ointment, and in ancient times we took olive oil and lubricated the wounds, soothed, lubricated. How can you lubricate mental wounds? Naturally, only with love. That is, we begin to tell him that everything is fine, we will now understand what he wants, we will try to do everything to make him feel good. That is, we tell him that we are safe for him, and we will do everything to help him. That is, we begin to lubricate these wounds.

It is necessary to understand that a relative or acquaintance is given to us as a spiritual teacher. That is, with his words he hooks us into those unprocessed blocks that we still have. If they are worked out, then any of his offensive words will not cause us pain.

Is it clear who the merciful ones are? They have mercy on everyone as much as possible and smear them with the “butter,” so to speak, of their love. And they will be pardoned . They will be pardoned by God, which means they will be given mercy and transferred to the next level. That is, increasing their spiritual level.

6. The next commandment sounds like this.

“Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God.”

Why should the heart be pure? From everything from which it was cleared by all the previous commandments. Here we see that at this stage a person is already clearing his heart of the last negative blocks of feelings and desires that are incompatible with love. And in a pure heart there is nothing but divine love, as well as other positive feelings associated with it: faith, hope, happiness, and so on.

Why is he blessed? Because it says, blessed are those with a pure heart, for they will see God . To see God means to see God is bliss. Why is this bliss?

Because when a person sees God with spiritual eyes, he will see a huge spiritual Being and see himself in His composition, in His energy. And he realizes his unity with Him.

God is absolutely happy, which means he will also become absolutely happy. What is absolute, unconditional happiness? This is when a person’s happiness is not temporary joy, which depends on what makes us happy in life, and when this passes, sadness sets in; this is happiness, a state of consciousness that never subsides while a person is at this level. That is, a person is happy, in complete acceptance and filled with positive emotions, because positive feelings give rise to positive emotions. He who sees God will see Him everywhere. But the one who does not see God in himself does not see Him anywhere, no matter how many books he reads.

7. The next commandment sounds like this.

“Blessed are the peacemakers, for they will be called Sons of God."

This is the one who tries on those at war, the one who does not take sides, but tries to consider any dispute as objectively as possible. That is, this is already the level of spiritual teachers who come to resolve disputes of various kinds, both family and even interstate, because it happened that saints and enlightened people in ancient Rus' tried on warring princes and ancient politicians among themselves. They encouraged them to see each other as brothers, not enemies.

Such people, it is said, will be called sons of God , because they will create peace, just as God gives peace to the people. That is, he calls for peace, and they begin to repeat after him. They not only feel like sons of God, they begin to become like God. That is, this is a naming, it means acquiring a name. The son looks like his father.

If a son is not like his father, he refuses some of his energy. And here the son begins to look more and more like his father. He begins to recognize him in himself, himself in him and consciously communicate with him.

8. Next commandment.

> "Blessed are those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."

Here is the same commandment as blessed are the poor in spirit. Theirs is also the Kingdom of Heaven . It happens that this peacemaker lives, and he begins to be light. And this light begins to be visible far away.

It happens that the people around him, who are still in darkness compared to him, that is, they are in the darkness of their delusions, in the darkness of their vices and their blocks, that is, they do not have such a bright light, they are at lower levels of spiritual development (light and darkness, of course, these are images for levels), they begin to understand that they also want to be such a conductor of light as this person, but they do not have the strength or desire to go through this entire spiritual path, starting with " blessed are the poor in spirit ... " and so on. After all, this path is quite difficult for many. Then they look at the person and he begins to irritate them, because the very presence of this person begins to awaken their own conscience. And they want to give it up. Then for this truth, for this righteousness, there is also the word righteousness, that is, for keeping all these commandments, a person simply begins to be persecuted.

Persecute, infringe on his rights, expel him, do not communicate. This can be expressed in different forms, at different times. At the time when Christ lived, this was strictly expressed, because then the laws were different. They could not only expel them, but also kill them, just as they killed Christ himself. And, by the way, they killed him precisely for telling the truth. He did not commit a single sinful act or crime before the law. That is, he did not commit exactly the crime for which he would have been subject to such an execution.

This means that he was not only expelled for the truth, but also killed for it, but he still did not refuse it. Why are they blessed? Because if a person does not submit to these circumstances and does not begin to take the side of those people whose stages he has already passed, if he does not give up God, does not give up his spiritual path, without condemning these people, he may even agree to leave, then he preserves the presence of God to himself because he has placed his complete trust in him.

He completely loves these people. And one who has complete trust and who is fully loving, he has no fear. Because, as John the Theologian said, perfect love casts out fear . That is, he completely loves, completely trusts, and there is no fear in him that these people will be able to do something to him and somehow deprive him of this happiness, they can deprive him of his body, they can deprive him of his incarnation... But no one can deprive him of his soul , as well as contact with God. You can only kill, execute, lock in prison, and so on. You can do something with the body, but it is impossible with the soul.

9. And one last thing:

> "Blessed are you (he is already addressing those present) when they revile you and persecute you and slander you in every way unjustly because of Me. Rejoice and be glad, for great is your reward in heaven: so they persecuted the prophets who were

Here again there is a continuation of the topic. That is, not just expelled for the truth , but here we are already talking about persecuting, blaspheming, insulting in every possible way, unjustly slandering for My sake . What is it to slander unjustly? Well, essentially it's slander. Slander God. Slander these people, that is, if they slander you.

There, “for me” you need to look “at you”... To slander Christ, it turns out, for “ for me ”. And they will slander you... These are not his words. They will slander you because of me. This means, for those ideas, for that faith, for the love that Christ showed towards them. Why did he say that?

He clearly saw the options for the future when he was at this time, including those that involved persecution of his students. And there were serious persecutions there. Only two of the 12 apostles died of natural causes.

That is, the Christian Church, this is our large religion, it began with a small sect, as a movement within Judaism. This sect was not recognized by anyone, neither by the state nor by other religions that existed at that time. She was constantly being pursued. Christians were commanded to worship only Christ and not other gods. For the Roman Empire, it was important that the emperor be recognized as God. So that they pray to him, make sacrifices to his statue, and so on. Christians could not do this. The emperor was an ordinary person for them. And they refused what was called idolatry. For this they were persecuted. That is, in essence, they were persecuted for Christ, for the truth.

Therefore, the commandment was given to “ rejoice and be glad .” That is, he consoled them in advance: “Don’t be sad, don’t be discouraged, don’t get angry in response to them, don’t be afraid and so on, but rejoice and be glad that you are being persecuted. For great is your reward in heaven . "

That is, he told them that even if you are poor, beggars here, you are persecuted in this world, why is there a reward in heaven? Because you already acquire this love of yours by the fact that you do not return evil for evil, you acquire the highest spiritual level, and this reward is the amount of light and divine energy that the spirit will acquire when it leaves incarnation. That is, this is the fulfillment of his task.

And further he adds, for this is how they persecuted the prophets who were before you . Who is he talking about? He talks about many prophets, well, mostly Jewish ones, of course, because this often happened in Judaism. Before Christ, there were ancient prophets who spoke with the kings of Israel, told them the truth from God, as contact with God, they conveyed the words of God, but they did not like them, they were expelled, even executed, and so on, and they still did not deviate from these words For example, this is the prophet Jeremiah, the prophet Ezekiel, who warned the ancient Israeli kings that they should turn away from their sins, begin to fulfill the commandments, reduce corruption, and so on.

There were many sins, that is, violation of the commandments given by Moses. Otherwise, they warned, if you sin, God will send against your people, that is, he will allow, he will send another nation against your people, and they will conquer you, and deprive you of your freedom, and you will be in captivity.

They said it this way, that means, to the kings, because this is the law of national karma, the egregor begins to lower its vibration, another people can attack it. These prophets warned their kings, and for this they were recognized as traitors, because they seemed to admit that another people would defeat them.

For this betrayal, they were... some were expelled outside the city, some were executed. That is, there were different circumstances. They were deprived of their property, put in prison, beaten... Despite this, what they said still came true. There were 70 years of Babylonian captivity. That is, in the end, the Babylonian army, the Chaldeans, attacked Israel and conquered Israel. They destroyed Jerusalem and took many into captivity. The rest were subject to tribute. All of Jerusalem was destroyed and the Temple of Jerusalem was burned. These words that the prophets spoke were fulfilled. But then it was already too late, because 70 years of captivity had already passed.

Then, nevertheless, those people who were captives of the Babylonian king, who captured their state, managed to become officials in this state and began to ask the Babylonian king now to return and rebuild their city. And he, seeing their good behavior, allowed them, because after all, what can't they be allowed if they behave correctly, if they don't threaten to attack or anything else. They said that we would rather pay tribute, but we would rebuild our city.

Video on the topic: #590 THE Beatitudes of the Sermon on the Mount as read by Irina Podzorova. Secrets of happiness from Christ.

July 2023

December 13, 2023

Are spiritual guides and Guardian Angels the same thing?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/duhovnye-nastavniki-i-angely-hraniteli

A mentor in the classical sense is one who instructs, usually giving instructions of a spiritual nature. Anyone can be a mentor. You yourself can be a mentor to someone else.

Any embodied Spirit, including a subtle-material entity, can also be your mentor in the broad sense of the word, even if it brings you some kind of negativity, some damage - in any case, it instructs you to harmonize, build your behavior and energy with its behavior in a way that raises yourself and your vibration.

If we speak according to the law of Light, according to the law of love, then any being you meet, embodied or non-incarnate, is your mentor, just as you are a mentor to another.

The Guardian Angel in this sense is also a mentor. But those consultants of the Spiritual world who are higher in level than the Guardian Angels are also his mentors, because it was to them that he came when he asked for incarnation, it was they who selected it for him. They helped him choose the conditions in which he was incarnated. It could be one, two, three, or several mentors. If we mean a consultant of the Spiritual world, then one consultant usually has several Souls that he instructs. But one Spirit can also have one mentor or several.

Consultants do not walk around like Guardian Angels in the astral world. They are always at that level, unless they themselves have incarnated, of course. If they have incarnated, and their ward still remains in incarnation, then the responsibilities for his guidance pass to the Spirit, also a consultant who knows him well. They usually exchange experiences with each other.

The Guardian Angel, naturally, will not go into incarnation, because he is assigned until the end of this incarnation, and he will not go into incarnation himself until the one he is protecting finishes the incarnation.

December 15, 2023

Sacrifices during the time of Moses. Ark of the Covenant https://blog.cassiopeia.center/zhertvoprinosheniya-vo-vremena-moiseya-kovcheg-zav

The formation of the new Jewish egregor took place in such religious conditions to which the people who came out of Egypt were accustomed. For 400 years, these people lived surrounded by many gods, many priests, so they created a form of religion that was familiar to their consciousness, but already brought with it new images, i.e. not many gods, but One God.

Yahweh was the leader of a group of scientists who shaped everything, like the captain of a ship, in your opinion, only he was more than a captain. He was the leader of a large group of scientists: it included the Tumesoutians, the Burkhadians, and several representatives of other planets. They passed on laws during the construction of the temple, during the construction of the Tabernacle of the Covenant, during the construction of the temple, drawings were handed down, etc., which corresponded to the concepts of these people, especially since the Ark of the Covenant itself was not just a golden box: it contained an instrument that helped Moses make contact.

The vibrations and structure of his physical body did not allow the chip to be physically installed in him, so he was given a device for communication. Moreover, at the time in which Moses lived, this was considered safe for him, because... how he formed a new religion. In order to hide the device from the attention of members of his society, they decided to make it an object of religious cult, which cannot be approached. First, they could break it, but that was unlikely. And, more likely, they could have been damaged by it themselves because it had different forms of electromagnetic energy, etc. This happened several times: the one who touched despite the prohibitions to do so died or became seriously ill. These cases are described, but this is a failure to comply with safety regulations.

As for the blood. I will say this in a few words, because the topic is extensive. Since ancient times, your religious cults have been characterized by animal and human sacrifices, i.e. human sacrifices. This happened for many reasons: one of the main ones is that when killing an animal or a person with reading certain religious texts, observing certain rituals, life force is released from their body at the moment of killing, as I have already said. At this moment, if this is precisely a religious murder, a ritual, then this vital force is directed to nourish some subtle-material civilizations, i.e. plasmoids.

Most often, polytheistic cults are associated specifically with plasmoid civilizations, because people tended to deify plasmoids in those distant times. By the word “plasmoid” I mean a subtle-material being, invisible to the eyes of the physical body of a person in your world. Therefore, all peoples of the Earth more or less developed sacrifices, because... Representatives of these peoples of the Earth had contact with plasmoids. Not all of them, but those of them who were called priests, shamans, in your words, contactees, and they received instructions from the plasmoids on how to feed them with energy.

They transmitted these instructions to the people as the will of the gods, and, naturally, they carried it out - this is how your ancient religions were formed. And when Judaism began to take shape, they naturally decided to abandon this form of animal sacrifice. Human sacrifices, naturally, were removed - this is the killing of a person, prohibited by the commandment - “Thou shalt not kill.”

They decided to keep animal sacrifices for three purposes. The first goal is to direct the energy of believers through their usual religious ritual to the formation of a new egregor. This is a great power of faith, as I said. The second goal is to leave the plasmoids the opportunity to feed on the energy of the vital force of animals for some time, because the plasmoids also helped them, shaping various events in life: weather conditions, etc., which were responsible for the elements of nature. We left them in contact with them, for now in such a mutually beneficial symbiosis, one might say.

The third goal is also important. Those priests of Judaism, who are called Levites, they also had their own wives, they had their own children. But because They spent all their free time maintaining the Ark, teaching people the Law of God, etc., then those sacrifices, those animals that were brought for sacrifices, they were also a source of food for the Levites and their families, as if providing food. This important detail was one of the reasons why Tumesout scholars abandoned these forms of religious services.

Timecode: 1:09:25, #62 Archangel Michael. Answers to questions in the VK group on the topic of Christianity (part 1)

Archangel Michael is a representative of the Christian spiritual egregor, the patron and curator of the Earth in the Spiritual world, one of the Higher Hierarchs of Light.

April 2020

December 18, 2023

Archangel Metatron about his work in the Spiritual world

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/arhangel-metatron-o-svoej-rabote-v-duhovnom-mire

If translated into Russian, my position is called – Head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Milky Way Galaxy, which deals with the incarnations of intelligent Spirits at all levels of density of all worlds in this Galaxy.

My job is that I arrange Councils with other Devas, that is, with the Archangels of the 24th level in the terminology of the Interstellar Union. Together with them, we consult on how to teach and how to correctly present to consultants, that is, Spirits from the 22nd level of the Spiritual World, how many Spirits need to be embodied in a particular world, what events they can live there, what vibrations they can change and what their life complete tasks. I have a multidimensional consciousness that covers the tasks of many Worlds, many generations, many ancestral egregors, religious egregors, egregors of planets.

The Angel who is under my direction, that is, who is in charge of the Milky Way Galaxy, does nothing without consulting me or without informing me within the limits of his competence. As I already said, this applies mainly to Consulting Angels from level 22, also to Guide Angels (from level 21), to Guardian Angels (from level 18), who are directly involved in the supervision of embodied Spirits both humanoid and plasmoid. Plasmoids can also have curators from the Spiritual World.

Archangel Metatron about God

I am a Spirit, in your terminology, from the 24th level of the Spiritual world. This is the level when the consciousness of the Spirit merges with the will of God, merges with the mind of God, I feel His information, which you call secret, just like my memory. That is, I read His thoughts as if in my memory, like an open book.

Of course, there are those things that only He knows. It is in His spiritual heart. God, as a Spirit, also has a spiritual heart and memory. When you merge in consciousness with His Spirit, you merge in your memory with His, that is, you gain access to information, but only to that which is His will.

I saw the Face of God in the Spiritual world at the level of perception of His energies, because He is the Spirit, and He can take on any image. This Face looks like the face of a man (shows), quite young, by the way, which, if viewed from the Earth, occupies the entire sky. His eyes are like huge hollows, approximately blue. You can see the Face throughout the Galaxy, for example, but it will only be a projection. You can simply communicate with the Light, because any Face is an image that takes on that part of His energies (Divine energies) that is allocated by it for communication with its part or, as you say, with its child.

You can see Him with your spiritual eyes, with the eyes of your spiritual heart. Physically one can see only those His energies that are at the physical level of manifestation in Divine reality.

Timecode: 06:30, #446 Live broadcast with Archangel Metatron. Part 1.

Archangel Metatron – Head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Milky Way Galaxy, Hierarch of the Spiritual World;

May, 2022

December 19, 2023

Spelling reform with the prefix “bes”

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/reforma-orfografii-s-pristavkoj-bes

The change in this prefix from a voiced consonant to a voiceless one causes some people to associate it with an evil Spirit. If people believe that this lowers their vibrations, that is, it calls on evil Spirits, then indeed, as you remember, faith attracts certain events or certain spiritual entities. Lunacharsky and Lenin (in general there was a meeting of about 20 people) decided to change this prefix not because they did not believe in spiritual entities. They considered that this corresponded to the rules of the Russian language, and the previous prefix “without” was given because of superstition.

They called belief in evil spiritual beings superstition. And due to the fight against these superstitions, which, in their opinion, stopped the development of society in the right direction, the prefix was changed. This reason is read at the egregor level.

If you do not attach meaning to this prefix as a separate word, it will be neutral. And if you add it, it means it won’t be neutral.

They believed that this would distract a person from understanding the word “demons.”

Timecode: 1:04:05, #450 Live broadcast with Archangel Metatron. Part 2.

Archangel Metatron is the Head of the Council of Hierarchs of the Milky Way Galaxy, Hierarch of the Spiritual World.

May, 2022

December 20, 2023

Sign about the black crow and tips from the Angels

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/primeta-o-chyornoj-vorone-i-podskazki-angelov

Behind each sign there are some specific symbols that were most likely passed down orally from generation to generation. Each one needs to look at what it meant in ancient times. Then people tend to convey experience, but they could forget the original meaning of some event, lose it in the process of transmission. Then it all turned into a bad sign.

For example, take a crow preening its wings. Where did this sign appear, and why is it about mortal danger? This is explained quite simply. This appeared around the time when Krishna lived. Maybe even a little earlier, in an era of very frequent wars. Especially in the middle zone, where the climate is like in Russia and there are a lot of crows. If there was a battle, a skirmish between small tribes, they killed a certain number of warriors. Someone was wounded and he also died. The winner did not bury the corpse of his enemy. There was no need to do this. He left it where it was. If it was a robbery, he would take a bag of coins or something else from him. If there was a girl with him, the winner took her with him. But the corpse remained. After 3-4 days, many crows flocked to this place to consume the food that was there.

They came from all over the area, there were quite a lot of them. Especially if there was a place with a lot of people. Crows have such a feature, which ancient people also noticed, that, having eaten, they fly a little to the side and begin to clean their feathers and put themselves in order. They flew away from the battlefield or from the place where robbers often attacked. This place could be invisible, for example, behind bushes. Crows could sit on the road and preen their feathers.

The walking traveler saw that the crow was preening its feathers, but could not have paid any attention to it. But this was a sign that there was a dangerous place nearby, where robbers attacked. Usually, robbers could come to the same place and hide in ambush. And the traveler also became a victim of robbers. And the crows were already flocking to him.

People noticed that if a crow was sitting, there might be an attack, but then this connection with the battle was lost. It remains that if a crow cleans its feathers, then this is a sign of mortal danger. The original connection with the event was lost. They simply said: “Son, if you see a crow preening its feathers, it’s better to turn to the side and go another way, further away. Or, in general, go back . " They said so, but they didn't mention why they needed to go back. A connection was formed.

Angels' Hints

It's always very individual. There may be a word in a book, a person will pay attention to it. There may be a set of numbers that have a certain meaning for him. For example, the time on the clock will be made up of identical numbers; an Angel can send a thought or desire to a person at that very moment to look at the clock. And so several times so that the person understands what this message is about, depending on the symbolism of the numbers. To decipher, it is better, of course, to ask the Higher Self.

If a person reads a book and watches a movie at the same time, it happens that he reads a word and at the same moment hears it on TV. This could be a clue; this is exactly the kind of event that the Angel could have set up.

Events can be sent by guardian angels, mentors and curators: humanoids, plasmoids, anyone. They can warn you about events. His Guardian Angel or Higher Self, who are in the Spiritual world, can show some negative branch of events and signs so that he does not do this, does not go there.

For example, the Angel or the Higher Self of a person knows that it is dangerous to sleep in a certain place or go there. They can show in a dream that a person is dying there, and if he does not go there, he will avoid it. Sometimes it happens unambiguously, sometimes it happens in the form of symbols. Depends on the individual perception of the person.

Sometimes the Higher Self shows through dreams some problems with the physical body. A person may constantly have the same dream several times a week. For example, he choked on a fish bone. The Higher Self hints at examining this area. A man is being examined and has a throat tumor.

If the Higher Self wishes to convey information, it will convey it to any person at any vibration level. How much a person hears and understands will depend on his level of awareness, desire, and courage. Some people just don't want to notice.

Timecode: 31:12, #354 Archangel Michael about Vedic astrology and the laws of the Spiritual world_Recommendations for astrologers.

Archangel Michael is the guardian of the Christian egregor, patron and curator of the Earth in the Spiritual world.

October, 2021

December 23, 2023

Dietary commandments of Judaism

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/zapovedi-iudaizma-otnosyashchiesya-k-pitaniyu

The commandment says not to boil a lamb “in the mother’s milk” - this was the energetic meaning, since each animal soul of a mammal charges its mother’s milk with energy suitable for her baby. This applies not only to animal souls, it also applies to intelligent Spirits who are embodied in the body of mammals. The subtle substance in milk is a subtle vital force, like a type of prana, which is most suitable in vibration for this child. This is laid down by plasmoids, nature, natural instincts.

If you cook a baby in mother's milk, then this meat acquires properties that are destructive to human energy, because mother's milk should nourish it, build its proteins. And when you heat it to a boil, it begins to denature the proteins, destroy its body. The energy that is in mother’s milk, on the contrary, strives to build, and an energetic contradiction occurs.

Such meat becomes harmful to energy, weakens the aura and vitality of the person himself. A person can use it, but he will need to spend part of his energy in order to later restore his energy, his vital etheric body. That is, it will take more energy to digest such meat, and it will give less strength. It was a purely energetic meaning, very similar to the commandment not to wear clothes made of two different materials.

There, too, there was an energetic meaning in mind. When clothes are made of the same material, the aura is more consistent. You, of course, will ask: why then did this not matter to other nations? Because the Jewish people and the religious egregor were at the stage of formation, energetically strong people were needed who could pass this on further, that is, all conditions were created so that people did not waste energy on some side things that could be avoided.

Abraham put food on the table for the Angels, that is, the messengers of God, accordingly, these were representatives of the planet Burhad, I want to say that since they do not have enzymes for digesting animal proteins, before consuming these products, they consumed special capsules, which contain these enzymes in the required quantities.

They take these capsules with them to those planets where animal protein is absorbed. This is just for such cases when you need, for example, to take part in a ritual dinner, and there they had not just a conversation, but in the form of a ritual dinner, a lot of important things were said about the Law, about fulfilling the Commandments and about the birth of children, and so on Further.

Eating meat with milk in itself does not cause energy harm if the person is healthy. But that prohibition about not consuming dairy and meat is based on the word specifically about goat and meat, there were further regulations there, but in any case it does not have such a meaning, and especially did not have such a meaning for Abraham, everyone his children. They could easily eat cheese and dried meat.

Some people, having read this commandment, believed that eating dairy and meat in general was harmful. This is very similar to how, for example, modern Orthodox priests or people recognized by the Holy Fathers, having read in the Bible that sorcerers will go to hell, prohibit extrasensory perception, that is, they say: “Psychics are also sorcerers,” since they are also something something they do there with their hands, something invisible, incomprehensible, which means they must go to hell. And that’s why hypnotists and sorcerers are prohibited - this is called a broad interpretation of a certain commandment, this is very common in all religions.

We treat this with understanding and respect, but in any case it will be better for your development if you pay attention to the very meaning of the words. Because if God wanted to give the commandment in an expanded sense, he would have said that dairy and meat are forbidden to be consumed together. And what is the point then of saying “do not boil a kid in its mother’s milk” if it is generally prohibited? If eating this is prohibited, then it would be easier to prohibit combining these products altogether, and then it would never even occur to anyone to cook anything.

The fact is that previously they boiled cubs in mother’s milk precisely because of the establishment of plasmoids, which liked the energy that is released at this moment, but it is not useful for humans. There are plasmoids that enjoy, feed on and enjoy the energy that is released when killing living beings. Plasmoids enjoyed the conflict of energies, others enjoyed it when an animal or person was killed, human sacrifices were very common among the nations surrounding Israel.

Why? Because it was believed that a person contains this energy more than an animal, he is more valuable and so on, and therefore they always naturally tried to give the most valuable things to God, they believed in him, in his help, they loved him, even such as Moloch. Naturally, they tried to give him the most valuable thing - their children. They even got to the point, as you know, that they didn’t just cut off the child’s head so that the energy would come out of him and be absorbed by the plasmoid, this was not enough for the plasmoid. They were already so fed up that they came up with the idea of lighting a fire inside the statue of Moloch, it became red-hot metal, and placing a living child in his arms. All this time, while he wriggled and fried there, the plasmoids rejoiced and absorbed his energy. There was such a custom, and by the way, it was also prohibited to the Israelis. That is, the Israelis at some point tried to repeat this custom, it seemed logical to them, this is God, and I gave him the most valuable thing, my child, this is how much he will give me in return, that is, some kind of trade resulted.

In the surrounding peoples there was even this: as soon as a goat or cow brought a baby after being milked for the first time, the baby was slaughtered, cut into pieces, boiled, then it was all distributed to everyone who was present in this ritual, and their energy also became weakened . And the animal that was left without a cub was waiting for him, it was attached to him, yearning. The animal soul also yearns. And these plasmoids also fed on the animal's melancholy, that is, there was a whole conveyor belt for transmitting such emotions.

But people also received certain things that this plasmoid could give, but only if, of course, the plasmoid wanted to fulfill this promise. Perhaps, on the contrary, he did not fulfill it in order to plunge the person into anger.

I want to once again tell the participants of the Jewish egregor that the mention of not boiling a kid in mother's milk, if there were a ban on not eating dairy with meat, it would be so meaningless if, for example, on one page they wrote "we forbid you to eat pork," but three chapters later or in another book it would have been written "we forbid you pork tongue and lard."

If it was written there, for example, "we forbid you pork meat, except for such and such parts," tongue, lard, and so on, this would be understandable, but if we first forbid you the whole pig, and then and additionally the language, then this is somehow strange.

The word "fish" does not actually describe all sea animals. There are indeed fish that have skin instead of scales, and they were prohibited, I will now explain. Some fish of the same species that were found in the Mediterranean Sea were dangerous because they had poisonous organs, and since these species were similar, people could get confused and poisoned.

The situation is similar with the pig and with all predatory animals. Predators were also prohibited as food, such as wolves, dogs, and so on. The pig was banned because it is an omnivore. This was mainly due to the high prevalence of trichinosis.

Since the climate was very hot, trichinosis did very well, these are small larvae in the muscles. To kill this infection, these parasites required two hours of treatment at boiling temperature. As you know, the contemporaries of Moses and even David cooked not with gas or electricity, but with fires; it was very difficult to cook this meat safely for two hours; you would have to store a lot of firewood. And if your curators allowed you to eat pork, but commanded you to cook it for two hours, then I assure you, no one would comply with this, and everyone would simply become infected. It greatly suppresses the immune system, causes allergic reactions, and reduces the ability to resist cancer. This was done mainly for the sake of public health.

Today meat is checked, but in ancient times everything was different, whoever kept the cattle ate it, and even now there are people who keep it for themselves, of course, they can inspect it themselves, but you know, you may not see everything, they happen hidden, usually visible to the naked eye if there is a strong infection, but you need a microscope to look at them, and not everything is taken to the laboratory. Some simply consume from their own backyard or simply sell to others, not from the meat market, but from the backyard; this, at least in Russia, is very common. They are also at risk.

If a Jew eats pork, this does not mean that he will not go to heaven. It is the hygiene ban that is based on physical health. I want to say that, for example, lard without streaks of meat is absolutely safe, that is, in terms of trichinosis, it can be eaten.

Why didn’t they tell you about lard then? I will also explain this that you can eat lard. Because Yahweh and all his Angels understood perfectly well that no one would keep pigs just for the sake of lard. Just to keep a pig for eight, nine months, a year, then slaughter it, cut off the fat from it, and give the rest to the dogs, no one would do that. Who would feed a pig grain and then throw it away? Either you ate it yourself, or you would sell it, spreading the infection. I repeat once again, then there were no such developed stores and markets as there are now; most were kept for themselves.

Timecode: 24:20, #299 Judaism. How did Moses receive the Torah? Who is Yahweh? Ten Commandments. Your God is my God.

Channeling

Mirakh Count - Archangel Gabriel - representative of the planet Burkhad, disciple of Jesus Christ, guardian of the Christian egregor.

July 2021

December 27, 2023

The term “Higher Self” in different teachings. Buddha's Conception of God

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/termin-vysshee-ya-v-raznyh-ucheniyah-predstavlenie

The Higher Self is a state of Spirit that has nothing to do with the material world. Something like the word “pralaya” or Adi-Buddha. This is like the original state of Buddha.

“Buddha nature” is the nature of Light, which is contained in the Higher Self. The Higher Self in various teachings is called “Supersoul”, “paramatma”, etc. In Christianity, the Higher Self can be called Christ, because in the Bible there is an expression: “Christ lives in you” , there is an expression “Holy Spirit” . They have an understanding of communication with the Holy Spirit, this is the person of God. They understand God as more anthropomorphic. Buddhism also has an understanding of God (some believe that Buddhism does not have it). It’s just that there he is presented not in the form of personality or mind, but in the form of Light, nature itself, one might say, enlightenment.

Naturally Buddha knew about God. To call him a person is already anthropomorphism; Buddha moved away from all anthropomorphisms, especially in spiritual things. He believed that this could tie the mind to a certain image and could interfere with eventual enlightenment. But, naturally, he did not condemn those who represent the Gods in some images of people. He believed that this is the experience and path of every person. This was his own experience of enlightenment - this was contact with the Light, dissolution in the Light. And the person with whom he communicated at that time was so superior to all earthly ideas about people, Gods, about whom he read and knew that he decided not to call it a separate word at all.

Every Buddhist who follows the path of spiritual development, as you call “dharma” - this is like righteousness, law, will come into contact with this person who created everything. And she not only created, but creates, constantly filling this world with energies. And enlightenment is contact with Him. And full understanding that you are He.

In Christianity it is said a little differently that children come to their Father in prayer. In Islam there is also a slightly different understanding that it was the Creator who created Souls. Hinduism is somewhat similar to Christianity, but there are many different movements. But the meaning is the same: there is a certain Spirit, a Mind that perceives, and a certain community from which it emerged and into which it goes.

In Christianity, the image of a father and child is closer, based on the image of a family. It was easy to explain, just as a father loves his child, so God loves his children, all of us. It was easy to explain this to people. Moreover, Christianity spread across different nationalities and different religions. Just as a father loves different children, so God loves all children as brothers and sisters. In Christianity there are expressions such as “brother” and “sister”. Therefore, you should not fight, you need to fulfill some commandments. This was necessary at that time.

The Buddha is increasingly moving towards abstract concepts. But this is not denied. You can imagine it this way. Both paths lead to the same result - to Love, the manifestation of this Love through the body and getting to the highest spiritual levels. There are only 24 of them according to the terminology of the Interstellar Union.

The path of Christianity, the path of Islam, Buddhism, Hinduism, if you sincerely fulfill the commandments of these religions from the bottom of your heart, do good, develop Love, do not descend in your vibrations (do not deviate from this path), then it will lead everyone to these levels.

I want to tell you that the leaders of different religious egregors on Earth are like Angels, Archangels in the Spiritual World not only know each other, but are also friends and help each other. They have the same goal.

Timecode: 1:13:26, #350 Buddha Consciousness_The Path to Shambhala_How to Achieve Enlightenment_ Simple techniques from Padmasambhava

Ptaah - a representative of the Sirius civilization, a specialist in Buddhist egregor, was incarnated on Earth in the body of a Buddhist sage - an enlightened personality (Padmasambhava), who brought Buddhism to Tibet, is on the ship of Ashtar Sheran (employee and friend of Ashtar Sheran).

October, 2021

January 2

The meaning of the word "Spirit" from a Buddhist point of view

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/znachenie-slova-duh-s-buddijskoj-tochki-zreniya

Spirit is that part of the Light that has realized itself as separate from it. The spirit of an individual person becomes aware of itself through self-awareness. There is such a Sanskrit term - “ahamkara”. This self-awareness is one of the energies of the Spirit, but it is not the Spirit itself. The spirit has this energy. He also possesses the energy of consciousness itself, energy that can be called “will and emotions.” The spirit also has a mind, has a so-called “spiritual heart,” that is, its own essence.

A spirit is a spiritual being, an entity in which there is nothing material, but which can change bodies by reincarnating. He can change the bodies of only intelligent beings, and not only dense material ones (humans and aliens) - he can be born on another planet. It can settle in bodies that consist of energies - “subtle bodies,” so-called. The contactee calls them "plasmoid civilizations."

“Civilization” is a very approximate term; rather, these are plasmoid worlds that are at a density level higher than physical ones. They are closer to the Spiritual world. Therefore, plasmoids are not perceptible to physical bodies. Their vibration frequency is greater than the capacity of the receptors for perception. Nevertheless, they exist, there are many varieties of them. Spirits, intelligent entities, can also be born in them.

The most correct translation of the word “Spirit” is an immortal spiritual essence, endowed with free will and consisting of the Love and mind of God, which united with each other and gave birth to consciousness in a single stream of Light. Moreover, this happened in the Spiritual world.

Our philosophers investigated the question: when did this happen (the moment of the birth of the Spirit)? Was he there during the existence of the material world? Because the material world has not always existed, it appears and disappears, it goes through a cycle. And from the point of view of the Spiritual world, this question is meaningless, because we can say that the Spirit appeared both a moment ago and several billion years ago. In the Spiritual world there is no time in the usual sense. The doctrine has become generally accepted that the Spirit was born before the creation (appearance) of the material world, because all Spirits saw the appearance of this material world.

At the same time, it is believed that Spirits arise continuously, because from the point of view of the Spiritual world they are simultaneously in the past, present and future. This is the entity that reincarnates in Buddhism and carries within itself individual qualities that distinguish it from other entities.

Timecode: 1:22:53, #350 Buddha Consciousness_The Path to Shambhala_How to Achieve Enlightenment_ Simple techniques from Padmasambhava

Ptaah - a representative of the Sirius civilization, a specialist in Buddhist egregor, was incarnated on Earth in the body of a Buddhist sage - an enlightened personality (Padmasambhava), who brought Buddhism to Tibet, is on the ship of Ashtar Sheran (employee and friend of Ashtar Sheran).

October, 2021

4 January

Our Lady of Sincere Forgiveness

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/bogorodica-ob-iskrennem-proshchenii

The highest divine will is that we all serve the Light and love each other. But we can move away from this according to our free will, since it is given to us. Naturally, this is also the divine will for us to leave, because it has already been given to us.

Forgiveness is not something to say - guilty or not guilty, not to justify him, but to restore peace in your Soul, to realize that what was done was a lesson for us, it allowed us to become stronger - this is the first thing. And the second is to realize that if he did this in a state of lowering his vibrations, unawareness, lack of love. If you sincerely send him the Light of love, this will allow him to raise his vibrations and return to God.

A sign of sincere forgiveness is not that you somehow restore the relationship; perhaps he himself does not want to restore them. And this is not just some neutral wish - let him “live well”, but this is a wish for true happiness in God, a refusal to demand back what he took away, for example. This is full recognition that I accepted this lesson, I passed it. The main sign is that you love your enemy.

This is what Christ said: “You love him as you love your friend.”

That is, you have such an attitude that he is simply low-vibration, and has not yet realized all the reasons that led him to this, but this does not make you love him any less. This is precisely the Love to which Christ calls. He himself showed an example of this Love. They didn't just hurt him emotionally or deprive him of some financial resources, say hurtful words to him, or simply lock him up unjustly - they did much worse to him.

At that moment, when he was unfairly physically hurt - in addition to the fact that he was a Divine essence, he was also a man - he was embodied in a human body, and he had all the emotions, he had the appropriate upbringing, and he perfectly understood that they they do this unfairly, precisely at that moment when they nailed his hands to the cross with large nails, he lay with his head on the sign “Jesus Christ - King of the Jews” and prayed for the Souls of those who did this. Because he felt the vibrations of these people and understood perfectly how they were declining, and where they would go in the Spiritual World if they did not realize what they had done until the end of their incarnation.

He was well aware of this and therefore said to God: “Forgive them, for they do not know what they are doing ,” thereby emphasizing that it was not God who was offended by them, so “forgive them.” He put a different meaning into the word “forgive” - “restore the relationship,” that is, send your energy so that they feel their Light, and after this act they come to you until the end of the incarnation. He sincerely wished for them to become the same Angels as his Apostles.

Timecode: 2:18:00, #187 The long-awaited meeting with the Mother of God - the physical mother of Jesus!

The Mother of God is in Christianity the earthly mother of Jesus Christ, one of the most revered personalities and the greatest of Christian saints.

December, 2020

5 January

The Mother of God about what it means to put a cross on oneself. How should one be baptized?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/bogorodica-o-tom-chto-oznachaet-nalozhenie-na-seby

It depends on the rules, canons, dogmas of the denomination you belong to. Putting a cross on oneself is a sign of a Christian, which at the level of faith and religion means a sign that he has crucified himself on the cross. According to the commandment “Crucify your flesh with its passions and lusts ,” which was transmitted in one of the letters of the Apostle Paul. This is a visible expression of the fact that a person agrees with this, and he takes on the cross according to the word of my son: “Take up your cross and follow Me . ” This is an image of a person agreeing with it.

And on the energy level, if he does this with faith, touching the sixth and third energy centers, he connects the 6th energy center - Spiritual mind, intuitive insight - with the 3rd energy center - willpower - and distributes it to the shoulders. In the shoulders there are exits of ethereal channels that direct his power to the physical world through the palms. He connects his energy system with the Spiritual Channel, which goes through the 6th energy center with his central sun - this is called willpower, which in the 3rd energy center is a collection of etheric energy. That is, he combines Divine energy with his personal energy and distributes it to the physical world. This happens energetically.

If, after the solar plexus, instead of the etheric channels, you lay hands on some other energy center, then the main energy in this case goes to the etheric field of the energy center where the hands are laid. This is what happens in an energetic sense. Perhaps this happens because someone needs, for example, to unblock a certain energy center. And if it is unblocked, then by sending the main energy there, and not into the physical world through the hands, a person simply directs the energy of his channel, the main flow, not into the physical world, but towards himself.

Timecode: 1:45:23, #187 The long-awaited meeting with the Mother of God - the physical mother of Jesus!

The Mother of God is in Christianity the earthly mother of Jesus Christ, one of the most revered personalities and the greatest of Christian saints.

December, 2020

6th January

Appeal of the Mother of God to representatives of different faiths

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/obrashchenie-bogorodicy-k-predstavitelyam-raznyh

All religious egregors and their leaders are still Angels. And often one Angel or several Angels lead several egregors. Therefore, if on a spiritual level you feel the unity of these religions or the unity not in dogmas or rituals, but at a higher level of ideas, then there is no obstacle here. This is your heart's desire.

The egregors themselves cannot punish anyone at this level, especially such light egregors who are led by Angels. If a person himself believes that one religion is right for him and others are not, but still goes for some reason to the temple of another religion and believes that he did it wrong, then yes. It is he who receives the answer from the egregor that this faith destroys his faith, because he himself believes in it. And if you accept everything as the truth, you see the truth in many teachings - there are no obstacles, because everything is from our One Father.

Appeal of the Mother of God to representatives of Christian, Islamic, Buddhist, Jewish, Vedic Spiritual egregors

The goal of the Jewish religious egregor is the creation of a single people, raising its vibrations for the embodiment of both me in this egregor and my son. Currently, the goal of this religious egregor is to increase the level of awareness and vibrations, religious veneration in the form of worship. Worship is a form of love that is accessible to the religious consciousness of all Jews who adhere to the traditions of monotheism, etc. This is the real goal.

I could say to representatives of this religion that my son Christ was indeed the Moshiach and is not guilty of the persecution that some followers of Christian teaching subjected representatives of your nationality. To make my words more convincing, I want to remind you that some representatives of the Christian denomination have persecuted representatives of other Christian denominations, even of the same nationality, with no less cruelty. Therefore, I ask you to be more considerate towards the Christians around you and show them more love.

Appeal to the Christian egregor. I love you all, dear brothers and sisters! I, together with Christ, unite with you in every Eucharist, since my energy is contained in these sacred gifts.

There are many temptations, shocks, condemnations around you, and my wish to you: always follow the two commandments of Christ, which are the most important in all his teaching and in his entire life, death and resurrection. The first commandment is "Love the Lord God ," and the second is "Love your neighbor as yourself . " Without developing this great, bright, divine energy in oneself, fasting, rituals, reading prayers, sacraments, and even the very life of Christ on Earth become meaningless. Therefore, Love is above all, it covers a multitude of sins. I ask you to remember this and ask you to treat representatives of other religious or occult movements, representatives of the atheistic worldview with greater Love, greater openness, and a desire to understand them. You don't have to change your beliefs and accept their position. Just treat with more sympathy and less condemnation, because from the heart of a person in which Love does not live, the presence of God leaves.

As for representatives of Islam . The Islamic religious egregor was formed with the goal of uniting disparate Arab tribes that were constantly at enmity with each other, they had cruel laws of blood feud and other unjust, from the point of view of divine plan, laws.

Egregor was formed with the goal of creating a single people that would unite for the idea of one God. To do this, a representative of Tumesout, whom you know as Angel Gabriel, initiated contact with a representative of one of the Arab tribes, Mohammed, and transferred a certain text to him.

Unfortunately, not everyone accepted his stories. There were many attacks on him, his family was robbed, there were several attempts on his life and the life of his wife, etc. Mohammed and his supporters were given laws that related to the wartime situation. There really were calls to fight with your enemies, so that they would create some kind of community, etc. Something similar was conveyed by my son Yahweh himself, who was embodied in Tumesout during the war between Moses and Joshua, and in general by all Jews for the return to Palestine after the ancient Egyptian captivity. Also, similar laws and commandments were transmitted to David, Solomon and other Jewish kings by other prophets-contactees Burkhad and Tumesout. But not all of them were recorded in the books of the prophets: Isaiah, Jeremiah, Hosea, you can read them.

I want to appeal to representatives of the Islamic religious egregor. Each of you should not forget that Allah is the Creator of all worlds and the Creator of all Souls. He treats every soul with the same Love, no matter what country it lives in, no matter what planet it is on and no matter what religion it belongs to. Through the Qur'an, good laws have been given to you so that you can be cleansed from evil in your Soul through alms, prayer, going on pilgrimages and constantly mentioning Allah in your mind.

I urge you not to mistake, and I know there are such people, the wartime laws handed down to Mohammed for laws that are necessary to be implemented now, when you need to develop peace in yourself, in your soul and spread love in the material world around you . Only this will lead to the manifestation of Allah over the entire Universe. That is, Allah is God. He already rules the entire Universe, but in order for us to accept his power, we must demonstrate our free will, as Christ said when he taught us to pray: “Your will be done in heaven and on Earth." I will more accurately convey to you the words of this prayer: "Thy will be done on Earth, as it is in heaven." Divine will is the law of Divine Love. And whoever is a pure vessel of Love does not need any external restrictions, laws or canons. He will always act in truth. I ask you to remember this.

Appeal to representatives of the Vedic egregor. Dear representatives of Vedic Rus', Vedic India and other representatives of polytheistic systems, who feel in their Soul that, in addition to the one God, there are many of His servants, collaborators, whom you can also call gods.

Hinduism is a collection of religious and philosophical movements that existed a very long time ago - before the birth of Christ, before Buddhism, almost immediately after the war 12,000 years ago. Then there were already religious movements, connections, contacts with plasmoid civilizations, based on totemism, magic and other cults that were of plasmoid origin, and traces of which were preserved in the Vedas, and in the Upanishads, and in almost all religious scriptures. Your religions were of enormous importance for the preparation of all subsequent religious movements, for the preparation and construction of all subsequent egregors, including Christian, Jewish, Muslim, etc. It was the foundation on which others later built.

I want to appeal to all followers of Hindu and Slavic movements that recognize many gods, so that you be more prudent in terms of showing Love to those who do not agree with your ideas. So that you, dissolving in nature, sending Love to natural phenomena, animals, insects, do not forget about the people around you, that they also need Love. And that, after all, human life and his well-being on Earth are of paramount importance for the evolution of the entire planet Earth, including the flora and fauna, the entire biosphere as a whole, and for the development of ideas of the divine evolution of the Spirit.

The purpose of creating a Buddhist egregor is to demonstrate the teaching of the inner Light among polytheistic Hindu movements. I love Buddha very much, specifically Guatama Buddha, because 500 years before the birth of my son in Israel, he very much repeated the path of my son in preaching the new faith in India, except for the crucifixion and all the persecutions. That gods do not exist in the form in which you are accustomed to perceive. Many Brahmins (Brahmins), like some representatives of modern religions now, did not see the content behind the form. They only demanded the fulfillment of rituals, and did not engage in the spiritual development of their charges.

Gautama, who experienced the experience of union with the Light and began to be called Buddha - “enlightened”, said that this Light is in everyone, regardless of race, varna, caste, which caused a lot of persecution and ridicule, he was even driven out of some cities. The Brahmins accused him of violating the regulations of their forefathers, their ancestors, just as Christ was accused of violating some of the laws of Moses. Their paths are very similar, but fortunately for Guatama, the followers of Hinduism did not apply the death penalty to violators of their laws, so he lived quite a long time and managed to pass on a lot to his students, who then began to develop his egregor. Guatama is now in the Spirit World. We communicate with him.

I would like to address the followers of his egregor. Representatives of the Buddhist egregor, I want to tell you that your teacher, whom you now follow on the path of enlightenment, did not teach that God exists in the form in which other religions teach, does not mean that he completely denied it . He called it inner Light, enlightenment.

Enlightenment is joining to God. And what he called nirvana is not the cessation of the existence of the Soul (Spirit), it is a certain state of higher vibrations in which you experience everything: omniscience, omnipotence, Light, merging with it. He expressed this in the language in which his teachers, hermits, taught him - there is nothing material, but this does not mean that he denied the value of matter, but only said that there should be spiritual priorities.

Therefore, I urge you not to condemn the path of matter, matter itself and the various religious denominations that recognize God, etc. Your path of internal contemplation, which you call “emptiness,” does not mean that there is nothing there at all, but it means that there is nothing there that exists in the material world. Again there is a focus on the Spirit. This is a wonderful teaching, and I encourage you to follow it without thinking of enlightenment as simply getting rid of certain emotional blocks and reactions.

Timecode: 1:55:49, #187 The long-awaited meeting with the Mother of God - the physical mother of Jesus!

The Mother of God is in Christianity the earthly mother of Jesus Christ, one of the most revered personalities and the greatest of Christian saints.

December, 2020

January 12

Question answer. Ray of Christ Consciousness through Irina Podzorova https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vopros-otvet-luch-hristosoznaniya-cherez-irinu-pod

1. The exact date of birth of Jesus Christ

Answer: “September 22, 4 BC.”

2. The exact date of birth of the Virgin Mary

Answer: “June 7, 18 BC.”

3. The exact number of years at the time of the crucifixion

Answer: “33 years old. He would have turned 34 years old in September 30 AD, and he was crucified in early April of that year.”

4. The exact date of the crucifixion of Jesus Christ

Answer: “If you translate the Jewish date into Russian according to the new style, you will get April 10, 30 AD.”

5. How old was the Mother of God Mary when her first husband Joseph came out of incarnation?

Answer: “Joseph the Betrothed died 10 years before the crucifixion and Resurrection of Christ. This means that Maria was 38 years old at that moment.”

6. How old was the Mother of God Mary when she married the Apostle Luke for the second time?

Answer: “The Mother of God married Apostle Luke a year after the Crucifixion, that is, at the age of 49.”

7. How old was the Mother of God Mary when she gave birth to her last two daughters from her second husband, Apostle Luke?

Answer: “The Mother of God gave birth to her last two daughters from Apostle Luke at the age of 53; they were twins.”

8. The exact date of the exit from the incarnation of the Mother of God

Answer: “The Virgin Mary fell into a coma and was buried on September 6, 63 AD. She was 81 years old at the time. Then She was transported to Burkhad, and She lived there in a physical body for another 35 years. She finally came out of incarnation around mid-December 98 AD, when she was 116 years old.”

➡ Some facts from broadcast #632 Live broadcast with the Virgin Mary. Christmas

Blood type of Jesus Christ – IV;

Mary's children: four boys and four girls;
Mary's firstborn: Jesus (father Endero Niil - the last incarnation of Archangel Metatron on the planet Burkhad);
Children of Mary by Joseph: Abraham, Jacob, Joseph and Anna, Aya; Children of Mary from the Apostle Luke two girls: Elizabeth and Mary

January 18

The Spirit of Michael Newton about a spiritual lesson, about auto-aggression

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/duh-majkla-nyutona-o-duhovnom-uroke-ob-autoagressi

> How do you feel about the situation that has developed between Russia and Ukraine? I mean a military conflict. How do you see the solution to this conflict from the point of view of the Spiritual world? And what options do you generally see in the future regarding this situation?

I am at the 20th level of the World of Unincarnate Spirits. Only the Spiritual world is visible there, but I, of course, heard from other Angels who come and tell information that very destructive and tragic events are happening for the destinies of many people. I believe this is a huge spiritual lesson for all entities that, regardless of their spiritual level, are incarnated in this time and space.

What is a spiritual lesson? Often people understand it as punishment, as karma, as an inevitable blow of a whip from the Upper World, which should force them to go in the right direction. In fact, this is a look through the heart, permeated with instincts. That is, this view is relevant for the physical body in which you are now. From the point of view of the disembodied Spirit, reality looks different, including the spiritual lesson looks different.

A spiritual lesson is not a punishment in the sense that you are used to understanding it. This is not revenge for a wrong action. A spiritual lesson is a specific task for your Soul that you have set for yourself, as the result, the ideal to which you need to come. Before your incarnation, you set yourself the task that after leaving the incarnation you should be at such and such a level. To do this, it is necessary to study certain methods of action in the material body.

And if you find yourself during organized hostilities in any country, if you have incarnated there, then the first thing you should know is that your Soul was familiarized with the likelihood of these events occurring before your incarnation, and you yourself gave such consent. In many cases, you yourself have consciously chosen this incarnation.

During hostilities, when one person is your friend and the other is your enemy, and all this is tied to the instinct of self-preservation and the fact that some government circles teach you who to love and who to hate, and why to do it, all this is a very difficult, but very effective and potentially bright spiritual lesson. In it, you can either descend in your vibrations and go to a lower spiritual level, or go through it with Love and learn to be yourself, to be the Light of Love for everyone, even in the circumstances in which you find yourself.

But in order to achieve this in reality, you must, firstly, believe in God, in His existence, in His justice, in the righteousness of this world where you are. It is necessary to love God, and based on Love for Him, to love yourself and all the people around you. Because when you truly love God, you will love any manifestation of God and accept it, send him Love, forgive, and thereby rise in your vibrations.

I want to tell you that the Souls that incarnated during moments of hostilities did not always kill someone themselves, or had bad karma, or something else. This happens, but not always. In fact, you can lower your vibrations and accumulate a lot of aggression or a lot of despondency in your Soul, which, by the way, is called “auto-aggression,” that is, aggression directed at yourself, without killing anyone. You can just quietly hate your neighbor, your wife, your children or yourself, and do this for quite a long time. And in your vibrations you will actually be no different from the most brutal warrior.

Here there is a certain lesson of Unconditional Love for the rulers of these nations, which you called Russia and Ukraine, and all those countries that help them remain in the state in which they are now.

The spirit of Michael Newton on the Russia-Ukraine conflict

At the moment, in the egregors of Ukraine and Russia, in the masses, in the Souls of people who are reflected in the Astral world as egregors, a lot of indignation, claims, and anger towards each other have accumulated. But all this is quite fixable, if only these two countries are not prevented from taking the lesson by the rest of the world.

I am now looking at a version of the future when the rest of the world will come to its senses, come to its senses and persuade Ukraine and Russia to send Love. They will call for peace, mutual Love, forgiveness of each other, and not only even the rulers, but the people.

Currently, I see support for one particular side in this conflict. It is the support of certain material means and means for killing people that only leads to the deepening and expansion of the conflict and its greater growth, like fire, a conflagration. That is, instead of putting out this fire, there are forces that throw firewood, but this is figurative.

I see this option. Here I stand at a crossroads, when the past is behind me and the future is in front of me. But you know, there are a lot of branches going off in different directions, and you don’t know which one to follow. In fact, it is very difficult to choose this twig, because, by the way, they are quite similar in thickness, equally probable, but we will look ahead.

Here is an option for a peaceful resolution of this situation, and even greater friendship between the peoples of Russia and Ukraine than was the case before these events. I see this option around the end of March - beginning of April 2023, but on condition that the leading countries in economic and political development of the world call - and not order, but with Love call on these countries to stop destroying their own and others’ lives and agree on brotherly

The worst option for both countries... There are several such options that could end badly for the people of Ukraine, and for the people of Russia, and for both of them, and for the world as a whole.

There are such options, but if you look at the Timeline, they are currently more distant in time than what I just named. For example, if we look further, then by 2025 we still see the continuation, expansion, deepening of this conflict, the involvement of more and more countries in it, and in the end - the revolutionary overthrow of the ruling classes both in Ukraine and in Russia, and devastation, chaos.

There will be certain groups that will gather around strong personalities. They will take everything for themselves and go out to rob. In general, nothing is clear there.

I call on all people in Russia, in Ukraine, in the United States of America - in my homeland, in which I lived and which I love, in Germany, in France, in Japan, in China and in all other countries: let's remember who you are ! Who is the person sitting next to you. How is he different from you? He, just like you, wants to be happy, he, just like you, wants to live.

Now just go back and imagine a person from another nation. Let the Russian introduce a Ukrainian - the same as him: the same age as him. Let the Ukrainian introduce the Russian. But why do you hate each other? Because someone else doesn't hold the same beliefs as you? But even if you kill him, he will not begin to adhere to them, you will not force him - neither the first nor the second. You will simply tell the Creator of the worlds that this son of His lives on Earth in vain, which means that the Creator is mistaken, that He settled him here. Let's not do that, but let's respect the will of the Creator! If He needs to disincarnate one of His children, He will do it himself.

Timecode: 1:20:17, #524 Live with the spirit of Michael Newton.

The spirit of Michael Newton - hypnotherapist, writer.

December 2022

January 26

Movement of contactees in various countries. Peculiarities of the Orthodox mentality of the inhabitants of Russia

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/dvizhenie-kontaktyorov-v-razlichnyh-stranah-osoben

There is a strong movement of contactees in the USA, with the Tashigans, with subtle civilizations, etc. They show it on television and tell it in different ways. The movement of contactees there is much older than in Russia. But in Europe, things are not very good with contactees, they don't go into the space of contactees... The foundations of society are different there. With external freedom, people are very closed internally, throughout Europe. In Russia, on the contrary, they say that there are fewer freedoms, but there is more internal freedom. A person's life in Russia is not so regulated.

The education that Europeans give to their children is strictly according to the rules, without investing in the soul. It is taught to a child from a young age that every word and statement must have material evidence. Such a system, capitalist, is based on the fact that God communicates with people through law, legal interpretation. But the Orthodox have a more organic interpretation - God does not act according to laws, but according to grace. That is why there is a different attitude towards the spiritual world in general.

Europeans have an attitude towards the spiritual world, I would not say that it is materialistic, there are also non-materialists there, but they believe that there is God and a spiritual world, angels, spirits of some kind, civilizations, but they either do not have contact with humanity, or this do with high-ranking people.

Why do they think so? Because it is embedded in their norms, laid down from childhood. It is difficult for them to imagine that an alien would waste his time on a person who cannot change anything in this world. Even if a person imagines that there is an alien, it will be difficult for him to understand that this someone will fly hundreds of light years away to communicate with a girl from the village.

Europeans have a strictly built hierarchy of who is higher and who is lower in society. That is, they have a very strict social egregor. This is transmitted through mother's milk, in the family strictly - mom and dad are higher in rank.

Let's say there are aliens. Why would they fly to them? Even if they arrived, they need to provide proof of existence. To the question - why provide evidence? – they will look in bewilderment and think – why did they come then? Well, they wouldn’t show themselves... They (Europeans) have this kind of thinking. Straightforward legal. Since you said it, you must have paper.

Russian and Eastern peoples have a different mentality, which is regulated by the egregors of Orthodoxy (in our case). This is also a branch of Christianity, but it recognized more a spiritual path than an externally social one.

It is easier for Russians to believe that aliens or spirits came to a simple girl. Because Orthodoxy recognizes that a person must be assessed not by status, but by his inner content. In Europe it is, but very little; it is mainly Russians who have it.

One of the European economists said that those who have highly spiritual content have a high status in society. This is combined - that God gives a spiritual person the mind, how to advance and become higher, these things are connected.

For Russians, on the contrary, it is difficult for true spirituality to advance in society, because these are different things. From this root comes the difference between mentalities and egregorial construction.

Timecode: 40:05, #85 Conference of contactee Irina Podzorova with engineer from Finland Zebuniso Heikkinen (part 1).

MidgasKaus from the planet Esler is a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

May, 2020

January 30

“Love your neighbor as yourself.” Analysis of the commandment

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/vozlyubi-blizhnego-kak-samogo-sebya-razbor-zapoved

If it were possible to love without loving yourself, then it would simply be said “love your neighbor,” and how it would not be indicated.

So, what does it mean to “love yourself”? Loving yourself does not mean fulfilling your every desire. Love does not consist in the fulfillment of any desire. Love, it consists in the pursuit of perfection, that is, to become the master of your desires.

Why the master of your desires? Because only the master of his desires can fulfill them correctly, creating himself and building perfection around himself. That is, only the master over himself, the one who manages himself, without allowing his instincts and desires to take precedence over his Spirit, over his will, over his rational part of his personality, only he can correctly, without distortion, bring the light of God into the world, and this is what love is.

First, correctly, in order to love yourself, you need to see this source of light in yourself. See and recognize it. In any rational Spirit, embodied and non-incarnate, in the darkness that sometimes exists, you need to recognize the light that has become distorted and recognize the reason.

Why don't people love themselves? Because they deny one or another part of themselves. They try to forget about her, not think about her, make her bad, exclude her from their consciousness. Instead of accepting all their negative qualities and transforming them into positive ones, they try to scold themselves, blame themselves for them, forget about them, pretend that they do not exist. Including not only in front of others, but also in front of yourself. But this does not stop them from being distorted.

But if you recognize the cause and see the light in it, then these qualities are transformed into this light. A person will see the light within himself. As we say, contactees need to connect with their Higher Self and establish such contact with it that it is possible to communicate with it at any moment, to merge with it in a single light at any moment. And then a person will see that the same light that is in him and which he himself is, fills all others. A little later he will see that besides this light in its various manifestations there is nothing at all in the world.

Timecode: 53:36, #78 Kabbalah. Questions from a representative of the Kabbalah Academy.

Rahaim - a specialist in Kabbalah, planet Shimor, in his previous earthly incarnation - the prophet Daniel.

May, 2020

January 31

Sodom and Gomorrah. "Pillar of Salt"

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/sodom-i-gomorra-solyanoj-stolb

Have there been alien women who have had relationships with earthly men?

Were. There is even a case described as Sodom and Gomorrah, when almost everyone in the city wanted to have forced sexual intercourse with two Burkhad men, and the whole city suffered. For people, the Tumesoutians and Burkhadians were gods, and therefore, in the understanding of an earthling, the connection with a divine being who came from heaven increased pleasure.

The inhabitants of these cities entered into relationships with each other, both men and women - this was a common thing, and when the Burkhadians came, they wanted to repeat the same thing with them. And the contactee and his family, to whom they went into the house, almost suffered. The Burkhadians turned on a device that temporarily deprives them of vision, since visual receptors do not transmit signals to the cerebral cortex. But, despite the temporary blindness, people did not run away, but became even more aggressive and attacked the Burkhadians, the contactee and his house.

Then the Burkhadians contacted the base, which was not far away, but there were still Selbetites there, because this happened even before the war. The Selbetites flew in and said that they would now destroy this city to save the Burkhadians. The Selbetites asked to withdraw the Burkhadians and the contactee, and burned the city with rays.

The story about Lot's wife, who became a pillar of salt, is a confusing place in the Bible for many, but is easily explained.

When high-temperature weapons were used in the form of rays aimed at the city, it was before dawn, Lot and his family were following the Burkhadians along the shore of a salt lake. Lot's wife walked behind everyone, and when they began to burn with rays, a sound like a hiss was heard. The Burkhadians warned the earthlings not to look at the city, as there were very bright flashes from which one could go blind. But these sounds frightened Lot's wife, and she turned around. Seeing a ball of bright white color, which was heated from the high temperature, she lost her vision and pain appeared in her eyes. She grabbed her head and could not go further, and the others did not notice this.

The next plate flew past, from above, and its beam passed through the water of this lake. The lake evaporated, and the salt that was there poured out like a fountain onto the woman. The temperature of sodium chloride in the molten state can reach 500 degrees, and it remained alive in boiling salt and then froze.

Timecode: 48:58, #134 Sex with a reptilian. Sodom and Gomorrah. Kundalini. Tantra. The Last Centaur.

Lugder Otpis (son of Saint-Germain);

Laursi (wife of Saint-Germain) - from the planet Disaru;

Se Khur Sopras - from the planet Selbet;

MidgasKaus from the planet Esler is a biologist, psychologist and specialist in alien civilizations.

September, 2020

February 2

Irina Podzorova on how to avoid pride

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/irina-podzorova-o-tom-kak-izbezhat-gordyni

To avoid spiritual pride, physical pride, material pride... It's not a matter of abilities and wealth, it's a matter of the right attitude towards them. You can be proud of anything. One who knows how to swim can be proud of it over one who cannot do it. Anyone who has the opportunity to buy a Mercedes can be proud of it in front of those who have a Lada.

There is a wrong attitude when these gifts and abilities, material acquisitions are considered theirs, and if they are considered not theirs, but received temporarily as a gift from God, from our Creator, the heavenly Father, and received not just like that, for pleasure, but also for benefits others, then you will never be proud of anything. In the sense of material acquisitions.

And in the sense of abilities, understand that every person is unique, every person is unique, everyone has true abilities that others do not have. There are no completely mediocre people, everyone is capable of something, they do something better than others. For example, maybe a person would be better at frying potatoes, or baking a cake, or growing some flowers, or drawing, or singing... But another person cannot do this.

This is the individuality of each person. Every person has abilities. We are all equal, we are all one in the divine Light.

You and I are one, we are all one. You are my reflection, I am your reflection.

We are all equal before God, He loves everyone, even the last criminals, even the devil - everyone equally. Because everyone is His children. If a child is disobedient, you won't love him less, will you?

It's definitely not worth being proud of those who live in their sins, passions, and vices. You just need to understand that they are sick with these negative emotions. And as Christ said when he came to Earth, when sinners who drank and led a vicious lifestyle began to gather around him, and the righteous and Pharisees said to him:

> "What are you doing, why are you communicating with them? You need to stay away."

He said:

> "It's not the healthy who need a doctor, but the sick."

In fact, if people who are filled with negativity want to get rid of it, it should be of their own free will, they should not be forced. But they need our attention, care and love even more than those who do not have these vices. This is medicine for them, so that they become this Light that is in us. You may not know, but you can feel it with your heart. Feels the heart.

Fear of loss of love as a cause of pride and envy

Now, if someone is proud of something, this already indicates that he has a fear of losing love. Otherwise he wouldn't have this pride.

And I have no fear of losing this love, because in any case I know that I am very part of this Source and It is limitless. How can I lose Him? It is impossible to tear me away from this Source, because I am part of It. How can a part be torn away from the whole? No force can control this.

Pride always contains fear. That is, it already contains arrogance, the emotions “I’m better than you.” Why am I better than you? Because if I am equal to you, then I will be something worse than you and will lose your love. This is how I feel it.

And envy is also fear. All fears are connected with the desire to possess. The same. There is such an Apostle, John the Theologian (he wrote part of the New Testament, Gospel 2, his three Epistles and the Apocalypse). And in one of the Epistles of John the Theologian there is such a word that fears are torment, that is, suffering. He who fears is imperfect in love .

New Testament, and these words were written 2000 years ago. If anyone hasn’t read it, you can read the Epistle of John the Theologian. It says everything for our days: that God is Love, that the one who says that he loves God, but hates his brother, is not in the Light. He's just deceiving himself and others.

To remember this every second of your life, you need to take care of yourself. What moves us away from these thoughts, what makes us forget them? What are our emotions, feelings? Some people say that everyday matters distract them from spiritual matters. But everyday affairs can be done with thoughts about the spiritual, about the fact that you are a conductor of Light. Right now, every reader is a conductor of Light in this place, and here he cleanses this world, part of this world, which is in these atoms and molecules.

But it happens that the work is physically difficult, in the heat, for example, planting plants, digging. But depending on how a person treats this work: if he treats this as some kind of duty that he does not want to perform, but he was, for example, forced, then this will cause negativity; and if you imagine some final goal and dedicate it to God, then it will be easy for God to do.

If you work, if you work for some person, care for the sick, do it for him, as for Christ. This way it will be easy for you to do it.

Interesting... I notice that many people do not like Orthodoxy and turn away from it, but in fact, there are many such truths there. I understand that they are not followed by many, but this is precisely because many of them do not read the heritage that is there.

Timecode: 0:03, 128 In simple words about the main thing. Interview with Irina Podzorova. He who fears is imperfect in love.

Irina Podzorova is a contactor with extraterrestrial civilizations.

August, 2020

February 16

Are we developing as planned?

https://blog.cassiopeia.center/razvivaemsya-li-my-tak-kak-zaplanirovano Raom Tiyan wants to answer about the plan for civilization. With civilizations that are also built according to certain laws of relationships. Egregors, relations between egregors and relations of society from the same planet with its subtle-material civilizations from the side of the star, for example, all this affects the noosphere, the consciousness of the people who are embodied there.

There is a plan and there is its implementation. And here is exactly the same analogy with the plan of incarnation of Spirits into bodies. Each of you, when incarnating, had a life plan: what he would develop here, what he would strive for, what he would process here, what experience and what negative qualities he would transform into positive ones. But all this seems simple, while all this is in the spirit's plan, until it is embodied... But when it is embodied here, grows and develops, plans can naturally change.

Since our world, matter, is itself a changeable structure, in contrast to the world of the Spirit, where there is eternity, that is, immutability, and it happens that after the incarnation the Spirit comes to God and there he learns that there he does not have his plan fulfilled, and even did the opposite. That is, it did not develop, but degraded. Is it possible. He lowered his level of vibrations and the level of the spiritual world to which he found himself.

The same thing happens with civilizations. Your mentor lives now in the spiritual world and is not incarnated, one might say, your leading mentor of planet Earth is that entity that has had many incarnations here and which is known here as Archangel Michael in your consciousness. Naturally, He and the group of His essences in the spiritual world have plans for the Earth, so that the Spirits who incarnate here go through their development plan as successfully as possible. And so that civilization itself is built according to such laws that would allow us to enter the Interstellar Union as quickly as possible, since this will open up even greater scope for development, including spiritual development.

But there are plans and there is their implementation. For objective reasons that have long been established on your planet, the conditions on it depend on your legislative bodies. In turn, legislative bodies depend on political parties and economic unions. Those people who come to these structures may not at all be aimed at fulfilling the plans of your mentors. They may have opposing goals.

If you want to know the answer to the question: is this also part of the plan, then in any case, all this was known to God even before the creation of this world. I will speak in simple terms so that you can understand me. Naturally, in the spiritual world the past, present and future are known. But I want to emphasize that the future has many options. Therefore, for God, who is the light of Love, we can say that the most positive version of the future for you and your development is desirable. That is, this is part of his plan. But since He is a being outside of time and lives in the spiritual world and has such a quality as vision of everything - omniscience, then naturally He knows all the options that do not correspond to His plan. For different reasons.

For example, the degradation of this or that Spirit is also known to Him in advance. But He did not approve of everything that He knew in advance. You may then ask why the implementation of these plans exists. Because for the development of each Spirit, freedom of choice is given. Why there is freedom of choice - so that the Spirit develops and grows in this freedom and love.

God knows all the consequences of the elections of any of their representatives of civilizations and the future civilization as a community. But because He gave freedom of choice, He does not interfere with this choice, because this is a lesson for those people and those entities that they must go through for their development. If there is a rigid plan that the Spirits will follow without the possibility of deviating from it, then this will mean that the freedom of choice has been taken away and all responsibility for development will fall on the one who has deprived the freedom of choice. And since this did not happen, then all responsibility lies with us – individuals. Therefore, it is possible to degrade and grow.

Timecode: 32:30, #105 Conference of contactees with extraterrestrial civilizations in St. Petersburg, June 12, 2020 (Part 2)

Raom Tiyan is a representative of the planet Burhad, a specialist in energy interactions in the environment of the material world.

June, 2020

February 10

Proto-language before the war 12,000 years ago. Origin of languages https://blog.cassiopeia.center/prayazyk-do-vojny-12-000-let-nazad-proiskhozhdenie

Before the war 12 thousand years ago, in most territories of a single continent, the tribes that lived there used languages descended from simplified Tumesout, which was given by your creators to the first people.

People dispersed in different directions. They built large cities and conglomerates of cities, mainly on the coast of a single ocean.

Since they lived far from each other, separately, their languages began to differ from each other. Many new words appeared that were not in that simplified Tumesout. Simplified Tumesout words also changed. Language is a dynamic structure, it changes.

And the proto-language was formed not from Tumesout, but from syllables. First the runes were formed. They were not only Scandinavian and Slavic. There were runes almost all over the Earth. Each rune denoted a specific concept. And then this concept began to be denoted by a syllable.

A little less than a thousand years after the war, the first people tried to build the first ship to get to the moon. But he was not perfect. This is included in your mythology under the name of the Tower of Babel. From that moment on, the division of languages began. Because the creators: the Burkhadians and the Tumesoutians, came down to these people and said that it was too early for them to visit space. They must first arrange the entire Earth.

People said:

> “How will we take care of the Earth if it is too big and there > are too few of us?”

They were answered:

> “If you settle on different continents that have already separated, then this process will go faster for you.”

People agreed to settle. And then mini-genetic mutations were carried out in order to distribute these people to different geographical and ecological zones. And from this they took on different skin colors, different skull structures, faces, and hair colors.

The first goal is for them to adapt to living in different climatic zones, and the second is for them to learn to contact each other, overcoming xenophobia within themselves.

Each of these groups, from which modern peoples later developed, was given the language of a different planet. For example, the ancestors of the Chinese, and then the Japanese (they had a common ancestor), were given the simplified language of Sho-Hariki. That's why they have more hissing words - “chan”, “shin”.

Slavic language - simplified Shimor. Shimorsky - Slavic tribes.

Everything that relates to the Celts, to the European peoples, was simplified Burhad. Simplified Tumesout remained among the Semitic tribes.

English, French, Danish, Greek, Hebrew - they all came later from a single root.

